At this stage J. J. Lewis Hay, local agent for what he described in answer to a quest'on by Mr. Bain as "a Canadian company," asked the Mayor's permission to address the council and tendered to write the policy providing double liability ($10,000 for one person and $20,000 for two or more persons injured in one accident), plus coverage on a team and driver as well as insurance on town-owned buildings. Following some further cross-fire which became a bit too personal to suit council it was suggested the representatives retire so that the matter could be considered. However, Deputy Reeve MacMillan felt this unnecessary since it appeared quite clearly as a question of saving the town $113 and he made a motion that Mr. Hay's tender be accepted. Coun. Mason, who seconded the motio. added "the taxpayers would certainly be on our necks if we don't take advantage of this." The motion carried.

Under the heading "Reports of Committees," Road and Bridge Chairman P. H. MacMillan announced he had gone over the streets and "with one or two exceptions they are all in very good condition."

"I've had citizens come and tell me the streets ar in the best condition hey have ever been this spring," added the Mayor.

The Deputy Reeve then brought up the matter of water draining through the Presbyterian Church sheds and flooding the cellar of the MacNeil property, but Coun. O'Sullivan jumped to his feet, declaring the town should be absolved of any responsibility for this since in his opinion the water came from the flats south of the sheds and not from the streets as assumed by the chairman. Following a lengthy explanation of water ccurses and former drainage systems in that district the problem was left still unsolved while the Deputy Reeve directed attention to three additional sewage problems on Market, Major and Rear Streets. Pointing out the Rear Street sewer had already been excavated three times in various places he said "We have a good idea what is causing the obstruction there." Answering a question put by the Mayor, Town Solicitor N. A. MacColl felt the Board of Health had powers sufficiently wide to deal with the problem, while Coun. Anderson expressed the opinion that any grease in the pipes could be removed if a sufficient amount of steam was turned into them. fter this the entire sewer question wes flung back on the lap of the Road and Bridge Committee with a motion made by Coun. Maguire.

The Shingle Question.

Chairman of Property J. R. Battisby said the fence at the Armories had been broken off at one point several months ago and he had given instructions to have it repaired, but this brought up the question of whether or not the tenant (Department of National Defence) should not pay the charges. The matter was turned over to Mr. MacColl, who is currently the officer in care of Armories.

A deal which stuck in Coun. O'Sullivan's crop since last December when the Property Committee bought shingles for the market square scale house and paid for them after an amendment had been passed, subsequently making the tenant of the building rather than council responsible for payment. He brought the matter up at the meeting and it was settled to everyone's satisfaction but not before some heated words had filled the air. The question was opened when Coun. O'Sullivan asked Coun. Battisby what had been done about the shingles and was told they remained stored in the building. Believing he might avert the impending storm, the Reeve moved that the motion forbidding he tenant from laying the shingles be rescinded. This carried and he then moved that council should shingle the building and the Property Committee make any agreement they desired with the tenant. Not satisfied with this the Deputy Reeve urged that the original motion be read and with a majority of opinion favoring this the Reeve withdrew his motion. The original motion passed at the November 30th meeting empowered the Property Committee to look after the shingling and in the minutes the clerk had embraced the statement of the tenant who had agreed to buy the shingles and put them on . (It was the fact the Property Committee had subsequently purchased the shingles and charged them to the corporation that galled Coun. O'Sullivan). The Reeve held that to protect the town-owned building the work should be proceeded with while the Legal Committee went into the arrangements of reimbursement with Mr. Bidgood, the tenant, Coun. O'Sullivan declared the building wasn't essential to the town and that it made no difference whether the roof leaked or not and as the argument grew in intensity the Mayor finally interrupted, suggesting the discussion be terminated and a vote taken, so on motion of Calver and Fowlds, it was decided the shingles should be put on without further delay.

Political Flavor.

Chairman of the Industrial Committee, H. Fowlds, said he had recently read an article in the Peterborough Examiner regarding an interview the Cobourg Council had with W. A. Fraser, M.P., and observed the Government was apparently putting industries into other parts of the Dominion but had done nothing in Northumberland county. "I read the article," said the Mayor, "and it's just about the same thing as Mr. Fraser has said in the past."

Sensing an aspersion on Mr. Fraser, the Deputy Reeve recalled that he had only been the representaive for nine years and added that in the preceding forty the town got no industry.

The Mayor challenged this with the remark that two industries had been established in town in the past three years.

In answer to a question, Coun. Fowlds estimated the Council and Water and Light Commission had jointly spent approximately $500 in an effort to secure additional industries for the town in the past year.

Mayor Long told council the committee dealing with the matter of co-operating with the I.O.D.E. in collecting salvage had met and made what were deemed satisfactory arrangements to supply a truck and helper for the Chapter. The I.O.D.E. had accepted the plan as working very well. He said, however, there remained the problem of collecting from the stores. Saturday had been named collection day since there was more help available then. However, it was recognized this was a poor day to collect from places of business, and as a result it had been decided at a subsequent meeting between Deputy Reeve MacMillan and representatives of the I.O.D.E. they decided to collect from stores on Wednesdays.

Tax Collector J. C. Birmingham said the tax roll was ready to be handed over to the council and the Mayor intimated a special meeting would be called in the near future to accept it. The amount of oil to be placed on streets this year will also be revealed at the meeting. Deputy Reeve MacMillan announced that although the price of oil had not increased the cost of spraying it had gone up one cent per gallon on anything under 10,000 gallons. The roads not surfaced last year should be looked after this year, in the opinion of the Mayor. "The people were given to understand that this would be done and I would like to see them get it."

The Mayor read a communication he had received from Mayor Hamilton of Peterborough, suggesting that this town should become members of the Federation of Mayors and Municipalities. "I feel Campbellford is sufficiently important that it should take its part among the other centres in this Federation," said the Mayor, and council acquiesced by adding the ten dollar membership fee to the pay sheet.

Not Second Sight—But Just 'Twintuition'

You are not seeing double. These are twin brothers serving with the British Royal Air Force in the Middle East. They are identified only as John and William in the British caption, which tells us that when one of the twins fell ill recently and was taken to hospital, the other followed suit within an hour and was taken to join his twin.

Insurance Story Told To Rotary

CAMPBELLFORD, April 7 (ENS) —Insurance has become the mainstay of finance and is today accepted as the only dependable protection from hazards and losses in business according to Allan Baine, Toronto broker of the firm of A. E. Wilson Co., who gave up a law practice to enter the insurance field. He spoke to Rotarians at their noonday luncheon here on Monday and told them the idea had originated with trade and commerce and was a result of man's realization "that he was always to some extent dependent on his brother." Mr. Bain explained that insurance had in all probability, evolved from man's desire to do something to protect himself from the elements over which he has no control.

In early history insurance on ships and their cargoes was common and in the day of Babylonian caravans it was a necessity. It was from the Greeks that the Romans acquirsd the classic contract which considered a fraudulent the practice of insuring for the full value with more than one company and in 80 A.D. the Greeks adopted what the speaker characterized as a limited form of life insurance with the premiums paid in installments. Guilds latter provided insurance on various other types of risk such as in protecting themselves from territorial lords, fire, shipwreck, etc. Turning to the insurance of today the speaker observed that well defined rules cover nearly every aspect of insurance adding that in writing all types the primary tenet was that the utmost good faith must be shown and failure to do this gives the company valid reason to void the contract.

Rotarian James Benor moved a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker for his "illuminating address" and following this Rotarians Mort Sayers and Alex Turnbull brought in the report of the nominations, a list of ten names from whom the president, secretary and directors will be elected in one month. The slate includes William Brady, R. J. Bale, E. A. Bell, L. B. Glover, W. A. Hogle, A. K. Loucks, Locke, E. A. Stuart, M. B. Sayers, H. J. Taylor.

Cobourg Girl In Bombed Area

COBOURG, April 7—(ENS)—Miss Susie Hinman of Cobourg, missionary in the Canadian Baptist Foreign Mission Fields in India, is at present stationed at Cocanada, between Madras and Calcutta where the recent Jap bombings occurred. Back earlier in the year they were preparing for that eventuality, she says in a letter to her sister, Clara Hinman of Cobourg, and the dugouts had been built on the compound of one of the girls' mission schools and the girls had been practising air raid drill. Miss Hinman has been in India since 1911 doing mission work in various parts of the country. At present she is in charge of the Bible Women, native converts to Christianity who go about doing Bible teaching, and varies her time between Cocanada and Samalkot. Had war not broken out in the East she would have been due for furlough back in Canada soon.

Another Torpedoing

WASHINGTON, April 7—(AP).—The United States navy announced to-day that a medium-sized British merchant vessel has been torpedoed off the Atlantic coast.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

Ministerial Association Names Adjutant Buckley 1942 President

The Peterborough Ministerial Association met in the Y.M.C.A. on Monday afternoon, with Adjutant Norman Buckley presiding. Present were Canon W. P. Robertson, Revs. W. McArthur, H. L. Roberts, Fred Horton, M. C. MacLean, J. D. Smart, H. N. Bracken, George Easton, F. W. Craik, and E. W. Young.

Rev. H. L. Roberts reported for the nominating committee as follows: Past President, Rev. C. C. Boyter; President, Adjutant Norman Buckley; Vice-President, Dr. E. W. Young; Secretary, Rev. H. N. Bracken; Treasurer, Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe; Press Reporter, Rev. H. J. Mahoney. These appointments for the session 1942-3 were adopted.

Encouraging reports were given regarding the Good Friday services held in Trinity and Park Street churches.

Dr. George Easton reported regarding the Christian Stewardship Conference, to be held in George Street Church on Tuesday, April 21, at 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. Dr. J. E. Simpson of Oakpark, Chicago, will be the principal speaker. A team, consisting of ministers of the Anglican, Baptist, Presbyterian, and United Church ministers, will take part in the discussions. A billeting committee will provide for visitors from outside of the city. It was decided to ask the young people's societies to attend and to allocate to them seats on the gallery.

Dr. J. D. Smart gave an address on Christianity and Hellenism. Two streams of thought, he said, had entered into the religious life of the world; one came from Palestine, the other from Greece. The Greek influence has continually invaded Christian thought, as is seen in the doctrine of the immortality of the human soul.

The Greeks based their teaching on man's conviction of his own worth. The Christian says that the corruptible must put on incorruption. Self assurance and smugness have been characteristic of the Greek view of life, humility has been a great Christian virtue. It is much easier and more pleasant to adopt the Greek view than the Christian.

Nazi thought is the outcome of much of the Greek philosophy. Whenever the Greek and Christian views conflict unfortunately it is the Christian position that is sacrificed. When Christianity became the official religion of the early Roman Empire it lost much of its virility and passion.

Dr. Smart was heartily thanked for his able address by the chairman, Adjutant Buckley, Dr. E. W. Young, Dr. M. C. MacLean and several other members.

Strange Promotion

So much attention was attracted by Hitler's shift of his great offensive in Russia from spring to summer, when last the dictator spoke, that little notice was taken of a step which we believe to be significant. This is the reported advancement of Hitler's personal Elite Guard, called the Schutzstaffel or SS, to a status equal to that of the Army or Air Force in the armed might of Germany.

The SS is recruited from the Nazi party and its members do special work for the dictator; they are his personal bodyguard, and they do a great deal of Jew-baiting, intellectual - eliminating, book-burning and other activities of a particularly Nazi order. They are soaked in Party doctrine and Hitler is their god. They are physically magnificent and they are the last people to be accused of intellectualism. They are, in fact, the strong-arm boys of the Third Reich.

Relations between the SS and the German army have never been good. The Army feels that the SS encroaches on its special preserves, that the SS are mere bullies and street-fighters, and that the SS make a parade of loyalty to the Fuehrer which is intended to reflect indirectly upon the Army, which occasionally feels obliged to criticize the leader's military views. Furthermore, the SS is an intensely political organization, and the Army has no use for political soldiers. There is a personal element in the dislike also; the German Army likes to think of its officers as gentlemen of the Prussian model, and the officers of the Schutzstaffel are riff-raff and gangsters.

Has Hitler put the SS on a level with the Army and the Air Force because he can no longer trust the more orthodox services? Heinrich Himmler and his Gestapo work very closely with the SS, and it may be that this new move is the prelude to a more open Gestapo interference with the Army. It would be unwise to accept this as unmistakeable evidence that Hitler no longer has implicit trust in the loyalty of his armed forces, but the signs certainly point in that direction.

Temporary Eclipse

According to recent information, it will not be long before the elaborate color printing which appears in so many magazines will have to be curtailed, in order to conserve materials which are necessary to the war effort. No shortage of the bare necessaries of printing, such as now exists in England, is anticipated. Supplies of newsprint and black printer's ink in the United States and Canada are sufficient to supply the normal demand. But the brilliant and beautiful inks which are used to print the covers of fashionable magazines and the attractive advertisements inside them contain both chemicals and metals which are needed for more immediately important work.

Some types of photographic materials will also be unobtainable for ordinary use, and this will also affect the more luxurious publications. Readers of magazines who are unfamiliar with photographic processes would be surprised if they knew of the amount of time, trouble and expense which are necessary to produce the pictures of foods and fabrics which they are accustomed to see in the advertisement pages of popular weeklies. Although they may not disappear altogether, these will certainly be fewer and more restrained in future.

Publishers, like other citizens whose businesses have been affected by the demands of national defence, are willing and glad to bear these small privations. The attractiveness of their magazines will be somewhat decreased, but who cares now? Not they, certainly.

We Become a Naval Power

Mr. A. V. Alexander recently made this generous statement: "We must not, and shall not, forget the contribution from Australia and New Zealand in cruisers and destroyers, from Canadian destroyers and corvettes, from South Africa minesweepers and from Indian sloops and patrol vessels and from men who have come from Newfoundland, the Crown Colonies, and elsewhere to help man the vessels of the Royal Navy." Thus, in a general commendation of the Empire naval forces the First Lord of the Admiralty names Canada as a sea power of importance.

Canada is not accustomed to think of herself as a sea power, but she has made a fine show with her small, though growing, navy in this war. That navy has helped in convoying more than 9,000 ships from our shores, ships of 17 different nations. These ships have carried more than 55,000,000 tons of cargo. That small navy has sunk enemy submarines, has caused enemy ships to scuttle themselves, and has captured five enemy vessels. Now that Japan has brought war to the Pacific, Canada's navy has fought on that ocean too, and the Fishermen's Reserve there has done fine work in patrol duty. The intensified Nazi U-Boat campaign has laid a heavier burden upon the Canadian navy in the Atlantic.

When war broke out Canada's Navy possessed only 15 ships; it now has somewhat more than 350, and it is growing rapidly. Seven ships have been lost since September, 1939, the last being the Spikenard. There are now 27,000 Canadians serving in the Navy, and 461 have lost their lives on active service.

In the forthcoming year Canada hopes to raise the manpower of her Navy to 40,000 and to build many more ships. The work of our Navy has been honored in Britain, and we must become more conscious of it here. Without most of us knowing very much about the matter we have become a naval power, small, but definitely to be reckoned with. It is most unlikely that we shall ever drop to our fifteen-ships status again.

What About Beards?

The production of razor blades has been reduced by one-third, in order to conserve steel, and some of our jocose contemporaries have hinted that this may mean a return of beards to fashion. Well, say we, why not? Beards have been an honorable badge of masculinity through the ages, symbols of virility in the young and of venerability in the old. Those Britons who stoutly resisted the Saxons were bearded; the heroes of the Renaissance, who gave the Armada a drubbing, wore glorious beards; the stalwarts of the age of Victoria wore beards which were banners of incorruptibility and liberality. The Air Force and the Navy, the two services which have distinguished themselves so far in this war, encourage the growing of beards. The Russians, traditionally a whiskered race, have shown us how to fight. What's wrong with beards, anyway?

Frankly, we think that women are at the bottom of the anti-beard movement, because they are jealous of man's ability to grow a beard. A war may put them into trousers, but nothing short of a revolution in nature can ever give them beards. In order to discourage men from growing these handsome appendages they pretend that beards are nasty, unkempt things—as though it did not take twice as long to keep a beard in condition as it does to shave! They even pretend that a bearded man's kiss is a thing to be shunned. As though Elizabeth of Bohemia (an acknowledged expert on the subject) did not say that she would as soon kiss a serpent or another woman as a smooth-faced man!

The revolution which has led to the enfranchisement of woman during the past century has almost resulted in the disenfranchisement of man. A strong assertion of masculinity is the only thing which can save the day, and perhaps a crop of beards would just do it. And it is not as though trade would suffer, for the swordsmiths who now make razor blades are busy with more vital work, and the barber's shops would soon be crowded with men who needed trimming. We throw out these views as straws to show which way the wind is blowing, a wind which may soon be gently stirring a crop of auburn and chestnut beards.

Sound Advice From Sikorski

General Wladislaw Sikorski, the Prime Minister of the Polish government in exile and commander-in-chief of the Free Polish forces, gave the democracies some sound advice when he arrived in Ottawa. "I am convinced that the time will come when a second front will have to be opened, but for such action we must be well prepared in the air, on the land and on the seas," he said; and then he continued with a warning, "If governments are pressed and worried by public opinion on such matters it is possible to bring on a calamity."

Precisely. We all want to see a second front opened in Europe or somewhere else if it will divide the German forces and relieve the strain on Russia. We want to see the Japanese, who have been dishing it out, take it for a while. We are no longer content with such small fish as successful raids on the French coast and the occasional sinking of an Axis submarine; we want whales. But we must be patient.

The public is apt to become confused in its thinking these days, and no wonder. The governmental production bosses keep telling us that there is not a minute to be lost, and they are right, in the sphere of production. But the production drive must not make us try to stampede our political and military leaders into a rash and premature adventure on an ill-chosen and ill-prepared second front. We must trust them, for they know the military situation better than we do. We can only get on with the production job and hope that they will use their superior knowledge to good advantage.

We would do well, also, to keep it in our minds that, for anything we know to the contrary, the second front may be opened tomorrow, or next week, or next month. There will be no advance publicity, designed to boost our spirits and warn the enemy. One of our most difficult war-time jobs is that of waiting patiently. Let us get on with it and let us stop abusing our governments, whom we must trust if we are not to lose the war.

Stores Against Invasion

While engaged in the popular sport of guessing where Germany will strike next, Britain is not losing sight of the fact that she herself may be invaded. It seems unlikely, but in this war the thing which seems most unlikely is the thing to prepare against. An attempted German invasion of Britain at this time would find the island vastly better prepared than she was last year, and the chance of an invasion being successful is correspondingly less. Still Britain has no intention of being caught napping, and precautions against invasion and in case of invasion are kept constantly in efficient working order.

Special preparations have been made to deal with the complex problem of feeding the population if an invasion attempt should meet with temporary success. Stores of food of a readily useable kind have been concealed at strategic positions, so that if ordinary sources of supply were cut off each area could be self-subsisting for a time. These iron rations consist of tinned meats, biscuits, tea, cocoa and other compact and nourishing foods, and a system has been devised for distributing them in case of necessity. The foods kept in these stores are inspected regularly, and if they show any sign of deterioration they are immediately made available on the ordinary markets. The storage depots are outfitted with extensive cooking equipment so that, if need be, they can feed whole communities.

The wisdom of this action is readily seen. Nothing is so demoralizing to a population in a state of emergency as lack of proper nourishment. People who have fed are able to face danger with comparatively steadfast hearts. This arrangement of food storage is only one of the steps which has been taken to blunt the edge of a possible invasion by providing for the civil population. The armed forces, naturally, have a few tricks in store as well.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"It was German iron that gave us Poland," says a Nazi spokesman. But Hitler tried to pretend that it was a kind of stainless steal.

Herr von Papen is reported to be paying a flying visit to Switzerland. They had better count the Alps before he leaves.

Bees owe a great deal to man, says an apiarist. Still we are just as glad when they don't settle.

An official of the Salvage Campaign says that comparatively few things are utterly useless. And even these can be used as bridge prizes.

MEMORABILIA

What does my spirit recall
Of the lives that I have lived before this.
In the ages between Then and Now,
Remembered of sorrow or bliss?
The walls that were built, and the gods
We have honored with feasting and flowers?
They are vague and their titles seem strange
To this language of ours.

What do I know of the sea,
Though time and again I have gone
In the slavering teeth of the gale
Driven crazily on?
Though galley, and raft, and trireme
I have captained and sweated to shore
What is the name of Aegaea
To me, any more?

Naught but oblivious years
Leave me of time only this:
How sweet is the spring of the year;
How tender is beauty to kiss;
The swirl of white vesture; the hue
Of the flowers love wore in its hair...
Nineveh? Tyre? do I know?
Babylon? Rome? do I care?

Mighty Fortress of Malta

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

MALTA is always cropping up in the news these days; since the beginning of the war it has been subjected to more than 900 air-raids. That, roughly, means ten air-raids for every square mile of the island's area. And yet, in spite of this publicity, how much do most of us know about this extremely interesting island? We learn in school that it is a British possession and an important Mediterranean coaling station for our fleet. What else is there that we might like to know?

◇ ◇ ◇

One of the most interesting things about Malta is its population, for the majority of these are of Phoenician descent and speak a language called Phoenician Maltese. We are hardly accustomed to thinking of Phoenicians in terms of the present world war, but there, they are in Malta, bearing the brunt of violent raids. The upper classes of the island are mixtures of Norman, Spanish and Italian blood, for they are descendants of the Knights of St. John, who occupied the island until their reign was ended by the Napoleonic conquest in June, 1798. Phoenician Maltese is unlike any other language in common use, and is of no value in any other part of the world; for this reason educators there have striven to acquaint the people with languages more generally understood, and of these English is the most popular. Children receive primary education in Maltese, after which they are instructed chiefly in English. Italian has never been generally popular with the Maltese and the teaching of it was discontinued in 1923. The little island is extremely crowded, and on the occasion of the last census (in 1931) the population numbered 258,400. The Maltese adhere to the Roman Catholic faith.

◇ ◇ ◇

EVERYBODY has heard of a Maltese Cross, though not everyone is quite accurate in his notion of what a Maltese Cross looks like; it is a white cross of eight points on a black ground, and not a cross patee, as is often supposed. The Maltese Cross was the sign of the Knights of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, who settled in Malta in 1530, after the Turks had driven them from the island of Rhodes. They obtained the island from Charles V of Spain as it was at that time in his possession, in return for a yearly tribute of a falcon. People who are fond of mystery stories, or who go to the movies often, are familiar with the exciting story of "The Maltese Falcon." The Knights were in rather hot water when they came to Malta, for they had lost Rhodes to Suleiman the Magnificent after a terrific seige, their lands in England had been confiscated by Henry VIII, and the Reformation was making the status of crusading orders somewhat ambiguous. As a matter of fact, the desire of the Knights to free the Holy Sepulchre from the infidel Turk had been vitiated by their desire for wealth and temporal power.

◇ ◇ ◇

The Knights of St. John had not been in Malta for long before the Turks began to plague them there, and in 1565 they sustained one of the most famous seiges in all history. It began on May 18, when the Ottoman fleet appeared on the horizon, and was not raised until the following September, after 25,000 Turks had been killed. The leader of the Order in this remarkable feat of courage and endurance was their Grand Master, La Vallette, who died in 1565; the city of Valletta, capital of Malta, bears his name, and its magnificent fortifications bear witness to his military and engineering genius.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE Maltese Knights, as they came to be called, bore a brave part in the great victory of Lepanto, and after that time they became less and less like crusaders, and more and more like members of an exclusive and exceedingly wealthy club. They had vast revenues from their commercial ventures, and they received very handsome contributions from Catholic monarchs in Europe, their membership was drawn from the most aristocratic sources. The Knights fought the Turks from time to time, and usually gave them a sound drubbing, but they had lost their taste for fighting. They continued, however, to maintain their magnificent, richly decorated galleys, and the last time that these set out from Malta was upon an errand of mercy; they carried supplies to the sufferers in a great Sicilian earthquake toward the end of the eighteenth century.

◇ ◇ ◇

The French Revolution (which brought France little but Napoleon and a train of ill-luck culminating in Vichy) was the death-blow to the Knights of Malta; Napoleon took the island, which was full of refugee nobles, but it was taken from him in turn by Nelson in 1799, passed formally to Britain in 1814, and has remained a part of the Empire ever since. Many British Civil Servants, notably Sir Walter Hely-Hutchison and Lord Strickland, worked during the reign of Victoria to set Malta on its feet; the long dependence upon the Knights, followed by a brief period of French administration, had left the islanders somewhat confused. However, a code of law was formed of an eclectic nature which seems to work very well, and the educational system is well suited to the requirements of the people.

The handsome fortifications of the Knights of Malta are not proof against bombs, but Malta has another gift from the past which stands her in good stead now. This is a system of catacombs and caves, used first by the early Christian Maltese. Malta has long been a Christian community, and is, indeed the scene of St. Paul's shipwreck in A.D. 58. The legend is that the apostle converted the Maltese. In these caverns the inhabitants take refuge as, in these bad days, another chapter is written in Malta's great history.

PIT AND THE PENDULUM!

Jap Air Power Jolted

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, April 7 —(AP)— Head-lined by a smashing British air victory at Colombo, Ceylon, the Easter week-end piled up a significant toll of Japanese air casualties on the Pacific-Indian Ocean war front.

United Nations official figures from that sector accounted for some 100 enemy planes downed or damaged within a three-day period. Figures for Allied losses are not complete, but a ratio of 10 to 1, or possibly even double that, against the Nipponese is indicated.

That comes close to being a record plane bag in this war, excepting only the German surprise attack on Poland, which caught the Polish Air Force on the ground. A far smaller ratio of losses by the German Air Force—four to one or five to one—won the Battle of Britain for the Royal Air Force in 1940.

Japan's plane replacement capacity from reserves or new production is the least of any of the major belligerents. That and her over-extended communication lines in waging a two-front war simultaneously against Australia and the British in Burma and India are the most encouraging factors for United Nation leadership in the struggle.

CUT DEEPLY INTO RESERVES

Coupled with previous air losses, the fresh inroads of the Easter season have cut deeply into Japanese ability to maintain an adequate aerial screen for her far-separated fronts.

Ten per cent casualties among Nazi planes attacking Britain from close-up bases across the Channel were sufficient to break the German air assault. At Colomobo the indicated Japanese loss was around 70 per cent of the attacking force.

The extent to which the Japanese are feeling the double strain of air casualties and extended communication lines is becoming clear. Recent raids against the Port Moresby pivot in New Guinea and Darwin in Australia have been little more than nuisance affairs. Half a dozen to a dozen planes have come over, and have been savagely dealt with each time.

It seems clear now that Japanese concentration against British-Chinese forces in Burma to beat the wet monsoon, and an effort to achieve and maintain air mastery of the Indian Ocean, or possibly to overawe India against a rapprochement with Britain, have prevented full scale air operations at the same time either against Australia or Bataan and the Manila forts.

Perhaps the most significant aspect of the Colombo operations, however, is what it implies as to British air and sea reinforcements reaching India and the Bay of Bengal. Unless the Japanese had reason to believe there was a considerable British naval force at Colombo, the 75-plane raid against that port would have little meaning.

BRITAIN GAINS ADVANTAGE

Colombo is not a major British naval base. It offers relatively little anchorage ground within its breakwaters. Yet the Japanese struck there presumably on the theory that the heavy British naval reinforcements which Rome reported ten days ago were steaming around the Cape of Good Hope into the Indian Ocean might be caught napping there.

There is no word from Britain to indicate a naval concentration at Colombo. It is obvious, however, that with Japanese air power in the Indian Ocean badly crippled at least temporarily by the Colombo disaster, British warcraft in those waters have an unlooked for advantage.

It is assumed the enemy planes came from carriers lying far off Ceylon. If more than two-thirds of those planes never got back to their carriers, those several carriers are more of a liability than an asset to the Japanese in the opening battle of the Bay of Bengal. And they are in deadly peril from heavy land-base bombers or British carrier-based planes undoubtedly making every effort to find and destroy them.

A Bible Message For Today . . .

The mighty God, even the Lord, hath spoken, and called the earth from the rising of the sun unto the going down thereof. Out of Zion, the perfection of beauty, God hath shined.—Ps. 1, 1, 2.

◇ ◇ ◇

God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; Selah. That thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations.—Ps. lxvii, 1, 2.

When he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him. And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed....When the even was come, they brought unto him many that were possessed with devils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick.—Matt. viii, 1-3, 16.

A Bit of Nonsense

The small daughter sat watching her mother making up her face, no doubt wondering what it was all about. When it came to the time for the application of the lipstick the small girl could contain herself no longer.

"What do you put all that on your face for, Mummie?" she asked.

"Then why doesn't it?" asked the small girl innocently.

Iva M. Lackie Is Wed To Walter Langtry

All Saints Anglican church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, when Iva Myrtle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lackie, was united in marriage to Walter Kenneth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willim Langtry of Brier Hill, New York. Rev. W. A. Filer conducted the ceremony and the church was decorated with snapdragons, daffodils and ferns. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Logan and during the signing of the register Miss Margaret Hooper sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a gown of white brocaded satin with net overskirt. She wore long lace mittens, satin slippers and a three strand pearl necklace, the gift of the groom. Her veil, which had belonged to her mother, was of white silk net caught with a "bridal wreath of apple blossoms and lily of the valley. She carried a bouquet of pink talisman roses.

The wedding attendants were Miss Hazel David, as bridesmaid, and Marie Lackie, sister of the bride, as junior bridesmaid. They wore net over satin gowns, Miss Davis in blue flower hat and satin slippers, and Marie in pale green with white shoes and flower hat. They carried bouquets of daffodils, snap-dragons and red roses. The best man was John Langtry, brother of the groom, and Mansel Langtry, also the groom's brother, was usher.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received, wearing a dress of British blue crepe with a hat of dusty rose felt and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a gown of navy sheer with a hat of rose straw and a corsage of white roses.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Langtry left on a trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls. For travelling the bride wore a flowered silk crepe dress and navy coat with powder blue felt hat and matching accessories. On their return they will live at Brier Hill, New York.

The wedding will take place May 2 in Sacred Heart Church.

Her veil was of white net with a white flower cap and she carried a bouquet of calla lilies. She was attended by Mrs. Roy Irwin, who wore blue embroidered organdie with a small headdress of tiny flowers and a shoulder veil of blue net. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. Dick Raine was best man and the ushers were Rev. E. Rigby of Palermo and Mr. Roy Irwin.

A reception was held at the bride's home, after which Lieut. and Mrs. Raine left on a trip to Toronto. For travelling the bride wore a brown ensemble. After the honeymoon trip, they will live in Halifax.

Phyllis L. Brown Marries Garnet J. Baptie

TRENT RIVER, April 7.—(ENS)—Evergreens with pink and white decorations framed the settting for the wedding, on Saturday afternoon, March 4th, at the bride's home, when Phyllis Leone Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown, Seymour West, became the bride of Garnet James Baptie, son of Mr. George Baptie and the late Mrs. Baptie of Norwood. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Wilkinson of Havelock United Church.

The bride wore a long gown of white net and chantilly lace over taffeta and shoulder length veil of white tulle. She wore a gold locket and chain, the gift of the groom, and carried a bouquet of red roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Audrey Blanche Brown, sister of the bride, was gowned in forget-me-not blue net over taffeta with matching headdress and carried a bouquet of yellow daffodils. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Alex Keith Baptie.

The wedding music was played by Miss Doreen Nevins, cousin of the groom and during the signing of the register, Miss Madeline Brimstead sang, "I Love You Truly."

At the reception the bride's mother received in a gown of Grecian rose with corsage of ice-blue flowers assisted by Mrs. Howard Baptie in black crepe with corsage of pink rose.

A sumptuous wedding breakfast was served after the reception by six girl friends of the bride, Misses Merle Glenn, Hazel Waters, Ila Free, Florence Shearers and Mrs. Eldon Preston and Mrs. Gordon McCulloch.

The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts and sums of money. The groom's gifts to the bridesmaid, pianist and soloist was dainty compacts in blue and gold, and to the best man a gold tie set.

After the reception the happy couple left on a wedding trip, midst echoing calls of good wishes and showers of confetti. For going away the bride wore a navy blue pinstripe suit, dusty rose felt hat with accessories to match. On their return they will reside near Norwood.

Later the happy couple left on a trip to Toronto and other points. For travelling the bride wore a dress of gold crepe, a brown tweed coat and brown accessories. On their return they will live at 502 Bonaccord street.

Salvage Workers Seek Further Co-operation

The Civic War Service Council held its regular meeting on Monday evening in the committee room of the city buildings, with the president, Mrs. R. J. Kearns, in the chair.

Mrs. Clare Collins read an interesting report on the work of the Salvage Committee, in which she announced that during March 400 lbs. of mixed iron, 849 lbs. rags, 3,890 lbs. of steel, 702 lbs. of satinette, 4,630 lbs. tin (not tin cans), 19,920 lbs. of scrap paper, 26,160 lbs. of newspaper and 1,770 lbs. corrugated paper, and $50 worth of grease had been disposed of.

Mrs. Collins also said that the help had been increasing but that a great deal was still needed, especially just now when, due to spring cleaning and special drives, the work is increasing. It would help the workers considerably if housewives would let the committee know well in advance, when their salvage will be ready, so that the calls can be arranged so as to save the maximum of time, gas and wear and tear on the tires.

The Salvage Committee does not want broken glass or bottles at present. The Government is stressing the collection of rubber and citizens are urged to turn every scrap they find, no matter how small, over to the Salvage collectors.

Mrs. Kearns announced that the question of space, as well as labor, was becoming acute. The basement of South Central School has long been inadequate, and the shed built recently is also inadequate. The ideal arrangement would be to have a storage place in several districts of the city. This would have time and gas.

The fact that the Salvage Committee does not receive enough co-operation from the city or the citizens was discussed and it was suggested that a round table conference to which members of the Board of Education, the City Council and other gentlemen would be invited to thrash out this problem with the ladies. The work has reached such proportions, and is such an important part of the war work that full co-operation of everyone is necessary.

The help situation was discussed again, and the need for workers of all kinds was stressed. To those who will not help because Salvage is dirty work, the present workers point out that war is not a clean game, any way you look at it, and that Salvage work is vital to the winning of this war.

Isabell Duffus Bride Of Harry Gainey

St. Peter's Cathedral, decorated with spring flowers and lilies, was the scene on Monday, of the wedding of Isabell Gertrude, daughter of Senator and Mrs. J. J. Duffus, to Michael Harry Gainey, Jr. of Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Henry Gainey of Peterborough. Rev. Father J. T. Finn conducted the nuptial ceremony and wedding music was played by Miss Marion Best, A.T.C.M. During the signing of the register Miss Geraldine Collins sang "Ave Maria."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pretty street-length frock of aqua and tan printed silk with an aqua coat of rabbit's hair wool, and aqua hat lined with similar printed silk and brown accessories. She carried a nosegay of violets and carnations.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Edward M. Quinlan of Elmira, Ontario, who wore a frock of the same aqua and tan printed silk with a tan coat of rabbit's hair wool and a tan hat lined with similar printed silk, and brown accessories. She carried a nosegay of daffodils and iris. The groom was attended by his brother, John H. Gainey, and the ushers were Karl A. Duffus, brother of the bride, and E. M. Quinlan of Elmira.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, where the bride's mother received wearing a grey redingote with a printed silk dress, a silver fox fur and a hat of violet baku straw. She wore a corsage of violets. The groom's mother also received, wearing a gown of queen's blue crepe with a silver fox fur and blue straw hat. She wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Friends Honor Soldier At Norwood

Friends and neighbors of Gunner Carmen Metcalfe, R.C.A., gathered at his home on Thursday evening to present him with a gift and spend a social evening before his departure. Games were played during the evening, then Mr. Edward Waters presented Carmen with an address and a wrist watch. The following is the address, to which Carmen suitably replied:

Dear Carmen,—We are gathered here tonight to spend a social time together on the eve of your departure on a new and perilous journey to a foreign land, to a land where a war is to be fought and won. This war will be fought and won by men who are brave and courageous and with the ability to stand fast for the just cause of freedom and righteousness. You have before you a task which is not easy to accomplish but we know that you have the qualities which are required to make a brave soldier. We are proud to have a young man going from the Elgin community (which is such a small fraction of the British Empire) to fight for this country and all that it means to us. May God be with you in all your trials and dangers and bring you safely through while we here at home do our best to keep the old flag flying higher and higher.

We wish you God-speed and good fortune. Accept this gift as a token of our esteem and as a remembrance of your home community. We hope this watch will be of use to you.

(Signed on behalf of the Elgin community)

OTTAWA FLYERS ARE CALLED TO TAKE SERIES IN THREE GAMES

Touhey Indicates Flier Margin Greater Tonight

OTTAWA, April 7—(CP).—The best-of-five Allan Cup semi-final series between Quebec Aces and Royal Canadian Air Force Flyers which resumes here tonight apparently will be decided strictly on its merits. The last ticket for the game was sold yesterday morning.

Coach Bill Touhey said he thinks Flyes will fare better against Quebec this time and since the Airmen won the first game in Montreal on Saturday 3-2, it wasn't hard to guess his meaning.

Coach Don Penniston, who missed his first shot at the Allan Cup four years ago with Cornwall Flyers, sent his Quebec and Maritime champions through a morning workout yesterday and afterwards reported the team is injury free. The same report issued from the Ottawa camp following a one-hour evening drill, but it was later reported that Mike Miller, centre of Flyers' second-string line, suffered an injury to his hand at Rockcliffe Airport.

Johnny Acheson will replace Miller at the pivot position, with Vic Haneberry at his regular spot on the right boards. Alf Kunkel, graduate of the Dominion champion Regina Rangers, will be moved off the bench to fill in at left wing. Otherwise both teams will rely on the same players they used in the first game.

Something of the confidence emanating from the Ottawa camp was shown in the report that Bobby Bauer, injured right wing member of the Kraut line, may return to action if the Airmen reach the final Allan Cup round and the series is late in starting. Bauer suffered a fractured collar-bone in practice on March 21 but left hospital two weeks ago.

News From Training Camps

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Manager Bill McKechnie says his Cincinnati Reds are all set everywhere but in centre field and he declares he is not worried about conditions there. "I'm going to keep alternating Harry Craft and Mike McCormick until I see enough to convince me one way or the other," says the Deacon.

NORFOLK, Va.—Brooklyn Dodgers didn't receive cheering news from the hospital where First Baseman Dolph Camilli and Second Baseman Billy Herman are patients. After preliminary examinations the medico said he could not promise that either player would be in the opening line-up next Tuesday.

SANFORD, Fla.—Boston Braves break camp to-day and head for Jacksonville, Fla., where Manager Casey Stengel will pit his charges against the Naval Flyers, directed by Lieut. George Earnshaw. The former Philadelphia Athletic hurler has two Boston boys on his team, Joe Walsh, who had a tryout with the Red Sox, and Bob Leahy of Boston University.

OKLAHOMA CITY—Mel Harder, slated to pitch the opening home game for Cleveland Indians, got his final tuneup to-day against New York Giants. Manager Lon Boudreau sent him to the mound with instructions to hurl the full distance, a feat Jim Bagby accomplished yesterday.

DELAND, Fla.—Six pitchers and one infielder left here as the St Louis Browns started the long trek homeward. Manager Luke Sewell told Pitchers John Niggeling, Johnny Whitehead, Boots Hollingsworth, Bill Cox, Loy Hanning and Stan Ferrens to remain and continue their conditioning program. Infielder Don Heffner also stayed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.— Stan Musial joined St. Louis Cardinals late last season and immediately became the toast of the National League with his hitting. Right now, however, Harry Walker has a good chance to be the club's right fielder as does Musial. Walker, up from Columbus, has hit at a .400 clip this spring while Musial is near the .200 mark.

Remember When—

Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs set a modern play-off scoring record six years ago tonight when Detroit defeated Leafs 9-4 in the second game of the Stanley Cup series. The modern scoring record for league matches was set Jan. 11, 1938 at Montreal when Maroons defeated Canadiens 11-7.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Toronto Maple Leafs are on the well known spot tonight when they tackle Detroit Red Wings in Toronto in the second game of the Stanley Cup finals. A second win for Detroit would just about kill any chance for a Toronto victory in the series for after tonight's battle, three of the next four games are billed for the Red Wings' ice. In short the Leafs must win tonight or else. On the season's dope they should come through. It all depends however upon how much fight they can develop for use against the rough, tough and nasty Red Wings, who with a win under their belts, will be full of confidence tonight and even harder to knock off than they were in the Saturday night tussle. One of the Leafs is quoted as saying that they will pass the rubber around tonight until the Wings are dizzy. But it is a bit difficult doing much fancy passing against an outfit that is mainly engaged in knocking you down at every opportunity. It is not pretty stuff that the Red Wings dish out but it it gets results. They themselves describe it as "pick and shovel hockey" and that gives you the picture.

One Detroit sports writer described it as "pitch the puck and go in and hack, hack, hack." That was the style the Wings used against Boston and against the Leafs in the first game and it is undoubtedly the style they will use again tonight. They will throw all their players into the Toronto zone at every opportunity, try to keep the Leafs penned and at the same time to slash the rubber past Broda. It is not the brand of hockey that we personally have any use for. Ten minutes of the New York Rangers' flashy stream-lined passing is worth a whole season of "pick and shovel" stuff in our book. But the Detroiters are out to win the Stanley Cup, not to give an exhibition, and they are using tactics that they believe to be sound. They figure that they can keep on beating Toronto with that sort of hockey. Their theme song is "We did it before and we can do it again," and so tonight they will probably throw in more sock than they did Saturday night, if that is possible.

Wilfrid Ranger, last of the powerful Peterborough senior O.H.A. championship squad of 1926 to quit the game, was home for the Easter week-end from Detroit, looking the picture of health and still fit to do his turn on the ice. "Biffer's" only connection with hockey recently has been coaching an industrial team but he admits that working long hours on war work hardly leaves a person in the mood to take a real interest. Ranger was the left winger on the Petes' ace line with the late Frankie Collins in centre and Ace Bailey patrolling the right boards—and it was a fast-stepping, high scoring trio that held its own with anything the Petes had to meet that championship season. After graduating from the O.H.A. ranks Ranger made his professional debut along with Bert McLeod at Kansas City and for a dozen years afterward he continued to play in minor pro ranks before Old Father Time caught up with him and finally forced a retirement. Of the Peterborough team of Ranger's best season in the amateur ranks only Bert McLeod and Ray Rose are now living in town.

Over in Detroit they credit a slurring remark in a Toronto newspaper in which it was said that the Red Wings didn't belong in the same league as the Leafs, with being the spark that fired Jack Adams' team so full of fight that they went out Saturday night and simply slapped the Toronto gang down. M. F. Drukenbrod tells about it in the Detroit Times as follows: "Manager Jack Adams of the Red Wings has scored first in the war of nerves which annually precedes the Stanley Cup finals, so Toronto Maple Leafs had better be on the guard. A Toronto scribe unwittingly supplied the background for it. Results will have to be awaited, but there is a possibility this one may rival Adams' gem about "the sidewalks and little ponds of Canada," which inspired his team to go out and beat New York Rangers in the concluding game of the 1936-37 finals. It happened last night in the Wings' dressing room following their 3-1 victory over Boston which qualified a Detroit team for hockey's biggest series for the fifth time in nine years. Photographers' bulbs were flashing and happy Wings were shouting as they crowded around young Joe Carveth, the hero of the game, when word came that Toronto had edged out the Rangers and would play Detroit."

* * * * * *

"With that, Adams, holding a Toronto newspaper in his hands, crowded to the center of the room," the article continues, "and, in a husky voice, said: "Listen, fellows. I've something here I want all of you to hear." There was silence immediately and Jack began reading an item from the paper. The writer said it was a shame two great teams like the Leafs and the Rangers should be "battered their brains out" to see which should play either Detroit or Boston, "neither of which belongs in the same league with them."

* * * * * *

"There it is, fellows," Adams, now white and trembling, said, according to the Detroit scribe. "Let's go. Well' show them." The effect on the Wings was electrifying. Shouts of "Bring them on!" "We'll knock them out of the league!" and the like rang throughout the room. Jimmy Orlando even suggested that the series start Thursday night. "We're ready for them now," he said.

The basketball season will be wound up in Peterborough this week. Remains only the City League semi-final windup and a sudden death game for the championship. Dominions who won the first game of the semi-finals from the Collegiate team by winning 44 to 33 last week will thus take an eleven point lead into the second game with Coach Bamforth's team which will take place at the Collegiate gymnasium on Thursday night. Points count on the round and it promises to be a red-hot session as the students, at home on their big floor, turn on the heat in an effort to pull down the lead held by Dominions. The game will be called at 8 o'clock sharp. The winner of the series will be stacked up against the league-leading Quakers Saturday night in a sudden-death game for the City League title. Quakers, made up largely of members of the Outboard Marines, finished on top of the heap at the end of the regular schedule.

Oshawa Generals apparently have the Eastern Canada junior championship all wrapped up and will probably take the series with Montreal Royals in four straight games which is another upset in view of the great record of the Montreal team up to the time they were hit by the Generals. The Royal kids had won 19 straight games and had not been beaten all season before the present series. It did not look to be in the books that a crowd with a record like that should be eliminated in straight games by a squad like Oshawa that has been playing in-and-out hockey all season but that is the present outlook. Oshawa waltzed into Montreal last night and took the third game of the series to make it three straight. And this was by far the easiest win of the round, the Generals outscoring the Montreal gang 7 to 2 after one-goal victories in the first two games. The fourth game will be played in Toronto tomorrow night and that should wind the thing up.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Canadian Press All-Star team is exactly the same as was selected by the N.H.L. players. That about makes it unanimous....However it is difficult to see why a player like Don Grosso of the Red Wings should only get one vote for the centre berth....Ball players are said to be peeved about pay cuts this season. They should remember that a lot of other young fellows are working for $21 a month just now in a uniform that is different from diamond garb....Hextall has been the choice for three straight seasons as right winger on the All-Star lineup, a remarkable tribute to the consistency of the Ranger player....That Portage La Prairie junior squad makes goals look like a a dime a dozen. In their second last start they scored 15 and last night they dropped Edmonton 13 to 3. At that Edmonton led by 2 to 1 at the end of the first period but faded from the picture when the Terriers really got their attack rolling....Sutton won the intermediate A championship last night taking the series with Fingal R.C.A.F. with a goal scored exactly three seconds before the end of the game, a tough loss for the Fliers....Leafs are 2 to 1 favorites to take tonight's game. The bull ring may be taken for another ride at that.

Today's Guest Star

Leo H. Lassen, Seattle Post-Intelligencer: "Bill Schuster, the gabby ex-Seattle shortstop now with Los Angeles, is credited with suggesting an improvement in a machine gun plant in Buffalo last winter that now saves 1,000 man hours a month; now if William could only stop jawing with the umpires, he might accomplish the same for baseball."

There weren't any beauty contest scouts in the audience at Newark the other night when the Octopus, billed as the "Masked Horror," won from the Swedish Angel, listed as "the world's ugliest wrestler," with Tony Galento as referee.

Short Short Story

Art Cohn claims this happened in an Oakland, Calif., gym a short time ago: Jim Lee, big negro heavyweight and his manager, Harvey Pettit, couldn't find any sparring partners. Finally Pettit spotted a big kid shadow-boxing over in one corner and offered him a couple of bucks to work a few rounds. "Don't worry," he coaxed, "I'll tell him to take it easy with you."

"Sorry, sir," the boy stammered, "but I don't think I should. My name is Connie Norden and I'm fighting your boy, Lee, Wednesday."

P.S.: Norden flattened Lee with a couple of punches.

SELLOUT FOR CALGARY

CALGARY, April 7—(CP).—Port Arthur Bearcats, perennial Thunder Bay champions, and Kimberley Dynamiters, the British Columbia titlists, are all set for their first match in a best-of-five Western Canada Allan Cup final here tonight.

Second game of the series will be played at Regina, Thursday and remaining matches will be at Port Arthur, the third Saturday and fourth if necessary, Monday.

Red Wings Hope For Windfall From The Cards

By MATT JACKSON
Sports Editor, Rochester Times Union

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., April 7.—(AP).—Rochester Red Wings are looking hopefully to St. Louis Cardinals for help as the 1942 International Baseball League pennant chase nears.

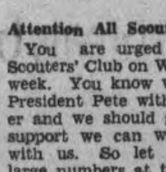
Headed by veteran Clem Dreiserwerd, who came like a race horse last season and wound up with a 15-won-and-six-lost record, the Wing southpaws might take the Wings places. The other port-siders are Ed Wissman, a disappointment in 1941, and George (Lefty) Dockins, up from Mobile, Dockins is expected to stay. He won 20 and lost six last year and has been hot and cold in spring camp games.

The infield, with the addition of Joffre Cross, should be better than last year, when Rochester tried a conglomeration of shortstops with varying success. Cross—last year he was with Houston—has a great pair of hands and is a good play-maker. The status of Georgie Fallon, reported going to New York Giants, is still to be decided. If he stays, he will be the regular second sacker again. If he goes, the Wings will get another infielder from the Cards.

The veteran Harry Davis, the league's best first-sacker will be back at his old post, and Gene Lillard, who played short and third last year, looks like the regular third sacker.

There is some hope the Cards will ship over a fly-chaser before the season opens, but the Wings are not banking on it. Manager Tony Kaufmann probably will start with veteran Jimmy Ripple in left and another old-timer, Duty Cooke, in right. Two youngsters, Rolland Le Blanc and Bill Wachtler, are battling for the centrefield spot, with Din Clay, a perennial star with Decatur, apt to sneak into the picture.

Centrefield, however, looms weak. Le Blanc, who is leading the field of three candidates, has had three years of minor league experience. Wachtler has never played anything but semi-pro ball. But, because the Cards are having their troubles getting outfield talent, Rochester may be forced to start with that set-up.



With The Boy Scouts

Attention All Scouters.

You are urged to attend the Scouters' Club on Wednesday of this week. You know we will not have President Pete with us much longer and we should give him all the support we can whilst he is here with us. So let us turn out in large numbers at this week's meeting, and remember, the Scout Craft Show is not far off. There may be many points that you would like to bring forward for discussion. Remember the date, Wednesday, April 8th at headquarters.

On Duty at Salvage Centre.

The Murray St. Troop will be on duty at the salvage centre on Friday of this week, April 10. All Saints Troop are warned for duty for Friday, April 17.

Reports For Commissioner.

Commissioner Hornsby is still looking for reports as requested from the following troops and we would suggest that the officers in charge do their best to get the lists in at once. 5th Peterborough All Saints, 6th Peterborough Knights of Columbus, 12th Peterborough George St., 13th Peterborough Mark St. and 14th Peterborough Murray St. All other troops have sent their reports in.

St. Luke's (2nd Armour.

During the past week the Pack met at Akela's and Baloo's homes owing to activities of Holy week at the church. The pack was divided into two groups for this and lots of work was accomplished on their model building. Some models were completed whilst others showed good progress. This week the meeting will be held at the church at the usual day and time. Every club is asked to be present as this month extensive practice for the Scout Craft Show will be made. On Thursday of this week a group practice will be held at Saint Andrew's at 7 o'clock. Cubs will be notified at what time to meet.

Sacred Heart.

Out in scouting was again brought forward as the troop held part of their regular meeting in the open air. The patrol leaders gave instruction in Tenderfoot work whilst the Scouter engaged some of the advanced boys in second class instructions. During the camp fire program the Fox patrol was presented with the Scouter's Cup as they led the patrol competition by 210 points. A father and son banquet has been planned for the 28th of this month and it is hoped that we will have a good crowd for this occasion.

On Wednesday last the patrol leaders meeting took up artificial respiration and ways and means of dragging unconscious persons from burning buildings.

St. Andrew's.

The Scout Troop are holding parents night on Thursday of this week, April 9 and a cordial invitation is extended to the parent of every boy to come and join the fun.

On Thursday, April 16 the Murray St., All Saints and Sacred Heart troops will join the St. Andrew's troop at their headquarters to practice for the Scout Craft Show. Please be on time, 7.45 Thursday, April 16.

FELLOW PRISONER
CHAPTER XI

NO man however brave can hear himself sentenced to die unmoved. A chill trickled up Allan's spine and down again; his lips tightened to a straight line; but they did not tremble, and he forced his eyes to meet the steady gaze fixed upon him by Watanabe. He did not speak, for there was obviously nothing to say.

"I have the authority to execute you immediately," continued the Japanese thoughtfully, "but I prefer to wait a little—just a little while, senor! It happens you have arrived at an awkward moment for us. My superior officer here, Gen. Baron Kazunari Sagoya, who is in charge of these operations, is absent at present on a short business trip north—to your own country, in fact. You are reprieved until he returns, as I think he may wish to question you before you —er—leave us!"

Allan cleared his throat. He tried to think of something to say, but his thoughts were rather badly confused for the moment. Before anything useful occurred to him, Watanabe's smooth voice resumed.

"You will be placed on a neighboring island which we use for the detention of undesirables. You will have some freedom of movement, but you will not attempt to escape, senor! There are guards there who are expert marksmen— and the waters of this Gulf are teeming with man-eating sharks. I consider it only fair to warn you of these deadly dangers."

"Thank you," said Allan mechanically.

Watanabe took up the automatic and put it in a drawer of his desk. He examined the field glasses casually.

"You may keep these, senor," he announced generously, but spoiled the effect by adding naively: "I have a better pair of my own already." He handed them with a word in Japanese to the guard, who hung them over Allan's shoulder by their strap. "That is all for now, senor. We will meet again, I'm sure."

At last Allan could say something with sincerity.

"I hope so!" he declared grimly.

The blindfold was replaced. With the guard in front and the Eurasian behind, he was led back the way he had come. He took a long breath of the hot, humid air when the last door was passed; it was good to be above-ground once more.

Still blindfolded, he was placed in a launch. Only the guard was with him now. When the putt-putt ceased and the boat's nose grated against a dock, the man removed the bandage. He held a revolver in one hand while he loosed Allan's bonds with the other.

"You make trouble, I shoot!" he said in halting Spanish.

THEN Allan was free at last to stretch his cramped arms. He scrambled onto the dock, and the launch was promptly backed away. He straightened thankfully, and found himself looking into a pair of heaven-blue eyes. They belonged to the girl he had seen through the glasses. She was prettier at this close range, and much prettier than the photograph he had studied so carefully before leaving San Diego.

"Hullo!" he said. "Miss Kay Sargent, I believe!"

"O-o-oh!" gasped the girl breathlessly. "Who are you?"

"Allan Steele." He held out a partially numbed hand. "I'm glad to find you at last, Miss Sargent. I've been looking for you!"

"Looking for me?" repeated Kay Sargent, and as the idea seemed to register on her mind, she drew back the breath she had lost in one long inhalation. "Thank heaven!" she cried softly. "I'd begun to think nobody was ever going to do anything! It's nearly two months now since we were brought here by force, and not a sign from home!"

"Huh? You didn't meet Harry Bishop?"

"Harry Bishop? No. Who is he?"

"Why — give you the details later! He came down here hunting for your father and you, but —er—came back without locating you. And where is your father, Miss Sargent?"

"He's over there," said Kay, nodding toward the island Allan had just left. She added bitterly: "A prisoner! As I am here!"

"But, why? Why has this outfit kidnaped you two?"

"I don't know!" she answered, and the despair in her tone gave him a hint of the torture she had suffered from uncertainty. "If I knew that perhaps I could do something about it."

"Seems to be a Chinese puzzle with a Japanese polish. I know your father came here on some mission for our government, but they didn't give me the details. Just what was he after?"

"He never told me. Father is very — careful. And since they brought us here I have had no chance to talk with him. Every day, at six in the afternoon, two guards bring him to the shore of that island. We see each other and wave our hands. They do that so I'll know he's all right and he'll see I am. I don't believe they ill-treat him, but—oh, he seems to look 20 years older than when we left the States!"

◆ ◆ ◆

"NOW, now — thumbs up!" he urged her hurriedly, detecting the shine of tears in her eyes. "We'll bust this racket yet!"

"C-can you really help us?" she demanded. "Aren't you a prisoner too, Mr.—Mr.—?"

"Steele. My friends call me Allan, though—and I suppose yours call you Kay, don't they? Let's start right out on a Kay and Allan basis, shall we? I've a notion we'll be good friends before we get out from behind this 8-ball."

"I hope so—Allan. Father and I—need a friend."

"Come to think of it, haven't you one already Who was that you were talking with here a while ago?"

"Pierre de Fontanelle!" She brightened and smiled as she uttered the name. "Pierre's a dear! He does little things to make me comfortable, and he tries to keep me cheerful! He's French."

"I thought so from the way he talks."

"No—seen him. He waves his hands. You look out, Kay, or sometime when he's chatting with you he'll get really excited and maybe give you a nasty clip on the jaw."

She drew back her head at that and laughed. It was a rippling little laugh, musical as a run on the piano, and it did queer things to Allan's insides. He regarded her more closely, and suddenly he was comparing her with Asia. It was like comparing a meadow daisy to an orchid, or a drink of spring water to a zombie cocktail. And if orchids and zombies are all right in their way, he mused, a man does better over the long hard pull on a diet of daisies and water. He wondered if he was going to fall in love with Kay Sargent . . .

"Who is De Fontanelle?" he asked, and actually sounded a trifle jealous. "What's he doing here?"

"He's a prisoner—like us. He came the day after I did. He's a geologist, he told me. He was prospecting those mountains over there for mineral deposits when the Japanese picked him up. They said he was spying on them. He says they're crazy!"

"Yeah? If they're crazy, it's in a big way. The chief of the outfit is a general and a baron; next in command is a Japanese Army colonel, and there's a scientist with eyes as sharp as microscopes! Very distinguished bunch of lunatics I'd say. But this De Fontanelle—what is he politically That counts nowadays."

"He's Free French. He's a great admirer of General de Gaulle and he turns purple if you mention Vichy."

"Sounds okay," conceded Allan. He glanced at his wrist watch. "They parade your father at six? It's just that now."

"And there he comes! I'd walked down here to wait for him and found you just arriving."

THREE TROPHY WINNERS STAND OUT ON ALL-STAR N.H.L. SQUAD

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 7—(CP).—The finest players in modern hockey, men who have taken all but one of this season's individual awards in the National Hockey League, appear today in company that thumps the stamp of authenticity on their greatness—the annual N.H.L. all-star teams, chosen for The Canadian Press by 30 writers in the seven cities of the league.

Frankie Brimsek, chosen as goalkeeper on the first team, won the Vezina Trophy this season for allowing the least number of goals during Boston's regular schedule. Syl Apps of Toronto won the Byng Trophy, awarded annually to the most gentlemanly player in the N.H.L. Tommy (Cowboy) Anderson of Brooklyn Americans is the other member of the twice-honored trio. His choice for the Hart Trophy, as the player most valuable to his club during the season, was announced today.

The single individual honor not held in this select group is the Calder Trophy, for the league's rookie-of-the-year. Nothing less than a miracle could make even the most outstanding rookie good enough for this all-star ranking.

The CP teams:

First Team		Alternate Team
	Goal
Brimsek (Bos.)		Broda (Tor.)
	Right Defence
Seibert (Chi.)		Egan (Amer.)
	Left Defence
Anderson (Amer.)		McDonald (Tor.)
	Centre
Apps (Tor.)		Watson (Ran.)
	Right Wing
Hextall (Ran.)		Drillon (Tor.)
	Left Wing
Patrick (Ran)		Abel (Det))
	Coach
Boucher (Ran).		Thompson (Chi.)

Plenty Of Time For Choice

The 12th annual selections were made later this year than ever before, enabling the writers participating to base their selections on play over the full N.H.L. schedule.

No one will ever know Tommy Anderson's private opinion of his hockey career during its many tedious years of shuttling back and forth between bigtime and smalltime, but in his rosiest dreams he could have had little hope of making the N.H.L. all-star team. His selection, not surprising after a great season, climaxed a swift rise to prominence after he was moved from forward to defence for Americans last fall. His 41 scoring points this season set a new league record for defencemen.

Tommy is 31 and one of the few top-notch hockey players born other than on this continent. He was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, but learned his hockey in Alberta.

Hextall Still Going Strong

Bryan Hextall, the league's leading point-scorer (56) this season, was the only member of last year's first team to retain a place. He was a popular choice for right wing for the third straight season. Frankie Brimsek moved up from the alternate team to top ranking, with Turk Broda dropping back. Brimsek's second Vezina trophy winning season made him a sure choice for the first squad.

Members of the first team were chosen by decisive margins, but the selectors differed widely in their choices for the alternate team's defence positions. Bucko McDonald of Toronto and Pat Egan of Americans, a pair to make the hardiest forward shudder if ever they were teamed in actual play, had slight margins over Johnny Crawford and Dit Clapper of Boston and Toronto's Bingo Kampman.

Weighting of the vote to give equal power to votes from each N.H.L. city regardless of the number of voters placed McDonald on the team with 116 points while Egan had 104. Kampman had 84.

Patrick topped all voting, his 32-goal season recognized by 29 first choices among the 30 voters. The other vote placed him on the alternate team. Brimsek had 24 votes, Seibert 18, Anderson 12, Apps 20, Hextall 26.

Bill Cowley and Dit Clapper, Boston members of last year's first team were submerged in the voting through injuries suffered in mid-season.

Frank Boucher of Rangers was chosen coach of the first team with 15 first choices. Paul Thompson, named to direct the alternates, had seven and Hap Day of Toronto six.

Don Grosso, star for Detroit in the Stanley Cup playoffs and leading scorer through the post-season series so far, was almost ignored by the selectors. He had one vote as first team centre and four for the second team.

Trio Of Right-Handers Now Training With Maple Leafs

Burleigh Grimes is hopeful that the trio of right-handed hurlers will prove their worth to the Toronto ball club in the coming season. Harry Shuman, LEFT, was purchased from Harrisburg, where he won 18 games and lost six last season. James Davis, CENTRE, played with Binghamton last season, winning 3 and losing 8. He was purchased from Kansas City. Ralph McCabe, RIGHT, a native of Belleville, Ont., played with Butler last season and won 9 games, losing none.

Two New Hurlers Perk Up Staff For Leafs

CAMDEN, S.C., April 7.— Desperately striving to bolster an uncertain pitching staff, General Manager Lee MacPhail of Toronto Maple Leafs yesterday announced the acquisition of a pair of right handers, Dick Conger, a 21-year-old six-footer, comes on option from Pittsburg Pirates, and Bill Gill has been obtained from Kansas City on option.

MacPhail also announced that Jim Kerr optioned to the Leafs by Pirates, will not join the team for some time yet. Judge Landis stepped in when the Bucs sent Kerr to the Toronto club, and informed the Pittsburg club that Kerr, as a drafted player, had not been given a thorough trial.

Landis ruled that the Baltimore righthander had to be retained until April 1, and that Pittsburg would have to get new waivers on him, which means the hurler won't be able to leave until April 10. He'll probably join his new mates in Syracuse just before the opening game on April 16.

Eddie Fernandes, sprightly young backstop, is also delaying his arrival in the Toronto camp. Fernandes hasn't left California yet, and MacPhail has been unable to contact him by telephone. The young Toronto boss figures if he can speak to Fernandes he'll be able to persuade him to join the Leafs.

A Help Here.

The arrival of Paul Paynick and Tom Drake has offset the loss of another pitcher from Pittsburg. Southpaw Bill Clemenson of the Pirates has joined Uncle Sam's fighting forces thus automatically cutting help from that source by one pitcher. George Windsor reportedly army-bound, is not in uniform. MacPhail has discovered, and, without further ado, he will be farmed out for further seasoning.

Eddie Morgan, a persistent holdout, will likely be traded. With Jimmy Russell looking better every time out, MacPhail figures the club can get along without Morgan in the outfield. Bob Jackson, catcher purchased from Knoxville, is expected to arrive here to-day.

Micky Haslin's knee is responding "slowly but surely" to treatment while Johnny Gee reported his arm felt fine after his recent three-inning mound stunt.

Conger, the Pittsburg rookie headed this way was drafted by the Pirates after winning eight and losing ten for Beaumont in 1940. He started that campaign with Detroit, winning his only start from Chicago White Sox. Six feet tall, Conger weighs 185 pounds. Last year he won six games and lost a dozen with Portland of the Coast League and Albany of the Eastern Loop.

Golfing Greats Get "Go Ahead"

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 7—(AP).—Golf's greats got together here today for the masters' golf tournament—and got a double helping of cheerful news to start them off.

First was an announcement by Ed Dudley, head of the Professional Golfers' Association, that President Roosevelt had given golf a wartime go-ahead, along with baseball and other recreational pursuits in the United States.

Second, was an announcement by Dudley that the P.G.A.'s 2,300 members have pledged to raise $250,000 for wartime benefits and relief — five times the amount raised by golf in 1940 or 1941.

Anderson Seen For Hart Trophy

By ROBERT CLARKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, April 7.—(CP). — An experiment that had its birth in necessity—the transformation of Tommy (Cowboy) Anderson from a forward into a defenceman—paid a major dividend to-day when the star rearguard of Brooklyn Americans was named winner of the Dr. David A. Hart trophy. The award is made annually to the player voted the most valuable to his National Hockey League club.

The naming of Anderson as holder of the coveted individual award came as little surprise, since the stocky veteran's play with a last-place club throughout the season had made it evident that he would be one of the top contenders. But Anderson walked off with the award in easier fashion than expected, it was shown in a tabulation of the balloting disclosed by President Frank Calder of the N.H.L.

Twelve hockey writers—two from each N.H.L. city—took a hand in the voting with each club naming the newsmen having the right to vote. The writers each listed 10 choices, with 10 points for a first nine for a second and so on. On that basis Anderson compiled 86 points to far outstrip his rivals.

Apps Runs Second

Second place went to Syl Apps of Toronto Maple Leafs, recent winner Bill (Flash) Hollett of Bruins, and of the Lady Byng Trophy for the player who best combines sportsmanship and good play. Apps had 46 points while three players—Lynn Patrick of New York Rangers, Frankie Brimsek of Boston Bruins and Bill Thoms of Chicago Black Hawks—were tied for third with 46 points.

Anderson, converted into a defenceman by Manager Mervyn (Red) Dutton because the Americans had a rearguard shortage at the start of the season, polled five first-place votes. Patrick had two firsts, while one first apiece went to Brimsek, Thoms, Pete Langelle of Leafs, Bucko McDonald of Leafs.

Thirty-five players, in all, were mentioned in the voting for the award won last year by Boston's Bill Cowley, who as out much of the past season through injury. Cowley drew one ninth place vote for a two-point total. Although Apps didn't obtain a single first-place vote, he compiled the major part of his total through one second place ballot and three fourths.

Anderson gained, rather than lost, effectiveness as a scorer as a result of his switch to a post behind the blue-line. Whereas, he scored only three goals and helped in 12 in the previous season, this season he tallied 12 goals and had 29 assist to wind up among the top 10 point-maker. Besides the Hart Trophy, he was also named to the first Canadian Press all-star team.

Oshawa Generals Sweep Royals 7 to 2 In Third Straight Game

MONTREAL, April 7—(CP).—The record books showed three victories against no defeats today for Oshawa Generals in their best-of-seven eastern Canadian junior hockey final against Montreal Royals and it appeared quite probable that the Ontario team would end the series in the fourth game in Toronto Wednesday night.

The Generals, eastern champions for three successive years before they were toppled last season by the Royals, walloped the Montrealers 7-2 here last night in their third game. They showed even more polish than in the first two contests, which they won 3-2 and 4-3.

Royals needed a victory last night to get back into the fight for the crown and for the first couple of minutes of the game it appeared that they were victory-bound. Jimmy Planche sent them ahead with a goal just 68 seconds after the start of the game. But that first offensive flash soon dulled and before the period had ended the Generals had marked up four goals.

A Bit of Hand and Hand Stuff

The Oshawa scorers were Buck Davies, with two, Ken Smith, Floyd Curry, Bep Guidolin, Ken McNaught and Ron Wilson. Eddie Emberg got the second Royals' goal, his fourth in three games. Wilson's effort was the prettiest of the night, with the smooth-skating forward skirting the Royals defence with a burst of speed that carried him in on top of goalie Jean Paul Renaud for an easy score.

The game was enlivened in the last minutes by a brief free-for-all that flared when defenceman Bob MacFarlane of Royals and forward Ron Wilson of the Generals began to elbow each other in a corner behind the Royals not. Guidolin skated in to his teammate's aid and in a flash all other players on the ice with the exception of the goalies were involved.

As a result of the fray, MacFarlane, Johnny Gauthier and McNaught were given major penalties. It was while they were still off that Davies scored the second of his two-third period goals just two seconds before the end of the game. Davies' first goal was scored 40 seconds after the start of the last period.

Leafs Stoked Up For Big Chance, Minus Day's Aid

By DICK SHERIDAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, April 7 — (CP). — The Stanley Cup hockey game tonight between Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs may well be the last to be played here this season.

Red Wings won the first game 3-2 and a repeat victory will put them in an ideal spot to close out the best-of-seven series for the historic Trophy in four straight games.

After to-night's contest the teams go to Detroit and on the record the Leafs have hardly a chance for the Red Wings have won 12 successive games on home ice. In fact they've lost only three games in the last 17. The Detroit games are on Thursday and Sunday.

To add to the Leafs' woes there is just a possibility they may be without their coach, Clarence (Hap) Day. Fighting the flu for the past week, Day yielded to his doctor's order and went to bed on Sunday.

The Leafs are expected to adopt slightly different tactics from those on Saturday when they attempted to out-rough the rambunctious Red Wings and went down from sheer exhaustion.

Eddie Powers, who with Major Conn Smythe, supervised the Toronto workout yesterday, said: "We'll have to get to the puck first and try and evade the rough stuff."

A Break for Toronto?

A change in referees may have a decided effect on the ultimate result. Bill Chadwick of New York, who under the rotating system used in the playoffs is scheduled to handle the contest, is much more strict than King Clancy who let practically everything go in the first game.

The Leafs, without a doubt, would gladly dispense with the boarding and charging that was allowed in the series opener and with Chadwick handling the whistle they may get their wish.

Sutton Shades Bombers 4-3

TORONTO, April 7. — Sid Shepstone's blazing drive with three seconds of regulation time remaining, gave Sutton Greenshirts the O.H.A. Intermediate "A" title by virtue of a 4-3 decision over Fingal Bombers in the third and deciding game of the final series at Maple Leaf Gardens last night.

The husky winger picked up McComb's pass from a face-off in the Fingal zone and let fly with a shot that found the lower right hand corner of the net behind Goalie Neath, to break a 3-3 deadlock and give Greenshirts the championship.

The play spelled finish for a battling Fingal team that had fought from behind a 3-1 deficit to knot the count at 3-3 late in the third period. They were starting out in a desperate sally for the winning counter when the play was called back for an offside and from the resulting face-off Shepstone fired the winner.

Bombers started off on the right foot when Hodgson notched the only tally in a wild first period, that saw eight penalties meted out. Tessier broke from a Sutton ganging attack, while Legge sat with the timer for tripping and passed to Hodgson, who made no mistake from close range.

Greenshirts hit a scoring stride in the second session and went to the fore on two neatly executed tallies by Benny Harris. They appeared to be heading for an easy victory when McComb pushed the count to 3-1 early in the final session, but the Bombers stormed back to knot the count before bowing out in the face of Shepstone's deciding shot.

Bright spot in Bombers' losing cause was the sensational network of Neath, who kept his team in the hunt time and again with his diving saves. Meeko, Tessier and Andress played steady games up front.

In addition to Greenshirts' first-string line of McComb, Harris and Shepstone, that accounted for all its team's goals, Defencemen Roberts and Burkholder played a major part in the victory. Diplock and Culverwell, although they failed to hit the score sheet, were always dangerous and worked themselves into exhaustion in a fruitless hunt for goals.

Sutton—Goal, Hall; defence, Burkholder and Roberts; centre, McComb; wings, Shepstone and Harris; alternates: Gibney, Diplock, Culverwell, Pringle, Brandon and Gilbey (sub-goaler).

Fingal—Goal, Neath; defence, Meeks and Borland; centre, Hodgson; wings, Krasnoski and Tessier; alternates: Brownlee, DeGatne, Andress, Gordon, Butler and Leggs.

Referee—Bert Hedges.

WINNIPEG, April 7.—(CP).—Edmonton Maple Leafs, blasted 13-3 in the Western Canada junior hockey final opening game here last night by the lightning trusts of Portage La Prairie Terriers, are confident they'll triumph in the second game here Wednesday.

Third game of the best of five series also will be played at Winnipeg Friday.

"We are going to use our other goalkeeper, Wilber Delaney," said Manager Tommy Hays, adding that he believes his kids will "get going in the next game."

Terriers, playing their accustomed style—opening slowly against a new opposition—were underdogs in the initial period of ragged play, 2-1, but pushed into high gear for four goals in the second and eight in the third.

The final 40-minute blast sent the Manitoba champions to their 20th straight victory, believed to be a Canadian record in amateur hockey.

Terriers, uncovering something new in their repertoire, were scored on only once in the last two periods of the wide-open contest.

In past performances some followers claimed Terriers had no defence in their make-up. But last night rearguards Bill Heindl, with Winnipeg Rangers when they won the Memorial Cup last season, and Bud Ritchie, stopped many Edmonton sorties at the blueline.

Not Up To Form.

Manager Hays, however, claimed his Alberta kids were tired after the first period and were playing below par.

Terriers' second line of Wally Stefaniew-Jack McDonald-Bill Gooden, provided the fireworks in the opener. The first trio, that usually leads in point-making, were handicapped when Left Winger Joe Bell was slowed down by the flu.

Other members of the line are Lin Bend, centre, and Bob Love, right wing.

Bell rose from a sick bed to play and the passing zip of his line was missing. He managed, however, to rap in two goals. Love got a pair and Bend a single.

Despite the 13 goals that got by him, Goalkeeper Doug Stevenson of Edmonton received the praise of the 5,000 spectators for turning close-in shots.

DutchBagTanker Survive 67 Depth Bombs

A PACIFIC PORT, April 7—(CP).—A Netherlands submarine has reached this part after torpedoing a 14,000-ton Japanese tanker in a strong convoy in the Java Sea and then slipping through a net of pursuing warships and aircraft despite considerable damage from depth charges.

A total of 67 depth charges exploded near the submarine, according to the story disclosed to-day by Aneta, Netherlands news agency, and in addition there were numerous bomb attacks by Japanese aircraft.

Damaged fuel tanks leaked and the submarine left a trail of oil in her wake—but she managed to slip from the Java Sea through Sunda Strait into the Indian Ocean.

Her adventure began as she sighted the tanker in the Java Sea escorted by one cruiser, three destroyers, two submarine chasers and two planes.

She slipped between the tanker and her escorts, fired a torpedo, and then made a crash dive.

Even as she was diving, her crew said, there came a terrific explosion as the torpedo hit home. At almost the same moment the explosions of several air bombs were heard and felt.

For three hours the Japanese tried to track down the submarine, exploding one depth charge after another and causing considerable damage which, however, the crew said was repaired largely amid the attacks.

When the pursuers were silent for an hour, the submarine commander decided to rise to the surface—but he had 60 feet to go when explosions indicated the hostile aircraft had managed to keep on the trail. He sent his craft deep into the ocean again and waited until dark to continue his flight which led through Sunda Strait and eventually to safety.

Out Of Step

Port Arthur, April 7 (CP)

TIME marched on at the Lakehead today — but all out of step.

Port Arthur, obeying a proclamation issued by Mayor C. W. Cox, adopted daylight saving time today. Adjacent Fort William will not make the change to daylight time until May 1.

Both cities had remained on eastern standard time when Canada adopted nation-wide daylight time last Feb. 9. Both cities failed to act on the order-in-council proclaiming general daylight time as they contended they were complying with the effect of the order previously when they changed from Central to Eastern Standard Time through special legislation some 30 years ago.

Macaulay To Give Tax Saving Tips

TORONTO, April 7 (CP)—Leopold Macaulay (Con. York South) will lead off for the opposition when the budget debate resumes in the Ontario Legislature today. The session will be the first since last Thursday when the House adjourned for Easter. It will also mark the beginning of the final stage of the sitting which opened Feb. 11 and prorogation is expected within the next two weeks.

Mr. Macaulay, adjourning the debate Thursday after Premier Hepburn had finished his budget speech, said he would endeavor to show ways and means by which the province could reduce taxes.

The government should prepare "to strip the ship of state for the storm which I am afraid will sweep the democracies when the war is over," the York South member added.

Mr. Hepburn, in his speech, indicated the government was embarking upon a period of retrenchment when he said gross expenditures would be down to parallel the anticipated drop in revenue.

The premier estimated gross expenditures at $104,547,182, a reduction of $3,025,040 from the $107,629,222 spent last year. He placed ordinary gross revenue at $105,047,796—nearly $16,000,000 under the amount received in the year just closed.

The budget debate is expected to be fairly brief. The farmer members are known to be anxious to bring about prorogation as soon as possible, many of them now having to work their farms alone due to the scarcity of help.

There is little legislation of a contentious nature to be disposed of. One measure—the bill amending the department of municipal affairs act—which was expected to prove controversial has been withdrawn by Hon. T. B. McQuesten. The amendment gave the minister and the department greater powers over municipalities.

Mr. McQuesten said "great uneasiness" had been aroused over the bill.

Another measure which has yet to be introduced is an amendment to the assessment act providing for county-wide equalized assessments. This bill has been in the hands of a committee for some weeks and just what reception it will get is unknown.

Mother Not to Blame for the Children's Colds

Despite all the mother can do the kiddies will run out of doors not properly wrapped up; have on too much clothing; get overheated and cool off too suddenly; get their feet wet; kick off the bed clothes, and do a dozen things the mother cannot help.

Half the battle in treating children's colds is to give them something they will like; something they will take without any fuss, and this the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, a remedy used by Canadian mothers, for the past 48 years.

Sunday's Storm Clears Ice From Rice Lake

GORE'S LANDING, April 7 (ENS)—A high gale of wind from the southwest accompanied by a thunderstorm in the early hours of Easter Sunday, drove the large field of ice down Rice Lake.

The ends of Black Island and Sheep Island show huge banks of ice where the wind piled it up but the lake is clear from the south shore to the Otonabee at present.

Visitors over the week-end include Mr. and Mrs. Holly Jex and son, Port Hope at Mr. and Mrs. Melville Harris; Mr. and Mrs. John Heale, Toronto, at Mr. and Mrs. Clare Harris; Mr. and Mrs. Howarth and sons, Toronto, at Capt. Wilbert Harris Camp; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Westheuser and children, Toronto, also Mr. and Mrs. Richard Westheuser and family of Toronto were at their cottages; George Gray, Windsor, who is now a sub-lieutenant in the Navy called on friends in the village prior to taking up duties with the Navy; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Adams and family, Pickering, spent the week-end at their home; Lynn and Royal MacDonald, Pickering have returned home.

An impressive service was held in St. George's-on-the-hill on Good Friday afternoon. Rev. Allan Johnson preached.

Mrs. Lyle Wallace and Tommy, Jr. spent the week in Peterborough visiting her mother, Mrs. Nelson.

Master Robert H. Meggs has returned home from the Grove School, Lakefield.

The Red Cross held their semi-monthly meeting at the Library on Thursday afternoon and quilted one large quilt. Tickets are to be sold at this quilt and the proceeds are to help with Red Cross work. Mrs. Pratt won the war savings stamp. Only 13 ladies were present.

The W.A. of St. George's-on-the-hill met at the home of Mrs. Clare Harris and quilted a quilt for the missionary bale. Meetings will be postponed for a while because of the spring work.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob MacIntosh have had the roof of their home repaired during the past few days. The fire which threatened the whole building was confined to the attic. Plaster in the kitchen was destroyed necessitating considerable repairs.

8 Quilts Shipped By Young's Pt. Branch

YOUNG'S POINT, April 7 (ENS)—The Young's Point Red Cross Society held their April business meeting in St. Aidan's Parish Hall on Thursday afternoon.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. George Douglas, 1st vice-president. Work convenor, Mrs. D. Darling reported the following shipped for the month of March: 7 large turtle-neck sweaters, 1 boy's turtle-neck sweater, 1 scarf, 2 navy helmets, 16 pair gloves, 1 pair navy mitts, 6 pair navy service socks, 9 pair grey service socks; 4 pair khaki service socks; 3 pair seamen's socks, 8 large quilts, 1 child's quilt, 5 pair pyjamas and 2 extra pair trousers.

Final arrangements were made by the committee in charge for the dance on April 17th, to buy cigarettes for our boys overseas. Plans were also brought forward with regard to a bang-up salvage drive during May.

Votes of thanks were passed for quilt tops donated by Mrs. Wm. Hatton, Mrs. W. McIlmoyle, Mrs. H. Lytle, Mrs. E. Harvey, Mrs. William Bullock, Mrs. E. Bullock, two tops from Mrs. M. Harvey and one completed quilt from Mrs. Josiah Bullock. With the exception of two, all of these were quilted by the ladies of S.S. No. 12 School. A wool afghan and money from Mrs. MacDougall and daughter Helen of Kingston. Flannelette from Mrs. George Douglas, also to Mesdames Wilbert, Braden and Elwood Bullock for having made and donated a quilt for the purpose of raising funds for the society.

Tip To Libraries

HAMILTON, Ont., April 7 — (AP)—Warning that in times of war libraries were apt to be considered as among the lesser necessities of life, Miriam D. Tompkins of the School of Library Service at Columbia University, told members of the Ontario Library Association at their 42nd annual conference here to-day that librarians must concern themselves with making sure that the service they rendered the public could be regarded as a unique and indispensible function.

Opposition In Java

U.S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 7—(AP).—Two forces of considerable size still are battling the Japanese in Java, Lieutenant-Governor-General Hubertus Van Mock of the Netherlands East Indies told Gen. Douglas MacArthur today.

The forces, under command of Generals Schilling and Pressman, are well supplied with food and munitions and should keep Japanese forces occupied for some time, Van Mock said.

Havelock W.I. Elects Officer

HAVELOCK, April 7 — (ENS).—The April meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the council chamber on Monday afternoon with a smaller attendance than usual.

Treasurer Mrs. Rice reported a bank balance of $29.91. The communications contained the instructions from Navy League of how to make and ship cakes of maple sugar; the Co-operative programs for 1942-43, and forms for sending in of all reports of standing committees and financial statement for the year. The secretary, Mrs. W. Woodbeck, gave a detailed report of the branch's activities for the past year. It was decided to carry on the work of caring for the cemetery for the year. The dinner for the summary day on May 8 was partly arranged for, and will be completed at a later date. Roll call was "Pay your fees, please," and was responded by everyone present. Mrs. Annie Anderson presided for the election of officers and all were returned by acclamation for another year as follows:

President, Mrs C. Price; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. R. Jones; 2nd Vice-President, Miss E. Wright; Secretary Mrs. W. Woodbeck; Treasurer, Mrs. W. Rice; Pianist, Mrs. R. McCutcheon; Auditors, Mrs. G. Chiles and Mrs. J. W. S. Clarke; Press Reporter, Mrs. Covert and Mrs. McKenzie.

Meeting closed with singing of God Save the King, and refreshments were served by Mrs Dafoe, Mrs. A. Anderson, Mrs. Quinn and Mrs. Jones.

Wants It Widened

TORONTO, April 7—(CP).—The forthcoming Royal Commission inquiry into charges that Toronto relief recipients died of malnutrition should be made "wide enough to determine whether in fact malnutrition exists," Edward B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader, said in a statement today.

Commenting on the inquiry Dr. Smirle Lawson, Toronto Chief Coroner, has been named to make into malnutrition death charges by Controller Lewis Duncan, Jolliffe declared: "The naming of a friend and appointee of the (Ontario) premier, the narrow scope of the inquiry and the indecent haste in starting it, all add up to a purely political manoeuvre to whitewash Queen's Park relief policies."

'Beef Too Costly' Packers Stall; Good US Market

TORONTO, April 7 — (CP). — Failure of buyers and sellers to reach an agreement on a price basis bogged down cattle trading on the Toronto Livestock Market yesterday, and of the day's light receipts of 2,780 head the large hold-over of 1,600 head was reported. With prevailing cattle prices considered too high in relation to the Government ceiling on beef, bids on cattle by local packers were few and generally 50 to 75 cents a hundredweight below previous quotations. The light sales recorded were made to small buyers who paid 25 to 50 cents lower.

A similar situation was reported from Winnipeg. Packers there knocked 50 to 75 cents off their offer prices without success, and most of the day's sales were made to United States markets.

Sellers here with their eyes on strong American markets, where they can find a ready sale for good quality cattle and bulls, appeared undisturbed by the indifferent attitude of the packers. Over the week-end large shipments of Ontario cattle went from country points to Buffalo, Detroit and Jersey City. Iowa steers at Chicago yesterday sold at $16.40 a hundredweight, a new high for nearly five years, while other steers traded at $15 to $16.25. A part load of fat Canadian steers made $11.75 at Detroit, while at Buffalo 800 Canadian steers sold from $11.25 to $13.25. Weighty steers here sold at $10 to $10.50.

Americans Buy Locally

Although most of the cattle going to the United States are shipped from country points, approximately 100 head were reported sold to American buyers on the local market yesterday at $11 to $13.25 in United States dollars, for which there is a 10 per cent premium in Canada, and a larger volume is expected to be sold to the States here during today's market.

Packers offered lower prices here yesterday because the liveweight price on cattle, it was said, is about $1 to $1.50 a hundredweight higher than that warranted by the ceiling on beef. When the basic period was established, cattle were still on the grass, but now winter-fed cattle are being marketed and these animals are more costly to produce. Cattle prices during the basic period, September 15 to October 11, last, it was reported, were as high as at any time last year and up considerably from the spring prices, but it was pointed out, during the winter just past, costs of productions, including the grain with which the cattle were fed, were higher.

As the result of this domestic market condition, many anticipate a heavy movement of cattle to the United States. Last week's volume reached 2,889 head, which was really only one day's export, as the export quota for the second quarter did not open until April 1. The weekly shipments across the border is expected to run from 8,000 to 10,000 head, a volume that will use up the second-quarter quota by about the middle of May.

Livestock Climbs

CHICAGO, April 7—(AP)—Fresh enthusiasm for higher prices swept livestock market Monday carrying hogs to 16-year peaks and sending choice cattle to new tops since 1937. A top of $14.20 a hundred pounds was paid for hogs, highest since October, 1926. Gains ranged from 15 to 20 cents on hogs, with swine up fully 25 cents. Average hog price rose to about $14.05

Hepburn Boosts His Soy Beans

ST. THOMAS, April 7— (CP). — Premier M. F. Hepburn is making an all-out production effort on his Bannockburn Farm this year, despite the handicaps of the existing farm labor situation. In addition to his usual field crops he is planting 100 acres of potatoes and onions and a large acreage of soya beans.

"The early spring is a godsend to the farmers," he declared. "It has enabled them to get on the land earlier than usual, and that means a great deal when help is scarce."

During the past week seventeen acres of seed onions were drilled in the reclaimed bog land. Seeding of the onion beds is continuing this week under ideal weather conditions. A start will be made this week drilling spring grains.

Lakefield's Fire Squad Euchre Fills 30 Tables

LAKEFIELD, April 7 (ENS)—The village Fire Brigade threw their annual Easter card party and dance Monday night and a right jolly session it proved with thirty tables of euchre in swing till about 11.30 when the folks stoked up on lunch, cleared the floor and hoed it down to round and square till 2 a.m.

The thirty table card set up was slightly under par but Chief Allan H. Clark said it was good considering the number in the village and surrounding district who are on war work night shifts. He was inclined to put some of the drop in attendance to the fact many have cars laid up or are saving on gas or tires.

There were eight of the brigade missing too—something the boys are proud of at that—for they are in the King's uniform. Three are in the army, four in the R.C.A.F. and one in the navy.

Three of them are overseas—Staff Sgt. J. E. Earnshaw, Ordnance Corps, Pte. Ken Junkin, Toronto Scottish, P.O. Dominic White—the others are A. C. Julian Morin, Pte. Carson Webster, Signaller Bernie Johnston of the Royal Canadian Navy, Eric Morin of the R.C.A.F. Provost Staff, and Hugh Morrison, technician in the R.C.A.F.

"Eight out of a squad of twenty-five is a fine record," said Chief Clark, "and we have only been able to replace three of them so far.,'

A special draw for war saving certificates in aid of the Overseas Tobacco Fund netted aproximately $35 in sale of tickets and the $8 in stamps went to J. E. Patterson, Box 842 Peterborough, with second prize of $4 in certificates going to Mrs. Ken Jakins, of Lakefield.

Card party winners saw Miss Assunta White draw down first prize, 2nd Mrs. Charles Johns; men's first, Percy Spence, consolation, George Spence, lucky chair, Mrs. George Graham.

Lunch was served by members of the brigade with the crowd swinging to dancing immediately after to music by Wright's four piece orchestra of Warsaw. Pte. Mike Gorman called for the square dancing and kept the boys and gals "handing 'em in and out" for a lively jamboree.

Among officials responsible for the affair's success were Tommy Simpson, chairman of the entertainment committee of Oscar Calberry, Billy Clark and Fred Wannamaker; director of ceremonies Clark Chittick. Bill Hamblin, president of the Firemen's Association. Frank Payne was ticket taker.

Beaten Back Again

WASHINGTON, April 7—(AP).—The United States' War Department announced to-day that American-Filipino forces in Bataan had repulsed another heavy attack on the right centre of their line, and frustrated a new attempt by the Japanese to land troops on the east coast of Bataan under cover of darkness.

An assault against the line yesterday was made with great force, a communique reported, with the support of tanks, artillery and dive bombers, but the defenders stopped it after hard fighting. The Japanese were unable to extent the slight gains they had made the day before.

Horticultural Society Seeking New Members

Since the organization of the local Horticultural Society in 1861, its members have led in the beautification of private and civic property. In the past, by the help of civic grants, the society was responsible for the upkeep of parks. Their planning of these beauty spots was the foundation of the present civic parks, which remain a credit to those responsible for their well-kept lawns and flower beds. Members have given the necessary lift in the beautification of private homes. Many unsightly board fences have been replaced with trim hedges and floral borders. The value of private property has been increased by the simple decorative effect of a well-planned garden bordered by a few suitable flowering shrubs.

Citizens as a whole take pride in their horticultural efforts and in the efforts of others, hence the many lawn and garden competitions and the scenic drive, both of which are sponsored by the society. Awards are offered for the improvement of homes and gardens. To carry on the work of the society a larger membership is being sought this year whereby additional beautification schemes may be carried out. The society is co-operating with the Parks Committee in horticultural improvements. Plans have been formed to efface several scars around the city. These can only be accomplished with the aid of your membership. Peterborough should have a large and active horticultural society. Your membership fee entitles you to premiums of plants, etc., and a share in the beautifying of your city. Further particulars may be had from the secretary, 584 Chamberlain Street, 7788, or any member of the committee.

Must Be Beneficial

BOMBAY, India, April 7—(CP)—M. K. Gandhi, writing in his weekly newspaper "Harijan," says that "if I have any influence over India's policies (in the future), foreigners will be welcome provided their presence is beneficial to the country."

He said he was replying to a letter received from a resident of Vancouver, B.C., who had read Gandhi's articles in an American magazine. The Vancouver resident's name was not given out by the Indian leader.

Million Tons of Scrap

PHILADELPHIA, April 7—(AP).—Philadelphia's first skyscraper is going to war. It's the abandoned nine-storey home of the old Edison Electric Light Company, built in 1889. The Philadelphia Electric Company, owner, said it would be razed to provide 1,000,000 tons of iron and steel "for ships, tanks and guns."

I've found the most flavorful coffee

MAXWELL HOUSE Coffee

TRY IT YOURSELF—SEE IF YOU DON'T GET MORE RICH FLAVOR AND GOODNESS IN EVERY POUND

Read Why:

1 Maxwell House is extra delicious and fuller bodied because it contains more choice, extra-flavored, high-land-grown coffees.

2 This better blend is roasted by a remarkable process that roasts every single coffee bean evenly all through.

3 Maxwell House is packed in a Super-Vacuum tin—the only way to keep coffee so that it can't lose flavor.

2 GRINDS—DRIP and REGULAR

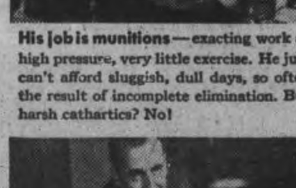
YOUR JOB is war work, too!

"We volunteers really work hard—turning out hundreds of bandages a day is tiring, but very little exercise. Yet I keep fit by taking extra care in my habits, getting plenty of 'bulk' in my diet. No dull, headachy, draggy days, no 'my-fingers-are-all-thumbs' feeling for me. Instead I eat a big, delicious bowlful of mildly laxative Kellogg's Bran Flakes every morning, every day in the year.

His job is munitions—exacting work at high pressure, very little exercise. He just can't afford sluggish, dull days, so often the result of incomplete elimination. But harsh cathartics? No!



He keeps 'em flying—lives depend on his care. He makes sure of enough "bulk" in his diet to keep food wastes moving promptly, starts every day with delicious, gently laxative Kellogg's Bran Flakes.

Take no chances on "slow-downs"

If your work is exacting, deprives you of regular exercise—don't risk the slow-down that makes you headachy and depressed. Follow these two rules of health: 1. To get well, see your doctor; 2. To keep well, watch your habits. Make sure elimination is complete. But steer clear of harsh cathartics. Get the "bulk" you need by eating a bowl of delicious, crunchy Kellogg's Bran Flakes With Other Parts Of Wheat every day in the year. Gently laxative, Kellogg's Bran Flakes help supply valuable minerals and proteins, too. Ask for the golden-yellow package tomorrow, now in two convenient sizes. MAIN STREET TOPICS

FIRST GOLFERS.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gallon and Frank Whitehouse started the golf season last Friday and came back for more on Saturday and Sunday at the Kawartha Club. They said the fairways came through the winter well, and are drying up fast. Mr. Gallon claims he had a 38 for the first nine holes....but verification is lacking so far.

PERMANENT WAVE.

A leghorn hen at Burleigh is turning out eggs with a nice marcel at each end, judging from a specimen brought into the Examiner this morning. The hen is owned by William E. Bolton, and the egg, which was a double yoker, had a perfect circle of waves at the large end, and a small whirl of irregular marks at the small end.

INCREASE PEANUT CROP.

Peanut growers in the United States are asked to increase their crop by 155 per cent. this year as a means of supplying a substitute vegetable oil. The Department of Agriculture is also asking the American farmer to increase his crop of dried field peas by 73 per cent., canning peas 54 p.c., beef 8 p.c., milk 7 p.c., hogs 14 p.c., eggs 13 p.c. and so on down the list of farm produce.

ALL PHOTOGRAPHERS, PLEASE NOTE.

Photographers, particularly those who use film packs, and who do their own processing, are urged to save the metal pack which holds the film. No more metal is available for this work, and unless the steel frames are returned it means that many less film packs. Steel spools and spools with metal ends are also valuable. Return them to your dealer or ship them direct to the manufacturer. They have a small cash value if returned.

PRESENTATION OF EXAMINER TROPHY.

The presentaiton of prizes, including the Examiner Gold Cup for the highest sales in War Savings Stamps by Examiner carriers will take place on the stage of the Centre Theatre on Wednesday evening during the Neill Shoe Company's Quiz Program weekly broadcast from CHEX.

MILK FOR BRITAIN.

J. A. MacDonald, treasurer of the Milk for Britain fund, reports the following donations: Don McIntyre $5.00 and Mrs. M. Shannon $2.00.

FACES TWO CHARGES.

Arrested after an accident Mark J. Collins faced two charges in police court this morning. He was accused of driving carelessly and also of illegal possession of liquor. Collins pleaded not guilty in each case and asked for an adjournment and it was granted, although Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C., stated that the prosecution was ready to proceed. The cases were adjourned until April 14.

COULD NOT REMEMBER.

Although Max Redmond pleaded guilty to being drunk and admitted a previous conviction as a second offender he told Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning that he could not remember the details of his first conviction. For that reason Redmond who was charged as a third offender, was remanded until to-morrow to give the police a chance to prove his first conviction.

VISITING THE WEST

Ross Dobbin, manager of the Peterborough Utilities is on a trip to Fort William and Winnipeg, Acting as representative for the president of the E.I.C. He will attend the meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada at Fort William on Saturday and in Winnipeg on Monday.

WITH LORNE SCOTS.

A main street item a few days ago indicated that Pte. A. Todd was believed to be the only Peterborough man with the Lorne Scots Regiment. It has been learned since that Pte. Arnold Cross is another local soldier with this unit. He has been serving with the unit in England for a year and a half, having been transferred from the Hastings-Prince Edward. His wife lives at 179 Sherbrooke Street. There may be others too.

SEED OATS AVAILABLE

Farmers are reminded that a considerable quantity of Erban and Cartier oats are still in growers' hands in this county and district. The No. 1 variety is worth around 90c to 1 a bushel, and registered seed, $1.25. Use of good seed has been stressed in preparation for this year's planting program, and stock are available to farmers who intend to improve the quality of their grain.

A SMALL WORLD

Mrs. James Craig, 410 London street has a letter from her brother-in-law, Ralph Stevenson, a welder in Scotland, who states that a Canadian ship docked there for minor repairs some time ago, and a Peterborough boy was in the crew. This boy is Tom Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Spencer of Armour Road. He was in fine health and told Mr. Stevenson to pass the word along to his people in Peterborough. He has been in the Canadian Navy now for several months, and is the only Peterborough man in that particular crew.

Chemong Bridge Is Pushed Out Of Place

Bridgenorth folks reported several bulges in the Chemong Bridge today.

"The bridge is not broken anywhere that I saw," M. A. McWilliams said "but it has been shoved out of place in several spots. The ice is showing signs of breaking up, but it may stay around for three or four days. You never can tell. The only traffic I noticed to-day was two or three persons crossing the bridge on foot."

A Nervous Breakdown

Only those who have suffered the torments of a nervous breakdown and have obtained benefits from spinal treatments can fully realize how effective these manipulative treatments are for nervous disorders.

Any derangement of spinal segments or contractures of spinal muscles can produce irritability of the nervous system. If this condition persists for a length of time it may result in ailments such as St. Vitus dance or nervous breakdown.

SPINAL MANIPULATIVE TREATMENTS

have proven successful in helping to restore health to sufferers from these nervous troubles. If you are easily fatigued, over-irritable and your nerves are all on edge you should investigate this method of treatment.

We can help in solving your health problems.

Prince Of Wales Rangers Hold First Street Parade

Yes, folks, this is your 1st Battalion Prince of Wales Rangers (A.F.) Regiment of Peterborough on parade Monday down George Street. EXTREME RIGHT is Captain A. H. Craig, adjutant, and to his left is Major R. J. Bolton, second-in-command and acting officer commanding. History was made on this occasion when the unit made its first daylight appearance on the streets of Peterborough on its first parade as an active regiment. You will see many more such parades before the unit leaves the city. Many Peterborough boys are seen in this composite photo as well as many men from the district and surrounding villages and towns.

Nothing perhaps can emphasize more fully the results of all pulling together towards winning the war, than the total amount of money raised through the penny boxes located throughout the City which has risen to almost the $900 mark.

For the main part, this must represent the givings of thousands of dimes, for the majority of this money has been gathered from the collection of small coins, and from the three theatres in particular the statement comes that the children do as much if not more than their elders when it comes to putting coins into the boxes. This is all the more remarkable, since as a general rule, the youngsters have not got an overplus when it comes down to actual cash, and therefore represents all the more sacrifice on their part, and a longing to help those afflicted through air raids over Britain.

Today's list of receipts for the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund wholly concerns box collections made by the secretary of the fund on Monday, and between the four collections made a total of $22.60 was realized, a result which speaks for itself.

At the Empress Hotel $10.65 has accumulated since Feb. 23rd, and that at the Centre Theatre produced $6.35.

he monthly collection of the box in the Utilities office added a further $4.00, while the one in the United Cigar Store contributed $1.60.

Draw Started at Norwood

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Parker have once more started on a venture for the fund, and are now selling tickets at ten cents each on a draw for three prizes, the first of which will be a beautifully worked cushion, donated by a lady whose husband is serving overseas, the second prize a fine large glass plate, and the third prize a towel worked by hand. Mr. and Mrs. Parker have formerly done much work on behalf of the British War Victims, the results of which have many timees appeared in this column, and to wind up this particular effort, they will sponsor a social event of some kind, due announcement of which will appear in these columns at a future date.

18 Men Applied To Enlist With Rangers

Lieut. A. H. Heideman, interviewing officer of the Prince of Wales Rangers reported today that eighteen men of the Peterborough and district presented themselves for enlistment with the regiment yesterday to make the largest number in several days since the unit was ordered to mobilize. On top of that good news, eleven new men were added to the strength of the regiment. Officers were appreciative of the move these new men have taken in the name of Peterborough and district. Major R. Honey, recruiting officer for this area, stated today that yesterday's totals were indicative of the change of mind that many young men are going through as the war goes on and it becomes increasingly apparent that more and more young men must offer their services for the preservation of themselves, their families and their country.

Yesterday's Parade

History was made yesterday when the Prince of Wales Regiment, active force made its first appearance on the streets of the city as the unit paraded south on George street. Citizens of Peterborough will see many more such parades of the unit in which are many Peterborough and district boys. The regiment paraded with rifles at the slope and presented a fine appearance on its initial public appearance.

Cadet Sergeant Leslie Graham and the P.C.V.S. bugle band headed the parade and much complimentary comment was heard from men of the unit and street spectators on the fine manner in which the band conducted itself and for its music.

Softball Pitcher

Frank Shine, 267 King street, whom readers will remember, was the hard and fast pitcher of Quakers in the city softball loop for four years, is now a private in the Rangers and he reported this morning that he is eagerly waiting for the day when regimental softball begins —and that ought to be any day now. Frank's team didn't win last season. They were edged out by Joe Jones' Hastings softballers. Pte. Shine has been a softball pitcher for nine years part of which he spent hurling for Reaboro, Omemee and Downeyville. He played hockey during the season 1940-41 for Omemee and the year before that with the Quakers. Pte. Shine is likely to provide some stiff competition for Lieut. Lorne Bateman of the Rangers who pitched against him a couple of season and the pair are old mound rivals.

Capt. Morley Speaks

On the air tonight over CHEX, listeners will hear Capt. James Morley, a popular Peterborough boy, recently taken on strength of the unit, who will talk on "Advanced Training." Capt. Morley has just completed a course at Three Rivers, Que., and prior to that he took the cadet officer's course at the Officers' Training Centre, Brockville.

A popular N.C.O. and another of the Prince of Wales Rangers friendly officers will be heard on succeeding broadcasts later tonight and tomorrow morning. Q.M.S. Harold Robson, former news reporter of Peterborough will interview Pte. Brooks of the Rangers on "Why did you join the Rangers?" This will go on the air at 11:10 p.m. immediately following the late newscast. Tomorrow morning at 11:05 a.m. to 11:10, Lieut. A. H. Heideman, interviewing officer for the Rangers, will be heard talking on the subject of casualties and what they mean. All three broadcasts are expected to bring out some enlightening answers to questions in the minds of civilians and those contemplating enlistment.

Camp Hospital Is Given Radio

Members of the Social and Athletic Club of the Western Clock Company made a worthy contribution to the local military training centre on Monday evening when they presented Capt. C. D. Hewett, medical doctor in charge of the military hospital with a radio for the use of the hospital staff and patients.

A delegation representing the club and consisting of Misses Scott, Armstrong and Ackford, and Messrs. Watters, Delahaye, and Hotston, made the presentation on Monday. Captain Hewett stated that the C. G.E. Company presented the hospital with a radio last year and this has been in almost constant use in one of the wards, now this additional set will fill a need, and help pass the hours for men who for the most part are far from home and friends, and have no visitors during their period of illness and convalescence.

Business Men To Discuss Store Hours

Members of the Peterborough Business Men's Association will tackle problems arising out of war conditions when they hold their regular dinner meeting at Hooper's Palm Rooms this evening at 6.30.

The pressing question is what action is to be taken to alleviate over-crowding of buses in the evenin, and to arrange store hours so that workers engaged in essential war work may be able to do some necessary shopping after work in the evening. At the present time many men work until six, others from 7 to 7, and these men are forced to get a pass-out in order to get a hair-cut or buy articles which they need. This obviously is cutting down production, and it is reliably reported that unless the merchants and the barbers tackle this problem, the industrial heads will solve it for them, partially at least by putting a barber right down in the plant for the convenience of the workers.

It is the feeling along George street that there is little point in opening stores and barber shops at eight in the morning, when business is just non-existent, while on the other hand, extension of open hours in the evening would undoubtedly help the situation materially.

At any rates the merchants plan to give the entire question their attention, and probably a definite soluation will be forthcoming in short order.

The demand by the armed forces for essential war materials is increasing in tempo daily, and it is believed that unless wartime industries in this city and every other city can step up their production to the point where adequate tools of war an be supplied, Canada will feel the bitter pressure of enemy invasion. This being so, many citizens feel that an adjustment of any kind to fit in with industrial programs of work is the essential step.

Son Is Charged Striking Aged Father

Madden Howard, 82-year-old Hiawatha guide, told the court today that his son William Howard, 29, had on Good Friday hit him on the head once with a stick of stove wood and repeatedly with his fists.

William Howard was charged with assaulting his father, occasioning actual bodily harm. He pleaded not guilty and was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair, while Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted.

The aged Indian said that William threw several sticks of stove wood at him and that when he went into the cottage, William followed him, hit him on the cheek with a stick of wood, knocking him down on the bed and then had hit him on the face and head at least twenty times with his fists. The witness called for help and another son, Madden Howard, Jr., had come to his rescue. "He saved my life," the witness told the court.

To Mr. Fair, Madden Howard stated that he was sober at the time, but admitted that he had had two small drinks of whisky.

Madden Howard, Jr., son of the complainant and brother of the accused, said that he had been going out in his canoe to his trap lines when he heard his father shouting from the cottage and heard the sound of pounding. He testified that he had paddled to shore and ran to the cottage in time to see his brother striking his father. "I grabbed my brother and threw him to the floor," witness stated.

Questioned by Mr. Fair as to liquor around the place that day, the witness maintained that everybody was sober.

The case is proceeding.

Air Raid Wardens

All Wardens of Centre, North and East Wards will meet each Wednesday night at 8.00 p.m. commencing on April 8th on the 2nd floor East room of the Lyceum Hall, for the special wardens' course.

Wardens of North Monaghan, South and West Wards will meet each Thursday at 8.00 p.m. commencing April 9th at Knox Church Hall on Reid Street (just north of Wolfe Street).

The Course will last about 8 to 10 weeks and the two lectures each week will be similar, so please attend either night. Please bring notebooks.

BORN

MONCRIEF.—To Pte. and Mrs. S. G. Moncrief (nee Marjorie Wilson), at Nicholls Hospital, April 5, the gift of a baby daughter, Carol Georgina. The father is now serving overseas with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders.

LAZURE.—To Mr. and Mrs. V. Lazure (nee Violet Nokes), on Monday, March 30, 1942, at Memorial Hospital, Orillia, a son.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. McMurray, Peterborough, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rosemary Adele, to Basil Wilfred, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Murphy, Peterborough. The wedding will take place Saturday, April 25, at St. Peter's Cathedral.

Mr. and Mrs. Armand de LaPlante wish to announce the engagement of their second daughter, Margaret Rita, to Mr. James Guiry, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Guiry, 6 Aylmer street. The wedding will take place May 2 in Sacred Heart Church.

The engagement is announced of Muriel Jean, youngest daughter of Mr. G. H. Potts, Toronto, and the late Mrs. Potts, to Mr. Harold Percy Barnard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Barnard, Bailieboro. The wedding will take place on April 18.

MARRIED

CALLAHAN—BOATE.—Of interest to Peterborough was the marriage of Margaret Marieta Boate and Philip Callahan solemnized at Toronto on Saturday, April 4, by the Rev. E. R. James. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. George Boate, Water street, City, and the late Mr. George Boate. The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Owen Callahan, Cootehill, North Ireland. Mr. and Mrs. Callahan will reside at 285 Withrow Avenue, Toronto.

DIED

DAVIES, Mrs. Tamar. — At New Ferry, Cheshire, England, on Friday, April 3, 1942, Mrs. Tamar Davies, in her 81st year, beloved wife of the late Robert Davies, and dearly loved mother of Mrs. W. J Davies, Armour Road, and of Arthur Davies, Cameron street.

IN MEMORIAM

MEEHAN.—In loving memory of our dear son, "Normie," who was drowned two years ago to-day, April 7, 1940.

Time speeds on, two years have passed
Since death its gloom, it shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there is none to fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For us in Heaven we will meet again.

—Sadly missed by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Meehan; one Brother, and four Sisters.

CARDS OF THANKS

Mrs. Hunt wishes to thank her many friends for plants and flowers, and kind enquiries, also the sisters and nurses for their kindness during her recent illness at St. Joseph's Hospital.

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — For some time I have been keeping company with a man whom I love very much and who told me that he loved me and that perhaps some day we would be married. But he has been gone now for six or seven months and I have never heard from him, and I have met another man who is madly in love with me and wants me to marry him. I know that I am still in love with the first man and that I always will be, but I am sure that I will never see him again. I don't love this second man, but I am getting along in years and I feel I would have some promise of security. Shall I marry him, or wait for the man I love?—
DESPERATE.

ANSWER—No use in waiting for the man you love. He was just amusing himself with you. If he had really cared for you, or had had the slightest intention of marrying you, he would have popped the question long ago.

But don't marry one man when you love another. You will not only be miserably unhappy yourself, but you will make him so, and that is a scurvy trick to play upon a man who is offering you everything in the world he has to give.

I often wonder that women do not seem to realize at all what a dishonorable thing they do when they marry a man they do not care for just to get a home. It is the worst sort of cheating because they know very well that no man would assume a woman's support for life, give up his freedom for her and undertake to adjust himself to her ways if she told him honestly that she was just marrying him because she was tired of working and wanted somebody to pay her bills, and that every time she looked at him she hated him because he wasn't the man she wanted.

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.

For Tuesday, April 7.

The astral auguries for this day are rather conflicting and complicated, persistency and good grace may turn very definite obstacles, opposition and duplicity into prolific and profitable channels. These sound qualities should be supported by quickened intuitions, imagination and subtle leadings, which are to be found dependable and wise. Antagonism may come from elders, strangers or regular business associates.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the eve of a year of splendid progress and opportunity, but such must be safeguarded by finesse, diplomacy, keen understanding as well as intuition and inner guidance. The psychic and intellectual qualities are under great stimuli, to be used with sagacity and sound logic. Antagonism from relatives, elders or strangers should be shrewdly placated.

A child born on this day may be endowed with splendid talents for success and high station in life, although this be beset by treachery or antagonism.

Fortune Stunts for Fun at Party

What Do the Rings Foretell?

Rings of Fate! Gipsy lovers discovered this game—and your friends will adore it. You're always a success entertaining with fortune-telling or fortune stunts!

For Rings of Fate cut three large circles out of cardboard. Decorate each with a mystic symbol—money bags for Wealth, heart for Love, a horseshoe for Luck.

Tell the girls in the party they can cast a charm over the circles by joining hands and dancing around them to the tune of a love song.

Then blindfold each girl in turn, ask her to leap toward her fate. What hilarious cheers as flirtatious Kit lands on the money bags—surely that means a rich husband for Kit!

There are a thousand and one fascinating fortune-telling ways. Make a hit by knowing several.

Tea leaves. Your wish comes true if you find three leaves in an absolutely straight line.

Our 32-page booklet tells what stars, tea leaves, playing cards, dominoes say. Gives meaning of each card, gipsy ways to deal. Has horoscope for each month; fortune games.

[illegible] 5 cents in coins or stamps [illegible] our copy of "Fun with Fortune-Telling" to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHY IS HE DOING IT?

GIVE THE declarer credit for having some kind of reason for what he does. Putting yourself in his place, then figuring out what kind of holding would cause you to make the same moves as he—that is often the prescription which enables you to read his holding, and therefore your partner's holding. So, when the late stages of the play arrive, and you have to select a discard, your job may be made childishly simple, instead of difficult or a pure guess.

North: ♠ A K J ♥ K 5 2 ♦ A J 10 2 ♣ K Q 8

West: ♠ 10 9 7 5 ♥ A Q ♦ K 5 3 ♣ 10 9 7 3

East: ♠ Q 6 4 ♥ J 9 7 4 ♦ Q 9 6 ♣ 6 5 4

South: ♠ 8 3 2 ♥ 10 8 6 3 ♦ 8 7 4 ♣ A J 2

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	1 NT	Pass
3 NT

West led his club 3 to the J. South finessed the diamond 10 to the Q and won the returned club 6 with the A to succeed with the second diamond finesse, then drop the K with the A and cash the 2, East discarding a heart, West a spade and South a spade. The heart 2 was sent from dummy to the 10 and Q, and the club 9 knocked out dummy's K.

The declarer, having seen a K and Q from West and only a Q from East, decided East was the more likely to have the heart A, so led the K from dummy to throw him in and make him then lead up to the spades. But West had the heart A and won it. When West now cashed his club 10, dummy putting on the heart 2, East had his chance to make a mistake, which he certainly did.

Thinking West had a heart to lead, and expecting him to lead it—as he said later—he decided to hold his heart J, and so got rid of one of his three spades. West had only spades, however, so had to lead one to the dummy, the two tops dropping the Q and the J making the game trick. A simple question would have made East's discarding job easy for him. Why would the declarer have led hearts from the dummy, unless he had four of them himself? If East had asked that question, he would have realized his partner had no more hearts, so would have discarded his J on the tenth trick and would have taken the setting trick with his spade Q.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ 8 6 4 ♥ 10 9 6 5 ♦ 6 5 ♣ J 9 5 3

West: ♠ A K 9 3 ♥ A K J ♦ J 10 8 ♣ K 4 2

East: ♠ None ♥ Q 8 7 2 ♦ 9 7 4 3 2 ♣ Q 10 8 7

South: ♠ Q J 10 7 5 2 ♥ 4 3 ♦ A K Q ♣ A 6

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

After bidding spades strongly, as high as three, South doubles West's 3-No Trumps on this deal and North leads the spade 8, South playing the 10. How should West now plan to make his contract?

3-Hour Easter Service Well Attended

MILLBROOK, April 7 — (ENS). —An atmosphere of worship, meditation and praise that befitted Good Friday and the Crucifixion story, with emphasis upon the manner in which Christ's sacrifice on Calvary fully meets man's need of salvation was evident during the three-hour service held in St. Andrew's Church from noon until 3:00 p.m., with all the churches of the community participating.

This was the first time that such an observance of Good Friday had been made locally, and seemed peculiarly appropriate in view of conditions in a war-torn world. Many were present for the entire three-hour period, and altogether the number of worshippers was in excess of what had been anticipated. Those entering or leaving did so during the singing of a hymn so there was no interruptions while the addresses and prayers were in progress, nor did anything interfere with the manifest presence of the Holy Spirit.

The "Seven Words from the Cross" were taken up in rotation by the three clergymen of the village, the Venerable Archdeacon William Simpson, B.A., Rev. A. Raeburn-Gibson, B.D., and the pastor, Rev. A. L. Sisco, B.D., the latter taking the first word, the fourth word and also the closing period. Each of the other ministers spoke twice, and each speaker prefaced his remarks with prayer, the periods closing with silent meditation and prayer before the hymn. Miss E. L. Hetherington presided at the organ for the first half of the service, and Homer Oullette for the final half.

Preparatory to the Good Friday devotional service were three community prayer services held in the three churches in turn during the Holy Week, on Tuesday Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The general theme, "A Study of the Last Days of Our Lord's Life," was taken up under different headings with the three ministers in turn giving appropriate addresses. Each service was a little more than an hour in length and included suitable prayers and hymns; their influence undoubtedly reached a culmination in the attendance and spirit of devotion and worship pervading the Good Friday gathering.

Call To Church

KANSAS CITY, April 7—(AP)—Anyone wanting to attend services at the Indiana Avenue Presbyterian Church needn't worry about over-sleeping. Part of the Rev. Paul C. Morton's Sunday morning routine is to phone down the list of heavy sleeping parishioners at 9:30, routing them out for a quick breakfast and a dash to church.

Mrs. H. Arnold President Of Institute

CAMPBELLFORD, April 7 (ENS) Rylstone Women's Institute named delegates to the District Convention in Ivanhoe and elected their officers for the coming year when they met for their annual meeting at Mrs. Alfred Barnum's on Wednesday. The retiring president, Mrs. Hector Arnold, presided for the meeting and it was she who made the announcement of the annual district meeting to be held in Ivanhoe on May 19. The delegates will be Mrs. Fred Barnum and Mrs. John Simpson. During the afternoon members turned in two gallons of maple syrup which will be boiled down to sugar (about 12 pounds) for the Navy League, to whom it will be sent as a contribution. Summarizing the receipts from the Victory concert and dance, held at the Orange Hall, Pethericks, on March 6, Mrs. Ernest Irwin, the Institute secretary, declared total proceeds were $130.65 of which $32.90 was realized by the draw on a quilt raffled in connection with the concert. Only the $30.65 was left in the Institute's treasury, the balance being divided between the Salvation Army, the I.O.D.E., the British War Victims' Fund, and the Rawdon Branch of the Red Cross.

In addition to these items the ladies completed a quilt before settling down to the business of their annual meeting which began with an analysis of the year's work by the secretary, Mrs. Irwin, who also read the minutes of the last annual meeting. She reported ten regular meetings with an average attendance of 14, and a total membership of 20. Their activities during the year included a lawn social held in July at Mrs. Sanford Meiklejohn's from which they realized $64.45 and the Victory concert on March 6 that brought a total of $130.65. Besides the cash donations recently made to the I.O.D.E., Salvation Army, etc., $10 was given to the Salvation Army and Red Cross earlier in the year along with $3 to the Campbellford Fair Board. At Christmas they sent five boxes containing cigarettes, chocolate bars, etc., to the boys from the district who are overseas and also a quilt to the Central War Fund of the Federated Women's Institutes. quilting supplies and sewing materials given principally to the Rawdon branch of the Red Cross. Mrs. Irwin told members a complete list of these contributions was not yet ready.

Mrs. F. M. Rutherford presided for the election of officers and the entire slate was re-elected, with the president, Mrs. Hector Arnold, beginning her second term, and Mrs. E. Irwin starting her sixth year as secretary. Following are the officers: President, Mrs. Hector Arnold; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Murray Meiklejohn; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Wilfred Spencer; secretary, Mrs. E. Irwin; directors: Mrs. S. G. Meiklejohn, Mrs. Lillian Anderson; district directors, Mrs. F. M. Rutherford, Mrs. Charle Stewart (alternate); pianist, Mrs. Fred Barnum; assistant, Mrs. James Barnett; delegates to the District Annual meeting, Mrs. Fred Barnum, Mrs. John Simpson; conveners of Standing committees.—Canadian Industries and Agriculture, Mrs. F. M. Rutherford; Citizenship, Mrs. Clarence Barnum; Historical Research, Mrs. Robert Mumby; Home Economics, Mrs. Leah Stewart; Social Welfare, Mrs. M. Meiklejohn; Publicity, Mrs. Lillian Anderson; War Work, Mrs. E. Irwin; Flowers, Miss Pearl Stewart, Mrs. Alfred Barnum, Mrs. John Simpson; Auditors, Mrs. Thomas Reid, Mrs. Lorne Barnum; Program (for the year), to be arranged by the executive and directors following the District Annual.

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. F. M. Rutheford's on May 6, when Mrs. Lillian Anderson will give the topic, "Education." The program committee includes Mrs. Chester Meiklejohn, Mrs. Alfred Barnum, and Mrs. William Moore.

Bailieboro Ratepayers Select School Site

BAILIEBORO, April 7—(ENS).—A large meeting of the ratepayers of the Township of South Monaghan in the Bailieboro school area was held in Fletcher's Hall Wednesday evening. Counsellor Harry Campbell was in the chair.

P. C. Carleton, public school inspector of Cobourg, outlined the specifications of the new school as required under the School Act.

On motion of Rev. Herbert Malcolmn and Aylmer Dawson it was decided to erect a two room school if the cost did not exceed $10,000, but if after plans and specifications were made and the sum was found to be inadequate, a one room school at a cost of not over $7,000 will be erected. The Trustees were given given power to proceed at once. The following committee to draft plans was appointed, Joseph Lang, Aylmer Dawson, George Fletcher, Wilbert C. Jewison and Harry Campbell.

A lively discussion followed as to the site for the new school. The inspector previously had condemned the old school grounds and only two other places were available, the property of Alfred Jackson at the extreme east end of the village or the ball field owned by Harold Nurse. The latter was chosen at a cost of $1500. L. W. Plews assured a right-of-way to the said premises, where a safe playground will be had.

Euchre Party

The final progressive euchre and dance for the Milk for Britain Fund was held Thursday evening. Cards were played until 10.30 p.m. when manager Melville Wood called a halt and dancing as induged in until midnight.

Prize winners for cards, were ladies' first, Mrs. W. C. Jewison; gents' first, Fred Hie.

Victim Of Bombing

A newspaper lant in Manila burns furiously and smoke pours off the adjoining De Latran college after Jap bombs started the fires. The city was heavily bombed by the Japanese during an early attack at the war's start.

W.I. At Harwood Reviews A Busy Month

HARWOOD, April 7.—(ENS). —Mrs. Lawrence Isaac opened her home for the meeting of the Women's Institute on Thursday. The president, Mrs. Drope, presided. Plans were made for a euchre party with dance after at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shearer on April 17 It was decided to endorse the new standing committee set up. A box of fruit is to be sent a sick girl. Prayer for peace was given by Miss Frances Corkery. Miss Lottie Drope gave a report of the work forwared to Cobourg branch of the Red Cross since the March meeting. The war saving stamp was won by Mrs. Ellis Isaac.

The program was in charge of Mrs. P J. Corkery. Mrs. A. Aldridge gave a reading entitled 'Smiling Face'; instrumental by Mrs Jack Minifie; poetry by Mrs. J. J. Corkery; Mrs. Burrison played for community singing; Mrs. Cheyne gave a very interesting paper, 'A Hundred Years Ago,' and Mrs. Robson read a short apper.

An interesting feature of this meeting was roll call, which was 'Bring an antique and tell the story of it.' The antiques consisted of a pair of skates, brass, slide horn, a paisley shawl, china, and a poll book. All were a hundred years old or more. The hostess and her group served dainty refreshments.

The next meeting is the annual and election of officers, and will be held on May 7th at the home of Mrs. A. Lawton.

Mr. Lloyd Hall, who has been in Oshawa during the winter months, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. McNeil, Toronto, have returned to their home on the lake shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hogg and family, Port Hope, visited relatives here on Good Friday.

Mr. Harold Drope was in Toronto over the week-end.

Mr. Robert Bell was inToronto on Saturday on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Campbell and family and Mrs Neil Brisbin and children are with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Graham were in Belleville on Saturday to see Victor Graham, who is in the hospital.

Mrs. Roland Tucker Hostess To Apsley WI

APSLEY, April 7—(ENS). — Mrs. Roland Tucker was hostess for the Apsley Women's Institute meeting held in her home on Thursday evening. Plans were made for a treasure chest to be drawn early in June. The president reported one beautiful prize of a silk bridge table cloth received for chest. Librarians were appointed for the month of April. The treasurer gave an encouraging report of the card parties held during the winter. Mrs. Tucker offered a ladies' prize for a party to be held after Easter week. A quilt is to be finished soon and the president is to send for lining. Various ways of making money were discussed.

The next monthly meeting is the annual, and will be held in the Public Library on the first Thursday in May. A social time was enjoyed, with the hostess serving a dainty lunch.

Personals.

Mrs. Dan Whitmore and granddaughter Baby Joan are spending this week with her daughter, Mrs. S. McCauley in Oshawa.

Mrs. F. Whitmore and her little granddaughter Darlene are in Oshawa the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Colby.

The appointment was made by war production director, Donald M. Nelson. The board's spokesman said that Newall would "be to rubber what Ickes is to oil—only more so." So meet the new rubber boss.

I.O.D.E. Inviting Trenton Airmen

CAMPBELLFORD, April 7 (ENS) —Another grup of Trenton Airmen will be entertained by the Bemersyde Chapter here April 24th according to the Regent, Mrs. G. A. Ironside, who told the Examiner on Thursday that arrangements were-in the process of being completed by members. This will be the fourth group to be entertained by the Chapter which considers this as an important phase of their war services here. It is also revealed that the Regent has been named as delegate to the 22nd Annual Convention to be held in Hamilton April 22-24 when the new Provincial President, Mrs Ryland New, of Oakville, will preside during the presentation of annual reports from branches. The marathon bridge began under I.O.D.E. auspicese early in January will conclude with what is described as an extra game to be played in the Ferris Block the week of April 15th, when prizes for the entire series will be awarded. Proceeds from this marathon, in which the same partners played together throughout, are expected to be from $12 to $16. It has been suggested that both a men's and ladies' bridge marathon should be run simultaneously beginning in the late fall.

In May the Chapter is hoping to hold a tag day in an effort to raise some additional funds for their war service work.

Thirty At Meeting

A special Easter message was given to members of St. John's Day Spring Mission Band at their regular meeting held Thursday afternoon. Thirty young people answered the roll for one of the largest meetings held in recent weeks and a feature of the afternoon was the story of Christ's trial before Pilate, the Crucifixion and resurrection, which were suitably illustated with slides by Mrs. G. N. Maxwell, who gave a running commentary on the different scenes presented. The meeting opned with a hymn and prayer, after which the Secretary, Arthur Labrash, and the treasurer, Dorothy Greig, gave their reports. Marjoie Hay ead the Scripture and Betty Johnston gave a piano solo while at the close a group of girls rendered "The Old Rugged Cross" and the meeting concluded with a piano solo by D. Greig..

Roles Reversed

NEW YORK, Ajril 7 — (AP). — Mlle. Joseph Eberli, 82, who as just plain "Josie" waited on the tables of the Steinbugler family of Brooklyn for half a century, played a new role last night. In honor of her 50 years of uninterrupted domestic service, she sat at the head of the table while 33 of the Steinbugler clan waited upon her.

Toll Slows Axis Raids On Malta

CAIRO, April 7 (CP).—After last week's disastrous attempt to bomb Malta into submission, the Axis air force is taking it easy.

The Royal Air Force Middle East Command announced briefly today that, while raids on Malta continued over the week-end, the size and scope of the attacks were greatly lessened from last Wednesday's mass assault in which the enemy lost a total of 27 planes.

British fighters yesterday shot down three Junkers-88's. Anti-aircraft fire brought down one Junkers last night Saturday's spasmodic raids cost the enemy six Junkers machines.

With grund fighting limited to patrol work on both sides in Libya, the R.A.F. bombed airdromes at Berka and shipping in Bengasi harbor Saturday night. Other objectives bombed included airdromes at Marguba. One Junkers 88 was shot down by British fighters over Cirenaica Sunday and one enemy plane destroyed on the ground.

Asphodel Couple Honored By Friends

NORWOOD, April 7—(ENS). — A large number of friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Girven assembled at their home in Asphodel on Thursday evening to spend a few hours of social enjoyment with them before they left to take up residence in Peterborough.

During the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Girven were asked to come forward and Philip Fitzpatrick read to them an address, while William Kane and Howard Ford made the presentation of an occasional chair, an end table and a Gladstone leather-bag.

Mr. Girven made suitable reply for himself and wife. Refreshments were served and music was supplied by Fife's orchestra.

On the day previous an address of appreciation had been given Mrs. Girven by the members of the Red Cross group of which she had been an enthusiastic leader.

"MUSTARD HELPED RELIEVE MY BOY'S ACUTE CHEST CONGESTION" — SAYS MRS. FOXTON

WHEN Mrs. J. B. Foxton's son was 7 years old his suffering with acute chest congestion caused his mother great anxiety. Her physician used mustard poultices in his treatment and the young patient made a splendid recovery. But each Winter after his illness, if the lad developed a cough, Mrs. Foxton was anxious lest it lead to another attack. So the moment he started to cough she would get a mustard poultice ready, leaving it on for about 20 minutes, and that always helped to relieve the cough!

"My son grew to manhood without again contracting any chest congestion," said Mrs. Foxton, "thanks to the helpfulness of mustard. He is married now and I showed his young wife the proper way to prepare a mustard poultice for the cough, also how to use it for their young children. She tells me it always helps."

"Mustard Baths Cannot be Beaten" says Mrs. Foxton

In her home in Calgary, Alta., Mrs. Foxton said, "I know the value of mustard in helping to relieve chest congestion and I am a champion of its use. It has been my helper through the years." She has told hundreds of persons what a help mustard has been to her family. She suggests adding a little salt when a person is taking a mustard foot bath. Speaking from experience, Mrs. Foxton contends that this kind of foot-bath helps to relieve a cold and often gives a sense of invigoration to the person taking it.

Relief for Other Aches and Pains

As a home treatment, mustard gives comforting relief from the pains of neuritis, rheumatism, arthritis, neuralgia, lumbago and over-tired muscles. Also for many chest complaints, pleural pains, chills, colds and everyday ailments of the family. Serious or prolonged pains should, of course, be reported to your physician. Keen's Mustard is pure mustard, with dependable medicinal power. Be sure to get this brand when you buy mustard. It is made of ground mustard seed, is sold in handy tins and is famous the world around.

Free Booklet Explains Uses

To have information about mustard in a handy form, write to Reckitt & Colman (Canada) Limited, Montreal, for a free copy of the booklet on the medicinal uses of mustard and the standard methods of using this remedy.

AXIS ARMY STARTS EAST IN NEW STAB AT EGYPT

Reds Jump Dnieper, Doom Vyazma

LONDON, April 8 — (CP).—Soviet forces have smashed across the Upper Dnieper River in a furious final drive to pinch off the Vyasma - Ghatsk - Rzhev bulge toward Moscow, Soviet dispatches relayed by Stockholm said today.

This crossing, between Dorogdbuzh and Durovo, was a striking achievement, these dispatches said, since the Germans had established vast fortifications along the river.

The Red army appeared intent upon utilizing the brief period remaining before the spring thaw to crush Nazi armies within the central front sack and to prepare to meet later German offensive from the direction of Smolensk which is 50 miles west of the point where the Dnieper was reported crossed.

The German corridor of escape from Vyasma to Smolensk now has been narrowed to 30 miles with Soviet guns raking the main highway and rail routes, Stockholm informants said. In addition, the Russians were reported threatening Durovo, vital rail junction about midway between Smolensk and Vyasma, from its southern and southwestern suburbs.

Wreck Crimea Push.

MOSCOW, April 8.—(AP).— The Germans attacked Soviet positions in the Crimea with 100 tanks today but were trapped by furious Russian artillery fire and eventually turned back, the Moscow radio announced.

After several hours of vain attempts to break through the barrage, the German tanks retreated, leaving 32 machines and hundreds of dead on the battlefields, the radio said.

Soviet troops routed the Germans from an important village on the south - western (Orel - Taganrog) front yesterday despite a hurricane of machine gun fire and captured seven Nazi tanks, the Russians said.

Details of the fighting for the southwestern front village were announced by the Moscow radio and its report that both Russian and Canada Forms Guerrilla Units In B.C.

Plan Commando School For Civilian "Militia Rangers"

OTTAWA, April 8—(CP). — Defence Minister Ralston announced at a press conference today that small guerrilla formations, which may eventually total 150 units, are being organized among civilians in out of way places along the Pacific coast.

While there had been indefinite statements in the past that such guerrilla tactics would be utilized in the defence set-up of the Dominion, Col. Ralston's announcement this morning was the first definite indication of the scope of these plans.

The Minister told newspapermen who gathered in his office at 10.30 a.m., EDT, that a battle training school to give training in guerrilla and commando warfare is being established by the National Defence Department.

While he declined to say just where it will be set up, he did say it will be somewhere "in the west."

The men in the guerrilla groups will probably be called "militia rangers." They will not wear uniforms but may be issued arm bands. They will largely use their own firearms. They will not draw pay.

Major T. A. H. Taylor, working directly under Maj.-Gen. R. O. Alexander, commander-in-chief on the west coast, has been assigned the duty of organizing the units and is assisted by three other officers.

40 Already Organized.

A recent report from Major Taylor said 40 units now are organized and perhaps 150 in all may be created.

"They are not militia units," said the minister. "The theory is that we recognize them and help to train them. It ties in the intiative and patriotism of people in out-of-the-way places." The minister said a similar development on the Atlantic coast is not contemplated because there are established reserve army units in all district there. Men who want to serve can join these army

London's Last Offer Final To India

Britain Makes Decision As Indians Juggle With Further Demands

LONDON, April 8 (CP) — Word from New Delhi that leaders of the All-India Congress Party are considering new proposals for a National Government and a revised formula for India's defence was met here today by diplomatic quarters with the statement that "Britain's last offer is final."

The London informants said the British war cabinet still was determined to retain primary responsibility for defence of India because it was inseparable from the defence of Burma and Ceylon, control of the Indian Ocean, the disposition of British forces in the whole Far East and Middle East and liaison with Ching-King.

Dispatches from Indian said Mohammed Ali Jinnah, president of the All-India Moslem League, had been misunderstood when he was quoted as saying Britain would relinquish the Indian defence ministry post to an Indian.

Despite this, there appeared grounds for belief that Britain in fact had offered to turn over to the Indians a substantial share in the organization of their country's defence.

The political correspondent of the Evening News wrote that Britain had offered the Indians "a position of high importance in relation to defence matters—it would amount to co-ordination in India of all relations between regular forces and civil defence and general administration of the country, leaving control of operations strictly in the hands of the commander in chief."

Path Not Yet Closed

NEW DELHI, India, April 8 (AP) —A new formula for handling Indian defence was reported worked out today at an All-India Congress Party committee session and semi-official sources declared the way might yet be cleared for a settlement under which India would attain a national government and take up her full part in the war.

It was intimated that Louis Johnson, who came here as President Roosevelt's personal representative, had played a prominent part as mediator in averting a deadlock on Britain's offer to the Indians.

Massed Nazi Bombers Smash Round The Clock At Malta Rake Alexandria With Fire

Raiders Hit "Dagger" Island From All Sides Penetrating Barrage In 2,000th Blow; 100 Tanks Lead 9 Divisions On Move In Libya

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, April 8—(AP).—Axis forces numbering 125,000 desert-wise troops were reported in motion across the Libyan desert today against British lines in what may be the opening of a spring drive to conquer Egypt and smash through east of Suez toward Russia's southern flank.

The action—not yet told in detail—came as the German air force lashed with rising fury at Malta and Alexandria with fire and explosive.

The tiny island fortress and Egypt's chief port and base of the British Mediterranean fleet—keys to Britain's dominance of the Mediterranean—each reported the worst raids of the war on Saturday as Axis bombers set the stage for the first great land campaign of 1942.

Malta In Thick Of It.

VALETTA, April 8.—(CP).—Massed German bombers pounding on 'round the clock relays gave the bomb-shaken British island stronghold its heaviest air attack of the war yesterday and touched off the 2,000th air-raid alarm in Malta since Italy entered the conflict.

Four German planes were destroyed—two Junkers dive-bombers and two escorting Messerschmitt fighters. Another Junkers dive-bomber was probably destroyed and two planes were damaged in the hours of intense raiding.

Preliminary reports indicated the casualties were "not heavy considering the scale of the bombing," an official said.

The Germans struck from many directions to confuse the alert ground crews and the chain of Nazi planes penetrated intense high and low-level anti-aircraft barrages to unload bombs on airdromes and the harbor.

Make Repeat Trips.

There was no indication of the number of planes but observers expressed belief that some Nazi crews are making three or four trips across Malta, reloading from bases 60 miles away.

9 Divisions, 30 Air Squadrons

At present Marshal Erwin Rommel commands two German armored divisions, one Italian armored division and six infantry divisions in the desert.

Thirty squadrons of all types of aircraft are believed by informed quarters here to provide air support for the Axis offensive.

While the Axis claimed initial gains in the Libyan theatre 100 miles southwest of Tobruk, the British Command at Cairo said only that 'our fighting patrols again were active in the Libyan desert yesterday."

But a military informant in London added cautiously: "There is some increased activity in Libya which we may hear more about."

The vanguard of the Axis army in the desert is three columns paced by about 100 tanks, British informants said

Malta's first alarm of the war here sounded shortly before dawn June 11, 1940, a few hours after Italy's declaration of war the day before took effect.

The latest series of attacks began last December 4. Malta since has Brighton Flier With R.A.F. Awarded D.F.C.

Three years to the day he packed his bags and set out for England to join the Royal Air Force Flight Lieutenant Clifton Harper, of Brighton, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

The 26-year-old pilot has fought in England, South Africa, the Middle East, Libya, Singapore, Sumatra, Java, and now in England.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Harper of Brighton he is a graduate of the Peterborough Normal School, attending here in 1933 and 1934. He has a brother, Corporal Geddes Harper, who is a member of the Prince of Wales (A F) and his only other brother, Clarence, is with the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals in England. On graduating from the Peterborough Normal School he taught school for two years near Smiths Falls and three years in Prince Edward County, then he left to join the Royal Air Force in England. In his spare time while teaching he had been taking courses at Queen's University extramurally.

In a letter to his mother received recently he told of spending Christmas Day in Singapore and what a relief it was to him to be there amongst all the beautiful trees after months of flying in the desert. Since then his parents have been advised that he has been in Sumatra, Java and the last word to come from him was from India.

Although his parents receive communications from their son regularly, he has never attempted to tell anything about his operations. "He was always very modest," his father

U.S. Army Chief In London

Arrives On Heels Of Tip American Army Trains For Invasion

LONDON, April 8 —(CP)—Gen. George Marshall, chief of staff of the United States Army, and Harry Hopkins, chairman of the British-American Munitions Assignments Boards, arrived in London today.

They were accompanied by several senior military advisers and it was announced they would be in London for a "short stay."

The arrival of Gen. Marshall comes on the heels of reports circulated in London that the bulk of the United States Army is training for a mass invasion of the Continent.

These reports, published in London newspapers only yesterday, said the American and British armies eventually would strike together at the heart of industrial Germany through France.

Thousands of Americans already are training in Northern Ireland.

London observers on hearing the news that the chief of staff of the U.S. Army was here predicted that high strategy talks woud be on his agenda.

This will be the first meeting between Gen. Marshall and Britain's chief of staff, Gen. Sir Alan Brooke.

The possibility that naval strategy may figure high in the London discussions was noted by some observers. Admiral Harold Stark is due here soon to replace Vice-Admiral Robert Ghormley as chief of U.S. naval operations in European waters.

Japs Widen Clutch, Aussies Lay Plot

SYDNEY, Australia, April 8—(CP) —The Japanese have landed a small occupation force at Lorengau, on Manus Island, one of the largest of the Admiralty Group above New Guinea, dispatches from New Guinea reported today.

Lorengau is about 350 miles north of Lae, New Guinea port occupied by the enemy, and the Sydney Sun's New Guinea correspondent said this new base and another at Bougainville, in the Solomon Islands, could be used by the Japanese for dispersion forces.

It had been anticipated that the Japanese would occupy Manus, which lies on the main Japanese supply route to Rabaul, in New Guinea.

The present Japanese plan, it was believed here, may be to protect Rabaul, which is assuming ever-greater importance in the entire Pacific war, thrugh seizure of outposts for sea and air reconnaissance.

At Lorengau, the airdrome and everything else which might have been useful to the invader were reported destroyed before its capture.

MELBOURNE, April 8 — (CP). — Australia's war council set the stage today for important decisions at a meeting preceded by a two-hour conference of Prime Minister John Curtin with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his chief aides.

The decisions are expected to be taken at a war cabinet session tomorrow.

Enlargement of the scope of the allied supply council to permit control of shipping, transport and medical equipment in addition to fulfilling its original function of maintenance of supplies and equipment will be discussed.

FDR, Nelson Near Truce On Bonus

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP).—President Roosevelt and his War Production Chief Donald M. Nelson, differed openly to-day on the wisdom of wartime cash bonuses for workers who set a fast pace in vital United States arms industries.

They Flew, Fought and Died Together

Berlin, Brest, Hamburg, Stettin, Turin On Honor Roll Of Canuck Bomber Team

OTTAWA, April 8 — (CP). — Exploits of two outstanding Canadian airmen who were officers of a "grand crew" engaged on daring bomber raids on Germany and who died together in air operations, were described to-day by Royal Canadian Air Force Headqquarters.

The R.C.A.F. related some of the adventures of Sqdn. Leader Jack McCormack, 21, pilot, and Flt.-Lt. W. H. Fetherston 25, navigator, both of Toronto. Their names appeared in an official casualty list yesterday.

(To-day, McCormack's mother, Mrs. K. McCormack, of Toronto, received word that her son and Fetherston were buried to-day in a little village cemetery on Farnby Moor, Yorkshire, close to the bomber base from where they so often took off to blast the Nazis.)

The R.C.A.F. account was based on information received from its headquarters in Great Britain.

McCormack, otherwise known as Mac, was born at Silverthorn, just outside Toronto, and Fetherston (Fethers) at Arnprior, near Ottawa. Both were athletes, both joined the R.C.A.F. in 1940 and both were flying enthusiasts.

"I had a grand crew," McCormack said once. "There was 'Fethers,' my navigator—the best in the squadron; Sgt. R. L. Turnbull, Digby, N.S., my first 'Wop' (wireless air gunner), Sgt. E. T. McGill, Winnipeg, my second 'Wop,' and my rear gunner Sgt. J. F. Clark, London, Ont.

"We used to sing a lot in the air on our trips. We became known as 'The Flying Sextette,' because on a test flight one day while we were all harmonizing with 'We're Coming Round the Mountain' and the 'Hut-Sut Song' I switched them all through to the base as a joke.

"And the order came through, 'Repeat the chorus,' which rather staggered them all until they realized what I'd done."

McCormack's father was in the Royal Air Force in the First Great War and to-day is instructing instructors of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan as a flying officer. McCormack's younger brother, too young for the Army, is training for it, and McCormack told an interviewer in England recently that his mother and sister were both "in some Army unit."

Speaking of his first trip as captain—on a flight to Berlin—Mac said that "in our innocence we went over Bremen on the way in and were coned in searchlights there, being held from 15 to 20 minutes while they fired everything at us. But we got to Berlin. We were after the railway marshalling yards and bombed them.

"Since then I've done three trips to Berlin, Brest twice, Hamburg four times, and Turin, Italy, once.

"Turin was easy. We only had a little flak. It was a beautiful trip and I remember we had to go around Mount Blanc as we couldn't get over it.

"I went to Berlin the night 37 of our kites were lost. We stooged for nearly an hour over the city—part of the time now knowing we were over it. It was a bad night, but we bombed. On the way back we ran into a snow storm and icing conditions. The cloud was up 20,000 feet—that's why so many of our kites were lost."

A few weeks ago, Fetherstone recalled he had "been out" 19 trips—three to Berlin, two to Stettin, four to Hamburg, "and covering the Ruhr generally. I also went to Turin with Mac."

$528 Kidnap Holdup

Toronto, April 8 (CP)

TWO armed men held up the cashier of a cafeteria outside the John Inglis plant in west-end Toronto today, forced a taxi-driver to take them to High Park and escaped in the taxicab after forcing the driver out in the park.

The bandits got $528 from the cashier of the cafeteria, operated by the Canadian Institute for the Blind in the Inglis plant. First reports said the hold-up occurred in the plant itself and that a payroll had been stolen.

The park is about four miles from the scene of the holdup.

Blame British And Dutch

Claim They Withheld Rubber To Keep Price Up

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP).—The attitude o British and Netherlands Indies sources anxious to prevent surpluses and depressed prices in the post-war market was attributed to-day to the current rubber shortage.

Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones told the Senate Defence Investigating Committee yesterday that these sources did not believe the supply would be cut off and when Singapore fell Great Britain had only about 100,000 tons or less on hand.

He estimated that synthetic rubber production in the U.S. would hit a 100,000-ton yearly rate by the end of 1942 with a probable total output of from 25,000 to 40,000 tons during this year.

Some rubber, he said, continues to come in from Ceylon, Africa, and elsewhere, and 'we are making extraordinary efforts to get rubber from Central and South America." The United Nations are dependent on the United States for supplies of synthetic rubber because they lack raw materials for making it and it is cheaper to ship them the finished product than to supply them with the more bulky raw materials.

Yanks Retreat In Bataan

Mass Of Jap Troops, Equipment Begins To Tell

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP).—A general withdrawal of the American-Filipino forces in Bataan to new defensive positions because of Japanese penetration of their line was announced to-day by the United States War Department.

The troops under Lt.-Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright withdrew last night to "a previously-prepared defensive position," a communique said, in order to rectify the penetrated line.

Officials said there was no immediate indication of the extent of the withdrawal, but it apparently was accomplished in orderly fashion. The Japanese with greatly-superior forces numerically, have been hammering constantly at the line since Saturday, supported by tanks, heavy artillery fire, and aerial bombardment and strafing of the defending troops.

A breakthrough in the line has been expected by officials here since the major assault started five days ago, and apparently Gen. Wainwright had prepared a new line before the concentrated assaults of the enemy could convert the break into a disastrous rout.

PRIME MINISTER KING ASKS FOR FREE HAND TO GUIDE WAR EFFORT

Premier Asks Freedom On Defence

L[illegible] Axis Abroad Or Face Final Battle At Home

OTTAWA, April 8 (CP)—Freedom of action in carrying the war to the enemy, "for the defence of our freedom and our country," was requested by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in his address to Canadians launching the campaign for an affirmative answer in the conscription plebiscite.

Speaking last night over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation the prime minister warned that unless the enemy were defeated abroad the final battles of the conflict would be fought on the western hemisphere.

Mr. King forecast great Axis offensives which "may come at any time" designed to cut the North American supply line on both the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

If such offensives were successful and the enemy were not defeated beyond the oceans, "the final battles of the world conflict will be fought in the waters and upon the soil of Canada and the United States," Mr. King said.

"Against the piratical ambitions of Germany and Japan alike the one sure shield of defence is actual combat in the front line of battle, whether on land, at sea or in the air."

Must Help Others Or Get None

Canada might well find herself in a position of needing help as no other country needs it but unless Canada continued to help others "we shall have no right to expect them to do all they can to help us," said Mr. King.

The pledge against conscription had been given at a time when it was necessary to preserve national unity. Now it had become a cause of disunity and irritation at home, and misunderstanding abroad, and its restrictions should be removed.

Preservation of national unity was important to a country but even more important was "preservation of its existence.

Canada should be free to send its armed forces wherever they were needed to defeat the enemy before he could bring the war to the Dominion, while at the same time maintaining and strengthening defences at home.

units. If any points are not served by reserve units now, additional platoons and sections can be organized and placed where it is desired.

Giving further details about the west coast development the minister said Maj. Taylor is selecting six field supervisors to assist in organizing the units. These men are being chosen with regard to their military experience and their knowledge of the bush.

The minister said it is not proposed to provide instruction for the units. It was presumed the men in them knew all they needed to know about the kind of fighting they might be called upon to engage in as "local reception committees" for the Japanese.

They would receive any assistance needed to help them with organization and discipline from army personnel and from the field supervisors.

"The men who have gone through training in guerrilla and commando tactics will be handy anywhere," Col. Ralston said.

They will receive the preliminary training for paratroop work as well. Col. Ralston said such paratroop training takes the form of hardening men for difficult duty.

the wage question soon, told his press conference yesterday he is opposed to the wartime bonus plan because men in such an emergency ought to produce all they could. He added he also disapproved bonuses in peace time on a piecework basis.

The President's remarks ran counter to those of Nelson who endorsed the bonus or "incentive pay" plan before a Senate committee on March 20. Making the simultaneous suggestion that plants and employees be given merit awards for outstanding work, he said such a system might eliminate labor 'slow downs." Nelson acknowledged, however, it could be applied only in certain major war industries.

As Washington waited for some clarification of the disagreement, Nelson's right hand man, William L. Batt, sounded a new note of urgency and warned that the public is no longer in any mood to "tolerate indecision and delay—by management, by labor or by government" in prosecuting the war program.

War Priority Cuts Off New Telephones

OTTAWA, April 8 —(CP)—Telephone services in Canada have been placed under stringent priority ratings to ensure maintenance of essential communications in the war emergency, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announced last night.

Every telephone company in the Dominion is affected.

Companies are freed from contract obligations in refusing to supply or continue telephone service "or any particular class thereof."

The armed services, munitions plants, defense projects, and Governmental and other services related to the war program or defense of Canada are placed in the top priority rating under the new order which is designed to conserve vital war materials and ensure telephone service for essential purposes.

Just what effect the new order will have on the ordinary telephone user was not immediately apparent, but the Bell Telephone Company, in Montreal, said it "will cause inconvenience—perhaps even hardship."

"War needs must get first call on available supplies," the company said. "Even when necessity demands new installations, not all types of instruments and services will be available."

Under the new Prices Board order, effective immediately, control and regulation of all telephone services is placed under Services Administrator James Stewart of Toronto.

He is empowered to issue regulations prohibiting any specific telephone service and to determine the priority classification of persons to whom service shall be supplied or whose service shall be discontinued or limited.

The new plan for dealing with responsibility for defence, heretofore a stumbling block in the way of Congress Party acceptance of the autonomy proposal, was said to have developed at a morning session of the party's working committee.

The plan was said to have been turned over to party leaders, and the committee continued in session.

Earlier a deadlock had threatened to wreck Sir Stafford Cripps' mission to India as Britain's amended offer to appoint an Indian as the country's defence minister fell short of nationalist demands.

Only two possibilities, apparently, remained to give the negotiations for post-war Indian dominion status a new lease on life—that the eagerness on both sides for an agreement might produce satisfactory terms or that United States influence might be brought to bear on the involved situation.

Boys From Bowmanville School Are Claimed To Be Danger To Pupils In Rural Areas

TORONTO, April 8.—(CP)—Boys removed from the Bowmanville School for Boys, now converted to a camp for Nazi officer prisoners, were proving a danger to pupils and adults in communities where they now are attending school, and unidentified rural school trustee yesterday told the trustees' section of the Ontario Educational Association.

The trustees asserted these boys, from the former detention school, who have been distributed among homes in various parts of the province, "are the scum of the cities and they teach the smaller boys with whom they come in contact all kinds of evil."

"We have appealed to the Department of Education and all we are told is that we may expel a boy if his behavior is bad," the trustee added. "We do not want these boys in our school. We told our teacher not to let a certain boy into school and she refused to admit him. The inspector said we were wrong in that. But he is out and we are going to keep him out. I fought the Germans and I am ready to fight the enemies of our homes and families again."

Axis Firms Seek U.S. Goods In Many Guises

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 8 —(AP). Widespread fraud in applications for export licences to circumvent the policy of blacklisting 6,388 foreign firms which do business with the Axis is being detected almost daily, the United Board of Economic Warfare officials said today.

In a clumsy attempt a drugstore in South America evidently screening a Nazi firm ordered 250 tons of steel 1-beams. Another drugstore applied for a licence for a big shipment of tinplate.

Officials of the Board said the blacklist had been so effective in keeping American goods out of enemy hands that foreign concerns or individuals acting for enemy powers now are using dummy names or misusing the names of non-blacklisted firms in applying for American export licences.

The export control division, largest unit of the B.E.W., recently blocked a large shipment of quinine to Mexico. The application was filed in the name of the Mexican Government and its validity was suspected because of the size of the order and the fact that Mexico had not been accustomed to buying quinine here.

Dies Torpedoing Big Cruiser Awarded V.C.

LONDON, April 8.—Running the gauntlet of one of the most strongly fortified harbors in the world, Flying Officer Kenneth Campbell, R.A.F., piloting a Beaufort aircraft, pressed home a successful attack on a Nazi battle cruiser sheltering at Brest. The airman did not return from his spectacular mission. He was awarded the Victoria Cross posthumously for "determination, skill and daring of a quite outstanding order." The attack took place April 6, 1941.

Serious under-water damage was caused to the battle cruiser by the torpedo attack, according to the official citation. The warship was secured alongside a wall on the north shore and was protected by a stone mole bending round to the west and a system of nets covering the ship itself. On rising ground behind stood protective batteries, and others were clustered thickly all round the two arms of land encircling the outer harbor. Near the mole were moored three heavily armed ships guarding the battle cruiser.

Flying Officer Campbell must have swept in despite a terrific barrage, flying at almost sea level, and have flown past the anti-aircraft ships at less than mast height. He would then have skimmed the mole and fired his torpedo at point-blank range.

Macaulay Urges Ontario Cut Debt By Using Dominion Subsidies For It

TORONTO, April 8.—(CP)—A plan whereby the Ontario Government could reduce the net debt of the province—which is increasing at the rate of $19,600,000 per year—was submitted to the Legislature yesterday by Leopold Macaulay during the budget debate.

The member for York South who is financial critic for the Conservatives suggested the Government earmark for debt reduction the $28,960,000 in subsidies which the Dominion Government is to pay for sole taxing rights on corporations and personal income in Ontario. The net debt he estimated at $506,000,000 in March, 1941.

At the same time Mr. Macaulay suggested the government, to ease the burden of wartime taxation, should cut the gasoline tax from eigth to six cents a gallon and reduce the corporation tax from five to its original two per cent.

He said the government goes "merrily on its way lapping up new found revenue," and hindering Canada's war effort instead of lessening its provincial levies.

Despite the "glittering and stupendous" surpluses reported each year since the Hepburn Government took office in 1934, Ontario's "overall" deficit since that time had jumped $147,000,000.

Premier Hepburn's picture of the province's finances for the last fiscal year, he continued, "was rose tinted and well done," but the "perspective was a bit out of focus in places—designed to produce highlights desired by such an experience impressario."

In the air smash yesterday at Lae, Japanese-held New Guinea port, a communique issued by Mr. Curtin said, Australian and American fliers scored direct hits on five or six enemy fighters on the ground and also hit Japanese bombers on the landing field.

The United Nations' fighter escort encountered no Japanese air opposition but a lone enemy Zero fighter rose to challenge the bomber squadron and was shot down in a concentrated salvo from their guns, the communique said.

Australian planes reached and bombed the target area over Kupang on Netherlands Timor, despite three interceptions by enemy fighters, it addd. One plane is missing from the two operations.

Just "Plain Jane"

SALT LAKE CITY, April 8—(AP)—The Phi Delta Theta fraternity of the University of Utah, tiring of continual queen selections, elected a "Plain Jane" as ruler of their annual formal. The requisites—"a good date, a swell pal, and plenty neat sport." Blond Beth Allen was chosen.

SALLY'S SALLIES

City Fire Loss In March Totals $15,800

Fire loss of $15,800 in March was reported to the council last night by Chief Gimblett. Fifty alarms were rung in during the month. Loss on buildings was $13,500 and on contents $2,300. There were 324 inspections.

Of the 101 births in Peterborough last month, 64 were babies of resident families, and 37 families were non-residents. Seven babies were born to unmarried parents. Of the 35 deaths, 21 occurred in hospital and nine of the persons who died in local hospitals were not residents of the city, E. A. Outram, city clerk, reported.

Mr. Outram included in his statement the item revenue from marriage licenses, $5 for each "knot," a total of $135 for the city treasury last month. Other licenses issued by the council brought in $910, of which $500 was collected from the owners of bicycles; $100 from tobacco vendors; $120 for billiard tables; $40 from restaurants and another $40 from butcher shops. Dance halls yielded $20, and one push-cart junk collector $1.

During March. Mr. Outram also informed the council, 93 cases were recorded in police court, with 48 convictions; 46 persons appeared in court and two entered written pleas of guilty; 9 cases were dismissed, one withdrawn, 12 adjourned or remanded, 5 warrants for arrest, one not proceeded with (accused in Ontario Hospital), 17 summonsed for overtime parking.

There were 17 convictions under the Liquor Control Act, and various infractions of traffic regulations. One person was convicted for violation of the rent law, and the $25 fine goes to the Dominion Government. One producer was fined $10 for failing to file sales return (special War Revenue Act 1937) and this fine is payable to the Dominion Finance Minister.

Of the $398.50 collected through the agency of the police court in March, $121.22 will be sent to the province, a percentage of Magistrate's fines and fees.

Four applications for old age pension were considered, approved and forwarded to the Commission in Toronto for final sanction.

Relief In March

Relief in March amounted to $1,601.51. This assistance was shared by 194 persons of whom 40 were heads of families. 99 their dependents, 13 were single men and 42 single women. Four indigents were refused relief, and four new applicants were listed on the register. Orders for provisions numbered 151, fuel 78, clothing 22, rent 52, doctors' attendance 88.

Included in the finance committee report, which was adopted, were the following clauses:— that funds at present in the hands of the City Treasurer from the sale of tin from the incinerator be turned over to the British War Victims' Fund; that the list of civic salaries be left off the printed copy of the auditor's report.

The recommendation of the parks committee as read by Alderman Curtis, chairman, that the city of Peterborough become a member of the Ontario Parks Association, and that the necessary membership fee be paid on the certificate of the chairman of the committee, was approved by the council.

Order Machinery Removed

J. Sarsfield Sheehy is ordered by a Board of Works resolution to remove his old machinery and building equipment from the city lot at the corner of Bethune and Brock streets, and it was decided to charge him rental of $5 a month after April 30 if the material has not been taken away by that time.

Alderman Dutton, chairman of the Board of Works, reported purchase of a Fargo truck from the Gillespie Garage for $1,350, the cost of the chassis, and that a body with hoist will cost an additional $650, total $2,000.

Market Hall Furnaces

The property committee's report, presented by Alderman Swanston, recommended that the tender of W. R. Turner for two furnaces for the market hall, costing $1,362, be sent on to the City Trust Commission for consideration.

Purchase of 2½" fire hose by tender was distributed as follows by the fire and light committee: F. H. Johnston, 400 feet of Dunlop; J. J. Duffus Co., 400 feet of Goodyear; J. K. Hughes, 200 feet of Keystone; Peterborough Automotive Supply, 500 feet of 1½" Gutta Percha Empire.

North Monaghan Plans To Lay Three Sewers

Intention of North Monaghan to lay sewers on three streets was referred by the city council last night to the Board of Works. The proposed work is on Fradette avenue easterly from Lock street; on McGill street between Lock and Park streets; and an extension of the sewer on Charlotte street west, Highway No. 28, to P. S. Dallin's house.

Two claims for injuries suffered in falls on sidewalks were referred to the legal committee. One was from Mrs. Bruce Bartley who fractured a wrist in front of 520 Chamberlain street, Sunday, March 1, on her way to church. The other was from Fred C. Buott, 532 Union street, whose right hip was fractured by a fall at Charlotte and Stewart streets February 27.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, April 8 — (CP). — Cattle trade continued slow at the Livestock Market up to mid-session today with prices about steady at the week's decline. Veal calves, common to medium lambs and sheep were steady, no prices was established for hogs. Unsold from yesterday was 1,100 head of cattle.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle, 200; calves, 380; hogs, 600; sheep and lambs, 40.

A few weighty steers sold at $10 to $10.75; butcher steers and heifers, $9 to $9.75 with a few choice light steers at $10.25; butcher cows, $5.50 to $7.75; canners and cutters, $3.50 to $5; bulls, $7.50 to $8.50, and fed calves, $10 to $11.25.

Choice veal calves sold at $14 to $15, with common lights selling downward to $6 and the bulk of supply bringing $8.50 to $13.50.

Common to medium lambs sold at $9.50 to $11.25.

A few sheep traded at $6 to $7.50.

Hogs closed previously at $15.05 to $15.20 dressedweight at yards or plants.

Cattle arrived in less volume on the Toronto Livestock Market yesterday, and, under present conditions, the outlook is for further shrinkage in deliveries here and an increase in receipts of Canadian cattle at American markets. This may leave the domestic market short of beef for next week-end, it was reported.

Local packers continued to bid down prices in line with ceiling levels on beef, making another day of slow trading as drovers refused to sell at lower levels. Some drovers even talked of taking the cattle home if better prices could not be obtained, but this, it was thought, would be an expensive task. Only 700 head of cattle reached Toronto yesterday, against 2,780 head the previous day, and the holdover on the first two days of trading approximated 1,100 head.

Butchers did a little buying in beef cattle, which closed yesterday 50 cents lower for the week, while American buyers were still in the market for a few bulls and weighty steers. So far this week 300 head of cattle have been sold locally for United States points.

In other classes of livestock, hogs veal calves, the few sheep offered and a few medium quality lambs remained steady.

Assault Charge Dismissed Today

Declaring that the story told by the accused was the only reasonable explanation of the whole affair that had been offered, Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court Tuesday afternoon found William Howard, 29, of Hiawatha not guilty of assaulting his 82-year-old father, Madden Howard, Sr., occasioning actual bodily harm.

At the morning session Madden Howard and his son Madden Jr., testified that William Howard had hit the father with a stick of cordwood and with his fists.

William Howard's story as told at the afternoon sitting was his father was drunk on Good Friday, that there had been a squabble between them and that the elderly man had gone into the cottage and taken down a shotgun from the wall. The accused said that he had grappled with his father and took the firearm away from him and in so doing Madden Howard had been hit on the cheek by the shotgun.

William Howard denied striking his father either with a stick or with his first, and testified there had been considerable drinking going on.

Hanlan Howard, called by the crown in rebuttal, swore that he had seen no drinking there that day.

Magistrate Langley in dismissing the case said that the complainant had given no explanation of the affair and remarked that there were no signs of injury consistent with the story that the aged man had been hit repeatedly.

William Howard was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, April 8

A day of almost revolutionary and amazing adventures of experiences is predicted from the ruling planetary influences. While these strange and thrilling circumstances may be the crises of a sudden and decisive swing from static, crystallized and unproductive matters, it may require sound judgment, tact, tenacity and acumen to profitably react to unforeseen and peculiar situations and emotional surprise. There may be gifts, inheritance, property or other lucrative benefits to be rescued from strange or bewildering phases. The young and romantic need wise counsel.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very sudden and perhaps sensational and dramatic turn of events during the year. Radical astral influences may bring about a complete change in affairs from the stagnant and crystallized to the thrilling, adventurous, progressive and romantic. This being swept off the feet by an unpredictable turn of the wheel of destiny has its hazards, however, and must be met with poise and good sense.

A child born on this day should have excellent traits and talents, which might lift it to the heights of accomplishment and renown.

PORT HOPE, April 8 — (ENS). — The regular meeting of the council took place at the Council Chambers on Monday night with a full attendance.

In his report Mayor Gifford specified that the reason for the increased mill rate this year was the higher public school grant of $2,000, and the county rate is also up $2,000 as well as increased police salaries. The council is therefore presenting a 43¼ mill rate for 1942 which is an increase of 3¼ mills over the 1941 rate.

Some Arrears

In the first three months of 1942 the quarterly report Councillor W. N. Moore, the chairman of finance committee, reported tax collections with arrears $4,109.02, with total receipts of $10,128.64.

The Canadian Institute for the Blind were granted May 2 for their tag day.

Councillor Belyea, chairman of the streets and bridges committee, reported expenditures of $2,764.48 for the months of January, February and March.

Reeve Box, reporting on the town property committee, reported a new cement floor had been laid in the basement of the Town Hall at a cost of $117.52.

To Close Road

Councillor Burley reported that the road through the Canadian Canners property entering to the town dump is to be closed and it was left with Councillor Burley to arrange a meeting of the council to view the adjoining property with a view to building a new road which would also be beneficial in obtaining sand from the sandpit now owned by the corporation.

Councillor Thompson gave a report of a meeting with the Lions Club referring to the matter of salvage collection, but no definite action has been taken as yet.

Councillor Martin gave notice that at the next regular meeting of the Council he would introduce a bylaw to license junk yards in Port Hope.

Reeve Box gave notice that he would introduce a by-law at the next meeting of Council to regulate closing hours of places of amusement in reference to dances held on Saturday night being continued into Sunday mornings.

The matter of the Hagerman sewer was again viewed and it was reported a surveyor was working on plans for same.

Girl's Arm Broken When Car Ditched

BANCROFT, April 8—(ENS).—A fuse blow-out which doused the car lights, caused an accident on the top end of Highway 28 near Bancroft at 11.30 Tuesday night, and Miss Helen Puffer of Kidd's Corners is in the Red Cross Hospital at Bancroft.

The lights went out, and the car was ditched, turning over as it rolled into the deep gully. Miss Puffer suffered a fracture of the right arm above the elbow, and severe lacerations to her right hand. Dr. F. S. Lumb is attending her.

Miss Helen Puffer with her sister, Ruby Puffer both daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Puffer of Kidd's Corners, were driving home from Bancroft with William and Clifford Sargison, of Paudash, when the mishap took place.

Provincial Constable F. W. Palmateer of Bancroft investigated the accident and stated that about $100 worth of damage had been done to the car.

Rev. W. J. Hicks Heads Ministers

CAMPBELLFORD, April 8. — (ENS). — A topic that was primarily of interest to his audience was given by Rev. Donald McKay before members of the Campbellford and District Ministerial Association at their monthly gathering on Monday. Rev. Mr. McKay spoke on "Pulpit Prayers" and dealt with some of the difficulties they presented particularly those classifed as abstractions of the mind which might be brought about by someone speaking to the minister on some entirely foreign subject before he entered the pulpit. The clergy passed a resolution of regret at the departure of Rev. T. S. Gault and of congratulation to him on his appointment as a Chaplain in the Army.

Rev. W. J. T. Hicks was named to fill Rev. Mr. Gault's unexpired term as president of the association, and during their business discussion they heard reports of the annual canvass made on behalf of the Bible Society. From Seymour Township, where there was a canvass a year ago, approximately $60.00 was collected, while a like amount was contributed to canvassers in Campbellford.

Moving 11,000

LONDON, April 8—(CP).—Diplomatic sources said today 11,000 Italian civilians would be repatriated from camps on the East African coast in a long operation around the Cape of Good Hope to be led by the Italian liners Saturnia and Vulcania.

The Saturnia and Vulcania now are at Gibraltar on their way to a withdrawal port on the Red Sea. The German navy presumably has been notified of their passage to secure them from U-boat attack in the Atlantic.

Many more ships will follow these two, it was said. The civilians to be withdrawn are men unfit for military service, women and children. They were placed in coastal camps after defeat of the Italian armies in East Africa.

Township Council Considers Sale Clean Up Arrears

CAMPBELLFORD, April 8 (ENS) —W. J. Duncan and Hector Arnold were appointed as Seymour representatives to the Federation of Agriculture when the township council convened for its regular meeting here on Monday. This action was taken following receipt of a communication from the Federation asking that representatives be appointed and the two were named in a motion sponsored by council. Other communications were received from the Department of Highways regarding 1941 road expenditures; from the Department of Public Welfare re direct relief; from a member of township residents re their assessment. Mr. A. Bain representative of A. E. Wilson & Co., Toronto, was introduced to council by J. P. Archer, local agent and he addressed them with regard to renewal of the township's public liability insurance. On motion the policy was renewed at a premium of $175. Following some discussion of the labor situation it was decided to set the rate for road work at 50 cents per hour for team and 30 cents for a man.

Members heard with interest the report submitted by A. S. Leith & Co., auditors for the year 1941. A number of recommendations were made by the firm, which incidentally, added, the affairs of the township were in good order as was its financial standing with a current surplus of approximately $44,00.00. Among the suggestions they made was one to the effect that the clerk and treasurer should be more adequately recompensed and on hearing this council did add to the salaries of both for the current year. However, it was not the quick fire action it appeared, since the matter had been under consideration for some time and was not more than an indirect result of the report. Stricter enforcement of penalties on tax arrears was also urged and a tax sale to clean up those of several years standing was suggested. (At the close of '41 old arrears amounted to $2,666.37 plus $1,626.01 on the 1941 roll while total arrears now stand at upwards of $2,800). It was revealed there were about a dozen properties which would be liable if a tax sale is held this year. On the year's operation the auditor found a surplus of $462 and he suggested that taxes raised for special purposes—schools, county rates, etc., should whenever there is a small balance, be carried over to that account in the succeeding year and not put in the general fund. This also applied to debenture payments.

Tax collector William Fisher advised council that his roll was ready and Reeve W. J. Ross announced a special meeting would be called to accept it on April 11.

The following accounts were passed: Dunk's Grocery, relief, $3; Alex Milne, relief, $3; Town of Campbelford relief, $6.42; Percy Municipal telephone account, $439.24; Bell Telephone, $5.50; Municipal World, supplies $7.48; Wilson Stationery Co., supplies, $6.71; S. 6 Face Murder

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, April 8 (CP)—Five men and two women were charged with murder today as a result of an Easter Sunday running gun battle in a Belfast street in which a police officer was killed.

There was no statement from the suspects in a brief court appearance except that the killing "was not premediated." The men, aged from 18 to 21, all were war industries workers.

The women were an 18-year-old waitress and a 16-year-old garment stitcher, for both of whom bail was denied.

A sixth man, who was injured during the gunfight, will be charged when he is released from the hospital, police said.

SWEDISH RAID TESTS

STOCKHOLM—(CP). — An air raid alarm by telephone was successfully tested here. The alarm, followed by the "all clear," being given centrally on dial phones, even interrupted conversation.

Just Two Hams

Berne, April 8 (AP).

TWO succulent hams hanging in a Milan store window caused a near-riot among ration-pinched Italians who couldn't believe their own eyes.

The incident was related yesterday in a Milan dispatch printed in the Fascist newspaper La Stampa of Turin.

The newspaper said a grumbling crowd gathered in front of the store at the spectacle of "two marvellous hams." and began asking one another if the hams were real or a joke.

The crowd grew, traffic was blocked and police were called. Finally the authorities learned that, sure enough, the hams, described as "gifts from God." were real and had been acquired legally.

The proud owner, who had put the hams in the window merely for show purposes, was ordered to hang them out of public view.

IODE Members Approve Grants

PORT HOPE, April 8—(ENS). — The regular meeting of the I.O.D.E. was held in the Library Hall, Tuesday night, instead of their regular night, which fell on Good Friday this year.

Mrs. Halford, the secretary, read a letter from the Navy League, thanking the Colonel Arthur Williams Chapter for their generous gift from the Navy League Tag Day of $269.49.

A rummage sale was arranged for Friday, April 10, to be held in the Buttar Market.

A grant of $10 was donated to the Australian Bomber Fund, and $5 to the Chinese Relief Fund.

It was announced that a tea would be held at the home of Mrs. Whitefield in April by the Pine street group, and a tag day would be arranged for in May, as near Victoria or Empire Day as possible.

Donations for the month were $53 from Mrs. Cancilla, being half of what she received on a raffle from a very beautiful appliqued Dutch Girl quilt. A generous amount was also received from Mrs. Locke and the High School gave the I.O.D.E. one-third of their display. From the Thursday Dime Club, three complete layettes, and the War Workers ten knit sets. The Knit and Chatter Club donated a large box containing sweaters, bootees, bonnets and baby clothes. A donation of knit articles was also received from the Sunshine Club.

The March shipment from the Colonel Arthur Williams Chapter was: 16 complete outfits for girls, 4 complete layettes, 30 refugee garments, 36 steel cap helmets, 26 tuck-ins, 12 pairs socks, 4 navy sweaters, 5 quilts.

Sauce For The Goose

The public generally will be pleased by the order which the Defence Minister, Col. Ralston, has issued regarding the use of army vehicles. Gasoline rationing has cut into the pleasure and ease of the civil population and it would be hard indeed if the army were permitted to do a great deal of unnecessary motoring. Complaints on this score have been many and doubtless some of them were without grounds, but observation in military centres has shown that a good deal of motoring which was indistinguishable from joy-riding has been going on; army cars are not maintained to drive subalterns to the movies, nor is it any part of their duty to fetch cigarettes. It may be desirable that officers be driven to work from their homes. but it is not necessary to send three cars for three officers who live close together, when one would accommodate them without discomfort. It is manifestly unfair to ask civilians to make sacrifices to conserve gasoline when conspicuous waste of this kind is paraded before their eyes.

It is the nature of the army to be governed by regulations and to adhere to these strictly; but as anyone knows who has lived in a strictly regulated society, regulations are rarely so carefully drawn that they are not subject to abuse. Apparently the rules governing the use of army vehicles have never taken the conservation of fuel and tires into account. That is all changed. From now on army vehicles are under strict supervision, and the days of special privilege and waste are over.

The Real Enemy

It would be a good thing if both capital and labor in this country devoted their whole energies to fighting the Axis, and abandoned their favorite peace-time sport of fighting each other. Last week-end 4,000 Canadian shipbuilders were idle because of a wage dispute. We do not know the circumstances which gave rise to the dispute and we do not care what they were; we think, however, that the majority of citizens will agree with us that we, as a nation, have no time at the moment for lock-outs. The Dominion Department of Labor asked that work in the yards continue while arbitration was in progress, but the shipyard owners decided on a suspension of production instead.

Now, in the midst of war, we cannot afford to lose one single hour of work in the shipyards or in any other vital field of production. Organized labor has been quoted as saying that it is opposed to war-time striking. But what about managements? Are they not going to play the game? A management which adopts the high-handed method of the lock-out now lays itself open to the severest sort of public disapproval. If we need ships to win the war we must have them, no matter whose ox is gored. We repeat once more the point that democracy, providing business with the greatest freedom of any governmental system, imposes upon business the heaviest responsibilities; those who enjoy great privileges are expected to use them wisely and for the good of all.

Let business look to it. The people of this country will not countenance prima donna tantrums over wage disputes or anything else. There is a growing demand in Britain that the Government of the United Kingdom arbitrarily conscript those war industries which have failed to comply with governmental requests in this matter of strikes. What is more, this demand is not coming from Leftists and "agitators" but from the common people, always conservative in outlook in that country. In Canada business as a whole has done everything which the Government has asked it to do, and more, but there is a selfish element which will upset the apple-cart unless it mends its ways. We should not like to hear a serious popular demand for the conscription of recalcitrant industries in this country, for we feel that such action would put a serious dent in our democracy, but such a demand and such action can only be avoided if all industry pulls its weight and eschews such peace-time extravagances as lock-outs. Settlement by arbitration while production continues is quite possible as long as workers and employers remember that their real enemy is the Axis, and that the gravest threat to their rights comes from that source.

Hating The Enemy

Recently there have been suggestions from several sources that one of the great faults of the armed forces of the United States and Britain is that they do not hate their enemies enough. Speaking in Britain during Warship Week a former Canadian Prime Minister, Viscount Bennett, suggested that the enemy be treated to what he called "a real dose of Christian hate"; the celebrated foreign correspondent, C. I. Sulzberger, reports that a Russian soldier said to him, in criticism of the U.S., "The trouble with you, comrade, is that you don't hate the Germans enough." What about this matter of hate?

To many of us in the western world strong emotion of any kind is wholly unfamiliar; we do not hate, we do not love, we are not strongly patriotic and our laughter is from the teeth outward. Our emotional range is pitiably limited; we are as cold and apathetic as fish. We shall never win a war unless we are deeply stirred.

Few people like to think of our armies as moved by hatred; they prefer to think of our soldiers as stern punishers of a wicked enemy. Perhaps then it would be well to stop talking about hatred, substituting in its stead the expression "righteous wrath." When our Lord scourged the money-changers from the temple He was moved by righteous wrath, though his behavior was indistinguishable from that of the man moved by violent hate. If righteous wrath will give our fighting-men the extra drive they need by all means let us have it and let us inculcate it by every possible means. It should not be difficult to become wrathy over the Hong Kong massacres; thought of the Australian soldiers who were bayonetted to death in the jungles of New Guinea is surely a matter for wrath, and righteous wrath too. These were our own countrymen in a sense, for they were members of the British Commonwealth. But humanitarian feeling will find fuel for wrath in the distresses of Greece, now starving, and the wretchedness of Poland.

Have we not been mistaken in regarding the emotional nullity which has come over us in the past century as a sign of advancing civilization? Has not the concept of "sportsmanship" been extended too far? Have we not been gelded of an essential of all really civilized peoples—the ability to become violently angry at injustice and cruelty? If our cause is a good one are we not right to hate those who oppose it? When all men are angels hatred will be wrong, but that time is not yet. War is not a game; it does matter who wins it, and if we must hate to win, very well, let us hate.

Victory Gardens

There seems to be a good deal of uncertainty in the United States about Victory Gardens. Some official spokesmen are urging the people to plant them; others are discouraging them from so doing. Some say that the gardens are more bother than they are worth; still others hold that they make a large contribution to the feeding of the nation. There seems to be no co-ordination of effort, and the resulting confusion is good entertainment if nothing more.

Here in Canada we have not had any official pronouncements on the subject of vegetable gardening, and so far we have seen only one communication written to a newspaper complaining that private enterprise in this direction will be hard on the market gardeners. To this complaint the reply seems to be that a shortage of imported vegetables will be even harder on the public and that the market gardeners, even if they are given a clear field, will be unable to supply the demand. Nor can they profit from the scarcity of vegetables, for the price ceiling will take care of that. No, it looks as though a little work with the spade and the hoe might be a wise precaution now.

Perhaps the best advice which can be given to an inexperienced person who is about to plant a vegetable garden is this: don't make it too big. The garden which delights you with its spaciousness in May will be the bane of your life in August. It is not necessary to plant vegetables like flowers, for the display. And remember to plant your garden near a supply of water; if you should be reduced to carrying water to your plants you will not want to walk the length of a lawn to do it; vegetables like plenty of water; they are thirstier than elephants. And, if you can possibly manage it, put your vegetable garden behind your house where it cannot be seen from the street. There is nothing unsightly about a beautifully kept, well-weeded vegetable patch, but it is not always possible to keep them in this condition, particularly later in the season when the knights of the hoe grow weary of the battle against weeds. And one final word: in vegetables it is flavor and not size which counts, and so if, about September next, you have a carrot as big as a baby which you are going to eat, don't ask us in to help you do it. Ask your worst enemy.

End Of An Era?

It is hard not to feel that the end of an era is at hand in France. Vichy, always a hot spring, is producing more hot water for herself than ever before. The Riom trials are a dismal failure from the Vichy point of view and the patience of Adolf Hitler is almost at an end. Last week an attempt was made to squeeze Pierre Laval back into the Petain cabinet from which has was ignominiously thrust some months ago; promises of considerable concessions to the French baited the hook.

But apparently the marshal is still temporizing with the Nazis. He knows the price of full collaboration; it means the gradual enslavement of France and, if the Allies should win, a terrible retribution. And the immediate cost, which would be the loss of food shipments from the U.S., is one which he is unwilling to pay with no better future security than an Axis promise. Vichy is in a cleft stick, and the course of a few months may see it vanish altogether; it will be the end of a black era for France.

A Loss To Canada

The death of Martha Allen of Montreal is a blow to the cultural life of this Dominion. Miss Allen was for many years a leader in the Little Theatre Movement in this country, and particularly during the period when Lord Bessborough was Governor-General of this country; it was then that the Canadian Little Theatre did its best work and Martha Allen was distinguished in a distinguished group.

Hers was always an uphill struggle. Cultural movements in Canada suffer from two great enemies—the indifference of the many and the preciosity of the few. The Montreal Repertory Theatre fought valiantly against the large public which did not distinguish between its work and back-parlor amateur theatricals and it fought also against those whose notion of theatrical art was effeminate and meaningless. The fight was long and bitter, with many defeats and few successes, but Martha Allen was fighting for something which she loved and knew to be good, and she never counted the cost to herself. There can be no doubt that this exhausting labor of love hastened her death.

Her work was not in vain, however; such devotion is never wholly wasted. She did much to raise the general level of appreciation of the theatre arts in this country, and the Little Theatre will never lose the ground which she won with such pain and sacrifice.

If You Really Mean Total War

WE have not been quite sure whether Donald Gordon is the most courageous young man in the country or merely the most stubborn. Sometimes we have thought it was the former, and sometimes the latter. But of one thing we are very sure, and that is that he is one of the most competent men, young or old, now serving this Dominion. As chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, he has one of Canada's most difficult and thankless jobs, but he is making an outstanding success of it, and we believe we can see signs that he is actually beginning to receive from Canadians as a whole gratitude and appreciation for his work. At any rate, it is an indication that the vast majority of Canadians understand something of the importance and value of what he is doing when he can irritate certain individuals and interests to the extent he must be irritating them and these individuals and interests make no public reply. It seems to us very doubtful that they would remain silent if they did not realize that the nation as a whole would be sure to side with Mr. Gordon and what he is doing and the means he is taking to do it.

◇ ◇ ◇

After his speech to the Canadian Club of Toronto, however, we are inclined to think that we must come to the conclusion that he is Canada's most courageous young man. Nobody but a man of exceptional courage could say anything like the following to Toronto: "If you really mean total war, don't keep up a parrot cry for leadership. Get yourself into a position where, by sheer weight of organization and available productive capacity, you will produce, and produce, and produce."

◇ ◇ ◇

Mr. Gordon declared that he was profoundly convinced that nothing short of maximum Canadian production while the Canadian people get along on a standard of living based on bare essentials will be sufficient in this war. It is up to those who have the productive capacity of Canada in their charge to see that maximum production is attained and to sink all selfish impediments to its attainment. The country, owing to the rapidity of developments in the war, must have its productive equipment under complete control and ready to adjust our position at a moment's notice. Selfish and private interests must be ruled out completely wherever they conflict with national needs. The competition system of peacetime must be replaced by one which is based entirely on the criterion of maximum production.

◇ ◇ ◇

We confess that when Mr. Gordon talked in an address in Montreal a week or two ago about "replacing the competitive system," we had some anxiety as to just what he was driving at. Was he proposing to fight Canada's economic share in the war against totalitarianism by making Canada economically totalitarian? Was he another fanatic who proposed to defend democracy by destroying it domestically? Or, did he appreciate that democracy, making the most of its best brains for intelligent planning and of the energies generated by its own freedom, could make itself into something stronger for war purposes than totalitarianism by stripping itself of things which from the national point of view may be inefficient but which can be tolerated and even enjoyed in peacetime? Reports of the Montreal speech which we saw did not make that fully clear. The Toronto speech, it seems to us, leaves no doubt that what Mr. Gordon has in mind is the efficient wartime mobilization of democracy while keeping it democracy.

◇ ◇ ◇

For the duration of the war, as we see it, the chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board is urging private interests to get along without competition among themselves so that all their energies can go into competition against the enemy. When the war is over, so far as Mr. Gordon apparently cares, they can go back to competition or fighting among themselves or anything else they desire. But for the present, everything should be subordinated to the national need, and in the productive sphere the national need is the systematic organization and co-ordinated exertion of every productive resource and facility this Dominion possesses.

The method by which Mr. Gordon believes these resources and facilities should be made to produce their greatest possible effect was outlined in the Toronto speech and it was a thoroughly democratic one. He did not advocate any form of gigantic Government monopoly of business or industry, he said. On the contrary, he had seen nothing in bureaucratic control which justifies a belief that Government officials could suddenly take over the management of business and industry in this country. If we are to wage a "total war" on the productive front, the job will have to be done by the co-operative efforts of those who now own and manage business and industry. The responsibility is theirs. "My appeal is for every person responsible for any part of our productive machinery to sit down with others in the same line and work out ways and means to obtain maximum production regardless of immediate or future advantage." Wastes must be eliminated. Selfish considerations arising out of desires to protect or develop future markets must be forgotten in the stark need for immediate results. Six months or a year from now may be too late. "If you really mean total war, don't keep up a parrot cry for leadership. Get yourself into a position where, by sheer weight of organization and available productive capacity, you will produce, and produce, and produce.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

"WHATEVER IT IS HE'S WORKING UP, WE'RE NOT GOING TO LIKE IT"

—Des Moines Register.

•Commandos Crimp U-Boats

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Improved defensive technique against U-boat raiders off the Atlantic Coast may have something to do with a recent falling off in shipping losses, but there are other factors involved that justify the caution with which Navy Secretary Frank Knox advanced that explanation.

Normal wear and tear on long-distance undersea craft assigned to so distant a mission and the cumulative fatigue of crews would tend to produce recurrent ups and downs in the effectiveness of the attack, the wave-like cycles which Knox noted. Constantly changing sailing routes for tankers and other craft plying dangerous coastal waters is another factor.

It is also to be recalled, however, that the subsidence in the toll taken by U-boats in American waters last week followed the bold and effective British commando raid March 28 on the submarine hornets' nest at St. Nazaire. Word of that operation reaching U-boat commanders whose craft were based at St. Nazaire unquestionably would cause them to shorten their stay on this side. They faced the necessity of conserving fuel for a longer homeward trip to new bases if St. Nazaire was out of action even temporarily.

ST. NAZAIRE U-BOAT HUB

That British hit-and-run operation, the most formidable commando raid yet staged, was obviously planned more to cope with the transatlantic submarine attacks than with other phases of the war in the Atlantic. The immediate decline in sinkings off the North American coast seems to confirm the British belief that St. Nazaire was the operating hub of that deadly business.

With the successful escape of heavy Nazi warships from the Bay of Biscay to German or Norwegian ports, to the chagrin of the British Dover patrol, an important change in the nature of the sea struggle off the coast of Southern France was indicated. A transfer of British battleships or heavy cruisers to other waters must have followed.

It became urgently necessary to concentrate superior sea power to the north to protect Russia's Atlantic supply line to the United States and Britain. The growing Japanese menace to Anglo-Chinese supply lines in the Indian Ocean and Bay of Bengal called for heavy naval reinforcements in those waters also.

TIME-TABLE UPSET

Yet withdrawal of British surface fleet elements from the Bay of Biscay area, where they had been dogging the Nazi Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and Prinz Eugen, also served to give transatlantic submarine raiders easier going from St. Nazaire to their operating stations on this side. The commando raid there, if reasonably successful, could be expected at least to upset the Axis cross-Atlantic attack time-table temporarily without recalling surface craft from other vitally important missions.

Reduction of the attacks off the east coast of the United States to only two instances in the week following the St. Nazaire raid is strong confirmation of the strategic or tactical conception upon which it was planned and executed. That grants some time for further strengthening of American anti-submarine forces in home waters and for development of a new co-operative technique calculated to drive the invading U-boats further to sea and out of coastal hunting grounds.

•Oats for Bermuda

The war in the Western Atlantic has apparently just about completed the transformation of Bermuda from a dreamy, happy, none too energetic resort island into an anxious, modern, high-speed economy. And the process is of special interest to the farmers of Canada who grow oats.

Until 1941, Bermuda refused to permit the importation and operation of automobiles. It was there that the horse was making his last stand. Horse-drawn vehicles and bicycles were the only means of highway transportation approved.

The policy was a highly intelligent one while the tourist trade was Bermuda's major interest and principal source of income. For all we know, the tourist trade may still be the major source of income, but it certainly is not the major interest. Work that will help to win the war takes precedence over everything else. When consequently, United States was permitted to make defence installations on the island as part of the deal whereby destroyers were turned over to Britain and sites for naval and air bases were made available to the United States, the Bermuda Legislature let down the bars slightly regarding motor vehicles. Horses were too slow for the construction work the United States Navy had to do, and the Legislature authorized the importation and use of a few trucks for work on defence bases.

German submarines operating in the Western Atlantic are responsible for the second stage in the transformation of Bermuda from a horse-drawn to a motorized civilization. In the past, Bermuda has always got its oats for the large equine population from Canada. Recently, it was officially announced that two ships carrying oats to Bermuda had been sunk by U-boat action. The feed situation became so acute that some Bermuda liveries are said to be feeding their horses on rolled oats. A day or two ago the chairman of the Bermuda Colonial Food Board disclosed that he had telephoned to New York asking that two carloads of oats be sent to the island without delay, regardless of their country of origin. If it was not possible to send Canadian oats, any other kind would be not only acceptable but most gratefully received. So Canada may have temporarily lost her steadiest customer for oats.

While these events have been occurring, the physicians of Bermuda have evidently been putting some pressure upon the Legislature, not so much because they want to but because of absolute necessity. They petitioned for and received permission to import and use automobiles in the practice of their profession. The permission was granted by a vote of 21 to 4.

There is a trace of irony in Bermuda getting its first passenger automobiles (even if only for professional use) at the moment when the United States and Canada are moving toward giving them up for the duration of the war. And once the doctors have motor cars, it is difficult to see how any legislature can resist the pressure that will be upon it from the rest of the population as soon as automobiles become available again for general use after the war. The horse has apparently unsuccessfully made his last stand, even if within the next two or three years throughout all of North America he temporarily occupies an especially honored position as more and more tires wear out.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

Two Irishmen were trying to remove a piece of rock lying in the roadway when an old lady passing stopped and watched them. Then she said: "Men, why not try blasting it?"

One of the men looked up and said: "Lady, we have tried every swear word we know, and yet we cannot move it."

A Bible Message For Today . . .

Then the king of Syria warred against Israel, and took counsel with his servants, saying, In such and such a place shall be my camp. And the man of God sent unto the king of Israel, saying, Beware that thou pass not such a place; for thither the Syrians are come down.

And the king of Israel sent to the place which the man of God told him and warned him of, and saved himself there, not once nor twice. Therefore the heart of the king of Syria was sore troubled for this thing; and he called his servants, and said unto them, Will ye not shew me which of us is for the king of Israel? And one of his servants said, None, my lord, O king: but Elisha, the prophet that is in Israel, telleth the king of Israel the words that thou speakest in thy bedchamber.

And he said, Go and spy where he is, that I may send and fetch him. And it was told him, saying, Behold, he is in Dothan. Therefore sent he thither horses and chariots, and a great host: and they came by night, and compassed the city about. And when the servant of the man of God was risen early and gone forth, behold, an host compassed the city both with horses and chariots. And his servant said unto him, Alas, my master! how shall we do?

And he answered, Fear not: for they that be with us are more than they that be with them. And Elisha prayed and said, Lord, I pray thee, open his eyes, that he may see. And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw: and, behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha.—II Kings vi, 8-17.

The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them. O taste and see that the Lord is good: blessed is the man that trusteth in him.—Ps. xxxiv, 7, 8.

GET RUN OVER

Letter to the Manchester Guardian

SIR:—May I draw your attention to the curious fact that if a pedestrian is knocked down by a Canadian Army vehicle he is in a better position than if it were a British Army lorry? In spite of the maxim "The King can do no wrong" the law of Canada does recognize the responsibility of the Crown for the torts of its servants. Moreover, by an order-in-council made in 1940 the officer commanding a Canadian unit overseas is authorized to settle claims up to a certain amount of civilians in respect of wrongful acts of soldiers.

35 Of Every 100 Trainees Going Active

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 8—(CP). — Out of every 100 men called up for duty in Canada under the compulsory service law, approximately 35 volunteer for service anywhere in the world with the army, navy or air force, it is shown by figures compiled from records of the army and the Department of National War Services.

In addition to this 35 per cent. from the men who actually enter training centres on compulsory call, officials estimate at least 15 per cent of the men ordered to report for service enlist before reporting and so enter the service as volunteers from the start.

The figures provide the first positive indication yet made public of the extent to which the National Resources Mobilization Act is contributing men to the active forces which are available for service anywhere in the world. Under the Act the men are required to serve in Canada only unless they volunteer for service elsewhere.

Between the inauguration of the present system of calling men into the forces for the duration of the war and last October, about a six-month period, out of 26,701 men accepted as physically fit at army training centres, 9,350 volunteered for service overseas. Of these 322 entered the navy, 6,185 continued with the army and 2,843 entered the air force.

Figures on voluntary enlistments from the men called up compulsorily are slow in coming up in exact form, officials state. Consequently they have not exact figures for the months since last October but say indications are the average enlistment continues at around the 35 per cent. level.

These figures apply only to men called up since the original 30-day system was changed. A number of men who received 30 days' training under the first plan enlisted for service anywhere, either while at training centres or after returning to civilian life to await a further call.

In For the Duration

The men now called up, however, have no chance of returning to civilian life and are in the army for the duration of the war whether or not they volunteer to serve outside Canada.

As every call for men from the Department of National Defence has been met by the compulsory system, officials consider the response of Canadian youth to direct calls for service to the nation is satisfactory.

The first indication of any general desire to evade compulsory service came recently when numbers of men began leaving industrial employment to go to farms, following announcement of the new policy of granting indefinite postponements of training to essential agricultural workers.

As yet, however, it is not wholly clear to what extent this movement is a seasonal return for former farm workers for spring nd summer-operations, and to what extent it is an attempt to gain the protection of a farm job.

Insofar as it is inspired by the latter motive, it results from a misunderstanding of the new regulations as only men who were on farms March 23 or were in temporary winter jobs such as bush work after leaving the farm ae entitled to postponements.

The province of Quebec ent over the top to a greater extent than any other province in providing men under the compulsory system. Quotas allotted to Quebec war services divisions since the start of the four-month system have been filled with 1,146 men to spare. The total number requisitioned for all Canada was 35,740 and the number of fit men delivered to training centres was 37,412.

Besides Quebec, Nova Scotia went over its quota with 119 extra, New Brunswick with 225, Manitoba with 14 and Saskatchewan with 285.

Prince Edward Island came out even while Ontario as short 53, Alberta short 40 and British Columbia short 24.

Sale Of Home Baking By Millbrook Women

MILLBROOK April 8—(ENS).—Easter atmosphere was evident on Saturday afternoon, at the community waiting-room, when the Ladies' Aid Society of Grace Presbyterian Church sponsored a tea and sale of home baking, the patronage being satisfactory, and the financial results well worth the effort expended.

A warm welcome to incoming guests was extended by the minister and his wife, Rev. A. Raeburn-Gibson and Mrs. Gibson, and by Mrs. Suttle Pritchard, president of the hostess organization. At the home baking tables sales ladies were Mrs. George Bothwell and Mrs. Z. Seaton, their wares being promptly disposed of. In charge of the tea was Mrs. M. W. Kinsman, the hostess table being lovely with a lace cloth, centred with a basket of crimson flowers, and having an Easter bunny for a "cash box", flanked on either side with the traditional Easter chicks seated on nests of fluffy white paper. Mrs. E. L. rmstrong was also a tea hostess, and assistants included Mrs. L. W. Larmer and Miss Jean Syer.

Some Escaped

LONDON, April 8—(CP).—"Certain" of 10 Norwegian ships which made a dash Thursday for England from Goetborg, Sweden, have arrived in British ports, the Ministry of Information disclosed Sunday.

"Recent sailings from Goetborg to the United Kingdom of a number of Norwegian merchant ships under charter to His Majesty's government have now been complete," an official statement said.

Lindbergh Meets His New Boss

Charles A. Lindbergh is shown, RIGHT, as he reported to his new boss, Henry Ford, on his arrival at Dearborn to take a job in the great Willow run plant where Ford is going to turn out bombers as he used to turn out model T's and later model A's. Lindbergh said he accepted the job because "I want to contribute as effectively as I can to the war effort." He doesn't know as yet just what role he will play at the mammoth plant.

COOPERATES WITH NATIONAL SALVAGE BOARD
It is common knowledge that there are very definite shortages of materials so necessary for the successful prosecution of War Production. One of the commodities on which the shortage is pronounced is TIN and as collapsable tubes have a large TIN CONTENT the NATIONAL SALVAGE BOARD has suggested that we might HELP GREATLY if we would instal some sort of SERVICE FOR THE COLLECTION OF COLLAPSABLE METAL TUBES (that is Tooth Paste Tubes, Shave Cream Tubes, etc.). We are pleased indeed to be of service and we know too that YOU OUR PATRONS will welcome the opportunity of HELPING in this cause and so we have installed in each Tamblyn Drug Store a container in which you may deposit all used collapsable tubes. We in turn will send them to the representative nambed by the Salvage Board who can very effectively put them to use, and we ask you to HELP in this worth while Salvage Service as it is MOST IMPORTANT AND IMPERATIVE.
For further suggestions re Salvage Articles and Services, listen to Mrs. Aitken on the Tamblyn Drug Store program over CFRB 10.30 A.M. Monday through Friday each week.

TRENTON R.C.A.F. TEAM WINS ONTARIO BASKETBALL CROWN

Chiefs' Changes Give Fans Some New Hope

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., April 7—(AP).—Syracuse Chiefs may not be better this year but they're certain to be younger and the change from independent operation to top hands in the Cincinnati farm system has brought plenty of hope along with new faces.

The old faces were getting a bit shopworn and Syracuse fans were tired of waiting for individual comebacks hich never came. That's why they welcome the possibility that the Chiefs may line up for their opener against Toronto here April 16 with only one of the 1941 regulars as a starter.

Williams is Repeater

The sure-pop holdover is Shortstop Woody Williams, who hit only .281 in '41 but who was one of the best short-fielders in the league. Catcher Chris Hartje, who missed considerable action because of illness and injuries last year, currently is the No. 1 receiver, and Jack Juelich, a two-year disappointment here, is back at third base. Hartje, however, may yet be pushed to second-string receiver and Juelich's grip on third is none too secure.

Gene Hasson, last year's first baseman, came to camp a marked man, and his mark approached zero (not far below his '41 batting average) when the Reds optioned Ed Shokes to Syracuse. Shokes has a glittering reputation as a fielder and he has promise as a hitter, although he was good for only .237 with Indianapolis after graduating from Duke last year.

Sensation of the camp has been Bobby Adams, rookie second-baseman up from Columbia of the South Atlantic league. In three years of pro baseball, Bobby never hit less than .325. and veteran Jewel Ens, taking over the Tribe's managerial reins this year, seems convinced that he's ready for double "A" with the majors beckoning.

New Outfielders Look Good

A real scramble is being waged in the outfield and any attempt to name the three starters would be pure guessing. Besides the holdovers, who didn't have the power to lift the club out of sixth place last year, there are several bright young men who have been nurtured on Cincinnati farms and another who already has been optioned here.

Back from the 1941 picket line are Goody Rosen, Lindsay Deal, Nino Bongiovanni and Bill Nagel. Albert (Dutch) Mele, purchased from Birmingham, where he hit .315, is one of the standout newcomers, along with Clyde Vollmer, a fleet youngster from Colombia, who hit only .248 but who hits homers early and often. Another long-ball hitter, Carmel (Coots) Castle, is up from Wilkes-Barre, but the prize catch of the spring appears to be Eddie Lukon, who banged the ball for a .314 mark at Knoxville and comes on option from Cincinnati.

Pitcher Lees Hinckle, one of the Chiefs' mainstays of last year, has been returned by the Reds on option. With him came Ben Wade, another right-hander who had a 4-5 record with Indianapolis but who is rated one of the better young Cincinnati prospects.

Barrett Returns

Charles (Red) Barrett, who set a Syracuse record of 16 and 3 in 1938, has come back by purchase from Birmingham, where he notched 20 victoriees. Veterans Nate Andrews and Lynn Nelson, who were effective last year, are among the holdovers. Mike Schultz, only left-hander likely to stick, may be able to shake the jinx which dodged his eager young efforts in '41.

Two other hurlers who may be ready are Tomas de La Cruz, Cuban hurler who had a 17-6 record with Wilkes-Barre, and Cayton Lambert, who's up from Ogden of the Pioneer League with a 21-6 mark.

A heartening angle, if most of the Cincinnati-developed players produce as expected, is that Syracuse will have a wealth of trading material in the holdovers who are being pushed out of jobs.

Windsor Alumni Are Beaten Final Game 60-58

BRANTFORD, Ont., April 8 (CP) —The Trenton R.C.A.F. team sparked by LAC. Norm Thibbs, formerly of Windsor, who scored 12 points in the last half of the game Tuesday defeated the Windsor Alumni 60-58 to win the Ontario Basketball Association's senior title in the third game played here. The winners meet Montreal Oilers Thursday or Friday for the Eastern Canadian final.

It was the fastest game seen here yet with the score indicating the play although the Alumni was up 38-28 at half time.

With the timer ready to fire the closing shot with his gun Tony Golab, wonder boy of the Canadian gridiron, sank a long basket and Red Wiseman repeated to bring the score to its final tally with but three seconds to go.

Trenton came from behind to take the title. Windsor had a ten-point lead at halftime. The Airmen are recruited members of crack teams of the past few years right across Canada. Jackson, their top scorer, was with the Victoria, B.C., Blue Ribbons and the Dominoes on the Pacific Coast before getting into the R.C. A.F.

Windsor made a strong bit to tie the count with only three seconds left in the final half when they sunk two long baskets. They bombarded the Airmen from far out on the floor when they couldn't get by a tight defense and almost made the grade.

Along with Jackson, who got twelve of the Airmen's points, was Phibbs, a former Windsor player, who also got a dozen. Pat Flynn, star with the British Columbia Thunder Birds of the past season, got ten for the Airmen, and so did Weese.

Top scorer for Windsor was Mort Brunnell with eighteen points. He ran wild in the first half and it looked like the Airmen would never tie him. Tony Golab, Canada's outstanding athlete of 1941, turned in a fair enough game for the Alumni and he gathered four of their points.

It was the combination of Jackson, Weese, Phibbs and Flynn that was strong for the Airmen. From the opening whistle in the second half, they had the hop on Windsor and in short order cut the ten-point lead the Alumni held. There was plenty of rough work, with forty-three fouls being called, twenty-five of them against the Airmen.

Windsor Alumni (58) — James Stewart 7, Glen Sherman 9, Jack Blair 5, Mort Bunnell 18, Red Wiseman 6, T. Golab 4, T. Gray 5, E. Bauer 2.

Wins On The Draw

ALLEGHANY, N.Y., April 8. — (AP).—Charles A. Shafer retained his village board seat the same way he first won it—by a boy drawing his name from a hat. Shafer and his opponent, George Kahn, each received 98 votes in a village election March 17. Officials resorted to the boy and hat to break the tie. In 1938, Shafer tied the incumbent candidate, then won on the draw.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

There undoubtedly was a brisk demand for crying towels in Toronto today. For the second time in succession a club that the Queen City scribes had declared didn't belong in the same league as the Leafs has defeated the Toronto team at Maple Leaf Gardens and the Stanley Cup hopes of Hap Day's gang have been knocked for a loop. The series is not over by any means but the fact remains that in the history of the Stanley Cup no club that dropped its first two games has gone on to win the historic mug and to make the going tougher for the Leafs they lost their first two games at home and have to play the next pair on Detroit ice where the Red Wings have been invincible for months. The whole situation may not make sense but nevertheless the Toronto club, after knocking off the first-place Rangers four games to two, now find themselves two games behind a club that couldn't finish better than fifth in the N.H.L. race. Even more humiliating, from a Toronto standpoint, is that in the two games played the Leafs have never been able to get ahead of the Red Wings for a single moment. The best they could do in the first game was to tie Detroit twice before finally succumbling and in last night's battle they never succeeded in drawing up on even terms with the Wings.

* * * * * *

Detroit took the lead in the first period on goals by Don Grosso and Mud Bruneteau without a Toronto comeback, were outscored one to nothing in the second session when Sweeney Schriner nicked a goal for the Leafs and came back in the final twenty minutes to pick up two more counters fired by Grosso and Gerry Brown before Wally Stanowski finally notched Toronto's second marker. There were loud complaints from the Leaf camp that Referee King Clancy let about everything go in the first game. Referee Chadwick who handled last night's titl reversed that policy and handed out penalties freely but in spite of that fact the Toronto club took it on the chin for the second time in succession before the home customers and some other explanation than the refereeing will have to be sought for the double defeat at the hands of an outfit that according to the Toronto scribes wasn't supposed to be in the Leafs' class. One factor looms up immediately and that is that the Leafs' ace line has been completely submerged so far in hte final series by the Grosso-Wares-Abel trio, Drillon, Apps and Metz have been kept off the score sheet entirely while Detroit's No. 1 line has bobbed up with five of the seven goals scored by the Red Wings.

It looks as if the most under-rated player in the cash and carry circuit is none other than Don Grosso, the slim Sault Ste. Marie lad who centres the Detroit power line. Grosso barely got a mention for all-star rating and yet he has been by long odds the outstanding player of the playoffs. In fact he is on his way to set up a couple of new records so far as playoff scoring records for a single year are concerned. When he slammed his second goal of the game past Turk Broda in the last period last night Grosso equalled the modern record for goals scored in the playoffs for any one year. It was his eighth goal and put him on even terms with Cecil Dillon, formerly of the New York Rangers. The record is nine goals set long ago by Babe Dye. So far in this year's playoffs Grosso has piled up a total of 11 scoring points, eight goals and three assists and that brings him only three points behind the all-time one-year record held by Bill Cowley of the Boston Bruins who scored 14 points. Grosso and Mowers has so far been the main elements in putting the Leafs squarely behind the eight ball.

Basketball fans will find a trip to the Collegiate gymnasium tomorrow night decidedly well worth while. The second game of the City Basketball League semi-finals will be staged on the school floor with Dominions clashing with the Collegiate and Vocational School senior squad for the right to meet the Quakers in the final round for the City League title. Thursday's game which will get under way at 8 o'clock should produce a lot of hard, fast and exciting basketball from two good squads. Dominions won the first game, played at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, home court of the Dominions 44 to 33, and thus carry an 11-point lead into the second game of the two-game series. The students will have to open the throttle wide in an effort to overcome that fairly substantial lead and the result should be action plus from start to finish. Fans who saw the first meeting between the two teams pronounced it one of the best of the season and tomorrow's tilt should be even better.

The end of a busy and successful season for the Peterborough Badminton Club is in sight. The club playdowns which will be wound up on Saturday, April 11, are down to the semi-finals, except in the mixed doubles. In the ladies singles the finalists will be Mrs. Marg Baker and Miss Mary Cathcart. The winner of Ron Hisler and Bill Brown will play the winner of the match between Grant Henry and Bob Baker in the men's singles. The ladies' doubles and the mixed doubles finalists will be decided tonight. In the men's doubles the battle will be between Grant Henry and Max Rishor and Bill Brown and Bob Baker. The consolation finals will also be staged on Saturday evening. The final games will be between well-matched opponents and there should be a lot of clever and interesting badminton before the winners in the various events are finally decided. The club has had a good year and the final championship battles should provide a fitting windup.

* * * * * *

The victory of Trenton Fliers cage team over Windsor Alumni at Brantford last night in the final game for the Ontario Senior championship will be popular with Peterborough players and fans. Fliers came from behind—they were down ten points at half time—to take the decision over the battling Windsor aggregation 60 to 56 which is certainly close enough. In fact Windsor scored two long baskets in the last few seconds and came within an ace of sewing up the game. Although the present Trenton lineup is considerably different from the team the Outboard Marines met in a series of games earlier this season and last year such old favorites here as Brian Casey and Archie Green are still in the battle array and the capture of the Ontario championship will be applauded in local basketball circles. Now the Fliers will go out after the Dominion honors and everybody here will wish them luck in their quest for the Canadian title.

* * * * * *

Although they took their second straight game from the Quebec Aces last night, Ottawa Fliers had to battle every inch of the way to take a 5 to 4 decision over the boys from the Quebec capital. The opposition put up by the Aces has been a real surprise. They lost the first game by the narrow margin of one goal and in the two games played the packed R.C.A.F. team has been able to outscore them by two counters. The third game will be played in Montreal Thursday night and it would not be surprising if the Quebec team grabbed off a victory and prolonged the series. The Ottawa team has not been defeated in its last 17 games and the law of averages is about due to catch up. Milt Schmidt figured in three goals for the Fliers last night, although for the second game in succession he failed to find the nets himself.

Voted Berths On N.H.L. All-Star Team

Two Rangers' players and the Rangers' coach were voted a berth on the annual Canadian Press All-Star team of the N.H.L. The selection of the team was announced after a poll of 30 writers in N.H.L. cities and includes, LEFT, TOP to BOTTOM: Apps, Leafs, as centre; Hextall, Rangers, as right wing; Patrick, Rangers, as left wing; RIGHT, TOP to BOTTOM: Seibert, Black Hawks, as right defence; Anderson, Americans, as left defence, and Frankie Boucher, coach of Rangers, as coach. The brilliant net minding of Frankie Brimsek, CENTRE, of Boston Bruins, earned him the position of goalie on the All-Star team. The alternate team was made up of Broda, goal; Egan, right defence; McDonald, left defence; Watson, centre; Drillon, right wing; Abel, left wing, and Thompson as coach.

"Thanks so much," said Allan, returning the smile and the clasp of a firm, strong hand. Like Kay, De Fontanelle seemed even more attractive close by than he had at a distance. Allan looked about him as they entered a cool front hall. "Doesn't seem to uncomfortable. Will you show me where I sleep? And wash and change my clothes?"

"But certainly. Come this way with me. I observe you have been to the wars, m'sieur! Did you kill some of them, perhaps?"

"Tiens! What a pity! But, better luck next time, eh?" They had left Kay and were walking down a hall; the Frenchman halted at an open door, and Allan spied his bags on the tiled floor. "Here's your dungeon cell, mon ami. There's a guard who heats up our food and puts it on the table. You've about ten minutes, so don't delay. Cold rice can be simply awful!"

Allan thought it likely, yet he did not set to work on his toilet quite as soon as De Fontanelle had gone. A glance from his one window showed him it commanded a view of the cannery island, and the fact interested him.

He took out his field glasses, which he felt he might safely use here, and focused them on the door through which he had seen Dr. Sargent ushered. He studied it a long minute, then exclaimed softly. He had noticed something that almost made him doubt his eyes.

He went to his door and looked out into the hall. Kay was at one end of it, and he beckoned to her imperatively, placing a finger warningly to his lips. She came swiftly. He took her to the window and thrust the glasses into her hands.

"Look at the door of your father's lock-up! Quickly, while the sun is still directly on it! What d'you see?"

The girl followed his directions carefully, impressed by his air of urgency. But in a minute she lowered the glasses and shook her head.

"I give up. What's the answer? I see nothing!"

"No? Well, I do! Look again, Kay!" His breath stirred her golden hair as he whispered his discovery in her ear. "They leave the key in the lock—outside!"

Montreal Team No Resemblance 1941 Champions

By ROBERT CLARKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, April 8.—(CP)—Anyone who could right now name Montreal Royals' starting lineup for the Internationl League baseball opener would have no trouble in finding the needle in the haystack or understanding Einstein's theories.

It is doubtful, at the moment, if Clyde Sukeforth, himself, knows which men will take the field for the Royals' curtain-raiser.

But one thing is certain. This year's club will show little resemblance to the team that represented the International League—and lost —in the little world series last year.

Shortstop Find

The Royals apparently have a shortstop find in young Stan Rojek, up from Durham in the Piedmont League. Rounding out the keystone combination, the Royals recently purchased veteran Vince Sherlock from Syracuse. He isn't a great hitter but he fields well and his experience is expected to steady Rojek.

At third, Sukeforth has been using Glenn Stewart, formerly of Jersey City, and two rookies, Lou Rochelli and Bruce Brewster. But when the season starts it may be some one else.

For catchers, Royals will have both Herman Franks and Dixie Howell, both subject to 48-hour recall to the parent club, Brooklyn Dodgers.

In the outfield, Gene Moore seems to have assured himself or a regular spot.

Jack Graham, Montreal's 1941 home run king with 31 circuit clouts, will be back in the outfield. Tom Tatum seems to hold the edge for the other spot although Carl Furillo and Eno Shofety have looked good in training.

Sukeforth's hardest job evidently will be to find starting pitchers. Chet Kehn, Ed Head and Al Sherer, his three aces last year, have been with the Dodgers but it seems likely at least one will be returned. Hurlers working with the Royals so far have included Jack Paepke, Fred Falzone, Spencer Smith, Max Mason, Ed Spaulding, Paul Mulach and Garth Mann. Macon is certain of a spot while others who have looked good are Smith, Spaulding and Paepke.

Reardon Fails To Make RCAF

EDMONTON, April 8 — (CP). — Kenneth (Beans) Reardon, defenseman for the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, was rejected from the Royal Canadian Air Force today because he is "color blind."

Reardon, 21, was to have started Monday at the air force's pre-enlistment school in order to bring his educational qualifications up to air force standards. Reardon was found to be in "excellent physical condition" except for his color-blindness. He was hoping to become a pilot.

There are several ground crew jobs open to the hockey player, but Reardon said he is afraid he won't see any action.

Reardon, subject to a military call-up, said he is going to seek the advice of Lieutenant-Colonel H. B. Jamieson, officer commanding the 2nd Battalion, Edmonton Fusiliers.

"I'm not just certain what I'm going to do. but I think it will be the army," he said.

UNDERDOG RED WINGS WHIP LEAFS TWICE IN ROW ON TORONTO ICE

Grosso Sets Pace As Detroit Win 4-2 Scrap

By WILLIAM H. DUMSDAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 8.—(CP)—A hungry-looking young man from the Soo and the hotshot of hockey's hottest team—Don Grosso—today looked forward with anticipation to what he hopes will be the happiest birthday of his life in Detroit next Sunday when the Red Wings can win the Stanley Cup.

Grosso, rated by some experts as the game's finest playmaker, led the Wings to a 4-2 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs here last night to put them two games up in hockey's world series. The third game of the best-of-seven round is billed for Detroit tomorrow night with the fourth also on Detroit ice Sunday—Don's 27th birthday.

Jubilant over their two straight victories on Toronto ice the underdog Wings feel confident that the Leafs will never stop them in Detroit where they have been unbeaten in their last 12 starts. During the season the Leafs earned two victories and one tie in four games in Detroit.

"We like that big Detroit ice surface," said Gordie Drillon, Toronto right winger, after the game, "and there's no reason why we can't upset their streak and lick them both Thursday and Sunday."

Eight For Grosso

Grosso scored two of Detroit's goals to bring his scoring total for the Stanley Cup playdowns to eight, equalling the record set by Cecil Dillon with New York Rangers in 1933. Able to beat Turk Broda only three times during the regular National League season, Grosso has fired four pucks past the pudgy Toronto goalie in the two cup contests.

Shadowed only by the great work of Grosso, Johnny Mowers probably saved the game for the Wings by his phenomenal goaltending in the opening 11 minutes of play. Taking advantage of three early Detroit penalties the Leafs buzzed around Mowers' net incessantly but they failed to find a flaw in his armor.

Carrying on just as they finished in the series opener the Wings bumped the Leafs at every turn and hounded the puck continually. They scored twice in the first and added another pair in the third, while the Leafs counted once in both the second and third periods.

Grosso was off balance with Wally Stanowski draped over him when he scored the opening goal. Eddie Wares fired a long shot which Broda blocked with his stick and skidding along on his knees Grosso poked home the rebound.

14,079 Bemoan Apps' Penalty

A crowd of 14,079 paid customers went wild in the second period when Syl Apps, Toronto captain and winner of the Byng Trophy as the N.H.L.'s most-gentlemanly player, was penalized by Referee Bill Chadwick for slashing. The fans showered programs, coins, peanuts and other debris on the ice to protest Apps' first penalty of the season.

Alex Motter of Detroit had served 10 seconds of a penalty when Apps joined him and while both players were cooling their heels, Toronto entered the scoring column. Sweeney Schriner fired a backhand shot past Mowers in the 12th minute of play with Billy Taylor and Stanowski.

The Leafs were threatening to even the count early in the third period when Grosso speared the puck as it came off the board in Toronto area to worm his way in front of Broda and score easily. Jerry Brown deflected Eddie Bush's bullet shot for Detroit's final goal.

Refusing to abandon hope, the Leafs kept storming the Detroit net and their efforts were finally rewarded when Stanowski rushed the length of the ice to catch the lower left corner.

The Leafs don't believe in ill omens but they directed 13 shots at Mowers in each of the three period for a total of 39. Outshot by the Leafs in every session, the Wings tested Broda 33 times.

Dynamiters Stop Bearcats In 2 to 1 Fracas

CALGARY, April 8—(CP).—British Columbia's senior hockey champions—Kimberley Dynamiters—are heading along the same trail that six years ago led them to the Dominion crown.

The "surprise" squad last night scored a 2-1 victory over Port Arthur Bearcats in thefirst game of the western finals.

Second game of the best-of-five series will be played at Regina Thursday and the third will be at Port Arthur Saturday. If additional games are necessary they will be played at Port Arthur.

Credit for the triumph was due largely to the playing of Jakie Nash, former Port Arthur custodian, now netminder for Dynamiters.

Curly Hunt scored one of the winner's goals and passed to Lyall Swaney who banged in the other. Len McDougall notched the lone marker for the Thunder Bay-Manitoba champions.

Each team scored in the first period and Hunt drilled in what proved to be the winner just after the four-minute mark of the middle frame.

A crowd of 2,790 cheered the British Columbians to victory and were kept on edge throughout as Nash made brilliant saves.

Bearcats broke fast in the opening session and went into a 1-0 lead just after the four-minute mark when they caught the Dynamiters defence flat-footed and raced in with only Nash to beat. Al Kelly relayed to McDougall who scored on a low shot into the corner.

It wasn't until the last minute of the period that Swaney drilled a high shot beyond goalie Russ Dertell to knot the count at 1-1. The entire Kimberley team was up over the blue line when Swaney let go his shot. Hunt got credit for the assist.

Dynamiters started the second period by breaking up all Bearcats rushes and at 4.29 went into the lead when Hunt's low shot got past Dertell.

Writers Choose Yankees And Red Sox

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP).—The best handicappers in baseball today tabbed New York Yankees as a shoo-in for the American League pennant and Boston Red Sox to nip Chicago White Sox for second.

And if the Yanks, by some chance, should miss winning their second straight junior circuit championship—their sixth in seven years—there will be a collection of red faces among the baseball writers as 73 of the 76 voting in the annual Associated Press poll couldn't see the Bronx Bombers anywhere but on top.

Of the other three, two placed the Yanks second and the other third. The three top ballots the Yanks didn't get were split—two to the White Sox (by Gene Kessler, Chicago Times, and Dave Hoff, AP Chicago) and one to the Red Sox (Burt Whitman, Boston Herald).

On a basis of eight points for a first-place vote, seven for a second, six for a third, etc., the Yanks piled up 604 points—four less than perfection.

A photo finish, on the other hand, was forecast for the runner-up shot, with the Red Sox getting the call, 488 to 482, despite the two first-place ballots for Jimmy Dykes' dandies. In predicting a duplicate of the 1941 pennant finish, the writers gave Boston 39 second-place votes to 31 for the White Sox.

The field was well spread out behind the top three, with the balloting generally following the finish of last year's race. Cleveland and Detroit wound up in a fourth-place tie last year. This time, the Indians were picked for the spot with 341 points, and the Tigers polled 309 to head the second division.

Remember When—

NEW YORK, April 8.— (AP).—One of the guys who has to sleep in an upper berth on the Chicago White Sox eastward trek is Johnny Rigney, whose mother-in-law owns the club....Rumor that this will be Branch Rickey's last season with the Cardinals keeps popping up. This time its from Rochester, where they claim Billy Southworth tipped his hand by shipping some players to the Red Wings while Rickey was saying no shifts were in sight.

But the 43 year old colonel also figured he couldn't send his men out for an 18-kilometre ski race in bad weather unless he was willing to go, too....The upset was that Col. Reistad finished the race several minutes ahead of the fastest young fellow.

Edwards observed O'Doul's new car and new tires, settled himself deeply into the cushions of the back seat and remarked: "I almost feel like calling the close ones your way today, Mr. O'Doul."

Shaw Not Missed By Pace Team Set

TORONTO, April 8.—(CP)—Oshawa Generals' march to within one victory of the Eastern junior hockey championship has been made in its latter stages almost entirely without the benefit of coaching.

Oshawa supporters had misgivings about a month ago when Tracy Shaw, who has coached the Generals since the 1937-38 season, was suspended indefinitely after an argument with a referee during an Ontario Hockey Association semi-final game between Oshawa and Brantford Lions. Shaw argued vigorously in protesting a penalty to one of his players and was said to have showed the official at peak of the altercation. Then he refused to leave Generals' bench when ordered by the referee to do so.

That was March 7. On March 9 the O.H.A. suspended Shaw and made it stick. He has not been allowed any party in training of the Generals and the job has been taken over by Matt Leyden, who also is manager, and Charlie Conacher. But Leyden is not a coach and Conacher serves the club mainly in an advisory capacity. Officially they are co-coaches.

But all the strategy dreamed up by Montreal's full-time coach, Lorne White, has been useless against the machinations of this makeshift duo in the Eastern final. Oshawa won the first three games and could enter the Canadian final with a victory in the fourth contest of the best-of-seven series here tonight.

Plenty of Stuff.

What Generals lack in coaching they make up in hockey ability. After Oshawa won the first game 3-2, White sent three forward lines into action in the second, using only two defencemen. It almost worked, but Oshawa came from behind in the third period and won 4-3 in overtime. The Montreal mentor went back to his regular system for the third game, and Royals took their worst beating, 7-2.

Any extra-curricular brainwork for the fourth game has not been announced, but it was believed White may switch back to his three forward lines, two defencemen, system. Oshawas plan of action, if any, will be unchanged.

Probable starting lineups:

Montreal	Position	Oshawa
	Goal
Renaud		Waddell
	Defence
Broderick		Mortimer
Tracy		Guidolin
	Centre
Gauthier		Nelson
	Wings
Emberg		Wilson
Stewart		Davies

Stand-in Flyer Scores Pair As Aces Lose 5-4

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, April 8 — (CP). — A glittering two-goal performance by one of the "stand-in" members of an all-start cast placed Royal Canadian Air Force Flyers within one game of the Allan Cup finals to-day and accented anew the extent to which abundant reserve strength has contributed to the club's success.

The stand-in, 21-year-old Alf Kunkel of Guernsey, Sask., moved off the bench to replace the injured Mike Miller on Ottawa's third line and fired the deciding goal as the Flyers edged Quebec Aces 5-4 last night for their second straight victory in the best-of-five Eastern final series which resumes at Montreal to-morrow.

Kunkel, once rated by Manager Art Ross of Boston Bruins in an expansive moment as the greatest left wing in amateur hockey broke up the struggle at 15:24 of the second period, racing in unmolested to flip home Vic Hanneberry's rebound after Lionel Bouvrette had been drawn out of position in the Quebec nets. The goal snapped a 4-4 deadlock created by a desperate Quebec rally which left a season's record crowd of 8,346 paid admissions limp with excitement.

Flyers Soon Even It.

Aces opened the scoring in the first period, but the Airmen drew level and went on in the early minutes of the second to build up a 4-1 lead which seemed insurmountable. But just 30 seconds after Ottawa's fourth goal Quebec took up where Flyers left off, driving home the tying counters in the space of four minutes.

Kunkel. who learned his hockey witht Regina Abbotts and Saskatoon Wesley Juniors before graduating to Regina Rangers, 1940-1941 Allan Cup champions, was the only two-goal scorer of the evening. The other air force goals were contributed by Woody Dumart, Jud Snell and Pickles MacNicol. Walter Nicholson. Theo Hamel, Bobby Lee and Eddie Bruneteau scored for Aces.

After the game the rival coaches, Bill Touhey of Ottawa and Don Penniston of Aces, indicated the same players probably will be dressed for the series renewal in Montreal—Penniston, because he has no alternative and Touhey because he is satisfied with the Kunkel-Miller switch.

"It will be the same team you saw out there tonight." Penniston said. "Injuries have knocked out our reserve strength and we've no one else to call on."

News From Training Camps

BALTIMORE, April 8.—(AP)—New York Yankees, famous for their hitting, aren't bad at fielding either. The Rizzuto-Gordon combination at second last year helped set a double play record and this spring 39 double killings have been perpetrated in 29 contests.

AUGUSTA, Ga.—Righthander Sid Hudson has qualified for the assignment as opening game pitcher against New York Yankees at Washington next Tuesday, Bucky Harris has decided. Hudson held Philadelphia Phils to five hits and one run in seven innings yesterday.

SHAWNEE, Okla.—Maurice Van Robays, Pittsburg Pirate left fielder, was all smiles today. Having played second string to Jimmy Wasdell throughout most of the spring season he was surprised when Manager Frankie Frisch named him to his old post in the league opener next Tuesday. Wasdell has been shifted to right.

Resurrection Celebrated In Millbrook

MILLBROOK April 8—(ENS).—The Easter note of victory over death and the grave, its promise of sin's defeat and the future life of the believer, and its practical outworking in service of the living Lord, received due emphasis in the services of the three local churches on Sunday. Large congregations, lovely lilies and other flowers within the chancel and on the altar, special music by the choirs, and suitable Easter messages from the pulpits were features that created an atmosphere of worship and of high spiritual uplift.

St. Thomas' Anglican Church.

Services for Sunday in St. Thomas Anglican Church began with Holy Communion observed at 9 a.m. with fully two-thirds of the communicants on the church roll in attendance. The celebrant was the rector, Venerable Archdeacon William Simpson, B.A., and in the evening a feature of the well-attended service was the junior choir, numbering twenty voices, and including both boys and girls, which had been trained by the organist. Miss M. L. Collins, over a period of some weeks. The minister chose for his text Christ's message to the women: 'Be not afraid; go tell my brethren," emphasizing the fundamental note of Easter. "Because I live ye shall live also."

Grace Presbyterian Church.

The special music in Grace Presbyterian Church for Easter included an anthem, "Lo, in the Grave He Lay" (Semper), Mrs. Gordon Muspratt presiding at the organ, and a solo, "Beneath the Cross of Jesus" by Mrs. A. Coyte. The theme of the sermon by the minister, Rev. A. Raeburn-Gibson, was "The Glorious Christ of the Resurrection," and was developed under such headings as : 1, The glorious Christ is here; 2, He lives in the lives of His followers now; 3 it is easily determined whether He is within our hearts and souls here and now; 4, He is a brotherly Christ and a present Christ now. The underlying text was from Matthew 28, 9 and 10.

St. Andrew's United Church.

"The Practice of Immortality" was the theme of Rev. A. L. Sisco for the morning worship in St. Andrew's Church, the underlying thought being "Seek the things above where Christ is," and the text, 'If ye then be risen with Christ." The duet, "He Lives," by Misses Marjorie and Beatrice McDowell, followed the sermon, and the anthems were "Calvary" and during the offertory "Hallelujah for the Cross." Miss E. L. Hetherington presiding at the organ.

St. Andrew's is the only local church having two Sunday services, and in the evening on Easter, the Life of Christ was told in hymns and selected Scripture passages, as well as by organ numbers. "He shall feed His Flock" was sung as a duet by Mrs. H. W. Johnston and Miss Eva Hansman, and a quartette, "Into the Woods My Master Went," sung by Gordon Might, Homer Oullette, Marjorie and Bea McDowell, followed The Passion from Matthew 26, read by the minister. Handel's Hallelujah Chorus was the organ postlude after the recessional hymn, the vested choir numbering at least thirty voices.

Has Chimney Fire

PORT HOPE, April 8 — (ENS).—The firemen were called out at 8.30 on Monday morning to the residence of Mr. W. J. Austin, 83 Dorset street west, where a bad chimney fire was well underway. However, after several minutes strenuous work on the part of the firemen the fire was extinguished without serious damage.

War Priority

The announcement said "every supplier of telephone service" is required by the order "so to regulate the assignment of plant. equipment and facilities as to provide necessary service in the following order of priority:

"(1) Essential requirements of the armed services, producers of munitions and supplies of war and defense projects and of Governmental and other services and agencies related to the war program or to the defense of Canada.

"(2) Requirements essential for the welfare of civil life in the community and the protection of public health and safety.

"(3) Other essential commercial and industrial requirements.

"(4) Other requirements."

The announcement said "telephone service in Canada now is subject to priority rating with the armed services, producers of munitions and supplies of war and defense projects and of Governmental and other services and agencies related to the war program or to the defense of Canada in the top classification."

It said the purpose is "to conserve steel, copper, brass, zinc, nickel, tin and other materials, stocks of which have been affected by the war, and also to ensure telephone service for essential purposes."

The administrator is empowered to "order, permit, restrict or prohibit any specific service, and to determine the priority classification of persons to whom service shall be supplied or whose service shall be discontinued or limited," the board said.

Telephone companies are freed from contract obligations in refusing "to supply or continue telephone service or any particular class thereof, in complying with the directions of the administrator under authority of the board's order."

There is no recourse against any supplier of telephone service who discontinues or restricts it in conformity with the order.

Premier Asks

Mr. King opened a series of national network broadcasts which will be made by other ministers and by the leaders of other political parties in Parliament — Conservative Leader Hanson, M. J. Coldwell, Acting Leader of the C.C.F. Party, and John Blackmore, Leader of the New Democracy Party.

All will urge the people to give an affirmative answer to the following question to be asked in the plebiscite scheduled for April 27: "Are you in favor of releasing the Government from any obligation arising out of any past commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service?"

Mr. King said it was well known that the restrictions referred to arose from the pledge given by the Government and by other parties that conscription for overseas service would not be invoked in the present struggle.

Free Legally.

While the Government as far as legal power was concerned, was free to "take any action which a majority in Parliament will support," the obligation of its anti-conscription pledge was no less binding, Mr. King said.

Some would make light of "political promises," and, if circumstances dictated, a Government might, "without breaking faith," fail to carry out its full program.

"No change could, however, justify a Government in ignoring a specific pledge to the people unless it was clear that the safety of the nation was immediately involved and there was no possibility of consulting the people," said the Prime Minister.

The pledge on which the plebiscite was based was not concerned with policy but had specific relation to conduct of the war, and was not entered into by both government and opposition at the time it was made.

"The pledge to which I refer is, as you are all aware, that, as a method of raising men for military service overseas resort would not be had to conscription . . .

"It is a moral obligation and, I need not add, a moral obligation of the most solemn kind.

"It is equally the one and only restriction upon the exercise by the government of its full power . . .

"The pledge not to impose conscription was the result of Canada's experience in the last war. The way in which conscription as then introduced and the way it was enforced, gave rise to bitter resentment.

"Moreover events proved that conscription in the last war had little or no military value."

Canadians thought of the present conflict, at first, in the light of their knowledge of the First Great War and thought of the disunity which followed conscription.

Coveted Prize of War

Thy had not thought that in this conflict Canada might become one of the "most coveted of all the prizes of war," Mr. King said. "That, however, is the actual situation today."

"It would have been asserted that we were no better than the Nazis," he continued, if the government had failed either to call a general election, a referendum or a plebiscite as it is now doing.

To those who would say parliament could and would have released the government, and given it a free hand, Mr. King expressed doubt that such release would have been voted in parliament.

"Members of parliament would, for the most part, have taken the position that they were as much bound by past commitments as were members of the government," he said.

"Whether conscription for service overseas would add to Canada's total effort or not the fact that the government is not free to consider its adoption is made to appear as limiting Canada's war effort.

As Many As If Conscripted

"The truth, of course, is that our army today is just as large as it would have been if conscription for overseas service had been adopted. The absence of conscription for overseas service has not limited our war effort.

"The lack of power to impose such conscription has, however, placed our war effort in a wholly false light before our own citizens and, what is worse, before our allies."

Mr. King stressed that the people were not being asked to vote for or against conscription but for freedom to have that question decided in parliament.

Conscription was a military question and the place to discuss and decide it was in parliament in the light of national security needs.

It was essential that part of Canada's army should be kept in the Dominion to guard against attack, and part sent overseas "to help defeat the enemy and thus prevent him from attacking Canada." Both tasks were equally essential to Canada's safety.

The government alone had the necessary information to know where Canadians could best be used to protect Canada and help defeat the enemy, and how best to raise the necessary forces.

"We do not ask the people to make that decision. But we believe the matter is so important that the government and parliament should be completely free to decide that question wholly on its merits.

"In the greatest of all emergencies, I ask you, are you not prepared to trust the government and your own parliament to see that only those things are done which are wholly in the interests of the country

Who Can Be Trusted?

"If there are any who are not, who or what are they prepared to trust? This is the question I should like every citizen of Canada to ask himself or herself as he or she proceeds to answer 'yes' or 'no' to the question being asked on the 27th of this month.

"But there is a greater and more urgent reason why the restriction on the power of the government should be removed, and to this I ask your special attention.

"I have spoken of unity but to a nation there is one thing even more important than the preservation of its unity. That is the preservation of its existence.

"To those who are to look into the future, it is no longer the unity, it is the very existence of our country as a free nation which they see is in danger to-day.

"It will require the utmost cooperation on the part of all free countries to save them from becoming victims, one by one, of the gangster nations whose undoubted aim is world conquest.

"With our immense territory, great resources and small population, no country may come to need the help of other countries more than our own."

The Prime Minister said he was never an alarmist but he would not be true to the trust reposed in him if he did not say that he believed "the situaton, for all free nations, is far more critical to-day than it has ever been."

Axis Want Mastery In 1942.

Reviewing enemy successes to date he declared that "it becomes increasingly clear that both Germany and Japan are putting forth a supreme effort to achieve world mastery in 1942."

Canada and South Africa were the only commonwealth countries not immediately subject to attack, Mr. King said. "Does anyone imagine that if the aggressor nations are successful in the present areas of conflict they will leave the Western Hemisphere alone?" he asked.

"There are strong reasons for believing that Germany hopes, in the course of the next few months, to be able by means of a great naval offensive on the Atlantic, to cut the sea lanes between North America and Britain, and to cripple the merchant fleets of Britain and the United States."

"Japan has a similar aim on the Pacific. These offensives may come at any time.

"We cannot defend our country and save our homes and families by waiting at home for the enemy to attack us.

"Every country that has stood behind its own defences in this war has sooner or later been attacked. To remain on the defensive is the sure way to bring war to Canada."

It was essential to maintain and strengthen defences but it was equally essential to go out and meet the enemy and try to defeat him before he attacks Canada," before our cities are laid waste and before women and children of Canada are injured or killed in our streets and homes."

All Serving Canada.

Every armed man sent overseas and every war commodity sent from this country served to defend Canada, Mr. King said.

"Here is the strongest of reasons why no excuse should remain for any one to say that because of a restriction upon the exercise by the Government of its full powers, Canada's effort is not all that it might be.

"We would do well, I think, not to permit any misunderstanding to arise in other countries as to our readiness to do our full part in the struggle we are all fighting together.

"Aggression has followed aggression with such speed in so many parts of the porld that no one can now predict what new areas the war may reach next year, next month, or next week.

"Danger threatens us from the East and from the West. It is in the face of this peril that for defence of our freedom and of our country the Government asks you to give it a free hand."

United Church W.M.S. Plan Summer Doings

WARSAW, April 8 — (ENS). — The Easter meeting of the United Church W.M.S. was held on Thursday in the church basement, with members of St. Andrew's W.M.S. as guests. Mrs. George Taylor presided, and Mrs. E. D. Snelgrove welcomed the guests. Mrs. Bert Ray, Mrs. Gordon Payne, Mrs. Charlote Cooper, and Mrs. Arthur Edwards gave the Bible readings, and Mrs. Snelgrove and Mrs. D. Miller the prayers.

The order of service was taken from the Missionary Monthly, "Winning the Youth for Christ." A paper "Her Offering," was given by Miss Helen Tedford.

At the close of the meeting afternoon tea was served frim a table covered with a beautiful madeira cloth centred with lily of the valley. Tea was poured by Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Tucker from silver services.

Guild Meets.

The regular meeting of St. Mark's Guild was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. V. R. Jackson, who presided for business meeting. A quilt top was finished and brought in to be given to the local War Committee, Mrs. Alexander Calder donating the lining and batt. It was decided to discontinue the lunches for the summer months. Mrs. Donald Davis gave the Bible reading and Mrs. Albert Cooper a reading "Easter." The mystery jar was won by Mrs. D. Davis. The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Tighe.

Losses Run High In Bataan Scrap

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP)—The United States War Department reported today that heavy casualties on both sides marked the furious fighting along the Bataan Peninsula front in the Philippines, with the enemy continuing to score "some success" in repeated heavy attacks against the centre of the line.

A communique said that aerial bombing of the rear areas and the south coast of Bataan was particularly severe throughout yesterday.

There was a two-hour enemy artillery barrage from the Cavite shore of the bay against Corregidor and Fort Hughes but no damage and no casualties resulted, and the guns of the forts laid down a counter-battery fire.

The Department also reported a conference in Australia between Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commanding the United Nations forces there, and Dr. Hubertus Van Mook, acting head of the Netherlands Indies government. The latter informed MacArthur that resistance to the Japanese invasion continued in Java, with two forces of considerable size, well supplied with food and munitions, engaging a considerable enemy force in fierce fighting in the interior jungles and mountains of Java.

Lake Shore Bares Plane Wreckage

WATERTOWN, N.Y., April 8.—(AP).—Wreckape found along the shore of Lake Ontario was believed today to be that of a Royal Canadian Air Force plane which disappeared with its crew of four in a dense fog three months ago.

A week-long search involving 200 Canadian and American military planes failed to uncover a trace of the craft, an Arvo-Anson trainer, last seen January 8 over Cape Vincent, two miles from Lake Ontario. The plane was on a training flight from St. Johns, Que., to Malton Airport, Toronto.

The fliers were listed at the time they were announced as missing as follows:—

Alexander McDonald Morgan, leading aircraftman, Toronto.

Cy Rutherford, civilian pilot, Toronto.

John Witts, aircraftman, New South Wales, Australia.

Poor Sap Year Good for Wheat?

NEWMARKET, April 8.—"I never heard so many varied reports on maple sap production as this year." W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative for York County, said last night. Some producers report average runs, others in the county declare the sap yield very poor.

"An unusual condition is that there's no snow in the bush. Farmers prefer to wade through deep snow in the bush when tapping trees at this time of year—they believe they get better yields—and some are surprised the yield is so good with the snow gone so early."

Experience has shown that "a poor sap season" usually means a good wheat year, Mr. Cockburn said. "The night frosts favor sap production, but they're harder on wheat and the meadows. With the alternate freezing and thawing roots heave. Just now wheat fields are in good shape, but it's a bit early to say too much."

To Those Convalescing After Severe Illness

TO USE PARK AGAIN

For the first time in many years George W. Mulligan missed the April meeting of the city council with his request for permission be granted to Gospel Hall to use Central Park Sunday evenings for prayer services. His request, presented by Alderman Gordon, was granted once more.

GRADUATES TODAY

John C. McMillan of Peterborough is listed as one of the student pilots graduating at St. Hubert, Quebec, on Wednesday. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McMillan, 197 Rubidge street, and before enlisting was employed in one of the local banks. His parents are at the school to see their son get his wings.

PLEADS GUILTY

Joseph Hogan, R.R. 1, Indian River, whose car was involved in an accident on Park Hill Road, near Armour Road recently, pleaded guilty before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court this morning to a charge of careless driving. He told the magistrate that it was the first time he had had to face a traffic charge. Magistrate Gee fined the accused $5 and $2.50 costs.

FEELING INFERIOR?

From a main street magazine: "The housewife may feel very inferior when she listens to a woman-speaker eloquently addressing a public meeting. But she can overcome that crippling feeling if she will remember that she knows how to run a home well, perhaps much better than the speaking."

TO ACT WITH COUNTY

To join the county council in an appeal to the Department of Highways for some adjustment in regard to the allotment of money for suburban area roads, the city council Tuesday night appointed Aldermen Swanston, Dutton and Glover as its representative in a visit to Toronto which both bodies advised at a meeting last week.

AN ODD SIGHT

A husky-looking chap in laborer's clothes created quite a sensation in one of the downtown stores on Tuesday when he appeared on a shopping tour wearing gold earrings. The man seemed unaware of the curious stares of the other shoppers, the majority of whom had never seen these adornments on the male of the species before.

AT LONG LAST

Ambrose Pooley has his floor washing machine at work removing the accumulated scum from the floor of the Market Hall, and the transformation is an amazing one. The floor is almost black in comparison to the portion which has already been scrubbed, and Alderman Max Swanston is well pleased with the job so far. Pooley is using a liquid soap, a disinfectant and crystals, and it will take him two or three days to finish the big floor surface.

MUSICAL MINDED

At midnight, a young man saunters south on George street, sometimes on Aylmer, carrying a contrivance that looks like a lunch box. Actually it is some kind of a radio, for if one passes close by, the soft strains of some American dance band, or a sportscast can be heard plainly. The musical-minded fellow keeps the music tuned down low so as not to attract too much attention, yet he can enjoy it himself.

CHARGE IS WITHDRAWN

A charge of reckless driving against Gunner D. A. Livingston of London was withdrawn by the crown, when it was called in police court this morning.

MEET THURSDAY.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough War Service Council, sometimes known as the Community Chest Committee, has been called for Thursday night at 7:30. The meeting will be held in the Council Chamber.

HOW ABOUT THE BROOM?

Citizens are requested to remember the appeal of the city council to sweep up and remove the sand from the sidewalk in front of their houses. In most instances it would take only a few minutes and the job would be done. Children home from school could be recruited for this clean up.

The Peterborough Examiner

VOL. LXXXV, No. 82 — PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8, 1942

Artillery Men Sent To West Coast

Two Peterborough members of the 4th Field Brigade R.C.A. (RF) left to-day on the first step of a trip to Gordon Head, British Columbia, where they will take an officers' training course. They are Sgt. Major Jack Gemmell of the 4th Battery here, and 2/Lt. Doug Cruthers of the 45th Battery in Lindsay. They are the first from Peterborough, if not in this entire district, to be posted to the Officers' Training Centre on the west coast, a centre with the same category as Brockville.

Gemmell, whose brother Neil is an officer with the Commandos in England, is a son of Mrs. L. L. Gemmell. With the 4th Battery since its re-organization in August, 1940, he was promoted a few months ago to Battery Sergeant Major. He worked in the C.G.E. Co. and is well known in local basketball circles.

Cruthers, son of W. M. Cruthers here, has been employed in a bank and acting as 2/Lieutenant for the past year in the 45th Field Battery RCA (RF) in Lindsay, being connected with this unit for some time. Both Cruthers and Gemmell were to report at Headquarters, M.D. 3, Kingston, and then proceed immediately to British Columbia. Previously they had been slated for Brockville but were notified of the change in plans on Monday.

Four Aldermen Named To Posts

Four members of the council were appointed last night as a liaison group and to act in an advisory capacity with the Civil Defense Committee. They are Aldermen Sands, Sullivan, Dutton, Swanston.

It was recalled that the C.D.C. had made a decidedly hesitant beginning in Peterborough, lapsing several times without getting organized, but that Mayor Hamilton had persisted in his interest with results which amply compensated for His Worship's effort.

The fourth lecture in the basic training course in A.R.P. will be on Sunday next at 2.15 p.m. and Monday at 8 p.m. on the subject of war gases and personal protection against gas. Dr. D. B. Avison, M.O.H., will be the lecturer assisted by George Smith, assistant fire chief, and Edwin Curtin.

5-Year-Old Boy Lockjaw Victim

BANCROFT, April 8—(ENS). — The dread malady, lockjaw, reared its ugly head in Bancroft this week, for the first time in almost a decade, and prompt action appears to have given the victim an even chance of recovery.

The ailment struck five-year-old Jimmy Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hudson of Boulter, and after emergency treatment in Bancroft he was rushed to the Kingston General Hospital. Dr. Lumb of Bancroft received word today that the boy has a fair chance of recovery, but he is still in a serious condition.

The young lad cut his foot about two weeks ago and tetanus set in. He was brought to the Kingston General Hospital where he is being treated by Dr. R. R. MacGregor.

One-Hour Limit Park Area Being Extended

Parking on the east side of George Street between Brock and Murray Streets was included in the one-hour restriction of the traffic by-law by the Council on Tuesday night.

It was learned that merchants in that Hunter-Brock block, prohibited from leaving their cars in front of their own stores indefinitely, used to sneak up beyond Brock Street and thereby escape the necessity of moving in an hour, and the only demand on them were the few extra steps they had to walk to the upper block.

From now on the Brock-Murray block can be no haven. It now comes under the time limit, and got quick action when it was injected into the by-law changes which prohibit parking on the south side of Albert Street and the east side of Park Street.

Negotiations Complete.

Official negotiations between the C.P.R., the Board of Transport Commissioners, and the City Council for the laying of a pedestrian crossing at the east end of the C.P.R. bridge have at last reached the doorstep of action.

The Board has approved the undertaking and also the charges for the placing of an electric warning bell and its annual maintenance.

Cost of the work is estimated at $1,550 and the yearly charge is $150. The crossing has been sought by Wartime Housing Limited for the convenience of its Little Lake tenants.' The housing company has agreed to reimburse the city for all the cost.

City's Inaction Aided Railway

A note of regret and self-accusation was sounded by Alderman Dutton in supplementing Alderman Bradburn's report to the City Council of the recent meeting of district municipal representatives to make a last stand for the C.N.R. line between Peterborough and Port Hope.

Several of the delegates from the district expressed the opinion that if Peterborough had sustained last December its support to the appeal then being made to the Board of Railway Commissioners, the result might have been different, meaning that the Board probably would not have left the fate of the line to the decision of the C.N.R. management.

Since December the aspect of highway transportation has changed greatly, and the council has become anxious about the bus service from the south in view of restrictions which might eliminate the coaches at a time when the C.N.R. had withdrawn its trains between Peterborough and Port Hope and lifted the rails.

Alderman Dutton moved Tuesday night that City Clerk Outram prepare a resolution to be submitted to the C.N.R. management as a special appeal from Peterborough for continued maintenance of operations on this line at least for the duration of the war.

Aldermen Sands, Bradburn and Dutton, council representatives at the Monday night meeting here, were named to carry on with the proposed deputation to Toronto. It was expected that at least two of them could accompany the district delegates.

Outboard Marine To Erect New Fence

Permission to erect a wire fence six inches inside the sidewalk in front of their plant on Monaghan Road was granted Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company by the council last night.

Hy Woods, works manager, wrote that if the fence was set up on the inside of a row of trees its protection would be nullified. He also informed the council that company will place guards at the Monaghan Road and Romaine street entrances.

These precautions are being taken on the suggestion of the Department of Munitions and Supply as a safeguard against any possible sabotage. The fence will be left in place only for the duration of the war. Alderman Cotton moved the resolution to grant the requested permission, and Alderman Bradburn seconded it.

Three Brothers Serve In The Same Canadian Unit

JACK M. DONALD

STUART H. DONALD

JAMES ANGUS DONALD

Peterborough city and district has a great many families represented by two, three and even four of the sons in the armed forces, but few can boast of three sons in the one unit. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Donald of Campbellford have three sons now serving in the First Midland Regiment in Western Canada. All of the boys have been in-uniform for some time.

Junior Officers, NCO's Given 5-Mile March

A five-mile route march was held on Tuesday afternoon when five junior officers and nine N.C.O.'s of the Prince of Wales Rangers (AF) regiment took a march to the rifle range on the old Norwood road and back. After the lengthy walk, several of the men, not being accustomed to such marching, arrived back at the armoury glad to sit down. For the junior officers, it represented the first in a series of toughening-up marches for their courses at Brockville which will begin about April 17. Captain Jim Morley, recently transferred back to the Prince of Wales Rangers, is in charge of the preliminary training. The first march of the active regiment was held on Monday afternoon on the streets of Peterborough and, despite the fact that many of the men are just new recruits, the unit made a fine showing.

R.S.M. Andy Jackson said today the N.C.O.'s and junior officers will take in a route march of possibly six miles and, as the days advance, the distance covered on each march will be lengthened.

In addition to the daily route marches, junior officers and N.C.O.'s form a squad which undergoes an hour of vigorous and rigid rifle drill every morning over and above the regular P.T. exercises which in itself seems to be more than enough for some of the heavier men of the regiment.

Lieut. A. L. Elliott was observed shyly eyeing the regiment today as the unit went through the strenuous morning exercises under the stern direction of R.S.M. Jackson. When reminded by officers that such would be the lot of the M.P.P. after next Monday, he was reported to have shown little anxiety. "I could do those exercises standing on my head," said Lieut. Elliott.

Reckless Driving Charge Is Thrown Out

Remarking that there was considerable variance in the evidence, Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court today found William Hutchinson not guilty of reckless driving.

Hutchinson, who recently came to Peterborough from Quebec, had been charged following a traffic accident on Water street on the morning of Sunday, March 8, in which the car of the accused was involved in a collision with a taxi driven by John Drummond.

Drummond, called by the Crown today said that he had been driving north on Water street and started to turn into his garage. As he did so he noticed another car coming south and about one-third of a block above Brock street. At that time he calculated that the other machine was travelling about 30 miles an hour. Drummond said the front wheels of his taxi were on the sidewalk a foot or so away from his garage door when he saw the other car angling toward his machine and realized that he was about to be hit.

"I would say he was travelling 50 miles an hour just below Brock street," Drummond said, estimating that Hutchinson was driving at 30 miles at the moment of impact.

"My car was driven ten feet to the south after it was hit," the witness said. "It weighs around 5,300 pounds.

Drummond said his taxi was damaged along the right side and that he was badly shaken up in the crash. Witness said that he signalled with his hand when he went to make a turn.

Constables John Morrow and Gordon K. Hardy, who investigated the accident, gave evidence as to skid marks and measurements they had taken

Hutchinson himself was the only defence witness He said that he had not been driving fast He had stopped his car just before reaching Victoria Park he said to look at the generator and when he started up again he was not travelling more than 25 miles an hour at Brock street He declared that Drummond had suddenly turned in front of his machine, without giving any signal.

"I am positive of that," said the accused.

After hearing the argument of T. J. Carley, K.C., counsel for Hutchinson, and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. Magistrate Gee dismissed the case, remarking that he was giving the accused the benefit of the doubt. "The matter of damages can be settled in another court," Magistrate Gee said.

Petries Win Court Appeal

At the sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario held here on the 9th of September, 1941 and presided over by the Honorable Mr. Justice Makins, Mary E. Petrie, widow of James Coben Petrie and administratrix of his estate, sued the father, Thomas Petrie and the brother Kenneth Petrie claiming that they should pay a ratable proportion of the amount of the mortgage which covered the farms of James Petrie, deceased, and those of the father, Thomas Petrie and the brother, Kenneth Petrie.

It had been previously found in a reference before his Honor Judge Smoke that the amount of $4,000 which was borrowed was not a gift and had been applied in building a house on the farm of James Petrie.

The Honorable Mr. Justice Makins confirmed the finding that the $4,000 was not a gift and that the three properties should bear the amount of the mortgages ratably on the basis of the respective assessed values of each farm.

Thomas Petrie and Kenneth Petrie, the defendants appealed from that part of the judgment of Mr. Justice Makins with reference to their liability to pay a proportion of the mortgage money on the grounds that they were under no legal obligation whatever to pay any money to James Petrie and that they had contributed their property as collateral security only for the purpose of borrowing the money for the benefit of James and that James' estate should pay the full amount of the $4,000 to the mortgagee.

W. J. Arthur Fair, counsel for the appellant, argued that under the common law where a loan is secured by the mortgaging of several properties for the benefit of one person and the money was applied on that person's property, then the person for whom the money was procured is liable for the full amount of the money and should compensate the parties who had so mortgaged their property and save them harmless from any obligation to the mortgagee. The Appeal Court approved this argument and set aside the judgment and allowed the appeal.

The Court was presided over by the Chief Justice of Ontario with Justices of Appeal Henderson and McTague. The summing up of the judgment is as follows: "For these reasons I do not think we should at this time finally dispose of the case. The appeal should be allowed to the extent of setting aside the judgment appealed from, but we should retain the appeal for the further consideration as to whether we should order a new trial or should dismiss the action, and in the meantime I would strongly recommend the parties interested to make an effort to work out arrangement among them that will dispose of all their differences without further litigation. Costs are also reserved."

W. J. Arthur Fair was counsel for Thomas and Kenneth Petrie.

R.C.A.F. Recruiting Officers In City

Recruiting Officers of the Royal Canadian Air Force are located in committee room, city building, and are on duty throughout the day and in the evening, April 8, 9 and 10, to receive applications for enlistment in the Royal Canadian Air Force, and to answer all inquiries relative thereto.

Demand for pilots and observers continues to be a pressing need, and never more so than at the present time. Junior Matriculation is the educational requirement, but those with at least two years High School are eligible for enlistment after successfully passing an educational course in Toronto. Subsistence allowance of $10 a week is paid to trainees taking these educational courses. Here is a chance for young men, keen to be fighter pilots or observers in the Royal Canadian Air Force but who feel they are not qualified to enlist because they lack sufficient education.

Promotions Made In 4th Field Battery

City Council Expresses Appreciation To Men Who Gave Peterborough CHEX

Grateful compliment to Peterborough's radio station CHEX was paid by the city council Tuesday night in the following resolution by Alderman Bradburn, seconded by Alderman Cotton:

"That this council conveys to the management and personnel of Peterborough radio station CHEX our appreciation of the excellent modern facilities established for this station, assuring splendid reception for its fine programs to the radio listeners of Peterborough and the wide surrounding area; also our appreciation of the all-round ability and skill in its operation so ably demonstrated by its staff; all of which this council is certain combines to assures a worthy contribution by station CHEX to the community life, prosperity and general good of the area it so ably serves."

NEW PENTHOUSE

HASTINGS, April 8—(ENS).— After working for three weeks on a cab for the township grader, the Asphodel road engineer is going around with a red face these days.

He discovered that the cab which was built in a Westwood shed was three feet too high for the shed doors. As the cab was too heavy to be moved except on the grader's wheels, it was decided to let the air out of the tires. Still the cab was three inches about the shed doors.

It is not known whether the engineer has decided to remove the shed roof yet or not.

Donor Gives $7 To Bring Total Above $900 Mark

Tuesday's report for the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund carried an account of the success attained from the penny boxes some forty in number, scattered throughout the city, and that same afternoon while the secretary of the fund was collecting the contents of the boxes in the Canadian Bank of Commerce, an interested onlooker inquired what success was being met with for this particular type of activity for the fund.

On being told that the total to date had reached the splendid amount of $893, there was surprise as well as keen satisfaction at the results obtained.

A few moments later he was back again verifying the statement as to the total, and promptly inquired if the secretary would like the amount made up to $900.

Readers may judge how prompt the response to such a query would be, suffice it to add, as quick as it takes to write a cheque, the deed was done, and together with the $1.77 from the Canadian Bank of Commerce boxes, the total went over the next century mark and now stands at $902.00, thanks to "S. J.L."

The Red Patch Club has on two previous occasions contributed to the fund, the last occasion in an amount of over $80 and to-day a third donation is listed from them, accompanied by a note from their secretary, Bob Hendry, which read, "Just a litle buckshee, with best wishes."

Radio Report.

Every evening, in the six o'clock newscast from station CHEX, a short report on the activities and news of the workings of the fund is included through the kindness of the Johnston Tire, Battery and Radio Service, the sponsors of this period, and this will include one or two items of interest concerning donations currently to hand from the city or surrounding district, and in this manner Mr. Johnston is giving service to help the fund along.

Cars Bog Down Near Hastings

HASTINGS, April 8—(ENS). — Despite the fact that frosts during the past winter were not particularly severe, roads in this district are in the worst condition in years.

Especially bad is the Campbellford-Hastings road, and that section of Highway 45 between Hastings and Norwood. M. A. O'Shea, local lawyer, who commutes between here and Peterborough, has been forced to discard his car in favor of the train.

Farmers of the district report that they are kept busy from morning till night hauling stranded motorists from mud holes. As one farmer commented: "I don't even bother to unhitch my team." Bus and transport schedules have been disrupted while road gangs are busy at repair work.

Despite these conditions, the dance held Monday night under the auspices of the Holy Name Society of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church was a complete success, with total proceeds amounting to $85.

Business Men Discuss Transportation

Twenty members of the Peterborough Business Men's Association discussed the problem of providing adequate transportation to the war industry workers of the city, at a dinner meeting held in Hooper's Palm Rooms on Tuesday evening.

Lawrie Mitchell of the Peterborough Bus Lines told the meeting that he has problems arising out of war work, and he was seeking a way of alleviating the peak traffic during the evening supper hour. He pointed out that on Monday of this week the buses had carried 400 more passengers than on the Monday previous, and this he felt was due to gasoline restrictions. Most of this number came from the factories. He added that the General Electric Company was doing its part in helping the situation by staggering working hours. They dismiss a large number of employees at 5 o'clock, 1,700 at 6 o'clock and 800 at 7 o'clock. Apparently 6 o'clock is the top peak hour, as at this time store workers, shoppers, and factory workers throng the bus terminals seeking transportation. He suggested that stores remain open until 6.15 to ease the situation, and asked the meeting to discuss this point. Apparently all buses are jammed on Saturday nights as many factory workers have no other time to do their shopping.

"People who could shop during the week and who won't do it, are responsible for a lot of the congestion on Saturday, he said.

Discussion brought out several suggestions, including a change in pay days, to make people shop on other days beside Saturday, a suggestion that factories pay in cash, or else have banks cash the cheques, and a suggestion that factory workers secure a lapel button as a means of identification, so that bus drivers would give them preference on the buses. This latter suggestion is now in effect in Britain.

The final decision of the meeting was a motion by Vern Selkirk and Gordon Shier, that a committee of five be appointed to meet with the industrial heads, seeking their point of view and suggestions on the problems that are becoming more acute as production schedules are stepped up. Dennis Fitzgerald, Don Loucks, Vern Selkirk, Ernie Braund, Charles Saunders, and himself.

Miss G. V. Franklin Wed To Rev. Wm. H. Baugh

MARMORA, April 8.—(ENS). — In the presence of a large congregation the wedding took place at St. Paul's Anglican church, Marmora at 2 p.m. on Tuesday of Gertrude Violet Franklin, daughter of Mr. George Franklin of Marmora and the Rev. William Hearts Baugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Baugh of Normanton, Yorkshire, England. For the ceremony which was performed by the rector, Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell, the church was beautfully decorated with Easter lillies and daffodil.

Given in marriage by Mr. Leslie R. Rundle of Marmora, the bride was becomingly gowned in a rose radiant crepe street length dress with matching hat. She carried a bouquet of roses and sweet peas. Her bridesmaid, Miss Hilda Henderson of Coe Hill, was dressed in a powder blue radiant crepe dress with hat to match and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The duties of best man were carried out by Mr. Roy C. Smith of Marmora. Wedding music was played by the organist, Mrs. L. R. Rundle and during the signing of the register, Mrs. P. Gray and Mr. L. R. Rundle sang "O Perfect Love." The wedding banquet was served in the parish hall by Group I of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild, with about thirty in attendance. The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. W. P. Fletcher. Later in the afternoon Rev. and Mrs. Baugh left on a short honeymoon, after which they will live at Coe Hill, where the former is pastor of the United church. They were the recipients of many choice and useful gifts.

BAYADERE BRAVADO

By PRUNELLA WOOD

Gay as a bandana, soft as a scarf, the bayadere crepe from which this casual semi-sports frock is fashioned is one more of this spring's offerings in bordered prints.

Usually the bayadere, or horizontally floral - printed fabric, is a neat and delicate design, one which gives a restrained effect rather than a flamboyant one. But developed in a foot-deep band of gray and white flowers across a background of lipstick red, this bayadere is as giddy as any tropical print you ever saw.

Wear it for afternoon parties; at home for dress-up occasions. Black accessories for chilly spring, white for summer . . . it's that old pal, the little print dress, in a new and dramatic mood.

Helen Roger W.M.S. Hears of Korea At April Meeting

The Helen Roger W.M.S. of Knox United Church had an enjoyable and interesting meeting on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Ian McRae on Douro street.

Following a short business session, Miss Mary Morton read a paper on stewardship entitle "Tithing."

Mrs. E. Mesley conducted the worship service, the theme "The Call of the Risen Christ to Youth" from "The Church in Christ Through the Centuries." She was assisted by Mrs. H. Williamson and Mrs. V. Zufelt. Miss Jean Hair of the Mission Circle gave the answer of the young people of today.

Mrs. H. Clegg conducted a beautiful and impressive worship service for Mrs. Andrew Mackenzie who was the beloved honorary president of the Helen Rogers W.M.S. During this service Mrs. K. Welch sang "The Old Rugged Cross" Mrs. Mackenzie's favorite hymn.

Mrs. H. Clegg introduced the president of the Presbyterial, Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, who spoke in greeting and introduced the speaker, Mrs. D. B. Avison.

Mrs. Avison gave an informative talk on Korea, speaking informally of customs and ways of life in that country, after which she passed around pictures of Korea, showing the clinics and the beautiful scenery of that country. Mrs. Oesch moved a vote of thanks and a light lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. A. Hutchinson, Mrs. R. Knox, and Mrs. Ian McRae.

Combined Choirs Render Cantata

A tribute to the message expressed in Maunder's composition, "Olivet to Calvary," as it was performed by the combined choirs of St. James' and Knox Churches on Friday night was the fact that many expressed their intention of hearing it again when it is performed next Sunday in Knox Church after the evening service, at 8.15. The performance was directed by Mr. William R. Potter, organist and choirmaster of Knox Church, and the choirs were assisted by a string ensemble under the direction of Mr. Cecil Searles, violinist. As a fitting prelude, Mallotte's setting of the Lord's Prayer was sung by Mrs. Kitney.

The choirs are indebted to the following artists: Mrs. A. Wedlock, pianist; and Mr. Cecil Lapp, organist; Mrs. Kitney and Mrs. Doig excelled in interpretation of the soprano solos; Mr. Arthur Pitchford rendered the quotations of Christ and Mr. Harry Flowers the quotations of Pilate.

Mission Circle Hears Fine Talk On India

The Murray Street Ladies' Mission Circle was held Tuesday afternoon in the ladies' parlor with the president, Mr. W. Kidd, in the chair.

During the business session it was voted to send a sum of money raised for the Ontario Indian fund to headquarters. Mrs. B. Jackson, Miss Cochrane and Mrs. F. M. Somerville were appointed to the nominating committee. It was announced that group 1 would hold a tea and sale of home cooking on Saturday in the parlors. Mrs. A. H. Campbell, leader of group 4 took charge of the meeting and Miss Cochrane read the scripture, followed by Mrs. P. S. White, who led in prayer.

Mrs. D. Loomis gave a short biography on the life of William Carey. In a few sentences she pictured to tremendous activity, ability and achievement of this pioneer missionary to India.

Mrs. B. Jackson prayed for all who are fighting in the cause of democracy.

Mrs. Campbell then called upon Mrs. H. H. Graham to speak on India and the present situation. Mrs. Graham, who is a daughter of Henry Davis, missionary in that country, is particularly interested in the subject and gave a rapid summary of India before and after British rule.

"One thing is clear," she began "the urgent necessity of finding some way to unify India, for the Japs are at the door. To defend India is to defend China, Russia, Suez and the Middle East."

In current comments one finds great differences of opinion as to whether British Imperialism had been benevolent and constructive or malevolent and destructive. Mrs. Graham described the progress of India since 1600, when the East India Company began trading and the great Mogul Empire began to disintegrate. Britain brought peace to the warring tribes, built railroads and irrigation systems and generally helped the country. No doubt British business men did exploit labor, as has been done elsewhere, and the discipline dealt out by the Army has at times been severe, but liberty and self-rule are held back in India by the country's lack of cohesion.

India is now divided into 11 provinces, each with a British governor and a government elected by limited suffrage. The Viceroy governs India with an Executive Council composed of eight Indians and four Britons. One third of India consists of free states ruled with their own princes.

Religious factions make the greatest difficulty in dealing with self-government; all religious sects struggling for their own slice of power. India has some great leaders but someone who is moderate, clear thinking and internationally minded will solve the problem with the help of Sir Stafford Cripps and Sir Archibald Wavell.

What relations has all this to missions? The Baptist missions are already being bombed but their policy is to carry on.

Mrs. Campbell thanked Mrs. Graham for her splendid paper.

One of Spring's Prettiest Weddings

DOROTHY DIX

Don't Let Sentiment Get the Better of Your Judgment and Rush to the Altar.

The other day there came to my desk a letter that told a story of young love and human weakness and lack of wisdom and foresight that is so pathetic and so tragic that I repeat it here in the hope that it may make other boys and girls pause and consider before they rush into a war marriage. The writer of this letter is a fine young soldier who had been in love with a nice girl for some time, but they had not planned to marry until they were able to set up a little home of their own, for they were poor people and both of them worked and helped their families. But the boy was called to the colors. They faced separation. He was going away — they knew not where, nor for how long. Perhaps forever. And in their despair they grasped at the only ray of happiness they could see, which was to be together for the week or two before he left to join the Army. That, at least, would give them something to remember, and they felt that they would be the less likely to lose each other if they were held together by the marriage bond. So they were married. The girl went back to her job. The boy went on to his training camp. And all might have been well except that now a baby is coming. The young wife has had to give up her position in the office in which she worked, and is penniless. Both her family and her husband's family have a desperate struggle to keep body and soul together in their overcrowded little houses and cannot take her in and care for her.

Cause for Anxiety.

On a soldier's pay her husband can send her only a few dollars a month to help her. He cannot give her the care and attention she needs at such a time. He cannot be with her to comfort her and hearten her courage. He cannot be with her in her hour of agony. And when he thinks of these things and wonders what is to become of her and of his child he is fairly crazed with anxiety, and is going through that particular individual hell that each of us must endure when we let impulse guide us instead of reason and yield to the temptation of the moment.

Certainly a man in the situation of this young soldier—and there are tens of thousands like him—is in no condition to give any worthwhile service to his country. His thoughts are not centred on making himself proficient in his job. They are concentrated on wondering what is happening to the forlorn little group back home.

Whether the enemy wins or loses is of no importance to him whatever compared to what happens in the delivery room of some hospital. His morale is shattered. His fighting spirit gone. His courage broken down by domestic troubles that eat out the very soul of the bravest man. He is a tin soldier with nothing in him that clicks, instead of being a flesh and blood one ready to do and dare to defend his country.

The Girl Pays the Price.

And the girl pays an equally high price for her brief honeymoon. For hard as the parting might have been from her sweetheart, it is nothing to the anguish of being parted from her bridegroom. If she had only had the courage and the self-control and the good, hard commonsense to wait for her happiness until the time came for her to take it rightly, she would have had the interest of her work and a pay envelope that enabled her to be financially independent and to help her family, instead of being a burden upon it. And she would have been able to have looked forward to the coming of her first child with joy and pride, instead of bleak despair and having her heart turn sick with fear that it may be her sad fate to be left a widow with a fatherless child to support.

So to the boys and girls who are storming the Marriage Licence Bureaus just now I commend the prayerful and careful reading of this young soldier's story. Don't marry just because going away has made you sentimental and some hometown girl suddenly seems more attractive than she ever did before.

Don't marry a boy because he looks good in uniform, nor because you are afraid if you don't grab a husband now when men are plentiful you may be left an old maid. Don't marry with the idea that a wedding ring is a charm that will keep a boy faithful to you.

Time For Hard Thinking.

Of all times in the world war time is the one in which people should enter into marriage most soberly and with the greatest consideration of the responsibility it entails, for war changes not only the soldier at the front, but the girl he left behind him. And when they meet again, after years of separation, and the experiences they have been through they often find that they have drifted apart and have nothing in common, not even love.

Canadian Army Competent For Offensive

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, April 8 (CP Cable).—Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said Monday that establishment of a headquarters of the 1st Canadian army "provides a Canadian organization which is competent to undertake planning for eventual offensive operations on the continent when the times become appropriate."

"It will keep the closest liaison with British organizations set up for similar purposes," the General said. He spoke to The Canadian Press at army headquarters, which were opened in southern England Monday morning and announced in Ottawa.

"Formation of an army is clear recognition that the war can only be won by attack—aimed at the heart of Germany," Gen. McNaughton said.

He added that formation of the headquarters "supplies a very necessary link in command and administration needed for the Canadian forces in the United Kingdom."

"Previously much of this work had to be shared by the Canadian Corps and Canadian military headquarters, overburdening both organizations with tasks not strictly within the ambit of their duties," Gen. McNaughton said.

One of the important duties which will be carried out by the army and military headquarters will be to accelerate technical development of new weapons and improved methods, the General added.

Quick Action On Ideas.

Mentioning the recently-formed army technical development board, Gen. McNaughton stressed anew the importance of its proposed work. He said the Board had been given the widest powers to ensure speedy and effective action. The Board has the responsibility for ensuring that ideas originating with the forces in the field are given the promptest consideration in Canada.

One of the purposes of the army headquarters is to relieve the fighting formations of a plot of cumbersome administration detail, which now will be done at army headquarters and by other organizations more remote from the field.

"As regards the fighting troops, we plan to cut administration until it hurts," Gen. McNaughton said. He indicated the new army organization probably will include some radical new departments aimed at meeting the latest war developments and keeping ahead of the enemy.

The General pointed out that the appointments to army headquarters staff include senior officers greatly experienced in England since the first Canadian contingent arrived.

"These men are now moving to more important positions, where their experience will be of great value to Canada's war effort" Gen. McNaughton said.

Asked what is being done regarding air support for the new army, he said: "Air support for the army in the field is an absolute essential and the necessary components of the R.C.A.F. will be provided."

Pressed for further details, he said he was not prepared to add anything now, already special squadrons have been provided to close co-operation with the Canadian corps, now the 1st Corps, and the Canadian armored division here.

Real Artillery Power.

"Regarding artillery all requirements are being made available and special attention is being given the development of new technical methods to ensure that our infantry receives the most intimate artillery support," he said.

The General added that the new army would have a high proportion of armored units' fire power.

Gen. McNaughton said organization of the 2nd Corps, which will be armored, will start shortly. While no official indication has been given yet, it is believed that Major-Gen. E. W. Sansom will be the choice to command this corps.

Formation of army headquarters was no surprise to officers here. It had been discussed informally for a week and it was quite evident that it was pending soon as Gen. McNaughton returned to Canada.

The army will be distinctly Canadian and no British formations will be put under its command, as was the case when the Canadian forces were expanded to corps proportions in the summer of 1940.

Appointment of Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar as 1st Corps commander was a foregone conclusion in everyone's mind here, and the promotion of Brig. G. R. Turner and Brig. C. S. L. Hertzberg to Major-General's rank and important appointments at army headquarters was warmly received. Both Turner and Hertzberg, who came overseas with the first contingent, have labored incessantly for the Canadian forces here.

Both are Royal Canadian Engineers, but Gen. Turner, a permanent force officer, has handled administrative duties in the Adjutant-General's and Quartermaster-General's branch of a division and at Corps Headquarters from the start.

A consulting engineer in civil life, Gen. Hertzberg has been head of the engineering services of A division and at Corps Headquarters.

Elevation of Brig. J. H. Roberts to Major General to command an infantry division had been generally anticipated. He had been in command in an acting capacity for several months.

Supreme Sacrifice Of Russian Mother

The Moscow caption identifies her as Evdokia Sosnovskaya, a resident of the village of Krasnaya Slobodki, ruins of which you see in background. She proved that mother love is something greater than bombs, shells, fire or sword. Red army troopers found her body vainly attempting to protect her child from the death that rained from the sky. There is no greater heroism on land, sea or in the air.

LAKEFIELD

LAKEFIELD, April 8.—(ENS). — The Rev. George S. Kelly continued his series of excellent talks on Bible history as the highlight of the United Young People's Union Tuesday night rally. Study of the path of Israel under the three kings, Saul, David and Solomon, proved an interesting topic.

Previous to the talk Mrs. Kelly conducted the devotional period, Pauline Butcher read the lesson, Joan Kelly gave a reading and Arnold Jackman reviewed the previous session. It was decided to hold a play party on April 27.

No Y.P.U. meeting will be held next Tuesday evening when the gathering will be devoted to the annual temperance oratorical contest under the supervision of Mrs W. W. Yale. Some twenty children and young people divided in four age classes will take part.

Miss Mildred Garbutt spent the week-end in Toronto and Hamilton visiting friends.

Miss Phyllis Coleman of Peterborough, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Crawford.

Mrs. Arthur Payne is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Hislop, at Innerkip.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Preston, accompaned by Mrs. Fred Boyce, are spending a few days in Toronto.

Among those from the village who attended the Christian Easter Conference held in Belleville on Sunday were: Evangelist C. E. Tatham, Mr. T. C. Yonge, Mr. Glenford Murphy and Miss Marjory Dunford.

Miss Lula Darling spent the holiday with her mother, Mrs. Johnny Darling.

War Needs Come Before Telephones

Because war needs must come first and telephone facilities must prove equal to any demands having to do with the war, new telephone installations must be rigidly restricted.

This is the announcement made by Bell Telephone officials to-day in conformity with the Order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, dealing with telephone services.

"The main factors in the telephone situation," said Manager M. H. Riddle, of the Bell Company, "are that orders for telephone installations have been coming in since the first of the year at an even greater rate than last year, and 1941 was the record year in our history. Of the 63,000 net gain in telephone last year, 44,500 were for residence service, and the preponderance of orders for home telephones is continuing.

"The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has directed us to do all such things as may be requisite to conserve any and all telephone plant and facilities.

"We shall need the cordial cooperation of the public in this. We are confident that when applicants reflect that the needs of the war and the vital services must be promptly met, they will gladly forego all but the most urgent installations, for that will be another way of helping to win the war."

Gas Mystery

PHILADELPHIA, April 8 (AP).—A mysterious gas which came from an unknown source started thousands of persons in a suburban area coughing last night. While officials sought for some explanation, a survey of the area today showed that no ill effects other than a pecular throat irritation apparently had been caused.

The gas clung in a light gray mist over an eight-mile sector in the vicinity of Darby and Ridley Park for two hours.

Easter Sunday Feature Day At Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, April 8—(ENS).—Easter Sunday in the village saw full congregations in all churches with special messages centering mainly around the Resurrection.

Feature of the day at the United Church was the sacred Easter Contatta "Joy After Sorrow", taking the entire evening hour of worship, members of the choir rendering beautiful solo numbers. Following the services a special W.M.S. thank offering was received.

In the morning the Rev. G. S. Kelly spoke on the Resurrection of Jesus emphasizing three points—the battleground of the early church centering around the Resurrection; faith in the Resurrection as motivation of the missionaries ever since, and faith in the Resurrection as the heart of the Gospel today. Mrs. Clayton Bullock sang.

Easter's Love Story was the topic of the Rev. W. B. Walker at the Baptist morning service taken from Mark 16, 1-7, linking Easter and Springtime, a season of hope wherein the love of God brings joy, and the divine promises that are included bringing strength. Miss Cora Charlton rendered "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth."

Everlasting Easter and the fact that the Easter spirit should be observed each week was the key of the evening session.

Grace Gospel Chapel, in the absence of Evangelist C. E. Tatham, attending conferences in Belleville, had Mr. Glen Crapp as speaker at the main evening gathering. His subject, The Resurrection, stressed the fact that through love and loyalty the resurrection is not only for Christ but for all. Mr. Archie Neilson led in the anthem "He Arose", and Mrs. Neilson and Mrs. C. McFaul, of Toronto, sang a duet, "He Lives."

Morning Prayer and Holy Communion at the Anglican Easter gathering saw the Rev. S. A. R. Wood speak on the Fear and Joy of the Resurrection—the eternal hope that springs with each fading of winter and the coming of a brighter season. better things to come both earthly and Spiritually, concluding with the words "Fear not—Fear not" as a direct reminder for our daily lives.

The choir sang "Ye Choirs of New Jerusalem", with the solo part taken very beautifully by Mrs. Millage. Lenten boxes were returned by the children at 2 o'clock.

Garden of the Lord was the stirring evening song message, painting the planting of God's word in our lives as we plant the garden in the Spring.

BANCROFT

Eye Is Pierced By Steel Chip

BANCROFT, April 8.—(ENS).—Cecil Cullen, twenty-two year old son of Mr. J. Cullen, who lives on Highway 62 ten miles north of Bancroft, was seriously injured shortly after noon Monday when a piece of steel broke off a wedge and pierced his eye.

Cecil was using the wedge for splitting up sawn blocks from a tree when the piece broke off. He was immediately brought to Bancroft and received temporary medical attention by Dr. O. W. Anderson and later left for Kingston to consult a specialist.

MESSAGE FROM ASIA
CHAPTER XII

Kay walked to the edge of the dock. Allan sat down on a boulder and watched. He didn't use his glasses for fear Watanabe would hear about it and snatch them away again, but the light was clear, the distance to the large island a scant hundred yards, and Allan could see the figures on its shore quite plainly. There were two guards, he saw, and between them was the frail form of a bent, white-haired old man. It was obviously Kay's father, Dr. John Sargent.

The girl waved excitedly, then put both hands to her lips and threw kisses. Her father responded in kind. A minute passed, then the guards took him by the arms and half led, half assisted him from the spot. The trio did not go far. They took the prisoner to a door set apparently in the rocky side of a small cliff, ushered him through it, locked it carefully on the outside and marched away.

"That where they stick him every night?" he called.

"Yes," answered Kay chokily, and came to sit beside him. Tears threatened. "Oh, Mr.—oh, Allan, can you get us out of this?"

"I think so," he answered confidently. "May take a little time, of course. Shall I tell you my adventures to date?"

She assented eagerly, and Allan plunged into a narrative that seemed to satisfy her, though it covered no more than a tenth of the truth. There was much about himself which he could not in duty reveal to her or anybody else. But he told her about Sun Su, and that cheered her immensely. Sun Su, she felt would surely get word back to the States. He mentioned Asia casually—

"That woman!" said Miss Sargent, and sniffed.

"You don't like Asia?"

"I should say not! I'll admit she's a marvelous creature to look at, but Asia is—is—well, she's too Asiatic, if you know what I mean."

"I think I do, vaguely. Of course, I hardly spoke to her at all." He was still contemplating that lie and wondering just why he had told it when a movement on the water attracted his attention. "Hullo," he said, "Here comes a launch."

"Dinner," said Miss Sargent without enthusiasm. "They send over three baskets of food every day. Do you like fish and rice? If you don't, you can always have rice and fish!"

"That the best they do for us? I'll have to complain to the management! I'll bet they—"

* * *

Then he was silent in sheer amazement. Dinner was there in a big wicker basket, but beside it on the dock there landed two large suitcases and a couple of cameras. The contents of his room at the Inn of One Thousand Delights! He stared at the stuff speechless. One of the two Japanese who came with the launch stepped up and handed him a note; then the pair marched off to the bungalow with basket and baggage.

Allan tore open the billet doux and spread it. Miss Sargent quite shamelessly sidled up and read it over his shoulder, her nostrils twitching slightly at the odor of perfume. Written in a bold, dashing hand, the note, in English, was short enough to read at a glance.

"My dear Mr. Steele: I thought you might like your belongings, so here they are. I must go to Mexico tonight. Will be away several days, but am looking forward to seeing you on my return. Asia."

"I don't get it," muttered Allan, staring at the missive in stupefaction. "How did she wangle my stuff out of Sun Su?"

"I imagine she's quite a wangler. Nice of her, anyhow, to take so much trouble for—for a comparative stranger." Considering it was Lower California at the end of July, the touch of frost in the air was rather odd. "Shall we go in to dinner?"

They strolled to the house in silence. By the time he got there, Allan felt he had interpreted the incident accurately. Asia was getting into his good graces, hopeful of gleaning any military secrets which he might have picked up from his mythical brother in the War Department. That was easy, but it still didn't explain how she'd hooked the bags from Sun Su.

At least, Allan thanked his stars, he could change from a suit which had rolled down a hill with six Japanese*

* * *

"Name of a sacred pipe! Is it possible another fish has swum into the company's net? Welcome to our cozy island jail!"

Good Stiff Round Of P.T. Given Every Morning To All Ranks

Undoubtedly the morning setting-up exercises, better known as P.T. conducted by R.S.M. Andy Jackson, are going over big with the men. And when the class is called each morning, it isn't just the privates and N.C.O.'s who go through the antics of getting their muscles limbered up for the day's work ahead of them. Every member of the regiment from the commanding officer, down to the last private to join, are lined up on the drill floor in two rows. It might be pointed out that this row of two columns stretched from one end of the drill hall to the other yesterday, and the men packed tightly. That represents less than the number of men with the unit for many who have been medically boarded and found okay have not yet come into the unit until they wind up their affairs at home.

Each day, the R.S.M. injects his dry humor into the P.T. exercises and it would have to be a very serious-minded man who would not have his morning series of laughs. For instance, during the deep-breathing exercises yesterday morning, all was still save for the sound of a grinding noise which seemed to come from the nose of one of the men. The R.S.M. diagnosed it as hay fever to the amusement of the regiment. The snapping of suspender buttons, the creaks of bones, the groans of the men as they attempt a difficult exercise, all have a part in the half-hour P.T. routine each day. The men and the R.S.M. take it in fun and it's all a part of keeping fit.

More privates of the Prince of Wales Rangers were interviewed by members of the Rangers for two purposes—to let his friends know he is in the army and for the purpose of learning why he joined the Rangers' active force. It was found that in some cases, chums joined at the same time that they would be together in war as well as peace. Others had no motive other than the personal conviction that their country needed them and with that in mind they had not hesitated. Still more felt that the time to join the active army was opportune at the present time now that a regiment was being mobilized right in their midst and in which they could join with the assurance that officers of Peterborough would be over them and thus take more of an interest in each case than they would expect to receive in a unit in which they were total strangers to everyone.

PTE. JACK McKENZIE, 19, of 595 George Street, who was a sprayer at Sugden and Shadgett's before enlisting, has been with the Prince of Wales Rangers more than three weeks. "I joined because all my friends were going into the Rangers," he said. Jack is an only son. He lived in Western Canada, moved to Bancroft and came to this city about two years ag . Jack was not a member of the unit before. He likes softball and hockey.

PTE. ARNOLD ALLEN, 30, of 218 Westcott Street, is single, and the only boy in the family. He was in the Rangers' reserve unit before mobilization for two years. "I find the army is very healthful and I like the way officials take care of the health of each man in the regiment," he said. "I joined the Rangers because I want to do my bit for the country."

PTE. ARTHUR DUNCAN, 19, of 90 Auburn Street, was a machinist at the C.G.E. and was a member of the Prince of Wales Rangers reserve battalion, "in case of attempted invasion of Canada." He said he joined the Rangers because "I felt every able-bodied man should join now.

PTE. EARL ALLEN, 22, of 268 Hunter Street West, is an only son and "felt the urge to do my duty by joining the Rangers," said Earl. He was in poor health but has recently regained sufficient strength to take his place beside the men of the Rangers. Earl was a driver for T.P.T. and said that he felt he might be some use as a transport driver in the army.

PTE. WILBERT HAYES, 20, of Crofton Grove, is single, a trucker by trade and was a former member of the Prince of Wales Rangers. His father was in the last war. Pte. Hayes and his chum, Pte. Hughey, both decided to go active together along with some of their other friends and are now both together in the same platoon. Said Pte. Hayes: "I joined the first battalion at once because I believe the war is reaching a critical stage and, if I am to be of any use, I should enlist now before it is too late."

PTE. CLAYTON HUGHEY, 19, of 28 New Chamberlain Street, is the oldest of five children. His younger brother Fred is in the Second Battalion, and Pte. Clayton Hughey was a member of the Rangers reserve battalion before mobilization. When his chum, Pte. Hayes, enlisted, Hughey was in bed with the mumps, but as soon as he recovered he came up to the Armory and got into uniform because he wanted to be with his friend. He has two sisters that he wants to see grow up in a free Canada and "to keep Canada free means that men must join the army and fight for the things we want to enjoy," he said. Pte. Hughey was a fitter in the C.G.E. before he joined the Rangers.

PTE. SANFORD JOHNSTON, 19, of Belleville, hitch-hiked from Belleville, slept in a car overnight at Bewdley and reached Peterborough a day and a half after leaving home. Sanford did not know anyone in the Rangers but joined because he said he couldn't find anything that would suit him better. He was a carpenter for three years, has one brother in the army and the third brother is still going to school.

PTE. ALFRED BROOK, 25, of 15 Lisburn Street, was a clerk at the York trading Company for four years, is married, and has a son of eight months. Alf. served with the Rangers two years and said he figured it was his duty to enlist with the Rangers when it was ordered to mobilize. His father, Harry Brook, served with the Middlesex Regiment during the Great War and was in the Veterans' Guard for a time before being discharged in this war. He has a brother in the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders.

PTE. ROY MITCHELL, 19, of 678 Ross Street, was employed at the C.G.E. for a time and later drove a truck for several Peterborough firms. "I was going to join the navy when I heard the Rangers was going active service, so I joined the Rangers instead. My reason for joining was that I figured I should get into the active forces because my country needs me," he said.

PTE. BILL BROWN, 19, of 176 Adaline Street, worked as a sprayer at the C.G.E. for a year and is Peterborough born. His dad, Roy Brown, served in the last war and again in the R.C.E. this war, but was finally discharged. Bill has a brother Cliff, also in the Rangers, another brother was rejected for service. "I joined just because I know my country needs me," he said.

Nurse Escapes Japanese Barred At Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 8.—(CP)—Mrs. Ruth Peake, Canadian nurse who ran the gauntlet of Japanese machine-guns with her two small children to escape from Malacca to Singapore at the start of the Far-Eastern war, Monday was separated by passport regulations and a few miles from a reunion with her mother and sister here.

Mrs. Peake arrived Sunday at Niagara Falls, New York, with her children Christopher, 5, and Judith, 2 after her long journey home via Australia. Her sister Mrs. Harry Lyle said: "She drove her own car, accompanied by her two children all the way from Malacca to Singapore ... 85 or 90 miles. The car was machine-gunned from the air continuously and often it was necessary to stop the vehicle and crawl into the ditch along the side of the road. But she made the trip without injury."

Mrs. Peake decided not to cross into Canada until the validity of her passport is established for herself and the children who were born in the Orient. Her mother here, Mrs. VanAlstyne, lacks the necessary passport and visa to cross to the United States, delaying the reunion.

WORKED ONLY ONE WEEK IN TWO

Sciatica Kept Him at Home

It is the wife who sends us this information about her husband's troubles. She writes:—"For some time past, my husband has been able to work only one week in two, on account of sciatica. He suffered so much from it that he could scarcely move for the pain. We tried many things, but without result. Then we saw in the papers an account of the good results that had been obtained from Kruschen Salts, and we decided to give them a trial.

For twelve months past, my husband has been taking his 'little dose' of Kruschen every morning. Now, he has no more trouble with the sciatica, and is working regularly."—(Mrs.) M.

Doctors estimate that one-half of civilized humanity suffers from partial constipation. This condition results in an unsuspected residue of waste matter, which poisons the blood and produces sciatica, as well as many of the mystery aches and pains from which people suffer. Kruschen keeps the organs of elimination in perfect trim, so that every particle of poisonous waste material is expelled gently, regularly and completely.

TRUE CANADIANS WILL BUY ONLY
WHAT THEY NEED FOR IMMEDIATE USE!

The facts have been given to the people; summed up in a statement by Mr. Donald Gordon, Chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board:

"There is absolutely no reason for panic buying of the essentials of life."

Self-imposed restrictions in the buying of goods is a contribution which every Canadian can make to the National War Effort . . . a contribution which all True Canadians will make gladly.

• TRUE CANADIANS
Will buy only what they need for immediate use.

• TRUE CANADIANS
Know that buying more than they need may well result in impairment to the War Effort, by encouraging inflation.

• CANADIAN WOMEN
Who represent by far the greatest percentage of the Nation's Shoppers, will proudly do their part by purchasing only what they need; their guide.... the Spirit of Patriotism.

Births Marriages Deaths

In Memoriam
Card of Thanks

BORN

CLANCEY.—To Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Clancey (nee Kay Heffernan), at St. Joseph's Hospital, on Saturday, April 4, a daughter.

KENNEDY.—On April 7, 1942, at St. Joseph's Hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Kennedy (nee Mary O'Brien), a baby girl.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dunker, Kitchener, announced the engagement of their daughter, Lorna Audrey, to Flying Officer Barclay McKone, son of Mr. J. A. McKone and the late Mrs. McKone, of Peterborough. The marriage to take place quietly in Kitchener on April 25.

DIED

PENROSE, John.—At Nicholls Hospital, on Tuesday, April 7, 1942, John Penrose of the Anson Home, in his 86th year. Funeral service on Thursday, April 9, at 2 p.m. from the Nisbett Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street. Rev. G. Bousfield of St. Luke's Church officiating. Interment, Little Lake Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

WATKINS.—In loving memory of a dear father, Joe Watkins, who passed away, April 8, 1935.

We who loved you, sadly miss you
As it dawns another year;
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of you are ever near.

—Ever remembered by Bill and Family.

WATKINS.—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, who passed away April 8, 1935.

He suffered patiently and long,
His hope was bright, his faith was strong,
The peace of Jesus filled his breast
And in His arms he sank to rest.

—Ever remembered by his wife, Mrs. J. Watkins, and Family.

PANTER.—In loving memory of our little grandson, Gerald, who was drowned five years ago today.

We who loved him sadly miss him
As it dawns another year;
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are ever near.

—Sadly missed by Gramma and Grampa Panter.

BURGESS.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Anne MacFarlane Burgess, who passed away April 8, 1935.

Time changes many things,
But love and memory ever clings.

—Son Alex, and daughter-in-law Betty.

tion, so when Johnny comes marching home if Sally doesn't look good to him, Annabelle will; and if Jane has lost her fickle boy friend, she can be glad it wasn't a faithless husband.

All the casualties of war do not take place on the battlefield. The worst of them occur at the altar.

Advantage of Science.

Dear Miss Dix,—My wife is getting very deaf, but she refuses to use one of the modern electrical hearing aids although her doctor urges her to and every test has shown that with one of these devices she attains almost normal hearing. Her only excuse is that it is too ugly and too much trouble. Don't you think she is wrong in taking this attitude?

HER HUSBAND.

ANSWER: I certainly do. She should thank her lucky stars that the electrical device works with her as it does not in many cases. There is no more reason why a woman should be ashamed to use a hearing aid when her hearing fails when that she should be ashamed to use glasses when her eyes fail.

Two Slip Covers Transform a Room

Charming and Easy to Make

You can quickly and easily make a whole set, using a smart "mix-matched" color scheme as in our picture!

One chair is covered with striking blue-on-ivory print, with blue binding; the sofa has a print flounce to match, and an all-blue top; an odd chair may be covered in rose, bound in blue. Much more modish than all covers alike.

Here's the easy pin-on way to make slip covers. Remove the cushion. Pin the material to top-back of chair, and smooth and pin it down inside-back and seat, allowing a 4-inch tuck-in between. Now trim around pins, leaving 1½ inches for seams.

In the same way fit and pin material to arms, sides, front, back and cushion. Then pin and baste all the pieces together.

Our 32-page booklet shows with step-by-step diagrams how to make lovely slip covers the pin-on way—for chairs, sofas, also auto seats. Shows how to apply binding or welting, other trimmings; suggests color schemes.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps for your copy of "How To Make Slip Covers" to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

PLAY THEM MENTALLY

WHEN A situation is easy to read, you can mentally play the tricks according to some plan, and see what the result would be, just as clearly as if you played the cards themselves that way. If that process proves the plan hopeless, then try to figure out another method, and play it in your imagination, to see what will happen. Sometimes you can't arrive at the profitable procedure in any other way.

One West declarer at a No Trump game on this duplicate deal did some thinking when the spade 8 was led to the 10 and K. There went one stopper. If he worked on diamonds, after his first diamond lead they would kill his second spade stopper. After his second diamond lead, they would kill his third spade stopper. When he then lost his third diamond trick, South, if he won that one, could then cash enough spades to set him three tricks, counting the diamonds and the club A. So he abandoned that plan.

But if he worked on clubs, he probably could make it, by deep finessing against the J and 9 if they were held by North, South being surely marked with the A. So he decided on that. After discarding a diamond on the first trick, won by the spade A, he scored his own three hearts, not overtaking the J, and then led the club K. If South had won that, West would later have tried to finesse the 8, and after that the 10, which would have worked. South let the club K win, took the 8 with his A, then knocked out the second spade stopper.

The club 10 finesse won then, as also did the Q and the heart Q, making nine tricks in all for West, and he happily gave up the last three to diamonds.

Hit Isolationist Past Policies In Unique Case

PHILADELPHIA, April 8—(AP). —A stockholder of the Curtis Publishing Company asked the United States District Court yesterday to compel the Saturday Evening Post to abandon what he termed its "isolationist" policies and to cease publication of articles he said tended to stir up racial feeling.

In one of the most unusual suits ever filed in the Federal courts here George E. Wanderman of New York declared that such policies are injurious to the financial interests of the 26,500 Curtis stockholders and ultimately will resut in "complete dissipation" of the company's good will.

Wanderman, who owns 50 of the 3,393,821 shares of Curtis common stock, said that already the Post's "isolationist" policies had caused numerous subscription cancellations and that numerous advertisers had refused to renew their contracts.

An article entitled "The Case Against the Jews," written by Milton Mayer and published in the March 28 issue of the Post, especially antagonized both readers and advertisers the stockholder said.

Wanderman asked the court not only to compel the Post to change its policies, but also to direct the company to withhold the salaries of 10 officers and directors whom he also named defendants.

W.A. Redecorates Rooms In Rectory

BETHANY, April 8—The Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Anglican church met at the home of Mrs. Reg. Palmer on Thursday afternoon. There were 16 members present.

Business pertaining to redecorating of rooms in the rectory was discussed and thanks tendered to ladies who assisted with this work. It was also discussed at some length regarding sending a deligate to the annual W. A. Convention, to be held in Toronto early in May. It was decided to ask for speakers' addresses along with other interesting reports this year as no delegate was available to make the trip.

Very full reports were given of Dorcas work accomplished and brought in for the bale.

Mrs. H. Kennedy, Mrs. Calvin Reynolds and Mrs. C. Stevenson reported that four finished quilts was their winter's donation to this work for the missions. Mrs. Nesbitt brought in five lovely apron for the bazaar sale.

Mrs. Muckle invited the ladies to meet at her home for the May meeting. Rev. Mr. Mason closed the meeting with the benediction. Afterwards the hostess assisted by Mrs. Cairns, served refreshment and a social half hour was enjoyed.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Earl of Weston are holidaying at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. W. A. Thorndyke.

The W.A. of the United Church presented Rev. and Mrs. Harding with a miscellaneous shower of good things to eat on Friday evening as a tangible way of showing sympathy during their quarantine.

W. H. Crosbie Gets Promotion

TWEED, April 8—(ENS). — Announcement is made of the appointment of W. H. Crosbie as chief of the division of Lands and Recreational areas in the Department of Lands and Forests. Mr. Crosbie will make his headquarters at the Parliament buildings, Toronto. Coming to Tweed in 1924 as assistant forester of the Trent Forest district, he was placed in charge in 1926, succeeding G. M. Dallyn, and has continued at that post ever since. He has already assumed his new duties.

Mr. Crosbie came to Tweed from Sudbury in 1923, one year after his graduation from the Ontario College of Forestry. Since coming to Tweed he has been active in all matters of community interest. He has served as chairman of the High School Board, is the president of the Veterans' Association, was a member of the Library Board and also a member of the Board of Management of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

He will be succeeded in Tweed by Malcolm Ardenne as district forester, with Ross S. Hyslop coming from Timagimi as assistant.

Born at Chatham, New Brunswick, Mr. Crosbie went overseas with the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles at the age of 17 years. His eighteenth birthday was spent in France. In 1917 he was awarded the Lord Kitchener Memorial Scholarship for disabled colonial soldiers whose studies had been interrupted by the war and went to Edinburgh University, where he enrolled in the Faculty of Forestry. Following his return from overseas, he completed his foresty course at the University of Toronto and after his graduation acted as instructor for a short time prior to his appointment to the Department of Lands and Forests.

25-30 Lakefield Pupils Likely To Aid On Farms

LAKEFIELD, Ajril 8—(ENS). — High School trustees Monday night estimated that a possible 25 to 30 pupils or better than twenty-five per cent, were eligible, and likely to be available for assistance with surrounding farm work this summer. Principal J. F. Harvey was asked to make a survey immediately after the Easter holidays are over and report. Many of the boys will likely be granted the term on their year's work and leave considerably before the school period is out.

The Board saw difficulties looming in the illness of the mathematics teacher J. W. Aymer with relief teachers practically impossible to obtain. Some members however saw an easing of the situation if twenty or more boys left before the year was up to aid on the farm.

General work of the staff was reported satisfactory with equipment in excellent shape. Two bills were passed—E. H. Northey, stationery $9.25, and S. J. Charlton, public liability insurance on the children $31.65. All members were present, B. Q. Dench, B. F. Blake, F. L. Erskine and J W. Ridpath, chairman.

Little to Whittle

Small hope of a lighter appropriation this term was visioned as the Public School Board members touched lightly on the subject. The trustees seemed agreed that there were few loopholes that could be closed—an expenditure last year for decorating will be balanced this year by a slight increase in teachers' salaries.

Trustee Northey claimed the school was operated as economically as in 1904. The increase in salaries was explained due to the fact they had never obtained all the cut imposed in depression years, and to help cover higher living costs.

Mr. Northey dropped a bit of sunshine on the meeting however by revealing that the outlay for storm sash last year and the insulation installed in all the ceilings was producing results—and much better than expected at that—of the usual 15 cords of hardwood needed to run the winter months only eight have been burned.

Chairman Erskine added a bit more cheer with the statement that the coal bill was likely to be down by at least ten tons, due to the same reason.

Something a great many parents will welcome was a discussion on the matter of laying an eight or ten foot walk at an angle across 100 yards of the yard as a relief from Spring and rainy day mud. This improvement would be of crushed rock rolled hard with a light filler top to be macadamized later when well settled. It would start from the southwest corner and angle to the school door.

The property committee of Ed Millage and Gordon Scriver, under Mel Kingdon, was asked to report at the next meeting on costs. Mr. Kingdon proposed some hardy grass be planted in the yard in small sections at a time in an effort to improve playing conditions, but other members were dubious any seed developed to date would stand the gaff of hundreds of young feet. Something may be done in the matter of an experiment nowever on the Kingdon idea.

Attendance was 90 per cent for March, up one per cent over February. The average for the school is 91-92. There have been no epidemics this year and considerable credit is given to the M.O.H. Dr. H. E. Moore and the regular monthly check of the pupils. Better sanitary conditions, running water, basins in the rooms and special fountains are all proving great aids and excellent value for their outlay.

Accounts were passed as follows: Bell Telephone, $3; Lakefield Hydro Electric Commission, $21.01; E. H. Northey, supplies, $4.75; T. C. Yonge, cleanser, 75 cents; D. H. Webster, window shades, $3.75; S. J. Charlton, balance public liability on pupils $31.65.

Huns Now Agitating To Occupy All Of France

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, April 8 — (AP). — Apprehension over the part the Vichy Government will play in the momentous events of this year is growing here in view of the emergence of Pierre Laval from the shadows, the transfer of the French battleship Dunkerque from Algiers to Toulon and the outstanding strategical importance of Madagascar to the struggle for control of the Indian Ocean.

The reappearance of Laval, former Vice-Premier in the Petain Government at Vichy, is called "ominous" by qualified sources. It is asserted the Germans chose him to press Vichy for the surrender of all or part of the French Fleet to German control.

Laval's hand is said to be strengthened in this aim by a new factor —a growing agitation in the German Army for direct control of all France by the Germans. This agitation is especially marked in that part of the army concentrated in occupied France and commanded by Gen. Otto von Stuelpnagel, it is asserted.

Marshal Peatin and Laval conferred recently in and near Vichy and an official announcement indicated they had reviewed the question of collaboration with Germany. However, advices reaching foreign diplomatic quarters in Berne, Switzerland, last Friday said Petain had declined to take Laval back into his Cabinet, from which Laval was ousted in December, 1940.

May Lost Fleet

Vichy was said to be fully conscious of the feeling of the German army and this, plus the old instrument of blackmail through the control of the lives of thousands of French prisoners in Germany, makes Laval's position stronger than heretofore, London sources said.

At the worst Germany will assume control of the French fleet through pressure on Vichy, they said.

As the Japanese drive westward across the Indian Ocean, the importance of Madagascar grows.

Britons said Vichy's assurances that the neutrality of the island would be upheld do not arouse confidence here. The Government remembers similar statements concerning French Indo-China, which proved to be a stepping stone for the Japanese conquest of Malaya, they explained.

One bright spot in the situation is the United States influence with Vichy, informed sources said. One source said Vichy is "most eager" to maintain relations with the United States.

Plain Sabotage

Montreal, Apri 1 8 (CP)

AN epidemic of false alarms which sent apparatus from 22 fire stations on 11 calls in 38 minutes was "an act of sabotage" Director Raymond Pare of the Montreal fire department said today.

The persons responsible for the calls are believed to have travelled in an automobile turning in alarms from boxes along a five-mile route.

"It is pure sabotage," Director Pare said. "It causes the wastage of gasoline and the wearing out of vital rubber."

"If we had caught the culprit, we would have dealt with him on the street. When he is caught, the fire department will demand the severest penalty."

Box Shortage Irks Cheesemen

CAMPBELLFORD, April 8. — (ENS).—Boxes are still the chief worry of cheesemakers in Northumberland county who are continuing to hope that the situation will clear up before the heavy production season begins in another month. Proof of this shortage and of the heavy demand for cheese for the domestic market, was seen at a local factory (Trent Valley Cheese and Butter Co.) last week when a buyer was so anxious to get delivery of 60 (approximately 5,700 pounds) that he was willing to accept the shipment delivered in Peterborough unboxed. Some light on this unparalleled situation was shed by box and cheesemaker Grant Anderson who explained he had been able to turn out enough boxes so far this year to take care of the 1,235 cheese made at the factory since January 1st (no cheese was made here in the same period in '41) but they had been getting their boxes made on a week to week basis so that when the shipment for Peterborough was wanted it was not ready for grading nor were there any boxes on hand to put them in.

Declaring the box situation was no better now than it was in the fall it was pointed out at the factory that they had no material on hand at present to make them nor had they been promised any delivery of veneer until May 1st. "We'll have plenty of material in May and then the only problem will be to get a box maker at wages that will permit us to keep under the price ceiling."

Millbrook News

Among visitors in the village over the Easter week-end were: At Mr. and Mrs. M. McDowell's home, Mr. and Mrs. Eric McKinstrey, Miss Madeline McDowell of Peterborough and Miss Marjorie McDowell of Orono, home for the week's vacation; Miss Bernice Smith of Newcastle, with her parents Mr. and Mrs. F. Thornton; Miss Bryar Edmunds, and George Sedgewick of Peterborough, with her mother and grandfather, Mrs. H. R. and Robert Edmunds.

Ex-Warden Percy and Mrs. Stinson have received a cable telling of the safe arrival in England of their son, LAC Jack Stinson who was at the Brantford Air Training School previous to leaving for overseas.

Before school closed for the Easter vacation, Mrs. O. Mellon, who has been on the Continuation staff since last September, and who has resigned, was presented with a handsome lace dinner cloth by the pupils of Grade 10, of which she has been the teacher. Mr. Wilson of Tweed is taking Mrs. Mellon's place on the Continuation School staff.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Russell and family of Toronto were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Russell, for Easter Sunday. Reeve W. E. and Mrs. Ball were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Armstrong, Baillieboro.

WAR CALLS halt! TO TELEPHONE EXPANSION...

TELEPHONES are in greater demand than ever before—even greater than in 1941, an all-time record year. By far the greater part of this demand is for residence telephones.

Only a part of this unprecedented volume of orders can be filled if we are to have anything left for the camps and depots and air schools of our armed forces—for the plants and offices of our war industries. Already telephone materials are difficult to obtain. Reserves are steadily diminishing, even though we are re-conditioning and re-using every last piece of equipment that can be salvaged.

There can be only one answer: war needs must get first call on available supplies. Even when necessity demands new installations, not all types of instruments and services will be available. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board established by the Governor-in-Council under the War Measures Act, has directed us "to do all such things as may be requisite to conserve any and all telephone plant and facilities."

We realize that this will cause inconvenience—perhaps even hardship. We shall need your help in working out wise and just solutions to the telephone problems of your community. And we know that you will give it cheerfully, as still another necessary contribution to victory.

BATAAN LINES COLLAPSE 36,000 DEAD OR CAPTURED

WASHINGTON, April 9 — (AP) — War Secretary Henry Stimson indicated today that 36,853 American and Filipino soldiers faced death or capture as the result of the apparent collapse of the stubborn defence of Bataan Peninsula in the Philippines.

Stimson said that Lt.-Gen. Jonathan Wainwright yesterday had 36,853 effectives on Bataan when the Japanese succeeded in enveloping the east flank of the defence lines despite a heroic counter-attack attempt by physically exhausted troops.

A War Department communique earlier had announced that Japanese successes indicated "the probability that the defence of Bataan had been overcome" and Stimson discussed the situation at his press conference.

President Roosevelt had authorized the Philippine commander to make any decision he deemed necessary in the light of events, Stimson said.

Stimson told reporters that latest reports from the Philippines indicated that Corregidor and the other fortifications guarding the entrance to Manila Bay still stood, but declined to make predictions as to how long they could hold out.

"This is only a temporary loss," Stimson said. "We shall not stop until we drive out the invaders from the islands."

Stimson said the figure of 36,853 effectives was in the report received yesterday from Gen. Wainwright. He stressed that this figure included only men fighting on Bataan at that time.

Excluded were American and Filipino troops guarding the defences of Corregidor and the other islands, the wounded, nearly 20,000 civilian refugees, and some 6,000 Filipino laborers who were non-combatant.

Stimson disclosed that under the direction of Brig.-Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, former Secretary of War who is now minister to New Zealand, urgent efforts were made beginning last Jan. 11 to reinforce the besiged Philippine forces.

Some Supplies Got Through

From a base in Australia several ship loads of supplies were sent to the Philippines, and part of these supplies reached Corregidor and Bataan.

"But for every ship that arrived, we lost nearly two ships," Stimson said.

Because of these supplies, the defenders were never short of ammu-

2 Cruisers Victims In Indian Ocean

LONDON, April 9 — (CP).—Two British 8-inch gun cruisers, the 10,000-ton Cornwall and the 9,975-ton Dorsetshire whose torpodoes finished off the German battleship Bismarck little less than a year ago, have been sunk by Japanese bombers ranging the Bay of Bengal and battering at thin-stretched British naval communications to India, the Admiralty announced today.

The shock of the loss of the two powerful ships rubbed the gilt off the Admiralty's announcement two hours earlier that a British submarine had sent a 10,000-ton Italian cruiser to the bottom of the central Mediterranean.

The sinking of the Cornwall and Dorsetshire was a blow to the British naval strength immediately available to cope with Japanese aircraft carriers and warships reported increasing their activities astride the sea lanes to Calcutta in the bay between the bombed coast of Indian and invaded Buma.

Japanese broadcasts quoted imperial headquarters claims that in addition to the cruisers Japanese forces sank 21 allied merchantmen in the Bay of Bengal up to last Tuesday, and badly damaged 23 other ships.

30 Miles From Indian Border.

Heard, too, but without any other confirmation, was a Berlin broadcast quoting dispatches purportedly from Tokyo that Japanese expeditionary forces supported by cruisers and destroyers landed last Sunday on the Burma west coast and were within 30 miles of the Benbal border of India.

That would place them between the border and the big Burma port of Akyab.

Earlier roundabout reports that the Japanese had forced their way ashore at Akyab have been denied by British headquarters at New Delhi.

The Admiralty's announcement did not say when the Dorsetshire and Cornwall were sunk.

There was no other intimation what other warships were operating with the cruisers. The fact that more than 1,100 crew members of 1,330 were saved indicated that other ships were on hand.

The Rome radio reported that the remaining units of the British squadron were engaged in a running sea fight with strong Japanese naval forces.

Observers here said survivors of the cruiser sinkings might have been taken to the naval station at Trincomalee, target of a renewed Japanese air attack on Ceylon today.

The commanders were Capt. Augustus Agar, V.C., of the Dorsetshire, and Capt. P. C. W. Mainwaring of the Cornwall.

Congress Party, Hindus Agree On National Govt. Till After War

By H. R. STIMSON
Associated Press Staff Writer.

NEW DELHI, India, April 9 — (AP). — A general understanding on the main points at issue between Britain and politically articulate Hindus appeared to be at hand today, with reported assent by leaders of the All-India Congress Party and the Hindu Mahasbha to establishment of a National Government for India.

Such a Government would serve India pending the post-war Dominion status offered by Britain.

Britain's chief negotiator, Sir Stafford Cripps, was understood to have telegraphed Vinayak Damodar Savarkar, President of the Hindu Mahasabha, asking if that organization of political moderates had any objections to joining a National Government.

Savarkar was understood to have replied through the Governor of Bombay, Sir Roger Lumley, that his organization had no objections, even though it still opposed a clause in the British plan allowing provinces to remain outside the proposed Indian Union.

It was reported that the Mahasabha would get two seats in the National Government.

Reports on the status of the negotiations with the Congress party, the dominant political group, varied between statements that "a general understanding is nearly

3-Way Red Push Breaks Nazi Line At Orel Berlin Admits—But Says Its All Restored Now

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), April 9—(AP). — A breakthrough by massed Russian infantry and tanks in German lines northeast of Orel was reported today by the Berlin radio but it said that several days of hard fighting had restored the German line.

The daily high command communique said only that "in the central and northern sectors of the eastern front various powerful attacks by the enemy were repulsed."

The radio account said that the Russians managed to push back the Germans' advanced lines by pressure on three sides.

The radio, quoting the high command on still other action not included in today's communique, said that isolated attacks by reinforced German infantry units had succeeded against Russian fortified positions, including one which lasted four days in which 100 fortified points were taken and a wooded area cleared of the Red Army.

Master Race Cargo Comes Smaller

OTTAWA, April 9—(CP).—Several hundred German prisoners of war, including airmen, sailors and soldiers, have arrived in Canada to spend the rest of the war behind barbed-wire entanglements in strongly-guarded prison camps:

After they were landed, the prisoners were whisked aboard trains and taken to their destination in various parts of Canada under strong escort.

Brought across the Atlantic under heavy guard, the prison ship had an uneventful voyage, although the ever-present threat of lurking U-boats forced it to zigzag continually to save the Germans from immersion in the icy Atlantic waters at the hands of their fellow-countrymen in marauding submarines.

Included in the large group of prisoners were a large number of naval officers and men, some survivors of the ill-fated Bismarck, and large numbers of submarine crew members, whose "tin fish" had been blasted from around them or captured by British warships.

Most noticeable thing about the sailors was their extreme youth and smallness of stature. They averaged nearly six inches shorter than the husky Canadian soldiers through whose ranks they were marched on their way to the trains, and looked little like a "master race."

Making a better showing were the airmen, once proud members of the haughty luftwaffe, smashed out of the skies over Britain by the R.A.F. and anti-aircraft ground defences.

Although some of the prisoners were sullen, most seemed to be rather cheerful about the prospect of spending the rest of the war far away from the roar of shellfire and from their short rations and hardships.

KING TO WASHINGTON

OTTAWA.—(CP)— Prime Minister Mackenzie King will next week go to Washington to attend a meeting of the newly-formed Pacific Council.

Favor Proxy Vote For All Forces

TORONTO, April 9 — (CP). — A special sub-committee of the Ontario Legislature decided today that the right to vote by proxy should be extended to all members of the armed forces outside of the province, even though stationed in Canada.

Leslie M. Frost, (Con. Victoria), admitting the necessity of proxy voting for soldiers, sailors and airmen on duty overseas, queried as to whether a ballot vote could not be taken of those in Canada.

"It would cost an extra $250,000 to take a ballot vote of the soldiers stationed in the other provinces," declared Major Alex Lewis, clerk of the assembly.

"The ordinary cost of each vote in a provincial election is 50 cents. In a British Columbia election the soldiers vote cost $2.70 each. It was this experience of British Columbia's that prompted us to decide to avoid the huge extra expense."

The proxy vote will be cast in the electoral district where the active service voter was ordinarily resident for 30 days prior to his or her enlistment.

Attorney-General Gordon Conant said that as soon as the bill became law proxy forms with the necessary explanations will be despatched to those points outside the province where eligible active service voters are stationed.

Polling stations will be set up in military camps within the province to take the vote of the soldiers.

The Attorney-General told the committee only British subjects serving in the armed forces, domiciled in Canada for at least three months or in Ontario for 30 days will be entitled to vote in the provincial election.

High School Pilots

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)— High schools of the United States soon will be geared to the elementary training of pilots, J. W. Studebaker, U.S. Commissioner of Education, announced today.

Appeal Ordered In $5 Fine Cases

TORONTO, April 9 — (CP). — Attorney-General Conant said today he had directed an appeal be launched against sentences of Magistrate Butler at Trenton, imposing $5 fines on J. V. Haughey, J. E. Speck and E. L. Brown, aircraftsmen attached to the Trenton Air Station, for robbing H. G. Budden of $9 on March 30 in Trenton.

"In view of the inadequacy of the penalties, it is recommended an appeal be entered and that the Crown should ask for imposition of jail terms," C. L. Snyder, K.C., Deputy Attorney-General, recommended following a report on the cases from G. R. Robertson, Assistant Crown Attorney at Belleville.

The trio, the report stated, had been drinking in a hotel with Budden and the alleged robbery and assault occurred outside the building. Haughey was charged with theft and assault occasioning bodily harm, Speck and Brown with theft.

R.A.F. Defies Storms To Rake Hun

Pound At Hamburg Other Cities, Six Fail To Return

LONDON, April 9.— (CP).— A strong force of R.A.F. bombers, daring bad weather to continue their nightly assaults on Germany, attacked the key port of Hamburg and other objectives in Northwest Germany last night, the Air Ministry said.

Docks at the German-occupied French port of Le Havre also were bombed, the communique reported.

Reports indicated some attackers were forced to turn back or bomb alternative targets because of the weather. The weather conditions had stopped the bombing Tuesday night.

Six bombers were lost in the forays, it was said.

Torpedo bombers of the coastal command yesterday afternoon attacked a convoy of enemy ships off the coast of Jutland but the Air Ministry said results of the attack could not be observed. Two coastal command planes were lost.

One Lone Raider.

A SOUTH COAST TOWN, England, April 9.—(CP).— A German bomber swooped in from the sea early to-day, dropped a stick of bombs which damaged a hospital and a park pavilion and then machine-gunned the streets before heading back across the coast.

One person was killed and several injured, but damage was reported slight.

Billion A Month In Arms Soon

DETROIT, April 9 (AP)—Armament production at the rate of better than $1,000,000,000 a month will be the achievement of the United States' former automobile industry well before the year-end.

This became evident to a group of more than a score of newspaper and trade publication writers today as they began a two-day tour of the erstwhile automobile industry plants.

The correspondents included representatives of Reuters News Agency of London and of the London Times.

British Sub Picks Off Big Cruiser

5th Of Duce's Seven 10,000-Ton Jobs; Libya Action Easier

LONDON, April 9 — (CP). — The Admiralty announced to-day that a 10,000 Italian cruiser has been torpedoed and sunk by a British submarine in the Central Mediterranean.

The Admiralty communique said that the cruiser was escorted by destroyers and aircraft.

"Eight minutes after being hit by torpedoes the Italian cruiser was heard to break up and sink," the communique said. A destroyer was later seen picking up the survivors."

Three of them, the Fiume, Pola, and Zara, were sunk in the Battle of Matapan a year ago. A fourth was reported on July 6, 1941, to have been torpedoed and sunk. The British sub was skippered by Lt.-Commander E. P. Tompkinson who, six foot five, is Britain's tallest submarine commander. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Order and Bar last December for "outstanding bravery, skill and resolution in successful submarine patrols" when in command of H.M.S. Urge, one of the Royal Navy's smallest undersea boats.

Informed persons said Italy now has only two of the seven 10,000-ton cruisers with which she entered the war 22 months ago.

In Cairo, British headquarters announced today that a number of Axis soldiers had been captured from a detachment "which was trying to establish a strong point between Tmimi and Ain el Gazala."

"One of our columns is engaging the enemy at Sidi Bregisch," the communique said, indicating swift counteraction to meet the threat of a new drive by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's German and Italian army. Sidi Bregisch is 26 miles south of Tmimi.

Malta Raids at Peak.

LONDON, April 9 — (CP).—Axis efforts to knock out the British island of Malta with mass raids appeared to-day to have reached their peak coincident with the resumption of activity in Libya by the Axis forces.

Well-posted observers, scanning Malta communiques, said the Axis raiders apparently are concentrating on the island's airports and noted with some concern official re-

Aerial Fireworks

LONDON, April 9—(CP).—More than half of Germany's strength in bombers and fighting planes is being used in the western European and Mediterranean areas, informed sources said today. In addition, it was said, the Royal Air Force is engaging the whole Italian Air Force and a large portion of the Japanese.

Malta is under frequent attack by a fleet of 500 Axis planes of which half probably are bombers. The Nazi effort reached its peak on Tuesday when more than 300 individual bomber sorties were made against the island fortress in addition to 50 or more individual actions by fighters.

Two Railroad Men Badly Burned

COBOURG, April 9.—(ENS)—An engineer and a fireman of a C.N.R. troop train were seriously burned in a freak accident about five miles east of Cobourg between ten and eleven o'clock this morning.

The train hauling 12 coaches loaded with soldiers was proceeding to Toronto when the driving rod broke off at the cylinder head, tore off the exterior engine mountings, dug a deep hole in the ground, and then smashed into the boiler allowing the steam to escape into the engine cab. The engineer, Wilfred Hallahan, 295 Albert street, Belleville, applied the brakes and then jumped from the cab to the ground. The fireman, R. C. Patterson, 55 Highland avenue, stayed with the engine but is not as seriously burned as the engineer.

Both men were carried on stretchers for a considerable distance then taken by ambulance to the Cobourg General Hospital where they are said to be in a serious condition.

After 60 Minks

SEATTLE, April 9—(AP)—In assigning deputies to the search for 60 missing mink skins valued at $3,000, the sheriff cautioned: "Careful boys. They'll scrap when cornered." The skins are still on the minks.

Death Wins Race 7 Miles Over Ice

Sturgeon Falls, Ont., April 9 — (CP).—The story of a futile race against death across the broken, slush-covered surface of Tomiko Lake was revealed today when funeral services were held here for Mona Lavalee, nine-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lavalee of Crystal Falls.

Suffering from bronchial pneumonia, the infant died on the ice of Lake Tomiko while being carried by her parents across the seven-mile strip of honeycombed ice separating their cabin from Crystal Falls.

Weakened by weeks of mild weather, and then covered the day before by a heavy coat of snow, the ice was in treacherous condition when Mr. and Mrs. Lavalee started out with the sick child. Four or five times the ice broke away beneath them and the mother and father fell into the icy water.

The broken stretches in the ice were almost impossible to see and Lavalee was forced to feel ahead with a stick to find the soundest footing. They arrived at Crystal Falls near nightfall only to find the child dead. They had taken a full day to make the trip that usually took only a few hours.

Lack of Planes Old Story Again in Burma

Loss Of Oil Fields To Be Disaster For China's Army—Mass Murder Or Mandalay

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ALLIED ARMIES IN BURMA, April 3—(Delayed)—(AP).—The strangulation of Allied communications in Burma and India is being continued by the Japanese who, winning Prome, now have advanced nearly 200 miles north from captured Rangoon in less than a month.

Complete absence of Allied air support for the ground troops cost a British armored column the opportunity to exploit a stunning, 25-mile charge through the Japanese lines in the Irrawaddy valley early this week.

Had it been successful, it might have saved Prome indefinitely. As it was, the failure contributed to the Chinese decision to relinquish Toungoo after an heroic one-week stand.

The grave effect of the Japanese two-day assault on the Royal Air Force and American volunteer group base in central Burma last March 21 and 22 is no longer minimized.

The Allied soldiers in the front lines of Burma for the last two weeks have seen as few of their own planes as the British expeditionary force in Crete saw in 1941.

By pushing back what was a fresh Chinese army from Toungoo and outflanking the British forces along the Irrawaddy opposite Prome with the help of thousands of recruited rebel Burmese, the Japanese kept the initiative for a new application of their favorite infiltration and encirclement tactics.

Controlling Burma's Bay of Bengal coast, the enemy is at liberty to send new forces cross-country, striking far in the British rear.

Sea-borne troops, if they were set ashore, actually would be closer to the Yenangyaung oil fields in the Irrawaddy valley than the British army north of Prome.

One unofficial estimate of transport potentialities on the road being built into Burma from Assam differs with the publicized view that these soon will be adequate for the traffic required by the British and Chinese armies.

If the oilfields a little more than 100 miles from the Japanese—(reduced to about 75 miles now)—were destroyed or lost, gasoline would become more precious in Burma than water on the western desert and 1,000 trucks would be immobilized.

The Japs have undertaken to wreck the landing fields, but it has been shown that only uneconomical, widespread air assaults could break aerial communications between India and Burma—and then only temporarily as long as any part of Burma remains in Allied hands. Until the rains come in mid-May, new runways can be created overnight simply by steam-rolling the ridges of vast rice fields.

High officers describe the problem of supply as the greatest of the Burma campaign. They express belief the enemy is relying on the strangulation of the supply routes by land and sea as the surest weapon for eliminating Allied resistance in this theatre of war.

No Warning for Mandalay.

(The first part of the following dispatch from De Luce, on Mandalay, has not been received. The story presumably refers to an attack on April 3.)

The drone of enemy planes almost overhead was the only warning that Mandalay's 250,000 inhabi-

Norse Are Still Fighting

99 P.C. Against Hun Despite Gestapo Everywhere

MONTREAL, April 9 (CP)—Two years ago today Hitler launched what had been planned as an "overnight" conquest of Norway.

The actual occupation of the country took 62 days—the conquest of its people has not yet been completed and Norwegians say it never will be.

The Norwegian information office here says inside Norway 99 per cent of the 3,000,000 people are still militantly opposed to German rule, despite German soldiers everywere "watching, stealing, threatening," despite Gestapo agents, "quick to arrest and reluctant to set free," German brutality, beatenings, torture, reprisals "and the all-too-frequent announcements of executions."

Lined up solidly "in their contempt for the German overlords" are the country's churches, labor unions, employers' associations, farmers and fisherfolk, professional and scientific groups, sports organizations, youth associations "and even school children."

The merchant marine forms the largest single group of Norwegians aboard. More than 80 per cent of the Norwegian merchant fleet joined the Allies when war came to Norway. To date, about 1,300 of the 30,000 Norwegian seamen have died in action, and about 200 Norwegian ships have been sunk, but more than 800 are still serving.

Some Cheer For The Danes

Churchill Accepts Cheque, Sees Freedom Coming

LONDON, April 9.—(CP).— Prime Minister Churchill, accepting a cheque from Free Danes at 10 Downing street to-day, said "We shall never pause in our struggle, nor will our great American and Russian Allies.'

"I have very little doubt that the day will come, perhaps sooner than it would be prudent or sensible to hope, when Denmark will be free from the grip in which she has been held, and when she will resume her independent, honored and ancient place among the free peoples and states of Europe," Mr. Churchill declared.

"Good weather is needed to turn this splendid cheque into the first heavy thunder drop of the storm which is to beat on this odious tyranny."

The cheque, for £38,300 ($170,000), will be used to purchase Spitfiers will be used to purchase Spitfires R.A.F.

545 GERMAN AIRCRAFT LOST IN RUSSIA IN THE PAST TEN DAYS

Reds Clip 139 Transport Craft, 2 Days

All Trying To Relieve Trapped Army; Planes Just Off Line

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 9 (AP) Soviet fliers and ground gunners have destroyed 139 Nazi transport planes assigned to supply isolated northwestern front units in three days of a 10-day period which cost the Germans a total of 545 aircraft.

Evidence that Germany is rushing new aircraft into war service was announced in a communique.

"Anti-aircraft men of one unit shot down a Junkers 88 (dive-bomber) which was released from the factory Feb. 22, 1942, No. 6,719." it said. "Men of this group a few days later shot down three more planes released by the factory in March, 1942. One airman who bailed out was captured."

Infantrymen on a Kalinin front sector, attacked by numerically—superior forces, crippled several Nazi tanks by well-organized fire and then routed the Germans with a bayonet attack.

"Our orderlies counted on the battlefield 450 dead German officers and soldiers," the communique said.

It said German troops were driven from a central front village after fighting which left the approaches littered with their dead. At least 300 Germans were killed, three tanks were destroyed and four were captured in running condition, it reported, in the repulse of an armored counter attack on another sector.

2 Sea Transports Lost

The Soviet information bureau said Axis efforts to get fresh troops and munitions into the Arctic Murmansk sector suffered another setback with sinking of two transports, rated at 5,500 and 10,500 tons, by Red Navy units in the Barents Sea.

On the southwestern front the Germans were said to be throwing tanks into battle in groups of from five to 10 — many of them of 1942 make and all bearing war paint designed to blend with a greening countryside in the spring campaign.

The newspaper Red Star said 16 invasion transport planes were shot down and 123 demolished on the ground from last Friday through Sunday in the Soviet effort to win full control of the Lake Ilmen area, where the German 16th Army is declared encircled.

Better To Pay The Price

President Roosevelt's personal Minister to India, Louis Johnson, who arrived late last week, has taken an increasingly prominent part in the negotiations and this evening's issue of the Nationalist newspaper, The Bombay Sentinel, described him as a "Super Cripps."

Throughout his talks with Sir Stafford and Nationalist leaders, Mr. Johnson's attitude was reported to have been to this effect: "Better to pay the price for Congress' co-operation than to risk the future."

The formula on the defence issue reportedly reached by Sir Stafford, Mr. Johnson and Congress leaders was said to provide for a clear division of functions, with Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, now Commander in Chief, to be supreme commander for conduct of the war under a war cabinet, while an Indian defence minister acting under the authority of the projected Indian National Goverment would be war minister.

Both Sir Stafford and Mr. Johnson were believed to be eager that Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru of the Congress party agree to be defence minister.

Japs Outflank Bataan Lines; Forts Hold Out

WASHINGTON, April 9 — (AP). — The United States War Department today announced Japanese successes in the Philippines which, it said, indicated "the probability that the defences on Bataan have been overcome."

A communique early today said that Lt.-Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright had messaged from Fort Mills that the Japanese had enveloped the east flank of his American-Filipino defenders, and that an attempt to relieve the situation, through an attack by his first corps, had "failed due to complete physical exhaustion of the troops."

"Full detail. are not available," the communique stated, "but this situation indicates the probability that the defences on Bataan have been overcome."

The number of Americans and Filipinos in the foxholes of the little peninsula has never been made known, but it was certain the invaders outnumbered them by several times.

Even the most optimistic observers had conceded that the Japanese, by sheer weight of numbers and force of fire power, eventually could drive the defenders back to the harbor fortifications of Manila Bay.

How many of the defending forces had reached Fort Mills with Gen. Wainwright was not immediately known.

An indication of the turn in the long, bitter battle for Bataan came yesterday with an announcement that the Japanese were continuing their drive "with great vigor." Japanese commanders for the most part advocate sharp follow-through attacks to prevent thei. opponents from reorganizing and reinforcing vital positions.

Heroic 3-Month Struggle.

Since early January, American and Filipino troops have been fighting valiantly on the jungle-clad hills of the peninsula lying west of las MacArthur, then, following his last MacArthur, then, following his transfer to Australia, under Gen. Wainwright.

There was strong evidence the Japanese felt they had lost face by their inability to break the stubborn defences. Gen. MacArthur informed the war department March 8 of reports that Lt.-Gen. Nasaharu Homma, commander in chief of the Japanese forces in the Philippines, had committed suicide in a Manila hotel suite formerly occupied by Gen. McArthur.

Homma was succeeded in command by Gen. Tomoyuki Yamachita, whose troops captured Singapore.

Lack Of Planes

tants received of impending danger. Sticks of bombs exploded with ear-splitting thunder before more than a few persons could dive into narrow slit trenches which provide inadequate shelter from air attack.

Bomb fragments rained down on the squalid, teeming Indian and coolie refugee camps on the north side of the railway yards. Two corners of a big brick civil hospital and buildings near the station were blasted into dusty rubble.

A line of bungalows behind the hospital was smashed to bits, The tiled roof of the Princess of Wales Hospital in the same street was blown in.

One wave of bombers finished their work and as fires mushroomed in scores of wrecked buildings a second wave came over. There was no opposition.

Breeze Spreads The Holocaust

The hot breeze that usually fans dusty, sprawling Mandalay at midday spread the flames swiftly through block after block of the dense wooden tenements of Chinatown and into palm-fringed Buddhist monasteries where blazing timbered shrines crashed down on recumbent statues of Buddha.

Blazes sprang up around the Methodist and Baptist churches and the Catholic cathedral. They all were soon smothered in leaping flames which left only the walls standing.

Inside the Mandalay fortress, the hospital and barracks in the south-east corner caught fire. Sweating Indian riflemen bore the wounded to safety on their backs.

Under a rain of embers, screaming, burning men, women and children flung themselves through the purple water hyacinths into the fortress' shallow moat.

Engineers, in fierce heat, planted dynamite charges and blew up buildings in an attempt to limit the holocaust before all Mandalay was destroyed.

British Army engineers and British and Indian crews saved hundreds of freight cars. Wounded men helped carry out the salvage job.

Wounded But Carrying On

A British captain with a bomb splinter in his right arm filled my field car with gasoline opposite a burning two-storey Indian foodstore and told me of a detour which would let me deeper into the fire area.

"You can sling a stretcher across the car," he said. "There are people lying around in the streets in the middle of that bloody thing."

I drove through an alley near the fire-cloaked civil telegraph headquarters and raced along the east side of the native bazaar which had not yet burned, although shops across the way were crackling and the car had to dodge hot sheets of tin roofing falling on the sticky asphalt road.

The bodies of dead bullocks swollen drumhead tight littered the way. By a tangle of wires under a telephone pole I saw the bodies of two Indians. Their legs were burned to stumps.

A decapitated Burman woman lay sprawled by the drain in front of a native teashop.

Two priests, protecting their shaven heads with flaps of their orange robes, stood by a garden wall staring mutely at the disaster.

Near the American Baptist Boys School, at the edge of the southern limits of the fire, another field car rolled up driven by another, smoke-grimed British captain.

"I'm with the sappers but got separated from my unit," he said, "so I started ambulancing."

A thousand yards into the fire, at the corner of 80th street and 31st road, two wounded, staggering Chinese appeared. One held up the fingers of both of his hands. He was telling me there were 10 more in the neighborhood.

Mission Filled

Both floors of the American Baptist Mission's Memorial hospital were filled with victims, Indians, Burmans and Chinese. More arrived in what seemed an unending procession of horror.

In the corridors and in every room lay unwhimpering rows of gray-bearded Indians, coolies in dirty loin cloths, naked Burmese children and pantalooned Chinese girls with seared faces and smashed heads and limbs.

D. O. Smith, a missionary teacher from Long Beach, Calif., lifted from a stretcher an Indian boy who had just died. Gordon S. Jury and his wife, elderly medical volunteers from Hamilton, Ohio, knelt on their knees sponging blood from the wounded.

The wounded driver of a Burma government civil defence ambulance, whose own wife and child were killed in the raid, followed me into the the hospital yard.

"One little bit of warning would have saved hundreds of lives," he said. "No real air raid shelters.... no planes to defend us . . . we are left like cornered rats at the mercy of those Japanese. A handful of volunteers are about the only people standing between the wounded and death."

32 Men Apply To R.C.A.F. For Information

Recruiting officers for the Royal Canadian Air Force report a fine response during the recruiting period at the City Hall to date. The staff of two officers and two men have just been in the city two days, but already 32 men have applied fo information and 20 have completed applications.

The officers are seeking pilots and observers, or to use the air force term, air crews. The age limit for pilots is between 18 and 31, and for observers between 18 and 33. Junior matriculation is the educational requirement but men who have had a few years high school will be accepted if suitable and sent to a school where they will secure their necessary education, drawing a subsistence allowance of ten dollars a week while attending school.

The recruiting officers are also empowered to enlist women for the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F. and they ae particularly anxious to secure cooks and fabric workers. Fabric workers will work on parachutes, and women who have had experience on power sewing machines are valuable in this work. There are several other branches such as clerical, switchboard operators, etc., but at present the emphasis is on cooks and fabric workers. All girls seeking information about enlistment in the air force are invited to come to the committee room of the City Building at any hour up to ten o'clock Friday evening, when the recruiting staff will return to Toronto.

ITCHING SCALP

If your scalp has broken out with ugly surface rashets or irritations — DON'T DIG with fingernails as that only serves to make it worse — and spreads it. Go to your druggist to-day —get a bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil, and use this mixed with an equal quantity of olive oil. It's easy to use—all you do is apply to the scalp with your fingertips gently rubbing into the roots of the hair. Do this at least once a day and about every fourth day shampoo using a good soap. Soon you'll find this combination start right in—prooting faster healing. Continue the treatment until relieved and the loose, floating dandruff has disappeared.

Continue for 2 weeks and if then you are dissatisfied get your money back. McDermid & Jury and every druggist sells Emerald Oil on this guarantee.

Thousands of bottles of Moone's Emerald Oil are sold every year for Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Itching Toes and Feet, and other irritating unsightly skin troubles.—(Advt.)

Loses His Shoes

BATON ROUGE, La., April 9.—(AP)—Anthony Miller, 16, isn't sorry he played good samaritan and helped push an automobile stalled in a downpour. But he's upset about that pair of shoes he tossed into the back seat of the car before he started to push. The motorist drove away with them.

Epidemic For Berlin

Moscow, April 9 (AP)

MORE than 1,250 cases of typhus have been registered in Berlin in the last two weeks, creating an epidemic that is "daily assuming more threatening proportions," Tass reported today.

At Kuestrin, Germany, Nazi military authorities were compelled to delay the dispatch of reinforcements to the front because of an outbreak of typhus among the troops, the Soviet News Agency declared.

Cheese Board Opens On Earliest Date

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9. — (ENS).—The Campbellford Cheese Board which last year opened May 1st to begin operation a full three weekly earlier than usual will beging to function at the earliest date in its history this year when members meet in the board room on April 16th at 8.30 war time. With two factories of the district operating all winter and a dozen others opening the first of April a fairly large attendance including representatives from the various factories and cheese buyers, is expected. Earl McAdam, who directed the fortunes of the Hoards' factory during the winter and was re-elected its president at their annual meeting, is the retiring president and he will preside for the opening when officers for the current year will be named.

Bataan Lines

nition, the secretary said, but had been on short rations.

A War Department communique earlier in the morning said that overwhelming Japanese forces had made advances which indicated "the probability that the defence of Bataan had been overcome" despite a heroic counter-attack attempt by exhausted defenders.

Stimson told questioners that no casualty totals were yet available.

Mostly Filipinos.

He made it clear that Filipinos comprised the bulk of the peninsula defenders, the Americans being made up largely of the 31st Infantry Regiment, crews of two tank battalions and units of self-propelled artillery sent to the islands last year, plus air force ground crews and sailors and marines from the abandoned Cavite naval base.

The air force personnel numbered about 5,000 men at the start of the invasion, Stimson said. Of these, some 2,000 fought as infantrymen in the latter stages, after their planes had been put out of action or transferred to the Netherlands Indies and Australia as were a number of long-range bombers.

American air losses were very heavy the first day of the invasion, the Secretary remarked.

Stimson said he saw no reason why resistance by isolated, relatively small forces should not continue in Northern Luzon, on the island of Mindanao and elsewhere where blows have been struck, aside from further defence of Corregidor.

The war department's sober early morning communique was the latest news the war department had received up to 10:30 a.m., E.D.T. today, Stimson said.

Troops Simply Exhausted

"Our troops, outnumbered and worn down by successive attacks by fresh troops, exhausted by insufficient rations and the disease prevalent in that peninsula, finally had their lines broken and enveloped by the enemy," the secretary said.

"We do not know the details of what has happened since that communique, but it is evident as stated therein that the defences on Bataan have been overcome.

"A long and gallant defence has been worn down and overthrown.

"We have nothing but praise and admiration for the commanders and the men who have conducted this epic chapter in American history."

Stimson said that both Gen. Wainwright and Gen. Douglas McArthur, his predecessor, had nothing but praise for the Filipino soldiers who had been fighting beside the Americans.

President Roosevelt's message to Gen. Wainwright, he said, was sent yesterday. In the message the President expressed his "full appreciation of the enormous difficulties confronting Gen. Wainwright and told him he had nothing but praise for his method of conducting the defence and for his soldierly conduct throughout."

Informed quarters here expressed a growing belief that the stubborn resistance of the American-Filipino troops, who had held part of the Peninsula since early January against all Japanese attacks, had about ceased.

Fear Few Saved

Army men expressed doubt that large numbers of surviving troops could be evacuated under fire across the two miles of open water between the southern tip of the peninsula and the island fortress of Corregidor, which was still held by American forces.

Such an evacuation for a defeated force, they noted, is one of the most difficult of all actions, and they pointed to Lt.-Gen. Johnathan Wainwright's report that a counter-attack by his first corps "failed due to complete physical exhaustion of the troops," as a factor militating against evacuation of many soldiers.

Archie Barbeau Sentenced To Two Months

Archie Barbeau pleaded guilty in police court this morning to illegally selling liquor and was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley to two months in jail, the minimum sentence for the offence.

"Why don't you cut it out?" Magistrate Langley asked the accused.

Barbeau declared that he was 66 and was unable to get a job. He told the court that he had tried all the factories and could not get on anywhere.

"You know there isn't a lazy bone in my body," he declared.

The charge against Barbeau was the result of a raid made by provincial and city police upon a refreshment booth on the Warsaw Road recently.

Peter Petrakos was charged with keeping liquor for sale but that charge was withdrawn by the crown this morning.

City Petitions C.N.R. For Line

The city council's resolution of petition to the C.N.R. regarding the continued operation of the Peterborough-Port Hope line has been drafted as follows: "That the C.N.R. be respectfully petitioned to continue the operation of its line between Port Hope and Peterborough, this council being of the sincere opinion that the discontinuance of this line now would completely isolate a sizable and important district from transportation facilities, and that the importance of the line is increasing because of the war and the resulting gasoline and tire situation, and that this continuance would prove of real economic benefit to the whole country; and that in consequence the railway will soon begin to enjoy greatly increased revenue from the operation of this line."

LIBERIA'S CHANCE

Soldier Given Twenty Days Unusual Count

Twenty days in jail was the sentence imposed by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court today upon Pte. James William Wilson of the local Military Training Center, after the 19-year-old Spooner, Sask., soldier had pleaded guilty to a charge under the old English common law of giving false statements to police.

Provincial Constable Price Morris, called to give evidence, stated that on investigating a report that a man had been held up on Sherbrooke Street West he had interviewed Wilson in the camp hospital and the accused had told him that he had been kidnapped by several men and robbed. Later Wilson had admitted that his story was false and had given his reason for making such statements.

"Did it involve the name of a woman?" asked Magistrate Langley.

"It did, sir," replied the officer.

Magistrate Langley remarked that the circumstances were not nearly so serious as in other cases that had been heard under the same law. "It looks to me like a case of a month in jail," he said.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., informed the court that Capt. J. Keir who was present in behalf of the military authorities had some correspondence he wished to submit.

Capt. Keir, handing over the papers, explained that Wilson had only been in camp for a short time before the trouble arose and that the authorities had not learned until recently that Wilson had been in the army before and had been discharged. Orders had been received to have a medical board consider his case, Capt. Keir explained.

Capt. Keir asked for a suspended sentence, stating that Wilson would be kept in custody until a medical board had considered his case.

"I doubt whether under the English common law I have any authority to grant suspended sentence," said Magistrate Langley in sentencing the accused to twenty days' imprisonment.

Carriers Boost Sales To New Record

Last night at the Centre Theatre during the Neill's Shoe Company "Quiz Show" three worthy youngsters were presented with the rewards they were entitled to for selling a record amount of War Savings Stamps during the month of March. The total sales for the month were $2,430.50, a record for any month since the beginning of the campaign last November. The winner of the Examiner Gold Trophy was the boy who came in second place last month, Keith Orde of 249 Reid street, whose own sales amounted to the respectable sum of $225.25, a record for any carrier in one month. Mr. Clare Collins, president of The Neill Shoe Company, presented the large Gold Cup and its accompanying replica also the pair of fine shoes to the proud winner. Keith made a graceful but brief reply thanking those responsible for his winning the prizes. The second and third prizes, which went to two other carriers who have figured prominently in these columns, were presented by Miss Margaret Rodney, office manager of the Peterborough Examiner. Winner of second prize, which is a splendid large studio portrait of the boy himself, donated by Fred Cripps each month, was George Clark, last month's winner of the Examiner Trophy. His grand total for the month of March was $211.50.

Third place was occupied by a young lady of 13 years, Bertha Bradley, who has made a name for herself by selling a consistently large amount of Stamps per customer, though she has by far the smallest route in the city. This third prize, a large box of chocolates donated by Victor Gallon of 531 Gilmour street, is given on a basis of per capita sales each month. Her sales per customer amount to $1.36 and close behind her was Nancy Leith, whose total sales amounted to $115.25 with a per capita sale of $1.32. These two girls deserve special praise for the energetic manner in which they have approached this effort to provide the sinews of war.

The competition in March was particularly keen and resulted in some very large individual sales and a record month. In third place for highest sales is Victor Doughty of Hart avenue, who has been getting nearer the top each month and promises to be a prize winner within a short time. His sales were $140.75. Another boy popular in the south end where he lives and delivers his route, is Jack Harris of 239 Princess street, weekly prize winner of theatre tickets no less than four times and second prize winner for the monthly totals at least once. His sales for March were $135.25. Next in line is Wilbert Edgar of Sherbrooke street whose sales are again very commendable with a total of $120.75. In sixth place is the aforementioned girl. Nancy Leith of 617 Gilmour street, third prize winner last month, with her sales amounting to $116.75. Two other lads worthy of special mention are next; Donald Pagett of Chamberlain street a former trophy winner with $110.00 and "Bud" Eakins of George street south with a fine $96.00 contribution.

The north end contributes a large amount through Dan McIsaac again with a total of $69 for March and Clare Galvin in the west end bringing in $67.50. Bill Dundas of East City is here in the top brackets with $64.75 and another carrier from the same area is Elva Laing with $55.50. Douglas Burrows is well representing the north end along with Dan McIsaac and brought in $52.25 for his month's sales. Bill Leahy in the central area has $52 and Wellington Borland, a bright newcomer, has $48. A successful salesman in the centre of the city is Walter Noble who again makes a fine showing with a total of $43.75. The two Douglas brothers from the south end, Ray and Thomas deserve to be bracketed together for their splendid efforts since they took over their rather difficult routes. With their father overseas they are backing him up in great style with a month's work of $30 for Ray and Tom with $29.25.

Adrian Langhorne makes another fine effort with a further $36.50 from the south end, and again Grant Finnie is here with $32.25 from the same district. A newcomer is Ralph Dallin but he comes through this month with a total of $30, Cyril Robinson has $27 and Ted Payne $26. Alan Sage, assisted by Gerald Rose while recovering from an operation, brought in $23.50, Clifford Pirie another $22.75 and Bob Shadgett is good again with $21.75. Following on are Rudy Pollock, $18.75; Eleanor Whittaker, $18.50; Stewart Brown, $19.25 Bob Outram, $19.25; Dick Fulford, $19.50.

There are a score or so others that must go unnamed at this time but their contributions are none the less valuable and appreciated. Some carriers have districts that do not respond or are buying their War Savings Stamps and Certificates in other directions. Every encouragement is held out to these anoymous but very active partners in this drive for cash and more cash for Canada's war expenditures. The eyes of the city War Savings Committee and the Dominion Government are on this Examiner Carrier campaign and is getting their hearty approval and gratitude for such unselfish efforts by these youngsters, who have sold stamps to the amount of over $9,000.00 in the eighteen weeks.

Understanding At Hand In Indian Case

NEW DELHI, April 9—(CP).— A general understanding of the main issues between the All-India Congress Party and Sir Stafford Cripps is as good as reached, it was reported to-day. An announcement is expected to-morrow.

As far as the Congress Party, potent Hindu voice on whose approval the protracted and complex negotiations for post-war Indian Dominion status hinge, is concerned it now appears that there will be no difficulty or delay in the establishment of a National Government in India.

This development came after another day's proceedings began on a rising note of optimism with Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, the Congress leader, conferring with Louis Johnson, President Roosevelt's personal representative and the Congress Working Committee again in session at Birla House.

The Congress Working Committee, it is believed, now may issue statement on the final terms tomorrow or, at the latest, Saturday.

The All-India Moslem League Working Committee's resolution is expected also to be released about that time. The League is the dominant voice among the great Moslem minority in India.

Mission Band Plans Burnbrae Concert

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9. — (ENS). — Arrangements for a concert to be held in the church on April 14 were announced by members of the Burnbrae Mission Band following their regular meeting held on Wednesday afternoon. Preparation of the program was left with the president, Miss Jean Murray, and Mrs. Donald McKay, and the proceeds will form a part of the Band's annual allocation. A Bible reading by Miss Myrtle Fry followed the opening hymn and devotional period, and Misses Jean Ingram and Lorraine Fry were placed in charge of the program for the May meeting.

W.M.S. Meeting.

At their regular meeting held on Tuesday afternoon St. Andrew's W.M.S. decided this year they would send no delegate to the Provincial W.M.S. meeting in Orillia next month. It was felt by members the two Presbytery officers in the Auxiliary, who are scheduled to attend the affair, could provide them with a satisfactory report. The first vice president, Mrs. A. C. Connor, presided for the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Robert McCulloch, and she gave an interesting background sketch of the hymn sung at the opening. Mrs. Charles Milne was in charge of the program and was assisted in the devotions by Mrs. John Storie and Mrs. A. G. Thompson. Mrs. Albert Hazel gave a reading bearing the appropriate title "Easter Tidings," and following this Miss Hazel Atkinson gave a vocal solo, "He Died of a Broken Heart," Mrs. John Storie playing the accompaniment. After an Easter message from Miss E. Buchanan the meeting was brought to a close.

WILLIAM RICKARD URGES DURHAM TO VOTE "YES" ON PLEBISCITE

Voice Approval Is Plea Of Durham Member

W. F. Rickard, M.P. for Durham County, is urging his constituents to vote "yes" on the forthcoming plebiscite.

As the Examiner has a large number of subscribers in the eastern section of Durham, Mr. Rickard has written a letter which is intended chiefly for Durham readers.

"As the elected representative of this constituency I am appealing to you through the Examiner as one means of contact to vote 'Yes' on the plebiscite which is to be taken April 27.

"On that date you will have an opportunity of voicing your approval of an issue that might decide this war and affect the fate of Canada.

"You are not asked to vote for or against conscription.

"You are asked to release your Government from past commitments in regard to methods of raising men for overseas service, and place the responsibility squarely on the shoulders of your Government to do as they see fit, if necessary to send more men out of the country than we can get by voluntary enlistment.

"While the young men of this country have been very ready to enlist and we have about 300,000 in the Active Army for service anywhere, besides the Navy and the Air Force yet the time may come when in the interests of our own welfare we may have to extend greatly the scope of our services for overseas. But, as the law stands at present, under the Canada Resources and Mobilization Act we cannot send men beyond these shores unless we break our word with the people.

"The Prime Minister asks your mandate for release from past commitments which, having given, he refuses to break; with him I entirely agree.

"There was a pledge given in the general elections of 1940 by all parties that there would be no conscription for overseas without the consent of the people. One of the reasons we are at war to-day is because Hitler and Mussolini have broken their pledges solemnly proclaimed to the world. I believe in keeping faith with the people. It would be a sorry day for Canada and the Canadian people if they ever lose faith in the pledged word of their leaders.

"This is no time for political bickerings. This is the time for Canadians to unite regardless of race, creed, class or poltical belief.

"To vote 'YES' on the plebiscite does not mean that you are voting for any political party.

"By voting 'YES,' Canadians will demonstrate that they want the Government to provide the conditions necessary for utmost war effort; and the only way to do this is to get out and vote on April 27, and also to urge your friends to vote 'Yes.'"

Bridge Club Honors April Bride-to-Be

PORT HOPE, April 8.—(ENS)—Mrs. Douglas Waldon of 40 Martha street, Port Hope, entertained her bridge club at a delightful supper bridge on Tuesday, April 7, in honor of her sister-in-law, Miss Mabel Waldon, whose marriage to Mr. George Forbes takes place in Cobourg on Saturday, April 18.

The evening was spent in bridge at the close of which Miss Waldon was presented with a wooden recipe box for which each of the guests had brought the recipe of their favorite dish.

William McBride Observing 90th Birthday

COBOURG, April 9—(ENS).—It was congratulations for William McBride, front road reseident today, when the well-known gentleman celebrated his 90th birthday. His sons, grandchildren and acquaintances were on hand for the party tendered him to mark his attaining the ninety bracket. Mr. McBride is a little lame and his hearing is not quite what it used to be, but his eyes are sharp and equally sharp is his ready Irish wit. When the Examiner called on Mr. McBride yesterday he was stoking up a well-blackened briar and his eyes were twinkling with a merriment after a playful tussle with one of his grandchildren. The old gentleman loves children, particularly his grandchildren and they love him. For the past few years he has been enjoying a rest after many years of strenuous work and has time to think back over the years, aided by a remarkable memory which retains the dates not only of years but of months and days, of events far in the past.

Perhaps everyone who attains a ripe old age is asked for his recipe for longevity. Mr. McBride's reply to that question was different from the replies of others when asked the same query.

Die When imes Comes

"Everyone should lead a sensible life but the fact remains that God takes you when your time comes and that is all there is to it," declared Mr. McBride with conviction.

"Hard work is good for a person though," he added. "It never did me any harm as I never was sick until I was 82. I started to walk when I was nine months old and have been at it ever since."

Ardent Orangeman

Mr. McBride is an ardent Orangeman and in his 35 years membership with the lodge he only missed one walk and that was due to illness. On that occasion the Orangemen paraded to his house and the old gentleman was able to hear the drum and fife bands in spite of his illness. Up until two years ago he always walked in the parade but for the past two years he has had to content himself with riding in a car.

"Do you know something?" he asked the reporter. "One of the best friends I had was a Roman Catholic. Do you know that that man used to help me with the chores on the 12th so that I could get away in time for the Orange Walk. Yes Sir, a man is entitled to think what he likes."

Mr. McBride reads a great deal and follows the war news very closely.

"The Allies are in a hot spot aren't they. They can fight as long as they like but the British will end up on top. You can depend on that, even if it did take them a long time to settle down and realize what they were up against. I don't think you'll see this war over before two years. It is hard to say, though, when you figure the pasting the Russians have been giving the Germans. I tried to get in the last war but they wouldn't take me. I could have cooked for the boys but the army wouldn't take me," he said.

Born In Grafton

Mr. McBride was born in Grafton, east of Cobourg. He was married when he was twenty-seven and his wife died twenty-three years ago. Before her marriage she as Levina Brown of Port Hope. For some years he resided at Coldsprings where he was a blacksmith. He was also in the apple business there, in addition to working at pruning and grafting. Later he went to Campbellcroft to farm. He also resided at Harwood and at Rosemount. Sixteen years ago he came to reside on the Cobourg road near Port Hope, where his home now is. There are four sons, William of Bethel, Fred of Dale, Norman and Wes, Port Hope. A sister, Mrs. Vera Clarke lives in Rochester, N.Y.

Cottage Project Turned Down "Not Essential" Minister Claims

HASTINGS, April 9 — (ENS). — Several communications from the Dept. of Munitions and Supply, Ottawa, issued directly by the gas and rubber controllers and read at the Hastings Hydro Electric Commission meeting Monday night, revealed that under existing conditions no additional gas or tires can be alloted to hydro service men who do not operate hydro owned vehicles. Since these letters were written arrangements have been completed whereby E. M. Hess, the local service man, will be able to procure extra gas, but as far as tires go he is still out of luck.

The project of T. F. Lain, Toronto man who had planned to erect several cottages along the Trent river, sustained a severe jolt Monday night when his request for non-ferrous hydro materials to install electric lights in the cottages was turned down by the Dept. of Munitions and Supply with the terse comment "not essential."

Commissioners ordered that a request of the Dept. of Munitions and Supply to return all hydro materials not in use or not being held for emergency purposes, be complied with immediately.

E. M. Hess, service man, reported that the ten large lights on Main street each were changed three times annually and this entailed a cost of approximately $35, mainly because a truck had to be utilized each time a light was changed.

"I don't see any reason why we should have to put up with such an exhorbitant cost for changing lights," commented H. G. Fairman. Accordingly it was tentatively decided to purchase an automatic light changer.

The auditor's report submitted by Edward Humpage, C.A., reveals that the local commission's net assets have increased by about $280 over the previous year.

Investments consist of Dominion of Canada Bonds due in November, 1956, for $4,500. The debenture debt was reduced by $975.13 during the year and shows a total of $7,754.39 paid off. The operating statement shows a net profit of $255.33 and allows for a depreciation of $679. A refund of $218.82 on account of street lighting was made to the Village of Hastings from the surplus account.

On motions of Commissioners Kelley and Fairman the auditors' report was accepted and filed.

E. M. Hess was engaged by the Commission as general maintenance man and secretary-treasurer at a salary of $850 per year.

The following accounts were ordered paid: Hydro Electric Power Commission, February power, $339.85; Bell Telephone, $3.10; Royal Bank, collections, $3.10; Ontario H.E.P.C., statement $1.36; Dept. of National Revenue, tax, $2.69; T. A. Coughlan, supplies, $2; Oliver's Garage, labour, $4.50; E. M. Hess, salary plus postage, $60.74.

Euchre And Dance

HAVELOCK, April 9.—(ENS). — Another very successful euchre and dance was held in the Orange hall on Wednesday evening under the auspices of Royal Black Preceptory Lodge. There was seven tables of euchre, with Mrs. Rose Brown winning first prize, Mrs. Clare Price getting second prize and Mrs. Wm. Lang the consolation award. The prizes for these parties have been splendid values, which greatly add to the success of these events. Local music was provided for round and square dancing which was greatly enjoyed by the young people. Proceeds for the evening were over $20.00.

Don't Over-Simplify

Some interesting and significant things have been said at the meeting of the Ontario Educational Association; perhaps the most interesting was the urgent plea of William F. Russell, Dean of Teachers' College, Columbia University, that democracy be taught in schools "in terms that people can understand." On the face of it this seems a good idea, but it presents some difficulties.

First of all, what is democracy? To say that it is government of the people, by the people, for the people sounds pretty, but what does it mean? It means simply that democracy is a direct reflection of the people who make it up; without good people there can be no good democracy. Democracy is not a hard and fast doctrine which can be taught like arithmetic; we all know how democracy can be abused, and we have seen it abused in, to specify one region only, several European democracies before this war. To us democracy may mean freedom and justice; to many people in this world it means graft, cynical abuse of privilege, and domination by politicians. Democracy is far more a prevailing condition of mind than a political doctrine.

Democracy is a complex thing, and whatever is taught to children is in danger of being over-simplified. Over-simplification of democracy frequently tends toward a doctrine of "levelling" which is, in reality, the negation of democracy. The idea that all men are equal is only valid insofar as all men are equal before the law and that all men have equal opportunity to realize what is best in themselves. Democracy, when it is working well, actually gives rise to an aristocracy of brains and character, and anyone may join this aristocracy, but it is incompatible with plutocracy; the necessity for distinguishing between brainy sheep and rich goats is one of the gravest problems of democracy.

If children are to be taught anything about democracy in schools we strongly urge that a handbook be supplied to them and their teachers, written by an able political theorist, explaining the matter clearly, but not too simply. If such teaching is left to individual teachers, who vary greatly in ability and political understanding, the results are bound to be unsatisfactory. Things that are learned in the formative years stick in the mind like burrs, and we do not want our future citizens to be put to the trouble of ridding themselves of well-meant but unsatisfactory and over-simplified ideas about democracy.

Schools and Juvenile Delinquency

A bomb was thrown at the Ontario Educational Association Convention when S. K. Jaffary, director of the School of Social Work at the University of Toronto, laid responsibility for a considerable amount of juvenile delinquency at the door of the schools. To speak more accurately, he laid it at the closed doors of the schools, for Mr. Jaffary thinks that a school which closes as soon as formal lessons are over is neglecting its duty. "The school has the training of the child during its formative years," he is reported as saying, "and by the time the welfare worker sees him, its too late. Probably he is already sentenced for some form of crime. But if the schools were to set up departments of child study which would make reports on each child, dealing with his background, tendencies and so forth, a lot of crime would be stillborn."

There are several objections to this scheme. The first is that it would cost a lot of money and while, in theory, no amount is too great to spend upon education, in fact we cannot add to the present heavy taxation merely to find out whether Mr. Jaffary is right in his contention. For our part we think that he is more than half wrong. Home environment during a child's first five years is more important than any other single factor in forming its character, and it is there that reform must begin. Furthermore, we have little respect for "departments of child study"; where would the personnel for these be found? There are not enough expert psychiatrists on this continent to form a really first-rate department of child study for a single city, and we are strongly opposed to allowing groups of half-trained, poorly paid youthful psychologists recruited from the universities report on the background and tendencies of children or anybody else. We have seen groups of this kind in operation both here and abroad, and we consider them not merely ineffective, but mischief-making. The first necessary qualification for a psychologist is understanding of and sympathy with humanity, and theoretical knowledge will never succeed where this is lacking. We have the highest respect for psychologists when they are good, but the good ones are few; the many bad ones are no better than witch-doctors.

Schools cannot accept any responsibility for juvenile delinquency unless they have far greater control over their pupils than is now possible. Nor can teachers be expected to exercise profound influence for good over their pupils when the gulf in age between them is often no more than ten years; how is a girl of twenty-four expected to deal with a determinedly bad boy of fourteen? If she can keep him out of mischief during school hours she is doing well.

We are in sympathy with Mr. Jaffary's desire to nip juvenile delinquency in the bud, but we think that the bud is the first five years of life, and not the succeeding ten. It is in the home that the foundations of character are laid, and it is in bad, or merely ignorant, homes that reform must begin.

Religious Education

Yet another interesting and important matter discussed at the convention of the Ontario Educational Association was religious instruction in schools. The principal speaker was Bishop Renison, who presented the case for religion in an able and convinced manner. Parents who take care of a child's educational needs in every direction save that of religion are guilty of a "damnable imposition," says the Bishop. Now a Voltaire might hold that the damnable imposition was quite the other way about, and there has never been any general agreement that religious education in public schools supported by all denominations of Protestants, by Jews and non-Christians and agnostics is a desirable thing. The Bishop, understandably, is a strong advocate of religious education, and he had some very sound things to say about it

The Bible, he told his hearers, had a message for everyone if it was presented in an intelligent and understanding manner, and we agree completely. The Bible is a remarkable repository of wisdom, but like all such books, no man will find more wisdom in if than he already possesses; it is for this reason that the Bible can be, and has often been, used as an authority for cruelty and folly by cruel and foolish people. For this reason mere reading from the Bible to a class of children is valueless; the Bible must be studied as a whole, the relative value of the two Testaments and the various books thereof must be discussed, and the Bible must be considered as a history, a library and a revelation, rather than as a magical talisman, the possession of which confers grace upon the owner and of which texts may be usefully employed in argument as substitutes for original thought.

If there is to be religious education in schools it must be given a proper place in the curriculum, and not squeezed into the first few minutes of the day. Also it must begin in the lowest classes and continue to the highest, increasing in difficulty as the years go by. It must have a proper textbook, or a series of textbooks; a Bible is too complex a book for a child to use unaided. Perhaps a selection of Biblical literature might be printed for this purpose, with notes and introduction by Biblical scholars. A knowledge of the Bible must also include a knowledge of the geography of the ancient world, and so a series of maps would be needed. For older children a study of comparative religions would be a useful corrective to a narrow view of Christianity, and for this purpose such a controversial volume as, say, Rabbi Lewis Browne's This Believing World would make an admirable textbook. Thus children would learn something about religion as a living thing, and not merely as a portentous mystery, used chiefly by adults as an aid to discipline. If we are to have religious education in schools, let us by all means put religion on an equal footing with arithmetic and history and not, as now, relegate it to the realm of discredited subjects such as music and drawing, which are not considered important enough to be included in the list of examination subjects. Let us either do the thing properly, or leave it alone.

Remember Vimy Ridge

It was twenty-five years ago today that the Canadian Corps and the 13th Brigade of the Fifth British Division attacked and took Vimy Ridge, a position considered to be one of the strongest held by the German forces. The anniversary finds us again at war, and we have no doubt that, when our forces see action, they will acquit themselves as bravely as their fathers did at Vimy.

The storming of Vimy Ridge was a part of the large plan of attack which made up the Battle of Arras. The fifteen-mile battle front extended from Croisilles to a point a little south of Givenchy-en-Gohelle, at the northern foot of the Ridge which, rising 475 feet above the sea level, dominated the whole field of battle. The attack was prepared by three weeks of wire-cutting and by a prolonged bombardment during which 2,700,000 shells were fired; complete though this preparation was, it destroyed all hope of surprising the enemy, and the struggle was a bitter and bloody one. Beginning at 5.30 in the morning, the fighting continued all day, and by nightfall the Ridge was in the hands of the Canadians. In this action our casualties numbered 11,297, and enemy losses were also heavy, although their exact figure is not known.

Glorious though this individual action was the Allied attack was not successful as a whole, continuing after resistance had hardened and settling down into three months of costly struggle. It served the purpose, however, of taking pressure off the French forces, which were in a bad way and needed the respite.

Vimy has since been recognized as a real factor in the eventual defeat of the German forces, and the daring of the action awoke the admiration of all the Allies. The spirit which stormed the Ridge is not dead in Canadian fighting-men; it will show itself again, and perhaps at no very distant date.

Sartorial Panic

The new suits for men designed in accordance with the cloth-conservation scheme will shortly be on the market, and our men's fashions expert reports that they are not bad at all. They are single-breasted, they have no trouser cuffs, and they have no buttons on the sleeves. Otherwise they look like any conservative business suit. We find nothing alarming in this report. It is possible to live quite happily inside a single-breasted coat, and we have never seen any particular charm in sleeve-buttons; they are relics of the days when men's sleeves unbuttoned and folded back in order to show their handsome lawn shirts and lace cuffs. The nearest thing to lace nowadays is a frayed cuff, and the wearers are not usually anxious to exhibit them. As for trouser cuffs, they began as a fad about forty years ago and have never been worn on our most formal attire. No one will mourn their loss. The changes in the new suits are really quite inconspicuous.

Nevertheless some of our dressier citizens appear to be filled with apprehension for the future. Tailors in several cities report buying sprees amounting in some places to panic; a few of the wealthier dandies have bought as many as ten suits. Why? What is all the fuss about? The new designs are perfectly respectable; they will exhibit the charms and conceal the defects of the male figure as well as older models. There is no need for this excited purchasing.

Sometimes we wonder what possesses people who give way to this sort of frantic buying. It is not necessary and it is certainly not patriotic. Recently the French political commentator, Mme. Genevieve Tabouis, was quoted as saying that human folly gave the best idea of infinity. Such displays as these buying orgies lend weight to her contention.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A proud Toronto butcher announces the birth of a son weighing eleven pounds. Including bone, of course.

"Japan knows how to wait" says a Nipponese spokesman. Isn't she still waiting to declare war on China?

A Boston dog has been left $2,500 in a trust fund by his master, and has to pay income tax. His growls are just like those of other taxpayers.

EVENING EQUIPOISE

So in the balanced hour of light
When wind and mind find equipoise,
The pivot-ease of earth turns night
Upon our senses without noise.

As bevel wings of birds drift by,
The lake records smooth duplicates;
A cloud, immobile in the sky,
Is moored by fire till sun abates.

Young boys no longer run up hill
But walk unhurried through the park;
Discrediting the active will,
They seek a tunnel through the dark.

The feud we kept with quick and slow
Must hold the truce the winds declare;
The heart, equilibrate, will know
The flawless peace of equal air.

Why Not Make Your Own?

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

EVERY now and again someone—and usually someone not particularly well-informed about such things—deplores the effect which the radio has had upon musical taste generally and upon amateur musicians; where, they ask, are the old-time "musical evenings," when neighbors got together with their instruments and made music for their own pleasure? People who make these enquiries may be dismissed as belonging to that unfortunate class to whom everything in the past was good, and who can see no virtue in the present at all. Competent musical critics are convinced that musical taste has been greatly improved by the radio; nowadays audiences can hear more good music in a week than formerly they would be likely to hear in a year. And as for amateur musicians, their numbers and the quality of their work have both benefitted greatly from radio. It is no longer considered desirable that every child whose parents can afford it should have lessons on the piano or violin, regardless of whether or not the child has any aptitude for the instrument. But there are more amateur musicians who play reasonably well than there were before, for they have the benefit of excellent examples on the air, whenever they choose to hear them. It has to be admitted that the quality of music, and the standard of performance at the old-time "musical evening" was usually pretty low.

✧ ✧ ✧

The radio has given new impetus to the amateur movement in music. More people listen to music than before, and more listeners want to make music themselves. Well, why not? Few hobbies give greater pleasure or retain their interest for so long. Of amateur musicians, pianists are the most numerous, for the piano is an instrument capable of great beauty, great variety, and has a very large literature. Did you ever have lessons on the piano? And have you forgotten all you ever knew, or almost all? And did you give up because you felt that you would never be able to play acceptably? And do you still long to play and envy those who can do so? If the answer to all these questions is Yes, my advice to you is to lose no time at all in getting a book by Charles Cooke called "Playing the Piano For Pleasure"; it will be a revelation to you, for it is certainly the best book on piano-playing to be published in this century.

✧ ✧ ✧

COOKE is a journalist by profession; he is one of the staff writers on the "New Yorker." Music is his hobby, and he plays the piano well enough to broadcast recitals from time to time. He writes for just such people as yourself. His book tells you how to recapture such skill as you once had in piano-playing, and how to increase that skill. His theory is a sensible one. Most people learn to play as children, when they have no real fondness for music and hate work; also, the idea that children learn things easily is a mistaken one. Adults learn far better and much quicker. An adult will learn more about piano-playing in a year than an average child will learn in five.

✧ ✧ ✧

Cooke's book is not written for concert pianists. It deals with the problems of the amateur, and it makes the problems seem simple because it explains how they are to be overcome. It is no "how-to-play-like-Horowitz-in-six-easy-lessons" book. It explains that the essential to good playing is practice, but it also shows how to get the most out of an hour's practice a day. If you haven't one hour out of twenty-four to give to music, you had better abandon all idea of being a player, but many very busy men seem to find time for their hobby.

✧ ✧ ✧

COOKE is an enthusiast, and he immediately communicates his enthusiasm to his readers. His book has already sold in great numbers, and it will probably be a popular volume for amateurs and teachers for many years to come. In the pursuit of his work Cooke has had opportunity to meet and talk with some of the finest pianists in the world, and from them he has wormed secrets and explanations of technical problems which he generously hands on to his readers. Some of these are invaluable, and music-teachers might do well to peek into his pages for a few useful tips. Cooke never loses sight of the fact that piano-playing is an art and a great source of joy and gratification, and consequently his volume is worth a dozen dry technical works.

✧ ✧ ✧

If you like music and wish that you could make some of your own, why not try it? Although you may not have touched the piano for years you may find that those years have given you an ability to learn and to solve problems which you lacked as a child, and playing the piano is largely a matter of solving problems. It is also fun, of the most absorbing and repaying kind. One of Cooke's best chapters is that in which he discusses the building up of a repertoire, and of the gradual extension of the repertoire from five to ten, from ten to fifteen, and from fifteen to twenty or more pieces which you know thoroughly and can play really well. It is a matter of time, and the pleasure which it gives is enduring. Why not try it, and give yourself a hobby?

• Libya Push, Side Show

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The first phase of Hitler's promised great spring-summer offensive to win the war this year is in progress in Libya and the Central and Eastern Mediterranean, although its exact pattern cannot yet be discerned.

The rising fury of Axis air attacks on Malta and Alexandria chimes in with London and Cairo indications that Nazi-Fascist armies in Libya are again on the march against Egypt. But it is in Russia, not Egypt or the Mediterranean, that Hitler has pledged a knockout blow this year.

That raises a question as to the actual objective of the renewed Nazi drive in Libya. British sources estimate the strength of the Axis Army in Libya around 125,000 men. That does not seem sufficient to break through the forces guarding Egypt, even if withdrawal of Austalian units for home defense has reduced British strength.

Without the elimination of Malta as a sea and air base from which Britain can prey on communication lines of the enemy to Libya, there seems small chance of a new Axis eastward push attaining great momentum. Like every previous Libyan drive, British or Axis, it is apt to wear itself out short of decisive results unless more men, tanks, planes, fuel and supplies could be steadily poured across the Mediterranean to support it.

That implies that the stepped-up Axis operations in Libya are diversion or screening movement for other impending thrusts. Or they may have been launched to pin British troops to the African front and British naval power to the Mediterranean in co-operation with the Japanese drive in Burma and the Indian Ocean.

There is still every reason to expect that the main battle is to be fought in Russia beginning late in May when the ground hardens, and that the prime aim of Allied strategy is to bolster Russia at all costs. The mission of General Marshall, American chief-of-staff, and Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's chief lease-lend aide, to London probably concerns primarily helping Russia meet the coming crisis.

That has been the dominant principle of United Nations' campaign preparations. The implication of the British abandonment of the last counter-offensive in Libya immediately after Japan's entry into the war last December was that a policy of delaying retreat on that front as well as in the Pacific zone had been adopted.

That is the course General Wainwright is following on Bataan. His terribly outnumbered little army has not room for much further retreat as have the British forces in Libya or even those in Burma.

Yet given the proven endurance in his battle-seasoned men and ammunition for his guns, Wainwright still may balk his enemy indefinitely. The Mariveles Mountains, including 1,500-foot central peak, at the southern tip of Bataan, give him ground for a prolonged last stand short of Corregidor fortress.

• Agriculture And The War

WHAT can farmers look forward to in the year ahead? What demands are likely to be experienced and how can they be met? Obviously answers to all the questions that might be raised cannot be given, but at least what is required in the production of the principal Canadian farm products is made clear in "Canadian Agriculture and the War," a review of progress made in 1941 and of government policies, with a peep into the future. This booklet is available free by writing to the Publicity and Extension Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. The review also indicates that there is opportunity for the profitable production of these products, but as to what should be produced on an individual farm must be decided by the farmer himself.

Livestock producers, who represent the largest interest in Canadian agriculture, can make their preparations for 1942 in confidence that all they can produce in animals and animal products will be needed and that the level of present prices will be maintained. Six hundred million pounds of bacon and other pork products for export and three hundred million pounds for domestic consumption are required in the third year of the war. Under trade agreement and quota arrangements with the United States, an outlet is available for all the surplus beef cattle that are now in sight. A ready market for all the lamb that can be produced and an increasing demand for Canadian wool are indicated.

In dairy production the focal point is cheese. The 1942 contract for export is still to be settled, but it is expected that Canada will be able to export a larger quantity than in 1941. The dairy situation calls for more dairy cattle and for increased production.

The poultry producer is afforded an unprecedented export outlet for eggs and a continuing increased domestic demand is to be expected with virtually secured prices that should be satisfactory for quality products efficiently produced.

To fortify this livestock position, increased production of feed supplies in both eastern and western Canada is necessary. Higher yields of farm crops and larger acreage of coarse grains should be the objective. Wheat acreage will have to be adjusted in accordance with market outlet for 1942 and to meet feed requirements. Agricultural policy will encourage this development.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

A Bit of Nonsense

"What have you been up to?" his mother demanded.

"I've been fighting Billy Briggs," Tommy confessed.

"Well, take him some cake and make friends."

Tommy did so, but in the afternoon he came home with another black eye.

"Good gracious!" his mother exclaimed. "What has happened now?"

"He did it again," Tommy said sadly. "And he wants more cake tomorrow."

Auntie: "Do you ever play with bad little boys, Willie?"

Willie: "Yes, Auntie."

Willie: "Their mothers won't let me."

"Tommy," said the teacher, "can you quote a famous African proverb?"

After a moment's desperate thought, Tommy smiled. "Yes, sir," he said brightly. "The darkey's hour is just before the dawn."

Enough

While Firestone, Edison, Ford and the Burroughs were touring, a light and a tire on the car went wrong. Mr. Ford went into a store and said to the proprietor: "What kind of lights do you have?"

"Edison," was the reply.

"And tires?"

"Firestone."

"You may be interested to know that Mr. Edison and Mr. Firestone are in my car, and that I am Henry Ford."

As the man was putting on the tire, Mr. Burroughs, who was well adorned with white whiskers, leaned out of the car, and the man looking at him said: "If you tell me you're Santa Claus, I'll crown you with this spanner!"

ABERHART UNIVERSITY

MR. ABERHART now has the Alberta University into his own hands. He has taken the management from the faculty and placed it in the hands of a board of governors. He has the appointment of ten of the thirteen members of the board. He can dismiss any or all of the ten members any time they displease him, without any notice and choose others to do his will. Unlike other universities with charters somewhat similar to the amended Albertan administration, he and not the board has the appointment and dismissal of the president of the university.

No premier of any Canadian province, or any government of any state across the line, has such complete, unlimited control of a university owned by the people. It is his university now.—Calgary Albertan.

A Bible Message For Today . . .

And the Spirit of God came upon Azariah the son of Oded: and he went out to meet Asa, and said unto him, Hear ye me, Asa, and all Judah and Benjamin: The Lord is with you while ye be with him; and if ye seek him, he will be found of you; but if ye forsake him, he will forsake you. —II Chron. xv, 1, 2.

In the six and thirtieth year of the reign of Asa Baasha king of Israel came up against Judah, and built Ramah, to the intent that he might let none go out or come in to Asa king of Judah. Then Asa brought out silver and gold out of the treasures of the house of the Lord and of the king's house, and sent to Ben-hadad king of Syria, that dwelt in Damascus, saying, There is a league between me and thee, as there was between my father and thy father: behold, I have sent thee silver and gold; go, break thy league with Baasha king of Israel, that he may depart from me. ...

And at that time Hanani the seer came to Asa king of Judah, and said unto him, Because thou hast relied on the king of Syria, and not relied on the Lord thy God, therefore is the host of the king of Syria escaped out of thine hand....

Then Asa was wroth with the seer, and put him in a prison house; for he was in a rage with him because of this thing. And Asa oppressed some of the people the same time.... And Asa in the thirty and ninth year of his reign was diseased in his feet, until his disease was exceeding great: yet in his disease he sought not to the Lord, but to the physicians. And Asa slept with his fathers, and died in the one and fortieth year of his reign.—II Chron. xvi, 1-3, 7, 10, 12, 13.

Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else. ...In the Lord shall all the seed of Israel be justified, and shall glory.—Isa. xlv, 22, 25.

Some Real Results

OTTAWA, April 9—(CP).—Valuable results from deliberations of the Pacific Council in Washington were forecast today by Hon. Herbert V. Evatt, Australia's Minister of External Affairs, who arrived here shortly after noon for a two-day visit.

Mr. Evatt attended the first two meetings of the newly-created Council as Australia's chief representative, and will return to Washington for further meetings.

Nine Beaver Club Members Quilt 2 Quilts In Day

LAKEFIELD, April 9 — (ENS).—Nine members of the Beaver Club, in an all-day session, quilted two quilts at the home of Mrs. N. S. Higgins on Wednesday. During the afternoon Mrs. Higgins gave an excellent detailed report of the Red Cross annual meeting, which was held in Toronto recently. Final arrangements were made for the euchre and dance to be held in the Memorial Hall on Friday night. The draw for the blanket will be made then, too. A delicious pot-luck dinner was served by the hostess.

Call for the Bale.

A call was sent out for the members to bring their supplies for the bale to the May meeting, at the April gathering of the W.M.S. of the United Church which was held at the home of Miss Margaret Sanderson on Tuesday afternoon. The hymn 'What a Friend we have in Jesus" was followed by prayer by Mrs. M. Jory, and all repeating the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Stanley Richardson read the Bible lesson. Mrs. Elmer Milburn gave the fifth chapter of the study book. Mrs. M. Jory was in charge of the business. The treasurer reported $59.80 on hand. Mrs. George Spence read the letter from the supply secretary regarding the bale. The W.M.S. was asked to be responsible for the flowers in the church for the remainder of April. Mrs. J. McKerchar, Mrs. W. W. Yale and Mrs. M. Jory were appointed a committee to interview Mrs. (Dr.) Avison for a special meeting of the W.M.S. in the near future. Mrs. Yale announced the oratorical contest in connection with the Temperance League would be held next Tuesday evening, April 14, in the United Church. A letter of appreciaiton was voted to be sent to Mrs. H. E. Moore, organist, for supplying the Easter cantata for the W.M.S. Easter thankoffering. A vote of thanks was extended to Miss M. Sanderson for her hospitality. The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. F. Kelly.

Campbellford Seeks Industries

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9 (ENS).—Discussion of this town's industrial position and a review of some of the steps already taken keynoted the meeting of the Water and Light Commission here on Wednesday evening. It was Mayor Long who opened the discussion by pointing out that a considerable number of vacant houses were being created due to the removal of entire families. However, there was one happy feature of this situation, which the Mayor did not fail to note, that was, there is no unemployment in Campbellford and as a consequence, practically no relief. The board was unanimous in its conviction that wage earners had in many instances gone to work in war industries attracted by the higher rates of pay. An indication the Commission had left no stone unturned in its effort to get an industry here, was given by Chairman J. O. Benor after the Mayor had read a newspaper clipping urging all small factories and workshops to make their facilities known to the I.S.C. Said Mr. Benor, "A complete list of all available plants in town has been on file in both Toronto and Ottawa for months."

Another question raised by the Mayor was why an additional amount of power could not be sold to the Hydro in view of their recently announced shortage. Manager Denyes explained this away, pointing out it was a shortage which existed only on peak load and hence it would not ease the situation to take a few hundred extra horsepower from Campbellford's power plant. In response to a request made by the I.O.D.E. for a light in the building they are using for paper and salvage storage, a motion was passed authorizing that one be installed at no charge and maintained so long as the barn was being used by the Chapter for this purpose.

Chairman Benor read [illegible] statement of collections for the three months ending March 31, disclosing $10.145.57 collected from light and power and $1.448.20 from water department, making a total of $11,593.77 or about $100 above the same period a year ago.

ONTARIO SECONDARY SCHOOL CAGE HONORS GO TO WINDSOR

Windsor Thumps St. Kitts 41-22 For Cage Honors

TORONTO, April 9 — (CP). — Patterson Collegiate of Windsor defeated St. Catharines Collegiate 41-22 here last night to win the Ontario Secondary Schools senior basketball championship.

Windsor, holding the edge in weight and speed, jumped into an early lead, ahead 12-8 at the half, and never was seriously threatened. The Pattersons were dangerous at all times with long shots and made the most of their opportunities around the basket. Although the Saints fought gamely they were no match for the Western Ontario S. S.A. champions.

Kirkland Lake defeated Ottawa University High 31-21 in the consolation final between these teams, beaten in the senior semi-finals on Tuesday night. Kirkland was ahead 17-14 at the half, 22-17 at the three-quarters and won going away.

In the senior final neither team was able to score on four shots in the first half, Windsor missing four and St. Catharines three.

J. Shuttleworth led the victors' attack, scoring 13 points. He opened the scoring in the first quarter and led the attack in a fast second quarter that ended with Patterson ahead 10-4. F. Thomas was a potent part of the Windsor attack, making 11 points. E. McKenna and G. Morton were best for the losers with 9 and 7 points respectively.

Both Play Cautiously.

Play was slow in the first quarter, but became faster as the second quarter opened. Up to this point both teams played carefully and checked closely. Windsor's superior shooting gave them the edge.

Windsor scored twice in the first minute of the last half and maintained the pressure except for a brief period when Saint Catharines carried the play.

The Saints were bothered by the deadly shooting of the Windsor forwards and could find no defence against it.

St. Catharines opened the last quarter checking closely and shooting from a distance. But Windsor dropped back on the defensive and waited for the breaks. Pattersons were ahead 30-15 half way through the session. Saints started a reckless drive but Windsor matched them score for score and better. The game ended with Windsor pressing the play.

A. F. S. Gilbert, principal of the Kennedy Collegiate, Windsor, presented the winners with their Canadian Secondary Schools Association crests.

Ottawa was about even on the play in the first half of the consolation final, but the Northern champions were more accurate around the basket. Ottawa stayed outside the defence area, trying to count on long shots. In the last half Ottawa tired and the Northerners were able to pull ahead.

J. MacNiven was the spark of the Kirkland Lake attack, scoring 12 points and providing the power needed to keep the team pressing. H. Waller scored eight points for the Northerners.

Y. Lacasse bagged nine points for the losers and C. Benoit also showed well for the Ottawa team, scoring five points and fighting hard throughout.

Baseball Training Camp Notes

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—Manager Luke Sewell believes the fate of St. Louis Browns, picked by many to finish in the first division, depends largely on how well his outstanding rookie, Vern Stephens, can hit and play shortstop. Luke is confident he will make the grade in the big time.

ENID, Okla., April 9 (AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates will field one of the youngest teams in the majors when the baseball firing begins in earnest next week. Exclusive of batterymen, the Pirates' opening day lineup will average 26 years a man.

ENID, Okla. — Manager Connie Mack expects Bill Knickerbocker's "baseball sense" to smooth out Philadelphia Athletics' infield. The ex-White Sox second sacker "always seems to be in the right spot and moves about with the smoothness that the others lacked," Connie explains.

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.—The death of Paul Derringer's baby son, Lucien Paul, makes it unlikely that the Cincinnati Reds' ace will pitch the season opener against Pittsburg Tuesday. He left the team for Sarastoa, Fla., yesterday.

WILMINGTON, Del.—New York Yankees, who make their last road appearance of the training season against Brooklyn today, are up to their old tricks. Although they lost the game, yesterday's four home runs boosted the Yankee total to 22 for the spring. Joe DiMaggio tops the list with seven.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — For the third straight day, New York Giants are counting on Carl Hubbel to start against Cleveland Indians here this afternoon. Hubbel was slated to pitch Tuesday, but weather conditions forced cancellation of the game. He was re-scheduled yesterday, and again the weather prevented play.

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP). — The horses start running at Jamaica and Keeneland; New England opens its season Saturday, the day after Florida closes....Wonder when the fans are supposed to find time to refill their pocketbooks?.... It's our idea that all sports seasons run too long. There would be more fun and just as many customers if they'd start later and end earlier so the fans could get a breathing spell and get steamed up about each new sport as its season came along.

HEDLUNDS WIN 48-34

WINNIPEG, April 9 (CP)—Favorites to wind up the Western Canada senior women's basketball championship in straight games, Vancouver Hedlunds today had a 2-0 lead in the three-of-five series over the Winnipeg Altomahs.

The British Columbia champions last night defeated the Manitoba titleholders 48-34 for their second straight victory. The third game will be played Friday.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The Toronto Maple Leafs will face the acid test tonight. Hurled back on their heels by two straight defeats at home at the hands of a club that couldn't do better than finish fifth in the N.H.L. race, the Leafs tonight have to face a confident Red Wing club on Detroit ice where no one has beaten them for twelve straight games. True the Leafs have won two and tied one in four previous games in Detroit this season but it would not do to count too much on that record tonight. The pressure is practically all on the Leafs who must win tonight or find themselves almost out of the picture. And the impression is gaining ground that some of the Leafs are inclined to back up when the pressure is on. They are good front-runners but lose a lot of their steam when the going is tough and the other team is full of fight. The Toronto team have it in their own hands to refute such criticisms. They can outfight and outplay the Red Wings tonight and put themselves back into the series with a victory or they can curl up and let Jack Adams' battlers skate off the ice with a third win. Beating a hot club that is really rolling and is encouraged by having walloped their opposition twice away from home is a real job but it should not be beyond the Leafs' capabilities if they are anywhere near as good a club as the Toronto press pictured them to be after they had taken the Rangers.

* * * * * *

Goalie Johnny Mowers is being given a lot of the credit for the success of the Red Wings. The Niagara Falls lad who played against the Petes three years ago when the Cataracts eliminated the homesters in a hard-fought series and was a big factor in the Niagara Falls win on that occasion, even if he was beaten cold by Doug Brennan on a penalty shot, turned in a great card in both games against the Leafs. Don Crowe of the Petes who saw Tuesday's game in Toronto says Mowers was nonchalant all through the engagement and refused to crack under pressure. On one occasion when Turk Broda held up the game for several minutes adjusting his pads, Mowers calmly stretched himself on the ice in the Detroit net, hoisted his feet up against the goalpost and took his ease until Broda was ready to resume operations. If the Red Wings' goalie was bothered in the least by nerves in that engagement he succeeded in keeping the fact completely concealed.

Congratulations are in order today to our neighboring club, the Oshawa Generals upon their cleancut capture of the Eastern Canadian junior championship. The Oshawa kids played rather spotty hockey during the group and finished second to Brantford. They staggered through the playoffs, having the toughest possible time disposing of the Brantford Lions and the Guelph Royals but they proved a great money team, doing their best fighting when their backs were to the wall. Once they had the O.H.A. title won the Generals seemed to hit their real form and they have romped through the Eastern Canadian playoffs, taking Ottawa juniors without trouble and then grabbing the series from the much-touted Montreal Royals in four straight games, winning the fourth last night by 6 to 4. Before meeting Oshawa the Montreal team had won 19 straight games so that the feat of the Generals in taking four battles in a row from a previously undefeated club was a notable achievement. Now the Oshawa team will travel West to play for the Memorial Cup and they will carry with them the best wishes of Peterborough fandom.

Should Be A Battle

The team that emerges victorious from the clash between Dominions and Collegiate in the second game of the City League semi-finals tonight will clash with Quakers in the final series for the league title, with the first game billed for Saturday night. The final will be a best two-of-three setup, with games to count, league officials have announced. Tonight's battle should be a sizzler. Collegiate, down eleven points, are counting on their familiarity with the big Collegiate gym floor to give them an edge over Dominions but the latter are equally confident that they can hold their lead against the fast-stepping Collegians. The game is billed for 8 o'clock and there will probably be a big following, particularly of school fans, in the gallery when the tussle gets under way. It will be a keen argument between two squads who break fast and both of whom have a number of clever snipers who can really toss the leather into the hoop if they are given the least latitude.

* * * * * *

Speaking of basketball it was just twenty years ago that a Peterborough team were the victims of a rather bad trimming. The Y.M.C.A. team hooked up with the Toronto Garrets in an O.A.B.A. game and when the smoke had cleared away the Queen City five had taken the decision by a substantial score. What made the game remarkable was not that the Toronto score was so large but rather that the Peterborough count was so small. As a matter of fact the Garrets won the argument by 34 to 4 and that Peterborough total must be something in the nature of a record low. At half time the Toronto cagers were leading by 22 to 1, Peterborough being held to one successful free throw and unable to score from the field at all. In the second half they added another point on a free throw and Claire Stuart, playing guard for the homesters tossed in a field basket, the only major score for the Petes that night. The Peterborough team consisted of Jobbitt and Chalmer Nicholls, forwards, Pogue, centre and Alex Darling and Claire Stuart, guards, with Hardill and Bergoine as alternates.

* * * * * *

Ned Vitarelli, popular Peterborough player, is home from the hockey wars in the United States after another season in the Eastern United States Amateur League. Ned started the campaign with Pick Hines' new club, the Johnstown, Pa., outfit, but the experiment there could not be listed under the heading of a success. The Johnstown rink was inadequate and the club was not overwhelmed by patronage. The Peterborough lad finally wound up the season with his old love, the Baltimore Orioles. During the campaign he saw several of the other Peterborough travelling players in action, reporting Bill Calladine his old teammate as going nicely with the Providence Reds, Julian Wade as having had a fine season with Boston Olympics and winding up in the American League and Red Creighton turning it on with the Akron Clippers.

* * * * * *

The amateur hockey trail is getting to be a lengthy affair. Quebec Aces who meet Ottawa Fliers tonight at Montreal in the third game of the Eastern Canadian senior finals have already played 60 games this season which is 12 more than the N.H.L. clubs play in their regular schedule. It's a lot of hockey for players some of whom at least have jobs to look after when they are not engaged in doing their ice stuff, and it is no wonder that Don Penniston, the Aces' coach complains that the wear and tear of a long campaign is beginning to tell on his players. The reason for so many games is to be found in the box office figures of course. Long group schedules and group playoffs and then three-out-of-five and four-out-of-seven setups in the playdowns are the rule because the public continue to pay on the dotted line. The number of games could be materially curtailed by simplified playoff arrangements but so long as the fans come through with worthwhile patronage the players will have to suffer. Even from a financial viewpoint it is doubtful in the long run whether protracted playoffs really always pay. After all the overhead goes on all the time.

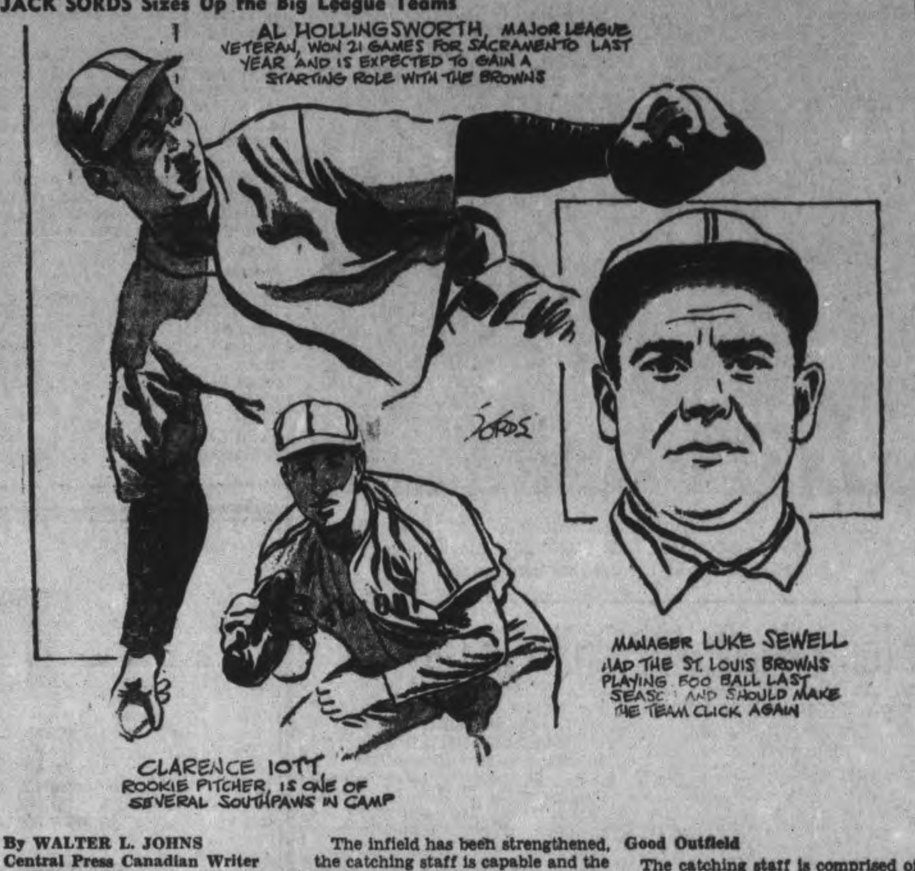
HOW THEY LOOK IN THE MAJORS

JACK SORDS Sizes Up the Big League Teams



By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Canadian Writer

NEW YORK, April 9.—For several years the St. Louis Browns have been picked by the baseball guessers as the team to surprise in the American league race. This year is no exception and many observers look for the Browns to make a fight for a first division berth, a spot the club hasn't enjoyed since 1929.

Diagnosing the Brownie setup this season we first must take note of the players lost to the armed services. Outfielder Joe Grace, First Baseman George Archie, Pitcher Maurice Newlin and Infielder Johnny Lucadello are four varsity men gone. Then there are Bob Neighbors, rookie infielder, and Outfielder Al White, also on the national defence service list. Pitcher Jack Kramer has indicated he will stay on his job in the shipyards in the southland.

Manager Luke Sewell, who gave his team a big lift last season when he replaced Fred Haney, should be able to bring out the best in his pitchers, which is just what the Browns need to make them click.

Infield Stronger

The infield has been strengthened, the catching staff is capable and the outfield respectable. A few pitchers to help out Elden Auker, Denny Galehouse, Bob Harris and Bob Muncrief, which makes up the starting staff of last season, and the Browns may click.

Best of the newcomers is an old hand at pitching. Al Hollingsworth, 32-year-old lefthander from Sacramento, pitched for Cincinnati for three years and also has seen service with Washington, the Phils and the Dodgers. Last year with Sacramento he won 21 games against nine losses.

Frank Biscan, another southpaw from Toledo, has been impressive in camp, but he is expected to be lost to the army.

Stan Ferens, who won 19 games for Columbus, Ga., last season; Clarence Iott, who won 13 for Paragould, Ark. and Ewald Pyle, from San Antonio, are the other rookie hurlers expected to figure in Manager Sewell's plans.

Holdover hurlers include George Caster, Johnny Niggeling and Bill Trotter. Archie McKain and Fred Ostermueller have been released to Toledo.

Good Outfield

The catching staff is comprised of Rick Ferrell, who spent some time with Washington last year. Bob Swift, rookie in 1940, and Ray Hayworth, ex-Tiger catcher, signed as a free agent.

In the outfield, Roy Cullenbine, Walt Judnich and Chet Laabs comprise the regular gardeners. Glenn McQuillen, who hit .329 for Toledo last season, is making a bid for regular work. The Browns could use a couple more outfielders for reserve duty.

The newcomers in the infield are Don Gutteridge, who hit .308 in 170 games for Sacramento last season and who has spent some time with the Cardinals in the past, and Vernon Stephens, Toledo's shortstop last season and the most impressive rookie in camp. Gutteridge will play second and Stephens short, according to present plans. Floyd Baker, another rookie, is a third base candidate.

George McQuinn is the first baseman and Harlond Clift the regular third baseman. Don Heffner and Alan Strange are reserve infielders.

NIGHT SWIM
CHAPTER XIII

Three days went by like magic. Allan accustomed himself to the ways of this strange island jail whose invisible bars were more effective barriers to escape than any iron grill. The guards kept to themselves on the Peninsula side of the island, their quarters in the smaller building he had mistaken for a boathouse, but they were there, all right, their rifles at hand and their slanted eyes on the qui vive. And a fellow could always spot an ugly triangular fin cutting the water of the Gulf if he cared to look.

Except for the fate which hung over his head, Allan would have had no fault to find with his lot. De Fontanelle was amusing in a talkative way, though sometimes Allan caught him off-guard when his face was drawn and morose. A man with a secret? wondered the American, but could find no answer. Kay Sargent was entirely charming, even if her pert little nose went up at any mention of Asia; in three days under such circumstances as these, he got to know her better than in as many months under normal conditions.

She worried a lot, especially when she found him breaking off a conversation to stare speculatively at the door set in the rock of the neighboring island. He had said nothing to the Frenchman of his notion, seeing no point in unnecessary confidences, but he had told Kay.

"Allan, you mustn't dream of such a thing!" she protested almost tearfully. "If you won't think of yourself, think of leaving me here alone—just when you've brought me new hope! Those sharks—"

"Listen, dear girl, I've had time to figure out something." This was the afternoon of the third day and they were seated on the dock, waiting for Dr. Sargent to be exhibited at six. "If it was true about those sharks being such good watchdogs, they wouldn't bother to keep an armed guard over us. I don't believe sharks bite people, anyway, not if the people are alive and moving. The rest is a cinch. The nights now are black as pitch, and there's always some sort of a light over there to guide me. I'll slip off this dock tonight, say about 12—"

"Tonight! No, Allan—no, no!"

"Kay, dear, I must. I've got to see your father and talk with him. That key left outside is too good a chance to miss. That's sort of typical of those—those yellow devils, don't you think? Once a Jap figures he has everything under control, he gets careless. I—"

"No, Allan! You mustn't risk it!"

* * *

But he did. That very night, with Kay whispering frantic pleas to the last, he stripped to drawers and undershirt and lowered himself into the water. He was scared stiff, and would have admitted the fact cheerfully to anybody in the world—except Kay Sargent.

There was not much current between the islands, and what little there was, favored his progress. He swam low in the water, making as little noise as possible and trying hard not to think of sharks—but not forgetting to keep every limb in continuous motion!

Five minutes later, hardly able to believe his good luck, he crept up on the sloping shore of the main island. Here everything was dark and still, though a hundred yards beyond, the cannery buildings hummed with activity. They worked day and night—the yellow devils!

His wet underclothes clinging to him, his tennis sneakers squishing at every step, he stooped low and glided through the shadows toward his goal. Once he froze, when he thought he saw a figure move off to his right, but apparently it was a false alarm, and he went on.

He had studied the set-up so carefully for 72 hours that he literally knew his way in the dark, and his questing hand came readily to rest on the key in the lock of a heavy iron door. He was surprised at the massive affair, which reminded him on the ones he had heard clanging while blindfolded. What was the big idea?

He turned the well-oiled key, drew the metal door open, and left it ajar behind him in case he should leave in a hurry. Forthwith, he was in trouble. He had not realized he would be in a passage blacker than Satan's shadow. Gingerly inching his way, step by careful step lest he plunge down some unseen stairs, he crept onward until his outstretched fingertips touched a barrier. A grill door. Iron. Locked! And this time there was no convenient key.

He listened. The sounds of light breathing traveled to his ear. Slow, regular breaths like those of a person asleep. He shook the door gently. "Dr. Sargent! Dr. Sargent!" he called softly.

"Eh?" It was an old man's querulous voice. "Who's that?"

"The word is Confucius!" A light was switched on and Allan saw the doctor shuffle toward him across the small room which was his prison. The scientist peered at him. "I'm here to get you and your daughter out of this jam. Better put out that light, sir!"

"Thank God!" The promptness with which the light went off showed the old man quick-witted. "What can I do to help?"

"Talk fast, to begin with. Lots I don't know. Why are you in Lower California? Why did these fellows kidnap you?" No reply, and Allan added urgently: "The word is Confucious! You can trust me!"

* * *

"All right. I've been working two years on a new high explosive—ten times more powerful than anything now in use. I told our government what I was doing, and they sent me here to locate a deposit of rare mineral that is one of the basic ingredients of the formula. The Japs tumbled to the idea about the time I did. Maybe it was coincidence; more likely espionage in my San Francisco laboratory."

"They got here first?"

"Months before I did. When I turned up they were set to grab me. They were making the stuff,

Baseball Leafs Take Reds 4-3 In Southern Loop

COLUMBIA, S.C., April 9.—Toronto Maple Leafs pushed across three first-inning runs yesterday afternoon and went on to defeat Columbia Reds of the South Atlantic League, 4-3. It was Toronto's sixth straight victory and their ninth in ten starts.

Johnny Gee and Jim Davis restricted the Sally Leaguers to nine scattered safeties, but the towering lefty allowed only one run during his stint, that coming in the fifth on a single, walk, wild pitch and an infield out.

Eddie Yount poled the game's first pitch over the left field fence to start Toronto's opening burst. Two walks and singles by Gregory and Myers accounted for two more runs before the side was retired.

The winning run came in the sixth, after Gregory doubled and was out at the plate trying to score on an infield error. Myers reached second on the play, advanced on an infield out and stole home. The teams play a repeat performance in Gamden today.

The pitching situation in Toronto's camp was rather a congested one until Tuesday, when General Manager Lee MacPhail handed out travelling transportation to three members of the mound corps. Canadian-born Ralph McCabe of Belleville and Max Samuely of Toronto have been sent on option to Harrisburg Senators of the Inter-State League, a Pittsburg Club affiliate. George Windsor, obtained in the Carl Fischer trade with Seattle, had his contract turned over to Albany of the Eastern League.

Disposal of that trio leaves ten hurlers on the Toronto list and another is expected momentarily. The Leafs wind up their training program here on Friday with a game against Scranton of the Eastern League. Immediately after the game, the Toronto Club heads northward for Saturday, Sunday and Monday games in Norfolk against the Piedmont League Tars.

OSHAWA GENERALS KINGS OF EASTERN CANADA HOCKEY CIRCUIT

Swamp Royals 4 Straight Win Last By 6-4

By SYDNEY GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 9—(CP).—The Eastern Canada junior hockey championship belonged to Oshawa Generals again today, for the fourth time in the last five years.

Generals turned into the home stretch of Canadian junior title competition here last night with a 6-4 victory over Montreal Royals to sweep the best-of-seven Eastern final in four straight. The Oshawa club, coached by Charlie Conacher and Matt Leyden, will travel to Winnipeg next week to meet Edmonton Maple Leafs or Portage La Prairie Terriers for the Memorial Cup.

Portage leads Edmonton 2-0 in a best-of-five series for the Western crown, but even if Edmonton comes from behind to win the series the final likely will start in Winnipeg. Edmonton played on an open-air rink during this season and there is no ice available in the Alberta city.

Oshawa's domination of Eastern junior hockey since 1938 was broken last year by Montreal, but the defending champions had nothing to match Oshawa's speed and ability in the series completed last night. Generals scored twice in the first period and pulled ahead again in th second after Royals tied the score. Each club scored twice in the third.

It was one of the best of the four games, although not as close as the first two. Scores were 3-2, 4-3 (overtime) and 7-2 in the first three games.

Just Couldn't Do It

Royals last chance to prolong the series came late in the third period when Buck Davies of Oshawa's outstanding first line drew a penalty. Montreal trailed by one goal at the time and Royals swarmed around the Oshawa net seeking the equalizer. But they were held out and in the last minute of play Floyd Curry scored again for Generals.

Davies scored Oshawa's first goal from Bep Guidolin, Oshawa's rapidly-developing rookie defenceman, at 3.12 in the first period. Nelson got the second more than 10 minutes later, with Guidolin drawing another assist.

Eck Miller and Tommy Hale, forwards who hadn't been used since the first game of the series, combined for Royals' first counter midway in the second, with Miller scoring. Guidolin was penalized and Miller got another to tie the game. But Royals couldn't hold out the resultant Oshawa offensive. Ron Wilson scored on a solo effort and Red Tilson sent Generals two up again.

Hale scored in the third but Nelson got it back. Then Hale scored again and for six minutes Royals battled against time to draw even, before Generals regained the offensive and Curry ended the scoring.

Terriers Snatch 2nd Win

By MARSHALL BATEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, April 9 (CP)—Edmonton Maple Leafs, riddled with injuries but in possession of reserve power, today are patching their lineup after losing a heart-breaking last-minute 6-4 decision in the Western junior final series to Portage La Prairie Terriers here last night.

Maple Leafs, coming up with the most improved performance seen here all season, fought inch-by-inch in a fast rugged encounter before 3,000 fans that could have gone either way.

Big break came at 19:14 in the third period. Joe Bell, snaring Bob Love's pass, flashed in front of Goalkeeper Wilber Delaney, outguessed him, and sent Terriers to their 21st straight victory ince Jan. 2.

The goal put the Manitobans ahead 2-0 in their best-of-five series and just one win away from entering the Memorial Cup final against Oshawa Generals, who eliminated Montreal Royals in the Eastern final last night.

He and his linemates—Centre Lin Bend and Left Winger Bob Love—and a brother, Gordie Bell, the goalkeeper, stole most of Terriers' honors. The other trio—Wally Stefanview, Jack McDonald, and Bill Goden, main cogs in the 13-3 triumph in the first game, were ineffective around the Edmonton goal. Goden managed to score once, however. The other Terrier counter went to bend.

When Maple Leafs went down to defeat two of their four defencemen, Bud Patry and Eddie Huffman, were nursing injuries on the players bench, along with Centreman Walter Dorohoy.

Racing Breeders Urged To Set United Front

TORONTO, April 9—Unification of the various interests in thoroughbred breeding and horse racing was urged by Humphrey S. Finney, field secretary of the Maryland Breeders Association and secretary of the National Breeders Committee of the United States, in his address Wednesday night to members of the Throughbred Breeders Association in thte King Edward Hotel.

In appealing for all interests to unite, Mr. Finney said through such co-operation a united front could be formed to work and assist the Government and carry on racing in the Dominion during the war. Racing in the United States, he said, was bending forth every effort to continue racing and breeding in the United States and with the formation two weeks ago of the National Racing Association in Chicago, all were united to assist the Government in every possible way to carry the war to a successful conclusion.

Support for Farmers

With racing interests both in Canada and in the United States closely co-operating with the Department of Agriculture in giving financial assistance to the fall fairs, racing, he declared, has won the confidence of the farmers. Benefits derived by them, he believed, won their support and he was confident they would stand firmly behind thoroughbred racing should any attempt be made by reformers at sniping against racing during wartime.

Mr. Finney suggested to the gathering that their president, Ryland H. New, and his directors give serious thought to having the Thoroughbred Breeders' Association become affiliated with the National Breeders' Committee, of which Major Louie Beard, of the Whitney racing interests, is chairman. If the Canadian organization placed themselves on a reciprocal footing with the American Association he believed it would prove beneficial both now and in the future for all interested in thoroughbred racing.

"The value of breeders' organization," was the topic of the English-born horseman's address. He outlined the development of the Maryland Horse Breeders' Association since its inception. "By following the ideals of the Maryland organization, breeders, owners, trainers would meet on a common footing and you can build up an organization in an enviable position," he declared.

Ten States Represented

Dealing with the recent turf congress, which held session in Chicago, Mr. Finney, who participated in the convention, stated ten States in the Union were represented. Definite assurance was voiced at the convention that the Government would not curtail racing any further than has been done on the Pacific coast unless a war emergency should arise. A good year in racing in the United States was predicted. Mr. Finney attended the Bowie race meeting in Maryland before leaving for Toronto and sounded an encouraging note of success for the meeting now in progress. There are many horses at the different race tracks in the East, he said, giving definite assurance there would be no shortage of racing material at the different courses. The greater number of stables which shipped last winter to California have wended their way East and has resulted in shortage of stable accommodation at different tracks.

Recalls Former Visit

Ryland H. New, president of the T.B.A., introduced Mr. Finney to his audience. Finney is well known to many of the local horsemen and was given a rousing welcome when he rose to speak. He recalled the last time he visited Toronto was when he managed the racing interests of tthe late Sylvester Labrot of Maryland. Mr. Finney was at Woodbine when Labrot horses raced with marked success here ten years ago when Tred Avon won the 1932 running of the King Edward Hotel Gold Cup; Spring Steel won the Woodstock Plate and Bally Bay finished second to Miss Purray in the Victoria Stakes for 2-year-olds.

While there is no curtailment of breeding throughbred horses evident in the United States as the result of th war, the speaker warned of the danger of one developing next year. All of the leading sires had a full book this season, and any falling off in breeding during this year, he thought, would be by lesser known stallions. One of the ills of the breeding industry, he opined, will be corrected as the result of the war. Reduction of breeding, he said, would liminate poor stock and result in weeding cheap horses from racing.

Coffee Port Burns

SAN SALVADOR El Salvador, April 9 — (AP). — The coffee port of Acajutla, 2,500 population, was almost destroyed yesterday in the greatest fire this country has experienced in a century. The post office, military headquarters, telegraph office, barracks. and customs offices were among the buildings destroyed in the 4-hour fire. Damage was estimated at about $1,600,000, but no loss of life was reported.

Wings Are Cocky Out To Take Leafs 3rd In Row

By WATSON SPOELSTRA
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT, April 9—(AP).—The rough and tumble Detroit Red Wings, with the advantage of home ice where they have gone unbeaten for 12 games, will attempt tonight to trip Toronto Maple Leafs for the third straight time in their best-of-seven game series for the Stanley Cup, emblem of world hockey supremacy.

Fresh from a pair of astounding triumphs at Toronto, where they hitherto had gained three victories in five years, the confident Detroiters set their sights on a clean sweep by winning here tonight and Sunday. A capacity crowd of 14,000 is expected tonight.

If the series goes the limit, games will be played at Toronto next Tuesday, at Detroit Thursday, and back at Toronto April 18.

A cup triumph for Detroit would give the Red Wing organization a virtual monopoly on major hockey titles. The Wing farms at Indianapolis and Omaha have won the playoffs in the American League and American Association, respectively.

Brilliant as the Leafs have been this season, the cards seemingly are staked against them. A team losing the first two games on home ice never has rallied to gain possession of the highly-prized trophy.

If the Red Wings have a date with destiny, as most rinksiders think they have, the record of the 1938 Chicago Black Hawks will be more than matched. That season Chicago came from fifth place in the National league standings to win the cup in the playoffs—from Toronto, three games to one.

Detroit likewise started from fifth place, sweeping Montreal Canadiens and the 1941 cup holders, Boston Bruins, out of the contention in preliminary playoffs. Boston incidentally made hockey history last year by crushing Detroit four straight games.

The Leafs rapidly are acquiring the reputation of hockey's great runners-up. If they miss this one, it will be seven times in 10 years they have bowed in the final playoff series.

News From Training Camps

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — Cleveland Indians took on New York Giants today with one utility infielder—Russ Peters, who has a broken nose. Oscar Grimes, veteran utility man who plays all infield posts, went home to Cleveland last night with a cold and 102-degree temperature. Peters was injured several weeks ago by a thrown ball.

WILMINGTON, Del.—Dolph Camilli and Billy Herman, who have been receiving hospital treatment, have returned to Brooklyn Dodgers with assurances that neither is suffering from anything that a few days' rest won't cure. A deep cold settled in Camilli's back and Herman is recovering from a strained muscle in his side.

FamedBabeRuth Critically Ill In Hollywood

Suffering from recurring chills and high fever, the homerun champion of the old New York Yankee machine was carried on a stretcher yesterday morning from his hotel suite to the hospital.

"Up to now," said Dr. R. Nichols Smith, "we dont know exactly what is wrong with him, but it appears to be a pulmonary, or lung, condition."

Was Working Hard.

Ruth has been in Hollywood eight weeks, playing the film role of Babe Ruth in a story about his former teammate, the late Lou Gehrig. He's worked hard before the cameras and in typical Ruthian style has been little short of dynamic in his time away from the studio.

He dieted strenuously to get back down to something akin to the physical shape he knew as baseball's greatest slugger. He took off something like 40 pounds.

"But it didn't seem to hurt him," said a studio attache. "I never saw a man of 48 with so much driving energy."

He was placed in a pneumonia jacket, customary in cases of this kind, and was given a thorough check-over.

"He is responding nicely, but for a man who was as dangerously ill as he was when he first came to the hospital, it is too early right now to say that he might not suddenly take a turn for the worse," Dr. Smith said.

Demand for His Services.

The doctor pointed out that the Babe is a big man, well over 200 pounds, and he recalled that the Bambino hadn't been in the best of health since an automobile accident in New York several months ago.

Hollywood welcomed the old hero and Ruth has been a busy man ever since. He's made numerous personal appearances, especially at Army camps and war bond demonstrations.

Just a week ago he made an appearance in familiar surroundings. He attended the opening of the Pacific Coast Baseball League in Hollywood.

Several weeks ago Ruth injured a hand when he plunged it through a railway car window in an unscheduled bit of by-play before the camera. It was a scene showing the champion Yankees returning from a World Series triumph. The Babe, in reel as well as real life, proved too triumphant.

46 Of 75 Experts Pick Cards

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP)—By a 2-to-1 margin, the experts today picked St. Louis Cardinals to overthrow Brooklyn's Dodgers and win the 1942 National League pennant.

In a surprisingly one-sided vote, 46 of the 74 baseball writers balloting in the annual Associated Press pennant poll tabbed the Cards to finish on top. One other writer, Jim Gould of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, couldn't make up his mind between the Cards and Cincinnati Reds, and split his ballot.

Only 23 picked the Dodgers to repeat their 1941 triumph in the senior circuit. Four forecast a return of the Reds to the top spot they held in 1939 and '40. No one could see the Cards worse than third, while four writers picked Brooklyn as low as fourth.

Those were the only three clubs drawing ballots for first place and the voting wound up in that order, with St. Louis piling up 563½ points on a basis of eight for first-place vote, seven for a second, six for a third, etc. Brooklyn had 515 and Cincinnati 434½.

Pittsburg Pirates, who brought up the rear of the first division in last year's pennant parade, were tabbed to do that again this time. Frank Frisch's frolics fwere selected on three second-place ballots, 21 third and 32 fourth and compiled 375 points.

The second-division voting wound up with New York, Chicago, Boston and (you guessed it) Philadelphia Phils in that order. There was quite a scramble for fifth place, with the Giants, under Mel Ott's new management, winning out, 290 to 244.

Naturally, there was no argument for the cellar. In fact, only four of the 74 writers had the Phils in seventh place. One hardy citizen however, saw them as high as fifth in his crystal ball.

Mack In Dumps Over A's Mound Staff

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, April 9 (AP)—Disappointed with his pitchers, Connie Mack nevertheless believes his Philadelphia Athletics "will be all right" this season.

"I feel that I am going to have a pretty fair ball club this year, one that with good pitching will hold its own with any team in our league," the 79-year-old pilot predicted. The A's finished in last place in 1941.

The pitchers who have weakened Connie's hopes are Dick Fowler, Fred Caligiuri and Bill Beckman. The first two showed much promise last fall. Mack said, but have been hit hard this spring and Beckman "has been murdered."

"The way it looks now," he said, "my starters will have to be Jack Knott, Phil Marchildon, Russ Christopher and Herman Besse. I'm going to keep Lum Harris and Rog Wolff for relief—to save games—if we are ahead."

Dick Siebert at first, Bill Knickerbocker at second, Rookie Jack Wallaesa at short, and Buddy Blair at third, are Connie's first choices, and he has Pete Suder, a regular third baseman last year and Kenny Richardson, as utility men.

He feels Frankie Hayes will take good care of the catching chores.

Rare Praise Paid Lakefield Red Cross Group

LAKEFIELD, April 9—(ENS). — "Not one article has had to be remade of all the donations from the Lakefield Red Cross Society since the war began"—such was the outstanding tribute brought back from warehouse officials at Red Cross headquarters in Toronto, by Mrs. Stan Higgins and reported at the April session of the local society on Tuesday night in the Memorial Hall.

Just what this means is explained when Mrs. Higgins told of the staff that is kept busy at headquarters in altering and refinishing articles not up to standard and forwarded from across the Dominion, and it proved great encouragement and added considerable uplift to the executive and members in general.

Mrs. S. A. Grylls, delegate to the convention, outlined highlights of the Toronto rally in an interesting manner, quoting the National Director of American Red Cross Volunteer Services, Mrs. Dwight Davis, in saying "It is our pride that we have never had to refuse an appeal by the British society." She also expressed her sincere belief that if the women of the Empire and U.S.A. will have faith and confidence in one another and will unite in their prayers, sacrifices and determination to serve to the utmost of their ability, that not only now but in the reconstruction days ahead, women can be a tremendous factor in preservation of our ideals.

One hundred and four articles with a value of $213.75 were shipped in March, representing part of the local quota turned out since the first of the year, Mrs. W. E. Gillman, sewing convener, stated. This was made up as follows: 30 infants' mothers' gowns, 13 dozen diapers, nighties, 30 infants' vests, 10 15 pair of pyjamas, 30 boys' shirts, 20 babies' sweaters and 20 pairs of bootees.

Knitting Convener Mrs. S. A. Grylls reported a fine list forwarded for the army: 5 turtle-neck sweaters, 15 scarves, 19 pair service socks, 32 pair of gloves, and 7 ribbed helmets; for the navy: 11 turtle neck sweaters, 2 scarves, 14 seamen's socks, 30 pair service socks, 6 pair mitts, 2 pair gloves and 2 aero caps.

Wool Running Low.

Owing to the great shortage of wool and material yarn will only be given out twice a month instead of once a week as in the past, and as a result workers will concentrate on three main necessities—gloves, turtle neck sweaters and seamen's socks.

This shortage was pointed out to Mrs. Grylls in her Toronto visit. She told of seeing boxes packed for prisoners of war, 10,000 a week, and of a trip to the Armories in the evening where First Aid and ambulance loading was demonstrated by C Company composed of business girls who train and are on duty evenings and week-ends.

It was decided a committee would interview the council on Monday night regarding salvage and the calling of a citizens' meeting to be addressed by Mrs. Kearns of the Peterborough Salvage Committee. During the month $40 was sent to the War Victims' Fund, proceeds from a film showing. Plans were laid to have Trinity Young People of Peterborough present a play on April 24.

Mrs. J. R. Ridpath presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Grace Stuart, who is in Toronto.

ports that defending fighter planes were badly outnumbered. They speculated whether this meant some landing fields in Malta already had been made unserviceable or whether the maintenance of the fighter planes had been hampered by the raids.

The Malta communique last night said R.A.F. fighters destroyed or damaged 13 planes yesterday while anti-aircraft batteries accounted for eight planes destroyed or damaged.

Meanwhile, Britain and the Axis are ready to hurl their big Middle East forces into the next round of the battle for Libya—even now the action may have started—and there is evidence on both sides of determination to make the fight decisive this time.

British forces with tanks and planes were reported in considerable force southward from Ain El Gazala, 40 miles west of Tobruk.

British forces have with them in Libya a number of Allied units, including a contingent of Poles. The whole force is heavily armored.

Despite reports of increased enemy activity in Libya, a British military commentator said to-day it is not yet evident whether this was preliminary to a large-scale attack.

Two or three columns are believed operating in the area in front of the British lines and there is speculation whether these are trying to penetrate the "outer crust" of defences for information or prepare the way for a full-scale offensive.

The military commentator appeared to discount the chances of a large Axis attack, but other sources continued to assert that the activity was part of a German spring offensive aimed at Egypt and the Allies' vital land junction between Europe, Asia and Africa.

One reason for the evident British refusal to consider this is belief that the weather after mid-May is too hot for fighting with large armored formations.

It was recalled the same sources said last autumn it was too cold in Russia for fighting after November.

The military commentator put the Axis forces in Libya at three German divisions—two armored and one "light or motorized" and six Italian divisions, one armored and five infantry.

(The Junkers 52 is a three-motored monoplane intended to carry from 14 to 17 soldiers or an equivalent weight in supplies.)

Other prisoners taken in the same area reported heavy aircraft had been tansferred from France and North Africa to help relieve the food and munitions shortages at key bases.

By information bureau accounts, 646 German planes of all types have been shot down or wrecked on the ground in the 10 days through Wednesday, against Russian losses of 117.

Admiral William H. Standley, new United States Ambassador to the U.S.S.R., told reporters at this secondary capital that American fleet needs alone ranked ahead of air for Russia in the United States and that the supply program should be up to schedule by the end of April.

It said Budapest had protested to Berlin and Rome against formation of a Rumanian-Croatian-Slovakian union, declared to be aimed at preventing further territorial encroachments and regaining of land already lost to Hungary.

Opposition Hits Embargo On Beef Export

TORONTO, April 9.—(CP).—The Agriculture committee of the Ontario Legislature yesterday unanimously adopted a motion "strongly opposing" the placing of an embargo on the export of cattle to the United States.

The motion, moved by Ross A. McEwing (Lib. Wellington North) followed a discussion on the possibility of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board ordering an embargo because of the situation developing from the "ceiling" on the retail price of beef.

The resolution added that a plan should be worked out for the stabilization of the beef industry and the chairman of the committee, John W. Freeborn (Lib. Middlesex North) was authorized to name a group of members to carry their case to Ottawa if necessary.

Mr. McEwing said that if some assistance is not given the beef industry there would be a serious shortage of beef within the next year.

Other industries receive a cost plus price and there is no reason why the beef industry cannot receive the same," the Wellington North member declared.

He suggested the farmer should receive a subsidy on a monthly basis to aid him to carry on during the stable feeding period between September and spring.

Right in the Squeeze.

George H. Bethune (Lib. Wentworth) seconding the motion, declared that if an embargo went into effect the farmer would be right in the midde of a 'squeeze.'

"The packers know this is the time our cattle have to be marketed and if we can't export them we'll have to accept the packer's price," Mr. Bethune said.

He predicted an embargo would affect the beef trade in such a way that there would be "a tremendous food shortage" in a year or two.

Agriculture Minister P. M. Dewan said he was glad the committee had adopted the resolution because the beef men needed some support at Ottawa.

Mr. Dewan quoted figures for the weekly average livestock sales on the Toronto market which showed there was only a spread of $1.28 in the average price per hundred pounds of medium steers from September until April.

"And this is to cover the cost of four months' feeding," he said. "If someone hadn't stepped in and tried to depress the price I don't believe the present situation would have developed."

Byron Lott Heads Liberals In West Hastings

MAMORA, April 9.—(ENS). — Byron O. Lott of Sidney township, veteran politician of Hastings county, was elected president of West Hastings Liberal Association at a largely attended meeting held in Marmora town hall on Wednesday afternoon under presidency of Mackenzie Robertson of Belleville.

While the attendance was large, it was noticeable that representatives from the northern and southern sections of the riding was below the usual good mark. After the initial business of the session had been transacted, Harry Johnston, of Toronto, provincial organizer, took the chair for the election of officers.

Three nominations were received for the presidency, Byron O. Lott, Sidney township; Mackenzie Robertson, Belleville; and Mayor Harry Cory, Trenton. The last named withdrew and a ballot, taken on the other two names, resulted in favor of Mr. Lott.

Short addresses, with the amplifier in use, were heard from the three candidates for the presidency.

Harry Johnston, provincial organizer, as principal speaker, dealt with the record of the Hepburn government since it came into power. He touched upon the increase of social services as carried out by this administration, and in referring to the budget pointed out there had been no increase in the provincial debts. Township organizations were not drawn up at this meeting which nevertheless was of a very enthusiastic nature.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

BROTHER WITH R.A.F.

Chris Hayes, well known professional diver, and basketball coach has applied for enlistment with the R.C.A.F. and is waiting his call. His half-brother Douglas Giffen now serving with the Middle East Command, has 10 trips over Germany to his credit.

BANDED BLACK DUCK

George Robertson, local barber shot a black duck at Rice Lake last October that had been banded by an American Society which studies the flights of migratory wild fowl. A few days ago he received word that the duck had been banded on Nov. 22, 1936 at North Eastham, Cape Cod, in Massachusetts.

ANOTHER COMPLAINT

Now the bicycle riders are starting to complain about the city streets. One man stated this morning, he hopes members of the City Council will be forced to ride bicycles then they will do something about some of the bad holes along the main city routes.

A NEW STYLE

A well known business man in this city claims he will soon introduce a new style. He has a great many colored collars, minus shirts, so he plans to purchase several plain white shirts, and will wear a colored collar with a plain shirt. The effect he believes will be pleasing, and whether it is or not he plans to carry it out as a saving in clothing.

MORE HOUSES RUMORED.

Several rumors today intimated that more wartime houses are being planned for the north end community beyond Park Hill Road. One statement suggested that the number might be two hundred. However, nothing definite has been decided yet, but discussions may lead to decision even by the end of this week.

ATTEMPTED JOY RIDING

Pleading guilty in police court this morning to attempted theft of the use of an automobile a sixteen-year-old boy was allowed by Magistrate Langley in police court Thursday morning to go on suspended sentence. He had previously been charged with attempted theft of the car and that charge was withdrawn today and the attempted joy-riding charge substituted.

CARS BUNGED UP

Motorists apparently are not in a hurry to get damaged fenders and smashed radiator grills repaired this spring. A great many cars have been noticed on the downtown streets, sporting the scars of the road, and a few have even been observed with the front bumpers tied up with haywire. Possibly a scarcity of garage mechanics makes it difficult for the owners to get the work done at any time.

SEES FIVE DEER

George Thornton, a driver for Stock's Bread, narrowly missed hitting a herd of five deer as they were crossing the road a few nights ago, north of Haultain. He rounded a curve, and his headlights picked up the deer, within 200 feet of the truck, but he managed to slow down sufficiently to give the deer the right of way. The deer showed no fear of the lights and took their time getting off the road.

MOTORCYCLIST INJURED

D. M. Robertson, Belmont avenue suffered an injured leg, and a bruised hand at six o'clock Wednesday evening when his motorbike collided with a car at the Simcoe-George street intersection. Minor damage was done to the car and the motorcycle. Constable Gordon Trennum who investigated the mishap laid no charges. The car was driven by L. H. Marsh, 209 George street, Peterborough.

HE WAS RILED

An American who arrived in Peterborough on Tuesday declared he won't touch a drop of Canadian whiskey again. He purchased a bottle at the liquor store and they would not wrap it for him, claiming no paper was available for wrapping single bottles. The American was carrying the bottle in his outside overcoat pocket, and it was plainly visible, ...and partly empty, when he was rapping liquor store officials and the Canadian Government while eating a sandwich in a local restaurant.

KITE WEATHER

High over the Otonabee River a kite was soaring on Wednesday evening as an Ashburnham youngster ushered in the kite flying season. The kite was well made for it attained a great height, and the youthful operator was operating it from Riverside Park.

PERIOD FOR CUFFS.

Men's wear retailers may finish with cuffs any suit sold by them from stock prior to and including Monday, April 6, but these alterations must be completed by May 1. This announcement was made yesterday by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

MORE FOR THE NAVY

Peterborough boys continue to seek enlistment with the Royal Canadian Navy, and it was reported today that on Monday six local youths presented themselves at the naval barracks in Kingston. There will soon be more than 200 from the city and district in the Canadian Navy.

AUTOMOBILE STOLEN

While Mrs. J. L. McKeever, 516 Homewood avenue, was attending the dog show in the armouries Wednesday night, her automobile parked on Murray street, was stolen. The machine was gone when Mrs. McKeever came out of the armouries. The city police were notified and departments in other cities were informed of the theft. Up to noon today nothing had been heard of the missing car.

Drawn On Quilt Makes $63 For War Victims

A notable effort on behalf of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund was brought to a conclusion on Wednesday night when the draw was made for a yellow and mauve tulip quilt at the Peterborough Armouries, near the conclusion of the pet dog show, also being conducted in the interests of the fund.

Six ladies, Mrs. A. G. Knott, Jr., Mrs. Bob Long, Mrs. McCabe, Mrs. Alexander Long, Mrs. Knott, Sr., and Mrs. Arthur Long made the quilt, and then as a group sponsored the sale of tickets for the draw, which resulted in the splendid amount of $63.00 being raised, which appears in the list of contributions received for to-day.

The draw was made by Lieut.-Col. J. A. Dewart, M.C., E.D., and resulted in ticket number 288 held by Gwen Lough, 166 Hunter Street East, this city, being the winner.

The ladies are to be congratulated on the fine results secured in this effort to help the people of Britain.

A fine donation of $6.00 from one who prefers to be anonymous is listed, and the box at Loblaw's Store continues its good work by adding a further $2.05 to the already substantial amount it has contributed to the fund.

Radio Program To-night.

Through the kindness of a Peterborough business concern, a half-hour's program will be heard for the fund from 8:30 to 9 p.m. over radio staiton CHEX. Friends of the fund are asked to tune in at that time when Major James Turnbull, who recently returned from England, will give some answers to questions and Mrs. Goldie and three boy singers will be heard.

The fund keeps on the upward march towards the next objective of $40,000, less than $400 being now required to attain that mark.

Soldier's Family Must Vacate

A soldier in the Prince of Wales regiment, scheduled to go to the training centre for two months' basic course, has received notification from his landlord that his wife and children must vacate their home, it was reported to-day

Since this soldier has been placed in an awkward position through no fault of his own, the medium of the Examiner was sought in an effort to locate another place to which his family may move. If you have or know of a house or apartment into which this man's family might move, please phone 8365 (Rangers Orderly Room) and ask for Captain Craig.

Your co-operation in this matter will relieve the anxiety and stress to which this family has been put.

G. W. Hutt Awarded Damages Of $350

George William Hutt is awarded $350 damages from Henry Weir in a judgment delivered by His Honor Judge Smoke, which also dismissed the defendant's claim against Stewart Tedford, third party in an automobile accident on the Peterborough-Lakefield highway, November 17, 1941.

The defendant Weir as a result of negligence was declared by Judge Smoke to be solely responsible for the collision which occurred about 8.45 a.m. four and a half miles north of the city. Tedford, while driving south ahead of Hutt, and Weir's car, northbound, struck Tedford's and "veered almost head on into the motor vehicle of Hutt."

Nothing in the evidence suggested negligence on the part of the plaintiff, G. W. Hutt, His Lordship stated

John A. Bradshaw was counsel for Hutt, A. L. Elliott for Weir and T. J. Carley represented Tedford

Keith Orde Tops Carriers Selling War Stamps

19 Men Apply For Enlistment With Rangers

Lieut. A. H. Heideman, interviewing officer for the Prince of Wales Rangers (A F) regiment, reported today that nineteen men of the city and district applied for enlistment with the unit yesterday to represent the largest total in some days. The applicants represented a cross section of the district extending as far as Eagle Lake, Norwood, Frankford and Lindsay and nearer points.

BAND CONCERT

By kind permission of the officer commanding, the Prince of Wales Rangers Regimental Band will present a concert in the Collegiate auditorium on Sunday, April 12, commencing at 8.30 p.m. All ranks of the unit and the general public have been extended an invitation to be present. Proceeds of the silver collection will be given to the Peterborough branch of th Navy League of Canada. Capt. W. H. Peryer will conduct the band which has now become well known throughout a wide area as a result of the Prince of Wales Rangers broadcasts daily over CHEX in which the programs are opened and closed by the P.W.R.'s band playing the regimental march.

2ND BATTALION PAY

Tonight will be the last chance for members of the reserve battalion to obtain their pay. As a special concession to those work has prevented from attending former pay parades, Lt.-Col. M. H. Park has decided that pay will be given out during the regular parade to be held at the armoury tonight. All pay, which is not distributed tonight will be returned to the district paymaster tomorrow, April 10.

Tommy Hughes Faces Assault Charge

An allegation that her husband had seized her by the wrist and then started up his car so that she had to step on the running board or be dragged along the road was made by Mrs. Elsie Hughes, North Monaghan, in police court this morning when the preliminary hearing of a charge against Thomas Hughes of assaulting and beating his wife was heard.

Hughes who was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair, pleaded not guilty and elected trial by judge and jury.

Mrs. Hughes told the court that she and her husband were living apart. Early last Sunday morning when she returned to her parents' home where she was living, her husband's car was parked in the driveway with the horn sounding. Mrs. Hughes said that she got out of the car in which she had returned home and started to go into the house when her husband called her. Thinking that he wanted to give her some money he owed her she had gone over to the car.

"He grabbed me by the wrist and wanted to know where I had been," said Mrs. Hughes. "He pulled me toward him and I struck my head on the steering wheel. Then he called my mother a foul name and when I objected he struck me on the nose with his fist. He was twisting my wrist and when I screamed my parents came out of the house. Then my husband, still holding me by the right arm, started his car going and I had to step on the running board or be pulled along the road. He drove by way of Edison Avenue, Park Street and Highway 7 to his own house, stopped the car, shoved me off and then dragged me around the end of the car. Just then Constable Menzies and my father drove up in a car and he let me go."

Mrs. Hughes said that her husband had torn her dress and the garment was produced in court as an exhibit.

She said she had a black mark on her nose, a mark on her forehead, bruised shins and other bruises as a result of her husband's attack.

To Mr. Fair Mrs. Hughes said that she had had several glasses of beer in a beverage room that night but was not drunk. "My husband was and so was the man in the car with him" Mrs. Hughes said.

"Is it not a fact," asked defence counsel, "that your husband ordered you to get out of the car that night and threatened that if you did not get out he would drive you to the police station?"

"No, it's not a fact," replied the witness.

The case is proceeding.

Senator Duffus Praises Centre

The standard of efficiency and cleanliness attained in the military camp here was a compliment to Lt.-Col. E. O. Keeler, M.C., V.D., officer commanding, his officers and permanent staff declared Senator J J. Duffus of Peterborough following the regular weekly dinner of the officers' mess at the Military Training Centre here last evening.

Senator Duffus was a guest at dinner of the officer commanding and following the meal spoke of the excellent record established by the training centre since its inception here in October, 1940. The centre, said Senator Duffus, carrying out an important part in Canada's war effort and the behaviour of the men who had passed through in the 18 months of its establishment, was a tribute to the high standard of military discipline maintained at the Centre.

Many of the young men who had received their preliminary training here had in past months taken their place in the various theatres of war and had proved themselves excellent examples of young Canadians. Senator Duffus said it was his first visit to the Centre, the invitations he had receieved in the past having to be passed up through pressure of other business.

The member of Canada's upper chamber said he had known Lt.-Col. Keeler, the officer commanding, for some years before the war and the excellent reputation established by the Centre here had been no surprise to him and to many others when the war record of the commanding officer in the First Great War was taken into consideration. Senator Duffus in closing said it was the hope of himself and of the civilians of Peterborough that the Centre would throughout the remainder of the war continue to occupy the high position it had already gained.

Senator Duffus was introduced to the officers of the Centre by Lt.-Col. Keeler and Major L. I Johnson the latter president of the ofifcers' mess, both of whom paid tribute to the work of Senator Duffus fraternally and also for his keen interest maintained in agriculture, an industry which at the present time was well to the fore in sustaining the magnificent war effort being put forth by the people of the United Nations

Ruth's Condition Shows Improvement

HOLLYWOOD, April 9—(AP). — Babe Ruth, stricken critically ill yetserday, is improving slowly, but is not out of danger.

Ruth's nurse made that report twice during the night as the former Home Run King of major league baseball lay wrapped in a heavy jacket because of recurring chills. Alternately, his temperature soared.

Babe, 48, has had a strenuous picture-making, war bond-selling, military camp-entertaining two months here. Previously, he lost 40 pounds dieting to get in trim for the picture, about his late New York Yankee teammate, Lou Gehrig.

Chemicals, Complexions

MAYS LANDING, N.J., April 9 —(AP).—Blonde and brunette women are being separated for different tasks at a munitions plant nearing completion in this area. Personnel directors said chemicals to be used will have varying effects on complexions, making the different assignments necessary. Eighty per cent of the expected 3,000 workers will be women.

67 Rangers Are Going To Training Centre

Sixty-seven members of the Prince of Wales Rangers Regiment (A F) will report on Saturday to the basic training center here in Peterborough for a two month's course. Today they were ordered to report to the battalion medical officer at the medical inspection room, it was revealed on orders yesterday. The draft has been warned to hold themselves in readiness to be moved and no weekend passes will be considered from the draft personnel for this weekend.

News of the move was welcomed by the men for it gave them assurance that for the next couple of months at least, they will be in training near their homes, and while they will remain in camp at nights, they would still be free to visit their homes during the evenings. It is understood that following the two months basic training, they may be moved to an advance training center for another two months, following which, they will reunite with their regiment.

At the training center here, men of the Prince of Wales Rangers regiment will be together and thus maintain the friendships they have so far established.

"It is hoped," Captain Craig said, "to have men of the Rangers from the training center visit the armoury several nights during their training period for a get-together with other men of the Rangers not located at the training center."

Going to the training center are: A.-Cpl. H. A. Burkholder; A.-Cpl. F. J. Dyer, L-Cpl. C. J. Agnew, L.-Cpl. H. A. Campbell, L.-Cpl. W. H. Wood; Privates E. J. Allen, A. H. Allen, S. Bebee, C. A. War Veterans For Guard Duty

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police are seeking for a number of special constable guards for duty on the Welland Ship Canal. Applications are invited from ex-service men not over 60 years of age, both of the last war or discharged from the army in the present war. Other persons may also apply, but men between the ages of 18 and 45 must produce a rejection slip from the military authorities. Minor ailments will not disbar an applicant. Married men will be paid at the rate of $97 a month and single men at $80 a month. Applicants in this district are asked to communicate with the R.C.M.P. at Cobourg.

Obituary

MRS. WILFRED CARROLL.

Mrs. Wilfred Carroll, formerly Elizabeth O'Donoghue, died last evening, April 8, at her home in Emily Township after a short illness. Born in Ennismore Township, daughter of the late John O'Donoghue and Margaret O'Gorman, she was a member of the Altar Society and the Sacred Heart League in St. Martin's parish. She is the third member of her family to have passed away within the last six months.

She leaves her husband and one son Jack of the S.S.M. and S. Regiment, four daughters Sister St. Wilfred of Ottawa, Mrs. Dallas Day of Dearborn, Mich., Blandina and Eileen at home. She also leaves three brothers, Jack and Edward of Ennismore, and M. S. of Peterborough, and one sister Mrs. D. K. Crough of Ennismore.

The funeral will take place on Saturday morning leaving her home at nine o'clock for Requiem Mass at ten o'clock in St. Martin's Church Ennismore. Interment in St. Martin's Cemetery.

Doing Fine Job

Inspector James F. Reid of the Peterborough City Police, who is treasurer of the Police Spitfire Fund of Canada, and who has been doing a fine job of keeping the fund in the public eye. He is now boosting the big dance to raise money for the fund which is to be held on April 10 in the Armories.

Colonel Dewart Makes Draw For Prize Dogs

The door prize, a Boston terrier, given by Mrs. W. J. Welch, went to J. Bestard, High Street.

Lieut.-Colonel J. A Dewart made the draw at the close of the show in the Armories The funds are to be contributed to the British War Victims' Fund.

The "barkingest" dog in the show might have been Joe Vinette's young wire-haired fox terrier, which apparently enjoyed the novelty and excitement of the affair. Another of the youngsters that found a whole lot to bark about was the Price St. Bernard. The older dogs of this breed had all the poise of dignity and universal prestige.

Who Blamed The Dogs?

Some of the men in charge of the show, which bloomed up far beyond their expectations, reported that the caretaker raised an indignant voice about the "mess" of the Armories floor. It seemed that many of those persons who bought soft drinks at the refreshment booth spilled more or less ample remnants on the floor, which was an actual fact. But in the final survey, the caretaker was putting the blame on the dogs, overlooking the bottled stuff. And so there was some indignation in several quarters. According to Herb Routley they were not that kind of dog, but were well mannered, and accustomed to company occasions. However, it was said that to remove any doubt about the cause and condition in the complaint something like five dollars were drawn from the proceeds for a thorough flushing job.

Bethel Y.P.S. Honors Young Couple

EAST EMILY, April 9.—(ENS)—The Y.P.S. of Bethel United Church held their regular meeting on Thursday evening with a good attendance.

The president, Miss Audrey Boate, opened the meeting with a hymn and prayer. Miss Ruth Worsley had charge of the meeting. Miss Alberta Wright gave a very helpful reading, and Miss Worsley gave the topic. Miss Alta Boate then gave a reading.

Misses Ruth Casey and Doris McCarrell sang a duet which was much enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Endicott (nee Thelma Bailey) who were married recently, were asked to come forward, and Mrs. Ed. Ruth read an appropriate address and Mr. Ernest Howden made the presentation of a beautiful electric floor lamp on behalf of the Y.P.S. Both Mr. and Mrs. Endicott replied and thanked everyone for their kindness, then all join in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Mrs. Ed. Ruth then put on two very interesting contests. Refreshments were then served by the ladies and a very pleasant evening brought to a close.

Hitler's Super-Battleship Chased Into Trondheim

The German super-battleship Tirpitz is pictured by an R.A.F. cameraman as it rode at anchor in Aas fiord, Trondheim, whence it was chased by British torpedo planes, it is believed to have been hit at least once by the pursuing planes. The action by the British is believed to have stymied a German raid on lend-lease shipping over the northern route to Russia. The broken lines at the LEFT of the battleship mark a torpedo boom.

IF BABY IS CROSS FIND OUT WHY

HEALTHY BABIES are not cross. Your baby should not be cross. If he is, then something in his little system is "out of order". Probably Baby's Own Tablets can promptly "put it right". Mrs. H——, of Fenelon Falls, had the experience. She writes: "My little girl was irritable, feverish and sometimes sick at her stomach—what a relief it was, after giving her Baby's Own Tablets, to see how much better she was."

No matter how delicate your baby may be, these little sweet-tasting tablets cannot harm him. Easy to take. Promptly effective in clearing up simple fevers, diarrhoea, colds, constipation, simple croup, colic, teething troubles and other minor ills.

Never be without a full box of Baby's Own Tablets. Sickness so often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Money back if you are not satisfied.

Do You Suffer From Headaches?

It is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time.

A headache need not be an illness in itself, but it may be a warning symptom that there is intestinal sluggishness within.

To help overcome the cause of headache it is necessary to eliminate the waste matter from the system. Burdock Blood Bitters helps to remove the cause of headaches by regulating the digestive and biliary organs, neutralizing acidity, regulating the constipated bowels and toning up the sluggish liver, and when this has been accomplished the headaches should disappear.

As Cripps Left On Fateful Mission

Entrusted with one of the war's most vital missions—that of inducing India to accept Britain's offer of dominion status after the war, and of getting India's full co-operation on the side of the United Nations' war effort, Sir Stafford Cripps is shown shaking hands with the pilot of the plane that flew him to India, just before the take off from England. Today the whole world awaits the final outcome of the Cripps mission, even while the Japs are recovering from the disaster that met their first attempt to raid Indian territory. The bearded pilot is Captain O. P. Jones.

Two Branches Make Big Donation

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9. — (ENS).—What may be regarded a very substantial contribution to Red Cross Headquarters was made by the Campbellford and Seymour branch at the weekly meeting on Tuesday afternoon when members decided to take $500 from the local treasury and forward it to be used in essential hospital work and to supply parcels for prisoners. The secretary revealed this work requires an estimated $80,000,000 every week. During the afternoon the usual three quilts were taken off and a number were brought in as donations, while a large amount of tagging, sewing and knitting was also completed during the afternoon. It was revealed a start had already been made on the large quota of sewing requested from the branch. Members were reminded the first of the series of four bingo parties (one for each ward) was slated to be held in the Parish Hall on April 11th with the other three wards sponsoring similar events in succeeding weeks.

R.A.F. Daylight Raid On Poissy Factory

This photo was taken in the course of a low-altitude daylight raid on the Matford factory, 10 miles northwest of Paris. The raid was carried out on March 8, 1942, by a small formation of Boston light bombers of the R.A.F. bomber command. The Boston is an American-built aircraft, and the photograph shows the accuracy of the attack. This particular factory has been producing 20 trucks a day for the German army and rows of them, ready for delivery, can be seen drawn up at the back of the factory at LEFT. At least two bombs exploded on these trucks while smoke from bombs bursting inside the factory drifted over the area.

Navy Mother's Slogan

KANSAS CITY, April 9—(AP)—Navy mothers of the United States, some with eyes still moist from word that their boys have been killed in action, rallied behind a rigorous campaign today at the opening of their national convention, keynoting it with the slogan: "Seal Your Lips and Protect Our Ships!" The slogan will be one of several spread throughout the country by 250 clubs representing 25,000 members of the National Association of Navy Mothers.

Special Officers

NEW YORK, April 9—(CP).—Air Vice-Marshal William Foster of the Royal Air Force arrived here by clipper yesterday. He declined to comment on the war or anything else, except to say he was bound for Washington to assume the post of deputy head of the R.A.F. delegation there. Other passengers included three British officials also en route to Washington. They were Paul D. Butler of the Foreign Office; R. C. Geddes of the Ministry of Transportation, and R. D. Hall of the Ministry of Supply.

Fears Province At Maximum Hog Production

TORONTO, April 9.—(CP)—L. E. O'Neil, director of livestock for Ontario, told the agriculture committee of the Legislature that the province now has reached the maximum in hog production considering the available feed.

"We'll have to import more grain or cut down on production in other lines of live stock," said Mr. O'Neil.

The livestock director supplied the committee members with a table of figures on the swine industry in which it was shown hog marketings in Ontario in 1941 totalled 2,326,623. This was a little more than one third of the total marketings in Canada.

With regard to the trend of production another table showed Western Canada had a 26.8 per cent increase in 1941 over that in 1940 while Eastern Canada showed only 1.9 per cent increase.

Alberta, he said, was now Ontario's greatest competitor in quantity of hog production and was pressing this province in the matter of quality.

Not Enough Feed In West

Due to upsurge of hog production in Western Canada, Mr. O'Neil said he doubted whether Ontario would be able to get all the feed grain from the west that was needed.

"However, Ontario farmers are to be commended for producing such a high quality hog and marketing it at the right weight," he said.

Referring to the contract to supply Great Britain with bacon, Mr. O'Neil said the Bacon Board has purchased 329,000,000 pounds, more than half the contract, in the first half of the year starting last September.

"However, we have gone through the heaviest marketing period and it is going to keep us going to fill the contract," he added.

It was because of this situation that the Bacon Board had "to crack down" on the slaughtering of light hogs and at the same time remove the penalty on B3 carcasses.

(Prior to March 30 last the packers charged a discount of $1.50 on a B3 hog which weigh from 176 to 185 pounds.)

Asked by Col. T. L. Kennedy (Con. Peel) why Ontario couldn't stress a heavier hog than the top grades, Mr. O'Neil said it was his personal opinion that if Britain can be supplied with all her needs "we should by all means stay on a quality basis."

Britain's New Ally—The "Whirlwind"

Pictured in its first demonstration, since its release from the secret service, is England's new plane, the Whirlwind. The plane is a twin-engine single seater, with four cannons and a high tail. It is claimed that this plane eclipses the famous Spitfire in speed, and that its special feature is adaptability for using its higher power. Having already been used in operations over the channel, the plane is said to have destroyed at least 30 planes on the ground and in the air since it entered service. The TOP photo shows the business end of the plane with its four cannons and single seat. In the BOTTOM photo is seen the twin engines, cannons and high tail of the plane.

Best Of Surgeons Keep Troops Going In Africa

By STEPHEN G. BARBER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH BRITISH FORCES IN NORTH AFRICA, April 9—(AP).—Lieut. Gerald Wood and his driver, Pte. George Hicks, were proceeding in a small army car over the desert to a certain unit at a certain point—provided it hadn't moved.

A flash, a bang, a cloud of dust, and the two men were hurled out of the car.

An old and common story — the right front wheel had passed over a land mine planted by the enemy before leaving.

The two lay stunned on the sand. Wood's left leg was distorted below the knee, his left arm slashed by flying metal, his face cut as he fell. Hicks had a nasty gash on his forehead.

There they were, wounded and bleeding. No other human being was in sight and 400 miles of desert separated them from the Nile valley with its trees, its lawns, its cities, its hospitals.

What happened to them? What happens to hundreds of others wounded like them? That is our story.

Hicks came around enough to remember his field dressing. He got it out and applied it to his wound.

Hicks improvised a tourniquet to stem the torrent of arterial blood gushing from Wood's arm. To help stop the flow, Wood jammed his right fist into his left armpit.

A car came up and its occupants jumped out. They offered assistance, but on perceiving the best thing they could do was to summon an ambulance, the men drove off.

News travels fast in the desert and before long an ambulance was there.

Wood and Hicks spent an hour at a small station during which they received further emergency treatment, then were put in another ambulance for a casualty clearing station.

At the C.C.S. Wood has his leg set and his arm sewed up. They clapped the leg, once the bone had been teased together and the bruised tissue cut away, into what is known as a "closed plaster."

Back To Specialists

Hicks' skull looked as though it might be a tricky job. It was decided to send him back to railhead and get him to base where some of the Empire's foremost specialists in head cases are working.

He soon was being operated on by a surgeon who in normal times got $500 for an ordinary operation.

Dressing stations have moved forward and backward with the course of the campaign, often out of touch with stations farther back.

One New Zealand casualty clearing station changed hands four times, but doctors and orderlies worked on, operating on friend and foe alike. The Germans didn't interfere, except to take some of the water and equipment. Gen. Rommel himself looked over the station and silenty watched the doctors at their work.

Pasma, blood minus its red cells, kept in dried form to be mixed with distilled water, is used to treat burns. It is also injected into the veins to thwart delayed shock. Delayed shock is the imp of casualties —in some cases a patient will appear well on the road to recovery and then die suddenly of delayed shock.

Gangrene, common in the last war, is rare, due to the use of improved prophylatics.

Desert Sentry

This little dog is doing his humble bit for the United Nations in the wilderness that is the Libyan desert. He is keeping watch over the belongings of his master, a British Tommy, who is enjoying a bath in one of the mobile bath units set up wherever the Imperials set up camp in the desert. These units have to transport their own water.

Hall's Glen News

Today we're using blended shortening

says Martha Logan

MARTHA LOGAN: . . . nutrition is so important it's really exciting to know that this new blended Jewel is nutritionally more valuable.

BETTY: I'd say so! It certainly creams easily, Miss Logan.

JANE: My, it's a good thing Jewel blends so well with everything! I mean we wouldn't want to waste these good things, would we?

MARTHA LOGAN: Certainly not! In wartime, we must never risk spoiling anything we cook. Remember, girls, what I told you before about Jewel . . . it's risky to pay less . . . needless to pay more.

Clip out and try this sugar-saving Jewel recipe for LIGHT BANANA CAKE

1¾ cups sifted pastry flour, or 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 5⅓ tablespoons Jewel Shortening, 1 cup fine granulated sugar, 2 Brookfield Eggs, 1 cup finely-chopped banana, ¼ cup milk, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla.

Measure flour and add baking powder and salt. Cream Jewel slightly and gradually blend in sugar. Beat and add eggs, then add banana. Sift in dry ingredients alternately with milk, combining after each addition and including vanilla with last of milk. Turn into greased and floured 8-inch square pan. Bake in moderate oven, 350°, 45 minutes.

Lighter cakes, flakier pie crusts are the reward for using the new blended Jewel. It creams faster, blends better and, of course, is odourless and tasteless in cooking. Send 10c and a carton top for the fascinating Jewel Recipe Book and get a pound of Jewel in the familiar red carton! Swift Canadian Co., Limited.

Nutritious-Planned Lunches Are Need for War Workers

By MARY MOORE

You have come to feel the need of help, so you welcome the Government's recently launched campaign to make Canadian cooks nutrition-conscious.

This morning's mail alone brought letters from four readers asking for help with the lunches they have to pack for war workers from as widely separated points as Wasel, Alberta, and Hull, Quebec.

And I in turn, am ripe for the questions because for six months in 1941 I packed a daily lunch for my sister who was an inspector in a gun plant.

I suspect that variety rather than nutrition was my chief aim. Nutritive essentials came a close second though. Now they must come first.

In trying for the perfect new Hot Cross Bun recipe to give you for Easter, I digressed into making whole wheat bread that contained a majority of whole wheat flour with as little white flour as possible.—because the bread content in a carried lunch is of major importance—and cynical as it may sound—the only way we can know our bread is 100% whole wheat is to make it.

Considering all the other disadvantages in a carried lunch, all the things we can make right we should (1) We know this: the bread in carried lunches should be 100% whole wheat.

Variety

This could be varied by giving the luncher Johnnycake once a week with meat cakes, or sliced cold meats that are easily handled: OR dark rye bread with weiners or ham; OR whole wheat tea biscuits and devilled eggs.

But the majority of breadstuffs your luncher eats should be whole wheat for as I stressed last week it is a good steady source of vitamins and minerals.

Examples are easier for you to assemble than a lecture is to assimilate on why certain elements should be included in lunches, so we'll devote our space to them. (Only please note the protein, type of carbohydrate, fresh vegetables and fruit proportions included—they are all for a reason).

Carried Lunches—Well-Balanced in Nutrition and Variety.

I found, as you doubtless have, that many of the details of packing a lunch may be eliminated if when you are preparing a home meal for the family you make individual servings of some of them for the luncher for next day. This can be done with pies of all kinds and puddings, main dish casseroels, soups, and cold desserts. The only thing that cannot be made ahead of time are sandwiches and salads.

I have not mentioned fish in these menus, because everybody keeps canned fish on hand; and I think it is probably not as nice in a lunch because of the strong odor, as it is on a plate. We found smoked salmon snacks, and fillets to be popular, and would like you ot try the sausage rolls to see what kind of a reception they get—make your pastry as tender and puffy as possibly and bake at high temperature.

Write to me if you want further lunch box details.

This Week's Wartime Recipe

By OUR READERS

Spanish Rice

(Contributed by Florence Burbridge)

Two cups cooker rice, 2 tablespoons fat, a tablespoon chopped onion, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, few grains cayenne, 2½ cups canned tomatoes, 6 tablespoons cheese, ¼ teaspoon salt, buttered crumbs. Melt fat in frying pan, and add chopped onion and green pepper and cook until onions are delicate brown. Add tomatoes and cook until moisture has nearly evaporated. Combine with rice, alternating layers of each, in greased baking dish, adding grated cheese to each layer. Cover with buttered crumbs. Bake in hot oven until heated through.

Soy Bean Muffins

One and one-quarter cups flour, ¾ cup soy bean flour, 1 cup milk, ¼ cup sugar OR honey, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons malted butter, 2 eggs, 3 teaspoons baking powder. Sift together the dry ingredients. Beat eggs well and slowly stir into flour mixture alternating with milk, and melted butter. Bake half hour at 375 deg. Fahr.

"I am sending you the Spanish Rice because my family likes it for supper or luncheon and I usually serve a green salad with this."

Thank you, Mrs. Burbridge; I think rice dishes like this are more satisfying than most vegetarian dishes, and more nearly substitute for meat, especially if brown unpolished rise is used.

Orange and Honey Bread

(Contributed by "Mabe of Windsor".

Skin of 3 oranges (thick soft type of orange skins), 1 cup honey, ½ cup melted shortening, ¼ cup water, pinch of salt, 1 eggs, 1 cup milk, 3 cups bread flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ cup nutmeats, ½ teaspoon baking soda, 2 tablespoons warm water. Cut the skins in very small pieces and boil in salt water for 30 minutes. Drain, add 1 cup honey, ¼ cup water and shortening and simmer slowly until fairly thick. Beat the egg well, add the milk, then the dry ingredients which have been sifted together. Add the honey and orange skin mixture while it is warm. Add the nutmeats and soda dissolved in warm water. Mix well. Turn into two well-greased bread pans of medium size and allow to stand in a warm place for 20 minutes. Bake in a moderate oven 350 deg. Fahr. for about 1 hour.

Jams or Jellies Instead of Sugar

(Contributed by "Mabe of Windsor")

Did you every try to use Jam or Jelly instead of sugar to sweeten apple pie? I used strawberry jam on mine and it really was a treat. I also used Currant Jelly in apple dumpligs and the flavor was swell,

Alice's Gingerbread

(Contributed by "Mabe of Windsor")

One cup molasses, 1/3 cup shortening, 1¾ teaspoons soda, ½ cup sour milk, 1 eggs, 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons ginger, ½ teaspoon salt, saucepan and cook till boiling point saucepan and cook til boiling point is reached. Remove from heat and beat in the soda, add milk, egg well beaten and the sifted dry ingredients. Mix well. Bake in greased muffin tins or in a loaf pan in moderate oven of 375 deg. Fahr. about 15 or 20 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

Thanks for these, Mabe of Windsore; we'll print more of yours next week.

QUESTION: I wonder if you can't get me two recipes through your columns: one for process cheese using rennet for small cheese for home use; the other for Turkish coffee? Thanking you.—Mrs. William Hall.

Turkish Coffee

This is always served without cream. The coffee is powdered as finely as berry sugar and is left in the liquid, making a thick substance. Use 1 heaping coffeespoon of powdered coffee to each after dinner coffee cup. Measure the correct number of coffee cups of water into the kettle, bring to boiling point, add to coffee in coffee pot, and after a moment (when it begins to boil again) pour into cups. This is usually made very sweet, powdered sugar being mixed with the coffee.

The only type of cheese that can be made practically in the home is cottage cheese. So much equipment is necessary to make cheddar cheese it is not adaptable to making in the home. You need a cheese vat (which would take up more room than a washing machine), two curd knives (the length of the vat) and a cheese press (this latter is not as essential as the three first items).

An excellent bulletin is printed by the government on this subject and I strongly advise you to write for it. It is Bulletin 372, entitled "Soft Cheese Making and Farm Dairy Cheddar Cheese" and is prepared by Bella Miller of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph. Miss Miller is one of the best authorities on cheese in the country.

QUESTION: ...I had written you about two years ago asking for a recipe for Dutch Vegetable Soup, made with sliced vegetables? Did you ever find such a recipe? If you find it print it sometime soon please.

I am enclosing a few dessert recipes. I hope you can use them. I've tried both and find them real good. The pudding recipes is an old standby in my husband's family for years.—Mabe of Windsor.

ANSWER: As I said in reply to your letter printed last week I remember you well but must apologize for not giving you the Dutch Vegetable Soup recipe—at this distance I can't recall what happened about it.

There are about as many methods of making "Hotchpotch" as there are European cooks. I am giving you one that is recommended to me by a chemist who was Holland-born and a fine connoisseur of food.

Hutspot Met Klapstuck

(Hotchpotch with Soup Meat)

One pound of fat soup meat (beef) ¾ pound lean soup meat, 3 pounds old carrots 3 lbs. old potatoes, ¼ pound onions (turnips and leeks and celery are usually used too, but the first 3 are essentials), 4 tablespoons fat, 1½ pints water, salt. Wash the meat and put in warm salted water, bring to the boil, and simmer for 2 hours. Peel the carrots mince them fine in the food chopper and add to the stock after the first 2 hours. In another ½ hour add peeled potatoes and chopped onions, and simmer for another ½ hours till the vegetables are tender. Add more water as needed, but when the dish is ready the water should be all gone. Remove meat from dish and put on hot platter, mash all vegetables and pour over meat. Chicken may replace beef.

QUESTION: I have a recipe for cocoa fudge cake, which was a success every time I bake it until last summer when I bought a new gas stove, I haven't had a success since—it falls in the middle each time.

I've tried baking it on a lower grate, raising the heat and everything I thought might help, but it still fails. Could you give me the reason it falls each time? I would appreciate it as it is such a good recipe—both economical and moist.—Mrs. N. Ryan. (See answer below next question.)

QUESTION: I wonder if you can tell me what is the matter with my chocolate cakes? They fall when I take them from the oven and look damp, and are heavy. My white cakes are always light. I have tried different recipes, aways with the same result. Somehow I think it is in the baking, as I am always careful with the mixing and use the best ingredients.—Mrs. A. Gallagher.

Answer To Two Above Questions

There are three factors about chocolate cakes that are different than white cakes. Cooking chocolate also tenders to thicken the cake because of its starch content, so the measures of flour should be scant—when flour is measured remove 1 level tablespoon from each cup. Recipes for chocolate often call for more sugar than white cakes because of the bitterness of the chocolate—too much sugar will often make a cake fall. Brown sugar is moister than white and if the cake calls for white and you substitute brown reduced it by one-eight cup—for 1 cup white use ⅞ cup brown.

Chocolate Cake

(Recommended by Experts)

Five tablespoons shortening (butter preferred); 1 cup sugar 1¾ cups sifted flour, 4 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup milk, 3 egg whites well beaten, 2½ squares melted cooking chocolate, 1 teaspoon vanilla. (Sour milk may be used in place of sweet milk without the addition of soda.) Cream the shortening very well, and sift in the sugar while creaming very well. Sift together the sifted flour, baking powder and salt. Sift the dry ingredients into the butter-sugar mixture, alternately with the milk, a third of each at a time. Fold in the melted chocolate and vanilla at the same time the stiffly beaten egg whites are added. (The chocolate should be melted and allowed to cool somewhat before adding.) Pour into buttered and paper-lined sheet pan (paper should be buttered too), having pan about 2-3 full, and stand cake on shelf about 4 inches above heating unit, having heat at 350 exactly. (Since both your ovens seem to have inaccurate thermometers you should check them by procuring a detachable thermometer and placing it in your oven to see if they agree. Or with the new gas stove the firm which which it was bought should send a man out to check the accuracy of the thermometer.)

Divide baking time roughly into four parts: (1) cake should begin to rise evenly and little bubbles appear on top. (2) Rising continues and the cake begins to brown in spots. (3) At the end of the second quarter if the cake is not browned well heat is receding and cake should either be raised to higher level in oven or heat raised a little from below. (4) Cake should shrink from sides of pan and be taken from oven.

McFadden—Godfrey

The marriage took place in St. Aidan's Church, Young's Point on Monday at 3 p.m. of Audrey, youngest daughter of Mrs. Bertha Godfrey, to Elgin McFadden. Rev. E. C. Moore of Peterborough, officiated and wedding music was played by Edgar Moore.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. M. McIlmoyle, the bride was lovely in blue crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Charles McIlmoyle, sister of the groom, who attended the bride, also wore blue crepe, with a corsage of red roses. Mr. Charles McIlmoyle was best man.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to the immediate family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. McIlmoyle, followed by a reception and shower in St. Aidan's parish hall in the evening.

The bride and groom received many beautiful and useful gifts at the reception and the guests spent the evening dancing.

This Is Everybody's War

By MOLLY BROWN.

A gentleman said the other evening that he was in one of our local hotels when several airmen came, separately, and asked for rooms for the night. On being told by the clerk that the hotel was full, they asked if they could be directed to rooms, as all the hotels were full, but the clerk said he knew of none and no further attempt was made to help them. The boys were merely passing through the city and wanted overnight accommodation. Surely there should be some means of dealing with this problem. In act it reflects rather badly on our city that any member of the active services fails to find not only accommodation, but a warm welcome here. Perhaps there is such a service, insufficently advertised. The Y.W.C.A provides an excellent room registry service for girls; perhaps the Y.M. does the same for men. If not, something ought to be done..A newspaper clipping from England bears the news that persons found destroying paper can be fined £100 or receive up to three months' imprisonment for destroying paper. We may come to that....Although the dye in Canadian stamps cannot be extracted for further use, the stamps themselves are valuable to collectors, so don't stop saving them....A foundry which produces 200,000 tons of iron, using only ore can produce 50,000 tons if kept supplied with the necessary scrap iron ....A letter from England says that, on checking up on their weight, few people find that they have lost, while some notice a slight gain. Maybe dieting is no use, after all....That rubber tyre ash-tray is still on the table in the committee room. Wonder how many others are adorning offices and private homes. Come on, gentlemen, hand 'em over ....Put sugar on the table in a glass bowl so that the family can watch it go down. Put a substitute—syrup or honey—in a flowered pitcher or bowl. Children will reach for the prettier china...Don't slack off on your war work just because the nice weather has arrived (or has it?) Remember, the weather that lets you out to play also "lets slip the dogs of war"....The salvage workers recently ran into some slight trouble in the form of a few workers, who, thought they worked hard, had nothing but carping criticism and complaint for everything connected with the work. It wasn't constructive criticism; the critics had no suggestions to make; they just went on tearing other people's work to pieces. Unfortunately, we have people like that everywhere; people who have no ideas of their own and dont like other peoples'. Probably they just enjoy being contrary, but they are dangerous. Whether they know it or not, they are saboteurs. They sabotage our war effort by spreading ungrounded distrust and lack of confidence and they discourage other people's war efforts.

DRESS UP THE LETTERS YOU SEND TO SOLDIERS

They Appreciate Mail with Good Stationery and Properly Written.

Dear Dorothy Dix: — I am an Army mail censor. I am writing asking you to call the attention of the wives and sweethearts who white to their men in the service about how important it is that their letters should be neat and attractive looking. To the man in camp it makes a difference, greater than he himself would admit, to see that his wife or his girl or his mother has taken the trouble to put a few frills on her letter, just as she would dressup to make herself pleasing to him. In a word, he likes to get the kind of letter that he is proud to receive and to show off to the other boys, and that makes the boys know that the writers are dainty ladies. Yet three-fourths of the letters that the boys in camps in the United States and overseas receive from their women at home are scrawls, written in pencil on cheap pad paper and folded up so small that they rattle around in a large envelope, and that even to a professional reader are almost illegible. No boy is pepped up over getting a letter like that, and it is not helped out by the obvious fact that a letter that is so ill-written that it has to be deciphered takes so long in reading that the message is largely lost. Well, Miss Dix, what about it? Can't something be done for our boys? Won't the mothers and wives and sweethearts when they write use ink, not crowd the sheet, write carefully and legibly on good stationery? They would if they knew what a difference it makes to the boys who look so anxiously for the letters from home.—THE CENSOR.

Let Him Be Proud of You

ANSWER: Attention, mothers and wives and sweethearts! Listen to what the censor says about the sloppy letters you have been writing to the boys in camp! It must be a knockout blow to the boy when the letter that he has been waiting so anxiously for from the woman he loves best, comes looking like something the cat brought in, and so badly written that he can hardly decipher it and really never does find out whether it was Aunt Jemimah who died from stubbing her toe, or the dog that fell in the well.

As long as a woman loves a man she wants to look good to him, and she takes trouble to doll herself up and look spick-and-span so that she will not only be easy on his eyes, but he will be proud to show her off to other men, and say: "See what I've got!" Well, when you are far away from him your letter is your representative, and surely you don't want that to be an illegible scrawl in a dirty envelope.

All that you can do for the boys in camp to brace up their morale is by keeping the mails hot with bright, cheerful, encouraging letters, telling them how you are thinking of them and admiring them and how proud you are of them for doing their duty so gallantly, and these letters will have an added kick to them if they come properly dressed up.

A Widower's Plight

Dear Miss Dix: I had one of the best wives with which God ever blessed a man. She was sweetheart, wife, friend, business partner, a prop upon which I leaned in every time of trouble. Four years ago she passed away. Since then I have lived alone, cooked my own meals, cleaned the house, been a hermit. When I return home from my work, it is like entering a tomb, and at night I lie awake wondering what is to become of me, what if I should get sick with no one to call to for help?

I have one son who wants me to change my way of living and I don't know what to do. I am 62 but very active. Here are the five solutions of my problem that I am considering: (1) Should I break up my home and go to live with my son? I do not think that would be good for me nor his family. I would be an intruder. His home would no longer enjoy the privacy it is entitled to.

(2) Have my son come and live with me and his wife keep house? They have a comfortable home of which his wife is mistress. Every woman wants a home of her own. I have no reason to expect her to sacrifice her home for me. (3) Employ a housekeeper? Very good, but when dinner is over, what then? I would lack what I still crave, companionship.

(4) Sell everything and board with a good family? That would mean the sacrificing of all the little things that are so dear to me—my library that I have spent a lifetime collecting, my garden, my beautiful trees and plants, even my faithful dog. (5) Get married? At 62 there is not much romance left, and what woman wants to marry an old man who has only $1,000 in the bank, an old-fashioned house and a salary only as long as he can report for work?

—A LONELY OLD MAN.

ANSWER—62 is not too old for a man to marry if he can find a woman in his own age class who is congenial, who has enough money of her own to make her independent and the marriage a fifty-fifty financial partnership, but who is lonely and who longs for companionship and having a husband to fuss over and get up good dinners for. And there are plenty of such women.

Failing that, the boarding house is your next best bet. Don't sacrifice everything else to your furniture, as so many of us do. We hate to part with our things that we have had so long and that have so many memories, but once we make the plunge we are glad to be free from their tyranny. You can take a few of the bits of furniture and some of your books with you wherever you go to give you a touch of home, but you will be astonished at how much junk that you care nothing for, that you have accumulated.

Recently I have been going over my own library picking out books to send to the camps for the soldiers, and I have been amazed to find how many volumes I had that I haven't even looked at for 20 or 30 years.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — Is it true that the female is the more romantic of the species, and that it is usually the woman who takes the lead in bringing the conversation and eventually the action around to the romantic angle? I am hopelessly, unequivocally and unalterably in love with a girl who is exceptionally intelligent and attractive and with whom many other men besides myself have been in love. When I ask her point blank if she loves me, she says that she does, but it never occurs to her to volunteer that information. I have to do all the courting and, although she is receptive, she gives the impression of being quite indifferent. You know that love cannot exist and endure unless it is sponsored and nurtured and I cannot remain as I am unless I am convinced in my own mind that my pleadings do not fall on deaf ears. On the contrary, they must be returned actively, not passively and not by mere acquiescence. Can I be sure that Mary loves me when she fails to make any manifestation of it?—

BEWILDERED.

⟡ ⟡ ⟡

ANSWER—Of course, it is not true, as Bernard Shaw asserts, that women do all the courting and that every married man is the victim of some astute husband-hunter. Nor are all women romantics. They vary in their temperaments even as men do. Some are emotional, some stolid, some affectionate and demonstrative, others reserved and cold.

Girls Get What They Want

Undoubtedly the great majority of women do see their future husbands before the men see them, and when they do find the men they want they make every effort to capture them and lead them up to the proposing point. But this is not because the women are more in love with the men than the men are with them. It is simply because women are more anxious to marry than are men.

To the average girl marriage means not only the fulfillment of her romantic dream, but the career for which Nature fitted her—wifehood, motherhood, the making of a home—and she is anxious to get started on it; whereas to a man it means the sacrifice of his freedom and the taking on of heavy responsibilities, and he hesitates to take the plunge.

So there is no surefire way in which you can tell just how much a girl loves you. She may smother you with kisses and caresses that are just a come-on; or she may keep you at arms' length and have her heart filled to overflowing with devotion that she is too proud and reserved to show you. In the end you have to take her own word about the state of her affections.

One Practical Test

About the only practical test that I can suggest for gauging how much one cares for you is how much she seems to enjoy your society, and how anxious she is to put your pleasure and happiness before her own.

From your letter, I take it that your girl is an introvert who finds it impossible to display her emotions. You remember how Barrie said he had to wrap his legs around a table before he could write a love scene or bring his hero to say "darling."

Well, there are lots of people like that. They seeth inwardly with emotion, but they can never bring it to the surface. They are true as steel. They would die for the one they love. But they would never mention the matter. And when a warm-hearted, affectionate man or woman marries one of these dummies, he or she takes a big chance at happiness.

FASHIONS

An "Investment Fashion" for spring and summer is the two-piecer that goes everywhere smartly; that does "double-duty" with other costumes. Pattern 9027 by Marian Martin makes this chic frock with a new hip-length blouse and a simple skirt. The neckline or the blouse may be round or square; the front yoke the back bodice and the short sleeves (except the cuffs) may be of contrast. Notice the jaunty inset belt—so youthful. A long-sleeved blouse is optional.

Pattern 9027 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3⅞ yards 35-inch fabric.

and making it well, but there were time-saving tricks I knew that they didn't. They asked me to help them." The low, tired voice was suddenly shaky. "God forgive me, I did! They—they m-made me."

"Made you!" Allan's tone was shocked. "Tortured you?"

"No. They threatened to torture Kay! Th-that broke me. I gave in, only insisting I be allowed to see her every day so I'd know she was safe. I've no illusions, though. They'll kill me—both of us—when they're through with me, which will be very soon now. But I had to stall for time—hoping something might happen—"

"Sure. They've been shipping the stuff to Japan?"

"No. None has gone yet. The cannery is a blind, but a practical one. Ships that have left here were loaded with canned fish. But the center of this island is a natural cave and the explosive they have manufactured is stored there—hundreds of tons of it?"

"Cripes! Is it under control? What touches it off?"

"Any concussion. That's why we live underground, in converted caves with heavy iron doors. It's tricky to handle. Somebody stole one brick of it the day before I came, and everybody had the jitters. But nothing has happened. Maybe the count was incorrect."

"Why do they store it instead of sending it home?"

"They're waiting till they have a full ship's cargo, when they hope to sneak it out. To send a lot of small shipments would increase the chance of detection by the Mexican authorities. Also, the Japs are building a seaplane station here and it would be handy to have lots of the explosive available if they should get in a scrap with us. They would strike fast—they always do!—and they'd blow our west coast cities and military bases off the map in a single night."

"Mmph. You paint pretty pictures, sir! And speaking of pretty pictures, what do you know about a woman who travels with this crowd? Her name is Asia—Asia Minor."

Home Service

Etiquette Needed If You Lack Poise

How to Sign Hotel Register?

The Browns, on a trip, find so much to embarrass them! They wonder uneasily how to sign the hotel register, how much to tip, whether it's "right" to speak to strangers.

Yet all these embarrassing moments could be avoided with a quick check-up on travel etiquette. Correct, of course, to sign "Mr. and Mrs. James Brown," never the crude "James Brown and wife."

Tips? The chambermaid is tipped from 50 cents a week up—for an overnight stay, 25 to 50 cents. Bellboys expect 10 cents for small services.

It's quite correct, even for a young woman travelling alone, to speak to strangers who open a conservation courteously. But talk should be kept impersonal.

Or are you stopping with friends? Make a good impression by knowing etiquette points. When to shake hands? When to rise at introductions?

Don't have to wonder whether you're doing the correct thing, be sure! Our 32-page booklet gives etiquette for travel, theatres, restaurants, other public places; at dances, games. Explains smooth manners when entertaining, when a guest.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps for your copy of "Etiquette: The Correct Thing To Do" to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough.

Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE TIME TO BE WARY

"LOOSE TALK MAY COST LIVES," according to a series of posters being distributed by the Ambulance Corps. It is true, because we are up against dangerous enemies prepared to take advantage of any opportunity we present them. By the same token, careless overcalls may cost a bridge player plenty of points if he is up against highly competitive opponents ready to double him when he sticks his neck out. In fact, the more highly competitive they are, the more careful he had better be in his bidding.

At several duplicate tables, West tried that diamond overcall after South's spade bid and escaped punishment because North was bent on his side playing the hand. In one case he immediately bid 2-No Trumps over it and in another 3-Clubs. In still another, North passed on his first turn and South bid 2-Hearts. All of these resulted in No Trump contracts by North and South, nobody managing to make game. At another table, North let South play it at spades, following his partner's rebid, and they failed to make game.

The bidding reported above, however, was by the most vigorously competitive pair in the game. First North's pass of the 2-Diamonds was to see if the opponents would get into still more trouble. Then South's double, in preference to a rebid of spades or a heart call, was to give his partner a chance to do just what he did, pass if he wanted to. It was set two tricks, for a top score of 300 points.

South ruffed the third club, laid down the heart A and led a second heart to the K. The diamond 10, K and A and the diamond Q left North with the trump J and 6. West knocked out the J with another diamond lead, but a spade to the A enabled South to lead a third heart, giving North a ruff with the diamond 6. That made seven tricks for the defenders, setting the contract two tricks and producing 300 points, whereas the most any other pair made was 140 for managing to make 3-Spades—90 for tricks plus 50 for the contract.

Higher Returns Promised For Wool Crop

OTTAWA, April 9—(CP)—Canadian wool producers this year will receive returns from their product 10 to 15 per cent higher than in 1941 under a Federal program to encourage enlarge production, it was learned today.

On March 15, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announced that Canadian Wool Board, Ltd., a new Government-owned company, would take over the entire Canadian wool clip for duration of the war and for a year after.

It was intended that wool growers, no matter where they were located, should receive a proper price for their clip each season with fair and uniform charges for collecting, handling, grading and transportation. The Wool Board was authorized to set prices for all grades.

To encourage producers to retain as many sheep as possible for wool purposes, it is learned, the Wool Board now has decided prices should be from 10 to 15 per cent. in advance of market prices prevailing last year.

This would mean that an average clip of clean Ontario wool worth $25 a hundredweight in 1941 would be worth about $28 at the nearest warehouse in 1942.

Set charges payable to middlemen are being established by the Wool Board for the protection of the farmer, who will receive the entire amount of the set price when he delivers his wool at the nearest warehouse.

An Extra Million.

If the program is successful, the possibility is seen that the Canadian mature sheep population available for shearing in 1943 will total nearly 3,000,000 in 1942 against 2,000,000 in the present year.

The program is part of Government precautions against the possible cut-off in imported supplies due to war developments. Canadian wool requirements have grown enormously since the war started and the prospect is seen that supplies normally imported from Australia and New Zealand will become more difficult to obtain.

The Canadian sheep population has grown only slowly in the past because farmers have sold most of their animals, apart from small basic flocks, for mutton. Meat consumption had risen substantially since the war started and the incentive to sell has been increased.

It is not anticipated that Canada will be able to meet her own wool requirements even with increased flocks, spokesmen said. Home production in 1940 was 18,127,000 pounds and 19,200,000 pounds in 1941, but in 1940, 86,170,000 pounds were imported and 90,000,000 in 1941. Vast quantities of wool are required for military uniforms and other war requirements.

SALES OF RADIO SETS

Garagemen See Business Till Tires End

TORONTO, April 9. — Caught in a swirl of circumstances and war restrictions unprecedented in all economic history, a thousand garage owners in Toronto and many other thousands throughout Canada, are carrying on realizing that their institutions as presently constituted, cannot outlive the last set of rubber tires.

A survey yesterday of men who know — men with their fingers on the pulse of the whole industry—on matters relating to the future of the garage business, showed that until tires give out, garage proprietors will get along with servicing and repairing activities. With a steadily mounting death and transition rate —accentuating as tires "pop" on the highways—they will survive as long as rubber survives. From there on —nobody knows.

Gasoline rationing hasn't materially affected the garage business, as such, yet. Admitting that Easter Monday terminated a brief holiday period during which real trends might not show, garage spokesmen yesterday said they noticed little effect as yet on their businesses. Some of them have turned into the "bits and pieces" war munitions industry, becoming subcontractors for larger munitions manufacturers, and the remainder are planning on building up servicing activities, a partially neglected adjunct of the past.

Parking lots, on the other hand—which are classed as garages in the numerical estimate of a thousand—are feeling the effects of gasoline rationing materially. One attendant yesterday reported "at least" a 10 per cent drop in his business on one of the largest parking lots in Toronto, located on Adelaide Street. Another parking lot attendant— at a much smaller lot — reported a 33 per cent drop in business and was able to give precise figures. He had sixty cars on the lot on Monday as compared with a normal ninety cars in pre-rationing days.

See Little Change

The big downtown garages subsisting largely on storage rentals, not only have not noticed any change in their business but do not anticipate very much immediate change. Speaking for the Bay-Adelaide garage, Stanley Warrington pointed out that business men and salesmen comprised the bulk of their customs and no fall-off was anticipated in their activities.

Skilled labor? "Oh, that's very tough," responded Mr. Warrington. "We have thirteen men in England from this garage alone, and I may say we are very proud of it. We are using quite a few girls and women, as car washers, drivers, etc., and they are doing a swell job. We have six women working here now."

Asked for an outline of views of the future, Mr. Warrington shot back: "Oh, I'm no prophet, we just live from day to day."

Warren Hasting, Ontaio Motor League executive, in close tohch with the garage industry and motoring public, pointed out the ultimate question mark of rubber availability. The United States has raised its original schedule of synthetic rubber production from 400,000 to 700,000 tons, but there had been no announced increase for Canada. He fancied this might be because it involves the problem of transportation of war workers.

One of the recognized chief spokesmen for the automotive industry, who did not wish to be quoted, declared that a number of garages must, in the natural evolution of things, find themselves in difficulties under gasoline rationing and general restrictions.

"On the other hand," he said, "if people are sensible about this thing they are not going to do without their cars and in order to get the most out of their tires and gasoline they will stretch every gallon to the utmost limit and they will get every mile out of their tires. They must see that their tires are in good shape. They must—and I am not giving you a sales talk but the real news—change their spark plugs every 10,000 miles.

Digestion — The Great Process of Life

Acute indigestion may arise from overeating or the use of food which is difficult to digest.

But chronic indigestion, which stays with you, causing sleepless nights, headaches, bodily pains and depressed spirits, is usually the result of torpid liver and constipation. The process of digestion is held up and the body is poisoned by accumulated waste matter.

The use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills helps to arouse the torpid liver to action, the bile flows freely to the intestines, stimulating these organs and, soon everything is going fine. What a pleasure it is to enjoy your meals and feel that there will be no discomfort afterwards.

Proposes 5 Shifts Lay Off 6th In B.C. Shipyards

A WEST CANADIAN PORT, April 9 — (CP). — A plan for institution of "continuous production" for British Columbia shipyards under which shipyard employees would work five shifts and lay off the sixth, with no overtime, has been submitted to the Federal Department of Labor by union officials here.

The plan was proposed to replace the 24-hour day, seven-day work week which had been scheduled to go into effect in British Columbia yards on or before April 1.

In a statement the shipyard unions said present agreements with shipyard operators call "for 45 hours pay for five shifts."

"The (Federal) Government demands a sixth shift with only an additional five hours' pay," the statement said. "This would mean increase of 22 per cent in time worked with increase in earnings of only 10¾ per cent. The unions ask that nine hours be paid for the sixth shift, same as now paid for the other five shifts, plus two hours overtime. The unions have offered to forego double time, which they now get for the whole sixth shift.

".....Night shifts now work five days, taking two off in seven. We propose that these shifts should work five days and take one off in six, and be paid the same rates as at present. This would mean an increase of 14 per cent in time worked and an increase of 14 per cent in earnings. Applied to day shifts, it would mean a 7½ per cent increase in earnings and time worked."

Shipyard operators and union officials have been meeting continuously in an effort to get the seven-day week plan into operation but have been unsuccessful.

All shipyards closed down here on Good Friday, and one plant closed on Saturday at noon. Confusion over the rights of workmen to overtime pay during the holiday and Saturday was given as the reason for the shutdowns.

Youth Pleads Guilty To Attempted Suicide

An 18-year-old Norwood youth who pleaded guilty in police court on Wednesday to a charge of attempted suicide was allowed by Magistrate E. A. Gee to go on suspended sentence on condition that he refrain from associating with a soldier's wife and from using liquor during the period of probation.

It was stated that the accused drank a quantity of iodine after a quarrel with a woman with whom he had been associated. Prompt medical attention brought him around quickly and the attempted suicide charge followed. It was laid by Provincial Constable Archie Grayling of Norwood.

Proposes Rural School Changes

TORONTO, April 9.—The small, rural school section has "outlived its usefulness," Miss Agnes C. Macphail yesterday told delegates to the rural trustees' section of the Ontario Educational Association convention.

Supplanting the school section should be a pool of taxes which would be allotted throughout the rural township on an equitable basis, Miss Macphail declared. At present, the poorest sections of a township have the poorest educational facilities for children.

Miss Macphail advocated this step as part of a broader plan for equalizing educational facilities between city and country area. The rural areas have more children and less money than city sections, she said.

"If we are civilized, why should we penalize a boy or girl because they happen to be born in a low assessment area?" she asked. "Something will have to be done about this problem."

Miss Macphail urged an improved curriculum for secondary schools similar to the one adopted for the primary pupils. The present curriculum does not teach subjects which will be advantageous to the vast majority of students, she asserted.

Many farmers have a "white-collar philosophy" and refuse to enrol their children in courses which deal directly with farm problems, Miss Macphail declared, urging an abandonment of this frame of mind.

Japs On The Move

CHUNGKING, China, April 9.—(AP)—Thirteen Japanese transports and six warships have been sighted off Amoy, on the south coast of China, a military spokesman here declared to-day.

Three Japanese divisions are concentrated on Japanese Formosa Island but their destination has not been ascertained, the spokesman said.

Chinese forces in Burma are engaged with the Japanese striking force to the south of Kyibuangan, in the Toungoo region, he added. The Japanese are said to be constructing defences and not advancing.

Feels Better Now Than In Years Since Using Syntona

Has High Praise For Herbal Compound. Says It Relieved Stomach Troubles, Constipation, Dizzy Spells and Rheumatic Pain.

MR. CHARLES P. MILLS

"It is a good many years since I had been able to enjoy my meals like I do now, without having a lot of stomach suffering afterwards ....and that is only one of the several good results I've had from using Syntona," said Mr. Charles P. Mills, 524 Egerton Street, a well-known London, Ontario, resident.

"Because of bad digestion, poor kidney action and constipation my entire system had become rundown. Food seemed to ferment soon after reaching my stomach. This brought on gas, bloating and belching up of hot, sour liquids. Whenever I stooped over I'd have a feeling of dizziness with little black spots darting before my eyes. My nerves became so bad that I couldn't get restful sleep at night and in the morning I felt tired and wornout. My limbs and muscles ached all over and my back felt lame.

"It wasn't long afted I began taking Syntona that I noticed a big improvement in the way I felt. Now I am so much better that, for the first time in years, my food diggsts without any sign of gas, sourness, or acid-risings. My bowels are moving smoothly and regularly. I've had no dizziness or spots before my eyes since. The aching and lameness have gone out of my limbs, joints and back, and best of all I am getting restful sleep at night with the result that I feel better in every way than I have for years. I really can recommend Syntona highly, and think it is a great medicine."

All around us are grateful men and women who, like Mr. Mills, have obtained good results by taking Syntona. This medicine is made from 12 of the finest Herbs, Roots and Barks. It acts on stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels, aids in the elimination of poisonous waste matter and promotes better assimilation of food for increased strength and energy.

Yanks Get Cruiser, Corregidor Holds

Japs Get Carrier Hermes 3 Warships Cost 75 Planes

London Denies Tokyo's Claims Of Greater Toll Off Ceylon Coast

LONDON, April 10 —(CP)—Britain's first aircraft carrier, the 23-year-old Hermes, has been sunk in Japan's unabated effort to beat down the sea and air shield against invasion of India, but the enemy's total claims of victory are too extravagant, the Admiralty said today in a communique.

Japanese planes sank the 10,850-ton Hermes about 10 miles off Ceylon, a pivot of British strength at the tip of India on the western side of the broad Bay of Bengal.

The loss of the Hermes came soon after the sinking of the heavy cruisers Dorsetshire and Cornwall, announced yesterday, in the same area. The cruiser losses had seriously crippled British protection of the sea road to India. Now, in the loss of the Hermes, the Royal Navy has been stripped of another formidable weapon.

75 Planes For 3 Ships

One informed source said the attacks in which the Hermes, Dorsetshire and Cornwall were sent to the bottom cost the Japanese fully 75 planes.

He said the Hermes was sunk by bombs, not plane-launched torpedoes.

The Japanese, however, claimed even greater successes in the flaming, intermitten battle which has become perhaps the war's greatest test of seapower versus air power.

Lose Bataan, Hold Corregidor

Wave on wave of Jap soldiers have forced American and Filipino forces on Bataan peninsula to abandon their defence of the territory. The American forces are still holding Corregidor fortress at the mouth of Manila Bay, despite heavy enemy assaults. Barges carrying field guns fired on (1) Limay and Cabcaben, while tanks and artillery poured shells into the main American defence line (2 and 3) strung from Bagac to Abucay. A two-hour artillery barrage was fired at Ft. Hughes and Corregidor by Jap guns at Cavite.

Fighting Ceases On Bataan, Japs Batter Big Fort Amid Furious A.A. Defence

Yank Garrison Withholds Return Shore Fire For Fear Of Hitting Stragglers There; F.D.R. Reads Wainwright's Wire, "Flag Flies"

WASHINGTON, April 10—(AP).—The United States War Department reported today that American torpedo boats sank a Japanese cruiser off Cebu in the central Philippines but that on the Bataan peninsula fighting apparently had ceased.

A communique said that Lt.-Gen. Jonathan Wainwright reported this morning that all communication between Bataan, where his American-Filipino force of 36,853 effectives was crushed, and the fortress island of Corregidor had been cut off for nearly 24 hours.

(The Japanese news agency at 5 a.m., EDT, said today, however, fighting was still in progress on Bataan).

Mr. Roosevelt, talking at a press conference, said that of course everybody felt badly about Bataan. There is no further news on this, he said, except that he had received a grand message from Wainwright in answer to one he had dispatched to the general.

Neither message was released in full, and Mr. Roosevelt read only the single sentence from Wainwright's communication, that the flag still flies over Corregidor.

This communication came in this morning.

Corregidor was raided frequently yesterday by heavy bombers and Japanese artillery hammered at the island forts both from the peninsula and the south shore of Manila Bay.

No material damage resulted, the communique said. The fort's guns refrained from replying to the shelling from Bataan to avoid risking hits on defending troops still on the peninsula.

One Of In Convoy.

The cruiser reported sunk was one of a fleet of five warships and 10 transports which the War Department said apparently comprised an invasion fleet landing troops in Cebu.

The fleet was attacked by the torpedo boats, which had dealt effective blows to the foe before being transferred south from the main fighting front.

The communique did not state whether the invasion landing was being made only at the city of Cebu, second only to Manila in size and importance, or also on the island of the same name. The city is about 350 air miles south of Manila.

The city has been shelled repeatedly but from the sea hitherto had escaped invasion, and meanwhie served as an important transport and communication point for unoccupied areas of the archipelago.

A commercial radio station at Cebu has been in communication with the United States for weeks, and was linked with inter-island stations elsewhere.

The War Department said that Gen. Wainwright in a message to President Roosevelt had expressed appreciation of the confidence placed in him by the commander in chief and had advised that everything possible had been done to hold Bataan with the limited force under his command.

"The overwhelming air and artillery superiority of the Japanese finally overcame the dogged resistance of the hungry and exhausted defenders," the War Department said.

The communique, based on reports from the Corregidor received up until 10 a.m., E.D.T., was the first report on Philippine developments since the extraordinary communique issued at 5.15 a.m. yesterday advising of "the probability that the defences on Bataan have been overcome.

The attack on Cebu suggested the likelihood that the Japanese intended to proceed now with the occupation of important islands which have escaped invasion.

Fort Still Has a Kick

A Tokyo broadcast said Corregidor guns put up a furious barrage against Japanese bombers which twice attacked the island stronghold yesterday and set fires that spread a smoke curtain over Manila bay.

Bad weather was expected to slow any all-out drive against Burma and India, although there was some likelihood of intensified fighting as a

Indians Stalling Afresh Over Details

NEW DEHI, India, April 10—(CP)—Amid reports that the compromise plan for Indian self government had not yet been smoothed out to the satisfaction of Hindu leaders, the working committee of the congress (Nationalist) party conferred for four hours today and called another session for tomorrow.

A prominent member of the committee afterward told reporters: "The sky may be overcast and the weather may be cloudy. Do not go by the weather. We are meeting again tomorrow."

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru told Indians today that their duty, "Whatever the results of negotiations with Sir Stafford Cripps," is to "serve and defend India to the uttermost."

Reports were heard of fresh hitches in Sir Stafford's negotiations. Certain members of the all-Indian congress party working committee were said to have found changes in the original proposals unsatisfactory now that these have been fully explained. The committee's final decision is expected soon.

The Congress Party was reported yesterday to have indicated its readiness to accept Britain's modified offer—a national government for India now, with an Indian in the vital office of defence minister, and Dominion status later.

It was understood that the first task of a new national government would be to raise a militia from the rank and file of India's people.

In his talks with Mr. Johnson, Nehru presumably insisted that only an Indian government could do this. The envoy was believed to have endorsed that view.

US War Supplies Pouring In Says Russ Commissar All Go To Liquidate Boche

Can Be Done In Russia This Year, He Claims; Over 5,600 Huns Die In Day's Fighting As Soviets Mow Down Fresh Reserves

LONDON, April 10—(CP).—The Vichy radio quoted reports from Stockholm today that Soviet troops had crossed the frontier into White Russia between Vitebsk and Nevel in a sector 75 miles northwest of Smolensk and were continuing their advance.

The broadcast, heard by Reuters, said that if the drive could be maintained it would be a serious menace to the important Vitebsk defences guarding the Nazi Smolensk spearhead toward Moscow.

The Berlin radio said today that Soviet troops, attacking with many tanks and material superiority, had broken through the centre of the German defence line north of Lake Ilmen and dislodged advanced Nazi detachments.

The supply route of this Soviet wedge was cut, however, so that neither supplies nor reinforcements could reach it, the broadcast claimed.

(The action presumably was in the region of Novgorod, a German base 100 miles south of Leningrad, toward which Russian divisions have been moving in a drive correlated with the Staraya Russia encirclement manoeuvres south of Lake Ilmen).

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 10—(AP).—The Red Army will liquidate the Germany army in Russia, S. A. Lozovsky, Soviet Vice-Commissar for Foreign Affairs, told his press conference today, adding that United States supplies are reaching the Russian forces and being "used to make Nazi corpses."

Asked how United States supplies are arriving, Lozovsky, official press spokesmen, said "all sorts of things for war" are being received "but precisely in what quantities is a secret."

"All the supplies we produce and those from the outside are used to convert the German army into corpses," Lozovsky went on, "and it goes successfully."

He ridiculed what he called German reports (evidently not circulated generally) that Russian losses have reached 20,000,000.

Lozovsky said the Germans had stopped giving information on their dead and wounded.

"I suggest," he said, "that they create a new category, the 'slightly killed'."

Aussies, Yanks On Offensive To Grow Daily

By C. YATES MacDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer.

MELBOURNE, April 10—(AP).—Australia and the United States have taken the offensive in the air but are yet unable to lay the groundwork for a total counter-drive, it was stressed officially today while the Japanese consolidated a further gain in their arc of bases facing this continent.

In actual warfare, seven Japanese bombers, fighter escorted, raided the strategic New Guinea harbor of Port Moresby for the 25th time and were believed to have lost at least one bomber.

The first reports of the 20-minute raid mentioned no damage or casualties. The attackers once more encountered Allied interceptor planes. Defending airmen pitched their resistance on a note struck by

Sink Fiery Ship In Harbor Scare

An East Coast Canadian Port, April 10 (CP)—A ship's mast protruding above the surface today marked the grave of a merchant vessel sunk with "explosive charges" by the Navy after an early-morning fire in her midsection got out of control.

Thousands of citizens were awakened by the sound of explosions from the ship between the hours of one and three o'clock this morning and swamped newspaper offices with inquiries. Those answering the calls said little alarm was shown by the inquiries once they were told there was no danger.

An authorized version of the incident said:—

"A merchant ship caught fire during the night. The fire got out of control early this morning. As it was not expedient to beach her, naval authorities sank her with explosive charges."

A fire-boat had been pouring streams of water on the blaze for several hours when the decision was made to sink the vessel.

Only casualty of the fire, which cast a bright glow over the harbor and for a time resembled a fireworks display, was a seaman brought ashore with what Navy authorities termed a minor knee injury caused by a fall on deck.

4 'Yes' Vote Men Chased By Crowd

HAWKESBURY, Ont., April 10—(CP).—A disturbance in Hawkesbury town hall last night following a speech by Elie O. Bertrand, Liberal Member of Parliament for Prescott, in support of an affirmative vote in the forthcoming plebiscite, ended with the arrival of the police after two men had been ejected from the hall by some members of the audience.

Mr. Bertrand spoke in French. He was interrupted several times and after a series of interruptions, most of them apparently by youths, left the hall.

Subsequently two English-speaking men went to the platform and asked that Mr. Bertrand, who indicated he would speak in English as well as French, be called back. The two men, unidentified, were then ejected.

Nathan Cohen, Hawkesbury merchant who tried to placate the interrupters, told police he was chased from the building and entered a nearby house. He said a crowd outside threatened to break the windows if he did not come out. The crowd dispersed when two town constables arrived. No arrests were made.

US May Enroll Women 18-65 Years

WASHINGTON, April 10—(AP).—President Roosevelt disclosed today that, in connection with studies for mobilization of man power for war industries, the United States Government is considering voluntary registration for all women 18 to 65 years old.

Probably within a week, Mr. Roosevelt said, some decision will be reached on how to go about chanelling man power into war jobs.

One difficulty in registering women, he said at a press conference, is inherent in the number of persons who would come forward to enroll. This would create mechanical difficulties, he said, remarking that the preparation of cards alone would be a tremendous task.

He said there had been talk of a voluntary registration for women on the next registration day for men up to 65, on April 27. If, and he emphasized the if, it is decided to register woman, a date will be later on.

A cabinet committee which has been tussling with the problem of channeling men into war production activities thus far has made only an oral report, the President said.

Luzon's Fate Sealed 10 Hrs. After Pearl Harbor As Japs Cripple Yank Air Power

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 10—(AP).—The fate of Luzon and Bataan was sealed just before 1 p.m. Dec. 8, some 10 hours after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

The United States main bomber force was lined up on Clark Field, 40 miles north of Manila on Luzon Island, with the crews standing by waiting orders to take off and bomb Japanese air and naval bases on the Island of Formosa.

Most of the pursuit planes were at nearby Iba field.

The pursuits and some bombers had been aloft during the morning but had returned to the ground for orders.

Fifty-four heavy enemy bombers roared over Clark Field at 10,000 feet and showered the planes runways and hangars with explosives.

Eighty-six Japanese "Zero" fighters came in their wake and strafed the planes, ground forces and anti-aircraft batteries in low-level attacks.

Some planes were saved but the main strength of the air force was gone.

After midnight that night Japanese bombers came in over Manila Bay and, aided by flares and fires set by fifth columnists on the ground attacked Nichols Field on the outskirts of Manila, where planes assigned to defend the Cavite naval base were stationed.

Earlier Monday the Japanese air force had struck at American outpost air fields strung upon the western and northern coasts of Luzon, even some supposedly secret fields completed only a few days before. At each some planes were destroyed on the ground in perfectly co-ordinated attacks.

Japanese planes had been flying over Luzon several nights before the war. They had been picked up by detectors and once a flight of pursuits attempted to intercept them but missed.

The bombers used in the December 8 raids apparently came from Formosa and Hainan and the fighters probably from two carriers.

On the same day the Japanese forces landed at Aparri and seized a large landing field which had been previously prepared by their agents. It was disguised as a rice field.

Within a few days the Japanese planes were operating from this field. On December 10, about noon the Japanese attacked Cavite with devastating success. The United States Asiatic Fleet thus lost its sole effective operating base in the Philippines.

Two weeks later the Japanese hit in force, landing almost without sea or aerial opposition in South-eastern Luzon and in Lingayen Gulf.

Lacking effective air or sea support, Gen. MacArthur was forced to fall back on the strategy of a withdrawal into Bataan.

Unfortunately the development of the Japanese air power and blows to Pearl Harbor made the dispatch of reinforcements impossible.

In Bataan they felt that help could have been sent, and that American forces could have fought their way through to relieve the peninsula.

Quebec Leaves Issue Open

Electors Free To Express Own Opinion On Vote

QUEBEC, April 10—(CP).—The Legislative Assembly decided early today that members of the House and citizens of the Province should be free to express their own opinion when they vote in the Dominion Government plebiscite April 27.

The Provincial Lower House defeated by a 55-12 vote a motion of Rene Chaloult (Lib., Lotbiniere) which urged the House to express the opinion that electors of the Province should give a negative vote. By a similar vote, they adopted an amendment submitted by Alex Caron (Lib., Hull) suggesting that members and electors be free to express their personal opinions.

The seconder of the original motion, J. A. Beaulieu (Lib., Temiscouata), voted with the Government in favor of the amendment.

The vote came after Premier Godbout wound up a two-day debate by declaring that he believed a negative vote in the plebiscite would amount to a non-confidence vote in the Government of Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The Premier said that he did not want to dictate how people should vote, but he felt that "a vote of non-confidence in the King Government would bring into power Mr. Meighen who would impose conscription immediately."

4 Libya Supply Ships Sent Down

LONDON, April 10—(CP).—British submarines, in one case defying a convoy's destroyer escort, have sunk four more Axis ships—two schooners and two supply vessels—in the Mediterranean, the Admiralty announced today.

One of the schooners, a communique said, was laden with sugar and other stores bound for Tripoli, the Axis' chief supply port in Libya.

Both supply ships were sunk by a submarine commanded by Lt.-

Tanker Grounds Off Toronto

Half Mile Off Beach Waves Battering Oil Cargo

TORONTO, April 10.—(CP)—A lake ship identified as the 3,000-ton Cedarbranch of Montreal grounded early today in choppy Lake Ontario a half-mile out from suburban Long Branch near Toronto's western city limits.

The ship, now a tanker reported under charter to McColl-Frontenac Oil Co., struck a rocky outcropping at 6 a.m. but heavy waves prevented attempts to rescue her crew of between 20 and 25 men.

Lifeguards from Toronto kept a close watch on the ship, now several hours overdue in Toronto harbor with her oil cargo from Toledo. High waves battered her broadside.

Watchers from the shore said they could see crew members waving from the water-swept deck but they are believed to be in no immediate danger unless the high waves drive the ship against the rocky shore.

Lifesavers said that because of the heavy seas running it was imposible to send a tug to the rescue.

LEGISLATURE PASSES BUDGET, THRONE DEBATES WITHOUT VOTE

Debate Closes On Budget Minus Vote

Unanimity Shatters Precedent In Ontario House

TORONTO, April 10—(CP).—The budget debate like its predecessor the throne speech debate, wound up last night in the Ontario Legislature on the precedent-shattering basis of unanimity—the Conservatives again refusing to force a division. It is the first time since the present Liberal adminstration took office in 1934 that both debates ended without a vote.

Welfare Minister Farquhar Oliver ended the debate which started last Thursday when he closed out near midnight a heavy speaking schedule in which eight speakers were heard.

Others who spoke in the final drive were Lt.-Col. George A. Drew, Conservative leader; W. Lynn Miller (Lib. Algoma - Manitoulin); John Glass (Lib. Toronto St. Andrews); Edmund A. MacGillivray (Lib. Glengarry); William Duckworth (Con. Toronto Dovercourt); Col. F. Fraser Hunter (Lib. Toronto St. Patrick) and Goldwin C. Elgie (Con. Toronto Woodbine).

Mr. Oliver contended the tax structure of the province, which had been criticized by the opposition, was neither burdensome nor oppressive. He said the government's policy was based on the principle of providing equitably the widest service to the greatest number of people and economic and social justice to all.

Since 1934, he declared, the province had paid back to the municipalities $64,000,000 in various forms such as the one-mill subsidy to municipalities; old age pensions; mothers' allowances and farm bonuses.

Real General Benefit

This money has benefitted the "ordinary person on the land, in the villages and towns" and was the greatest redistribution of wealth possible anywhere in Canada.

"There was no fanfare attached to it," he said. "We've taken the money from those who could afford to pay it—the car owner through the gasoline tax; the person who drinks liquor and corporations—in a manner that was fair and equitable."

Norwood Sailor Aboard Lost Cruiser

NORWOOD, April 10—(Special)—Sub-Lieut. S. W. Breckon, only son of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Breckon, of Norwood, is one of the three Canadians who were serving on the British cruiser Dorsetshire when it was bombed and sunk in the Bay of Bengal on Thursday. No word has been received from the Admiralty as yet on the casualties, which were comparatively light.

This boy is a graduate of Norwood High School, where his father is principal, and he took his honor degree, B.Sc., at Queen's University last year, then enlisted with the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve. He was posted to this British ship a few weeks before the Japs entered the war, and he was attached to what is known as the "Special Branch," having charge of the sound detecting apparatus. He is 23 years of age.

said that besides the Hermes, a 9,100-ton cruiser of the Birmingham class and a 7,550-ton cruiser of the Emerald class were sunk yesterday off Trincomalee naval station, Ceylon.

To this the Admiralty countered: "The Japanese claim to have sunk cruisers off Trincomalee is known to be quite untrue."

Tokyo Piles It Up

Yesterday the Japanese claimed 21 merchant vessels and the two cruisers had been sunk in Indian ocean operations up to Tuesday, April 7.

Today's claim added the Hermes, two cruisers, a destroyer, a patrol vessel and six other ships to the Japanese list of sinkings, but of these the Admiralty reported only that of the Hermes. The Japanese said also a cruiser of the 7,270-ton Leander class was damaged.

The Japanese account of the battle said their forces suffered no damage but lost 10 planes. Tokyo said the British lost 51 planes over land and sea. The Japanese report indicated Trincomalee was heavily raided.

The Royal Navy, already committed to guarding much of the North Atlantic, as well as the Mediterranean, is spread thinly over Eastern waters. Observers said the Japanese in the last few days had won temporary air and sea control of the Indian Ocean, of which the Bay of Bengal is the principal arm.

Pending the issue of the battle of the sea approaches, land forces in the Burma gateway to India's eastern frontier appeared to be marking time. British headquarters at New Delhi summed up the situation on the Burma front as of yesterday with "nothing to report."

The Japanese land forces were 30 miles from the Yenanma oil fields of Burma. British and Indian troops, clinging to positions in the Irrawaddy river valley on the western end of the Burma line while Chinese defended the eastern end, were preparing to burn and blow up the wells upon materialization of the Japanese threat.

First Real Carrier

The Hermes was involved deeply in developing the Navy's air arm. She was the first vessel especially designed by the Admiralty as a carrier and could carry 20 planes as compared with the 60 or 70 of newer carriers.

The Navy was especially fond of its first-born Hermes. Typical is a general note recorded by Jane's Fighting Ships: "Splendid sea boat, very steady, and remarkable little rolling propensity."

She was the eighth major ship lost by the Navy in this war, the first of such importance to go down since the battleship Prince of Wales and the battle cruiser Repulse were sunk by the Japanese off Malaya last Dec. 10, and the fourth British aircraft carrier sent to the bottom.

The other carriers sunk were the 22,000-ton Ark Royal, the 22,500-ton Courageous, and the 22,500-ton Glorious.

The Navy started the war with 10 aircraft carriers and two scheduled for completion during 1942.

The Hermes was begun Jan. 15, 1918, but was not fitted out completely until 1924. She was refitted in 1933-34.

One of the real problems in setting up the machinery, after it is determined what is to be done with available man power, Mr. Roosevelt explained, lies in a determination whether a completely new governmental agency should be created or whether there should merely be some central supervision of a great many governmental agencies already engaged in allocating and using man and woman power.

A Port Moresby dispatch said it was known that besides Lorengau, the Japanese occupy Finschhafen, Lae and Salamaua, all in New Guinea, across the mountains and jungleland from Port Moresby; Kavieng, New Ireland; Rabaul and Gasmata, New Britain, Buka Island and Fais Island.

This chain of bases extends more than 1,000 miles which means the invaders must be supplied from centres like the Truk or Palau Islands of the Japanese Caroline group.

Rabaul on New Britain, the Port Moresby account said, remains the key to the situation.

"If we smash Rabaul we smash the whole Japanese chain in waters north-east of Australia and by retaking Rabaul we ourselves would obtain a vital base."

Cmdr. P. S. Francis, which slipped up on a convoy despite its warship protection, ramming home two torpedoes on one large supply ship and also sinking another, of medium size, in the same attack.

These thrusts, which followed closely on the sinking of an Italian heavy cruiser in the Mediterranean, may force Field Marshal Erwin Rommel to move faster than expected against British positions in Eastern Libya, a usually well-informed London source said.

He expressed belief that Rommel would strike now with armored and infantry forces available—estimated as high as 125,000 men—rather than wait for reinforcements which might become the prey of British submarines.

Imminent Axis offensive action was said to be indicated by three developments:—

1. Strengthening of Axis bomber forces in preference to fighters.

2. Establishment of fuel and ammunition dumps in advanced positions.

3. Placing of Italian units in forward areas while new additions to the German African army are schooled in desert warfare behind the lines.

5,600 Nazis In 2 Pushes.

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 10—(AP).—Soviet troops were officially declared today to have killed 4,470 Germans in repulsing one phase of a Kalinin front counterattack and killed more than 1,200 more in other engagements over the long fighting zone.

Nazi reserves, recently arrived from deep in the rear, bolstered the German lines for the counter attack a few days ago, the Soviet information bureau said.

"On one small part of the front alone the Germans lost 4,470 soldiers and officers dead," its communique reported. "Suffering enormous losses in manpower and equipment, the Hitlerites were compelled to go over to the defensive."

A strongly-fortified community of the Kalinin front, where operations centre about Lake Ilmen, was captured by Red army units in fighting that cost the Germans 860 casualties, dead and wounded.

The Moscow radio earlier reported that two German divisions, counter-attacking on the Kalinin front with tanks and planes in support, had been routed after a fierce battle.

The Soviet information bureau, perhaps referring to the same engagement, said that "on a sector of the Kalinin front our units killed up to 900 German soldiers and officers."

(Russian advices received in London declared the invaders were being flooded out of trenches, dugouts and ice ports at many points by thaws, even as far north as Leningrad).

Trio To Protest Cattle Embargo

TORONTO, April 10 (CP)—John W. Freeborn (Liberal, Middlesex North), chairman of the agriculture committee of the Ontario Legislature, named himself and two other members last night as a committee to carry a protest to Ottawa against placing an embargo on cattle exports to the United States. Col. T. L. Kennedy (Con., Peel), former Minister of Agriculture, and Ross A. McEwing (Lib., Wellington North) are the other members of the committee.

The trip to Ottawa will be made next Tuesday and the three M.P.P.'s will be accompanied by W. R. Reek, Deputy Minister of Agriculture.

The Agriculture Committee, at a meeting yesterday voiced "strong opposition" to an embargo and empowered the chairman to appoint a committee to make representations to Ottawa.

Higher prices on the American market are attracting a great number of cattle shipments from this country creating a situation that may develop into a beef shortage.

A "ceiling" on the retail price of beef prevents the packers in this country from meeting the prices on the American markets, it is said.

Poultry Scarce Some Moving To British Mart

TORONTO, April 10—(CP).—The dressed poultry market is showing the usual post-holiday quietness the Dominion Department of Agriculture reports.

Receipts of fresh killed poultry are very light, chicken arrivals being practically nil. Small quantities of fresh broilers are beginning to arrived and are moving well. Fowl are still scarce and quotations show a slight advance to producers and country shippers for this class of poultry.

Receipts of fresh turkeys are very light, but there is not great demand for them.

Dealers report a very good movement of poultry for the Easter trade with the exception of turkey, which did not move as well as anticipated. This demand was supplied from storage stocks.

Advertising of poultry meats played a great part in the Easter movement, window streamers and pamphlets evidently stimulating demand.

During the current week two cars of chicken have been bought for Toronto delivery early next week from the Prairie Provinces. They contained Grade A milk-fed and Grade B milk-fed, costing 28 and 27 cents lb. respectively for birds over 5 lbs. With ½ cent less on the half-pound average. One car arrived during the week on the same basis.

There has been good out-of-town movement, approximately 30,000 lbs. having gone or are going forward to the British West Indies and Newfoundland.

Some trading in a wholesale jobbing way is being done for chicken, grade A milk-fed 28 cents lb., Grade B milk-fed 27 cents lb.

Dealers are quoting producers and country dealers (nominal):—

Fowl.—Grade A, over 5 lbs., 20 to 23½c; 4½ to 5 lbs. 19 to 23c; 4 to 4½ lbs., 18 to 22½c. Grade B over 5 lbs. 18 to 21½c; 4½ to 5 lbs. 17 to 21c; 4 to 4½ lbs. 16 to 20½c.

TORONTO, April 10—(CP).—Wholesale fruits and vegetables remained unchanged today.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, April 10—(CP).—Only a few hundred head of cattle are expected to reach the Toronto Livestock Market during next week's trading unless in the meantime some change is made in the price situation that will be favorable to producers. Already a beef shortage threatens this city, with slaughterings at the Union Stock Yards being held to a minimum through the inability of packers to get cattle at prices in line with ceiling levels on beef.

Beef supplies at Hamilton are said to be only 40 per cent of requirements. This shortage is attributed to heavy sales of cattle to United States and virtual stoppage of domestic trading.

Arrival here yesterday of thirty head brought total available cattle supply to 450 head, and of this total 150 were unsold at the close of the market. Cattle prices for the week were off 50 cents a hundredweight.

In other lines, hogs and veal calves were steady, while no sheep or lambs were offered.

Weighty steers traded at $9.50 to $10.25, a few butcher steers at $9 to $10.50, and heifers at $9 to $9.85.

Common to medium veal calves sold at $8 to $13.50, with a few good vealers at $14 to $14.50.

Hogs sold at $15.15 dressedweight and sows at $10.75 to $11 dressed.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle, 30; calves, 30; hogs, 220.

MONTREAL POULTRY

MONTREAL, April 10—(CP).—Poultry prices per lb: Chickens, milkfed Grade A, 28 to 30c; B, 26 to 28½c. Fresh fowls, 23 to 25c. Turkeys, A 33 to 35c; Brome ducks, 29c; domestic, 28c.

HintLadDrowned In Drinking Bout

OTTAWA, April 10—(CP).—A sordid story of a drinking party in an Ottawa photographer's shop which ended in the death of 18-year-old Lucien Ayotte was unfolded last night before a coroner's jury.

Principal witness at the inquest, over which Coroner Dr. E. P. Byrne presided was Thomas V. Little, proprietor of the shop where the party was held. Little is charged under the Liquor Control Act with supplying liquor to a minor.

Little gave this account of the party. He, Ayotte and several other young men started to drink rum shortly after completing work. Ayotte, who was Little's assistant in the store, first became gay, then drowsy.

Later, Little said, he cut off Ayotte's necktie, snipped the legs from his trousers and plastered his face with black shoe polish while another youth took pictures of Ayotte with a camera.

Little said water then was poured over Ayotte's head and down the back of his neck in an effort to revive him. The youth also was ducked momentarily in a deep water tank in the room. Ayotte revived momentarily, then collapsed.

Efforts to obtain medical treatment were unsuccessful until finally the party drove the youth to hospital.

There, Dr. Paul Lemay an interne, pronounced Ayotte dead.

Dr. N. O. Klotz, pathologist, testified the lungs were larger than normal with some small hemorrhages which indicated an asphyxia type of death. A large amount of almost pure water was found in the stomach. He said the cause of death was "asphyxia due to aspirating a watery fluid into the lungs."

Obituary

FREDERICK H. AMYS.

Three quarters of a century of living in Smith township came to a close at ten o'clock on Thursday morning with the death of Frederick Harrison Amys, 75 year old farmer.

The late Mr. Amys lived about a mile south of Lakefield, and for many years operated the telephone exchange in the village of Lakefield. He was a son of the late Philip Amys and Matilda Steele, pioneer settlers of the township, and he was a typical pioneer son, thinking little of walking to and from Peterborough whenever he desired to do so. He was a retiring type of man, but nevertheless his depth of sincerity won him many friends who mourn his death.

He is survived by one brother, Arthur Amys of Peterborough. In religion he was an Anglican and the funeral service from the Comstock Funeral Home, 305 Water street at 3 p.m. on Saturday, April 11 will be conducted by the Rev. Canon W. P Robertson Interment will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Dr. W.S. Millyard Dies At Coboconk

LINDSAY, April 10.—Dr. Wiley Schell Millyard, 56, medical officer and health and prominent business man, died suddenly from a heart attack yesterday at his home in Coboconk.

Born in Woodstock, Ont., Dr. Millyard was the son of a Methodist minister. He attend the University of Toronto Medical College and was graduated in 1908. Following post-graduate work in New York, he served as company doctor in the building of the Transcontinental Railway through Northern Ontario. Later he practiced medicine in Grimsby and in Capreol, coming to Coboconk in 1920. For many years he had served as medical officer of health for the Townships of Digby, Longford, Bexley and Sommerville. Keenly interested in political affairs he was a member of the Liberal Party Executive Committee of Victoria-Haliburton. During his university days he was an outstanding baseball and lacrosse player. He was a member of the United Church.

He was twice married. His wife by his first marriage, Mabel Shields Millyard, predeceased him. Surviving are his widow, Harriet Eades Millyard; two sons, John of Kitchener and Wiley of Toronto; also three brothers, Rev. J. E. J. Millyard of London, Ont., Dr. William Millyard of Chicago, and Malcolm Millyard of Toronto. The funeral service will be held Saturday at Coboconk, with interment in the United Church Cemetery, Coboconk.

British Rout 20 Tanks In The Desert

Engage Two Columns 100 Miles West Of Tobruk

CAIRO, Egypt, April 10—(AP).—British columns have engaged two Axis columns in Libya and have hit some tanks, British Middle East headquarters said today.

The war report added that the Axis forward troops had not attempted to approach nearer the British positions in the last two days.

The Axis forces had 20 tanks in one engagement yesterday, the communique said, and some of those were hit by British fire.

British casualties were light.

Another Axis column was met north of Tendeger and some enemy vehicles were set on fire, it said.

Tengeder is 35 miles south of El Mechili, which is 100 miles west of Tobruk.

Ample Supply Meat In City

"Peterborough will not go short of meat this week-end," Gordon S. Matthews, manager of Canada Packers, informed The Examiner today.

"There is a decided shortage in quite a number of other cities, but we have an ample supply here from the first of the week arrivals."

Mr. Matthews said there was no truth in a rumor of beef having been commandeered for the military camp.

"There is no question of force or anything else out of the normal; we have a contract to supply the military camp with its requirements, and we do that first. We have simply been filling the contract in the regular way."

Mr. Matthews said he could not predict what the situation would be next week.

Raid On Solomons

MELBOURNE, April 10—(CP).—Five Japanese bombers flying at 5,000 feet raided Tulagi in the Solomon Islands, yesterday morning and dropped between 30 and 40 bombs, Prime Minister John Curtin announced.

The communique said some damage was done to buildings, but that there were no casualties.

Alf. H. McKeel Dies In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, April 10 — (ENS).—Campbellford lost one of its leading citizens, with the passing of Alfred H. McKeel at his home here early Thursday morning. A man who derived his greatest joy from serving others, he was truly a friend of the working man and of the returned soldier, whom he did so much to help both here and in Christie Street hospital in Toronto, that he was one of the few ever to be made an honorary member of the Legion.

Mr. McKeel came to Campbellford with his parents from Prince William, New Brunewick, more than sixty years ago. He was of United Empire Loyalist stock, and with his father, who was a railroad contractor, he followed that trade for several years after leaving school and from this early association he gained much of the experience he later put to use in the field of general contracting and building. It was in the building trade that he was perhaps best known and his ability and craftsmanship earned him a wide reputation. He built many of the town's finest homes and for years it was considered the best recommendation a realtor could give a building was to say it was "built by McKeel."

Helped Legion

Too old for service in the first great war he went to work in the local munitions plant where his ability was soon recognized and he was made superintendant. At the close of the war he again returned to the building trade and with the formation of the Legion began to take an increasing interest in the soldiers' welfare making them gifts of many articles to which he had devoted countless hours of labour, such as inlaid checker and cribbage boards. In addition to this he assisted with the redecorating of the Legion rooms here and at the same time making other gifts to the boys in Christie Street Hospital, where he will long be remembered.

In addition to his other philanthropic works, Mr. McKeel also took a great interest in municipal affairs and was one of the four men to sit on the Council under the late William Doxsee (Mayor), at the time of the town's incorporation in 1909. He was subsequently Reeve of the town, but later retired from municipal life though continuing to be keenly interested in the town's affairs. In later years, though he was forced to become less active, he still accepted contracts for re-building and additions to homes and cottages in summer, while during the winter months he turned his workshop into a boat building factory and he constructed both motor boats and skiffs which may still be identified on many parts of the Trent River.

Suffered Stroke

Mr. McKeel had been failing noticeably for the past two years, but during the summers when he was not busy making something with his tools, he spent many hours in fishing at Trent River, where he built his cottage some thirty years ago. During the past winter he was continually building something in his workshop and shortly before he was stricken by a paralytic stroke two weeks ago, had announced his intention to alter his garage, saying that it would probably be his last job. He died at 6.15 Thursday morning, three days after his youngest son had arrived from California, to be at his bedside when the end came.

There survive, besides his widow, the former Martha Bakes of Campbellford, two sons, Clarence of Los Angeles, Cal., and Ernest of Campbellford. One sister, Mrs. George Torrance, Pittsfield, Mass., also survives, while another sister, Mrs. Matilda King of Rochester, N. Y., predeceased him two months ago.

Funeral services will be conducted from the family residence, Raglan street, under auspices of the Canadian Legion, on Sunday April 12th at three o'clock in the afternoon by Rev. G. N. Maxwell of St. John's United Church, and interment will be at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Mayor's Tribute

On learning of Mr. McKeel's death, citizens from all walks of life joined in paying tribute. Said Mayor Long, "It was with deep regret that I learned of the death of Mr. McKeel. With his passing the citizens of Campbellford, have sustained a real loss, as he was ever ready to devote his time and talents in the best interests of the town and his benefactions were known and sincerely appreciated outside of Campbellford as well. The patients in Christie Street Hospital have reason to remember Mr. McKeel with gratitude for his gifts to the hospital of inlaid cribbage boards, checker boards and the like—all the work of his own hands, have helped the veterans there to while away many a dreary hour. His most ambitious gift to that hospital was a book truck, beautifully made on the style of a tea wagon, to be used in transporting books from the library to the different wards. It must have taken many hours of patient effort to make this and when it was completed members of the Boy Scouts and other citizens accompanied him to Toronto, where he personally presented it.

"As to his public works in Campbellford, I would say that his good deeds were too numerous to mention. As a landlord, he regarded his tenants, not as the landlord, but as personal friends. If they had sickness in their home or any kind of personal trouble he was always ready and willing to lend them a helping hand and to look after their interests. A work that will ever stand as a monument to his memory, was the re-modelling of the Cenotaph here. A few years ago, he raised it up by putting a suitable base under it, and then put a massive concrete fence around it, and arranged to have the enclosed plot filled with flowers each year. The town of Campbellford furnished the money for the material, and for some of the labour, but Mr. McKeel planned and superintended, performing a great deal of the labour himself, entirely without remuneration. A steel flag pole was placed at either side of the Cenotaph plot at his suggestion, and it was his idea to have the flags flown at half mast whenever a veteran from this vicinity passed on. They are flying at half mast today as a tribute to his memory.

"Mr. McKeel was a past member of the Municipal Council of Campbellford, and has always taken an active part in the affairs of our town. Though he did not serve during my term of office, I candidly admit I have often profitted by his advice and I regard his passing as a real personal loss."

George W. Hammond — Mr. McKeel did a lot for Campbellford and has been a real citizen in every respect. Whenever he did a job he did it well, and I don't know how anyone could be a much better man than he.

W. J. Armstrong—He was for a number of years a worthy member of the town council, and will be remembered for his patriotism in many ways. He did a great deal to make the lives of soldiers at Christie Street happier, and he will be remembered kindly by the citizens of Campbellford.

A Good Citizen

F. W. Wood—By the death of Mr. McKeel, Campbellford has lost one of its most whole-hearted citizens. Always interested in municipal matters he never failed to help with anything for the good of the town.

S. A. Maguire — As a municipal officer he represented the citizens in a creditable manner. He has long had the interests of the Canadian Legion at heart and was a supporter of everything he considered to be in the best interests of the town and its people.

Chas. Davidson—He will be greatly missed in Campbellford as he was a good all around fellow ready and willing at all times to help out, particularly the soldier. Many of the things he did such as making wheel chairs for the invalids and playthings for the children, will never be known.

T. J. Horkins—A self-made man. He was always anxious to do something for the fellow not so fortunate as himself.

Major J. M. Bygott—Mr. McKeel has done a good deal, not only for the Legion here, but for the boys at Christie Street. He never refused to turn his hand to do anything he could.

Fred J. Smith—With him Campbellford was always his foremost thought. He was instrumental in having the first concrete sidewalks laid in town. He will surely be missed.

L. B. Glover—He was a man of man fine qualities who will long be remembered for his philanthropic work.

J. A. Irwin — Mr. McKeel was a strong supporter of the interests of the labouring man and was keenly attentive to the affairs of the town and willing to do everything in his power.

Armed Pursuit Overtakes Local Soldier

CAMPBELLFORD, April 10. — (ENS).—The alertness of the local police chief in seeing a stolen car and subsequent mile a minute chase down No. 30 Highway resulted in the capture of Pte. Roy Hay of Peterborough on Thursday afternoon. The chain of events which led up to the hair-raising chase in which County Constable Frank Atkinson of Brighton, fired a revolver shot at the fleeing car and finally did some damage to his own machine before forcing the driver off the road, began shortly after one o'clock. Chief Constable Hardy of Campbellford, was making his usual rounds when he noticed a car parked on Centre street. Suspecting it was stolen he called Peterborough police only to learn his suspicions were correct and that the car was owned by J. L. McKeever, 561 Homewood avenue, who came to Campbellford later in the day and took it home.

With the car returned safely to its owner, police still had no clue as to the culprit when at about 4.30 in the afternoon Kenneth McMullen, Front street, who had left his car standing in front of Benor's planing mill, reported that it had been stolen. An inquiry or two revealed someone had seen a man in khaki driving towards Brighton with the car. Enlisting the help of Provincial Constable D. M. Carruthers, Chief Hardy, after notifying County Constable Atkinson at Brighton to be on the lookout, set out in pursuit.

It was the county constable who first sighted the stolen car headed south, about two miles from Brighton. He signalled the driver to stop, but he only increased his speed and a mad neck and neck race began. As they tore along side by side Constable Atkinson demanded the driver to stop but he still paid no attention to the warnings so the constable held the wheel with one hand (risking his own neck on the rough spring road) and fired a warning shot from his service pistol with the other. Nor did this deter the young car thief, from whom it was subsequently learned he was headed for Belleville to see a girl friend. Not till he was crowded off into the ditch did the two cars grind and scrape to a stop, but by this time the soldier had had enough and made no effort to escape.

Constable Atkinson held him till Constable Hardy and Carruthers arrived and he was then brought back to Campbellford, where he was booked on a charge of theft and then taken to Cobourg for remand this (Friday) morning.

(This boy gave his age to police as 15 but he is in the active army (stationed in Peterborough) and police understand he told military officials he was past 18).

Belleville Engineer Dies From Scalds

COBOURG, April 10.— (CP). — Fatalling scalped by escaping steam in the cab of his locomotive yesterday, Wilfrid Callahan, Belleville engineer, died last night in Cobourg General Hospital. His fireman, R. C. Patterson, also of Belleville, was also badly scalded but is expected to recover.

The accident was caused when a driving rod snapped near the cylinder, sheared off engine mountings and drove a hole into the boiler, sending the steam into the cab.

The locomotive was hauling a troop train at the time about five miles east of Cobourg.

Burnbrae W.M.S. Planning Program

CAMPBELLFORD, April 10. — (ENS). — Following an executive meeting held on Thursday afternoon Miss Hazel McKenzie, secretary of the Burnbrae W.M.S., said the branch had decided to sponsor a program in the church basement on April 24. According to the secretary the highlight of the evening will be the presentation of two prize-winning plays by members of the Young People's Union from Mount Pleasant who have already staged them on several occasions, once before the Belleville Presbyterial Dramatic Club, where in competition with other Young People's groups, they were given the club's silver cup, awarded to the group giving the best performance. In connection with the program there will also be several musical numbers arranged by the W.M.S. This will be the principal W.M.S. undertaking of the season and the members hope to exceed the amount realized from the pot-luck dinner and quilting held several weeks ago when $22.00 was raised for the church.

Policeman Resigns

COBOURG, April 10.—Constable John Elliston has resigned from the Cobourg police department and will be a member of the York township police department. He will leave in about two weeks. He joined the Cobourg police force last year.

Welcome Ladies Entertain WMS

PORT HOPE, April 10—(ENS).—A very lovely and instructive afternoon was spent at Welcome when the ladies of the Welcome Women's Missionary Society entertained the ladies of the Port Hope United Church Missionary Society, the Evening Auxiliary, W.M.S., the Canton W.M.S., and the Morrish W.M.S. at their Easter Thankoffering meeting.

Mrs. Martin of Welcome had the devotional period.

Mrs. Lewis presided during the afternoon. Dr. Oke, minister of the Welcome Church, took charge of the worship service.

Mrs. Fisher of Gore's Landing was the guest speaker and gave a most interesting talk on the United Church mission fields and some of her interesting experiences.

Cobourg Councillor Is Charged With Poisoning Of Animals

COBOURG, April 10—(ENS).—Councillor Joe Delanty of Cobourg appeared in police court yesterday on a charge of placing strychnine in a place which was readily accessible to animals. At the request of his counsel, T. F. Hall, K.C., the case was adjourned by Magistrate R. B. Baxter for one week. The charge was laid, police said, after a number of dogs had died from poisoning.

ed Cowle of Oshawa, appearing for sentence on nine charges of breaking and entering and theft, was sentenced to varying concurrent terms, ranging from six months to one year. Cowle had asked for a remand when he appeared last month along with seven other Oshawa youths who were charged with a long list of breaking and entering counts.

Appearing on remand for false pretenses, Gerald McWayne, stationed at Kingston, was allowed on suspended sentence yesterday. He obtained ten dollars from a local bank with a cheque drawn on a bank at Deseronto. The cheque bounced. McWayne, who is in the army, made restitution of the ten dollars.

Peterborough And The C.N.R.

A letter from Alderman H. I. Bradburn printed elsewhere on this page expresses the concern which all citizens of Peterborough and this district must feel at the proposed discontinuation of the C.N.R. train service between Port Hope and this city. As things stand at present the railway company has the permission of the Board of Transport Commissioners to close the line after the end of this month; we hope, however, that it will decide not to do so.

Negotiations for the discontinuation of this service have been going on for a long time and the situation has changed since the railway company made up its mind; we are now in the midst of war and gasoline has been rationed. In a year there will be few privately-owned cars still on the road, and the public will be almost entirely dependent upon railway transport for travel and for the conveyance of goods. The C.N.R. knows that the Port Hope-Peterborough line, though still far from being a gold-mine, did better business last year than it has done in a long time; there can be no doubt that that business will show an even more surprising development in the present year.

Alderman Bradburn has made an able presentation of the case for the future. The development of the St. Lawrence Waterway will make a direct route to Port Hope very necessary to industry here, and if the present connection is broken it will be costly and inconvenient to find a substitute for it.

Finally, we are sure that the C.N.R. is deeply sensible of the many favors which it has received from the people of Canada and that it does not wish to be disobliging, nor to forget the duty of large corporations to render public service, even at some inconvenience to themselves. If all powerful concerns were to adopt a policy of doing only what was immediately profitable to themselves, the press, to name but one instance, would cease to do many things which it does now merely as a matter of public service. If the C.N.R. will reserve its final decision on the Port Hope-Peterborough line for another year, we are sure that it will not regret the delay, and will have cause to change its mind permanently.

The Eastern Graveyard

Agitation for the opening of a second front in Europe is even stronger today than it was a month ago if we may rely upon the evidence supplied by the British press. A particularly striking editorial appeared this week in Lord Beaverbrook's paper, the Evening Standard, declaring that the German forces were in the grip of a huge fear of "the eastern graveyard." The editorial continues:

> "When ever again shall such a fear possess the soul of the German soldier? How will the gods reward us if we fail to exploit the mighty labor of our ally (Russia) in these nine months of ceaseless fighting?
> "These are the questions...which challenge the audacity of this nation as it never has been challenged before."

This may well be so. Germany has reached the point where she is calling up reserve strength in vast numbers. A recent report declares that she has thrown 600,000 more men into the Russian campaign; even Germany's armed might cannot stand such drains as that for long. Troops held in reserve may be fresh, but they are rarely the best fighting strength of a nation; can Germany be getting near the bottom of the barrel?

And fear. Surely fear is a new sensation for the victorious German troops? Great numbers of them have had a comparatively easy time policing conquered countries, and now they are in danger of being plunged into the first campaign which Germany has not won according to schedule. Are they not beginning to wonder when the war will end, and when they will reap the harvest of victory? It may well be that fear possesses them.

But as for opening a second front, it is not for us so far away from the struggle and so ill-informed as to our preparedness for it to comment upon that matter. But we are at perfect liberty to hope for it. A successful attack in the west now might knock Germany out of the war this year, thereby greatly simplifying our Pacific problem and assuring us of eventual victory. Meanwhile we must derive what comfort we can from the knowledge that German troops are beginning to dread the eastern graveyard

Bad Guesses

The United Nations have made some extraordinarily bad guesses as to what would and would not happen in this war, and there is nothing much to be gained by discussing them now. Nevertheless, it is interesting to read that Jesse Jones, the Commerce Secretary of the U.S., has laid the blame for the present shortage of rubber at the door of the great rubber interests of Great Britain and the Netherlands Indies. As these interests did not believe that Singapore could be taken they refused to allow surpluses of rubber to be built up in Europe and America, fearing that these would depress post-war prices.

The follies of Big Business are always interesting and melancholy subjects of contemplation, for it is the particular glory of Big Business to know better than ordinary folk, to have inside information and to know which way the cat will jump before the cat has made up its own mind. The Southern Pacific, we always understood, was Lotus Land, but we had always supposed that the men of affairs out there avoided eating that one lotus too many which destroys the judgment. But no, they seem to have had as little idea of Singapore's weakness as any of us, and they were so busy safeguarding the shadow that they lost the substance. Let us profit by their mistake.

The Gentlemanly Preference

How many times we have been told that "gentlemen prefer blondes!" Why this should be so we cannot say but there seems to be some truth in the general statement. Shakespeare certainly preferred blondes; all his heroines are specifically mentioned as having golden or reddish hair and Shakespeare, though a writer by trade, was in other respects a gentleman. But in these times of privation, when war strikes at the very roots of our civilization, the gentlemanly preference must be suppressed in the national interest. Blondes, along with tires and razor blades, are going to be scarce for the duration.

The reason is that the washes and bleaches which produce golden locks are going off the market, for they contain chemicals which are now on the priority list. We do not feel that we are giving away any secret when we say that real blondes are few, and that most golden heads owe at least a part of their glory to the hairdresser's ministrations. Most blondes have hair the color of which might best be described as a rich mouse, and the golden lights are artificially induced. Lest any gentleman who reads this should feel that his fair inamorata has been cheating him we hasten to add that these artificial blondes are really the best kind; a genuine blonde usually has white eyelashes and yearns for raven locks as a consequence. In the matter of female beauty we are entirely in favor of a combination of art and nature.

We have done our duty, we feel, in giving our male readers a hint as to what they may expect in the future. If, during the next few months, you observe a gradual deepening of tone among the noddles of your female acquaintance, it will be bad form to comment on the fact. Gentlemen may prefer blondes, but if they are wise they will keep their preference to themselves.

Bacteriological Warfare

Japan is now dropping bacteriological bombs over China, according to a report issued by the Chinese Legation at Ottawa. The source of the report is the Minister of Information of the Government of China, Dr. Wang Shih-Chief, and he claims that Japan's guilt in this matter has been proved conclusively. Airplanes fly over China, dropping quantities of wheat, rice, rags, paper and other debris which are infected with the bacilli of the bubonic plague, and the incidence of this terrible disease in the districts so treated gives the final proof.

This is as painful and disgusting as the Japanese attempts to debauch the Chinese people with opium, which have been going on for years and which have been proved beyond a doubt The Japanese have shown themselves brutal and wholly free of scruple in their methods of warfare and nothing which they do in future will surprise us. But let us waste no time in complaining of these things, for they contain a lesson for us, and it is this: Japan, like her partners in the Axis, will stick at nothing to win this war, and the sooner we get that in our heads the better. We are not going to stoop to their methods; we would never know happiness again if we did. But we have got to discard a lot of our ideas of sportsmanship and we have got to rid ourselves of the pernicious notion that Providence is going to give us victory because we are nice people and the Axis are not. Humanitarianism must not be confused with weakness, and a refusal to employ fiendish methods of warfare against civilians need not result in stupidity and lack of imagination. We must beat the Axis according to our own rules, but our rules do not specify that kid gloves must be worn on all occasions.

Bacteriological warfare is indefensible on any grounds, but it shows that the Japs mean to win by foul means if they cannot win by fair. Let us waste no time groaning over their depravity; let us redouble our efforts to beat them in our own way.

It Doesn't Seem To Work

Some sound advice on the subject of air-raids has been given to wardens in New York by John A. P. Millet, a psychiatrist of high reputation who has been chosen to head an Emergency Committee of Neuro-Psychiatric Societies. In the course of his lectures Dr. Millet made the interesting statement that nowhere in this war has aerial bombing broken civilian morale. It is difficult to refute this statement but on the face of it Dr. Millet's claim seems unduly sweeping. If we were not misinformed civilian morale suffered in Poland, and certainly in the invasion of the Low Countries. Probably Dr. Millet meant that aerial bombing, unaided by actual armed land forces, was not in itself enough to break civilian morale. This, certainly, is important. Air raids were the great bogy with which we frightened ourselves while this war was pending; they are horrible, but when it comes to breaking civilian morale, it seems that they do not work as well as Germany had hoped.

Britain offers the obvious example. Even in the days when raids were almost continuous the people held on somehow, and even managed to be cheerful in their own peculiar way. Bombing, says Dr. Millet, actually relieves the tension which has grown up among the civil population in anticipation of air attack. The realization is less destructive of morale than the anticipation.

The spirit of man is a fearful and amazing thing, and nowhere is the indomitability of the human soul more strikingly shown than in times of great danger. Air attack was the weapon which the aggressors depended upon to soften the nations whom they attacked; that was the means chosen to break their morale and to reduce them to the level of cowed and beaten animals. But it has not worked. True, air attacks followed by land attacks have done the aggressor's work, but air attacks alone, the supreme weapon of fear, have been defeated by something which aggressors do not understand, and that is the unconquerable spirit of man.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An expert says that storks sleep very little. But doctors have known for years what irregular hours these birds keep.

We hear that there is some talk of the Italian Navy being recommended for the Nobel Peace Prize.

A refugee who went to school with him describes Hitler as having short legs but long arms. A poor runner but a mighty grabber, in fact.

A Rumanian soldier captured by the Russians says that he does not know the object for which he is fighting. Hasn't he even seen a picture of him?

A picture magazine publishes a portrait of a soldier who is said to have the longest arms in the U.S. army, and who is also said to be very shy. Lucky he doesn't have to ask people to pass things.

SPRING FEVER

The rift of dawn creeps silently and shy
Into the vaster reaches of the sky;
A slumbering world awakes to find once more
The spell of Spring is lingering round her door,
And far away beyond the sweeping hills
A phantom voice is calling me that thrills
Me with the urge to cast my yoke aside
And seek adventure on the running tide
That's borne from out the streamlets of desire,
Inspiring me with youth's eternal fire
Until my longing heart can find no rest
And I am left dejected and distressed—
To find condolence in the thought that when
This curse is lifted from the world of men
I once again may feel the fire of Spring,
And through my veins the course of living ring;
And while my burning youth is pregnant yet
With all the glory that the years forget,
I'll lead my life along the wayside free—
The rising sun will be my destiny.

Cheradame's Plan for Victory

IF YOU are a newspaperman and somebody comes into your office with a plan to win the war, you either listen with polite skepticism or call the office-boy to escort the visitor back whence he came. Either it is a scheme to turn on a mysterious ray that will stupefy all Germans and Japanese, or a trans-Arctic tunnel that will end up in Berlin. Such plans just aren't news. But now the impossible has happened. Man has bitten dog. A plan to win the war has come in, and it deserves the most serious consideration of the governments and the military authorities.

Its author is M. Andre Cheradame, a distinguished refugee from France who has fought Pan-Germanism for forty years, who helped to balk pro-German activities in France before World War One, who promoted the Salonika expedition of that war, and who traced the coming of the present conflict down through the last two decades. Here is M. Cheradame's plan:

FACTORIES in the United States should be set to work at once to make as many as possible—up to 16,000,000 for example — small arms of the type of a Mauser pistol. These efficient weapons, with a moderate quantity of ammunition, should be dropped in packets by parachute over the conquered countries of Europe, from heavy bombers. To build enough bombers so that the arms-packets could be dropped during a period of a week or two would require considerable time, as would manufacture of the small arms — say, two years to prepare the whole project.

The essence of the Cheradame plan is that the final downfall of the Nazi armies can come through the arming of the conquered. He does not propose this action as an alternative but in addition to other possible military measures: commando raids, air bombardment, an invasion force, etc. But he believes that finally the armed peoples of Europe will give the decisive touch.

There are, roughly, 165,000,000 people in conquered Western Europe, and if Hitler should march to the Urals there are perhaps 100,000,000 more in European Russia. These are held down by no more than 12,000,000 mobilized or mobilize-able Germans, of whom a substantial part are locked in conflict with the Russians.

But, says M. Cheradame, take the worst of all possible hypotheses. Assume that Hitler may succeed in driving the Russians back to the Urals, and even join with Japan through the Middle East and India. It would still be possible to arm the slaves by long-range flights from the United States. And the slaves would still want to be free.

Some of the small arms would fall into German hands, but so thinly spread out are the occupying troops that it is a fair assumption that the big majority would reach the subject peoples. Likewise, citizens of all the conquered countries are now being trained in Britain for military duty and could also drop by parachute to lead the insurrections.

GERMAN efforts at reprisal might well be fearful, but again the striking power of 16,000,000 weapons dropped to conquered peoples within a few days would be very great, and widespread guerrilla warfare rather than unimpeded reprisals by the Germans would seem the likely result.

The construction of arms and heavy bombers — which could be used for bombing after their packet-dropping was finished—would be a considerably lesser task than to build battleships or to transport and land tanks. It would be much easier than to convoy, land, and maintain an expeditionary force. Indeed, to arm the populace would set up a sort of inanimate expeditionary force.

There are, doubtless, many weaknesses in the plan. It is not a panacea, and should not be attempted until other circumstances of the war make it right, and the Germans are as hard pressed as military conditions make possible. But the plan is certainly worth the gravest study. In men, materials, money it offers vast economies. And it utilizes the one weapon—the captive "little man" of Europe—which farsighted people have thought all along would finally win the war: when armed.

PERHAPS M. Cheradame's plan has already been examined by the military experts. That it has not been discussed by the American or British people is apparently the result of a strange circumstance. M. Cheradame brought not only this plan to this office. He brought a dossier he has already submitted to the Dies Committee, charging that his American publisher—the reputable firm of Doubleday, Doran & Co.—has not adequately promoted his book, "Defense of Americas," in which the plan was elaborated.

M. Cheradame, as a freedom-loving guest of the United States, asks that an inquiry be made into the circumstances by which his book, published in French in Montreal, sold 8,525 copies by the end of 1941 whereas the book in English sold in the United States after six months only 1,334 copies.

Alas, many another author must have thought his publisher, for some unnatural reason, was also trying to keep down sales! These are times when such suspicions are bound to flower. But whatever their justification, it is high time that the Cheradame plan should be studied with utmost care by the experts, and even discussed by the public. "La Clef du Monde et la Victoire," just published by "Editions de la Maison Francaise, Inc." New York. It won't do any harm either, if the Germans know and meditate on the consequences of armed slaves. — Christian Science Monitor.

• Retain Port Hope Line

EDITOR EXAMINER: Sir,—I would greatly appreciate the space required in your paper to bring to your attention and the attention of the citizens of Peterborough and district several points in regard to the decision of the Board of Transport Commissioners to allow the C.N.R. to close part of its line between Port Hope and Peterborough.

Peterborough is primarily an industrial centre and the products of our industries go to all quarters of the world. The goods leave Peterborough by rail and are then shipped by boat to their destination. With the possibility that the Great Lakes will be connected to Atlantic Ocean by a deep sea waterway after the war, ocean-going freighters will be able to call at Port Hope and Cobourg and if Peterborough is to maintain its present position as an industrial centre it will be essential for us to have a short direct rail connection with these ports and the present line between Peterborough and Port Hope gives us that connection.

Surely it would be a disastrous mistake for the C.N.R. to close this line now. It is a known fact that rail transportation cannot compete with water transportation and if we had to ship our goods to other lake ports more distant than Port Hope or Cobourg it would be difficult for our industries to compete with those located on the lake front. So, Mr. Editor, I feel that through the medium of the Peterborough Examiner you should draw these points to the attention of the citizens of Peterborough and district in order that a strong protest will be made against the closing of this line.

Thanking you for your space, I am,
Yours very truly,
H. I. BRADBURN.

• Far East Scene Darkens

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—The fall at long last of Bataan Peninsula and British naval losses in the Bay of Bengal combine to darken the war outlook for the United Nations in the Pacific-Indian Oceans theatre.

Of the two blows, the sinking of two British heavy cruisers by Japanese bombs may prove the most immediately serious unless powerful British fleet and air reinforcements have reached Indian waters. It indicates that the fight for mastery of the Indian Ocean is going against the Allies. And on control of the sea lanes in that ocean largely hinges the fate of Burma if not India—and of Chinese effectiveness in the war.

It was conceded from the first that the gallant but exhausted American-Filipino troops must ultimately succumb to the overwhelming odds against them if Japan was prepared to pay the blood cost of sustained frontal attack.

At this writing there was no word whether the United States garrison still held Corregidor. But with Bataan lost there could be no hope that the Manila harbor forts could long hold out. Bataan's fall meant that Corregidor fortress was brought under close range fire of Japanese big guns on the peninsula.

That was the grim fact confronting General Wainwright once the Japanese broke his front on Bataan and his weary reserves were unable to close the breach. It is the fact that President Roosevelt weighed in granting Wainwright authority to end the struggle if he deemed it hopeless.

That the disclosure of the size of the disaster will come as a shock to the United States public goes without saying. It is to be expected that the President will take the early occasion to renew his pleas for national unity and utter resolve to fight to the bitter end.

The loss to the United Nations cannot be counted solely in the numbers of those American-Filipino troops who achieved a miracle in deferring the tragic finale. The end of that struggle has ill portents elsewhere. It must release Japanese heavy forces and battle equipment soon for use against Burma, India or Australia.

That Japanese casualties on Bataan were enormous cannot be doubted. Frontal attack means losses four or five times greater for the attacking force than for the defenders while the fight rages. It took wave after wave of Japanese troops, driving forward over the bodies of their own dead, to smash through. There is no estimate of their casualties, and what that victory cost them in blood may never be known.

The stouthearted defense of Bataan did far more than retain a meagre foothold for the United Nations on the China Sea. It served as an outpost for defense of Australia. Its fall is certain to see the Japanese attack there or in Burma again stepped up.

A Bible Message For Today . . .

And, behold, there was a man named Zacchaeus, which was the chief among the publicans, and he was rich. And he sought to see Jesus who he was; and could not for the press, because he was little of stature. And he ran before, and climbed up into a sycomore tree to see him: for he was to pass that way.

And when Jesus came to the place, he looked up, and saw him, and said unto him, Zacchaeus, make haste, and come down; for today I must abide at thy house. And he made haste, and came down, and received him joyfully. And when they saw it, they all murmured, saying, That he was gone to be guest with a man that is a sinner.

And Zacchaeus stood, and said unto the Lord; Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken anything from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold. And Jesus said unto him, This day is salvation come to this house, forsomuch as he also is a son of Abraham. For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost.—Luke xix, 2-10.

Labor Sees UK Safe Minus Churchill Only Man Fit For Job, Is Tory Stand

NEW YORK, April 10 — (CP). — What is behind the recent wave of criticism in Britain of the Churchill Government and the Prime Minister himself? The Associated Press put the question to two members of Parliament, representing opposing views, and asked them to explain the arguments for and against the Government and for and against Winston Churchill's leadership.

Briefly, here are their arguments:

Bevan: "I am told there is a legend in America. The legend is that the Premiership of Winston Churchill and Britain's will to continue the war to final victory are so solidly bound together that if one goes, the other goes with it.

"This is either an illusion of distance, a by-product of wartime censorship, or the result of the vividness of American reporting. Probably it is the result of all three....

"This is the story—even Churchill now believes it—that his was the solitary voice raised in British politics for a stand to be made against the menace of Fascism. Like most legends it is a fairy story with just enough fact to give it verisimilitude and a strong dash of self-interest to keep it growing....

Good Job In 1940

"There is no tendency in Britain to belittle Churchill's contribution during the critical days of 1940. He gave authentic and immortal expression to the dogged spirit of the British when they had their backs to the wall.

"But let us be quite clear even about that. He did not create the spirit. He expressed it. If he had not done so, he would not have lasted a day...

"The British people thought Churchill grand when he had his back to the wall. Now they are beginning to think he is leaning against it. And they can't see how the war can be won that way.

"Churchill's oratory, which was the main source of his power, now is likely to weaken him. Rolling periods and heroic calls for what turns out to be unheroic action begin to pall and even look ridiculous, like a little man strutting about in a big man's clothes.

"So Churchill, who was so short a time ago Britain's pride, is coming to be regarded by many as the chief source of her humiliation and I have yet to hear of a statesman who survived that role...

"...It is not because the will to victory of the British people is weakening that Churchill is not as strong as he was. It is because they, the British people, feel he is not fighting the war so robustly as he did. If he falls, America should bear this in mind and fear no weakness here.

"The best thing I could say of Churchill is that he would prefer to have it that way.

The Conservative Stand.

Kerr: "Why is it that the critics of Government, when denouncing its Ministers, its policies and its conduct of the war, always hastily add: 'Of course, I'm not attacking Winston. I want him to remain as Prime Minister.'

"Incongruous, you may say. How can a Prime Minister be good and the Government bad? I think the answer is simple. The Prime Minister has the immeasurable asset of having been right about Hitler.

"The Prime Minister has the instinct of a great military leader who shows himself to the troops in the front line where the battle is the hardest.

"The fact is that no living statesman at present in office knows as much about war as Churchill. Critics say he is autocratic and headstrong and he will not listen to his advisers. But of course he has his faults. He is too big not to have big faults. But refusal to listen to advice is certainly not one of them.

Able To See Man Issue.

"His vision lies in the fact that he thinks of war in a global sense. It is in the strength of Winston Churchill that he sees the battle as a whole and never allows public clamor to move him from the main strategy.

"If the ranks of Opposition can show no potential rival to the Prime Minister, can the front government bench suggest a likely successor? Two names come to mind, Sir Stafford Cripps and Anthony Eden.

"Cripps owes his present reputation to two facts: First, he was ambassador in Moscow when Germany attacked Russia and public therefore was tempted to believe he was responsible for the present alliance. Second is the admiral broadcast he gave on his return.

"For my own part, I believe the man, with all his gifts, lacks mass appeal. He could never be the war leader Churchill is.

"And then there is Eden. Admired for his courage, his high-mindedness, popular with all shades of opinion, the gift of stirring the heart and imagination by the spoken word is not his—a gift which Churchill enjoys above all men."

Boys Want Action Say Arrivals

MONTREAL, April 10 — (CP). — Headed for different parts of Canada, two trainloads of soldiers, returning to the Dominion to become instructors or for special duties, passed through Montreal early today.

The telephone booths in Montreal's Bonaventure station were busy for nearly an hour as the hundreds of officers and men of Montreal and surrounding districts got off the train and immediately contacted their relatives to tell of their arrival home.

Sleepy soldiers got off for a few minutes to have coffee and doughnuts offered by pretty young girls of the Canadian Legion War Services.

One of these, Sgt. Bob Graves of Toronto said he had been overseas for 2½ years. "All the boys over there are craving for action," he said. "When the Aussies were sent to the Middle East about 18 months ago, we were all downhearted because we couldn't go along."

"Although we didn't do any fighting over there we had a lot of work to do. We were often sent out to help in rescue operations during air raids. I remember one time we rescued a whole family after their house had been destroyed by a heavy bomb."

Sgt. Graves was one of the few men who was wide awake when he got off the train. Most of the others wandered around half asleep before the trains left again.

Cpl. Charlie Stewart of Riviere du Loup, Que., found everything about Canada fine.

"I stopped off at home on my way and dad remedied the emptiness of my pockets. That'd make anybody glad to be back in Canada."

Young People's Group Plan Joint Meeting

HASTINGS, April 10—(ENS). — Only two more meetings of the society will be held this season, it was decided at the regular session of Trinity United Church Y.P.S. held Monday night.

Monday, April 27, was the date set for a joint meeting and social evening with the Trinity Y.P.S. to act as hosts to St. Andrew's Presbyterian and St. George's Anglican Young Peoplese.

Monday night's meeting was in charge of Mrs. George Richardson and Helen Fleming. In her interesting discussion "How the Church Began", Mrs. Richardson clearly outlined the beginning and the survival of the church throughout the ages. Ronald Warner read the scripture lesson dealing with the same topic.

The meeting concluded with a recreation period and the National Anthem.

Newspaper Suit Has Earmarks Of Lengthy Case

By HAROLD FAIR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 10 — (CP). — The $100,000 libel suit brought against The Globe Printing Company by The Toronto Star Limited over an editorial in The Toronto Globe and Mail continued today before Mr. Justice MacKay of the Ontario High Court, and it has all the possibilities of a long-drawn-out case.

This became clear yesterday, when D. L. McCarthy, Star counsel, said The Globe Printing Company, when asked for particulars to justify the charges against The Daily Star in the editorial, cited 40 instances covering a 20-year period. In the court, ready for use if needed, are two trunksful of documents.

First item today was resumption of W. N. Tilley, defence counsel, of his argument on a motion. Terms of the motion were not stated when he opened yesterday, but he asked Mr. Justice MacKay to say that the editorial, which appeared March 8, 1941, was privileged.

This editorial, entitled "From The Journalistic Gutter," appeared shortly after The Star published one called "Rumor Factories," it was brought out in examination of Joseph E. Atkinson, publisher of The Daily Star. Mr. Tilley asked the court if The Globe and Mail was not within its rights in fighting after being called "A Rumor Factory."

"And if it was, was it proper for The Globe and Mail to deal with this attack in the way that it did?" he asked.

"'From the Journalistic Gutter' is the heading. What about that for a heading when the article to which it replied was 'Rumor Factories'?"

Frequent clashes between counsel occurred during yesterday's cross-examination of the Star president as Mr. Tilley demanded facts and not opinions. Mr. Atkinson used such expressions as "false" and "untrue" when asked by Mr. McCarthy about the various assertions in the editorial.

Asked by Mr. McCarthy what facts in the editorial referred to the Toronto Star Limited, Mr. Atkinson said "the statements in the article must refer not merely to the product which is the Toronto Daily Star but to those who own and manage it."

"Just a minute," Mr. Tilley interjected, "it isn't for the witness to couple up his case except by specific facts."

Mr. Atkinson, in reply to questions, said the Star "has no racket, but is an honest, legal, moral business." At another point, he said the paper neither colored nor distorted news. He added that the Star frequently followed policies which didn't please the masses and that indicated it was not interested merely in mass circulation. Also, its policies sometimes failed to please the advertisers, who filled its coffers.

Asked who benefited by the Star's operations, he replied it was the Toronto Star Limited, and added, with a grin, "and the public."

When Mr. McCarthy asked the president about the editorial's reference to "fooling the public" Mr. Atkinson replied: "Do I need to answer that? Of course it's false. A paper whose vocation was fooling the public would not get the support of the public over 40 years that we have."

"That may be good advertising, but it's not facts," Mr. Tilley interjected.

Buckhorn Workers Guests Of Mrs. Davis

BUCKHORN, April 10—(ENS).—The monthly meeting of Buckhorn war workers was held on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gordon Davis. The meeting opened by singing O Canada, and the Lord's Prayer.

Letters were read from boys overseas, Howard Gillesepie, Harry Pluard and Robert Armstrong. Also a letter of thanks from Mrs. M. Montgomery after her illness.

The knitting committee reported 5 pairs socks, 1 sweater, 1 scarf, 1 baby's coat; Quilting committee, 7 quilts this month.

Readings were given by Mrs. Fawcett and Mrs. C. Jones. Business discussed had to do with sending money to the I.O.D.E. for an Australian bomber and planning for a supper to raise funds.

Meeting closed with the National Anthem and a prayer. Refreshments were served by the hostess, and Mrs. B. Hall poured tea.

What a rarity!—a woman with a large family and an unlined face. Read this letter she has written:—

"I am a woman of 50, have a family of 13 children, and have not a wrinkle on my face. Some time ago I passed through a very severe illness, and resolved to try Kruschen Salts, and am a new woman since taking them. I have taken Kruschen for twelve months—not a small dose, but half-a-teaspoonful every morning in a cup of hot water. I think Kruschen gives you a feeling of buoyancy and youth that nothing else does."—(Mrs.) E. T.

Many minor illnesses, depression and worry—which are the chief causes of wrinkles—are frequently due to the presence in the system of poisons bred by the waste products of digestion. These poisons are the root cause of rheumatic pains, headaches, kidney trouble and other complaints, which make people old before their time. Kruschen helps to expel those poisons and keep the blood-stream pure. And a rich supply of pure, vigorous blood is one of the secrets of youthful vitality.

DOMINIONS ELIMINATE THE P.C.I. IN CITY BASKETBALL SEMI-FINAL

Field Goal in Last Minute Of Game Spells Defeat For Student Squad

Dominions won the right to enter the final series for the city basketball championship by scoring a last-minute field goal to eliminate P.C.I., 64-62, on the round, in the second game of their total point semi-final series at the Y.M.C.A. last night. Dominions had taken the first game of the series 44-33 a week ago, and although beaten 29-20 last night, managed to squeeze out a two-point margin on the round.

P.C.I. had gradually eaten into Dominions' 11-point margin until they finally tied the round score with a little better than a minute to play. Then the teams traded free throws, Craig putting Dominions ahead momentarily, but Ferguson got it right back. Then, after a frenzied few second of action, Gord. Johnston broke clear behind P.C.I.'s defence, took a floor length pass to score the million dollar basket with only seconds left.

The rough and ready, knock 'em down and drag 'em out first game, last week, was acclaimed as one of the most exciting of the year, and last night the teams just started in where they had left off.

Dominions scored twice to increase their lead to 15 points early in the game, but P.C.I. came back to take a 16-11 lead on the game and cut the winners' round margin to 6 points.

Dominions started off at a fast clip to start the final period and actually held a one-point lead on the game, mid-way in the period. P.C.I. then rallied to finally tie the round with a few moments to play as the crowd went wild. Both teams went all out for the deciding score, and after the exchange of free throws, Johnston put it away for Dominions.

It was a bitterly fought, blow for blow battle that had the crowd on its feet long before the finish and both teams being hurried out of a lot of good scoring chances as both teams checked terrifically.

Either outfit could have influenced the result substantially by improving their poor free throw records. Dominions made only two in nine chances and P.C.I. was no better with only three of 12 tries going for point.

The scoring of both teams was sprinkled throughout the lineups. Craig and Gillespie were top for the winners, with seven and four respectively, with the whole team playing well on the defence. The schoolboy quintet also failed to provide any individual stars, with the whole team battling desperately. Ferguson had eight points and Gardner and Richardson had six each for the losers.

The teams:

Dominions (20)—Forwards: Burns 3, Gillespie 4; centre, Craig 7; guards: Rogow 2, Grose 2; alternate, Johnston 2.

P.C.I. (29)—Forwards: Gardner 6, Taylor 5; centre, Richardson 6; guards: Ferguson 8, Saunders 4; alternates: McTavish, Dinsdale, Graham.

Referees—Doug McPherson and Pete McArthur.

By FRED D. CRAIG

If you want to take a look at the battered Stanley Cup this summer it looks very much as if you will have to wangle permission from the government to take a trip to Detroit. Jack Adams' Red Wings hung the third successive walloping on the Leafs at Detroit last night and need only one more victory to take it all. Two of the next three games, if that many are needed, are billed for the Red Wings ice so that Toronto's chances may be described as at the vanishing point. The final score last night was Red Wings 5 Leafs 2 and the red-hot Detroiters grabbed off the win by coming from behind a two-goal deficit set up by the Leafs in the first period and ramming in five straight goals without a comeback from the demoralized Daymen. The Red Wings were shy during the last two periods the services of Sid Abel, left-winger on the first line, and the only Detroit player to get all-star rating but in spite of his absence they proceeded to hand the Toronto crew their worst defeat of the series, leaving the great runners-up without anything that looks like an alibi. When you blow a two-goal lead and yield five counters to the opposition without a return there is only one explanation and that is that the other fellows must be playing the better hockey.

* * * * * *

The Toronto dope was that the Grosso-Wares-Abel line had to be stopped if the Leafs were to have a chance. Well, Abel wasn't in uniform and the other pair were kept out of the goal-scoring column but it didn't make the slightest difference. With the ace line under control, the rest of the Detroit team took up the slack and the big hero, outside of Johnny Mowers in the Detroit nets, was that native son of Collingwood, Edward Webster Bush, formerly a teammate of Bill Calladine's and popularly known in Detroit as Bee Bee Eyes. Mister Bush is listed as a defence man and he is a hunk of that too, but last night he was the spearhead of the Detroit attack. All he did was to figure in every one of the Detroit goals, firing one himself and having assists on the other four. He was a one-man shock force and his dynamic playing was entirely too much for the shell-shocked Leafs, backed up as it was by a fighting performance by the whole Detroit cast, an exhibition of super goal-minding by the pride of Niagara Falls, Johnny Mowers who made Broda look very ordinary and a grand display of checking by the veteran Sid Howe, who according to all the dispatches wrecked attack after attack.

* * * * * *

It would not surprise even the Toronto fans if the Red Wings who were themselves crushed in four straight games a year ago by the Boston Bruins handed the same treatment to the Leafs by taking the fourth game Sunday night and bringing the series to a close without a return to Toronto ice. There has been nothing in the playing of the Toronto team in the first three games to suggest any reason for believing that the final round will last much longer. Toronto's ace line hasn't been able to move a wheel. The chief scoring threats all season, Syl Apps and Gordie Drillon have been more or less passengers. Broda hasn't won any medals by his net-minding and the defence seems to have lost all the fight and snap that distinguished its work in the Ranger series. Bucko McDonald, one of the outstanding performers in the defeat of the Rangers has been particularly disappointing in the showing he has made against his former teammates. The fourth game will be played in Detroit Sunday night and there will have to be a decided pickup on the part of the Leafs and a letdown by the Wings if the Toronto fans are to see another N.H.L. game this season.

A battling Collegiate and [illegible] School cage team came within an ace of upsetting the dope in [illegible] League semi-final game last night. Collegiate had a deficit of eleven points to make up and they were counting on the big court at the Collegiate to help them in the second battle against Dominions. However the gym floor was so slippery with wax, following a recent dance, that the game had to be transferred to the Y.M.C.A. after the players had found it difficult in practice to keep their footing. The students put up a great battle on the smaller floor to win the game 29 to 20, only to lose the round by the narrow margin of 64 to 62. Collegiate led on the game by five points at the half, overcome a Dominion rally early in the second half and kept on battling until in the dying moments of the game they pulled up on even terms on the round. Craig shot a foul for Dominions to put that team one up but Ferguson tossed in a free throw for Collegiate to even things up again. Then with only seconds left Gordie Johnston took a long pass from Craig to score on a setup shot under the basket that meant the round for the Dominions. It was a photo finish, with the Collegiate rooting section really going to town as their team came from behind to tie up the round.

Dominions will now meet Quakers in a two-game series to decide the City League title. The first game of the final round will be played at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium starting at 8 o'clock Saturday night and should be a sizzling struggle. Quakers have Jimmy Thorburn, Pete McArthur, Doug McPherson, Gord McIntyre and Joe Jakafby of the Outboard Marines on their lineup, a high-scoring combination, but Dominions are confident of providing plenty of opposition. During the regular schedule the two teams broke even, each winning a game from the other and with the championship at stake there should be plenty of action all the way. This final series should be a fitting climax to a very successful cage season in Peterborough.

Ottawa Flyers did not surprise any one by taking the third game of the Eastern Canada finals from Quebec Aces and ending the argument in three straight games. The score last night was 3 to 0, but according to all advices from Montreal the count does not do justice to the fight put up by the defeated club who were kept off the score sheet only by a superb exhibition in the nets by Pinke, the Flyers' goalie who was unbeatable. Wood Dumart got one of Ottawa's three goals and Milt Schmidt assisted in another. It is apparent from the fact that the Aces have made each of the three games a real battle that the Flyers would have had a lot of difficulty overcoming them if it had not been for the reinforcements that arrived in the Ottawa camp when the Boston Kraut line got their military call. The Quebec club has shown great strength and against any club not so packed with stars as the Flyers would have been likely winners.

* * * * * *

The Western Canadian final series is all tied up with the Kimberley Dynamiters and the Port Arthur Bear Cats having one victory each. Kimberley won the first game 2 to 1 but the head of the lakes team came back with a vengeance last night to smother the Dynamiters 8 to 2 and on the strength of that win will probably be installed as favorites to go on and take the series. The Laprade brothers are going great guns for the Bear Cats and when those boys are hot they surely carry their teammates along at a torrid pace. In last night's game the Ports ran in seven goals in a row before the Kimberley outfit could find the nets. Then the Dynamiters got their only two goals, ten seconds apart but the spurt soon petered out and Port Arthur got the last counter of the game. The third game is played in Port Arthur Saturday night and the homesters should take that one.

Jay's Pile Up 3799 Score For 3 Points

A 3799 team score by Jay's, five 800 or better individual efforts and six good singles were dished up in last night's Men's City League bowling card at Duffus Alleys. It was the second last night of this year's schedule and left six teams, besides Jay's and Capitols, struggling to win a place among the first five clubs.

Jay's and Capitols are established holders of the first and second positions while Huffman's and Quakers will have to be satisfied with the ninth and tenth places. Royal Yorks won four points from Capitols, Old Timers and Dunn's tied and Jay's, Outlaws and Big-Five took 3 points each from Huffman's, Freeman's and Quakers.

Bill Martin with 846 and Fred Martin with 840 piled them into Jay's big count. Maurice Caccavella rolled a fine 813 for Big Five and Chief Gimblett came through with another smashing 807 for the Old Timers. Outlaws picked a dandy in Des Hunt of the Raybestos League to pinch-hit for Toots Collins. Des slammed off 810 including the night's high single, 364. Jack Playford rolled a run of six straight strikes for a 356 game. Caccavella hit 355, Fred Martin 343, Red Fisher 336 and Walter Crary 300.

The five top singles were the highest turned in this season in a single night's rolling. Very seldom do five men hit over the 330 mark on the same night. The bowling was exceptionally good.

Frank Shine, a hard working member of the Quaker team, has signed up for active service with the Prince of Wales Rangers and the popular Frank has the best wishes of all the City League bowlers.

The standing: Jay's 76, Capitols 61, Outlaws 55, Dunn's 54, Royal Yorks 54, Freeman's 52, Old Timers 52, Big Five 51, Huffman's 40, Quakers 26.

News From Training Camps

BROOKLYN, April 10 (AP)—New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers open a three-game exhibition series at Ebbetts Field today. With Whitlow Wyatt pitching for the Dodgers and Ernie Bonham for the Yanks, today's game will have all the earmarks of the last clash of the league champs on the Dodgers' field, in the 1941 World Series.

ASHLAND, Ky.—With only three games with Cincinnati Reds remaining before the season opens, it appears Detroit Tigers' biggest problem is in right field. Don Ross, Ned Harris and Bob Patrick are the candidates and Manager Del Baker says none of the trio had clinched the job.

HUTCHINSON, Kas. — Kept idle by weather for three straight days, Philadelphia Athletics came here today for a fourth attempt at an exhibition game with Pittsburgh Pirates.

WASHINGTON — Manager Bucky Harris unveils his 1942 Washington Senators before the home town fans today, with Jack Wilson, former Boston hurler, taking the mound against Philadelphia Phils.

HUTCHINSON, Kansas — When Pittsburgh Pirates open at Cincinnati Tuesday, it will be the first time in 16 years that the name "Waner" is missing from the roster Paul Waner joined the Bucs in 1926 and left in 1940. His brother, Lloyd, came in 1927 and was traded to the Boston Braves last May.

64 Major Leaguers In Armed Services With Still More To Go

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, April 10—(AP).—When the major leagues rap for attention Tuesday at least 64 players who might have been capering in baseball uniforms before the big opening-day throngs will be found in army khaki and navy blue.

The American League has given 42 men and the National League 22 to the armed services since selective service began. This group ranges from stars like Sailor Bob Feller and Soldier Hank Greenberg to rookies who had hoped to get their first spring training trip with a big league club this year.

There will be more to go, of course, during the season and the draft is as likely to decide the pennant races as anything the clubs do on the diamond. Thus far the National League has been touched lightly but the call to colors has eliminated both Detroit and Cleveland as contenders in the American League and may have pushed both back to the second division.

Besides Feller the Indians also have lost outfielder Clarence Campbell and the Tigers in addition to Sgt. Greenberg have sent outfielder Pat Mullin and pitchers Fred Hutchinson and Bob Uhle to the service.

4 Off the Yankees

The world champion Yankees will be without regular first baseman Johnny Sturm, pitchers Charles Stanceau and Steve Peek and reserve catcher Ken Silvestri, but this threat to their standing was minimized by Boston Red Sox' loss of two south-paw pitchers, Earl Johnson and Mickey Harris, and a couple of other reserves. The Sox expect catcher Frank Pytlak to be called soon.

Washington Senators, St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics all have been hit hard.

The Senators have transferred a dozen men, including Cecil Travis and Buddy Lewis, to baseball's war list; the Athletics have yielded Sam Chapman, Benny McCoy, Al Brancato and several others; and the Browns John Berardino, Joe Grace, George Archie and John Krasner among others.

Chicago White Sox, alone of all the American League teams, have not lost a regular. In the National League Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and New York have given up no regulars and Chicago Cubs no players at all.

Brooklyn's champion Dodgers will be without Cookie Lavagetto and Don Padgett, and have just been notified that Pete Reiser, last year's batting king, is in class 1A.

Badminton Group Honors Players

HASTINGS, April 10.—(ENS). — Members of the Hastings Badminton Club since its inauguration, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hahn were presented with a walnut coffee table at an informal gathering of the club's members Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Hahn are leaving this week for Kitchener, where the former has been promoted to a post on the sales staff of the Breithaupt Leather Co. in that city.

Mrs. Alton Thompson read an original and humorus presentation address and Mr. and Mrs. Hahn replied very graciously.

During the evening a badminton tournament between the members was staged and among the players was Aubrey "Dit" Clapper, captain of the Boston Bruins and summer resident of Hastings.

Following a series of lively games Mrs. Alton Thompson and Dave Wilson were declared champions.

GOAL-MAD RED WINGS SWEEP TO WITHIN GAME OF STANLEY CUP

Reds Are Called To Capture National League

By DILLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, April 10 — (AP).—Brooklyn has the power and hustle, St. Louis has the balance and speed and Cincinnati has the pitching.

That's how the three apparent contenders for the National League baseball pennant stack up as get-away day approaches.

You can sell yourself on any one of the trio and, while both Dodgers and Cardinals finished ahead of the Reds last year and seemingly have better balance now, I have a hunch the Reds will hit the wire first.

No club in the majors can touch the Reds' pitching. Derringer and Walters, Riddle and Vandermeer, Thompson and Starr. That I think gives them the edge. With those trustworthy tossers, all Cincinnati needs to win is a slightly improved offensive.

The Reds' punch was pitiful last year. There almost was none. Yet Cincinnati challenged most of the way. There should be more power this season.

Attack Should Improve.

Frank McCormick should regain his batting eye. Rookie Bert Haas at third should help the attack. Veteran Ival Goodman looked great when I saw the Reds during my tour of the spring training camps. So did Eddie Joost, who has put on 20 pounds and is hitting the ball hard. Rollie Hemsley and Ray Lamanno have strengthened the catching, while the outfield will be better with the experienced Gee Walker in left.

The Dodgers and Cards look mighty good but I'm stringing with the Reds. Most baseball men tab the Cards because of their speed and balance. They almost turned the trick last year despite many injuries.

Granted good pitching again and satisfactory performances by such recruits as highly touted Stan Musial in left field and Ray Sanders at first, the Cardinals might breeze in. However, I don't think Sanders or Johnny Hopp can replace John Mize's power at first. He was the Cardinals' big gun. And St. Louis can't continue to get the breaks it had with young hurlers for the past two seasons.

Dodger Pitching Doubtful.

The Dodgers appear to be better than last year, but there's some doubt as to whether they'll get sufficient pitching. There are a bunch of oldsters around who may fade. Arky Vaughan at third, Augie Galan and Johnny Rizzo in the outfield and Billy Sullivan behind the bat have strengthened Brooklyn which already was the most powerful club with Dolph Camilli and Pete Reiser.

Selected on how they look to-day the rating would list: St. Louis, Brooklyn, and Cincinnati in that order. I think it will be the Reds, Dodgers and Cards at the finish.

The New York Giants are better and so are the Pirates. They should slug it out for the last position in the first division. It seems that the Cubs, Braves, and Phillies also have improved— but not enough to get out of the second flight.

Remember When—

My The Canadian Press

Chicago Black Hawks won the Stanley Cup nine years ago tonight, defeating Detroit Red Wings 1-0 at Chicago. It was the first time Chicago won the world title. Next year Tommy Gorman, the Hawks coach, led Montreal Maroons to the title.

LAKEFIELD

Curlers Re-elect Officers—Clear $218 On Season

LAKEFIELD, April 10—(ENS).—Village curlers on Thursday night re-elected their entire executive — President G. A. Charlton, vice-presidents D. H. Charlton, E. W. Bailey and F. L. Erskine, with W. W. Yale secretary-treasurer — at their annual meeting in the Lakefield Inn.

This honor was bestowed in recognition of the successful management of a new venture for the club —that of complete management of the rink for the season—successful to the tune of profit of about $218, and on one of the shortest skating and curling seasons in some years.

The motion of a second term for the officers was made by J. W. McKerchar and seconded by E. H. Northey, the former stating the venture, started so well, should be carried out another year by the same men to further heights.

F. L. Erskine was of the opinion the honor should be passed along to new men, but this was voted down. Secretary-treasurer Yale went back on the motion by D. A. Charlton and Rev. Father F. A. Malane.

Mr. Yale, in presenting his annual statement, revealed receipts of $1,145.17, and expenses of $927.04. Balance from 1940-41 $79.59. Revenue showed curlers' fees of $207, three buttons $1.50, opening bonspiel $10.25, from Ladies' Club $15.00, refund from Bell Telephone $1.84, deposited by rink manager from skating, hockey, etc., $619.80, from the High and Public Schools $100.00, from Grove School $110.00.

Expenses itemized: Hydro $70.50, Bell Telephone $11.04, fuel $54.85, labor $13.48, rent $350.00, manager $320.90, advertising, etc. $6.50, Ontario Curling Association $16.50, brooms $11.79, donation $15.00, war stamps, prizes, $22.00.

Carmen Moore raised the point of playing two games a night in the Fitzgerald Cup and his idea was upheld by the president, G. A. Charlton, and after some discussion the matter was left for the executive to decide. Another point brought up was the drawing up of the schedule earlier, possibly in the first week of December, and the idea was generally approved.

J. R. Ridpath reminded members that in reality the handling of the rink was the club's second move in this direction— the scheme having been tried for two years a good many years ago—when the curling fees were only $1.00 and the ice $2.50 for the season.

Ladies' Officers.

Leafs Muff Hope Flop 2-Goal Lead To Lose 5-2

DETROIT, April 10—(AP).—The rags-to-riches Detroit Red Wings are a single victory from one of hockey's most astounding Stanley Cup successes, and in the words of Goalie Walter (Turk) Broda of the Toronto Maple Leafs they are virtually invincible.

"They're unbeatable," panted the pudgy Broda as he pulled off his pads after a 5 to 2 Detroit victory last night before a sell-out crowd of 13,354 slightly wacky puck partisans. "They can't seem to do anything wrong."

Recognized as a standout in his profession, Broda will get another chance at the goal-crazy Detroiters in the best-of-seven series. If he fails, the battered old trophy symbolic of world hockey supremacy will pass into the hands of a Detroit club that finished in fifth place in the regular season and barely qualified for the play-offs.

Toronto had every chance last night to get back into the contention for the cup it has missed six times since its last triumph in 1932. The veteran Lorne Carr fired home a pair of goals 30 seconds apart in the first period, and the top Detroit line of Syd Abel, Don Grosso and Eddie Ware was broken up by a possible fractured jaw for Abel and a ten-minute misconduct penalty to Wares.

But before the period ended Rookies Jerry Brown and Jack Carveth had plastered goals 38 seconds apart past Broda to square the count, then substitute Pat McReavy, who had replaced Abel, slipped the puck into the cage midway of the second period for the winning marker.

Some Night for Bush.

The veteran Syd Howe feinted Broda out of position for the fourth Red Wing goal in the same period, and in the final period defenceman Eddie Bush blasted home a 50-footer. That gave Bush a perfect record for the night—four assists and a goal for a play-off record (for scoring) by a defenceman.

Toronto has numerous opportunities to catch the Red Wings. Of the game's 21 penalties, Detroit drew 14, with Wings in the penalty box for 44 minutes of playing time. Even with the wide edge in manpower the Leafs were powerless.

Toronto fired 2 shots at Goalie Johnny Mowers, 17 in the last period, but the Detroit netminder had only half a dozen particularly difficult changes. Broda, meanwhile, was the target of 35 shots, plus the five that slipped into his cage.

The injury to Abel, speedy winger came in the opening period in a collision with Johnny McCreedy of the Leafs. Abel went to Harper Hospital there X-rays will be taken to-day.

Without his regular linemates, the sensational Don Grosso, who bagged a pair of goals in each of the first two games was limited to two assists, but that put him within a point of the play-off scoring record of 14 points established three years ago by Bill Cowley of Boston Bruins.

Unbeaten on home ice in 13 games over a three-month period, the Detroiters are heavy favorites to sweep the series in four games. Last year they were on the other end of quick play-off finish, losing four straight in the finals to Boston Bruins.

Whirly Runs 2nd In 1st Test As 4-Year-Old

LEXINGTON, Jy., April 10.—(AP)—Whirlaway, 1941 turf champion, failed yesterday in his first test as a 4-year-old, winding up second behind Devil Diver, a rising Kentucky Derby prospects, in the $2,500-added Phoenix Handicap on Keeneland Race Courses' opening spring program.

Warren Wright's great race was beaten by a head by Greentree Farm's fine colt, ridden by Eddie Arcaro, who, incidentally, chalked up his third stakes victory as the country's leading stakes-winning rider.

Sun Again, Wright's chief Derby hope, was third, a length and a half behind his stable mate, and Circle M Ranch's War Bugle was fourth. Bay Carse, Wright's third entry in the race, was last.

Devil Diver paid $4.60 to win. There was no place for show wagering.

Time for the six-furlong spin in muddy going was 1:13 2-5.

Devil Diver set the pace all the way, but was pressed at the finish by Whirly, ridden by A. Craig. Whirlaway got off last and never threatened until the field hit the stretch, passing Sun Again, with Wendell Eads aboard, in his rush. Had the distance been longer, the story might have been different.

The result was not too surprising, since Trainer Ben Jones said earlier that Whirly "needed a race." The Calumet Farms star hadn't raced for seven months.

The $500 he won cut to $87,569 the amount he needs to tie Seabiscuit's money-earnings record of $437,730. Devil Diver won a net of $2,675 for his effort today.

He scored a decisive triumph in the third race, 1 1-16 miles, beating Trade Last, Hal Price Headley's Derby eligible Equinox, and Pittistraw. The time was 1:48.

Stratford Edges Soo Rapids

SUDBURY, Ont., April 10—(CP).—Two goals by Bruce Brudett late in the third period gave Stratford Canadians a 4-2 victory over Sault Ste. Marie Rapids in the first game Thursday of a two-games, total-points series for the Ontario Junior "B" Hockey championship.

Canadians will carry the two-goal margin into the second game of the series here Saturday night. Stratford is Ontario Hockey Association junior "B" champion, Sault Ste. Marie the Nothern Ontario Hockey Association titlist.

Ducharme and Cupolo scored the other Stratford goals, both in the second period.

Sensational work on the part of Jack "Dolly" Dolson, son of the former Detroit N.H.L. goalie, in the Stratford nets played a big part in the southern team's win. Time and again the Rapids poured through the Kist defence, but could not beat the agile Dolson. Only Staphan Kostenuik and Joe Marinich were able to beat him, and they did this midway through the closing period, the goals coming within two minutes of each other to tie the score.

Kists had taken the lead early in the second period, after a scoreless opening stanza, on a goal by Ducharme, who raced in to bang home an angled rebound on a shot by Bruce Burdett. Less than six minutes later Cupolo raised the margin to two by taking the puck from Marinich in front of the Sault goal and beating Davidson with ease.

Burdett's two final goals were well executed scores that came after he had taken the puck from opponents and gone all the way alone.

One penalty was handed out in each period, all three going to Stratford players.

Bearcats Trounce Dynamiters 8-2 In Second Western Game

REGINA, April 10 — (CP).—Port Arthur Bearcats, who always seem to be there when there's any finals to be played are heading homeward today after soundly trouncing Kimberley Dnamiters 8-2 in the second game of the Western Canada senior hockey final last night. Kimberley won the first game of the series at Calgary Tuesday 2-1.

The teams meet in the third game at Port Arthur Saturday night and the fourth game will be played Monday. If a fifth game is necessary it will be played at the Lakehead Wednesday night.

Port Arthur went all out last night and led 4-0 at the end of the first period, increased it to 6-0 in the second and scored two more in the third when Kimberley scored their two counters.

The winners of the western series will meet Ottawa Royal Canadian Air Force in the Allan Cup final to decide the Canadian senior champions.

The Laprade brothers, Edgar, Bert and Remi, all were standouts in the Bearcats victory. Bert picked up two goals and Edgar and Remi had one each. Al Kelly, wingman for Port Arthur, also counted twice with Norm Wright and Red McKenzie completing the winners total.

Two In the Third

Sandy Sanderson and Jack Cavanagh counted Kimberley's goals in the third. Cavanagh scored at 9:05 and immediately following the face-off at centre ice, Sanderson picked up the rubber and laced it past Russ Dertell in the Bearcats' cage at 9:15.

Jakie Nash, former Port Arthur netminder and a stumbling block to his former mates in the first contest, played a brilliant game in the Kimberley cage last night and expertly turned aside point-blank shots from the hard-shooting Port Arthur forwards.

The game was fast and cleanly fought with only eight penalties being handed out by officials Claude Smail of Saskatoon and Pete Sande of Calgary.

Coaches of both squads, after the game, reported their charges free of injuries and both expressed confidence in their teams taking the third game Saturday night.

Smith, Runyan Pacing Masters

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 10.—AP).—The Masters' Golf Tournament, struggling along against discouraging rain and distracting war news, entered its second round to-day with Horton Smith and Paul Runyan, a couple of proficient veterans, leading the field with equal 67's at the first quarter.

Strangely enough, scarcely anybody expected either Smith or Runyan to win the tournament. The favorite, after the wet and bedraggled field of 42 had checked in last night, was Byron Mason, who shot a 68 on the first round.

Harold "Jug" McSpaden, who played a round with Nelson, was so enthralled by the tall Texas's game that he offered to bet him against the field.

Two Facing Death

CINCINNATI, April 10—(AP).—Two Chicago youths, registered as George Shimchuk, 25, and Joseph Delatore Hepburn, 22, were held on Federal warrants charging violation of the "Lindbergh Kidnap Law" which provides death, to-day in the abduction-rape of Mrs. Mary Jacobson, 33, of Calumet City, Ill., the night of March 30.

Raymond C. Suran special agent in charge of the F.B.I. office here, said the pair confessed forcing Mrs. Jacobson to accompany them 300 miles to this city, robbing her and leaving her bound and gagged in a suburban park after one attacked her.

Eastern Title Goes To Fliers

MONTREAL, April 10 (CP)—The Eastern Canadian senior hockey title belonged to Ottawa Royal Canadian Air Force Flyers today while Quebec Aces were at the end of the Allan Cup trail.

The Flyers surprised more than 7,700 fans here last night by scoring a 3-0 victory over the Aces in the third game of their best-of-five series for the sectional title. Previously, the Airmen had taken 3-2 and 5-4 victories.

Main credit for the blackout went to Goalie Len Pinke. And while Pinke was holding Aces scoreless, Johnny Acheson, Pickles MacNichol and Woody Dumart pumped the puck by Goalie Lionel Bouvrette of the Aces.

Acheson's score came in the first period while Bobby Lee was off for high-sticking and MacNichol scored in the second session while Butch Stahan was in the penalty box for dumping Milt Schmidt. Dumart finished off the scoring in the last session after taking a long centre-ice pass from MacNichol.

The Aces had by far the better of the play over the game, particularly in the first period. So great was their edge in the opening session Flyers were forced to ice the puck to relieve the pressure even when the teams were at full strength. This measure brought boos from the crowd.

Goalie Reaches Heights

Pinke was a sensation in registering the shutout. He weathered a storm of rubber in the first period when Aces fired at least 30 shots at him. After that anything that happened was anti-climactic.

Coach Don Penniston of Aces predicted that the Flyers would be a shoo-in for the Allan Cup, whether Port Arthur Bear Cats or Kimberley Dynamiters represent the West.

"Flyers will take the West in straight games, no matter which team it is," said Pennington. "I know my own guys like a book and there was nothing wrong with them tonight except that they were playing their 61st game of the season. Their reflexes were slow and that's why they didn't get goals."

Penniston went over to the Flyers' dressing room immediately after the game to congratulate the Airmen.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money —(Advt.)

2 Badly Injured In Crash Near Milltown

TWEED, April 10 — (ENS). — Two Toronto men were rushed to the Belleville General Hospital with fractured legs, abrasions and suffering from serious head injuries following a two-car crash east of Milltown, early on Thursday when the car they were riding in hurtled the highway ditch and crashed into a tree. The injured men's names were given as Harold Abbs and J. W. Mulhall, both of Toronto.

Abs was driving easterly accompanied by Mulhall, when his car was in collision with a west-bound automobile driven by H. E. Smith of Smith's Falls. Both Abbs and Smith related the same story to Motorcycle Patrolman J. H. Haeth, when he investigated, contending the other vehicle was on the left hand side of the highway. After sideswiping, however, Abbs' car continued over the boulevard and crashed head-on into a tree. The front of the car was demolished. Both Abbs and Mulhall sustained compound fractures of their right legs as the floor board collapsed and the men's legs dropped below and were crushed.

Harold Sanderson, Whitby, was injured internally, and his wife and daughter Norma 5, suffered bruises when their car left Highway No. 7, east of Actinolite. Sanderson was removed to the Belleville General Hospital after receiving attention from Dr. M. G. Dales.

The driver, who was en route to Mountain Grove to visit relatives, could give no reason for their car leaving the road. Chief C. H. Hayes investigated. The car was quite badly damaged.

Sanderson will, it is understood, be charged with reckless driving. Arising out of the above accident, two other young men will be charged with breach of the Liquor Control Act.

A grass fire at the premises of Mrs. Annie Willett required the attention of Fire Chief P. C. Barnett and the Department when the fire ignited boards on the east corner of the house and the dwelling was threatened but it was extinguished before any serious damage occurred.

Residents of the West Huntingdon district became much alarmed when it was learned that Lois Cooke and Donna Stapley were missing from the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cooke. The little girls were playing on the lawn and decided to take a walk without informing their elders of their plans and they decided to visit a number of homes on Church Street. After a two-hour search by a large number of people their whereabouts were discovered in the United Church.

All Calls Filled

OTTAWA, April 10—(CP).—Suggestions that the Canadian Corps overseas or the Canadian Army now being formed lack reinforcements are without foundation, Defence Minister Ralston said at his press conference today. He made the statement when questioned about recent criticism directed against the proposal to form an army overseas by Hon. W. D. Herridge, former Canadian minister at Washington who contended there were insufficient reinforcements.

"We have reinforcements up to the full scale asked for by the corps commander (Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton)," said the minister.

MORE ABOUT— Debate Closes

C.C.F. party, the welfare minister said "this young Toronto lawyer, who has garbed himself in the cloth of the emancipator" is prepared to bring economic justice and social freedom to all.

"He must be blind if he does not already recognize that what he and his party seek to do already has been done by the administration and will continue to be done."

The oppostiion party, declared Mr. Oliver, "say the government should cut down on our expenditures yet it fails to say where.

"Expenditures of the public works department have been reduced to the smallest amount and no one would say we should cut the costs of the welfare department where we will spend $12,000,000 this year."

Minimum Jump $5

Answering the contention of Goldwin C. Elgie (Con. Toronto Woodbine) the previous speaker, that there should be a 30 per cent increase in old age pensions, the welfare minister said the minimum possible increase is $5.

"If we paid an additional $5 it would cost the province $3,600,000—which is more than we pay altogether at present under the arrangement with the Dominion government."

He said, however, that the province on its own initiative had ruled that the assigned pay of soldiers to pensioners was not to be deducted from the income of the pensioners.

One of the reason for the Government deciding to pay only 50 per cent of the cost of relief this year he continued, was the tendency of the municipalities "when working on a 75-25 bases" not to be so careful who received relief.

All the municipalities, with the exception of one, had agreed to the reduction. (In a previous statement the Welfare Minister had said Toronto was the objecting municipality.)

The Government had approved the municipalities giving up to 50 per cent more relief than that provided under the Campbell report. The majority of municipalities agreed that this provided "ample sustenance" for those on relief.

12,900 Farms Idle

Mr. Oliver touched on agriculture and said that during the past ten years 12,900 farms have been left unoccupied.

"This abandoning of farms must not be allowed, even while the country is at war," he declared. "Britain will have to depend more and more on North America for its farm products."

Farm products, he continued, will play just as important a part in the war as those of industry and consequently he could not see why agriculture shouldn't be accorded the same treatment.

"Even at this late date this will have to be done. Farmers are going to the city because they can make two and three times as much money working in munition factories.

"Something must be done to equalize the pay of the farm hand and the industrial worker—to bring about parity between these two classes."

In concluding his speech, Mr. Oliver said: "We've got to make democracy the strong light toward which will be drawn the weak and strong. We must feel our full responsibilities. We are determined when the boys come back they will see a working symbol of democracy and they will know their efforts have not been to no avail."

Mass Migration From U.K.

Col. Drew urged establishment of a committee in this province to cooperate with one in Great Britain to plan for mass immigration to Ontario from the Old Country after the war.

(Queried last night by reporters, Premier Hepburn said his government did not have the "constitutional authority to determine any policy not in harmony with the Federal Government's policy." He added that while the province was anxious for British immigration, the first job at the moment was to win the war.)

The Conservative leader envisioned Ontario with a population of 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 and said the province is to be "the great arch for the English-speaking peoples, establishing and maintaining a vigorous and intelligent contact between the New World and Old."

Three members deplored the reduction in provincial highway subsidies to counties and townships on the premise that such economy might prove "false economy." Subsidies have been reduced by practically 50 per cent this year.

Col. Drew declared that such reductions in the cost of highway expenditures are forced back on municipalities and townships.

"Roads and railways are a capital equipment and we can't take a chance of impairing their usage without actually impeding the war effort," he added.

The Conservative leader cited one instance where a township, which has roads as heavily travelled as any in the province, was notified "arbitrarily" that its subsidy was to be cut from $18,200 to $5,200. He said that approximately $3,900 of this had already been expended to date, leaving only a balance of $1,300 to maintain the road system for the rest of the year.

"This is happening on a broad scale throughout the province and the counties will have to either go ahead and maintain the roads, creating deficits or allow the roads to deteriorate."

Where the Roads Get Hit.

Col. Drew said that many war industries are located in small communities and trucking to these plants is on a considerable scale, with township roads bearing the brunt of the traffic. He thought it unfair to saddle the townships with the responsibility of maintaining these roads.

In addiiton there is approximately $735,000,000 worth of vehicle equipment in the province which is endangered by being forced to use roads not properly maintained.

"On the face of things it appears as if it is a penny-wise, pound-foolish attempt at economy that will affect our vital system of communications."

The Opposition Leader suggested that the Dominion and Ontario Governments set up a committee which would have the power to make special allocations to maintain highways designated as "war highways" and that such moneys come from the general funds available for waging the war.

Col. Drew declared there were many ways the Government could practise economy and demonstrate to the people it was sincere in this respect.

With the Dominion Government taking over much of the authority formerly held by Provincial Cabinet ministers, he said there was no reason why there couldn't be a merging of departments.

"There is no justification for continuing these departments now thot the Dominion Government is assuming increasing authority in the various fields. As it is now these ministers are all dressed up and no place to go—except perhaps to Ottawa."

However, the Opposition Leader said he believed there were many tasks which could be better done in the provincial capitals rather than in the centralized atmosphere of Ottawa.

Call On Rural Folk.

Mr. Miller said that if the county and township roads are to be kept in repair as formerly, the rural residents would have to step up their regular contributions.

"This will result in an added drain on taxpayers who can ill-afford such additional expenses," the Algoma member declared.

Mr. MacGillivray said "it is devoutly to be hoped" that the provinces highway system will not be allowed to suffer on the grounds of economy.

"They are essential arteries in the nations war production program," he continued, "and neglect to maintain them might prove a bottleneck in the war effort, by endangering human life and impeding transportation of essential supplies."

Nazi fifth columnists were blamed by Mr. Glass for instigating anti-semitic outbreaks in Canada. He said recent demonstrations in Montreal were not the work of true French-Canadians but of "foolish young men" spurred on by enemy agents. The Toronto member said discrimination against Jews is as prevalent in Ontario as anywhere else.

Col. Hunter condemned "newspaper generals" and armchair strategists" for demanding an invasion of Europe.

"There has been a growing tendency to force a conclusion at any cost," he said, "but my advice as a professional soldier to Canada is to 'keep its shirt on'."

"All our disasters have been due to impatience," continued Col. Hunter, a former member of the Bengal Lancers.

"If Churchill had yielded to the clamor for an invasion of the continent in 1941 there would be no England to-day — nor would there ever be an England again."

Norway Bishops Stir Quisling To Great Anger

LONDON, April 10—(CP).—The quiet but unyielding resistance of Norwegian churchmen to the Nazi conquerors drew from Vidkun Quisling, the traitor who heads the German government of his homeland, the angry declaration that his goals were "endangered by treasonable machinations of Norwegian bishops such as Bishop Fivind Berggrav of Oslo."

Quisling's statement, which in the same breath disclaimed any desire to interfere in religious matters, was broadcast by the German radio and distributed by the Norwegian telegraph bureau via Stockholm.

A Stockholm dispatch to the Vichy news agency said Quisling had empowered laymen to perform the functions of clergymen who had resigned in protest against the puppet government's policies.

The Norwegian agency quoted Quisling as saying of the churchmen: "Their attitude is compelling us to annihilate them together with those who have joined them."

The German radio quoted him as saying his troubles were due to "provocative trespassing by the wire-puller, Bishop Verggrav, and all who collaborate with such wirepullers must be prepared to fall with them."

Quisling contended he does not intend to establish a new religion or interfere in religious matters, but "the servants of the church must stay within the boundaries of their tasks and not misuse the church and Christians for party political purposes."

"The British Broadcasting Corporation told Norwegians "now the hour of attack is approaching," and called on them to stand firmly beside the church. The B.B.C., heard in New York by the N.B.C., said 1,100 Norwegian pastors and all bishops had resigned in protest against the Quisling-Nazi policies and that many doctors and lawyers were following the lead of the clergy, even though prosecutions were threatened)

Bishop Berggrav, singled out by Quisling, has been a leader throughout the church's opposition to the Nazis.

A German broadcast from Oslo eight days after the German invasion two years ago, purporting to come from Berggrav, advised fermers not to fight the Germans and said German soldiers were acting chivalrously toward the Norwegians.

Muskrat Season Ends April 12

Muskrat season in Peterborough county and all adjoining counties east and west and south ends on April 12, next Sunday, and trappers have ten days after that date to dispose of pelts.

Trappers throughout this district report an average catch, and claim that the sudden flood of water from the back lakes, which raised the water level in the river and in Rice Lake started the rats moving around and the result was most gratifying. As usual the trappers made their greatest catch during the run which is now practically over.

The season opened south of No. 7 highway on March 14 and north of No. 7 on March 16, giving just about a 30-day season which is the usual length of time.

Dealers in Peterborough report that prices are ranging form $2.25 to $2.40 for good pelts, and it is possible that some dealers may be paying more than the prices given above.

Millbrook Workers Complete 3 Quilts

MILLBROOK, April 10—(ENS)—Busy fingers made light work of the three quilts on which several members were busy at the Red Cross rooms on Tuesday afternoon, the number of articles shipped for the day including: 30 hot water bottle covers, 50 personal property bags, 58 Turkish towels, 62 pillow cases, 20 sheets, 2 khaki handerchiefs and 3 quilts, one from Millbrook and the remainder from outside points.

Donations received on Tuesday were—1 quilt each from Fairmount, Carmel, Bailieboro, Mrs. H. C. Argue, and five from Fallis Line.

No Extra Gas

OTTAWA, April 10 — (CP). — The Customs Division of the National Revenue Department announced to-day that tourists entering Canada in automobiles from now on will not be permitted to import any gasoline in excess of what is in the tanks of their cars at the time of entry.

result of Japanese attempts to consolidate bases in the dry season before the May monsoon begins. Defences in Australia and Hawaii are being strengthened daily, making them less inviting targets. A mortal blow to China probably would require tedious months.

By contrast, a Siberian campaign would involve little drain on ocean transport, and Japan is believed to be starting to feel the shipping pinch. Also, a successful thrust against the Russians would lighten the hazard of an American-Russian air campaign against the Japanese main islands from Russian soil. And finally a Japanese war against Russia could start by land and air with no more warning than the Germans gave in their invasion of the lowlands.

The Russians have a 3,000-mile land frontier from Vladivostok to Lake Baikal to defend against the Japanese Kwantung army which has been preparing for such a war for years.

Cattle Slump 50, Buyers Aim At Dollar Cuts

TORONTO, April 10— (CP). — The catle trade was dull on the livestock market here this week with prices generally 50 cents lower. Calves, hog, sheep and lambs were steady.

The Dominion marketing system reported packer buyers were out to reduce prices 75 cents to $1 cwt., but most of the weeks sales were made to small buyers and exporters at a drop of 50 cents cwt. A few hundred head were unsold at the close.

Weighty steers sold mostly at $10 to $10.50 with some for export at $10.75 to $11. Butcher steers closed at $9 to $10 with a few at $10.25. Heifers were mostly $9 to $9.75. Fed calves closed at $10 to $11 with a few at $11.25. Butcher cows were mostly $5.50 to $7.50, with canners downward to $350. Bulls sold at $7.50 to $8.50, with a few at 8.75. Store cattle were strong at $8.50 to $9.75 for stockers of medium quality.

Veal calves were steady at $14 to $15 for choice with common lights downward to $6. The bulk of the supply sold between $8.50 and $13.50.

Hogs were unchanged on the market at $15,15 dressed Sows sold at $10.75 to $11 dressed. The B3 hogs were sold on the same basis as the B1 hogs.

Sheep and lamb prices were steady with good western lambs at $12.75 and common to medium locals at $9 to $12.50 cwt. There were no spring lambs of any account offered. Sheep were steady at $4.50 to $7.50 cwt. according to quality.

Friends Honored Havelock Couple

HAVELOCK, April 10.—(ENS)—A miscellaneous shower was held at the Mission Hall in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Witcher, whose marriage took place on Monday evening. The hall was attractively decorated in pink and white streamers, arranged in an arch effect, where the bridal couple were seated to unwrap their gifts. There was about 25 guests, and the evening was spent in playing games and a spelling match. Many useful gifts were received and for which Mr. and Mrs. Witcher extended their appreciation and thanks, after which a dainty lunch was served by the girl friends of the bride.

The Peterborough Examiner

MAIN STREET TOPICS

CAR RECOVERED

The automobile owned by J. L. McKeever, Homewood avenue, stolen from in front of the armouries Wednesday night, was recovered last night in Campbellford. Peterborough police were informed of the fact shortly after 10 o'clock.

IN AIR FORCE

Errol J. Hess, 535 Romaine street, has been accepted as a recruit with the R.C.A.F. and is now stationed at No. 1 Manning Depot, Toronto. He was formerly employed at the Brinton Carpet Company, and is a graduate of P.C.V.S.

HEARD IN NORTH BAY

Lou Tamasie, who spent a short time in this city in 1929, and who is now living in North Bay, has written to the Examiner, stating that he listens regularly to the new radio station CHEX, which opened on March 31. North Bay is about 200 miles from this city.

FEMALE COMMANDOS

These girls from the Westclox who walked blissfully along today wearing ankle socks, and the bare calves bearing the brunt of the wintry breeze sure can stand the cold. Mere males who glanced at the bare limbs, huddled their faces lower in turned up collars and shivered.

AN ANNIVERSARY.

John Dallin, expert sailmaker, rounded out today thirty-two years' service with J. J. Turner & Sons. He received warm compliments from the members of the firm and other associates. Length of service is one of the elements of factory life and output which the Turner Company encourages.

GOING PLACES

Flight-Lieut. Bill Jackson world war flier, and well known hockey referee of this city is now adjutant of Malton Initial Training School. This school is located at the Eglinton Hunt Club in Toronto. He was formerly teaching on the staff at the Collegiate and has been in uniform since shortly after the war started.

BIGGEST DAY YET

Close to forty young men applied to the R.C.A.F. recruiting depot in the committee room of the City Buildings on Thursday afternoon and evening seeking information on air crews and pilot training. The two officers, F.O. McMillan and F. O. Yocum, both of Toronto, expect quite a number in Friday evening. Recruiting will close at ten o'clock tonight, and the staff will be leaving the city then.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER

The burning question today is "Where is the Pogue Carburetor" that would take a car 56 miles on a pint of gasoline. And another question is, if it would work on a car why would it not work on an aeroplane, thus lightening the load, creating greater cruising range, and conserving fuel. Every day more people are asking that big question. Who has hidden away this carburetor?

EXPENSIVE COAL

Analysis of coal recently received by the Collegiate indicates that out of 130 tons, there would be 11 tons of water. This high moisture content is due to winter delivery, and is far beyond the limits set down in specifications for coal which the Board of Education places before the dealers. Members of the Board admitted when questioned by D. V. Canning, that the analysis merely gave the members information, but the fuel contracts did not force dealers to meet the statistics shown.

ENNISMORE TRAVEL

The Chemong bridge was still holding Thursday but township traffic was taking the road around the west end of the lake, and the long way, too, according to Reeve Gifford who came in last night to attend the agricultural council meeting. Various roads are impassable. The main way out of the township was westerly to Boate's Church, and then, instead of taking the south road, you had to keep on going in the general direction of Omemee before reaching a sound and safe road to No. 7 highway.

CAN YOUR PINEAPPLES

Government restrictions do not allow canning factories to put pineapples in cans, and last year in Canada alone, 125 carloads of this luscious fruit went into cans for the retail trade. As these come from Porto Rico and Cuba, deliveries will be materially reduced this year, and any person who has a sweet tooth for fruit will have to do their own preserving when the raw fruit arrives—if it does. Shipments of pineapples from Hawaii and Singapore is something that used to be.

FEED THE BIRDS

The snowfall today will make it difficult for song birds to secure enough food, for a few days and citizens are asked to place a liberal supply of crumbs, table scraps and bits of suet out of doors, for the feathered friends to feast on.

CASE IS DISMISSED

A charge against Joseph Cleary of vagrancy and lodging in parked cars was dismissed in police court yesterday when the crown offered no evidence. The accused had been arrested the week before and had been on remand until yesterday.

YES, WE HAVE NO BANANAS

The old song should be revived for submarine operations along the east Atlantic coast is putting a crimp in the banana situation. Usually a carload a week reached Peterborough, now we are lucky if a carload comes twice a month. Bananas come from Jamaica and the Windward Islands, which are both located in the area where many of the sinkings have been reported. So if the grocer has no bananas, just get back at the guilty parties by purchasing a few more War Savings Stamps.

BAD BREAKFAST NEWS

Conversations over coffee at the Alparka bar this morning was mentioning in the absence of the boss, who works on the owl shift, that Eddie Bush is another Collingwood product, as if defense stars were an every day product of the place. It was quite a cheerful, normal conversation until CHEX threw gloom over everything and gall into the coffee with an announcement of naval disaster in the Indian Ocean. And the day started from there just as gray and bleak as the morning outside. The only cheerful note was the refrain of a song sparrow in a little maple. Eddie Bush and his pals were suddenly forgotten as of those things that don't matter much.

Plumping Bill Thrown Out By Committee

TORONTO, April 10 — (CP). — Ontario, Legislature Private Bills Committee ruled today that plumping"—voting for only one candidate when an elector has the privilege to cast a ballot for more than one—should be permitted in civil elections. It turned down an Owen Sound bill to prohibit plumping."

The bill, sponsored by Mayor W. G. Chase, sought to have electors vote for at least three candidates if four run. H. B. McQuesten, Minister of Municipal Affairs, said such authority would lead to a serious condition.

The committee approved a section of the bill giving Owen Sound power to set up a reserve fund to be used after the war in providing necessary relacements and improvements in public works, the fund being subject to approval of the Municipal Board and the Department of Municipal Affairs.

"I never find myself wanting to vote for four candidate," Mr. McQuesten said. "It's hard enough to get one to vote for. I like to have the privilege of voting for people I approve. If I have to vote for a certain number, then I'll not go to the poll."

"Leave it to the voter," said William Duckworth (Con., Toronto Dovercourt). "This is a matter of dictatorship."

While Mayor Case argued that Peterborough had power to require voters balloting for four of five candidates, Alex Elliott (Lib., Peterborough) said the Peterborough tax rate was 30 mills compared with Owen Sound's 49 mills.

Mayor Case contended that, in trying to broaden democratic responsibility, voters should ballot for the required number and not be permitted to "plump" for one.

"We're trying to indicate democracy will work and voters should be shown their obligation," he added. "People balloting for one man would would mean a one-man council."

Cries of "No" greeted this assertion.

Norman Chate Returns As Rangers' C.S.M.

Company Sergeant Major Norman Chate believed to be the youngest C.S.M. in Canada, has been attached to the Prince of Wales Rangers, it was announced yesterday. He is 19 and is a son of C.Q.M.S. Chate of the second battalion, Prince of Wales Rangers. Norman has been sent from the instructional cadre at Military District 3, at Kingston, for the purpose of giving a series of courses to men of the Rangers.

Pte. J. L. Engler is listed in the appointments and promotions as being an acting sergeant.

The following N.C.O.'s proceeded "on command" to the I.T.C. training camp at Camp Borden, effective as from April 10: Acting corporals H. V. Bateman, J. E. Guerin, R. G. Harper, W. D. Loomis, H. D. White, Lance-corporal E. F. M. Francis.

There were six applications for enlistment at the recruiting office Thursday and six men were taken on strength of the unit. Ranks of the unit will be depleted for the next few months owing to the fact that 67 men of the regiment will proceed for basic training at the training centre. Several N.C.O.'s have already left and about mid-April, some of the junior officers will be leaving for courses.

Despite the fact that radio and newspaper advertising is over so far as urging men to enlist with the Prince of Wales Rangers, the recruiting office is still open and applications for enlistment may be received until the regiment is ordered to cease recruiting.

Gar Poole C.S.M.

Another popular company sergeant major of the Rangers is C.S.M. Gar Poole, former employee of the Bell Telephone Company who obtained leave of absence for the duration. He is well known in the city despite the fact that he has only lived here four years. Gar is a member of Peterborough Lodge A.F. & A.M. and in the carrying out of his work, he is known in Norwood, Havelock, Hastings, Omemee and Lakefield. He is married and has two children, a boy and a girl. Prior to taking up work in Peterborough, Gar came from Toronto. He has been with the Bell Telephone for 15 years.

In Peterborough, C.S.M. Poole was a member of the Rangers for two years and was C.S.M. of B Company, under Captain H. A. Craig and under Major R. J. Bolton.

In the field of sports, Gar was an outstanding rugby player at one time, having been on the Balmy Beach squad one season and other teams. He played lacrosse with the fast stepping lacrosse outfit of Orillia and in his younger days was an all-round athlete.

Captain James Morley, who has recently returned to the Rangers from Petawawa, enlisted as a private with "C" Company of the 4th Machine Gun Battalion in 1930 under Col. J. A. Dewart, M.C., and Major James Turnbull. He was later promoted to the rank of Sergeant and became a commissioned officer in 1934. In 1935 he became a fully qualified lieutentant an on the reorganization of militia units in 1936 he came to the Prince of Wales Rangers as second in command of a company under Major H. Mason, and in January of 1938 qualified as a captain.

In June, 1940, he took over the command of Headquarters Company and in October, 1941, reverted to the rank of lieutenant to go on active service, and since then he has been taking courses of advanced military training. Captain Morley's long training as an infantry officer and his wide acquaintaceship among the young men of this district will enable him to be of outstanding assistance in the mobilization and training of the First Battalion.

He is married and has one son. A former draftsman at the C.G.E. was was promoted from time to time until, in 1938, he became foreman of the meter manufacturing department.

Long Tough Trip

SYDNEY, Australia, April 10 — (CP)—Sir Ronald Cross, British High Commissioner to Australia, said today "I am unable to envisage the time during this war when ships carrying troops will be able to come from Britain to Australia."

"Shipping," he said, "dictates the source from which men and materials can be sent to Australia and the United States is the nearest source of supply."

Engineer Dies From Burns

Skin Tests Are Recommended By School Board

A recommendation from the Health Committee of the Board of Education was approved at the regular monthly meeting of the Board on Thursday night, and the recommendation is that skin tests for tuberculosis be a condition of employment for all future employees of the Board. The information is also contained in the report that the staff be advised that facilities for such tests are now available, and that their co-operation in availing themselves of this opportunity would be appreciated.

This recommendation arose out of a communication from Dr. D. B. Avison, Medical Officer of Health, concerning the health inspection of teachers. The question was discussed at some length in committee by the members and finally framed into a recommendation which is now law, following the sanction of the Board.

Another clause of the report reads as follows: "The attention of your committee has been drawn to the published report of an address entitled, 'A Unified Public Health System,' given by Dr. D. B. Avison, Acting Medical Officer of Health for the city at the March meeting of the Local Council of Women, and your committee regrets that Dr. Avison has made statements which are incorrect concerning this matter, particularly in view of the fact that any discussions to date on this subject, between the Board of Education and the Board of Health have been largely brought about through interest shown by members of our own Board."

The committee also recommended that the Board ascertain from the Board of Health what use the latter intends to make of the services offered by the school nurses.

Mrs. W. R. Morris, chairman of the Health Committee, read the report and recommended its adoption.

Fire Destroys Frame Dwelling

Fire which started in the attic of a two-storey frame house in Douro Township early this morning completely demolished the structure, and made a family of five homeless.

The building located on the west side of the 11th Concession which runs north from the Warsaw Road to Nassau, was owned by Tom Valois of Woodbine Avenue, and was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moshier, and their thee children, Teresa Lawrence and Doreen.

Moshier is employed at the J. E. A. Fitzgerald Fuel Company. His wife arose at 5 o'clock this morning to light the fire and get the breakfast. and while Moshier was dressing he discovered the attic was on fire. He called his wife, got the children up and dressed, and left the building. Fanned by a strong south wind, the flames spread rapidly, and the only bit of furniture which he was able to save was the sewing machine.

His family was taken in by Jack Kemp, a neighbor, and Moshier was on the job in the city to-day. He had no insurance.

Kinsmen Honor Four Members To Join Service

Members of the Kinsmen Club paid tribute to four of their number who have volunteered their services for duty in the armed forces, when the club met at the Empress Hotel on Thursday evening.

The four men are Major Ralph Honey, Lt. Lorne Bateman, and Lt. Alex Elliott, M.P.P., all of the Prince of Wales Rangers, and Paul Roche who has been accepted by the air force as a student pilot. Enlistment of the above named gives the Kinsmen Club the highest enlistment rating of any service group in the city as eight of its members will be in the army and seven of them have commissions. The other members now serving are Lt. Ted Chalmers, Lt. Don Scott, F.O. Emmett F. Sheehy, and Major Jim Turnbull.

Norm Elliott, club president extended a welcome to Major Jim Turnbull, of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, who returned recently from England, Major Turnbull addressed the club briefly telling of life in Britain.

G. Wilson Craw was called on by the president to make a presentation of leather bill folds to the four recruits, and he said the Kinsmen Club may well be proud of the contribution already made to the war. He pointed out that Alex Elliott, M.P.P. with Major Honey were charter members of the club, and had been the first and second president respectively.

He paid tribute to Lorne Bateman, the immediate past president for his leadership, and to Paul Roche for his work on the bulletin. and on the Milk for Britain Fund.

"We give you our best wishes, and hope that you will return safely soon to serve many more terms as active Kinsmen," Mr. Craw said as he made the presentation.

W. B. Gordon outlined the progress being made in arranging a big radio show for May 1, at which it is hoped to raise quite a bit of money for the Milk for Britain Fund. Full details of the program will be available soon, and it is believed the plan will be similar to that followed by a Toronto newspaper, in which people who phone in donations have their names given over the radio, and a car speeds out to pick up the money.

At the meeting Thursday night, it was pointed out that only six of the original 18 charter members were now in the club, and these are Dr. Ralph Honey, G. Wilson Craw, Alex L. Elliott, Dr. S. Y. Walsh, Dr. E. M. Crough and Alex Sollitt.

HE WAS INDIGNANT

A local service station operator claims a motorist asked for gasoline on Thursday, then refused to allow the operator to tear the ration coupon out of the book until quite an argument had developed. The service station operator knows and the motorist knows that the car owner must hand over the ration book and the operator who supplies the gas is the only one who can detach the coupons. The oil controller would be pleased to have the names of the offenders like this obstinate motorist and it has been rumored that once ration books have been called in, they cannot be redeemed.

Spitfire Dance Set For Tonight

Everything is in readiness for the Peterborough police department's dance and draw at the armouries tonight in aid of the second Canadian Police Spitfire Fund. Hundreds of tickets for the event have been sold and it is expected that there will be a huge crowd in attendance for the dance, floor show and draw.

The orchestra of Jimmy Duffus will provide the music. Mayor Hamilton will start the ball rolling and will also draw the winning tickets at the intermission.

In addition to the $200 in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates subscribed by the members of the police department themselves many other prizes have been donated by merchants. Some of these will be drawn for and the others will be for spot dance prizes. There will be a lot of lucky citizens tonight.

Proceeds will go to the Canadian Police fund being raised to provide another Spitfire for the Air Force. The first one, toward the cost of which Peterborough contributed $2,000, has already been turned over.

Seek To Store Heavy Metal In School Yard

An appeal to the Board of Education to permit the Civic War Service Council engaged in salvage work to store heavy metal in the yard at South Central school was made to the Board at the regular meeting held on Thursday night.

Mrs. R. J. Kearns, president of the Council, outlined the growth and progress of the salvage effort, and said that the building put up by the City Council for storage purposes on the property was now full of paper, rags and rubber. Basement space in the school where the sorting was done, was at a premium and she added that the committee had every reason to believe that rural groups would soon advise they had collected quantities ready for delivery.

"It is the hope of the salvage committee that the Board members overlook the appearance of the yard, and the inconvenience at this time, in the face of the grave shortage of metals required for war purposes," she said.

Big Job.

Some idea of the magnitude of the work being done by these women is given in the quantities which are itemized as handled during the month of March: Mixed iron, 400 pounds; rags, 849 pounds; satinette, 702 pounds; steel, 3,890 pounds; tin, 4,630 pounds; scrap paper, 19,532 pounds; newspaper, 26,100 pounds; corrugated paper, 1,770 pounds; with a total value of $281.30. Besides the above there was $50.00 worth of grease sold, but this covers a three month collection, not just for March.

All of the salvage is sold direct to J. Burfield, who ships to the manufacturers in various parts of Ontario.

Since the salvage began, the women have made the following contributions from monies obtained from the salvage: S. D. and G. Band, $600.00; British War Victims Fund, $680.63; Band instrmuets, 4th Battery, $100.00; Sailors', Soldiers' and Airmens Families' Association, Peterborough, England, $500.00; box of sewing sent to England, $125.00; truck purchased, $500.00; ditty bags for navy, $100.00; games for Training Centre, $93.70; Mrs. Winston Churchill Fund, $100.00.

Mrs Kearns had during the course of her remarks mentioned that a meeting was being called soon at which members of the city council, of the C.W.S.C. and of the Board of Education could discuss the question of salvage.

Mrs. Morris made a motion, naming a committee consisting of Messrs. Carley, Craw, and H. G. Walker, the chairman, to represent the Board at the meeting, and the motion carried. D. V. Canning seemed anxious to carry the discussion along a little further and was assured that in the meantime the salvage workers using the school could continue as before.

"What difference does it make if the yard is cluttered up with piles of metal," Mr. Canning asked, but at this point the chairman put the motion made by Mrs. Morris, and discussion ended.

Thomas Hughes Bailed For Trial

Thomas Hughes, North Monaghan, was bailed for trial by judge and jury Thursday in police court after a preliminary hearing of a charge of assaulting and beating his wife had taken place before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K. C.

After the evidence of Mrs. Hughes and other crown witnesses had been heard bailment for trial followed. Hughes was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair while Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted the case.

Returns To Rangers

Captain J. A. Morley, formerly with the Prince of Wales Rangers and more recently with the Cameron Highlanders, has been transferred back to the First Battalion, Prince of Wales Rangers Regiment. He has just completed courses at Three Rivers, Que., and Brockville, Ont., and has been detailed to give a preliminary toughening up course to junior officers of the unit slated for a three months' course at Brockville to start in mid-April. Captain Morley is a favorite with officer and private alike and his transfer was a welcome move.

Box At C.G.E. Holds $25 For War Victims

In the Maintenance Department of the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., a small wooder box, covered with a Union Jack, has been making a mute appeal on behalf of the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund since Christmas time, to afford employees of this branch of C.G.E. service an opportunity to give help for the fund for the second time.

Having reached considerable proportions for this type of fund activity, it was decided to open the box and turn it over to the fund manager during the course of a program on behalf of the fund broadcast from Radio Station CHEX.

The presentation was made by H. H. May, and the box containing $25 handed over by Louis Simpson, who represented the employees of this department, and this appears in this day's list of receipts for the fund.

The lady who prefers to contribute under the name of "In As Much," has made her 20th contribution to the fund for $10 today, keeping up the good work commenced at the time the fund was started to help the people of Britain.

Master Joel Moldaver makes his third donation to the fund, this time the amount is $3, a Passover contribution in memory of his late grandfather, Mr. Philip Black.

On Thursday night, through the kindness of a Peterborough business concern, a half-hour's program was broadcast from radio station CHEX as a contribution to the cause, and thanks are extended to them for providing this facility, together with those who participated in the persons of Major James Turnbull, Mrs. Dorothy Goldie, Masters Leonard Cooper, Joey McMahon and Stewart Brown, and the master of ceremonies, Don Insley of radio station CHEX.

Council Urges Farmers To Co-operate

Farmers should be more disposed under the stress of war to work together for greater production of agricultural products. That was one of the opinions, virtually a recommendation, of the Peterborough County War Council last night.

The council's survey showed that 187 farmers affirmed that they could exchange labor as compared with 705 who sent in a negative answer.

The rugged individualism of farmers was believed to be a continuing factor in the attitude of those who expressed doubt about the idea of community of labor.

Only four of the seven members of the council attended the meeting. Road conditions were a handicap. Lt.-Col. F. E. Birdsall telephoned that he could not make the trip to the city. Reeve M. E. Johnston of North Monaghan and George Elliott of Norwood were also absent. Those who attended were Stanley Wood, Reeve P. J. Mather, Reeve James Gifford and Gordon Hancock.

A proposal to hold local meetings to emphasize the needs of this season was received with some doubt about real effect.

"You don't get the people you want to see there," Mr. Wood. "You can pretty nearly tell before hand who'll be there, and it is usually the farmers who are taking the most interest in things."

Mr. Gifford said he might call a meeting in Ennismore, but nothing definite was undertaken.

Engagement of threshing gangs was another topic, and the opinions of the four men was that this system would cost the average farmer too much money out of pocket. Use of High School students was endorsed, and it was hoped that farmers would do their best to encourage boys to help in farm work this year.

"There should be no working them from dawn to dark," Mr. Hancock said. "After all they are only boys, but if they are handled the right way it is surprising what they can do and how much they learn. Work ought to be under way by seven o'clock, but there should be a lunch or two during the day, and a bit of recreation occasionally after supper. Some farmers are wearing themselves out by lack of good management, especially in getting chores started promptly and finished in good time."

Need $1.50 Wheat

An Examiner reporter sat in for a while listening to the discussion last night. In regard to prices it was said that if farmers could get $1.50 wheat sufficient to afford them a profit they have not seen in the last ten years, there would be no question about production, and especially of wheat. Mr. Hancock said a greater effort should be made to break up sod land this spring, cultivate it, then with summer fallow get in condition for planting wheat next fall.

Peterborough farmers can get along in the pinch of circumstance without much new machinery for several years, it was said. However, they should be assured of ample supply of machine parts.

Mr. Gifford said the news pointed to "no new implements soon." Certainly production of machines was being curtailed this year, and it might be even less next year. The advice handed out in a speech at the recent convention of threshermen was repeated last night, — greater care of machinery, oiling, housing and attention generally to upkeep. It was also suggested that provision should be made for re-tinning milk cans and for renewal of rubber parts of milking outfits.

Victory Workers Make Fine Progress

The Victory Workers were organized on January 12 and since then they have met each Tuesday and Thursday in the Sons of England Hall. On March 22 a bale was packed containing 11 large quilts, 6 baby quilts, 1 woollen knee rug, 3 pairs of boys' trousers, 1 child's sweater, 21 articles of baby clothing, 2 complete layettes, which were donated by Mrs. E. Crofts, some of this material was given by the Civic War Service Council to be finished. These quilts, along with work done by the "V.W." were taken to Mrs. Buckley of the Salvation Army for shipment overseas. Donations of used clothing, quilt tops, or pieces for patching quilts will be gratefully received. An honorary member, Mrs. L. Tucker, McDonnel street has, at 73 years of age, pieced and worked in yarn, enough 18-inch squares to make five large quilt tops. The Victory Workers are grateful to all who have contributed to their success.

Cobourg Girl Weds Lloyd G. Workman

COBOURG, April 10—(ENS).—St. Peter's Anglican Church was the scene of a pretty wedding last night when Lillian Victoria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Eden, became the bride of Mr. Lloyd George Workman, Front Road East, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Workman. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. L. Seaborn.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length dress of white taffeta and a heart-shaped hat with finger-tip veil. Her flowers were lilies and carnations. She was attended by Miss Martha Eden, maid-of-honour and Miss Margaret Goddard, bridesmaid, who wore floor length gowns of pale blue taffeta and shoulder veils held in place by pink flowers. Their flowers were roses and sweet peas. The groom was attended by Meredith Greer.

During the signing of the register, Miss Georgina Eden, sister of the bride, sang "Because". The wedding music was played by Miss K. Warner and the church altar was decorated in which flowers. Ushers were Mr. Werner Stenback and Mr. Gerald Goddard. After the ceremony a reception was held at the brides home, her mother receiving in Queen's Blue with white and fawn accessories. The groom's mother wore air force blue with black accessories.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. S. Allender and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Mabee, Mr. and Mrs. A. Workman of Port Hope; Mrs. R. Heatherington, Belleville; Mrs. E. Turney, Colborne. The bride's table was decorated in pink and white centred by a three-tier wedding cake.

Mark St. Choir Presents Amusing Comedy

"The Bright Penny," a comedy on the trials and troubles of Mother Stanton, a widow with a brood, was presented before an enthusiastic audience in Mark Street United Church on Thursday evening by the church choir.

The play was marked by fine direction and good stage management, for which the director, Len Agnew, is to be congratulated. The characters, who were very well cast, handled their parts with conscientious sincerity and the few hesitations over dialogue were neatly covered up. The play itself was an amusing farce-comedy, with more amusing bits of dialogue than is usual in this type of play.

The plot concerned Mother Stanton, who, in order to pay for the education of her happy-go-lucky family, sells a fifty-acre field that had belonged to her late husband to the local miser for $6,000. She loses the cheque, and then the family discovers that the government is going to pay $20,000 for the property. Mother decides to marry old Pill Sweezle, the miser, to get both money and property and the family are bent on preventing such a disagreeable alliance. The ensuing incidents make confusion for the characters and fun for the audience. The plot is further complicated by spies in the airplane factory where Gladys, the eldest daughter, works; and by Joey Dobbs, a young man who wants to woo and win the bright Penny.

Mother Stanton, well-meaning but a little confused was played competently by Mary Northrop. Penny, one of her daughters, who is worried by her mother's easy-going discipline, and who turns out to be bright as a dollar, was played by Bernice Stevens. Lonny the only boy, who spends most of his time trying to make his hens increase production, was played with enthusiasm by Harold Hewitt, Gladys, the eldest of the Stantons, and the only wage earner, was played charmingly by Gladys Brown, and her beau, Eugene Grandsmith, who is more than he seems, was ably played by Norm Hewitt. Joey, Penny's sweetheart, jitterbugging young man who dresses up as Sir Walter Raleigh to satisfy Penny's desire for old-world romance, was played by Bob Healey. Dolly, Lonny's girl, when he consents to leave the chicken coop, is played by Jean Harran. Chickie, mischievous baby of Mother Stanton's brood, was played by Muriel Woodcock.

Old Pill Sweezle, the miser, who turns out to be something even worse, was played most ably by Reg Dooley, and his daughter Gertie, vulgar young person who wants Mr. Grandsmith, is played by Marie Green.

Young's Point

On Monday Mrs. Joseph Ayotte gave her home for a social afternoon sponsored by the ladies of St. Mary's Church. Four tables of progressive euchre were played, Miss Irene Young winning the prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Young of Sarnia spent the week-end with the latter's mother, Mrs. Ed. Young.

Miss Mary Walsh, Reg. N., of Rochester, N.Y. visited at her home during the Easter holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O'Grady of Niagara Falls spent the week-end with the later's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. McNaughton.

BE YOUR AGE AND YOU WILL AVOID COMMITTING FOLLIES

Your Friends Delight in Making You Older Than You Really Are.

It would seem that the question of age is a personal one between the individual and the Vital Statistics Bureau and that it is a matter of no concern to the general public. But on the contrary, there is nothing about which we are so curious as we are about the ages of other people. We are never weary of guessing how many birthdays our friends and enemies have had, and the first question we ever ask about any stranger is: How old is he, or she? Perhaps the inability to solve the mystery is what piques our interest, for there are no hard and fast rules for gauging a person's age. You can't judge a man's and woman's age by their teeth, as you can a horse's, when dentistry has become such a fine art. Nor can you answer the riddle by glittering generalities, such as saying "a man is as old as his arteries and a woman is as old as her artifices," because men's blood pressure varies with their temperaments ever more than it does with their circulation, and even female babies in the kindergarten know their makeups. Formerly you could date men and women by their reminiscences, but nowadays, when nobody permits themselves to recall anything that happened later than last year, even that source of information has gone into the discard.

Can't Tell By Certificates

Even a birth certificate is a broken reed to lean upon in deciding whether a person is young or old, because chronological age really means nothing. There are men and women who are born octogenarians and who are virtually tottering on the verge of the grave while still in their teens. And there are other men and women who never grow up and who are still frolicsome lads and lassies in their nineties.

And if age is such a matter of guesswork to others, is it any wonder that we are so uncertain about it in ourselves, and that we tell those lies about it upon which the Recording Angel must surely drop a pitying tear that blots them out of the record? For we never seem as old to ourselves as we look to others, or they look to us. No matter how many mirrors we have, we never see a bald-headed, stoop-shouldered old man, with wattled chin and a paunchy figure. We see a slim young man, straight as an arrow, with ambrosial curls. Nor do we see a faded old woman, with store teeth and grizzled hair and who waddles as she walks. We see a girl who is as fresh and beautiful as Springtime.

Of course, we can size poor old Jim up at sight as being in his sixties, and we don't have to be any soothsayer to know that it has been more than thirty years since Mrs. Smith celebrated her last birthday, but we are perfectly sure that anyone would take us to be in our early forties.

Leads To Many Follies

Our inability to realize our real age would be a harmless delusion and a comforting one if only it did not lead us into committing so many follies. For it is what causes old women to make themselves figures of fun by wearing clothes that are too young for a debutante, and by ogling and flirting with paid gigolos and talking about their boy friends. Sixty trying to act sixteen is a sight from which even the angels must turn away their faces in horror.

And it is what makes old men marry girls young enough to be their granddaughters. They can see that poor old Maria has broken in the forty years they have been married, but they think they are still gay young blades and they believe any little gold-digger who tells them that they are too young for their wives. So they pension off Maria and divorce her and become that forlorn object—the old husband who sits on the sidelines and watches his young wife play with boys of her own age while he plays the bills.

But if we are as young as we think we are, neither are we as old as our friends and enemies accuse us of being. Why age should be a reproach, since it is purely a matter of Nature and something none of us can help, no one knows. But, all the same, there is no criticism we wouldn't rather have made upon us than to be called "old." We would rather have our characters aspersed than our age. Nor does any taunt rankle like being told that we show our age. And when we hear of anyone speaking of us as "poor old Mrs. Smith or Mr. Brown" we want to either crawl into our coffins, or commit murder upon them.

How then can the riddle: How old is Ann? be answered, since she has four ages—the age she really is, the age she says she is, the age she looks to herself, and the age her enemies say she is?

Sometimes Men Don't Change

Dear Dorothy Dix.—What can you do with a husband who won't stay put? I have one who is fine when he stays at home; only he is hardly ever there. He is the type who is always hanging around filling stations, pool rooms and places like that. Whenever he gets a day off he sets sail the first thing in the morning after breakfast and I don't see him until dinner time, and I don't know whether to throw things at him or kiss him when he comes home at night, but I think I would feel better if I threw something at him. Are all husbands like that, and is there any cure for it? I am 20 and he is 21, and we have been married six months.—WONDERING.

Answer.—Undoubtedly there are some men who are just not domestic animals by nature, and there doesn't seem any way to house-break them. To them a home is just a place where they dump a wife and then beat it.

They love their wives, but not enough to stay with them. They even like to talk about their homes. And sometimes they brag about what good cooks their wives are, and how tastefully they have fixed the house up and how clean they keep it, and what fine roses they grow, but they prefer the society of the loafers around a pool room to their wives', and they flee from their own flower gardens to the odors that hang around a garage. And there is nothing a wife can do about it. She wastes her time and efforts in trying to change such a man, because he is joined to his idols.

Alice Mabel Hale Married To Elmer C. Bryan

TWEED April 10 — (ENS). — Geraniums, begonias, foliages, and ferns decorated the Little Marble United Church, Actinolite, for the wedding of Alice Mabel Hale, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert N. Hale, to Elmer C. Bryan, of Lyndhurst, son of Mrs. Bryan and the late Mr. Bryan. Rev. Mr. Patterson officiated and Miss Mary Kleinsteuber played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bouffant gown of white sheer with a sweetheart neckline and her shoulder veil fell from a headdress of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of deep pink roses. Her only ornament was a gold locket belonging to her mother. The matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Everett Clapp of Trenton, Ontario. She wore a graceful gown of pink silk crepe with full skirt and blue accessories and carried a bouquet of red roses. Beverly Gates, the flower girl, wore a dress of light blue taffeta and carried a basket of pink sweet peas.

Mr. Edward Bryan attended his brother as groomsman. The ushers were Mr. Clarence Hale, brother of the bride, of Actinolite and Mr. George Gates of Lyndhurst.

At the reception held at the hotel in Tweed, the bride's mother received in a dress of blue printed crepe with matching accessories. The room was decorated in mauve and yellow and vases of sweet peas adorned the tables for twenty-five persons.

The happy couple left for Toronto and other Western points following the reception. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan will reside in Lyndhurst, Ontario.

St. John's A.Y.P.A. Gives Fine Variety Show

St. John's A.Y.P.A. presented a variety program and three one-act plays in the Parish Hall on Thursday evening.

The program opened with a vocal selection, "Riding Along the Broad Highway," by Victor Coleman, accompanied by Rev. H. N. Bracken. This was followed by a play, "Between the Soup and the Savoury," in which the parts were played conscientiously by Doreen Groombridge, Aileen Hewitt and Ada Foster.

Following this was a pretty tableau, "The Shrine of St. Cecilia." This currently popular song was sung by candle-light and those taking part were Doreen Groombridge, Lillie Hooton, Dorothy Franks, Eileen Hewitt Isabel Bolton, Mary Mason, J. Scott, T. Howell and Victor Coleman.

The second one-act play, "Becky Sharpe" was based on an incident in Thackeray's novel, "Vanity Fair". Parts were taken as follows: Rawdon Crawley, Vic Coleman; George Osborne, Eddie Pinn; Joseph Sedley, Bob Crocker; Mrs. Rawdon Crawley (Becky Sharpe) Shirley Ashby; Mrs. George Osborne (Amelia) Lillie Hooton. The action took place on the eve of the Battle of Waterloo.

The last play "The Stroke of Nine," a burlesque melodrama about a man who has received a threatening letter saying he would be murdered at the stroke of nine, was the last item on the program. The parts were played with enthusiasm by the following players, Jim Brown, Bill Lott, Bill Farrow Bink Shadgett, Walter Howell, Jim Brown, Irwin Luthr, Nels Hewitt.

Home and School Patriotism Pledge Is Taken

TORONTO, April 10.— In this time of national emergency, when our homes, country and democratic way of living are in danger, it is fitting that we, the members of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations, should solemnly pledge ourselves individually and as an organization:

To remember with reverence and love the ideals of our founders, who cherished above all else the welfare of the whole child.

To continue with zeal and devotion our efforts to secure and preserve the good life for all children, even in the face of war and disaster.

To persevere in discovering new avenues of service and help to youth.

To strive forever forward, counting no effort wasted that brings us a little nearer to the ideal of a world founded on the principle of human brotherhood.

To protect our children against all the dangers of war, whether those dangers be physical, mental or spiritual, and

To keep the faith delivered unto us by our forefathers, who hewed this America out of the wilderness and dedicated it to liberty, justice, happiness and truth for every human being.

The above pledge, adopted by the Ontario Federation of Home and Schoo Associations at its annual convention, is to be forwarded to the convention of the Canadian National Federation in August. The clauses of the pledge are taken verbatim from the wartime pledge adopted by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers of the U.S.A., an organization of two and one-half million members.

As these two national bodies are united in their aims and ideas, it is hoped that this pledge, when accepted by the Canadian National Federation will be another tie in addition to that of affiliation with the International Federation of Home and School.

ENTER, THE COLONEL

CHAPTER XIV

"Asia!" uttered Sargent, and Allan could sense a shiver passing through the frail old body. "Man, be careful of her! She's evil incarnate! She appears to have considerable authority over the Japanese, and it was she who was going to torture Kay!"

"Really!" exclaimed Allan softly. "Glad you mentioned it, Doctor! Now, listen to my yarn." In quick, whispered phrases he gave a summary of his experiences to date. He ended with a subject of peculiar interest to himself, the story of Harry Bishop's ghastly fate. "Have you any notion what they could have done to him?"

"I know what they did! They explained the trick to me in detail because it was one they threatened to do to Kay. They inject a preparation of rattlesnake venom into the victim's spinal fluid. If you'll tell that to your doctors—in case I don't get out of here myself—they'll know what to do for your friend. He can be cured."

"Thank God!" breathed Allan fervently. "If only—"

The passage was suddenly flooded with light. Somebody had stolen up behind him unheard and pressed the button of a powerful electric torch. A harsh, guttural voice he recognized only too well snapped an order pitched to a note of malicious satisfaction.

"Hands up!" commanded the Eurasian. "This time there'll be no nonsense, understand? Follow me as I back out. A false move will be your last!"

Allan heard a gasp of dismay from Sargent, and found no word of hope to leave with the old man. He moved forward slowly as the torch retreated. He quite believed the ugly man's statement; on this occasion there'd be no nonsense. His number was up. A short interview with the courteous, cold-blooded Watanabe—and exit Allan Steele!

Now they were outside. Beyond the circle of light from the torch, something white moved in the darkness. A voice spoke in a queer tongue utterly foreign to his knowledge of languages, but it was a woman's voice and he recognized it with a start. Asia!

There was a brief exchange between servant and mistress. He sounded sullen and rebellious; she was peremptory, and the argument ended when she stamped her foot. Grumbling, the Eurasian flicked off his torch and disappeared into the night.

* * *

"Come, senor—Allan! I fear you must return as you came if you wish to get back unseen." She walked toward the shore, Allan at her elbow and silent while he tried to adapt himself to this change in his fortunes. "You were brave to come here tonight—but you'd have been a dead man at dawn if I hadn't interfered! You realize that?"

"Yes. Why did you do it, Asia?"

"Why? Just for the moment, let us agree to call it—a woman's whim." Her voice was very soft, very alluring and provocative. Her body brushed against his in the dark, and he felt—a most unromantic simile—as if an electric eel had touched him with all its juice turned on. Now they were at the water's edge. "I must hurry away," whispered the lady, "and so must you. Good night—dear Allan!"

"Good night, Asia—and thanks!"

Then it happened. Her arms were about his neck, her lithe form was welded to his, her warm lips were pressed hard against his mouth. A second she clung there — laughed tremulously—and was gone!

Allan swam back to prison rather slowly, and never once thought about sharks on the way.

Kay Sargent was waiting on the dock, and he heard her quick breath of relief as he slithered onto the pier at her feet. As they strolled up to the bungalow he told her about her father, and also explained the meaning of the lights she had seen flashing on the main island. While he talked to Kay, Allan regained most of the equilibrium he had lost to Asia's potent charm. He regained the rest of it in the lighted foyer of the house when she stared at him, drew away slightly, and remarked on what a pity it was the waters of the Gulf didn't wash off lipstick. Her good night was chilly, and his disgruntled.

He thought it tough appearances should be so against him when they were entirely misleading.

He was sure he had sized up Asia correctly. He remembered the figure he had seen when he first landed and had small doubt his capture and release had been neatly staged by the lady. A grandstand play, he decided, to gain his goodwill and gratitude and perhaps bring her a step closer to getting those secrets from his mythical brother in Washington. Very clever, but he had seen through the scheme and he certainly hadn't kissed her!

Miss Sargent's coolness lasted for nearly four days, but at dusk on the fourth she came bursting into the small patio where he was restlessly pacing the tiled walk.

"Oh, Allan, guess what's happened! I was looking toward the island from my room window just now and I saw a man I met at Ensenada! A Colonel Escobar of the Rurales! In charge of this district, he told me! He was staring straight at me, and what do you think I did?"

"Threw him a kiss," suggested Allan moodily.

"No," said Kay, too excited to be indignant. "I raised and lowered the window shade several times in code! I sent him SOS! Father made me learn it once. The Colonel didn't make any sign, but I know he must have seen me. He was looking right at me!"

"That's odd," muttered Allan. Here was news indeed and his thoughts were racing so madly that he answered almost absently. "You'd think he might have thrown a kiss at least, huh?"

"We-ell," replied Kay a bit bleakly, "just at that moment the Asia creature came up and they went off arm-in-arm. I suppose she's got him, too."

* * *

Allan let that one pass. He was too busy pondering the fact of Escobar's presence on the main island and deducing its obvious implications. So this was why he'd heard nothing from Asia since their one-sided embrace; she had finally got Escobar where she wanted him, on terms of such intimacy she dared bring him to the sacred precincts of the "cannery," and she'd put aside her new victim until she had bled the old one dry! More envelopes across a wine-stained table . . .

It would have been brutal to tell Kay what a broken reed she was leaning upon in the person of el senor Colonel Alfredo Escobar y Carvajal. Instead, he snapped out of his revery and showered her with praises for her ingenuity and wit, and made them sound convincing. Kay was human, and the shower left her puring, like a cream-fed kitten.

Accordingly, at 10 o'clock that evening, while the three of them were playing rummy in the living room and listening to the radio, Allan was startled by the noise of a spurred boot crossing the foyer. The cards he was holding fell from his fingers a moment after when he saw the slim figure of Escobar, trim and immaculate as ever, standing in the doorway. The officer looked at Kay Sargent and saluted politely. He was about to address her when his gaze wandered to Allan. His eyes widened.

"The devil! Is this where you are!"

"It is indeed. Where did you think I was, Colonel?"

"Sun Su told me you had suddenly packed your belongings and driven off to Palo Seco, on the mainland, where you expected to get better pictures than here. Of course, I shouldn't have believed him."

"Why, the idiot knew perfectly well—"

Allan cut short his remark lest he get the Chinese in trouble. Sun Su distrusted Escobar was looking in-himself, and naturally had lied to him. Now Escobar was looking inquisitively at Pierre, who has risen to bow smilingly. Kay hastened to perform the amenities.

"Colonel Escobar, this is M. de Fontanelle, a very good friend of ours. Like Mr. Steele, my father and myself, he is being held prisoner by these—these mysterious Japanese fish people!"

"Ah, yes." The rurale looked puzzled, but friendly. "I have not had the pleasure of meeting M. de Fontanelle before, but if he is being detained here against his will, he'll be glad, no doubt, to hear I am a rescue party of one."

BLITZED HAMBURGER

A Delicious New Wartime Dish

GRIND UP finely 2 lbs. of round steak; add 2½ teaspoons of salt and ⅛ teaspoon of pepper; blend in 2 eggs, first beating them well. Then add 1 tablespoon of H. P. Sauce. Make sure that this mixture is well blended, then shape into 10 patties, each about 3½ inches wide. Cook on grill, turning them over until done. Serve in toasted hamburger buns.

The tablespoon of H. P. Sauce will add a delicious flavour to these hamburgers. H. P. is a thick, fruity, famous English type sauce and is a grand appetizer for many kinds of food including meats, fish, eggs, salads, stews, soups, relishes, gravies and sandwiches. Use it in the kitchen and on the table.

Community Fund Has $17,083 Credit Balance

Peterborough War Services and Com u ity Fund had to its credit Wednesday this week a bank balance of $17,083.33 from its receipts in subscriptions and donations amounting to $124,532.81, and after disbursements ha. been made to the total of $107,449.48, as shown in the statement by the treasurer, T. A. MacKay, at the annual meeting of the organization in the city council chamber last night.

The financial survey which was presented to the meeting was confined to the period from January 15, 1941, to December 31, 1941, reporting a credit of $1[illegible],459.77 in the Bank of Montreal, but outstanding subscriptions received since the end of last year had improved the balance on April 8, to $17,083.33.

The campaign for funds a year ago had resulted in contributions and subscriptions approximately $130,000, but Judge S. L. Smoke, chairman, explaine that some of those who had subscribed had enlisted, others had left Peterborough for other work, and a few perhaps had undertaken to give more than they could contribute. The difference between the total of pledges and payments, on the one hand, and total receipts on the other, was in excess of $5,000.

Annual Statement.

The statements of receipts and disbursements up to the end of last December was submitted as follows:

Subscriptions and donations—$120,639.82—(Receipts).

Disbursements:

National War Services	$50,000
Canadian Red Cross Society	30,000
Canadian Institute for the Blind	1,500
Y.M.C.A.	8,500
Y.W.C.A.	7,200
Victorian Order of Nurses	2,000
Navy League of Canada	2,000
Children's Aid Society	2,000
St. Vincent's Orphanage	1,300
Kiwanis Club, Recreational Hostel	500
These sums amounted to	$105,000
Salaries, office	$650.00
Salaries, clerical help in campaign	162.70
Advertising campaign	572.08
Supplies, campaign	278.58
Advertising, general	88.64
Postage and excise stamps	105.88
Office expense	170.45
Telephone	111.72
Insurance and sundries	40.00
Total of these items	$2,180.05
Bank balance December 31, 1941	$13,459.77

The statement was audited by Edward Humpage. The public may be interested in the fact that receipts since the first of this year have increased the total from $120,639.82 as of December 31 last to $124,532.81 this week.

Those attending last night's meeting included His Honor Judge Smoke, presiding; Alderman J. E. Sullivan, secretary; T. A. MacKay, treasurer; G. S. Matthews, W. Chris Hughes, R. M. Glover, Mayor Hamilton, W. A. Richardson, F. J. Wolff, C. E. LaBranche, Alderman Dutton, Mrs R. H. Turner, Miss Mary Ross, Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, Mrs. A. W. Turner, Mrs. J. E. Wharry, Miss R. Young, Miss L. Brownscombe, and Miss O. Sanderson.

Directors For 1942.

Directors appointed for 1942 were: Charles H. Elliott, representing the Victorian Order of Nurses; Mrs. Wharry for the Children's Aid Society; Mr. Richardson, Y.M.C.A.; Mrs. Kenner, Y.W.C.A.; Mr. Wolff, St. Vincent's Orphanage; Ernest Braund, Salvation Army; Percy Moore, Navy League of Canada; Mr. Hughes, Canadian Institute for the Blind; Mrs. R. H. Turner for the Red Cross Society; and representatives of the public generally: Mayor Hamilton, J. R. Corkery, G. S. Matthews, R. M. Glover, Alderman Dutton, R. L. Dobbin, Mrs. Paige Rowell, Ian F. McCrea, George A. Macdonald, J. E. Sullivan, T. A. MacKay.

Judge Smoke announced his wish and intention to retire from active association with the fund, saying that the executive wa of the opinion that a joint campaign for the Canadian Red Cross Society and the Peterborough Community Fund should be held this year, but the Department at Ottawa had not definitely signified its approval to this proposal. "It will therefore be necessary for me to retire," His Honor stated. "We endeavored to persuade the power at Ottawa and the Red Cross that there should be a joint campaign here," for the Red Cross and the Community Fund. He paid a tribute to the members of the executive of the fund for their work throughout the year. "I know they have all tried to do a good job, and I believe the general public thinks so, too."

Judge Smoke remarked that last October the director of National War Services had intimated in a letter that Peterborough could have a joint campaign, but the project "has not been definitely approved."

Another letter from the director of War Services suggested that the grant to the Kiwanis Club should be increased, but W. A. Richardson remarked that Kiwanis Club did not want any more money for that purpose, that the $500 from the fund was only as an aid in setting up the Recreational Centre for soldiers, and it was now self-supporting.

Alderman Sullivan reported that he had recently interviewed Dr. E. W. Stapleford, director of Voluntary Services of the Department of National War Service, in Ottawa, and his attitude was to the effect that the Department had no objection to the distribution of the funds on hand as the executive might decide.

"We discussed a joint campaign for local charities and the Red Cross," Alderman Sullivan said, "and Dr. Stapleford said War Charities would be satisfied."

Mr. Matthews suggested that for local community purposes the objective of a campaign should be $25,000. Peterborough has not yet been informed of the amount the city is to be asked to contribute to the Canadian Red Cross Society during its national appeal beginning May 11.

In moving a vote of thanks to the executive of the fund, especially Judge Smoke, Mr. MacKay, Mr. Sullivan and Miss Sanderson, Alderman Dutton said Peterborough was fortunate in the men who had been appointed to administer the large amount of money subscribed.

"A community fund had been talked about for several years," Alderman Dutton said, "but it never got beyond the talking stage. It then remained for certain men to get behind the idea, and their efforts resulted in bringing it to a very successful issue. The objective was far exceeded. Our factories all participated, and in some cases they contributed more than was asked. The substantial credit we still have is evidence of the wisdom of the men who guided the fund."

Alderman Dutton also referred to the capable office work performed by Miss Sanderson. Mayor Hamilton seconded the resolution.

Judge Smoke deprecated any special mention of "what little I had to do. I attended the meetings, and if I was personally to be of any guidance I am glad. I would like to thank all the members of the executive for their advice at the meetings, and also on behalf of the public to thank the executive to the time they have this community work."

Mrs. R. H. Turner said the executive of the Red Cross Society had recently decided on a joint campaign, "and I hope no objection will be put in the way of our going ahead with it."

A motion by Mr. Richardson, seconded by Mr. Hughes, authorized a meeting of the executive for the election of officers Tuesday next at 5 p.m. Budgets will be discussed at the meeting.

Food Advances

WASHINGTON, April 10—(AP).—Retail food prices rose 1.5 per cent from mid-February to mid-March, the United States Labor Department announced today, to the point where it cost $1.20 to buy the food which sold for $1 a year ago. The increase in the average of all goods was due particularly the Department said, to large gains in prices for pork, fruit and canned vegetables.

Women's Club Hold Successful High Tea

PORT HOPE, April 9.—(ENS).—A most successful high tea was held by the Women's Club of St. Marks Anglican church on Thursday, April 9. The decorations were carried out in spring flowers, while the large table was centred with snapdragons. Tea was poured by Mrs. W. C. Brown, Mrs. Jacobs and Miss Sanderson, while Mrs. J. Freestone was the general convener.

Tea room assistants were Mrs. W. Cork, Mrs Elmer Smith, Mrs. Ryons, Mrs. Lynfoote and Mrs. R. Dawley.

Mrs. A. G. Dawson was in charge of the finances, while a most mysterious touch and take table was in charge of Mrs. H. Nixon.

A display of most appetizing home-made cooking and talent table articles were sold by Mr. Groom.

Much credit goes to the kitchen committee of Mrs. Peele, Mrs. Hope, Mrs. H. Taylor and Mrs. Rawser.

No Night Visits

NEW YORK, April 10—(AP).—As a war emergency measure, night visiting periods in the city's 27 municipal hospitals will be banned beginning next Tuesday. Dr. Edward M. Bernecker, commissioner of hospitals, said the change would enable hospital staffs to give their full attention to the sick and injured in event of a night air raid.

Won Cup Early 'Peg 61st Squad

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 10.—(CP)—The Canadian Army has a fine record in this war, but in at least one respect it can't touch the Canadian Army of the First Great War. Here it is the end of the thrid wartime winter and the armed services still are trying for their first Allan Cup.

The Ottawa R.C.A.F. Flyers have entered the Canadian senior hockey final, and probably will be favored over the western champions when the Allan Cup is laid on the line. But in that other war the Winnipeg 61st Battalion won the Allan Cup in the second winter of war, defeating Winnipeg Monarchs in a two-games, total-goals final.

A comparison between the Winnipeg 61st and the Ottawa Flyers is an interesting one. The cream of the hockey crops of that time drifted into the 61st and the same cries were raised that have been used in small-talk against the Flyers: That the team was packed. Professional hockey of those other days was strictly a baby and high salaries were paid only to bank managers and railroad engineers. So although of the same calibre as Flyers, most of the 61st players had been amateurs.

Two Turned Pro

Bullet Joe Simpson and Spunk Sparrow roughly correspond to the type of hockey player Ottawa has in Milt Schmidt and Porky Dumart. Both played professional after the war and Bullet Joe dropped out of active competition only about 10 years ago after playing in every professional league on the continent. Bullet Joe's last enterprise was a four-team league at Coral Gables, Fla. It was not world-beating success and has folded.

Bobby Morrison played goal for the 61st with Roddy Smith, Simpson, Jocko Anderson, Sparrow, Alf and Crutchy Morrison and Alex Romeril other members of the team. It was an outstanding team and Winnipeg Monarchs didn't stand a chance, losing 5-1 and 8-2. Monarchs were good, too. Clem Loughlin, former manager of Chicago Black Hawks, was one of the players. Dick Irvine, who needs no introduction, was another.

NOTICE

By-law Closing Beauty Shops and Hairdressing Parlours

The Council of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough passed on April 7th, 1942, By-law Number 4238, entitled, "A By-law to Provide for the Closing of Beauty Shops and Hairdressing Parlours in the City of Peterborough During Certain Hours."

This By-law was passed under Part II of the Factory Shop and Office Building Act, R.S.O. 1937, Chapter 194 in consequence of a petition signed by the required number of owners of such businesses as provided by By-law No. 3114.

By-law No. 4238 provides.—

(1) That all beauty shops and hairdressing parlours in the City shall close and remain closed on each Wednesday during the months of November and December in each year at 12.30 o'clock in the afternoon except Wednesday in any week in which a statutory holiday occurs.

(2) Penalties are provided for violations of the By-law.

(3 The By-law takes effect on the 16th day of April, 1942.

E. A. OUTRAM,
City Clerk.

Dated at Peterborough
This 9th day of April,
1942.

ON AND AFTER THIS DATE, WEDnesday, April 8th, 1942, I will not be responsible for any Debts incurred in my name without my signature. — James Stave, 12 Kenneth Avenue.

Reducing Easy on Low-Calorie Diet

Pounds Melt on Good Meals

"Guess I'll put off dieting until tomorrow," sighs Mrs. Stout, weakening at the sight of so many goodies.

"Come, come," smiles Sally Slim. "No need to dread reducing. If you learn your calories as I did, you can enjoy your food and still regain your girlish figure."

It's simple to substitute tasty low-calory treats for rich fattening ones. When you know a strawberry sundae has 250 calories, a piece of French pastry, 300 calories—you promptly say no to them. You choose fresh strawberries, 60, and a piece of sponge cake, 100 calories.

And your regular meals can be appetizing. Here's a typical reducing dinner—1 serving lean sirloin steak, a good helping of string beans, 1 baked stuffed tomato, a tasty cottage cheese salad with reducer's dressing, and for dessert a slice of fresh pineapple. Only 455 calories!

Cut calories, lose two pounds a week comfortably! Our 32-page booklet gives 42 low-calory menus based on your vitamin and mineral requirements. Has calory chart, a three-day liquid diet to start reducing. Tells how to gain, too.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps for your copy of "The New Way To a Youthful Figure" to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

SAVE HIS GUESSING

WHENEVER YOU can play your own cards so as to prevent your partner from having to guess in his own play, it is your duty to do so. When starting a high-low signal on the first trick causes him to repeat the suit, even in a case where your side makes no positive gain thereby, you at least keep him from making a shift which may present a trick to the declarer. Unless you are pretty sure that he will make a shift which will not harm your side, you must guide him away from trouble.

North: ♠ 7 6 5 4 ♥ K 5 ♦ Q J 4 ♣ 7 6 5 4

West: ♠ Q 8 2 ♥ 2 ♦ A K 10 7 5 3 ♣ Q 10 3

East: ♠ 10 9 3 ♥ J 9 8 6 3 ♦ 8 2 ♣ A K 9

South: ♠ A K J ♥ A Q 10 7 4 ♦ 9 6 ♣ J 8 2

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	2 ♦	Pass	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	Pass	Dbl

On the diamond K lead, East played his 2. A momentary glance, showing him the Q in dummy, had caused him to decide not to encourage repeat of the suit, whereas it should have done quite the contrary, if anything, to get that honor knocked off by a small trump before it could be of use, late in the hand, but more importantly to keep West from guessing about which black suit he should shift to.

West decided that card was not a singleton, but probably from a trebleton, so shifted to the spade 2. The J therefore gained a gratuitous trick. When South led the diamond 9 to the A and East followed suit, West saw he should lead a third one to the Q. Flabbergasted by his own bad play to the opener, which already had cost him a trick, East now made another mistake, ruffing the Q with the heart 3, so that South could over-ruff with the 4. The heart K, finessed heart 10, heart A and Q and the two spade tops made a total of eight tricks for South, giving him his doubled contract.

If East had used the diamond 8 on the first trick, West would next have taken the K and led the 7 to the Q. A ruff of that by the 8 would have forced the 10, assuring East a trump trick. Together with a spade trick and five in the minors, this would have made a total of seven and set the contract two tricks.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ J 5 2 ♥ J 9 6 3 ♦ K 10 4 ♣ 6 4 2

West: ♠ Q 7 ♥ K Q 10 8 2 ♦ Q 6 5 ♣ Q J 9

East: ♠ A 10 8 4 3 ♥ A 4 ♦ A J 9 7 ♣ 10 8

South: ♠ K 9 6 ♥ 8 7 ♦ 8 3 2 ♣ A K 7 5 3

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

After winning the third club lead, how should West plan to make 3-No Trumps on this deal if South had overcalled with 2-Clubs during the auction and North finally had doubled the contract?

Building In a Hurry

PORTLAND, Ore., April 10 (AP)—The U.S.S. Annoy, minesweeper, was launched by the Commercial Iron Works yesterday and only a few hours later 80 per cent of the hull of the succeeding vessel was on the ways. The second vessel's hull had been built in sections which were swung into place after the Annoy slid into the Willamette River.

Quebec MP's 5-1 In Call For No Ballots

QUEBEC, April 10—(CP).—The Legislative Assembly is expected to continue to-day a debate on what attitude members of the Provincial Lower House should take toward the Dominion government manpower plebiscite April 27.

Yesterday one member called for an affirmative vote and five others said they woud give a negative vote. Two members did not commit themselves.

Alexis Carbon (Lib.-Hull) who resumed the debate, which had been left pending since Rene Chalout (Lib.-Lotbiniere), presented a motion several weesk ago colling on the House to express the opinion that electors of the province should be advised to vote in the negative and that farmers and farm employees should be exempt from military service whatsoever.

Mr. Caron did not say how he would vote, but presented an amendment to the motion which urged that members of the House and citizens of the province be allowed to express their opinions on the plebiscite in "absolute liberty."

The amendment urged that the House not express an opinion as a body and that the Federal government's policy concerning "workers of the soil" be supported.

DOMEI reported today that 63 diplomatic and consular officials captured at Hong Kong would be sent home under an exchange agreement Japan has reached with the United States and Britain. Forty-nine of the group are Americans, four are Canadians, two Netherlands, five Belgiums, and three Norwegians, Domei said.

Mrs. W. T. Harris Keene Speaker

KEENE, April 10—(ENS). — On Saturday at the United church manse Edwin James Fife was married to Emma Taylor, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Murray. After a motor trip the couple will live on the groom's farm in Otonabee.

The church services held at Keene United Church Friday and Easter Sunday were well attended, when special music and sermons were presented. On Sunday the music consisted of two quartets and one anthem. The sermon was based on "Christ's Victory over the powers of sin and death."

On Sunday, April 12th, at 8 p.m., the Women's Missionary Society will hold the Easter thank offering service in the church. Mrs. T. W. president of Peterborough Presbyterial, will be the special speaker. A ladies choir will provide special music. All members of the six groups are expected to be present.

Urge Blackout Every Night To Save Power

TORONTO, April 10—(CP).— W. Lynn Miller (Lib. Algoma-Manitoulin) will resume the budget debate in the Ontario Legislatue today and there is every possibility the House will sit tonight in an effort to bring the debate to a close. If this is accomplished prorogation is expected early next week.

During second reading of bills yesterday, Lt.-Col. George A. Drew persuaded the government to accept his suggestion and refer to a special committee the Active Service Voters Bill and relative amendments as they affect the Voters Act and the Election Act.

Premier Hepburn, accepting the suggestion of the Opposition Leader, named a committe of seven to consider the measure today.

Personnel of the committee is as follows: Attorney-General Gordon Conant, sponsor of the measure; Ian Strachan (Lib. Toronto St. Patrick); James Cooper (Lib. Sudbury); John W. Freeborn (Lib. Middlesex North); Leopold Macaulay (Con. York South); L. M. Frost (Con. Victoria) and Coldwin C. Elgie (Con. Toronto Woodbine). It will meet tomorrow.

In addition to the Active Service Voters Bill, the committee will consider relating amendments to the Voters Act and the Election Act.

The bill, sponsored by Attorney-General Gordon Conant, provides for the exercise of the franchise by all members of the armed forces, regardless of age or where stationed and authorizes the taking of votes by proxy.

Col. Drew, stressing that those in the armed forces more than any other group should have facilities for voting, stressed the drastic nature of proxy voting.

It was because of this, Col. Drew said, that he believed the bill would get the attention it merited if dealt with by committee first rather than by the whole house.

He also said the provision defining "forces" took in a wide group of people, many of whom in Ontario and in Canada should vote by ballot rather than proxy.

"It is creating a precedent on an important subject," he continued. "It may be used in an election or it may not be used."

Nightly Blackout?

Speaking before the orders of the day, Col. Drew urged the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission to order a complete blackout every night if necessary to alleviate the power shortage situation.

The Conservative leader quoted at length from a Washington despatch which said Canada had advised the United States it had not enough power for the manufacture of aluminum, magnesium and newsprint needed by the latter country.

"This raises an issue which we must face in a way that we must prepare to conquer," Col. Drew said. "If this report is correct, and no doubt it is, we are faced with an extremely critical situation in the production of such important war materials as nickel, aluminum, magnesium and also newsprint.

"It cannot be adequately met by urging users to replace their 60-watt bulbs by 25-watt ones or by extinguishing electric signs.

"If a blackout is necessary to meet the situation we should have a blackout, for our very lives are at stake."

The Conservative leader suggested the Hydro Commission take a stand independent of the power controller, H. J. Symington, and advise industries manufacturing non-essential articles that there will be no more power available to them.

"Now is the time for Ontario to show it is prepared to act and give the whole country the necessary leadership that will bring about a sense of the deep real danger which actually exists."

Read To Cooperate

Hon. W. L. Houck, vice-chairman of the Hydro Commission, and member for Niagara Falls, said the Commission was in the hands of Mr. Symington and was prepared to cooperate with him to the limit.

"Last fall we obtained 100,000 more horsepower for war plants by reducing the supply to other industries," he said.

He assured the opposition leader that the Commission was prepared to take care of the loads for any war plants.

Col. Drew then said he did not believe the power controller would interfere with the Commission if it went ahead independently and acted as he suggested.

"Let the Commission take steps that will be drastic enough to let the public know we are at war."

Prior to the Conservative leader's original remarks, Mr. Houck said that restrictions on the use of power would definitely come into effect by October at the latest.

These restrictions would consist of banning the use of illuminated signs; reduction in street lighting and an educational campaign to show the users how and when to conserve power.

The sale of new hot water [illegible]rs already has been stopped but [illegible]se already in use will not be interfered with. Users will also be asked to replace 60-watt bulbs with those of 25-watt.

"I am sure the people will cooperate with us in this serious problem," Mr. Houck added.

The vice-chairman said he had no report to make on the progress of the St. Lawrence Waterway development project.

"We're waiting day by day to hear the good news from Washington that it has been ratified there," Mr. Houck said.

Canada's Power Shortage To Slash Newsprint Output For Aluminum

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 10 (CP).— A serious power shortage in Canada is forcing the United States to choose between increased shipments of aluminum, carbide, magnesium and nickel required for American war industries and maintaining its imports of newsprint from the Dominion, it was learned here to-day.

The decision has been put up to the War Production Board by Canadian government authorities who have frankly told American officials they cannot have the increased shipments of wartime metals they require and maintain the volume of newsprint because power resources in Canada will not permit both to be done.

At Avida, Que., Canada is producing 43 per cent. of the aluminum manufactured in North America. Production in this plant, the largest in the world, has been doubled since the outbreak of war and still the United States wants more aluminum.

At the same time Canada is starting a big magnesium program with one plant in Quebec already in production and another in Ontario being built.

Carbide is being produced in big volume in Shawinigan, Que., but, like aluminum and magnesium, the United States wants more Canadian production to be used in its $60,000,000,000 war program. As explained here, the result of Canada's vast wartime industrial development has been to produce a power shortage, particularly in Quebec and Ontario.

Canada is willing to ship more aluminum, magnesium and carbide to the United States but it can be done only by shutting down some non-essential plant such as a newsprint mill and diverting the power to the metals plant.

Aluminum, magnesium and carbide require vast quantities of hydro electric power in their manufacture. So does newsprint.

H. J. Symington, Canadian power controller, has held at least three conferences here with officials of the war production board and the federal power commission in an effort to persuade them to choose between newsprint production and the metals required in tre American war effort.

Meanwhile, it is understood here that Canada will develop more power on the Ottawa and Gatineau rivers and perhaps at Niagara but it may be two, more likely three, years before it will be available for industrial purposes.

The Canadian power shortage and its effect on the United States, particularly on the export of power to New York state, may hasten a decision by the United States on the development of the power resources of the St. Lawrence river. But is is agreed here that at least three years, probably four, must elapse before the international rapids section of the river can be harnessed for industrial pupposes.

For many years Canadian pulp mills, some of them owned by American newspapers, have supplied the bulk of the newsprint imported by the United States. This has been one of Canada's most lucrative trades, involving millions of dollars a year.

War Fund Soars

TORONTO, April 10 — (CP). — The Toronto Telegram British War Victims' Fund, which started with a $10 donation on September 11, 1940, reached $1,504,337 yesterday, and the 70th remittance—this time for £4,000—was sent to the Lord Mayor's National Air Raid Distress Fund in London.

It was estimated to-day that 1,500,000 persons in the United States and Canada have contributed to the fund, pouring into it an average of more than $3,000 every publishing day since it was founded.

YOU can help by conserving coal. Keeping Canada's war production at full speed takes fuel, and plenty of it!

Everything you do to conserve fuel is another blow for victory. Find out how you can cut down your heating bills—in your own interest, and in the national defence!

TEN/TEST Rigid Board Insulation is one way to conserve fuel, and a very economical way too! Not only does it insulate against the loss of costly heat through walls and roof, but it stands as a rigid barrier between the cold wintry weather and your home comfort.

If you plan to build or remodel, make sure to choose the insulation that gives the maximum service on all counts . . . It should be strong and brace the building against strains and stresses . . . It should seal the walls and ceiling against winds and drafts . . . It should stay "put" and not settle or seep and leave uninsulated spaces within the walls.

TEN/TEST meets all these requirements—and more. That's why it is often referred to as the "Balanced Insulation". It has all the important insulation requirements combined in one product, and in proper balance. Moreover, TEN/TEST is a lifetime insulation—not just this year—but for the life of the building. MOSCOW WARNS TOKYO OF INVASION BLABBERING

Big Jap Fleet Prowling Bengal Bay

Laced By RAF Till Every Plane Down

Dunkirk, Bismarck Hero Somerville In Charge, 3 Ships Loss No Smirch

LONDON, April 13.—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill disclosed today that the Japanese are operating in the Bay of Bengal with powerful naval forces headed by at least three battleships and five aircraft carriers and including heavy and light cruisers and several flotillas of destroyers.

Reporting to the House of Commons on the loss of the aircraft carrier Hermes and the cruisers Dorsetshire and Cornwall, whose sinking by Japanese bombers in the Bay of Bengal was announced last week, the Prime Minister said the Japanese battleships there included at least one of the modernized, 16-inch Nagato type of 32,720 tons.

It was against this vastly superior force headed for Ceylon, he disclosed that the Hermes, Dorsetshire and Cornwall were preparing to make their stand when they were sent to the bottom by Japanese bombs.

The Prime Minister said that the commander of the interceptor force, whose hastily gathered fleet of big and little ships rescued the British Expeditionary force from Dunkirk and who helped stalk the German battleship Bismarck to her end in the Atlantic, had done nothing to "weaken the confidence of the Admiralty in his judgment.

The appointment of Admiral Somerville as commander in chief of Britain's Eastern fleet was announced by the Admiralty on the heils of Mr. Churchill's statement.

Storm Clouds Save Japs

Mr. Churchill said thunderstorms and low-hanging clouds which enveloped the Japanese aircraft carriers and warships interfered with British counter-attacks by air.

Nevertheless, he asserted, British bombers, torpedo planes and fighters pressed the attack until all available planes had been knocked out.

Must Take Risks

"Many scores" of British ships are at sea every day without air protection, he went on, adding that "unless these risks are taken there is no means of carrying on the immense business of convoy and sea war which falls upon the Royal Navy."

Turning to the Malayan campaign, the spokesman disclosed that a full report now has been received from Lt.-Gen. Gordon Bennett, commander of the participating Australian forces, but said it was not suitable for publication.

The government is not satisfied with the final facts assembled on the Malayan campaign, he declared, but is continuing to gather more data from whatever authoritative sources become available.

Commenting on the attitude of the natives during the Malayan campaign, he said:

"All my information is to the effect the people of Malaya were thoroughly friendly."

Dr. Vishenvsky said when nerves taken from dead bodies and persons killed in accidents are properly treated after removal they can be preserved indefinitely.

No Conscription Likely Now Thorson States

TORONO, April 13—(CP).—The government will not hesitate to use compulsion if that is found necessary to increase the totality of Canada's war effort, War Services Minister Thorson said today in an address to the Canadian Club of Toronto.

Mr. Thorson, after reviewing Canada's part in the war to date, urged release of the government, through a "yes" vote in the plebiscite to be held April 27.

He said he personally saw no need at present for conscription and little value in it but "in this rapidly changing world no one can foretell what steps may have to be taken."

"Although the outlook today is far from bright and although reverse after reverse has met both British and American forces, I believe that we now can speak with greater sincerity of ultimate victory than we could six months ago," he said in outlining the general war picture.

"I do not seek to minimize in any degree the extreme gravity of the present situation. Nevertheless, the fact remains, if only we realize it in time that the whole character of the war has changed.

"This is not a British war, this is no longer a European war, this is a world war for freedom for all the world."

"Canada is one of the United Nations and must shape he course accordingly," the minister continued. "We must not think of the Canadian war effort as aid to Britain but rather as our country's contribution to the common cause—as part of the world effort to save liberty for all the world."

Three main objectives which Canada had to meet were production of

Pinch Vichy As Nazis See 2nd Front

Demand Petain Line Up To Protect Rear For Drive Into East

BERNE Switzerland, April 13 — (AP). — Marshal Philippe Petain and former Vice-Premier Pierre Laval were reported to-day to have conferred three times since Saturday in an Axis-prompted renewal of negotiations for increased French-German collaboration. Neutral dispatches from Berlin said the moves were inspired by Nazi fears of an Allied offensive against German-occupied Western Europe.

Informed diplomatic sources said the Marshal and his pro-Axis former assistant met for the third time to-day in preparation for what German dispatches said might be reorganization of the Vichy Government, probably to-morrow.

Their conversations, these dispatches declared, concerned fresh efforts by Laval, aided by the German envoy in Paris, Otto Abetz, to get back into the Vichy Cabinet, revise procedure of the Riom trial of responsibility for Frances military defeat and reduce Anglo-American influence in Vichy, particularly before Germany's longawaited spring offensive against the Soviets begins.

"The Reich government, especially the army command, would like to be assured of a protected rear before starting an offensive in the East," a dispatch from Berlin said.

The Germans apparently mustered all their French collaborationist aides in the new attempt to push Laval back into a Cabinet position after their first effort met stubborn refusal from Petain on April 3.

Meal Price Limited

LONDON, April 13—(CP).—The government decided today to limit the price of meals served in hotels and restaurants. The limits in each case were not announced.

Sale of fish, game and poultry in hotels on specified days also is to be prohibited.

Decision to limit the prices of meals followed a public protest against blackmarketing which, it was said, made much of its profit from the patronage of luxury clubs and hotels.

WheatNotNeededToHelpWinWar Grow Other Grains Is Plea To West

WINNIPEG, April 13—(CP).—Donald Gordon, chairman of Canada's Wartime Prices and Trade Board, in a speech here today, urged Western farmers to produce the kind of crops which are essential to the war effort, telling them "wheat is not needed to help win the war—bu' practically anything else the West can grow or produce is needed."

He told a Canadian Club meeting that the immediate war job of agriculture is to remedy Canada's deficiency in vegetable oils and fats by converting wheat lands wherever possible into the growing of coarse grains and to step up production of hogs, cattle, sheep, eggs and dairy products.

The man who directs Canada's price ceiling plan declared "the immediate challenge to the ability and patriotism of the Western farmer is to secure the greatest possible production of things which are needed."

He added "that is very definitely the war job of Western Canada and I am convinced that a sound understanding of the importance of that job is all that is needed to get results."

Mr. Gordon described as "wholly false' suggestions that he or the

Feeling The Pinch

ISTANBUL, April 13 — (CP).—The Germans have completed 50 to 60 new military airports in Bulgaria — some of them only a few minutes' flying time from Turkey—and the Nazis now are convinced the neighboring country is satisfactory for use as an advanced air base, a recently arrived skilled observer reported.

This informant said he did not believe there was any immediate threat to Turkey, however, because of a German lack of planes, crewmen and fuel. He added that heavy training of new Bulgarian pilots and advanced courses for others have been halted by a shortage of gasoline.

Japs Now 55 Mi. Off Burma's Main Oil Field

NEW DELHI April 13 — (CP).— A British Headquarters communique on the Burma Front fighting said to-day a Japanese column was reported to be advancing up the main road from Sinbaungwe, 70 miles north of Prome.

Sinbaungwe is on the east bank of the Irrawaddy River about 55 miles south of the vital Yenanyaung oil fields of Inner Burma.

There were no details of any action as the invaders, advancing inland from captured Rangoon, moved still closer to the oil resources.

On the opposite end of the United Nations line, where the Chinese hold the Eastern anchor, reports yesterday said Chiang Kai-Shek's stalwart fighters were standing their ground along the Sittang River, 30 miles north of Tonugoo, in the face of a Japanese attack supported by planes and concentrated artillery fire.

Chiang, it was announced, has returned to his capital after spending four days aa the Burma Front conferring with Lt.-Gen. Joseph Stilwell who commands the Chinese in Burma, and Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, the British commander.

Red Sappers Use Flood To Capture Town; Nazi Reinforcements Half Trained Boche Air Edge Reported On The Wane

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer.

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 13—(AP).—Striking at what was called "blabbering" in Japanese "military and Fascist cliques" about war in the north, Soviet Russia today observed the first anniversary of the signing of the Japanese-Russian neutrality pact by warning Tokyo to live up to all ramifications of the agreement.

The pact was signed in Moscow on Easter Sunday of last year.

The vehicle of the warning today was an editorial in Pravda, organ of the central committee of the Communist party.

Although not belligerent in tone, the editorial spoke in firm phrases.

"It is necessary," Pravda said, "that the Japanese military and Fascist cliques who are dizzy on military successes should understand that their blabbering about war and invasion in the north might damage first of all the most of all Japan herself."

The editorial came while both the Japanese Ambassador, Naotake Sato, and the new United States Ambassador, Admiral William Standley, were in Moscow to present their credentials.

The Japanese-Russian pact, a triumph scored by the then Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, on his way home from discussions in Berlin and Rome, said that each party undertook to respect the other's territorial inviolability and that each would remain neutral in case one of the signatories was the "object of military action on the part of one or several

In Jap Cross Fire Corregidor Still Has Sting

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP).—The United States War Department reported to-day that Corregidor's gunners sank a number of small Japanese boats and kept enemy air raiders so high over the Philippine island fortresses that bombs in a series of new raids caused only minor damage.

A communique said the Japanese boats were in the harbor of the fishing village of Marvilles at the tip of the abandoned Bataan peninsula. Several were set afire in addition to those sunk.

Meanwhile, communication between Corregidor and Cebu was cut off for the last 48 hours and Lt.-Gen. Jonathan Wainwright was unable to report on efforts to beat off an invasion of the central Philippine island, more than 302 miles south of Corregidor.

The communique reported belatedly the sinking by enemy action of two army freight ships, the Liberty and the Meigs, both of which went down in the Southern Pacific.

The Liberty was torpedoed twice by an enemy submarine Jan. 11 when 12 miles from the Netherlands Indies Island of Bali. No lives were lost. The vessel was beached and 53 crew men and one passenger were rescued by Dutch planes, some being flown to Surabaya,, and others to Bali.

Prepared To Kill, Won't Enlist

WEST CHESTERFIELD, Mass., April 13 (AP)—Armed with a shotgun, and asserting he would resist arrest on any ordinary grounds, Gregory Carhart, 29-year-old engineering school graduate, today awaited federal action on his refusal to appear for a physical examination for his scheduled induction into the army.

His draft board said Carhart twice had refused to report, saying that although he was not a Pacifist, he felt this war was being fought for an unjust cause.

To interviewers, Carhart said he would submit to arrest only if he were to be charged with "treason punishable by death."

Meanwhile, the draft board announced it had sent a delinquency report to U.S. Attorney Edmund J. Brandon at Boston, who was expected to decide today what action would be taken.

Carhart, talking with interviewers in his self-built panelled hilltop cabin, kept his single barrelled shotgun in the crook of his arm, a spare shell clipped to the breech, and asserted he was willing to explain his position to any official who came to talk peaceably with him, but added that he would meet force with force.

LONDON, April 13 — (CP). — Harry Hopkins, adviser of President Roosevelt and his lend-lease expert, held a long conference today with the Russian Ambassador, Ivan Maisky, at the United States Embassy.

Mr. Hopkins will confer to-night with Prime Minister Churchill and probably present the results of the interview with Maisky.

Gen. George Marshall, United States Army Chief of Staff, was at the Embassy frequently during the day, but did not participate in the talks with the Russian diplomat.

Hoarded Hun Currency to Crack Morale

Realization They Can't Win To Start Wave Of Buying—Sure To Affect Troops

By WILLIAM FERRIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, April 13 —(AP)—Dr. Melchior Palyi, former economic advisor to the Reichsbank, central bank of Germany, said in an interview today that hoarded currency in Germany constitutes a potential source of collapse for German morale.

Commenting on reports from Berne, Switzerland, that bank note circulation in Germany had increased substantially, Dr. Palyi said this indicated hoarding rather than any inflationary rush to convert cash into goods.

Dr. Palyi, one-time chief economist of the Deutsche Bank in Berlin, largest continental banking institution, entered the United States in 1933, became an American citizen and is visiting professor of economics at the University of Wisconsin.

The Berne reports said that foreign economists, noting the rising signs of inflation in Germany, said that Reichsbank statements showed an increase in bank-note circulation from 11,789,000,000 marks at the end of 1939 to 19,443,000,000 marks at the end of February, 1942.

"German people are hoarding this currency," Dr. Palyi said, "and are not using much of it to bid up the prices of necessities. Those prices are controlled, and it is a capital offence to break price-control laws. Actually, there has been a smaller rise in prices of necessities in Germany since 1939 than in the United States, even though this country has far larger stocks of goods.

"Prices of non-essential goods in Germany, however, have risen precipitously. Books are extremely expensive, and such items as furniture, jewelry and paintings have practically disappeared from the market.

"It is not only price control laws, however, which encourage hoarding. Germans hoard because they think their money will be worth more after the war, on the assumption that Germany will win. Then, with the loot of all conquered countries available, the Germans believe they will be able to obtain more goods for their money than they can now.

"But is is in this situation that the danger lies. As soon as the German people believe they cannot win the war, they will rush to buy. Everyone will be bidding up the prices of food, clothing and other essentials, and all the price control laws in the world will not stop it. After all, you can't decapitate half the population.

"That will constitute the collapse of German morale. It will happen behind the front lines, but is certain to have a profound influence upon soldiers doing the fighting.

"Unless Germany is successful in pushing Russia out of a substantial part of Europe this summer, it is very possible that the rush to get rid of money, with its consequent collapse in morale, will develop late this autumn."

Farmers Battling Lewis

Groups In 4 States See Him After Food Control

NEW YORK, April 13—(AP)—The New York Times says under an Ithaca, N. Y., dateline that strong farm groups in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Vermont have consolidated to combat a drive by John L. Lewis to organize dairy farmers.

The coalition was credited in the fear that Lewis' campaign might set off a "civil war" in the New York milkshed the paper says.

It adds that the anti-Lewis offensive is being carried on by a non-profit membership corporation called "Free Farmers, Inc", whose theory is that Lewis seeks control of the food supply of the United States as a means of elevating himself to dictatorial power. The organization pledges its members to "fight to the end" any attempt to bring farmers or farm product marketing under domination of Lewis united mine workers.

The Times says that the organization whose members must pledge to aid a threatened fellow-farmer, will pay members up to $10,000 for damage caused to their farms by "strike, riot, civil commotion or malicious mischief."

Given 25 Years

CALGARY, April 13 — (CP). — Convicted of a satutory offense, John Morley, 26, today will start a term of 25 years, with hard labor, in penitentiary. He was sentenced yesterday by Mr. Justice W. C. Ives after he was found guilty by an assize jury of an attack on a 13-year-old Ogden girl near her home last Jan. 12.

Mountbatten In Charge

Heads All Commando Raids—Canucks Included

LONDON, April 13—(CP Cable).— Mystery figure of the commandos for months, Lord Louis Mountbattan, announced by Prime Minister Churchill today as chief of Britain's combined operations, was the man behind the raids on Vaagso, Lofoten, Bruneval and St. Nazaire.

The appointment had been a service secret until now, but the operations forces, which included Canadians, privately made no secret of their pride that "Mounbattan of the Iuustrious," and the King's cousin, was their boss.

After succeeding the organizer Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, Lord Louis went to bat for the commandos, keen and ready for raids along Europe's sprawling coast.

Vaagso was his particular interest for weeks. He fought opposition until he got permission to make the raid, a naval officer well informed on the background said. Lord Louis took a leading part in planning the minute detail. Other raids followed with equal success.

In his new command he holds the

AXIS ARSENALS IN GERMANY AND ITALY ARE POUNDED BY R.A.F.

Turin Arsenal Takes RAF Beating

Krupps Plastered In 45th Raid As Air Stabs Step Up

LONDON, April 13 — (CP). — Britain's far-ranging bombers pounded at Axis arsenals in Germany and Italy early to-day in a bombing offensive designed to smash the equipment of many German divisions before it is able to leave the factories.

The Royal Arsenal at Turin where munitions are produced, was reported to have been one of the main targets of the raid against Berlin's Axis partner. It was the first raid on Turin since September and the 16th since Italy entered the war in 1940.

An authoritative source said the attack on Italy was carried out without the loss of a single bomber on the 1,500-mile round trip.

The Krupp works at Essen, Germany, were one of the objectives in the 45th raid on that Ruhr manufacturing city, it was reported.

The Ruhr raid and subsidiary attacks on docks at Le Havre, occupied France, and airdromes in France and the low countries cost the R.A.F. 10 bombers.

The thunder of bomb blasts rolling across the Channel could be heard on the English shore.

The skies already were grey this morning when residents on the Kent coast heard the last crump of exploding bombs on the other side of Dover Strait, and the sun was well up in the sky when the last group of planes winged overhead homeward bound from some distant mission.

There is every indication that Britain is taking maximum advantage of the spring nights— which now provide about seven hours of darkness—to step up aerial operations fast developing into the United Nations first real European offensive of 1942.

U.K. Equalling Hun Air Output

The growing strength of the United Nations' air forces was emphasized yesterday by Labor Minister Ernest Bevin, who declared in a speech at Royston that United States airplane production would be equal to the total output of Germany, Italy and Japan "within five or six weeks."

He said British manufacture of Wheat Not Needed

Wartime Prices and Trade Board had esisted recently announced increased payments to the Western farmer for wheat.

Farmers' efforts to meet the country's war-time demands should be "adequately recommended," he said. "I do not suggest for a moment that the cash income of the Western fr mer should be reduced. On the contrary, he is as much entitled to recompense for his labor as any other war worker. But special emphasis should be laid upon the kind of crops which are vital to our war effort."

Room For More Output.

In agriculture there was still room for increased production and the farmer's cash income, to the extent he avaials himself of the opportunity, could increase while his living costs remained stabilized.

"No one can be involved in administering price control without meeting head-on the problem of supply," he said. "The problem of supply is the problem of production, and production is the key to victory."

"In Canada, after 3½ years of war, our civilian standard of living remains one of the highest in the world, and this despite our declared purpose to limit our war effort only by the minimum needs of the civilian population," he said.

"Total war and a high standard of living simply cannot march together—they are absoltuely contradictory terms. That is a very simple fact and yet few individuals seem to have asked themselves what they can do about it.

"It has not yet dawned upon them that if we are to organize for total war it is the people who must take on the job. Instead of crying out for leadership as so many do, every person ought to be working at organizing the productive equipment of this country so that total war may become a fact instead of a platitudinous expression of wishful thinking."

Mr. Gordon told the meeting "there are too many people in this country who spend their time propounding the idea that nothing worthwhile can be done until teir own particular ideas of leadership are carried out."

"Such an attitude," he said, "is defeatism at its worst." The government has stated, parliament has agreed, that the war policy of this country is to wage total war and to divert to war everything but the essential minimum requirements of the civilian population.

Challenge For Each Person.

"That policy can be carried out only when each person accepts it as a personal injunction, when every laborer, skilled or unskilled, thinks only in terms of maximum effort; when every farmer thinks only in terms of the maximum production of necessary foodstuffs; when every business and every industry operates and cooperates to ensure production of the absolute maximum of the supplies it can make; and when every civilian buyer or consumer of goods understand that each unnecessary purchase directly reduces the potential for war and is therefore an act of sabotage by a public enemy."

Appealing for "production for victory" Mr. Gordon told his listeners that "Germany and Japan are years ahead of us, not only in productive capacity for war, but also in the education of their people to a stage of single-minded organization beyond anything experienced in human history."

Hitler and Mussolini were joined with the Japanese in the most gigantic armed conspiracy the world had ever known and were pledged to wipe out free institutions wherever they existed.

acting rank of Vice Admiral and the honorary ranks of Lieutenant-General and Air Marshal.

LONDON, April 13.— (CP). — An official spokesman announced today that Lord Louis Mounbatten, the King's cousin, has been chief of the Commandos since March 18 with ranks in all three services, which are combined under his command for the New British shock force.

He holds the acting rank of vice-admiral and the honorary ranks of lieutenant-general and air marshal.

Lord Louis, who survived the sinking of two destroyers in this war and has seen action in the Norwegian campaign, the Atlantic, the Mediterranean and the English channel, stepped into a key place in the new Commando organization from command of the Aircraft Carrier Illustrious.

He actually succeeded Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, former Commando chief and organizer, last Oct. 19, when he was given the title of adviser for combined operations and rank of commodore first class.

When that appointment was made, the Illustrious was in the United States undergoing repairs.

The Meigs was sunk on February 19 in a bombing raid on the harbor of Darwin, Australia. The master, Captain F. S. Link, died later of wounds. One crew member was killed and eight were wounded.

Ten raids were made on Corregidor in the past 24 hours, the War Department said, raising the total to 22 in the last two days.

Fort Not Badly Battered.

The communique said there were some casualties but military installations sustained only minor damage.

The War Department indicated in previous reports that the Japanese were using guns and howitzers of 155 and 240 millimetre calibre, with a range of 10 miles or more. The 155-millimetre gun throws a shell of nearly 100 pounds and the other weapon a missile several times as large.

Life on Corregidor, in the words of a newly-returned army officer, was "like living on a bull's eye." Lt.-Col. Warren J. Clear, who reached Washington by way of Australia, predicted that the Japanese, having won Bataan, would throw everything they have against the Corregidor target. He was interviewed on an "Army Hour" radio program sponsored by the War Department.

Informed quarters here have said that the prime objective of Hopkins and Gen. Marshall is to use every means within the power of the United States and Britain to assist Russia in the crucial battles expected this spring and summer.

Russia is long on manpower but short on equipment, and the presence of Hopkins was called a signal for an even greater flow of planes, tanks, munitions and other material to the Soviet by way of Murmansk and the Gulf of Persia.

The growing United States military establishments in Northern Ireland which General Marshall has been inspecting, and the steadily mounting flow of planes was held an indication that United States pilots would join the R.A.F. within a month in bombing Germany.

Gen. Marshall and Hopkins were said to be in complete agreement with British leaders that the Russian Front is the critical battlefield and Hitler the No. 1 enemy.

Want Over 600,000

"When present plans are carried into effect and we have over 600,000 persons enlisted for service anywhere in the world, fully and completely equipped as they will be without question, the size of the Canadian armed forces from the point of effective power will bear favorable comparison with those of other countries whose method of raising their armed forces may differ from ours," Mr. Thorson said.

War industries, now employing 600,000 persons and which will add another 100,000 are producing in Canada almost every particle needed in time of war. It was hoped to double the 70,000 women now employed in war plants.

"We must increase production of munitions of war and hold adequate manpower for the purpose," he said. Canada was pledged to a two-fold program of fully equipping her own forces and providing $1,000,000,000 of munitions and supplies to Great Britain.

Mr. Thorson dealt also with national selective service.

"It is the purpose of any sound national selective service system that a far as possible every man and every woman shall serve in that field of national activity where he or she can make the greatest contribution to the totality of the war effort of the country," he said.

"We are concerned with the maximum total effectiveness of the war effort rather than with any particular method of carrying out any one aspect of it. That is one reason why we believe in the maintenance, as far as possible, of the voluntary effort of our people.

Selwyn Factory Elects Officers

SELWYN, April 13 — (ENS). — The annual spring meeting of the Selwyn Cheese Factory was held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the cheese factory, with a fair attendance of patrons present. Bruce Fitzgerald acted as chairman for the meeting and Clayton Fitzgerald as secretary.

The officers for the coming year are as follows: President, Wellie Pearson; secretary-treasurer, Clayton Fitzgerald; directors, Ralph Garbutt, Marcus Dean, and Melville Crapp.

The system of paying has been changed for the coming season. In place of paying weekly by cash, payment will be made by cheque twice a month. Bruce Fitzgerald was again appointed as auditor.

There was a raise in the price paid to the cheesemaker, A. Wilson, from 2 cents to 2½ cents per pound for cheese, and 5 cents per barrel for whey.

The factory is expected to begin operating early in May.

Cheese Plants Stirring For 1942 Job

Green pastures are much in the thoughts of W. J. Moore, dairy instructor, as the 1942 cheese-making season approaches with the same insistent challenge of last year.

Twelve factories in this county turned out 16,293 boxes of cheese last year, according to the official grading count. Their average score was 93.127 per cent., but the percentage of first-grade cheese was 97.7.

The local industry improved its records all down the line. Comparative figures for 1940 were: The same twelve factories made 12,162 that season, with an average score of 97.93, and 96.56 per cent. first grade.

What about the new season trailing along with April? Mr. Moore said he expected Trent Bridge might be the first factory to open its doors, but that was not certain. Silverwoods have been making cheese all winter, the only producer 1 the county. Selwyn is planning a cool curing room, and the industry is mechanically in good condition.

600 Children In Safety Club

Six hundred school children attended the grand opening of "Neill's Safety Club of the Air" held at the Centre Theatre last Saturday morning to hear Traffic Officer Clare McGillen deliver a very interesting talk on safety regulations.

Stressing the need for more care among the children of Peterborough, Officer McGillen pointed out that the oncoming Summer holidays brought with them an added responsibility for the older children particularly to safeguard the lives of their younger brothers, sisters and friends.

Mr. McGillen said that the stealing of bicycles throughout the province had increased to the epidemic stage and urged all children owning bicycles to get their licenses at the police station immediately. In this way, he said, it would enable the Peterborough police to keep a closer check on stolen machines and ease the work of the police in apprehending the bicycle thieves.

Cautioning the children on the hazards of vacation time swimming, the children were warned to bath only in protected areas and never without company.

Commenting on the new safety organization which it is hoped may be extended into the schools, enabling the children to aid the traffic officer in relieving traffic congestion and helping to cut down the accident toll, Mr. McGillen expressed the thought that this new Safety Club of the Air would be the means of sharply reducing the accident and death toll resulting from carelessness and ignorance.

Salvage Brought In

Apart from the Safety Club effort itself, the children cooperated in bringing salvage to be used for the war effort. Enthusiastic young safety clubbers brought with them more than a truck load of precious scrap material as their contribution to the Peterborough salvage campaign. Old rubbers, galoshes, disused aluminum pots and pans, large quantities of magazines were collected as well as odd pieces of scrap iron and steel and placed on the salvage truck outside the theatre. This truck will be there each Saturday morning from now on for the duration of the campaign.

Feature attraction of the club's first meeting at the theatre was an amateur show in which many young artists from Peterborough and vicinity participated. All were awarded War Savings Stamps to add to their present collection and were further encouraged to save and buy more Stamps themselves.

Clergy In Norway Win 1st Round

LONDON, April 13—(CP).—Vidkun Quisling's ultimatum to 1,100 resigned Norwegian clergymen to return to their churches "has for the time being been held in abeyance" and presumably the pastors have won a moral victory in Quisling's attempt to inflict Nazi domination on the Norwegian church the News Chronicle's Stockholm correspondent reported yesterday.

Four Norwegian bishops are under arrest and Friday Quisling ordered 1,100 clergymen who resigned in protest against Nazi regulations to return to their work by 2 p.m. Saturday. He did not say what the consequences would be if the clergymen refused.

"Today (Sunday) Norwegian churches are open and as far as I know here, no services are taking place," the News Chronicle correspondent said. "Thus, something like a moral victory, if not a victory in fact, has been scored by the 1,100 Norwegian priests who were threatened with immediate expulsion from their charges.

"Today (Sunday) the Quislings are issuing statements that the clergy cannot leave their churches without express orders from the government."

Hazzard's News

It has been the custom since the local Women's Missionary Society was organized 47 years ago to have a special Easter Sunday service and thank offering. Rev. W. W. Patterson paid tribute to the work of the W.M.S. His sermon sounded a note of triumph—that the sepulchre, the guards or the stone could not hold Jesus; neither can they hold Him today. In closing he challenged the congregation to greater service.

Some Shaking

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP). —The Evening Star said today that Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones last night shook Eugene Meyer, editor and publisher of The Washington Post, so that Meyers' glasses fell to the floor and were shattered after Jones expressed displeasure at a Post editorial aimed at him.

The action took place at a meeting of the Alfalfa Club, one of Washington's oldest and most prominent good-fellowship organizations.

Able To Keep Secret

CHICAGO, April 13—(CP)—They had to wait 100 years, but at last women are going to be let in on the secrets of the United States secret service. Capt. Thomas Callaghan, chief of the Chicago district office, has hired two women stenographers. He said he believed women could keep secrets, and besides it's difficult to get the right kind of men for the work.

Jap Air Carrier Suffers Hit In Raboul Raid

MELBOURNE, April 13 —(CP)— The mounting Allied air offensive gathered momentum during the week-end in a series of fierce assaults which left a trail of destruction today in Japanese bases stretching from Timor to the Solomon islands along a vast 2,400-mile arc north of this continent.

Principal target of the offensive was Rabaul, New Britain, which was raided yesterday for the fourth successive day. The Allied raiders also struck again yesterday at the Japanese airdrome at Kupang, capital of the Netherlands Timor.

A communique announcing the new raid on Rabaul said a large Japanese ship in the harbor was seriously damaged by a direct hit from a heavy bomb and by two near misses.

(A New York Times dispatch from a United Nations air base said Allied raiders had scored a direct hit and two near misses on a Japanese aircraft carrier near Rabul.)

Despite violent anti-aircraft fire.

The formation split into three units which blasted an airdrome 12 miles from Rabaul, another near the city itself, and shipping in the harbor.

After dropping their bomb loads the Allied planes raced over their targets again and sprayed the ground with machine-gun fire.

Bible Class Has Charge Of Church Service

PORT HOPE, April 13—(ENS).—A service of unusual interest was held in the Port Hope United Church on Sunday evening when the Young Men's Bible Class, under the leadership of Gordon Garnett, took full charge of the evening service assisted by the preesident and other members of the class.

T. W. Stanley assisted by his choir, gave an organ prelude. The invocation was taken by Ray Mann, ex-president of the class, while Nelson Hodgson led in prayed.

A male quartet sang "I Want My Life to Tell," was composed of Cecil White, Bob Minaker, Arthur Trott and Keith Staples.

Ray Mann read the scripture from Luke 2, verses 40-52, followed by a very lovely duet by the Misses Abrams.

The addresses were given by the class leader, Gordon Garnett, on the subject of "Objects of the Class." and Keith Hodgert, the class president, who took as his subject "Value of the Class to the Members and Plans for the Future."

Although many of its members are on active service this class has still a membership of over forty young men who attend Sunday School regularly.

Cecil Spicer, a teacher of a boys' junior Sunday School class, spoke on the "Benefit of the Young Men's Bible Class to the Sunday School as a whole and the inspiration these young men were to the growing boys in their regular Sunday School attendance.

The service closed with the minister Rev. J. W. Gordon, M.A., B.D., pronouncing the Benediction.

At the close of the service the members of the Boys' Bible Class and the two Girls' Bible Classes, under the leadership of Miss Elsie Moon and Mrs. M. G. Hancock, were entertained at the parsonage by Rev. and Mrs. Gordon. A most enjoyable evening was had by the young people in a sing song, after which dainty refreshments were served.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR LIVER

Buck it up right now and feel like a million!

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It pours out bile to digest food, gets rid of waste, supplies new energy, allows proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order food decomposes in your intestines. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. You feel "rotten"—headachy, backachy, dizzy, dragged out all the time.

For over 35 years thousands have won prompt relief from these miseries—with Fruit-a-tives. So can you now. Try Fruit-a-tives—you'll be simply delighted how quickly you'll feel like a new person, happy and well again. 25c, 50c.

Parents Are Freed On Charge Of Failing To Feed Child

COBOURG, April 13.—(ENS)—Appearing on a charge of failing to provide the necessities of life for their two months old daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Horsburgh of Murray Township were found not guilty in county court here by Judge L. V. O'Connor. A grand jury at the assizes last month brought in no bill on a manslaughter charge against the couple but rendered a true bill for failing to provide for the baby. At the assize court hearing, the judge dismissed the jury and ordered a new trial because one of the jurymen had been discussing the case with one of the Crown witnessess and the case was transferred to the county court.

Judge O'Connor, on the evidence, found that Mrs. Horsburgh had supplied the infant with food as best as she knew and that there had been no evidence of any omission to do so. With the exception of the evidence given by Dr. I. H. Erb, pathologist of the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, the Crown evidence was the same as that of the preliminary.

Doctor Testifies

Dr. H. C. Rundle of Brighton testified that he was called to the Horsburgh home on January 6th in his capacity as coroner and found an infant dead. He gave his opinion that from the wasted condition of the body death had been due to malnutrition. He testified that he had delivered the baby during the mother's confinement and that it had been healthy at that time. Dr. H. Clarke, who did the autopsy, testified that in this opinion death had been caused by malnutrition.

Provincial Constable David Adair of Cobourg testified that he was called to the Horsburgh home after the death of the baby. He said that there was very little food in the house and that the children were untidy. Horsburgh was formerly employed by a Mr. Minaker and was supplied with free house, free vegetables, free wood and a monthly salary as hired man. In December he quit his employ and went to Trenton to work.

K. Hodgert, superintendent of the Children's Shelter, Port Hope, said that he went with Provincial Constable David Adair to the Horsburgh home on January 6th. He found the place very untidy and the sleeping accommodation of the five children was filthy, he declared.

No Organic Disease

Dr. Erb said that his examination confirmed the findings of Dr. H. Clarke and Dr. H. C. Rundle of Brighton in regard to death being the result of malnutrition He testified that there was no evidence of any organic disease and voiced the opinion that the baby's condition might have been brought about either by not getting the proper food or not being able to assimilate it properly. The extreme sunken condition of the stomach and almost complete absence of food or the remains of food in the digestive tract seemed to indicate a lack of food, he said.

Questioned by the Crown as to what should have been done under the circumstances, Dr. Erb said that the parents on recognizing the child's condition, should have sought medical advice regarding its diet. If this had been done it's life might have been saved. He could not help but feel, Dr. Erb said, that the mother should have noticed the condition of the baby weeks before. Questioned by Mr. F. C. Richardson, defence counsel, Dr. Erb said that he did not feel he could draw the conclusion the parents had failed to maintain the child, from its condition.

All Small At Birth

Mrs. Horsburgh testified that all her five children, with one exception, were extremely small at birth. She said that she had no trouble with the child that had died, after its birth and there had been plenty of food in the house during November and December. Her husband had brought food home with him from Trenton the night before the child's death. Mrs. Horsburgh said that the child had not shown any aversion to food and had not seemed any thinner than her other babies, but she seemed to go thinner suddenly. Three days before the baby died she noticed a change in the child.

Questioned by Harry Deyman, Crown Attorney, Mrs. Horsburgh said that she had not called a doctor because "they always seemed to have something else on." She said that she had no idea one would come anyway because of the way the family had been used in the past. Mrs. Horsburgh testified that up to the middle of December the child had failed to retain its food and she had changed the type of food four times in an effort to arrive at a correct diet.

In his judgment His Honor commented that if Mrs. Horsburgh had made a mistake in making up the food for the child, this did not constitute a criminal offense. While there was no doubt it was in poor condition, the failure of the mother to call a physician was an error and not a criminal act. There was no evidence, he said, that the parents knew the child was about to die, yet it seemed strange the child had been fed and bathed and the mother had not noticed death was near. Dr. Erb, the judge recalled, had said that he could not draw a conclusion from the fact that there was no fluid in the stomach or content in the bowel. The judge said he felt it would be wrong to draw the conclusion the child was not given food from that fact. The evidence of the mother was the effect that she had supplied food to the best of her knowledge. There was no evidence she had failed to provide food and in evidence she was not kindly disposed to her children. Concluding his remarks, Judge O'Connor said the accused had been punished by mental anguish and their time in custody. His Honor voiced the belief that Mr. Horsburgh could have supplied a better home and more food for his family on the money he was earning.

Alfred H. McKeel Is Laid To Rest In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, April 13 (ENS)—From over the entire district came men and women on Sunday afternoon to pay final tribute to the late Alfred H. McKeel who was burried from his Raglan street home here at three o'clock. A man who achieved fame as a builder and contractor, and in later years as the designer and builder of war memorials at Alderville and Trent River, Mr. McKeel was known and respected by people in all walks of life.

Rev. G. N. Maxwell of St. John's United church conducted the service at the house and Legion President C. C. Massie conducted the impressive graveside service during which Bugler Walter Lowe sounded the Last Post and Reveille. Rev. Maxwell fervently characterized Mr. McKeel as "one who had enjoyed life and sought to put into it those things that would bring comfort and peace. "Whether we live, we live unto the Lord, and whether we die, we die unto the Lord," he said. Mr. Maxwell then read from the 90th Psalm and from Paul's letter to the Corinthians.

As evidence of the high esteem in which Mr. McKeel was held by the Legion here for his many contributions to their welfare, more than 50 members from this district took part in the service, with Mayor F. F. Long and Charles Davidson, who like the deceased were honorary members, assisting.

The flower bearers and pall bearers were Legion members as follows: Flowers—Comrades J. Jacobs, R. Cook, C. L. Kellogg, Chas. Duncalfe, Chas. Thompson, Chas Davidson, A. T. Linton, R. J. Locke, H. Smith, J. Williams, Frank Osborne, John Ray. Pall bearers—Comrades Alex MacDonald, Arthur Messenger, J. M. Ferris, J. M. Bygott, A. G. Thompson, C. B. Williams.

The heavy casket was borne to Mount Pleasant Cemetery draped with the Union Jack for which Mr. McKeel had himself been the custodian for several years and had during that period considered it his honor and duty to personally supervise its placement on the casket of any deceased Legion member. Many beautiful floral tributes were carried in the long procession to the cemetery, there to flank the grave, and among them were those from the Town of Campbellford, the Legion, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Fox, Mrs. E. Dickie, Mr. and Mrs. D. Paige and Ernest Cleverly, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lowe, Mrs. Aden Lowe, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Goodman, Toronto; the Allisons, Peterborough; the Baker family; Barbara and June McKeel, Los Angeles; Neil Wallace McKeel; Mrs. M. Bakes; Mr. and Grs. George Baird; Mrs. Henry Baker and family; Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Long; Mr. and Mrs. M C. Watson, Fergus; Mrs. M. Riendeau and Mrs. C. H. Calver; Mrs. Chas. Horseman; the Davidson family; Mr. and Mrs. Les Clegg, McMasterville, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Sam. Clegg; Mrs. G. Cowan and Miss S. Cowan, Mrs. Haines and Miss Mabel Haines; Chief Marden and members of the Alderville Reserve; Mrs. S. Lambert and family.

Among those from a distance who attended the funeral were Mrs. Annie McKeel, Toronto; Mrs. Margaret Bakes, Toronto; Mrs. George Baird, Toronto; Robert N. Pearse, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crowe, Albert Crowe, Mrs. Norman Marsden, Miss Marian Marsden and others from Alderville; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Merrick Stirling; Mrs. George Merrick, Stirling.

Bingo Party Nets Red Cross $64.00

CAMPBELLFORD, April 14—(ENS).—Proceeds from the bingo party arranged by Mrs. J. O. Benor and Mrs. T. J. Craighead and held in the Parish Hall on Saturday evening, amounted to $64, all of which is to be turned over to the Campbellford and Seymour Branch of the Red Cross. The affair was so well attended that extra tables had to be set up at the last minute to accommodate the crowd, many of whom won lovely prizes. As the convener, Mrs. Benor expressed her thanks to the public for its generous support and also to Mrs. N. A. MacColl, Mrs. R. A. Linton, Mrs. Wilson Aylott, Mrs. D J. McArthur, Mrs. Charles Collins, Mrs. Helen Schaeffer, all of whom assisting in various ways, and to Mr. Earl Craighead who conducted the bingo, and to Mr. John Ray and Mr. Hilton Beatty.

During the evening a draw was made on the lovely afghan donated to the Red Cross by Mrs. H. D. Atkinson and proceeds on this totalled $11.25. Miss Nancy Hollings made the draw and Mr. E. Sanders held the winning ticket.

W.M.S. Service Is Held In Havelock

HAVELOCK, April 13—(ENS).—Rev. J. W. Wilkinson gave an inspiring talk on missions to the members of the Women's Missionary Society, who occupied the front pews of the United Church on Sunday evening. The speaker chose for his text Isaiah 52, verse 7.

"The Christian women of the W.M.S. have a task to shoulder, but by their sympathetic touch of hand and heart to the sick and dying will lend much in the progress of civilibation," he said. "Women today are entered upon every field of labor, teachers, nurses, doctors, lawyers and since church union they may hold eldership for serving of Communion. Women are serving in the armies and in the air forces when they have measured equally with men in their willingness to serve, whether it be morally, spiritually or physically." In closing, the speaker said the main aim of W.M.S. workers was to share the message of Christianity with all people, and to preach the gospel to every living creature.

The choir sang a missionary anthem, "Oh, who will tell the story old." The annual Easter thank-offering was taken and dedicated to missions.

Horse Prices Soar At Sale Near Hastings

HASTINGS, April 13—(ENS).—High prices and an abundance of potential buyers marked the farm sale of Mrs. Walter Humphries, three miles west of Hastings. The sale, held on Thursday afternoon, attracted more than 500 people and despite a chill wind, Auctioneers J. R. Battisby and Rae Archer of Campbellford experienced little difficulty in disposing of the large stock on hand.

A feature of the sale was the price of $236 for a team of work horses. This was in contrast to the average $150 price of recent sales, and is a sure indication that the gasoline rationing is affecting the farmer.

With spring seeding in the immediate offing farmers are returning to the actual rather than the mechanical horse-power to get their work done.

Roy Humphries of Asphodel paid the highest price for a cow, $102, while other cattle prices ranged between $80 and $100.

Nineteen pigs, tipping the scales at 80 pounds apiece, averaged $12. Farmers were quick to snap up the limited amount of hay which was offered for sale.

Lad Has Near Call Falling Before Car

TWEED, April 13—(ENS).—Douglas Preston, Thurlow township, narrowly escaped injury on the Canniffton, on Friday when the bicycle he was riding skidded on the wet snowy pavement almost in front of a motor car driven by Dr. M. G. Dales of Tweed. The lad fell to the pavement, but was uninjured. Dr. Dales drove the lad to the Belleville hospital, where a medical examination disclosed no injuries had resulted.

Three Boys Invested In Campbellford Troop

CAMPBELLFORD, April 73.—Three young members were officially invested in Campbellford's No. 1 Boy Scout Troops in an interesting ceremony conducted by Acting Scoutmaster Jack Connor on Friday evening. The three boys, J. M. Benor, Grant MacColl and Bruce Connor were given the Tenderfoot badge, signifying their membership and all three recited the Scout oath to do their best, do their duty to God and the King, help other people at all times and obey the Scout law. Following this N. Alex MacColl, president of the group committee, distributed Scout registration cards among the members, and T. Gillibrand directed a period of physical training. During the evening the Scouts also presented buttons to Mr. Gillibrand and R. A. Connor, both of whom are members of the group committee.

At a meeting of the Group committee which followed Mr. H. Beatty joined Messrs. MacColl, Gillibrand and Connor to discuss the appointment of a new Scout leader. However, no definite decision was reached and they adjourned after deciding to carry on for the present, with T. Gillibrand directing the Scouts, with the assistance of Jack Connor.

Port Hope Boy Placed Second Ontario Finals

PORT HOPE, April 13.—(ENS).—At the provincial finals of the public speaking contests held in Convocation Hall, Toronto, during the Ontario Educational Convention, Alex Kellough of Port Hope, won second place.

Alex, who is 13 years old, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Kellough and a pupils of Lewis Roberts in Grade 8 of the Central public school. He is the holder of the shield for Durham county and the first place cup in the Belleville district finals. His winning topic for these two competitions was "The World After the War," which was a most interesting speech.

In Toronto the topic given the five contestants was "War Services and the Elementary School."

Hamilton Girl Wins.

The winner of the first place in this competition was Ruth Herman, of Aldershot, representing the Hamilton district, and a resident of Canada only three years. Her original speech, which won for her the privilege of speaking in Toronto was a most interesting account of her trip from her native Czecho-Slovakia to Canada just three years ago.

The third place winner was David Philip of Merlin, near Chatham, and representing Kent, Essex and Lambton district.

The Prime Minister Speaks

By this time anyone who means to do so has read the speech on the plebiscite which Mr. King made last Tuesday night or, if a radio listener, has turned it over in his mind. It is a pity that Mr. King has not a more stirring delivery; his speeches are almost always easier to read than to hear, and the plebiscite speech, which was obviously written in a spirit of great conviction and under considerable stress of emotion, sounded somewhat cold when he spoke it. But shortcomings of elocution must not make us undervalue the speech, which was of the highest importance for Canada.

Mr. King made three main appeals. The first was to all Canadians, and it made the point that the plebiscite was a move toward real Canadian unity and ably dismissed the suggestions of some Canadian factions that it was a scheme to keep the country in a state of politically advantageous disunity. The second appeal was directed toward all Canadians outside the Province of Quebec, making the point that the plebiscite will silence criticism of Canada in the United States, which thinks it odd that Canada has no conscription though she has been in the war since 1939, whereas the U.S. has selective service, and has had it for some time. Such criticism is easy, but it neglects that fact that Canada's army is as large as it could have been if we had had conscription from the start; many Canadians too, have overlooked the fine record of our voluntary enlistment. The third appeal was directed straight at Quebec, and its ground was that the war may very easily come to this continent, and that Canada is the most likely place for it to strike. If that should happen we shall need the help of the U.S., and we cannot afford to have any misunderstanding which makes it appear that we are shirking our responsibilities.

These three appeals were the meat of the speech. Another important aspect of it was the expressed opinion of the Prime Minister that attack upon the enemy was the only way in which this war could be won. This is significant, for no one has ever accused Mr. King of rashness and such a statement of belief from him means more than a score of such declarations from less responsible and more readily excitable men. Indeed, we doubt if the Prime Minister would have shown his hand so readily if he had not known a great deal more than he said.

The import of the speech was plain before it was ever delivered. The Government wants an affirmative vote on the plebiscite question and that vote must be not merely sufficient but overwhelming. For some time organization toward this end has been going on in several districts, although Peterborough is not one of them. The time grows short, and if there is to be any organization it must set to work soon.

Organize For Yes Vote

Although the day of the plebiscite is drawing near we have seen no sign yet of a lead being given for bringing the largest possible Yes vote to the polls, and we feel that the lack of such an organization is a weakness in this community. It is absolutely necessary to register every Yes vote possible if our response to the plebiscite question is not to appear half-hearted in the eyes of our neighbors in the United States. There has been a great deal of talk in Ontario during the last few months about an all-out war effort, and this plebiscite gives every citizen a chance to show just how anxious he is for such an effort. We cannot urge too strongly the necessity of organizing to get out the Yes vote.

Everyone who opposes the conscription of men for overseas service will vote, make no doubt of it, for they will be anxious to make as big a showing as possible. Nor are their numbers inconsiderable. If those who are supposedly in favor of an all-out war effort do not make some attempt to rouse their voters and get them to the polls they may make a very poor showing, and it is not impossible that they might be defeated. And in such a matter anything short of an overwhelming majority for the Yes side must count as a defeat; when there is talk of an all-out effort small majorities simply will not do.

Are we going to have a local organization to take care of this important matter; if we are, its time is drawing perilously short. Members of parliament, mayors and leading citizens are organizing in other ridings what is the trouble in Peterborough West?

The Rangers Move Along

Canadian military authorities since the outbreak of the war have learned much about the recruiting, training and organization of regiments. At first regiments were recruited and trained for several months at their initial basis and while the training they got was good it was by no means intensive. The early training involved heavy expense for when facilities for board and lodging were not available, and often they were not, the entire unit had to be boarded out. Today within a few weeks from the time that mobilization is ordered the recruits start moving into the basic training centres already staffed by men who are experts at giving this early training.

So it is with the Prince of Wales Rangers, already the first detachment of troops has moved into the local training centre and there they will get their two months' basic training and at the end of that period they will go to a more advanced camp for two months.

Recruiting will continue at the Armories and further detachments will be sent to the training centre. However, as it is not the intention of the military authorities to recruit the whole regiment here, but rather to fill it from the training centres with men who have received the call, it must be stressed that recruiting may be stopped here at any time. Hence men who are contemplating joining the unit should do so at the earliest possible date. When recruiting stops and the four months' training is over the regiment then will be assembled no doubt at some division point.

At the same time as the recruits are getting their basic training the N.C.O.'s of the battalion are away being trained at special schools. Many N.C.O.'s of the Rangers have already left and more are to follow.

During this period the officers of the unit are also being schooled and this evening Peterborough bids farewell to eight junior officers who are leaving for Camp Gordon Head i British Columbia. Here they will take their qualifying courses and will be ready to take their places when the unit is finally assembled.

Thus in six months time, from the start of mobilization, the unit will be complete not with partially trained officers, N.C.O.'s and men but with men who have become seasoned with hard training.

The eight young men who are going tonight have all taken a leading place in the business, industrial and professional life of this city. They have answered the call and are going forth to do their bit so that humanity and democracy may be saved.

Not Too Secret Please

Apparently our Government means to give out less information about war production in this country, fearing that too frank a statement of our situation would be of value to the enemy. Of course the people of Canada don't want to tell the Axis anything which it should not know, but they have an understandable objection to being kept too much in the dark themselves. That invaluable guardian of public interests, the Winnipeg Free Press, sums the matter up very well:

"Questions are often asked in the House about quantities of certain weapons and munitions produced. Too often the Government gives no answer because of the need to keep secret information of value to the enemy. But the enemy would learn nothing of military value to itself if the information was asked for on the basis of the number of hours per week in the various plants; and the answers would throw a flood of light on the degree of success attained by the Government in waging total war on the industry front."

Quite so. The Government must devise some way of assuring us that Canadian industry is doing its utmost, or if not, why not. We appreciate the need for secrecy about details but we do not want to be kept in the dark entirely. That would be more dangerous than letting a little information leak out to the enemy.

Reminding The Public

Looking through a famous English paper the other day we noticed an advertisement which was so effective and so subtle in its method that we feel moved to comment upon it. It was inserted by a famous firm of biscuit manufacturers and it began:

"We know that many people are missing the delicious chocolate-coated and fancy biscuits for which we were famous before the war. We feel that it would not be fair to produce such goods just now, as they require too large a proportion of valuable labor and of ingredients which are in short supply."

The advertisement then goes on to say that the firm is still producing some of its simpler lines, an that these are being distributed through the country as evenly as possible.

See what this English firm is doing: in a pleasant way it is reminding the public of the goods it was once able to make and upon which its reputation is founded; it is also explaining its wartime difficulties without harping on them. But it is doing a third and much more important thing; it is reminding the public of its continued existence and is identifying itself, in a modest way, with the nation's war effort.

We think that this is good advertising. It shows hope for the future and a reasonable desire to have a part in the good things of that future. We have seen some advertising of this kind done by Canadian firms and we have admired its wisdom; we expect that, as time goes on and commodities grow scarcer, there will be more such advertising. Far-seeing merchants and manufacturers know the wisdom of keeping their names before the public, even when they are short of things to sell. A day will come when this nation will be able to go on a buying spree, and the firms which have kept the public aware of their existence will be the ones to profit.

British Marines

Canadians are exposed to an enormous amount of publicity about the United States Marines, and for very good reason. Our American friends have been quick to recognize the excellence as well as the glamor of the United States Marine Corps. Meanwhile few Canadians have scarcely more than heard of the British Marines whose traditions, training and even uniforms are practically duplicated by the American Marines. The navies of the British countries should probably not be too proud of their "silent service" characteristics. The American idea of plenty of publicity for anything worth while has much to commend it.

NOTE AND COMMENT

As we look over the theatres of war we are shocked to find that none of them has an asbestos curtain.

"No self-made man ever left out the working parts" says a contemporary. Maybe not, but most of them make a terrible job of the body.

A news commentator is disturbed because, at their last meeting, Marshal Petain seized Marshal Goering by both hands. Our guess is that he has missed things before.

Berlin radio says: "The Russian people will not understand that it is useless to resist the shattering blows of the German army." Presumably the Russians are reeling forward from shock.

There won't be United States Congressional Medals of Honor for all who fought in Bataan, yet if individuals individually displayed the same degree of courage they would almost certainly be decorated.

"The Fuehrer always thinks of others" says a Nazi speaker. Not long ago he said that Mr. Roosevelt started the war; he attributes the failure of the Russian campaign to General von Brauchitsch. Simply never thinks of himself.

An item from the Department of Mines and Resources informs us that the average value of occupied farm lands in Canada increased from $24 an acre in 1940 to $25 an acre in 1941. Which was probably the easiest $100 the owner of any hundred-acre farm made during that time.

COLORFUL

("Women spies of striking beauty and positive cunning are officially reported to have flocked into the Mexican capital, where they have begun to use their charms on Government officials and Army officers, says The Associated Press."—News item).

If black-outs seem darker and dimmer,
And daylight is burdened with dread,
If the war grows increasingly grimmer,
With further afflictions ahead,
Switch over to regions less shaded
And feast your disconsolate eyes
On Mexico City, invaded
By bevies of beautiful spies.

Our spies do not enter so snugly
As visions of charm and delight;
Square-headed, Boche-minded, plug-ugly,
They drop from a bomber at night.
No "oomph" that is arch and enraptured
Attends their malevolent trek;
They hide in a wood and are captured
And presently hanged by the neck.

In that they are rightly rewarded
For stealth and their treacherous stunt,
But the job is less dismal and sordid
As done on the Mexican front.
Hats off to that distant distiller
Of glamor and gayer disguise,
Where war is still run as a thriller
With bevies of beau-u-u-u-ti-' spies!

Cattle Prices Are Strong Look Promising

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

I HAVE been "off the reservation", for some three months, which has been quite unusual with me, and it will be a real pleasure to return to these weekly comments. I am pleased that in doing so I have an additional paper, the Peterborough Examiner, which covers a fine farming district in the central part of Eastern Ontario.

Our winter in Canada has been as kindly as it has been severe in Britain. On the prairies this was a cattleman's winter when the cattle in the Foothills and ranching country roamed comfortably over their winter range without drawing but very little upon the reserve feed put up to tide over winter storms which are always liable to come. Not only has it been a fine winter for cattle on the range but the prices realized from sales in the West have been unusually satisfactory. One example which came to my attention and is not an extraordinary one for this year, but is among the many transactions which have renewed the confidence of many people in the cattle business.

The instance I wish to recount is that in the first week of January an Alberta cattle feeder made a shipment of cattle from Calgary to St. Paul which netted him $10.50 per cwt. back to Calgary. He hit a good market and had the advantage of the exchange, but even with that it was a great day for beef. These cattle were fed on cover crop and the weather was all in their favor. Over a period of years the people on the land who stay with cattle usually do pretty well.

The farmer is now thinking of the time he will get his cattle out of the stables and on to grass. There are a good few barns getting rather empty of feed at the present time and buying hay and grain at firm prices always goes hard if you have usually grown an abundance at home. Cattle prices are strong and look promising and it will not pay to skimp feed or have your new grass eaten off too early. Cattle are worth their feed these times so do not let them down.

If you have some old pasture young cattle can be turned out quite early with no bad results. I frequently run across a drover who has a few hundred acres of grass, which has been down for some years, and he usually wants to get his cattle out before there is much growth. These men are almost always agreed upon early pasturing of old meadows. With new meadows and also with dairy cows it is a bit different. A clover and grass pasture must recover in the spring from its dormant winter condition. Food is stored in the roots to help the grass to get a start but it must draw largely on the soil for nourishment. Its first demand is for nitrogen to stimulate leaf growth. While the soil is cold its nitrogen is not very largely available so the first growth can be greatly aided by a light application of nitrogen in some form of commercial fertilizer. This will pay dividends. Early spring is the time to harrow pastures and meadows. I feel one can never repeat often enough the value of a good harrowing of grass and fall wheat in the early spring. To get top growtn you must nourish the plants. The harrow will open the top soil, let in oxygen from the air and start the soil bacteria to work. This is the secret of early growth. If you do not aerate the top soil it will not come alive and without the active help of soil bacteria there will not be the desired growth. This is why early harrowing is of such great importance to plants that have wintered in the ground. The surface of the soil has a sort of crust which must be broken to promote immediate growth and a good heavy harrow seems to be the best implement so far designed for this purpose.

Food production in Britain has been steadily increased since the beginning of the war. Every hundredweight of food produced at the very seat of war has a greatly added value because it does not require the handling and shipping of that which is brought across the ocean, and Britain has a vast army to feed just now. The advantage in climate greatly assists the Home Country. A farm paper just to hand from London announces the spring planting of potatoes in Cornwall, England, on February 25th, and probably before this planting has been begun on the Ayrshire coast in Scotland, while the Isle of Wight is likely ahead of both districts.

The British farmers have great faith in the future of agriculture and still believe that livestock is the basic feature of farming, and further that it is only high class breeding stock which will maintain or improve the quality and value of their farm animals.

At an auction sale of Clydesdales at Sandyknowe, at the end of February a six year old stallion, "Sandyknowe Ambassador," sold for 5,600 guineas (about $25,760) being bought by a Scottish breeder, James Picken, of Kirkcudbright. This sale was held to disperse the Clydesdale stud of Thomas and Matthew Templeton of Sandyknowe, following the recent death of Thomas. It is interesting to note that the Templeton stud was really established in 1925, by the purchase by Templeton Bros., of the stallion Benefactor, at a price of 4,400 guineas, at the dispersion sale of A. M. Montgomery of Netherhall. Ambassador is a grandson of Benefactor and is another indication that these Scotsmen know how to breed livestock.

The Perth champion Shorthorn bull calf sold for 3,100 guineas at the February sale and is coming to Connor Prairie Farms in the State of Illinois. The champion this year was bred by James Durno of Uppermill. Other top prices for bull calves at Perth were, 1800 guineas, 1650 guineas, 1450 guineas, 1300 guineas, 1100 guineas and 1000 guineas. Reduced to dollars at present exchange 186 bulls sold for an average price of $865. The tops brought the long prices because British breeders know the value of good blood in their cattle and they still lead the world in breeding food farm livestock. The British farmer is not letting down during the war. He will go on when it is over.

The Dominion Government's decision to pay $2.25 per bushel for flax, (linseed) and to bonus land taken out of wheat and seeded to flax, on the prairies, should increase the flax crop for 1942. This should make $2.50 per bushel for flax. There will be a shortage of vegetable oils because of the war in the Pacific and the Government is anxious to increase the supply of linseed oil. It would be a good plan for farmers this year to sow a light seeding of flax with their oats. A trace of linseed in the oats you grind for feed will add greatly to the protein content of the ground oats. It is good feed for the beasts and will be greatly relished by them.

The Toronto cattle market is strong at time of writing, both heavy and lighter cattle bringing $11, and 900 lbs. heifers selling at $10. Fat cows $8 and bulls $8.75. Fed calves $11.50 and veals up to $15.50. Stockers weighing 430 brought as high as $9. These cattle can put on some gain. Butter, eggs and cheese not varying much. Horses at farm sales are bringing $40 to $50 more than last spring, and good dairy cows are passing $100 while toppers are bringing fancy price.

Keep Aid Going to Russia

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The expected April upsurge in the war on all fronts is in full swing, marked by events everywhere which are putting the United Nations' grand strategy to an acid test.

That strategy, by every indication, rests on the conclusion that the crux of the war this summer will come in Russia. If that is true (and much has been risked and lost across the Pacific and the Mediterranean in grim Allied determination not to be diverted from the job of bolstering Russia) there is some silver lining to the war clouds.

Help for Russia has not been halted nor seriously delayed. The only positive news yet cropping out of the mission of General Marshall and Harry Hopkins to London was that repeated assurance.

War cargoes for Russia are going through despite Nazi battleships, submarines and planes striking at convoys from close-up bases in Norway and a swarm of Axis submarine raiders in North American waters taking heavy toll of shipping. Axis efforts to cut that lifeline or seriously impair the flow, or to force withdrawal to other danger points of the British-American patrols that keep it open, have failed.

MOST CHEERING ASPECT

That is the most cheering aspect of the struggle, otherwise blurred by such Allied disasters as the overwhelming of the American-Filipino army on Bataan and initial British sea losses in the Indian Ocean.

Lacking knowledge of present British strength in the Bay of Bengal to cope with the widening Japanese attack, the outcome in that battle area is beyond prediction. There is much to indicate, however, that impressive British naval and air forces may have been ordered to Indian waters to protect the flank of the Burma defense front and deal with any ambitious Japanese undertaking against India. It is wholly possible that the greatest sea fight of this war may be shaping up there.

It is more than possible that Axis manoeuvring in the Mediterranean and in Libya, implying major offensive operations against Egypt and Middle Eastern oil resources, is in part calculated by Berlin to lessen the sea and air power Britain might divert from that front to meet the Japanese challenge in the Indian Ocean. Britain has whittled Italian fleet strength to almost half of its former power and has heavily discounted the probabilities of a full-scale Axis attack in Libya or across the Mediterranean.

AXIS MAY BE SHORT OF OIL

London observers estimate that a considerable portion of Hitler's total airpower is engaged in the battering at Malta, Alexandria and British lines in Libya. Without seapower to complement that air strength, however, a sea-borne invasion thrust across the Eastern Mediterranean would be an outside military risk. Only an Axis oil shortage so urgent as to justify any risk would warrant an operation of that sort.

Conjecture as to when and where the main German offensive effort of this year will come always must reckon with unknown factors. One of these is the Nazi estimate of Russian ability to counter another German drive—and that estimate must be based in part on the availability of British and American equipment for the Russians.

Another factor is the state of Nazi oil reserves. If they have been dangerously depleted by the war in Russia, the German main offensive must fall on the approaches to the Caucasus. That is the only land route to oil unless Hitler can win unopposed passage through Turkey or is ready to risk war with that powerful neutral.

To The Editor . . .

HELP FOR FARMER

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I am following with interest and disgust the various articles in your paper in regard to the ways in which the Government is endeavoring to aid the farmer.

I see by the paper that Mr. A. Maclaren has stated that inexperienced boys are to be paid $20 and the semi-experienced boys $25 per month for first month after that the wages are to be arranged between employer and employee.

In the first place no inexperienced boy or youth is worth $20 of any farmer's money for one month. In fact in the rush of spring work on the farm when every minute is precious; an inexperienced helper would be dear at his board. When you consider that the farmer has to waste hours of valuable time teaching him how to do the various farm tasks and keeping an eye on him to see that they are done right so that he does not have to do it over again. Also milking is considered one of the main farm chores today if we are to produce cheese for Britain. A greenhorn can not learn to be a capable milker in two weeks nor two months and any intelligent man who understands dairy cows, knows the loss there would be to the farmer in having an inexperienced person learning to milk.

Now, I am a young farmer trying to get a start with a low supply of cash. I have 220 acres rented with over 40 acres to plough this spring and 60 acres of hay crop; I will very soon have 8 cows to milk and 1,000 to 1,500 chickens to look after with only my wife to help me, and we have a family of small children so you see she has little time to help me.

I certainly am badly in need of help, especially for choring and milking, so that I can put a full 10-hour day in the field. But it is the height of dictatorship for some white-collar dude to sit up in Toronto and tell the farmers, "We are doing all we possibly can to help you. We will give you a lad 16 years old who knows absolutely nothing about farming and you must pay him at least $20 per month and teach him all you can about farming."

If the Government will pay half the wages then it might be worth the chance.

Now we really need help but not the kind where we have to pay out the wages and lose money through depreciation in milk and time and farm produce as well.

There is at least twice to three times as much returns expected from the farmer to what is expected of any other worker in the war industry, and farming is one of the most vital war industries and yet the Government seems to give us credit for the least intelligence, if we are to judge by the deal we are getting from them, then they pat us on the back and try to make us think they are doing us a favor. I am certain I am voicing the opinion of 90 per cent of the farmers.

A Bible Message For Today . . .

The words of the Preacher, the son of David, king in Jerusalem. Vanity of vanities, saith the rPeacher, vanity of vanities; all is vanity.

I made me great works; I builded me houses; I planted me vineyards; I made me gardens and orchards, and I planted trees in them of all kinds of fruits....

I got me servants and maidens, and had servants born in my house; also I had great possessions of great and small cattle above all that were in Jerusalem before me: I gathered me also silver and gold, and the peculiar treasure of kings of the provinces; I got me men singers and women singers, and the delights of the sons of men, as musical instruments, and that of all sorts....And whatsoever mine eyes desired I kept not from them, I withheld not my heart from any joy; for my heart rejoiced in all my labour; and this was my portion of all my labour.

Then I looked on all the works that my hands had wrought and on the Labour that I had laboured to do: and, behold, all was vanity and vexation of spirit, and there was no profit under the sun.—Eccl. 1, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 10, 11.

My days are like a shadow that declineth; and I am withered like grass. But thou, O Lord, shalt endure forever; and thy remembrance until all generations.—Ps. cii, 11, 12.

PROPAGANDA

THE following despatch came over the B.U.P. wires on March 19:

"Despatches reported today that all the evening newspapers in Berlin said sending of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to Australia is the first step toward annexation of Australia and New Zealand to the American 'Empire' by 'Emperor Roosevelt.' 'These countries should consider the news casually,' Tokyo radio remarked."

We don't know why the Axis is so greatly concerned over the welfare of the British Empire and we don't exactly understand the use of the word "casually," but we do understand this:

The Chicago Tribune said in an editorial on March 16:

"—Australia now looks to this country for leadership, we may assume that this relationship is to become a permanent one and somehow or other Australia is to be included in our federal system."

The point seems to be that Col. McCormick is now privileged to lead the Axis propaganda rather than follow it.—Toronto Evening Telegram.

FASHIONS

Do you want to know the fashion secret of women who look slimmer than they are? Marian Martin says that it's the simple frock with a soft bodice, and an extra-slimming skirt and she offers Pattern 9029 as an example. The bodice has fullness released below the yokes by gathers or darts, and the skirt is vary slenderizing with its four panels in the front. The back is cut in two sections only for quick sewing.

Pattern 9029 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 3⅜ yards 35-inch fabric.

Coffee and sandwiches were served at the end of the evening.

Margaret Brethen Bride of Lieut. Bob Ingram

The wedding took place in Norwood United Church on Saturday, April 11, of Margaret Eleanor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Brethen, to Lieut. Robert H. "Bob" Ingram, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Ingram. The officiating clergyman was Rev. C. B. Brethen of Richmond Hill, cousin of the bride, assisted by Rev. M. I. Robinson of Norwood. The church was decorated with standards of spring flowers, tulips, daffodils, and snap-dragons and ferns. Mr. W. H. Wildman, A. Mus., A.D.C.M., of Brighton supplied the wedding music and during the signing of the register he played "The White Cliffs of Dover."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in the gown worn by her mother on her wedding day, a lovely frock of cream silk, in fine pin-tucking with graduated ripple frills falling in a slight train, a bodice of radioum lace with long sleeves and a jabot. She wore a radium lace halo veil and carried a cascade bouquet of calla lillies and budlia. The bride was attended by Mrs. Max Comstock of Peterborough, who was matron of honor, and Mrs. William Perkins of Peterborough. They were gowned alike in white chiffon frocks with shirred bodices, bouffant skirts and long full sleeves, and each carried a cascade bouquet of butterfly roses and butterfly sweet peas.

The groom was attended by Lieut. Grant Morrow of Peterborough, and the ushers were Lieut. J. M. Kirkwood and Lieut. A. H. Heideman, both of Peterborough.

After the ceremony a reception was held at "Hill-crest" home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received wearing heavenly blue sheer jacket dress with a hat of black straw with matching flowers and veil, and wore a bouquet of talisman roses and forget-me-nots. The groom's mother, who also received, wore turquoise blue sheer jacket frock with navy accessories and a bouquet of bettertime roses.

Later the bride and groom left on an eastern trip. For travelling the bride wore a brown dressmaker suit with brown hat and accessories, blouse and gloves in American eagle gold, and Kolinsky furs.

Friends Honor Soldier

A group of friends gathered at the home on Division street of Sgt.-Maj. G. H. Weir of the Prince of Wales Rangers on Saturday evening. Mrs. Cecil Armstrong read an address and Sgt.-Maj. Weir was presented with a money belt, a cigarette lighter, and other useful gifts. It was also the occasion of Sgt.-Maj. Weir's birthday and the table was centred with a large birthday cake decorated with Union Jacks. After refreshments a sing-song was held. Sgt.-Maj. Weir leaves this week for special training.

Naval Auxiliary

Mrs. W. Dorrington, Sr., presided over the regular meeting of the Peterborough and District Women's Auxiliary to the Navy, at their regular meeting in the Green Room on Friday. The Auxiliary is shipping a bale of knitted goods to Dormitory "D" of H.M.C.S. Strathcona, which was recently damaged by fire. It was decided to ask Hon. J. J. Duffus to be honorary vice-president of the auxiliary. A fund to buy tobacco for men in the Navy was started. The members with it to be emphasized that the auxiliary is an open organization, and that anyone interested in the navy is welcome to join.

Special Easter Mission Band

LAKEFIELD, April 13.—(ENS)—St. Andrew's Church basement was the scene of a delightful holiday week entertainment on Friday afternoon by the Mission Band under the leadership of Mrs. A. Davis.

The daily prayer followed by choruses, readings, recitations and an Easter exercise together with the attendance of several of the mothers were pleasant features of the program.

Among those taking part were: Recitations, Mary Jane Foster, Alice Foster, Mary Elizabeth Boyle, Shirley and Billy Baker; Easter exercises, Eileen and Ruth Boyce, Alice Foster, Ross and Ronald Weatherup.

Several games were played by the children while the ladies were preparing a dainty lunch.

Beaver Club Euchre

Friday night's Beaver Club euchre and dance drew a splendid attendance with twenty-two tables of cards in play at the Memorial Hall.

Prize winners were: Ladies' first, Mrs. Walter Chapell; ladies' second, Mrs. Percy Darling; gent's first, Theo Graham; second, W. E. Archer of Campbellford after a three-way tie. Special draw for a blanket was made by Elgin Northey and was won by Bernice Coons.

Following lunch the crowd danced to music by Jim Irwin's orchestra from Sandy Lake with Dan Delaney calling for the squares.

President Mrs. Stan Higgins acted as general convener with a lunch committee of Mrs. Graydon Northey and Miss Eva Higgins. Mrs. Sherman Northey and Mrs. Charles Johns were in charge of tables with Will Fairbairn taking over card play. Proceeds were in aid of war work.

Name In Socks, Soldier Writes Red Cross Knitter

KEENE, April 13—The following is the list of clothing shipped by the Keene Red Cross in the months of January, February and March. There is also a letter from a Canadian soldier who received socks knitted by Mrs. Ben Reid of Keene and containing her name and address. Perhaps this letter will satisfy the people who entertain the peculiar notion that the Red Cross does not give its supplies away gratis.

Mrs. Ben Reid,
Keene, Ont., Can.
Dear Mrs. Reid:

Our unit was issued with a quantity of Red Cross supplies of sweaters, sox and gloves.

In the foot of the pair of sox which I received, I found the enclosed name and address.

To you, and millions of other knitters in Canada, we, who are serving in England, give you our heartiest thanks for the sweaters, sox, etc., which made by you, are given to us by the Red Cross.

Personally, I wish to thank you for the sox knit by you, which I was fortunate in obtaining. They are very nice and are very much appreciated. Thank you for your part in sending these comforts across here. I am,

Lily Lake W.A. Plans Quilting

Owing to illness in some of the members' homes and also the bad condition of the roads, the Lily Lake W.A. held their April meeting Thursday evening in the Lily Lake schoolhouse with eight members and one visitor in attendance. The president, Mrs. Clarence Hancock, was in the chair.

Devotional period opened by singing 'Rock of Ages'; Mrs. David Wilson read the scripture lesson; Mrs. Steinkrauss offered prayer. There was an interesting response to the roll call, 'Recipe idea on conservation of sugar.' Next month's roll call to be answered by 'Something useful made from a flour sack or yard of factory cotton and 10 cents. It was decided to grant a request from Miss Gala Rogers, the teacher at the school, to quilt a quilt, the blocks for which her pupils have made. Mrs. Clarence Hancock will have charge of putting it together and Mrs. Jas. Hatherly is to make arrangements for the 'quilting,' for which Mrs. F. W. Rowland kindly offered her home.

The annual sale of plants, slips, bulbs, etc., will be held at our next meeting, which will be held at Mrs. Clarence Ferguson's.

It was also decided to purchase a bedspread from the north end group of St. Paul's Ladies' Aid and sell tickets for a draw on it, proceeds to be for British War Victime' Fund.

Further plans were discussed for community auction sale to be held June 3rd at Mrs. David Wilson's.

The meeting closed with Mizpah benediction.

Bethany

The A.Y.P.A. of St. Mary's Church, Manvers, sponsored a very enjoyable and successful Easter dance on Monday evening in the hall at Bethany. Rev. and Mrs. Mason chaperoned their young people and the sum of $20.00 was cleared.

The closing bridge game for the winter session was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Chas. Reynolds with proceeds of $46.75 going for medical supplies for Russian relief. Prize winners were: high score, Mrs. B. Mark; high score for season, Mrs. H. Fallis; winner of second high score, Mrs. C. Armstrong; winner of third high for season, Mrs. C. Smith. The new executive for Fall will be Mrs. Herb Fallis, active convener; Mrs. Clark, treasurer; Mrs. C. Smith, treasurer.

Wed 25 Years, Couple Honored By Neighbors

A very pleasant evening was spent on Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Robson, R. R. No. 3, Peterborough, when nearly a hundred of their neighbors and relatives gathered to honor them on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

J. N. Lillico was chairman for a program of songs and readings, after which an address was read by Mrs. C. W. Laing and the guests of honor were presented with a tri-light lamp, a Kenwood blanket and a silver cream and sugar. Little Eleanor Parrington then presented the bride of twenty-five years ago with a bouquet of spring flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Robson, to whom the affair was a complete surprise, spoke in their gracious manner, thanking everyone for their kindness. Several guests, including Dr. J. D. Smart of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, extended congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Robson. The serving of lunch brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

TEACH YOUR DAUGHTERS TECHNIQUE OF MARRIAGE.

Mothers Should Pay More Attention to Preparing Children for Future Life.

"Inasmuch as our mothers want us to marry and expect us to marry why don't they prepare us for marriage?" asks a young bride. "Why don't they teach us how to cook and sew and run a budget? Why don't they teach us how to buy meat and groceries? And, more especially, why don't they drill us in the technique of how to get along with our husbands?

"They don't. They act as if all of a girl's troubles ended at the altar and she had nothing to do the balance of her life but just clip giltedged coupons off of her marriage certificate. Our Mammas don't even warn us to watch our steps if we want to keep out of the divorce courts. They let us barge into the most difficult and complicated profession on earth without the slightest training for it, or even knowing what it is all about and what is expected of us.

"Why mothers feel called upon to camouflage marriage and let their daughters find out about it the hard way, is a mystery no one can explain. They just do it. Every day you hear mothers say, "Oh, I don't let my girls do any of the housework. I'm not teaching them how to cook. They will learn how to do that after they are married."

"And so we do, but by the time we have learned how to make coffee that doesn't taste like dishwater and bread that is edible, we have flavored them with our tears and given our husbands chronic dyspepsia and knocked a lot of the gilding off of the holy estate. For in his secret soul a man has just as much contempt for a woman who can't hold down her job as a woman has for a man who lays down on his.

Kitchen Technique Needed.

"Mother must have known from her own experience that every happy home is founded on the kitchen stove. No man is going to hasten home at night to a dinner that would turn the stomach of an ostrich. No man is going to spend his evenings at his own fireside if the hearth is never swept and the room looks as if a cyclone had passed through it. No woman who throws into the garbage pail half that her husband makes is going to look glamorous to him. Mother has seen a hundred homes broken up by sloppy housekeeping. so why doesn't she tip us off to the fact that if we want to keep our marriages a going concern we have to make it comfortable?

"And why doesn't mother give us the low-down on husbands and impress upon our youthful minds that while before marriage the man does the courting, after marriage the woman must do it. Before marriage he does the appeasing, after marriage she has to do the walking on eggs unless she wants her marriage scrambled.

"Of course, if our parents got along together harmoniously, we have observed the finesse with which Mother managed Father and how artfully she side-stepped his little prejudices and peculiarities. but we did not take the object lesson to heart because we didn't expect to marry a man like Father. He is a dear, of course. A perfect lamb. Just as fine as they make 'em, really. But there is no denying that he has to be humored and cajoled into doing the things he said he would never do, and generally handled with gloves.

Same Bolt of Cloth.

"And we are sure that there is never going to be any of this obsequious wife stuff in ours. We are going to deal frankly and openly with our husbands, and point out their faults to them, and demand our rights. and that they act like intelligent adults instead of spoiled babies. But, alas and alack, when we try out this theory on our husbands we find that it doesn't work, and they are cut off of the same Adamite bolt of cloth that Papa was.

"And we wonder why our mothers didn't save us so many family brawls, so much heartache and such barrels of tears by teaching us, from our youth up, a few elementary facts about how to handle a husband and make him like it? Why didn't they teach us, for instance, that all husbands have the head-of-the-house complex, and that as long as their wives respect that, they can rule the roost as long as they please. Husbands don't really care whether their wives take their advice or not, but they want them to ask it.

"Why didn't they teach us to keep out of fights by avoiding arguments and keeping controversial subjects off of the carpet? Why didn't they teach us to gumshoe around our husbands' pet peeves instead of bumping into them? Why didn't they teach us that the easiest way to get money out of a tightwad is by praising him for his generosity, and boasting in public about what a grand provider he is? Why didn't they teach us that husbands want their wives to flatter them and cajole them and tell them how handsome and smart they are? Why didn't they teach us that as long as we do this, marriage will be a grand sweet song without any Other Woman in the offing?

"There is such a lot that our mothers could teach us about marriage that would save us from making a mess of it. And they don't. I wonder WHY?"

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, April 14

Despite trivial set backs, delays and disruptions this should be a day of satisfactory progress, expansion, and personal pleasure as well as profit. In fact the personality and social activity and appeal may be an important factor in promoting the cherished objectives and ambitions and friendly interest from high places may be sought with confidence. Such personal popularity and prestige will be sustained by much business acumen and sound judgment.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is should have a year of increased funds and possessions, with enhanced popularity and prestige, which should be used for putting over major programs of ambitious scope. It is an expansive, productive and progressive period, with gain from acute sagacity and acumen, supported by the element of friendship, hospitality and good fellowship. High goals in business, professional as well as financial objectives should be aimed at.

A child born on this day should have splendid intellect as well as astute business insight and efficiency. The purely personal equation may enter into the commonplace activities and enhance the pleasure of the private life.

Broda Fails To Save As Howe Scores Detroit's Fourth Goal

Syd Howe slams home the fourth goal for Detroit Red Wings as the Wings handed Toronto Maple Leafs their third straight defeat in the Stanley Cup series. Outplaying the Toronto team, the Detroiters spotted them two goals in the first period to come through and take the crucial game 5-2.

Montreal Bows To Airmen In Second Game

MONTREAL, April 13—(CP).—A rally in the closing minutes brought Trenton R.C.A.F. Fliers a 34-31 victory here Saturday night over Montreal Oilers and left a third game tomorrow night to decide the winner of the best-of-three Eastern Canadian senior basketball semi-final.

The Airmen who dropped the first game Friday night, 30-26, were forced to their late splurge after holding command throughout the first half and through part of the second half. The Oilers took their first lead about half-way through the second half, but held charge for only a few minutes.

Flynn Sets Pace

The most prominent figure in the R.C.A.F. victory was Centre Pat Flynn, former University of British Columbia Thunderbird star, who accounted for twelve points. Flynn was the outstanding player on the floor and would have accounted for an even higher point total had it not been that he was closely shadowed throughout the game by Pat Griffin of the Oilers.

Eddie (Busher) Jackson, who joined the Airmen only recently after playing earlier this season with the Oilers, marked up seven points against his old teammates. Jackson, used only sparingly in the first half, played a big part in the late drive of the Airmen.

With the Oilers ahead 27-25, Jackson worked in close to sink a shot that tied the score. The Oilers went ahead again when Dudey Bloomfield scored, but Jackson came back with another basket to deadlock the score at 29-29. Flynn scored shortly after and the Fliers never fell behind again.

Behind Jackson and Flynn in the scoring for the Fliers came Frank Wansbrough with six points and Brian Casey with five. Norm Phibbs picked up two points and Archy Green one. Leading scorer for the Oilers was big Johnny Ferraro with nine. Bloomfield had eight points, Joey Richman seven, Ron Wilson three, Griffin and Ted Edwards two, and Bob Irwin one.

For some time after the start it appeared that the game would be a low-scoring affair. The checking was so tight that after the first twelve minutes the score was only 4-3 in favor of the Fliers. At the half, however, the Airmen had worked into a 16-9 lead.

The Oilers gave everything they had from the start of the second half, gradually hittling down the Fliers lead, until Bloomfield sank the ball for a basket that gave the Montrealers a 19-16 edge. Shortly before the Oilers took that lead Ferraro and Green traded a couple of punches with Green being ousted from the game on four personal fouls.

Quakers Take First Game Of City Final

Quakers set up a commanding lead in the City Basketball League finals on Saturday night when they overpowered the second-place Dominions 52 to 25 in the first game of the two-game series.

The Porridge team led from the opening moments all the way through, sparked by the scoring punch of Joe Jakafby, and in the later stages of Jimmy Thorburn. It was a rough, fast battle, with the Dominions hanging on desperately and remaining within overhauling distance of the leaders until well into the second half. They bogged down then, however, and Quakers ran wild in the final ten minutes to pile up the score and set up a wide margin to carry into the second game of the playoffs.

Dominions lost the services of Craig early in the first period because of injuries, and the other five had to go the whole route. They tired badly on end, especially when they tried to open up an offensive, and the Quakers broke away continually for dog shots.

Eleven fouls were called against the Quakers and seven against the losers and it could easily have been more. The checking was unorthodox and drastic, and with stricter officiating the game might have had to be abandoned for lack of players. Neither team took much advantage of their free throws, the Quakers sinking only two out of seven and Dominions dropping four out of their eleven chances.

Joe Jakafby, rolling up a score of 21 points was the Quaker star. The big forward was plenty hot and in the early stages he hit the hoop for six consecutive baskets before any of his team mates managed to score. In the later stages when the Dominions checking slackened up, Thorburn, who had been kept off the score sheet all through the first half finally found the range and looped in eight field goals.

Burns with seven points and Grose and Rogow with six each led the Dominion attack.

Quakers 52 — McPherson 4, McArthur 4, Jakafby 21, K. Gillespie 4, McIntyre 3, Thorburn 16.

Dominions 25—Rogow 6, Chaig 2, C. Gillespie 3, Grose 6, Burns 7, Johnston 1.

Referee—Nels Stanger.

There are only 3 games left to play in the schedule according to reports received on Thursday night. They are S.O.E. No. 1 vs P.F.D. No. 7 and both games between B.E.S.L. No. 6 vs Moose No. 10.

It is essential that all games be played to secure the final standings. Results this week:

SOE No. 2, 11-3 vs St. George's No. 9, 13-10; SOE No. 1, 9-15 vs LOL No. 4, 9-9; Brintons No. 11, 12-11 vs PFD No. 8, 13-12; Auto Tops No. 12, 9-9 vs BESL No. 5, 14-9; Brintons No. 11, 18-5 vs PFD No. 8, 9-15; St. George's No. 9, 14-10 vs SOE No. 2, 7-11; LOL No. 3, 16-3 vs PFD No. 7, 7-20.

The Mad Masons were very lucky to beat out the Carpet Tacks as in both games they were down in the last frame, but got the breaks and pulled through. In the first game they were tied in the tenth. Brintons got a four in the eleventh. The Mad Masons came back with a fine effort to take the game. In the second, Brintons were leading with 3 points in the tenth to lose by 12-11 in the twelfth.

By virtue of these wins the Fire Hall teams clamped their hands on third place by virtue of their scoring average over the Fighting Parsons.

That team missed their chance of winning the Bleasdell Memorial Trophy by letting the Pork Packers get away with all points in the last game A point win would have secured the trophy, but it was not to be.

Only one game played in the President's Cup when the Auto Tops were extended to three games to put out the strong new aggregation known as the Quakers. The first game went to the Quakers by the score of 7 to 5. In the second game the Quakers were leading 6-4 in the fifth when the Auto Tops got a break and scored a six end that seemed to take the fight out of their opponents, this game ended 14 to 6 for the Auto Tops in the final game. The Auto Tops took the lead by 5-0 in the second. The Quakers pulled up to 5-4 in the fifth but never scored again. Final score, 8-4.

Auto Tops No. 12 to meet winners of No. 8 vs No. 9.

Winners of No. 10 vs No. 3 to meet winners of No. 5 vs No. 7.

The game between No 8 and No. 9 will be played on Tuesday, April 14 and the winners will meet the Auto Tops on Wednesday, Thursday or Friday, as it is necessary to get the league finished.

Standings of first four in league:

	Won	Lost	Drew	Pts.	Ave.
Team 5	27	13	4	58	53
Team 9	26	17	1	53	58
Team 8	24	16	4	52	53
Team 2	24	16	4	52	50

Final standings will appear next week.

NEW YORK, April 13 — (AP). — Baseball season opens to-morrow, and the day after the fishing season brings in most northern states.... What a week for spring fever..... This department is stringing along with the majority in figuring the Yanks and Cards will be the pennant winners and we think the Indians will do better than a lot of folks expect.....Outside of that, we're keeping quiet. Somebody might remember our picks next October....

Professional notes.

Local scribes have been running their typewriter bearings hot since the racing season began to blast the track owners for not doing something to aid the war effort....Stanley (Coach) Woodward of the Herald-Tribune let out such a yelp because no service men were visible at the Jamaica opener that the track decided to let 'em in free.... Frank (N.Y. Sun) Graham's comment on that snowbound first day: "The horses must have thought [illegible] was crazy."

Monday matinee.

Dutch Harrison's formula for winning the Masters' (or any other big golf tournament): "Shoot 28 on the first nine and then turn on the heat coming home."....Looks as if Paul Runyan had that Augusta affair figured out. He said: "If you stand all right with Hogan, you don't have to worry about par."

Last laugh.

When the authorities ruled that school buses couldn't be used to transport High School teams to contests it put a serious crimp in Ohio's 1,154-school athletic program ....But Sports Editor Jim Schlemmer of the Akron Beacon-Journal commented: "Some weeks ago a lady wrote me letter in which she solved ed the whole transportaiton problem for school athletic teams during the war. Her suggestion was that each school play home games only. It begins to look as if she had something."

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The best commentary on the professional baseball season which gets under way tomorrow with a full schedule in both the National and American Leagues is the fact that Jack Doyle, famous New York betting commissioner, for the first time in his career, refuses to name definite odds on the outcome. This, he explains, is because "of the uncertainty due to the war." In fact, he is so concerned over the outlook that any bets made will be contingent upon all clubs playing at least 100 games. Already 64 players from under the big top are with Uncle Sam's armed forces and there will be plenty more before the season is over. Such stars as Pete Reiser of the Dodgers have been given a 1A rating and it may not be long before their draft call comes. That makes it a little more difficult than usual to dope out the probable results. In the meantime however, the season will get under way with the customary bang and in spite of the war and the calls of the army and navy and of war industries business with baseball is likely to be good.

* * * * * *

As to the probable winners, the Yanks are overwhelming favorites to repeat in the American loop and the chief difference of opinion among the experts seems to be as to whether Boston Red Sox or Jimmy Dyke's amazing White Sox will take the second slot. In the National League race the opinion is divided. St. Louis Cardinals are picked by many baseball sharps to oust the Dodgers from the top of the heap but there are plenty who call the Brooklyn bums to repeat. In this latter school of thought they argue that while the Cards will have great pitching and will have plenty of speed, they will miss the home-run hitting of Johnny Mize. As one commentator expresses it: "Too many one-base hitters on the Cards to make them trumps." The same lack of power is the reason why the experts cannot see the Cincinnati Reds as better than third. They admit that the Reds have the best pitching staff in the league but it is not good enough to carry a second-division attack.

* * * * * *

As for the American loop the Yanks are pictured as being as good, if not better than last year's championship outfit. Bud Hassett replaces Johnny Sturm at first base and the champs will not be weakened at that corner. Gerry Priddy has been going great guns at third base, although Red Rolfe may yet step back on to the difficult cushion and otherwise the infield is the same as last year. And the story is that the Yanks pitching will be better than the 1941 flinging staff. The veterans, Gomez and Ruffing, are considered good for another fine year and much is expected of Johnny Lindell and Hank Borowy. In addition to that Atley Donald and Ernie Bonham who did nothing in spring training a year ago are in the best of shape and ready for work as soon as the season gets under way. Any way we will soon know all about it. The first shots of the 1942 season will be fired tomorrow.

Quakers carried too much power for Dominions in the City League final game at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium Saturday night. Dominions hung on for three-quarters of the game, although always behind but they faded badly in the last ten minutes when the winners looped in basket after basket to take the decision 52 to 25. While there was nearly as much rugby as basketball dished out in a battle of rugged checking, during which 18 personal fouls were called, and many more might have been, it was an interesting battle until the Dominions bogged down in the final quarter. Joe Jakafby carried the mail for the winners. For a long time it looked as if he were the only member of the Quakers that hadn't forgotten how to score for he ran in the first six baskets and was the spearhead of the winners' attack all night, battling under the basket for rebounds and usually cashing in when he got an opening.

The employees of Genelco have organized an inter-department softball league that promises to provide a lot of entertainment during the summer months. Already eight teams have been entered in the loop and as the entries will not be closed until Friday of this week, there may be three or four more clubs in line when the time comes to draw up the schedule. So far the teams in are Engineering, Transportation, Stores and Receiving, Turret Lathes, C.G.E. Inspection, Production, Tool Design and Office. The Geneleco League is headed by Don Holmes of Tool Design as chairman and Alf. Field of the Production department as sec.-treas.

Found Their Fight

Saturday this column opined that if the Toronto Maple Leafs could find a little fight they should take the fourth game in the Stanley Cup series. Evidently they located the fight all right for at Detroit last night they came from behind twice to sew up the game and still had punch enough left to finally notch the winning marker and thus keep the final round alive. The desperate Leaf management, facing elimination in four straight games resorted to the most unusual expedient of dropping two of the four players on the Toronto lineup who had been honored this season by all-star rating. They left the indifferent Gordie Drillon, top scorer, and Bucko McDonald, one of the stars of the Ranger series but a bust against Detroit, sitting it out. Don Metz substituted for Drillon at right wing on the so-called "big line" and the change apparently worked all right for the Metz brothers-Apps division produced the tieing and winning goals in the final period with Apps getting his first goal of the Detroit series.

* * * * * *

The riotous ending of the game leaves a sour taste in the mouths of sport fans. Referee Harwood's work may not have been too good—although that too is a matter of argument—but at any event there was no excuse for the attack that was made upon him at the close of the last period. If it had only been the work of a few hot-headed fans, the assault would have been bad enough but when players take a hand in attacking an official and a manager like Jck Adams also joins in the fray to swing at the referee the whole affair becomes a sporting scandal. It was the duty of Adams, above all men, to do what he could to protect Referee Harwood, and the many friends of the Detroit manager in Peterborough will be at a loss to understand why he failed to do so, instead of becoming a party to the assault. President Calder's action in suspending Adams indefinitely and refusing to permit him to have anything to do with running the Wings in the fifth game in Toronto tomorrow night will be applauded all over the country.

Oshawa Generals left for Winnipeg Saturday night and were given an enthusiastic sendoff by the Motor City fans.

Norman McNeil

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 13.—(AP). —Norman McNeill, 49, a catcher on the Providence, R.I., International League baseball team in 1917 and a former manager of the Johnstown, Pa., team in the Mid-Atlantic League, died in hospital here Saturday. He also played for Peterborough, Ont., in the old Canadian League.

Grant Henry Captures Title In Men's Single Competition

Grant Henry occupied the spotlight at the Peterborough Badminton club's finals played Saturday evening in the Market Hall, when he won the men's singles event, then partnered with Miss Alicia Langley in the mixed doubles to take that event in straight games, 15-9, 15-2. Henry and Max Rishor played well together to win the men's doubles in three set matches and had to put on the pressure to take the final game by one point.

Mrs. Marg. Baker was a little too strong for Miss Mary Cathcart as she won in straight games to capture the ladies' singles. Mrs. Mill. Preston and Miss Florence Adams won the ladies' doubles in two hard fought games.

With the exception of the men's doubles each final match was decided in straight games, but from the first match in every event the large gallery was treated to some thrilling matches and the calibre of badminton displayed was of a very high order.

After the games the annual meeting was held. Activities of the past season were reviewed and the financial statement showed a substantial balance. The trophies were presented to the winners by Lieut.-Col. C. H. Stuart.

The following executive was elected for next season: Mrs. Mill. Preston, Mrs. Marg. Baker, Max Comstock, Howie Shields, Ed. Johnson, Jack Watts and Bob Baker.

Lieut.-Col. C. H. Stuart refereed the games.

The results:

Men's singles—Grant Henry defeated Ron Hiseler, 15-7, 15-6.

Ladies doubles—Mrs. Mill Preston and Miss Florence Adams defeated Mrs. Marg. Baker and Miss Anne Heideman, 18-15, 15-9.

Men's doubles—Grant Henry and Max Rishor defeated Bill Brown and Bob Baker, 15-3, 8-15, 15-14.

Mixed doubles—Miss Alicia Langley and Grant Henry defeated Mr. and Mrs. Bob Baker, 15-9, 15-2.

Consolation Events

Ladies singles—Miss Audrey Baker defeated Mrs. Leone Northrop, 11-5, 9-11, 11-6.

Men's singles—Ed. Johnson defeated Wallace Wright, 15-10, 12-15, 15-2.

Ladies' doubles—Mrs. Eva Copp and Mrs. I. Martin defeated Miss Dorothy Sherin and Miss Jessie Deyell, 15-9, 8-15, 15-11.

Men's doubles—Cliff Cadd and Howie Shields defeated Barney Scarlett and Wallace Wright, 15-9, 15-9.

Mixed doubles—Mr. and Mrs. George Rishor defeated Miss Dora Head and C. Gray 15-9, 15-9.

Memorial Cup Final Tuesday

WINNIPEG, April 13 — (CP). — A sell-out crowd of more than 5,000 will watch Oshawa Generals and Portage la Prairie Terriers here tomorrow night in the opener of a best-of-five series for the Dominion junior hockey title and the O.H.A. Memorial cup. Second game will be played here Thursday.

The Oshawa squad comprising 15 players, arrived here today and immediately headed for the Amphitheatre rink for a light workout. Generals entered the Dominion final by virtue of their four straight victories over Montreal Royals in the Eastern final.

Addie Bell, coach of Terriers, announced his team would be at full strength for the first game. Terriers who defeated Edmonton Maple Leafs in the Western final, played the last game against the Albertans minus two of their stars, defenceman Bill Heindl and their speedy winger, Joe Bell.

Terriers will be out to extend their enviable record of 22 straight games without a loss, including 11 playoff games.

MAPLE LEAFS STOP DETROIT IN FOURTH GAME WITH 4 TO 3 WIN

Jack Adams And Referee Harwood Slug It Out As Game Finishes Calder Suspends Wings' Manager

By WATSON SPOELSTRA
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT, April 13 — (AP). — Hockey's Stanley Cup series, which had the earmarks of a soft touch for Detroit Red Wings with no great excitement about it was turning red hot today in an aftermath to bad blood and battle.

Toronto Maple Leafs are still in the running after their first victory in four games and President Frank Calder of the National League has suspended Manager Jack Adams of the Wings and fined two Wing players $100 each.

At witness to fist fights after Toronto's 4-3 triumph last night, Calder suspended Adams indefinitely and fined Eddie Wares and Don (the Count) Grosso. All three, he said, had figured in an attack on referee Mel Harwood.

Removed From Bench

The suspension of Adams prohibited him from "taking any further part in the bench management" of the Red Wings, but it was debatable whetther that would keep the pugnacious Detroit boss from running his team in tomorrow night's game at Toronto.

If Adams does as expected, he will buy a seat back of the Wing Bench and carry on from there by shouting directions to Coach Ebbie Goodfellow.

When last night's game ended, a melee broke out involving Adams, Wares, Grosso, Referee Harwood and others. The referee had fined both Grosso and Wares in the course of the game. His decisions had been protested by players and booed by fans.

Protection for Calder.

Enraged fans crowded down from the stands, and police formed an escort to get Harwood safely away. Calder, who was here to present the Cup to the Wings if they had won, required protection when he left the Olympia later.

The fighting followed a dramatic comeback from the brink of elimination by Toronto. The Leafs spotted Detroit a two-goal lead in the second period, squared it in a two-minute flurry, fell behind once again in the third period and then put on the clincher with goals by Syl Apps and Nick Metz.

With less than two minutes to play and Red Wings striving desperately to get back in the game, the referee ordered Wares off the ice on a misconduct penalty. Grosso followed him on penalty for delaying the game, and Harwood fined Wares $50 and Grosso $25 when the players protested too vigorously.

Adams dashed across the ice at the final buzzer to talk to Harwood, and fists flew between them. Many in the record crowd of 13,694 fans rushed down to the ice to participate. Police finally got the referee to his quarters without injury.

Grosso got an assist on Sid Abel's goal for his 14th point to equal an individual playoff scoring record established three years ago by Bill Cowley of Boston Bruins. He also has eight goals to match the league record in that department.

While the series goes into extra games, the players' share only in the first four contests. The winners' share in this series is estimated at $1,200 each, with the losers getting $800.

The line-ups:

Major Leagues Open Tuesday With High Hopes

By AUSTIN BEALMER
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, April 13—(AP).—If all the hopes, desires and predictions are fulfilled this year for managers of major league baseball teams, the first divisions of both the circuits are going to be a little crowded.

On the even of the start of the pennant campaigns, not a single manager could be found today who was willing to admit that his club wasn't tagged for an upper berth at the end of the 5½ months' jaunt.

Half of them, if the weather doesn't interfere, are due for a setback tomorrow when all 16 teams are scheduled to break from the barrier together in the first wartime season in 24 years.

The lineup sends New York to Washington, Philadelphia to Boston, St. Louis to Chicago and Cleveland to Detroit in the American League, while the National loop will find Brooklyn at New York, Boston at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh at Cincinnati and Chicago at St. Louis.

The war shared honors with the pennant prospects as the principal topics of conversation in comments collected by The Associated Press from the pilots of the various teams.

From 24-year-old Lou Boudreau, who begins his assignment as manager of Cleveland Indians, to 79-year-old Connie Mack, ready for his 49th season as a skipper and his 42nd with Philadelphia Athletics, the club leaders agree that baseball is in for a big year in spit of the war.

Few dares to pick a winner in the National League, but American League managers with the exception of Joe McCarthy, think New York Yankees are the boys to beat.

Connie Mack picked the Yankees and Boston Red Sox to run one-two in the American League but warned that Chicago White Sox have hidden strength that might put them on top.

Joe McCarthy, manager of the world champions, thinks the season will be a good one and promises "something interesting" from his club, which will be after its sixth American League pennant in seven years.

There was a note of confidence in the statement of Manager Leo Durocher of the National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers, who declared:

"I feel that I have a better club than last year and we won the pennant with that one. It's hard to say who will give us our toughest opposition. After the season opens they're all tough."

"I hope the Indians finish in the first division," said Cleveland's Lou Boudreau. "If the team makes any berth better than fourth, I'll be very happy."

Feller's Loss Hard Blow.

Boudreau's biggest problem is his pitching staff. "I think the loss of Bob Feller was just about the most serious blow a club could possibly suffer," he said. "No one is going to take up all that slack."

Another American League boss who likes the Yankees is Del Baker of Detroit Tigers.

"They say we'll finish fifth or lower," said Baker, "but I'll be mighty disappointed if we don't make the first division...."

"We should have a chance for third with Chicago, Cleveland and St. Louis."

In the opinion of Billy Southworth, whose St. Louis Cardinals are being picked to battle it out with the Dodgers for the National League flag, the 1942 Cards "are a stronger defensive ball club, and have added speed and pitching to an already good pitching staff."

Call for the Yankees.

Joe Cronin believes his Boston Red Sox are as good, if not better, than last year. "The Yankees are favored, of course," he said, "and it's up to Boston, Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland and St. Louis to knock them off."

"It'll be the Yankees again in the American League," said Jimmy Dykes of Chicago's White Sox. "We are an improved ball club, but the best I'm hoping for is third place."

Luke Sewell of St. Louis Browns summed up the situation with: "The team that gets the breaks will win the race. The war is the important thing now. If we don't win that we won't have baseball. The several players we've lost to the armed services so far have not been drafted—they enlisted."

Stratford Kids Whip Sault

SUDBURY April 13 — (CP). — Stratford Canadians are the first Ontario junior "B" hockey champions.

A 7-6 victory over Sault Ste. Marie Rapids here Saturday night gave Canadians the Ontario crown as the climax to the first championship series ever played between junior "B" titlists of the Ontario Hockey Association and the Northern Ontario Hockey Association.

Canadians won the first game of the two-games, total-goals round 4-2, taking the series 11-8.

The O.H.A. champions ran in four goals without a reply against the less-experienced Sault team in the first period Saturday night, but from the beginning of the second to the end Rapids dominated the play. Each club counted twice in the second period, but the Sault bagged four in the third before Stratford scored its final goal.

Bruce Burdett who scored twice in the first game of the series, was the Stratford star again with two goals and an assist. Steve Kostenuik was most effective of the Rapids with a goal and three assists.

Dolly Dolson, the Stratford goalie, was the busiest man on the ice. From the beginning of the second Rapids threw a continuous ganging attack against the Stratford defense but couldn't beat Dolson often enough to make it fully successful.

Sutton Sextet Beaten By Quebec Squad

QUEBEC, April 13—(CP)—Morton Engineering, Quebec and Maritime intermediate hockey champions, captured the Eastern Canadian title here Saturday by turning back Sutton Greenshirts 4-3. The Quebec squad took the best-of-three-game series in straight games, having won the opener here Friday 3-2.

A near capacity house of some 4,500 fans saw an action-packed, cleanly played game, with the home team holding the edge in play. Attention of the crowd, however, was mainly centred on Goalie Ginger Hall of Sutton, who, as in the first game, held the spotlight by turning in a remarkable performance.

Quebec built up a three-goal lead in the first period, but the hard-plugging visitors kept pecking away at the lead until Gilbey, early in the third period, tied up the game. A tally by Lepage near the half-way mark, however rounded out the, scoring and gave the Quebec team the game.

Every move by Hall—and he made many of them—drew rounds of applause from the crowd. Late in the final period, somebody's bowler hat kept flying on the ice, and Hall, after returning it to the owner several times, finally tried it on before putting it on the back of the nets much to the delight of the crowd.

Sutton—Goal, Hall; defence, Pringle, Brandon; centre, McComb; wings, Harris, Culverwell; subs, Diplock, Gibney, Gilbey, Burkholder and Schmidt.

Quebec — Goal, Bolduc; defense, Brodeur, Malenfant; centre, Laforest; wings, Fortin, Lapage; subs, Tremblay, Poulin, Renaud, Mercier, Tondreau, Valenti.

Officials—A Paquet and S. Breen, Quebec.

First Period

1—Quebec, Malenfant (Lepage, Poulin) 12:32
2—Quebec, Valenti (Tondreau) 14:06
3—Quebec, Brodeur 18:55
4—Sutton, McComb 19:54

Penalty—Lepage.

Second Period

5—Sutton, Gibney (Brandon) 16:16

Penalty—Gilbey.

Third Period

6—Sutton, Gilbey (Brandon, Schmidt) 1:07
7—Quebec, Lepage 9:16

Penalties—Gilbey, Culverwell.

Pirates Take Training Title

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP)—The Grapefruit League finally has been squeezed dry and today the golden yellow rind is awarded to Pittsburg Pirates.

It was a furious fight while it lasted, but they managed to nudge St. Louis Browns out of the spring training title by a percentage margin of .341 to .339.

The Bold Buccaneers won 20 and lost seven exhibition games in their transcontinental warmup for the regular National League season while the Brownies captured 17 and lost six.

Some skeptics might regard these accomplishments as of doubtful value in the face of the long and arduous program ahead, but on behalf of the Pirates it might be well to point out that the grapefruit grind was won last year by the Yankees and look where they went to later.

Washington Senators were second a year ago and had their troubles later. This spring the Senators were a rousing third with 21 victories and nine defeats. The Cardinals were a step behind with 22 and 10 followed by the Yanks and Brooklyn Dodgers.

In inter-league competition the American League clubs won 66 games and the National League 64.

Port Arthur Is Within Game Of Cup Finals

PORT ARTHUR, April 13.—(CP)—Port Arthur Bearcats, favorites to beat Kimberley Dynamiters here tonight and win their eighth Western Canada senior hockey championship, have outscored the British Columbians 16-7 in the first three games of their best-of-five series. They lead 2-1 in games.

The Thunder Bay champions, a well-balanced mixture of veterans and youth, outmanoeuvred Dynamiters for a 7-3 victory before 3,500 fans here Saturday night following a similar 8-2 triumph at Regina Thursday night. They dropped the opener at Calgary a week ago 2-1. Fifth game, if necessary, will be played here Wednesday.

A victory tonight for Port Arthur will send them against the highly touted Ottawa Royal Canadian Air Force Flyers at Ottawa Thursday in the opening of the Allan Cup final.

Took A 6-0 Lead

Bearcats ran up a 6-0 lead against Dynamiters in 43 minutes play Saturday and then staved off Kimberley's belated rally.

The Laprade brothers, Edgar and Bert, who scoffed at professional offers from Montreal Canadiens of the National League this season, accounted for three goals and assisted in three others.

Edgar, the pivot ace of the club, had a pair of goals and a couple of assists. Bert is a defenceman. A third brother, Remi, a winger, failed to get into the scoring column.

Lindsay McDougall, Jr., whose father is trainer of Portage la Prairie Terriers, the West's representatives in the Memorial Cup final notched two quick third-period goals. Other Bearcat scorers were Bill Maki and Bill McKenzie.

"Butch" Swaney and "Sully" Sullivan a pair of rushing defencemen, were the only dynamiters able to beat Russ Dertell in the Lakehead goal. Swaney notched two counters when screened shots eluded the netminder and Sullivan sank a fast corner drive after receiving a pass from Curly Hunt.

Allan Cup Final Starts Thursday?

MIDLAND, April 13 — (CP). — George Dudley, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association announced last night that the Allan Cup final between Ottawa R.C.A.F. Fliers, and the Western champions will begin in Ottawa Thursday night if Port Arthur Bearcats close out their Western final Monday night.

The Bearcats have a 2-1 game lead over Kimberley Dynamiters in the best-of-five Western final series. If Dynamiters win, Dudley said new dates for the Allan Cup final will be arranged.

Dependent on a Port Arthur victory Monday night, the second game of the Allan Cup final will be played in Toronto Saturday night, April 18, and the third game in Montreal the following Monday night.

Dates for fourth and fifth games, if necessary, will be arranged later, said Dudley, who added that referees for the final series have not been determined yet.

Raids Widen Out

The Saturday attack upon Rabaul coincided with raids on Lae, on the northeastern coast of New Guinea, and Faisi in the Solomon Islands to the east.

At Lae, a communique said, flying fortress bombers pounded Japanese ships, gun emplacements and buildings, destroying a number of aircraft on the ground. The escorting Australian fighters were credited with downing two Japanese planes which attempted to break up the raid and with damaging four others.

At Faisi, nearly 6,000 miles from Tokyo and at the extreme end of Japan's extended communication lines, the Allied raiders were reported to have bombed docks and harbor facilities.

Initial accounts of the Allied raids yesterday did not mention the destruction of any Japanese planes in air combats. From communiques and semi-official dispatches, however, it was calculated that at least 28 enemy planes had been destroyed or seriously damaged during the two preceding days.

Army Minister Francis Forde returned from a tour of training camps and declared "the whole Australian nation must be organized to meet an immediate attack from a ruthless enemy."

"I am satisfied from personal inspections of troops in Australian and American camps," he said, "that the men are fired with enthusiasm and determination that must meet success if they are backed up by the whole nation.

"There is not a minute to be lost in our war production factories and in the coal mines of Australia if we are to produce our maximum war effort."

He said his visits to various camps "have given a feeling of great confidence in the ability of our army to deal with an attempted invasion or to take the offensive at the proper time.

"There's a grim spirit of offence and ruthlessness in the troops, quickened by the threat of invasion."

Stored Boat Gas Must Be Yielded

OTTAWA, April 13—(CP).—Gasoline stored by non-commercial motorboat owners before the Government's gasoline rationing became effective April 1 must be returned immediately to the bulk station from which it was bought, the Munitions and Supply Department announced Saturday.

The department said, however, that pleasure-boat owners will be allowed to retain the same amount of gasoline as they would be entitled to buy with their regular ration coupons.

Oil Controller G. R. Cottrelle estimated that "as much gasoline as would fill an ocean-going tanker is stored away in private tanks and drums belonging to power-boat owners, There are as many as 1000 gallons here, 500 gallons there, and 100 gallons in another place, all across Canada," he said.

Before the gasoline is surrendered a formal declaration must be made to show the quantity possessed by the owner and how much he is retaining. The new ruling applies only to non-commercial marine engine owners.

What A Torpedo Does To Steel Plate

These twisted steel plates are mute testimony to the terrific force of a torpedo explosion that badly damaged an American ship off the Atlantic coast but failed to sink her. The craft kept afloat until taken under tow and brought to port. She will be repaired to sail the seas again and maybe to put another spoke in the Axis wheel.

Big Jap Fleet

Bay of Bengal, he said:

"On April 4 superior Japanese naval forces which entered the Indian Ocean were observed steering toward Ceylon. These forces comprised at least three battleships, including one modernized 16-inch gun Nagato type, and five aircraft carriers, together with a number of heavy and light cruisers and destroyer flotillas.

R.A.F. Takes Losses

"Several air attacks were delivered on the harbors of Colombo and Trincomalee (Ceylon). As announced the attacking aircraft suffered heavy losses at both places from British fighter protection and from anti-aircraft batteries.

"We also suffered, to a lesser extent but seriously, in aircraft, and damage was done to shore establishments and a few ships that remain in the harbors.

"Besides these losses, two eight-inch gun cruisers — the Dorsetshire and Cornwall—and the aircraft carrier Hermes, which had left the harbor before the attack, were sunk at sea by enemy aircraft.

"The naval operations were under command of Admiral Sir James Somerville, an officer who for the past two years has been engaged in the western Mediterranean and has almost unrivalled experience of the conditions of modern naval war.

"Without giving the enemy useful information, I cannot make any statement about the strength of the forces at Admiral Somerville's disposal nor of the reason which led him to make the dispositions of his fleet for which he was reseponsible.

"Nothing in these dispositions or in the consequencese which followed them have in any way weakened the confidence of the Admiralty in his judgment."

Failed To Contact In Storms

Asked whether the R.A.F. or fleet air arm had been able to carry out attacks against the Japanese fleet, he said:—

"It is quite clear that while the attack on Ceylon was being delivered by the Japanese our torpedo aircraft sallied out to attack the carriers....but owing to thunderstorms and low clouds in that vicinity they did not make contact on that day.

"With regard to Trincomalee, very violent attacks were made by torpedo aircraft that we possessed and also by fighter and bomber aircraft which were on the spot in such numbers as were available. As has been already been published, one of the Japanese carriers was said to have had near misses, but whether any damage was done I have no knowledge.

"Practically all our aircraft taking part in the attack were knocked out, or seriously damaged, or became unserviceable. I think that already has been announced."

To a suggestion that the Admiralty might revert to the old naval strategy of sending only armed raiders and submarines into the zone where the enemy is known to be in preponderant strength, he replied:—

"We have the Pacific Ocean and the Indian Ocean with the Japanese occupying an intermediate position between the two. It is possible to use large forces on one side and small forces on the other, or vice versa."

planes already had reached parity with Germany.

The fierce air fighting which marked the daylight phase of the growing offensive yesterday developed when planes made a bombing sweep over the Hazebrouck yards in Northern France.

The raiders were met by swarms of German fighters and the opposing air forces swiftly tangled in a series of swirling dogfights in which the raiders lost 13 fighter planes and one bomber.

A communique announcing the battle said four German planes were shot down.

There was no German air activity over Britain during the night but this morning two planes swooped upon a south coast town and dropped a number of bombs from a low altitude on a previously-bombed area, most of which had been evacuated.

In a neighboring town there was some casualtiees but none was belived fatal.

The pact provided that such neutrality would be observed throughout any such conflict.

Since its signature Germany has invaded Russia and Japan has gone to war against the United States.

Sappers, Floods Play Havoc

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 13.—(AP)—Russian sappers, extracting all possible aid from nature, have changed the course of flood-waters and washed the Germans out of a fortified village in one of a series of triumphs recorded by Soviet Russia during the week-end.

Dispatches from the rain-drenched front said the engineers defied German guns and dug trenches through which the flood surged upon enemy positions.

Just as the waters swept over the Germans in this village, so is a wave of confidence in ultimate triumph sweeping over the Soviet Union.

Optimistic Russians give three reasons for their confidence:

1. They believe the expected spring offensive will be their offensive.

2. They are convinced the German army will be smashed on Russian soil this year.

3. If the worst should come, they are prepared to fight on, in the Urals or Siberia.

Bolstering the first point, a Soviet brigade commissar broadcast from the front that "a German offensive this spring appears to be most unlikely."

Many Troops Half Trained

He said he based his belief on the statements of German prisoners of war and on the quality of reinforcements the Germans have sent up, consisting "mainly of very young, half-trained men or semi-invalids, deaf and one-eyed or of wounded not quite recovered."

Giving expression to the heightened confidence, Michael Kalinin, nominal head of the country, says:

"Russia is stronger even than we sometimes think."

The Soviet president further says that German aviation no longer is superior in the air; that the Russians gradually are becoming the equal of the Germans in tanks; and that the German army passed the climax of its strength.

On the long front Russian units fighting in the rain torrents were said to have recaptured a town occupied briefly by the Germans in the Bryansk sector and to have liberated two settlements on the Kalinin front.

The Leningrad radio reported that a strategic point called "N" was recaptured with the German loss of 300 men and the destruction of every mortar defending that point.

Official reports added that more than 2,000 Germans were killed in another sector of the Leningrad front and that the Germans lost heavily in hand-to-hand fighting on the central area.

Young's Point News

The many friends of Miss Edna Elliott will be sorry to learn that she has been confined to Toronto General Hospital following a slight operation.

40 Cents For Textiles

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP). Minimum wages in the textile industry were fixed to-day by the United States Labor Department at 40 cents an hour in an action the Department said would mean direct wage increases for 150,000 workers beginning April 20. As defined in the order, the industry includes all textiles except knitted and woollen goods.

LOYAL CITIZENS
DO NOT HOARD!

Hoarders are people who buy and store away goods beyond their immediate needs.

They want to be in an unfair position over their neighbors.

Hoarders are traitors to their country and their fellow citizens, because by creating excessive and unnecessary demands for goods, they slow down the war effort.

There is no excuse for "panic buying" and hoarding. Everyone will have enough, if no one tries to get more than a fair share.

Hoarding must stop! Every unnecessary purchase makes it more difficult for Canada to do a full war job.

THERE'S A LAW AGAINST HOARDING

It is against the law to buy more than current needs.

Violation of the law is punishable by fines up to $5,000. and imprisonment for as long as two years.

AVOID ALL UNNECESSARY BUYING — AVOID WASTE
MAKE EVERYTHING LAST THE LONGEST TIME POSSIBLE

In cases where it is advisable for you to buy in advance of your immediate requirements—such as your next season's coal supply—you will be encouraged to do so by direct statement from responsible officials.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

MEET TOMORROW NIGHT

The annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club will be held in the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night at 7.30 o'clock.

A NEW FLAG

For the first time in many months, a new flag is fluttering from the mast head on top of the Post Office and it makes a pretty picture. The old flag was in tatters, and the local Post Office officials corrected the condition within the past week.

MARIPOSA FIRE BILL

Chief Gimblett advised the city council to charge $50 for the service of the Department equipment at the Hogg and Lytle granary fire at Mariposa Station, plus $14 for the men's time. A Johnson pumper on a trailer was decidedly helpful, and the company has written Chief Gimblett expressing appreciation of the response.

FINES REMAIN SAME

The usual after-the-week-end-roundup of intoxication cases appeared on the docket at police court this morning when three men entered pleas of guilty to being drunk and were fined the customary $10 and costs. Magistrate Langley intimated some time ago that the tariff might be stepped up but the jump has not come yet.

AIRMEN GRADUATE

F. A. O'Heron, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. O'Heron, Mark street, is listed as a graduate as an air-gunner at Jarvis Flying School, along with R. W. Rogers of Havelock. At Mountain View and Uplands large classes were graduated last week-end and among the graduates are G. L. Delaney, Lakefield; H. J. Stuart, Lakefield; G. W. Sweanor, Port Hope and T. Smart of Peterborough.

SEASON EXTENDED.

Harry Jopling, local fur buyer, reported to the Examiner to-day that the muskrat trapping season north of No. 7 Highway has been extended for three days, and thus will close on Thursday of this week.

ANOTHER HOLSTEIN SALE.

Holstein breeders are planning another calf sale as a patriotic feature of the national Holstein sale at Brampton May 27. Breeders contributed 101 calves last year which brought by auction $11,966.06 as a gift to the British Friesian Cattle Society. The special sale for this purpose will be limited to 18 calves this year. A high standard of type, production backing and health has been set for the acceptance of animals.

APRIL BUTTERFLY

Charlie Holland was wondering the other day whence came a yellow butterfly of the cabbage species, but slightly under size. The Examiner had no answer for that question, nor th least idea of its origin; only the comment that it had wandered quite a long way from warm weather.

SHOULD BE WORTHWHILE.

Citizens of the city and district who love to have beautiful homes will enjoy attending a meeting of the Horticultural Society called for Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Department of Agriculture office. A new film entitled "Spring to Fall" sponsored by the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, will be shown, and it has been edited by some of Canada's leading horticulturists. G. K. Fraser, M.P., will also show a few films which he took a short time ago. There is no admission charge and the meeting is not restricted to members of the Horticultural Society.

City Invested $160,000 In County Roads

"Peterborough has invested something like $160,000 in county roads," M. H. Gainey of the Suburban Area Commission remarked to the Examiner today. "That is just a rough estimate. The amount might be more than that. The city has been contributing $10,000 annually for many years to the Suburban Area Commission to be expended on the improvement of the roads designated to the Suburban system."

Mr. Gainey mentioned a meeting this afternoon of representatives of the city and county councils and the Commission to discuss the reduced subsidy which is worrying all hands in the road administration business.

The Ontario government will contribute something like $24,000 for county road work this year, about half the subsidy paid last year.

Simcoe county seems to have fared somewhat better than Peterborough. They spent $140,000 in 1941, and they have been notified that the Department will not pay subsidy on anything more than $86,000; a reduction of about one-third as compared with Peterborough's one-half. The Simcoe county engineer informed the council that all construction work would have to be suspended, "and maintenance, too, will have to suffer."

The Peterborough Commission has been held up of late by lack of definite information especially about their available funds. They have not tried to lay out any program of work, but it was expected thtat this afternoon's meeting would produce some understanding and agreement.

Traffic Crash Puts Three In The Hospital

Three youths had to be taken to hospital and two motor vehicles were badly damaged as the result of a traffic accident on Water Street North early Sunday morning, when a northbound car collided with a parked automobile.

The injured men were Bert Middleton, 200 Antrim Street, who was removed to Nicholls Hospital, suffering from cuts on the forehead, ear, face and right knee, requiring 12 stitches; Bernard O'Brien, 51 Wolsley Street, St. Joseph's Hospital, left leg cut by glass, and Pte. Nicholas Long, Barriefield Camp, St. Joseph's Hospital, suffering from bruises. The last two were taken to hospital by Officer Naples in a police cruiser.

The accident happened when a car driven north on Water Street by O'Brien, with Middleton and Long as passengers, smashed into the rear end of a parked car owned by Don Lloyd of Lakefield, and left in front of 826 Water Street by J. G. O'Toole of that address.

After the crash the O'Toole car toppled over on its left side and the front and side of the vehicle was almost completely wrecked. The parked automobile, driven forward some distance, was damaged around the rear.

Slav Vagrant Bites Officer

Arrested by Provincial Constable Archie Grayling of Havelock and Constable W. Parcels of Norwood in a C.P.R. took shed near Norwood Saturday, Frederic Rak, a transient, put up a fierce battle before being overcome and handcuffed by the officers.

Rak had been sleeping in the tool shed and when the two officers arrived to investigate, he fought viciously, biting Constable Grayling on the hand, before he was subdued. He was brought to Peterborough, and this morning in p... court was charged with vagrancy.

At the request of the Crown, Rak, who said he came from Central Europe, and spoke Bohemian, was remanded for a week. Magistrate Langley suggested that an interpreter should be secured before the next hearing.

"If you cannot understand me any better than I do you," said His Worship, "we will certainly need one."

Rak carried discharge papers from a Canadian regiment in his pocket when arrested.

Pupils In City's Public Schools Buy $1,200 War Stamps Monthly

Pupils in the public schools of the city have been stepping along in high gear to aid the war effort on the home front since this year started, and their efforts to date have been commendable.

At the last meeting of the Board of Education, K. S. Wightman, school inspector, reported that a collection had been made for the Junior Red Cross through the medium of collecting salvage and disposing of it, and the net profit was $204.00. Besides this the schools held the annual school concert which came through with $140.00 profit and this money will be distributed among war charities.

Following up the sale of War Savings Stamps which was started some months ago, the pupils in the different schools have stepped up sales and for the first three months of the year, they have not been below the $1,200 mark. In January total sales amounted to $1,330.25, In February to $1,216.00 and in March to $1,206.25.

Brinton Carpet Total $542 For War Victims

Commencing on December 23, 1939, the employees of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. Ltd., have been contributing on an average of at least once every two weeks to the City and District Fund for British War Victims.

Comparable to the steadiness with which the fund itself has been operating it expresses in the most tangible way, their desire to be of help to those who suffer from the prosecution of the war, and it will be ever to their credit that they have lived up to the best of true British character for steadiness of purpose in pursuing an object for the good of mankind to the bitter end, and in continuance of their good work, their 42nd donation is listed today in an amount of $12.50 which brings the total they have given the fund up to the splendid total of $542.50.

Under the name of "A friend from Crawford's Grove" a personal donor makes his sixth donation of $10 and the Penny Box at the Royal Bank of Canada yielded $3 when collected by the secretary of the fund on Saturday. For the second time in a row, this box contained some paper money, the time previous it had a $2 bill in it, and this time there was a $1 bill.

One contribution for $3 to make the second of its kind is listed under the name "The extra cent a day" from E. A. and M. and could the secret of its source be disclosed, it would reveal how people can be very far removed from the state of affluence, and yet give a helping hand to those in need.

The Get-Together Club is sponsoring the sale of tickets at 10 cents each or three for 25 cents on a hand embroidered pair of pillow slips worked and donated by Mrs. Stewart of 545 Aylmer street, from which the whole of the proceeds will come to the fund. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Stewart or any member of the club.

Postpone Wrecking Charlotte St. Stores

Occupation of the stores on the south side of Charlotte street will not be interrupted according to a recommendation of the council last week. They recommended to the Department of Public Works that the proposed demolition of the stores be indefinitely postponed, and the present tenancy be changed to a monthly basis.

The stores were to have been removed by the end of this month and the whole area south to King street was intended for parking purposes. However, since then the emergency of parking has been hit by the war's pinching of rubber and gasoline, and the council and everybody else has changed their collective mind. The public agrees that the parking question can be shelved until after the war, and although they are a blemish on the central business section the old stores might as well continue their lease on usefulness for the time being.

In the meantime the Board of Works has begun grading the area at the rear of the stores, but that job was held up for the melting of ice covered by sawdust.

66% Perth Farmers Reply To Survey

Of the 4,652 farmers in Perth county, 3,080, or 66 per cent., filled in and returned their agricultural survey forms. The compiled facts show that 47 per cent. of the farmers in Perth are without sufficient help to maintain their 1941 production. Their plans indicate prospective increases for this year; chickens to be kept 20 per cent. increase; wheat acreage also 20 per cent.; dairy cows to be milked 4 per cent. increase; (these are all increases) sows to be kept 7 per cent.; bacon hogs to be marketed 10 per cent.; spring grain production 2 per cent.; purchase of fertilizer 20 per cent. Sixty per cent. of the farmers will use fertilizer this season. Milk is produced for butter by 59 per cent. of the farmers in Perth; of the remainder, 30 per cent. produced milk for cheese; 7 per cent. for powdered or condensed milk and 4 per cent. for fluid purposes.

The county has 1,153 tractors, 427 of them available for custom work. There are also 36 combines, 216 milking machines, 179 plows, 969 cultivators, 291 discs and various other machines.

There are 1,173 farmers in the county who reported that they have not adequate help for 1942; 969 have enough help; 395 have a hired man "at present." Increase in wages since the war was ... per cent.

GOLD IN THE SEA

Immense quantities of gold are suspended in ocean waters, but the metal is too widely diffused for profitable recovery.

He Guards Panama

Brigadier-General A. H. Gilkeson, of Lansdowne, Pa., is shown in the cockpit of his plane as he was about to take off from a jungle airport, somewhere in Panama, for a routine checkup with his fighter pilots. His interceptor planes guard the approaches to the vital Panama Canal.

Seven Officers Leaving For West Coast

The fortunes of war sent sent members of the Prince of Wales Rangers to various parts of Canada for specialized training, and announcement over the week-end brought news that eight men are being posted to the sunny shores of the Pacific in British Columbia for special courses.

Lack of accommodation at points closer home, makes it necessary for seven officers and one non-commissioned oficer to leave today for Gordon Head, Vancouver Island, where there is an officers' Training Centre, and these men are as follows: Lieut. R. O. Standish; 2/Lieuts. Lorne Bateman, Alex L. Elliott, Allan Heideman, R. H. Ingram, Jack G. Nicholls, J. J. Urie, and Company Sgt.-Major Instructor N. H. Chate, who is going to the officers' training centre as a cadet, and when he obtains his commission will be posted for duty with the Prince of Wales Rangers.

J. G. Nicholls has just completed a one month course at the Canadain School of Army Administration at St. John, Quebec. They may be absent for some months.

Kinsmen Plan Radio Show

A mammoth radio variety show lasting three hours is being arranged by the Peterborough Kinsmen Club to obtain funds for their Milk for Britain fund, and the show is as ambitious as any which has been arranged in the larger cities of Canada in recent years.

Merchants and manufacturers in the city have contributed to sponsor the club for the time on the air, and the show goes on May 1 from 8 until 11 in the evening. Already several well known artists, prominent in the radio world have volunteered their services and there will be several outstanding local musicians and singers who have also offered to assist in any way they can. Donations will be solicited over the air, and in conjunction with the radio show a big raffle will be held. This raffle will be on prizes ranging in value from $5.00 to $25.00 and to tie in with the scheme, tickets on the prizes are being printed in strips much like milk tickets. The Sunshine Dairy has undertaken to provide these tickets as a donation to the Club.

Prizes will be drawn for during the broadcast which will take place from the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute and the tickets which go on sale on Tuesday will sell at ten cents each. Ken Smyllie, chairman of the Milk for Britain Fund for the Kinsmen reported today that the response so far has been magnificent and he states every penny raised will go to the Fund, as expenses will be extremely light.

Ed Riley Is Elected Head Kawartha Club

The annual meeting of the executive council was held in the club house of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club on Friday night to hear reports and elect directors, officers and the various committees.

The retiring president, I. F. McRae, in his remarks, stated that there had been a slight drop in the membership during the year 1941, but this was largely due to men joining the colors. The membership was still large, and present indications were that it would remain so.

Although no major changes or additions had been made to the club property, buildings and grounds were kept in good condition.

He reported that the tree nursery which had been started a few years ago was now bearing results. Some 25,000 trees from this nursery were planted out last fall and the mortality rate was expected to be lower than that experienced with purchased trees due to the fact that they were out of the ground for a very short time. He thanked the officers and committees for their support, and wished the incoming officers every success.

The treasurer, T. Glover, presented his financial report which showed the club to be in a sound financial condition.

R. M. Glover voiced the opinion that more attention should be given to the training and encouragement of junior members. To foster this move he was willing to present to the club a trophy for annual competition among 'teen-age boys.

This was gladly accepted by the president on behalf of the club, who assured him that he was certain the incoming directors would do all they could to make this new competition a success. A new committee will be formed to cover field days and will function independently of the Handicap Committee which has been responsible for these events in previous years. This committee is being formed to stimulate a greater interest in field days and relieve the already overloaded Handicap Committee of an added burden.

Executive Council—B. Ottewell, W. Hodgson A. B. Hood, F. J. Overend, R. M. Glover.

Board of Directors—G. C. Solmes, B. I. Burgess, Ed. Riley.

Golf Committee—A. B. Hood, S. R. Adamson, H. Pownder, G. C. Solmes, R. M. Glover.

Handicap Committee— L. Brown, F. Jobbitt, W. B. Brown.

Auditors — E. M. Barry, S. R. Adamson.

At the conclusion of the executive council meeting the board of directors held a special meeting to elect officers for the year as follows: President, Ed. Riley; 1st vice-president, J. E. Girven; 2nd vice-president B. I. Burgess; treasurer, T. Glover; secretary, R. MacMorran.

W. Russell Philp Joins Elliott And Chandler

A new legal partnership has been formed in Peterborough by the entry of W. Russell Philp, B.A., into the firm of Elliott & Canhler. Mr. Elliott is now on active service and the firm name hereafter will be Elliott, Philp and Chandler.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew McMahon, 1 Maniece Avenue, wish to announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Georgina Bernadette, to Mr. Raymond Thomas Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burke, Otonabee street. The wedding will take place April 25, at Immaculate Conception Church.

The engagement is announced of Greta Elizabeth, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reynolds of Smith, to Sydney Bruce, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heard, also of Smith. Wedding will take place middle of April.

DIED

BLODGETT, John Edward.—At his home, Sherbrooke street west, North Monaghan, on Sunday morning, April 12, 1942, aged 58 years. Loving father of Mrs. Charles Griffin of Peterborough and Thomas and Harold at home, and brother of Arthur, Andrew, Justice and George Blodgett, all of Peterborough. The remains will rest at the J. J. Duffus Funeral Parlors. The funeral will leave the parlors at 8.45 on Wednesday morning, and will proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral, where Mass of Requiem will be offered at 9 o'clock for the repose of his soul. Interment, St. Peter's Cemetery.

TOWNS, Michael—Hastings, Ontario.—Following a short illness at St. Joseph's Hospital, on Saturday, April 11, age 69 years. Beloved husband of Minnie Hynes and loving father of Mrs. Edward McMullen, Stella, Ontario; Kathleen and Bernard at home; Mrs. Harold Schryver, Gerald and Francis Towns of Peterborough, and Vincent of Campbellford. The remains will rest at 451 Armour Road. The funeral will leave the residence at 8.30 on Tuesday morning, April 14, and will proceed to St. Joseph's Church, Douro where Mass of Requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment, St. Joseph's Cemetery, Douro.

EAGLESON, Martha.—At her late residence, Coldsprings, Ontario, on Saturday, April 11, Martha Brooks, widow of the late Alexander Eagleson, grandmother of Mrs. Jack Comstock of Peterborough, and sister of Mrs. Mary McIntosh of Gore's Landing, and mother-in-law of Mr. T. O. Donaldson, Peterborough.

Funeral service on Tuesday, April 14, 1942, at 2 p.m. from her late residence. Rev. N. Fisher of Plainville United Church officiating clergyman. Interment, Plainville Cemetery.

PULSER, Miss Susannah.—In Peterborough, on Sunday, April 12, 1942, Susannah Pulser, in her 77th year. The funeral will be held on Tuesday from the home of her brother, James Pulser, Hastings. Service at the house at 2 p.m. Interment, Roseneath Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

WALKER.—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. John Walker, who passed away five years ago today, April 13, 1937.

No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have loved can tell
The grief we bear in silence
For the one we loved so well.

—Ever remembered by Husband and Family.

DUNFORD.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. William L. Dunford, who passed away two years ago, April 13, 1940.

Two years have passed, dear mother,
Since the angels came for you,
Yet through the mist of those two years
Your face comes smiling through.
Your faint last wish we should like to have heard,
And breathed in your ear one parting word,
Only we who have lost you are able to tell
The pain of our hearts in not saying farewell.
The flowers we place upon your grave
May wither and decay,
But the memory of the one that sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.

—Ever remembered by her Family.

MORRISON.—In loving memory of John Morrison, who passed away April 12, 1941.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is still;
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
Call not back the dear departed
Anchored safe where storms are o'er,
On the borderland we left him
Soon to meet and part no more.
When we leave this world of changes,
When we leave this world of care,
We shall find our missing loved ones
In our Father's mansion fair.

—Ever remembered by Wife and Family.

CARDS OF THANKS

The family of the late John Carter wish to thank their many kind friends who sent flowers, their many kind expressions of sympathy, and those who assisted in any way during their recent sad bereavement.

"Mexican Masquerade"

By CECIL CARNES

STATE OF SIEGE
CHAPTER XVI

"How do you happen to have the transcript of that cable, Colonel?"

"You have seen me excuse myself each evening after dark. It was to go down to the shore and receive a water-tight cylinder of reports from a Peninsula Indian who swims them down from a point five miles up the gulf. Business as usual, senor! That transcript was part of last night's grist from the mill."

"I see. Swims five miles, huh? What about the snarks?"

"I don't believe a shark would bite a Peninsula Indian," said Escobar thoughtfully. "I wouldn't care to myself. However, that is how I received the copy even before De Fontanelle received the original."

"But, Colonel," interjected Kay, her eyes opening at him, "if this Indian comes ever night, why hasn't he brought a boat in which you could have escaped to the mainland and arranged for our rescue?"

"I could have done no more out in the world than I am doing here, senorita, believe me. If I should go, our enemies would smell a rat and perhaps destroy you people as any criminal destroys evidence. While I'm here, they think they have me under control. Also, remember I have a revolver, as they know, and something of a reputation as a marksman. They're less likely to start 'rough stuff,' as you would say."

In other words still, mused Allan, regarding the rurale thoughtfully, Escobar was quite simply risking his life rather than leave them to face the angry Japanese alone. Their truculence had been growing, too, as the radio brought news of steadily increasing tension in the Orient between the United States and Japan. There was the matter, too, of the curt note Watanabe had sent Escobar the morning after his capture, advising him to call in a priest and shrive his soul, since General Baron Sagoya would return in a week to dispose of his case.

"Permit me to tell you, Colonel," said Allan slowly, "one thing I have learned down here; if we get into this war and you fellows come in with us, we'll have an ally whose efficiency will amaze the world."

"Why, thank you, senor, thank you! And never doubt for a moment, if you go in, we'll be there with you!"

* * *

The next morning, barely an hour after dawn, Allan awoke from a dream of battlefields in Russia. A few second he lay drowsing, then sprang from his bed to his feet in one jump. Machine guns! The usually quiet morning was being turned into a hell of noise by the sharp chatter of machine guns! Dozens of them, it sounded like!

A spurred step, grown familiar, rang in the corridor. The colonel stood in the doorway, smiling and pulling at his mustache.

"Hola! Get up, sleepy-head! You're missing a battle!"

"What the devil is it?" cried Allan, clawing on clothing with both hands. "Have the U.S. Marines landed?"

"You were expecting them, perhaps? No, senor, it is only a body of roughly clad fellows who are attacking the main island from the Peninsula shore. The cannery has made many bitter enemies among the local fishermen, you understand. Or they may be just bandits."

"Bandits! With machine guns?"

"Mexican bandits, too, are efficient," said Escobar blandly. Then he laughed suddenly at Allan's expression and threw out his slender hands in a gesture of surrender "No, my friend, I will be frank with you. What you are about to witness is an affair of international diplomacy."

"Diplomacy! With brass knuckles?"

"In a sense. It is this way, senor: Mexico discovers a Japanese outfit grossly violating her neutrality. If she protests to Japan, what happens? Japan smiles; she is so sorry, but she cannot hold herself responsible for the acts of unofficial Japanese. So Mexican bandits wipe out the unofficial Japanese, and if Japan protests—are we, nationally, responsible for a stray bunch of outlaws? You see?"

"My aunt! Well, who are these fellows, then?"

"My own regiment of rurales, senor. They have ridden here from Ensenada to rescue their colonel and his friends! They will show you, I hope, that a Mexican rurale can land as effectively as your Marines!"

* * *

They hastened to the foyer, whence they might have a full view of the hostilities without exposing themselves to stray bullets. Kay was already there, staring at the scene before her in bewilderment, Escobar thoughtfully brought chairs, observing they could consider themselves as having a stage box for the coming show. It should, he said, be good.

It was good; so Allan decided as he settled with quickening pulse to watch the first real battle he had ever seen. Meanwhile, in a low incisive tone that carried beneath the inferno of noise to the story he had told Allan. He had, it appeared, been up at dawn when the "bandits" arrived.

"They sent a flag of truce—three men and an officer—to demand the unconditional surrender of the island. Watanabe rejected the notion with scorn. The flag went back. As the four men stepped on the beach, a machine gun opened on them from the island, killing or wounding all of them. The flag party, you understand!"

"The yellow devils!" growled Allan.

"They will be sorry," predicted Escobar softly. "Our fellows will remember that when the time comes!"

The happy moment, however, hardly seemed imminent. On the shore, men and guns were sheltered cunningly behind boulders and in the scrub. A black muzzle would appear to come out again at another spot. On the island, innocent looking rocks would be revealed abruptly as pillboxes, spitting flame and smoke and singing lead. But neither side could penetrate the other's defense of stone and concrete.

"Devil take it!" grumbled the colonel. "I knew they had fortified the place; I didn't know they had converted it into a Gibraltar!"

At the end of an hour he was knitting his brows; at the end of two, he was biting his nails; at the end of three, he was actually chewing his mustache. Then Allan clutched at his arm and pointed to the western sky.

"Look, Escobar! Look!"

One minute it was a tiny speck. The next, it was a plane. Then suddenly it was a huge amphibian bomber which was power-diving at the men on the peninsula even before they were aware of the death overhead. No bombs were dropped—Allan remembered what Dr. Sargent had said about the sensitive quality of the new explosive—but from each flank of the great plane, and from its bow, guns spat destruction on the scurrying figures below.

The ship straightened out, soared aloft, came streaking down again. It was more than flesh and blood could stand. The Mexicans scattered and ran, searching madly for crevices in the rocks in which they might hide. For the moment, the siege of the cannery was definitely lifted. As if scorning to pursue the fugitives, the bomber circled the spot once or twice, then dropped softly to the blue water of the gulf. It taxied to within 50 feet of the island's main pier, then stopped. For the first time Allan could make out the insignia of the fuselage. A great black swastika!

Spasmodic Help.

LONDON, April 13 — (CP).—The Evening News, first newspaper to comment on the failure of Sir Stafford Cripps' "gallant mission," said today that the all-India Congress Party "which purports to speak for at least half of India's teeming millions stubbornly shuts its eyes to the imminence of invasion."

This means, the newspaper added, that "such help as we may get from India will be entirely individual and spasmodic."

"Our weakness in these vital strategic areas has been demonstrated by the tragic events of the past few weeks," the newspaper added.

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP). Representative Jack Nichols (Dem.-Oklahoma) said in an interview today that all commercial air lines in the United States will be operating exclusively for war purposes "very soon." Nichols, chairman of a special House Representatives Aviation Investigating Committee, forecast that all passenger travel by air, not connected with the war effort, would be eliminated.

Make Braided Rug for Homelike Air

No Special Equipment Needed

Of bright cotton fabrics, this braided rug gives a homelike charm to your room!

You can easily make it yourself, using materials on hand. A pretty combination—and the right amount for a cozy 24-by-36-inch size—would be 4 yards dark blue fabric, 3 yards figured, 2 yards white.

Now all you have to do is tear your fabric into strips, about 3 inches wide by 1¼ yards long, and start braiding them! But first turn in ½ inch on each side of each strip, press down, and fold through the middle. Then, as you braid, fold again.

It's a good idea to make your very first strips of uneven length, so that joinings won't occur at the same places. When you add new strips, cut the ends diagonally and sew together.

As soon as the braid is all prepared, measure off 12 inches on the blue, turn, and sew with heavy thread. Follow 4 rows of blue by 1 white, 8 figured, 1 white, and 3 blue.

Our 32-page booklet tells in detail how to braid and finish this pretty rug, also has easy instructions for hooked, crocheted, woven and tufted rugs. Includes many novel types.

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHAT LAWS ARE FOR

LAWS ARE NOT meant primarily to bring about justice, but to establish order. This is true with the laws of the land and also with the laws of bridge. In fact, any game is an artificial fabrication created by a set of laws prescribing the equipment to be used and regulating the use of it in various circumstances. If you do not follow all of those laws, including the penalties provided in them for infractions, you are not playing that game. Sometimes application of a penalty produces a profit instead of a loss to the guilty party. If you are the innocent sufferer from such a thing, your job is to grin and bear it.

This hand brought the first case in which Alexander M. Sobel, great tournament director, was called by his wife, Helen Sobel, top-ranking championship player of the world for the last season, to rule on an infraction. East had made an out-of-turn lead of the club Q.

Mr. Sobel ruled properly that his wife, the declarer, could either treat that card as a "penalty card," to be played or led the first time it could be legally, or name a suit which the correct leader should lead.

Mrs. Sobel selected the second penalty and commanded West to lead a diamond. Having none, West was then permitted any lead he desired. He selected the club 5. The 10 won this, the diamond 4 was returned for a ruff, the club 4 was sent to the Q and the diamond 3 was led for a second ruff, setting the contract.

Here is the sad part—everybody else in the tournament made 5-Hearts on the hand because West led the club K and A. If Mrs. Sobel had called for a heart lead, she would have made 6-Hearts, giving her top instead of bottom score.

Belmont Council Names Assessor

HAVELOCK, April 13—(ENS).—The regular meeting of the Belmont-Methuen Township Council was held in Havelock on April 4, with Reeve Anderson presiding and Councillors McNeely Newton and Purdy present. Melville Dafoe was named assessor of the township for this year. The salary was set at $150 which includes postage and stationery. The amount of $25.00 is to be advanced before April 30 for postage and stationery, $50.00 when the resident roll is completed, and the last $75.00 when both rolls are returned. This on motion of Councillors McNeely and Purdy.

On the motion of Councillors Purdy and Newton, an order was placed with the Roofus Supply Co. for 1,600 feet of snow fencing and 100 steel posts 6 feet long.

It was moved by Councillors Newton and McNeely that the E½ Lot 23, Concession 6, Belmont, be sold to Owen Smith for the sum of $25.00, and that Edward Fennell be authorized to draw up the deeds for this property.

On motion of Councillors McNeely and Newton, that the assessor be supplied with a book so that each dog owner will be required to sign as to the number of dogs owned or harbored by the tenant or owner. And that the assessor be authorized to collect the tax from those who have no taxes other than on dogs.

The Council decided on the motion of Councillors Purdy and Newton that in future this Council will pay $30.00 towards defraying the cost of an indigent funeral in Belmont and Methuen.

The Government road subsidy, amounting to $4,825.92 has been received. This is equal to 80 per cent.

Bancroft News

The Easter ball which was held in Weaver's Hall in Maynooth on Monday evening under the auspices of the Anglican Church was a huge success. An unusually large attendance was on hand for the dance. During intermission lunch was served and the drawing took place for the two quilts, luncheon cloth, and pillow slips on which tickets previously had been sold. Miss Martha Soble and C. Burlanyett of Maynooth were winners of the quilts. Harry Jordison of Lake St. Peter won the luncheon cloth, and Shirley Kuno of New Carlow the pillow slips. The party ended shortly after 2 a.m. with the playing of "God Save the King." Net proceeds from the evening's function amounted to $175.00.

The Badminton Club in Bancroft held a bridge party in the Community Hall, Bancroft, on Monday eevning. There was not large attendance due to adverse weather conditions. During the serving of lunch the bridge prizes were distributed as follows: Ladies' high bridge, Mrs. W. A. Davy; gentlemen's high bridge, P. McCaul; ladies' low bridge, Mrs. T. Kavanagh; gentlemen's low bridge, C. Stringer.

"Butch" Killed In Action

"Butch," beloved mascot of an R.A.F. armored car squadran, died on the field of battle in Libya, barking defiance at the enemy during a dive bomber attack on a forward landing ground. Loyal and devoted to the last, his loss is mourned by all who knew him. "Butch" was unofficially awarded the Military Cross when his master received that honor. "Butch" is shown here as he sat on his master's car before the fatal dive bomber attack.

British, U.S. Navies Face Vital Test Next 3 Mos. As Axis Pick Off Bases

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 13—(AP).—Great Britain and the United States face a desperate battle in thre next three months to maintain dominion of the seas because of steady Axis progress in picking off key bases throughout the world, an informed naval observer said today.

Bataan's conquest fits into the Axis pattern since it raises the imminent possibility that Manila Bay will be opened to aid Japan's lunge toward India and the threatened junction with Germany somewhere in the near east, this source declared.

"We must face the facts," he said gravely. "The Japanese, German, and Italian fleets are nearing numerical superiority, if they have not yet achieved it.

"Every Allied loss, such as the sinkings of the British cruisers Dorsetshire and Cornwall in the Bay of Bengal, cuts whatever edge we have in guns and ships.

"The great naval bases on which Anglo-American sea supremacy rests either have been captured, attacked, or are continually menaced by the adroit use of combined air and sea power."

The Axis opportunity to take over the Vichy French fleet was described by this source as "too good to miss." He believed it would be seized and combined with the Italian navy to support an Axis offensive against Egypt and points east, and thus prepare the way for a blow at Russia's Caucasian flank.

"The great surface units of the Nazis, the battleship Tirpitz and the battle cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, the Italian battle squadron, and the entire Japanese first battle line are being husbanded carefully against the day when the Axis forces major sea battles in both the Pacific and Atlantic."

Count On Air Edge, Fresh Crews.

The Axis, he said, counts on victory in these forthcoming battles because of greater air power, fresh crews, and the time factor in American armament production.

"Victory would mean the virtual closing of all the important maritime communications among Russia and the United Nations across the Atlantic, through the Indian Ocean and around the North Cape.

"The Germans learned a lot of lessons from the first Great War. Not the least was at Jutland. They believe that the battle there decided the fate of the old German empire, but that the new Jutland, to be fought off Norway, New York or Calcutta, will defeat the British Empire and confine the American war effort to North America."

Nazi reverses in Russia, the constant stream of Allied troops to Australia, the Middle East and Britain, and the prodigious scale of Allied material aid to Russia, have demonstrated that seapower is a necessary adjunct to any plan for world conquest.

He pointed out, too, that the Japanese are striking across the Indian Ocean to cut the supply lines through Mozambique Channel which lead to India, the Middle East and southern Russia.

The loss of the Prince of Wales, the Repulse and now two heavy cruisers under Japanese air attacks, he said, bring the Nipponese blockade of this East African channel "within the scope of the imminent developments of the war at sea."

"The ultimate objective of the German U-boat campaign off the eastern United States coast," he said, "is to pin American destroyers and cruisers in home waters, thus depriving important convoys to Britain of these escorts."

"Replacements in British and American navies will make up for all losses through April 1—but not until the end of this year. So the next three months is our critical period."

Speed Counts In Modern Warfare

In addition to her seasoned units overseas, Canada is today training a modern, hard-hitting and speedy army in camps throughout Canada. Here mobile units of an infantry regiment, a motorcycle and universal carrier, speed up the brow of a hill during training manoeuvres at Camp Borden.

Peterboro County Schools

Potash For Charcoal Provided Money For Early Settlers of School Section No. 14, Belmont-Methuen

School section No. 14 Belmont and Methuen comprises the 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th concessions in Belmont township from lots 24 to the north boundary and the first five lots in the 10th, 11th and 12th concessions of Methuen.

This area consists of rough, stony farm land and scrub bush land. Originally the bush land was covered with hardwood and tall cedars, but in the middle of the 19th century, lumber companies opened camps in the district and cut most of the first growth timber. The trees which subsequently grew were mostly soft wood, such as white birch, poplar and Balm of Gilead.

About 1880 the first settlers came to the district. Among them were John Hubbel, Elijah Hubbel, Sam Munro and Robert Merriam. They built log houses and started to clear their land for cultivation. Cash was exceedingly difficult to obtain in those days and most necessitaties were got by barter. However, cash was obtainable for potash which was marketed in Norwood for charcoal which was sold to local blacksmiths and for barrel hoops which were made and delivered to Peterborough for $4 a thousand.

The men spent their winters in lumbering and their summers in river-driving and growing farm crops. The women looked after the cattle and did much of the farm work. They also spun yarn, wove cloth and made all their own clothes. Most of the farm implements such as scythes, cradles, 'dutch' wagons, etc., were home-made.

In those days flour at $10 a hundred pounds was too dear for the settlers to buy, so they lived chiefly time were about $10 a month.

In 1886 there were about forty children of school age in the settlement, so it was dceided to build a school. The present school house, which is made of cedar logs, is the original building. Its first benches were made by Robert Merriam from lumber drawn from Trent River. He was the first school secretary and Miss Maggie Mahood the first teacher. Until 1919 the school was closed during the winter months each year.

The school is still heated by the same large box stove which has been the school's sole source of artificial heat since 1886. Ventilation is obtained by windows, two of which face the north and two the south.

The school has had a garden since 1926, in which flowers and vegetables have been grown, and agricultural experiments have been carried out. In 1939 a five-year plan was begun by the children for improving the school grounds. The vegetables grown in the school garden are used for hot lunches in the winter.

The first school flag was presented by the Marshall family in memory of their mother. Fred Marshall of Peterborough, a former game warden, was one of the donors. He received his primary education at this school. In 1930 the original flag pole became unsafe for use, and for nine years the flag was not flown. However, in 1940 a new pole was erected and a new Union Jack was received through the Roycroft Chapter of the I.O.D.E., Toronto.

This school was adopted by Roycroft Chapter in 1939. The members have assisted the board in many ways. They have presented books to the library, furnished the school with first aid kit and provided the children with oil cloth desk covers (for use at lunch time), and individual towels, besides many lesson-helps and suprise treats for the children.

New desks wer provided in 1932. Some years previously a teacher's desk, organ and hanging clock had been bought. Although agriculture has been taught in the school for more than a decade, the children have never been fortunate enough to take part in a school fair owing to transportation and other difficulties.

Some of the recent teachers were: Miss Stewart (1926); Miss Beckner (1927), Miss Price (1927-29); Miss Jones (1930), Miss Baxter (1930), Miss Symonds (1930 and Mrs. Sleep since 1931.

Our school house is the only community hall in the section, so it is used for elections, also by visiting preachers for religious services. Concerts and social gatherings are also held there. Nearly all the present residents are descendants of the orignal settlers and most of them received all their education in the little log school house of which they are very proud.

Cordoval School

The original school in this district was in Marmora township, Hastings county about one mile east of there. It was a long building, 18 feet by 24 feet, built in 1862. A silver maple stood five feet from the southeast corner of the school, and to this day it overhangs the hollow foundation of the elm log school and the roadside, a monarch of its species and a landmark in the neighborhood.

This school had only two small windows in each side, a door in front and an entrance under the logs in the side where pupils are said to have passed in and out on their hands and knees in the summer. The traditional benches were in use for seats, and although the school was heated by a stove it is said the birch rod was a rather frequent auxiliary.

Although the neighboring school section boarded their teacher in every residence in turn a week at a time, Cordova school section had the teacher live in the school and board himself at a salary of $300 a year. He also cut the wood and swept the floor as additional duties covered by his salary.

In 1881 this log building was replaced by a frame school built across the concession road on a hill on the southeast corner of lot 21, Marmora. It had four windows in each side, a door at the front and a set of twenty desks which to this day are doing service in the senior room of the present school. It also was equipped with the blackboards now used on the west wall of the senior room and on the east wall of the junior room. Until 1900 its attendance was never more than 35 pupils.

In 1902 the frame building was superseded by the present two-room school which was moved to Cordova Mines and enlarged because the mines were at that time first operating and employing 500 men. It was then changed into a union section of No. 12 Belmont and No. 9, Marmora.

The school has been but slightly changed in the last thirty years. A new steel roof was put on in 1938-39. The surroundings of the school have been greatly altered through the years. The west side of the grounds was originally a dense poplar woods within thirty feet of the building. This was cleared away shortly after occupation of the new school. The present site of our flag pole was the location of the remains of a cherry orchard in 1902. The present flag pole was set up in 1927, and the original stoves were replaced by new ones in 1929.

Grades IX and X were begun by Miss L. McIntosh in 1930, and a new fence of woven wire and picket gates was substituted for the old one in 1931. William Hamilton was chairman of the board in 1940, and Mrs. D. Barrons, secretary, then twenty years in that position, succeeding a Mr. Wiggans who had been secretary for forty years.

WASTE PAPER FACTS

LONDON—(CP).—It is pointed out that Britons, since the war began, have burned or thrown away 500,000 tons of paper, which would have provided 40,000,000 anti-aircraft shell containers and 40,000,000 mortar shell carriers.

Stranded Tanker Leaking Her Oil

TORONTO, April 13—(CP)—Possibility tthat the hull of the tanker Cedarbranch, aground since yesterday in Lake Ontario off suburban Long Brannch, is seriously damaged was reported today by superintendent Hillard Lang, of a life saving crew after a trip alongside the ship. A film of oil was reported covering waters around the boat.

Supt. Lang, who made the inspection trip in a speed boat, said the crew of 19 are apparently suffering no ill effects. Some extra food is being sent to them today.

A tug was taking soundings nearby, and efforts are being made to refloat the 3,000-ton tanker today.

Supplies Light On Farm Market

Chickens were noticeably scarce on the local market Saturday, and supplies were generally light, excepting eggs around which most of the morning's business centred.

Broilers were firm at 32 cents a pound, and year olds sold at 28 to 30 cents. One woman quoted her stock as year old pullets at 30 cents a pound and hens were around 25 cents.

Eggs ranged from 25 cents for the small sizes to 37 cents for the extra large, and the run of the nests sold at 28 to 30 cents a dozen. Butter was unchanged at 37 and 38 cents.

Maple syrup was again $2.75 a gallon. Herb Doig told the Examiner he had finished boiling sap in his Ketchecum Lake bush. His season's product amounted to 287 gallons. He had some half-gallon tins at $1.40.

The April snow of Friday and Saturday evidently cut down the attendance on both sides of the counters. Weather was still favorable for fresh meat, but the only offering was pork by A. E. Hunter at 19 and 21 cents a pound.

Potatoes were $1.75 and $2 a bag for most of the stock. R. Kinsman quoted Cobblers at $2 and small No. 1 White Winters at $1.50. Erle Tully's prices were the same as a week ago, Cobblers and Chippewas at $2.50 and another grade at $2.25.

Some of the producers had Katahdins for table use at $1.75. Apples were comparatively scarce. Norman Moncrief had Starks at 60c a peck and Fred Cann had a few Spies at 90 cents.

Arthur Stenson said he had hold all his carrots and was running low in other vegetables. Turnips were 5 cents each or 75c a bushel; parsnips 25 cents for six quart basket lots, and potatoes 40 cents a peck or $1.75 a bag. Several of the potato growers were offering peck quantities of potatoes for the first time.

Young pigs were $6 and $6.50 each, and many farmers brought in pens of them. Demand was active.

PARENTS ASSURE FUTURE OF 1000 More Children with IMPERIAL POLICIES

● Many a young person will start college or buy into a business, this year, with the proceeds of an Imperial Life policy taken out by parents "a little while ago."

Last year, of 8000 Imperial Life policies issued, over 1000 were on the lives of children and students. Thoughtful parents appreciate that an Imperial Policy gives the child a "head start" in life. Also, it teaches thrift, engenders a sense of responsibility, helps to mould character. And, of equal importance, policies covering minors can be obtained now at rates they themselves can never hope to duplicate in future. Why not investigate the liberal provisions of Imperial life Policies today?

7,000 other persons of all ages also became Imperial Life Policyholders in 1941. To a large cross-section of the people of Canada The Imperial Life is "my insurance company."

Three Indians Drowned; Canoe Upsets

Canoe Is Swamped About 250 Yards From The Smith Shore

Chilled to the bone by the ice-cold waters of Curve Lake, three Indians slipped to their deaths from their upturned canoe after it swamped shortly before seven o'clock on Monday evening, and perished less than 300 yards from the Smith township shore.

The dead are James Johnson, 40, married and father of one child; Hilda Taylor, age 30, and Glory Taylor, age 14.

John Knott, 28, and married, of Curve Lake managed to swim to shore despite the fact that he was wearing lumberman's rubbers, trousers, shirt and suede jacket.

At 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, city firemen, assisted by William Elliott and other farmers, along with Indian guides, recovered the bodies of the two girls, close together about 250 yards from shore. The body of James Johnson was recovered about half an hour later, a short distance away. This contradicts the earlier statement of Knott, who thought he had swam only about 100 yards, but apparently he had travelled almost three times tha distance, swimming fully clothed in the ice cold water.

First inkling of the tragedy came when William Elliott, a farmer, who lives near Robertson's Landing about a mile west of Selwyn, heard a yell and looking out the window, saw a man stagger to his feet, then fall to the ground, and continue to crawl towards the house on his hands and knees. Elliott hurried to his assistance, and Knott, who was on the point of exhaustion after swimming ashore, and from walking gasped out the story of the tragedy.

No Trace Of Others

After assisting Knott to the house Elliott ran down to the shore, but there was not a trace of any of the others, and the canoe was floating down the lake, near shore. He immediately sounded the alarm, by telephone to Curve Lake reserve where a fleet of canoes and boats put out at once, and farmers and guides from the district gathered in the hope that they might assist but there was nothing that could be done, the bodies evidently having sunk in twelve feet of water.

There is little explanation for the triple tragedy that has struck at the heart of the little Indian community, so well known throughout the district, but apparently the canoe shipped water drenching the girls, and when they moved the canoe swamped.

Johnson owned the boat, and with Knott, paddled from Curve Lake Indian vilage, across the mile of water to Robertson's Landing which is about one mile west of Selwyn village, and is the short cut used winter and summer by the Indians.

9 Allied Vessels Axis Toll At Sea

By The Canadian Press

Nine United Nations vessels were reported Monday as sunk in the bitter war at sea, while from the United States' War Department in Washington came the encouraging word that the heroic defenders of Corregidor Island in the Philippines had accounted for several small Japanese ships and a medium-sized one.

Two of the Allied ships were the United States army transport Meigs, 7,358 tons, and Liberty, 6,211 tons. The former sank under Jap bombs on Feb. 19 in the harbor at Port Darwin, Australia, with the loss of two men, including the master, and the latter was torpedoed twice by a Japanese submarine then beached without loss of life near Bali on Jan. 12.

Dispatches from Portaleza, Brazil, told of sinkings by Axis submarines last week of the United States' tanker T. C. McCobb, 7,452 tons, and Eugene V. R. Thayer, 7,138 tons; the 7,800-ton British merchantman Empire Peregrine and the 2,161-ton Norwegian cargo vessel Balkis.

No word was received about the McCobb or Peregrine survivors, but reports said that 26 of the Thayer's crew had been landed and that

U.K. To Raise Budget Of 32 Billion

Beer, Whisky, Tobacco Take Heavy Jolts In Wood's Record Call

LONDON, April 14 —(CP)—Announcing a record war budget of £5,286,000,000 ($23,511,000,000) for 1942-43, Sir Kingsley Wood, Chancellor of the Exchequer, today called on the tax burdened nation to pay additional levies on beer, whisky and other luxury items to help raise the money needed to fight the war.

Taxes on wines, tobacco and entertainments also will be increased.

Beer, which had been taxed one penny a pint, will now be taxed threepence a pint. The tax on whisky will be increased by four shillings eightpence a bottle.

Foregoing any further direct taxation because of the present heavy direct levies such as 10 shillings in the pound basic income taxes, the chancellor turned to luxury items for more revenue.

He proposed doubling of the entertainment tax.

Changes in taxes will take effect as from tomorrow, the chancellor said.

The tax on tobacco, he announced, will be increased by 10 shillings a pound, which is the equivalent of an increase of three pence on each package of 10 cigarets.

The levy on imported cigars will be increased from 28s 1d to 38s 1d per pound.

Tax Doubled On Silk, Fur

Luxury items on which the purchase tax will be doubled include silk dresses, silk or brocade fabrics, fur coats, ornaments such as vases and china figures, cut glass, hair-waving and hair-drying appliances, electric shavers, trunks and bags, musical instruments, phonograph records, clocks and watches if made of platinum, gold, silver or gold plate, jewelry and imitation jewelry and toilet articles such as vanity cases, perfumery and cosmetics.

The present entertainment tax ranges anywhere from one penny farthing on a ninepenny movie seat to 10 shillings seven pence on a two-guinea ringside seat at a boxing match.

From tomorrow the ninepenny moviegoer will pay twopence halfpenny tax and the ringside fight seat buyer £1 1s 2d.

The increase on beer was estimat-

Jail 2,000 Teachers

LONDON, April 14—(CP). —A Norwegian Government spokesman estimated today that the German-controlled Quisling regime had imprisoned 2,000 teachers and Lutheran ministers in the occupied kingdom in the last six weeks.

This, he said, was done in an effort to crush opposition to establishment of a Nazi youth organization and a "teachers' front" in Norway. The spokesman said 7,000 Norwegians, including most of the country's labor leaders, now are in concentration or forced labor camps.

6 Red Divisions Blasting At Central Gap

LONDON, April 14 — (CP). — Exchange Telegraph said to-day the German radio had announced that six Soviet divisions, including a Siberian division and an entire division of tanks, had launched an attack of extreme violence on Cantral Russian Front and that the battle still was in progress.

The German broadcast was said to have acknowledged that the Russions dislocated Nazi lines at some points but to have claimed that the attack was stemmed and the attackers partly destroyed.

It said other Russian attacks also were made against Rumanian and Italian positions in the Donets Basin to the south.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), April 14 — (AP). — The German high command claimed today that German forces have occupied a large number of localities on the central sector of the Russian Front.

Tank-supported Russian attacks were claimed to have been beaten back at isolated points. The high command claimed 171 of the Russian tread-track vehicles had been put out of action in a four-day period ended April 13.

"In the northern sector an enemy fighting group was encircled and annihilated," its communique declared.

The boggy condition of the earth was emphasized by the radio.

Expect Stroke At Spot Unprepared

See Drain In Russia Slowly Bleeding Coastal Garrisons

LONDON, April 14 (CP)—Reports reaching London from neutral capitals today indicated the German high command is resigned to an impending invasion of Europe by Allied forces and afraid that the attack will come at a place where it is not expected.

The well-publicized visit of Gen. George Marshall, U.S. Army Chief of Staff, and Harry Hopkins, adviser to President Roosevelt, has given Berlin an advanced case of jitters which is being answered by statements of bravado, these reports showed.

The Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm Demokraten reported a German high command spokesman as saying:

"We are expecting an invasion at any time. Let them try it. We are ready."

The correspondent of the Geneva paper La Suisse reported there was "open talk" in Germany about possible British military action in western Europe.

EXTRA!

LONDON — (CP). — The Stockholm radio broadcast to-day said that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's forces in South Russia had forced a "deep breach" in the German lines 25 miles north of the great steel producing city of Kharkov.

VICHY, France — (AP). — The Petain Government said to-night it had refused to accept the United States note explaining the recent establishment of an American Consulate at Brazzaville, West Africa, and declared the American communication was "insolent."

WASHINGTON — (AP). — The United States War Production Board issued orders to-day forcing an immediate 70 per cent reduction in the manufacture of phonograph records and radio transcriptions.

LONDON — (CP). — The Paris radio said to-day British residents on the Riviera, excepting a restricted group to include the sick and those who served in the French Army, had been ordered to move inland from that Mediterranean coastal area.

Raids Kills 14

A NORTHEAST TOWN IN ENGLAND, April 14—(CP). — Fourteen persons were killed, many others injured and considerable damage caused to residential property in German bombing attacks over scattered areas last night, it was announced today.

Most of the raiders attacked towns near the coast, but one flew inland to northwest England.

13 Flying Boats Caught In RAF Andaman Coup

NEW DELHI, India, April 14. — (CP).—British and United States' fliers have struck strong blows in the defence of India, threatened by a Japanese fleet of three battleships, five aircraft carriers and other warships in the Bay of Bengal, smashing 13 big flying boats in the Andaman Islands and attacking an airdrome in Burma, it was announced to-day.

Thirteen flying boats used by the Japanese for long-range scouting, patrol and bombing were sunk, set afire or damaged when the R.A.F. struck 800 miles across the Bay of Bengal and found them anchored in the harbor at Port Blair in the Andamans, potential springboard for an Indian invasion.

Another communique said the Japanese lost seven aircraft when the American volunteer group fiercely attacked Japanese, raiding an A.V.G. airdrome in the northern Shan States of Burma at low level on Friday. Three more Japanese planes were destroyed by the A.V.G. on Sunday at Toungoo.

At the same time British headquarters announced for the first time in days extensive activity of their own aviation in Burma. They said a heavy attack was made by Blenheim bombers on Japanese forces in a village north of Prome on Sunday, and that their bombers were working in close support of British and Indian land forces.

The British troops in Burma under Gen. Harold Alexander, which with Chinese forces under Lt.-Gen. Joseph Stilwell, United States army, are fighting the battle for the land approaches to the Indian frontier, were still retreating, however.

Japanese soldiers moving up the Irrawaddy river have occupied Migyangye—20 miles south of Magwe and 80 miles north of Prome—in heavy fighting.

London Taking 'Grave View' Sees It Defeat Of Move To Swing Vichy From Nazis

Hun Tool Laval To Be Chief Of Government
Petain Becoming Only Figurehead;
See French Fleet Gone; Aid To De Gaulle Now

By TAYLOR HENRY.

VICHY, April 14—(AP).—Marshal Philippe Petain decided today to form a new government, including Pierre Laval, leading exponent of collaboration with Germany, and Admiral Jean Darlan, who has been vice-premier since Laval's ouster from the position on December 13, 1940.

The announcement of the Premier's decision came only a short while after the Vichy government suspended indefinitely by special decree the Riom trial of leaders of the third Republic who were charged with being responsible for the nation's unpreparedness for war.

Laval will return Thursday with a new title, "Chief of the government" they declared. Under the prospective reorganization, Vichy would pass completely to the Axis sphere, the aged petain, although remaining "chief of state," would become a figurehead, a d vice-premier Admiral Jean Darlan would retain only his present post as foreign minister.

Laval who has taken part in numerous conferences in the past fortnight with leaders of the Vichy regime, first conferred for an hour today with Admiral Darian at the Pavillon Sewigne; that meeting lasted from 10 to 11 a.m.

Then he went to Marshal Petain's private office at the Hotel Du Parc, where he remained from 11.15 a.m. to 12.25 p.m.

The announcement was read to the press by Paul Marion, Secretary-General for Information, in the conference room of the Information Secretariat Building.

The conference was so hastily called that most of the foreign press missed it.

Cebu Defenders Holding Japs At Coast

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(AP) —Fighting against huge odds, a beleaguered force of American-Filipino troops was reported today to be holding the Japanese at bay on the south-cntral island of Cebu.

Despite the weight of number and the crushing force of tanks and dive bombers supporting their drive, the enemy apparently had been unable to push their way inland from the coastal area which they seized with landings at several ports last Friday.

The fate of the Cebu defenders had been a matter of gloomy speculation since communications between the island and Corregidor fortress were disrupted more than three days ago, but the re-establishment of communications and reports of stubborn resistance to the invaders were disclosed in a communique this morning.

The enemy force thrusting into Cebu, 300 miles south of Corregidor, since last Friday was estimated at 12,000. They came ashore under the covering fire of warships, one of which—a large cruiser—was sunk by a small torpedo boat of the defending forces.

The communique reported also that sharp skirmishes with the enemy were continuing in the Digos area of Mindanao, southermost of the large Philippine Islands, where sudden raids by guerilla bands have destroyed huge stores of Japanese

War Secretary Elected By 3-1

CARDIFF, Wales, April 14.—(CP) —War Secretary Sir James Grieg, whose rose to cabinet rank from the civil service, was elected a member of the House of Commons from East Cardiff today.

His election—by better than a three-to-one margin—will enable him to appear on the floor of the House to answer questions concerning his department.

Sir James polled 10,030 votes to 3,311 for A. Fenner Brockway, Independent Labor party candidate.

When the vote was announced Sir James said: "I take the result to be on overwhelming vote of confidence in the prime minister and a sign that the people wish the war to be waged with all possible vigor until final victory has been achieved."

The turnout for the polling was about a third of the constituency's peacetime capacity which has been depleted by the movement of war workers to other areas.

In the 1935 general election O. T. Morris, K.C., Conservative, whose elevation to the Bench necessitated the by-election, polled 16,048 votes against 11,362 for W. Bennett, Labor, and 2,623 for A. W. Pile, Liberal.

Sir James ran as an independent and had the support of the three major parties which make up the national government.

Iran Cuts Ties With The Japs

TEHERAN, Iran, April 14—(AP). —Iran severed relations with Japan today.

(A British-Russian-Iranian pact of alliance, based on principles of the Atlantic charter, was signed in Teheran Jan. 29, five months after cessation of hostilities launched with an invasion of that rich kingdom by Russian and British troops.

(Iran (Persia) lies midway between North African battlegrounds and India and is a likely route for any attempted junction of German and Japanese armies. Her government is in the hands of 22-year-old Mohammed Shah Pahlavi, who succeeded to the throne upon the abdication of his father, Reza Shah Pahlavi, Sept. 17, 1941.)

Battle of Russia Believed Just Begun

10 Mos. War Sees Neither Set For Knock out Despite Red Gains, Hun Clutch South

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 14—(AP)—The battle of Russia, though now in its 10th month, hasn't much more than begun.

The safest conclusions to be drawn from the evidence of day-to-day reports, from considerations of the battle line as it is known to be drawn and from the topography of the immense front and the weather to come are:

1. Germany still is in fair position for an offensive toward the prime objective, the oil fields of the Caucasus.

2. Russia, on the other hand, by her winter counter-offensive—which saved Moscow—has carved central-front salients which might be developed as a wide flanking attack to counter balance the German threat to the Caucasus.

3. Neither side now holds the position necessary for the knockout blow.

4. The war still is being fought in a zone largely of Hitler's own choice, although his army dispositions in that area doubtless are far from what he would like—thanks again to the surprising counter-offensive power of the Red army.

5. By the same token, Russia is fighting a war of self-defence on her home soil with the benefits of morale which such a fight engenders.

6. British and American aid in material is reaching Russia in an increasing stream while the attention of London and Washington has been repeatedly directed to Russia's wish that the British and American armies open a second European front. On April 8, the United States army chief of staff, Gen. George O. Marshall, said in London, "We want to expand over here," but the intentions of Britain and the United States naturally remain a secret.

7. Russia still stand numerically superior in reserves of manpower.

8. The most important undisclosed factor in the Russian-German equation is the industrial capacity of the two belligerents and the help they can draw from allies.

Russia is known to have devoted a large proportion of her national income for many years to military production. As much as six years ago she was appropriating as much as $6,000,000,000 gold annually for military purposes.

This undoubtedly has been increased many times during the period of tension before and since, the war. She must rank closely with Germany, Britain and the United States in the amount of money devoted to war purposes.

Germany is generally supposed to have achieved, despite the increasing severity of R.A.F. raids on her war industries, a normal capacity for replacement of the tremendous material losses on the Russian front.

By the middle of May or early June the footing will be solid enough for all manner of land combat on most of the front.

The first area to be fit for full scale land action is the southern front, where the Germans, with nearly all the Ukraine still in their grasp, may be expected to centre their main offensive effort.

Notwithstanding the cost, the Germans have clung so far to Kharkov, Stalino and Taganrog, to mention the principal jump-off points the Germans might use in the drive toward the Caucasus.

It is significant that the Russians were unable to dislodge the enemy from these positions despite the fine showing made on the central front.

Bullseye On Axis Tanks

Libya Patrols Do Good Work Despite Dust

CAIRO, April 14 —(AP)—British headquarters said today their patrols apparently scored direct hits on a column of Axis tanks, armored cars and artillery yesterday on the Libyan desert, despite dust-obscured visibility.

Temrad is 12 miles southwest of Gazala and about 60 miles across no-man's land from the main British positions at Tobruk.

Air headquarters said enemy transport, encampments and gun positions in the Tmimi area were attacked by British aircraft. The harbor at Bengasi also was raided.

R.A.F. fighters were active in support of the troops throughout yesterday and one German plane was shot down and another damaged.

Enemy activity continued over Malta, with the Germans losing two Junkers bombers to anti-aircraft fire. Three other German bombers suffered damage, while no British planes were lost throughout the Middle East area during the 24 hours covered by the communique.

15 Generals From Bataan

Japs Claim 40,000 Prisoners, 6,700 Of Them Yanks

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts), April 14—(AP).—An Imperial headquarters communique claimed today that Japanese forces had captured 40,000 prisoners, including 15 generals from the beginning of the Bataan offensive up to last S nday.

Of these, it said, 6,700 were United States (as distinguished from native Filipino) troops.

Among the generals it mentioned:

Maj.-Ger Edward King, identified as commander of United States forces on the peninsula;

Maj.-Gen. Albert Jones, designated as commander of the 1st Corps;

Maj.-Gen. George Parker, 2nd Corps.

9,000 GERMANS ARE KILLED ON LENINGRAD FRONT IN 10 DAYS

Reds Smash 76 Tanks Same Drive

Guerillas Wipe Out 200 In Day Behind Central Front

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 14—(AP).—Soviet forces have killed 9,000 Germans and destroyed 76 tanks on the Leningrad front from April 1 to 10 and levied fresh tolls upon Nazi sea and air strength, the Russians said today.

Recapture of a "locality of great importance on the northwestern front" and occupation of some additional communities were announced without detail in a communique broadcast by the Moscow radio.

Another communique said a Kalinin front stronghold was seized by the Russians in fighting which cost the Germans 900 killed, eight field guns, 15 machine guns, a mortar battery, two tanks and eight pillboxes.

Red army men operating behind German lines on the central front wiped out more than 200 of the invaders in a day, it was said.

A German transport was reported sunk in the Barents Sea Sunday.

The Soviet information bureau said destruction of 322 Geman planes last week increased to 1,103 the total shot down or demolished on the gound since March 11, this against a loss of 314 Russian aircraft. In addition, the score Sunday was listed at eight German and thee Red army planes.

Half 1st Line Planes on Front

(Hitler's air force is described by Basil Cardew, London Daily Express aviation writer, as on the defensive.

(Cardew estimated today that Germany had about 4,000 first-line planes, 2,000 of them based on the Russian front. A few more than 1,000, including strong fighter groups, are stationed in western Europe and between 700 and 800 in the Mediterranean basin, he said.)

From the muddy Bryansk front southwest of Moscow came word that reserves had given the Germans numerical superiority on one sector. At the same time a Red army dispatch declared 19 Russians had repelled a Nazi assault force of 200 but gave no details.

Intense fighting has developed in the Kursk-Kharkov region of the southern battle zone in the last 24 hours and Soviet pressure is particularly strong northeast of Belgorod, which lies midway between those cities, Reuters said, quoting the Vichy news agency.

(Russian advanced detachments were said to have neared "an important arterial highway linking central Russia with the Ukraine via Kursk, Kharkov and Dnieperopetrovsk.") ed to produce £48,000,000 in a full year, £42,000,000 this year. The addition of £2 a gallon on proof whisky was estimated to yield £15,000,000 in a full year and £14,000,000 this year.

The present tax on whisky is 9d a bottle. The increase will make whisky which has been selling for 17s 6d a bottle cost £1 2s 2d.

Becoming effective May 10 the increases in the entertainment tax were estimated to produce £14,000,000 in a full year and £12,000,000 this year.

The gross revenue gain from tobacco increases was estimated at £90,000,000.

The Chancellor emphasized it is necessary to keep price levels from climbing. He said prices of certain food staples have climbed as high as 23 per cent above the cost index at the start of the war.

Now Only 18 P.C. Up.

But the Government's price stabilization policy had hammered the figure down to 18 per cent since last April, Sir Kingsley continued. Fixing the price of food had cost the Government £124,000,000 during the past year, he said but that figure had been less than expected. He declared living costs as a whole now are 29 per cent above the prewar level compared with 28 per cent last April.

He announced that the sales tax introduced in October, 1940, brought in £98,000,000 despite "air raids and limitation of supplies." Gross personal savings increased £269,000,000 during 1941 to a total of £909,000,000.

Sir Kingsley proposed income tax relief for the lowest bracket wage earners. The present tax is levied on single men earning as little as £1 17s 6d ($8.34) a week and on married men earning £2 17s 6d.

The new limits will exclude single men earning less than £2 and married men earning less than £3 weekly Sir Kingsley announced.

Married men with one child now must earn £4 weekly and married men with two or more children £5 weekly before they pay income tax.

Married women who work also were granted new exemption. Previously if they earned £45 yearly they had to pay tax. Now any yearly earnings of these under £80 are tax free.

The Chancellor also announced that workers would be allowed £10 annual exemption to cover travelling expenses "where it can be established that owing to the war places of work or residences have changed and the cost of travelling has increased."

He declared there is "no justification in our general financial or economic situation for gloomy forebodings as to our position after the war."

Corregidor Fires On.

Corregidor and the other fortified islands of Manila Bay were reported still under heavy artillery fire from enemy batteries on both sides of the Bay, but the forts still were replying with counter fire. Some casualties were suffered by the Corregidor garrison in four raids by flights of Japanese heavy bombers to-day, Lt.-Gen. Jonathan Wainwright reported to the War Department but the damage to military installations was slight.

An imminent Japanese attempt to storm Corregidor by night from barges was indicated in dispatches from the island fortress.

In the last 24 hours Corregidor's guns were reported officially to have sunk a medium-sized Japanese vessel off the Bataan coast, hit two Japanese tank and truck columns operating on the peninsula, and smashed a concentration of Japanese small boats at the fishing village of Mariveles.

Military observers saw in these reports indications that the Japanese were massing for an assault, probably just before dawn on the first night that rain blacks out the waters between Corregidor and the mainland. The rainy season starts within the next few days.

In the assault the Japanese would be able to come from both the Bataan shore and the Cavite shore of the bay.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, April 15

An exceedingly enterprising and ambitious day with many forces and faculties operating under high tension and marked initiative. Every department of life and its aims and purposes are under great impetus for growth, expansion, solidity and security, with great probability of enduring success and good fortune. Possessions, change, travel, honors and preferments are under the stimuli of most propitious aspects.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a progressive, prosperous and happy year, with unusual activity and perhaps commotion obtaining in all departments of human endeavor. The faculties and forces making for success and satisfaction are under unusualy decisive stimuli.

A child born on this day should be endowed with manifold talents, adaptability, energy and power for success and enduring progress.

Rome Leary Also

A similar report was heard over the Rome radio last night when the Italians said that Italy was prepared, and that Canadian troops had been assigned to spearhead the drive. London sources said it was obvious that the Italians had no factual basis for the announcement and were fishing for information.

If the Axis is afraid that the Italian peninsula offers a real avenue for an Allied invasion, it is likely that coastal defences are being thrown up with the same desperate haste that has been noted along the coasts of Norway and France.

Stockholm reports said the bleak Norwegian port of Narvik had been proclaimed a forbidden zone by the Germans as work was intensified on defences.

Fear was said to be growing in Brest as the Nazi occupiers took more precaution daily against any eventualities.

The Nazis apparently were doubly anxious to prepare the best possible physical barriers to an invasion since their garrison strength must necessarily become weaker as the demands of the Russian campaign grow.

A source with dependable contacts on the continent said the Germans recently called a meeting of all district leaders in Occupied France and divided the country into "defence districts." Detailed plans were made for measures to be taken in case of invasion.

The extensive preparations indicated a real fear on the part of the Axis, London observers commented. While a self-assured note was contained in the reports, they said this probably was the result of "whistling in the dark" combined with the hope that the reports would provoke some revealing comment from Allied authorities.

The sum total, however, was that Germany now is suffering a severe "war of nerves," such as she has used so successfully against some of her enemies earlier in the war, expert opinion held.

Subs Get 4 Ships Machine Gun 7 In Lifeboat

FORTALEZA, Brazil, April 14 — (AP). — Four United Nations merchant ships were torpedoed and sunk last week by submarine off the north coast of Brazil, according to reports published Monday which said that so far there had been no word of survivors from two of the ships.

The ships were identified as the United States tankers T. C. McCob and Eugene V. R. Thyer, the Norwegian merchantman Balkis and the British merchantman Peregrine.

Twenty-six from the Eugene V. R. Thayer were brought ashore, 13 by a vessel which picked up their lifeboats and 13 by United States planes. Nine members of the crew were missing, and some reports said they had died in a lifeboat.

The Norwegian consul here said 24 survivors of the Balkis were brought ashore by a Swedish ship. He said the captain, first and third officers, stewardess, a sailor, a mechanic and a waiter of the Balkis crew were killed by machine-gun fire from the submarine.

nine wre missing, possibly having died in lifeboats. Twenty-four of the Balkis complement were rescued by a Swedish vessel and the Norwegian consul at Fortaleza reported that seven of the crew, including a stewardess and the ships captain, had been killed as the attacking submarine machine-gunned the lifeboats.

Passenger Liner Gone

Two more sinkings in the Caribbean were revealed. Advices from Lisbon reported the submarine sinking of the British tanker Peder Bogen, 9,741 tons, on March 23 with 21 of its 43 crew members missing. The 21 known survivors reached Lisbon on a Spanish vessel.

The other newly reported Caribbean torpedoing was that of a ship of unnamed nationality sent to the bottom April 6 with two killed. Ten of those aboard the ship are missing and 30 reached Nassau Saturday.

A large British passenger liner was sunk of fthe United States Atlantic coast Saturday, it was revealed, as it carried refugees from the Far East. The 290 survivors taken to Charleston, S.C., said there was no loss of life.

The War Department in Washington furnished the brightest Allied news with the announcement of the Corregidor sinkings of Japanese ships, and from Melbourne it was learned that Allied bombers had set a large enemy vessel afire at Rabaul, New Britain.

Funeral On Wednesday

In Tuesday night's paper, in the obituary account of the death of John E. Blodgett, it was stated that interment would be made on Wednesday morning in Little Lake Cemetery. This should have read St. Peter's Cemetery.

VAGRANCY CHARGE DISMISSED

A vagrancy charge against Bruce Thornhill was dismissed in police court this morning when the crown announced that no evidence would be offered in the case.

Young Airmen Driving Fast Witnesses Say

Clinton Crowe, 26-year-old McCracken's Landing member of the R.C.A.F. headquarters at Ottawa, faced a charge of reckless driving in police court this morning as the result of a traffic accident on Highway No. 7 three miles west of Norwood on the early morning of Sunday, March 29, in which Crowe and two passengers were injured and three vehicles were damaged.

The airman was defended by W. B. Gordon, while Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted.

Lorne Chesnutt, Toronto, driver for Johnston Milk Transport, testified that at midnight Sunday night he had left Norwood with a loaded truck, travelling toward Peterborough. Three miles west he had driven over to the front side of the road, because he thought he had a better chance to get through there and his truck became mired in the mud. He said he put a regulation flare 12 feet in front of his truck and another the same distance in the rear and had hitch-hiked a ride into Norwood to get help. Another Johnston Transport truck, driven by Leonard Chamberlain, of Norwood, had gone to the rescue and was engaged in trying to pull the first truck out of the mud when witness heard another car coming over a knoll a quarter of a mile to the west. He judged it was coming fast and accordingly he had run up alongside the front fender of his truck and waved a flashlight. Then he realized that the car was not going to stop and he had run toward the rear and was going between the two trucks when the first truck was hit and driven back and he was pinned between the two.

Chesnutt said that Clinton Crowe had been the driver of the other car.

Travelling 50 M.P.H.

"I would judge that the car was travelling at 50 miles an hour when I saw it coming," witness said. The head lights and clearance lights of the front truck were on he added.

To Mr. Gordon he said that it might have been safer if the flares had been put 100 feet in front and back of the truck, as suggested by the regulations. He said the road was in bad condition that night and it was not unusual for cars to drive on the wrong side as a result.

Slater Long, Asphodel farmer, who had accompanied the driver of the other truck to the scene of the accident corroborated his evidence as to the crash. He too had waved a flashlight when he saw the other car coming and placed the speed as around 50 miles an hour.

Truck Driven Back

Provincial Constable Archie Grayling, Havelock, who investigated the accident, said the front truck had been driven back seven feet against the rear truck and both had been damaged. The officer said that after the collision Crowe's car had apparently shot into the ditch, hit a fence 14 feet away from the highway and rebounded 12 feet, coming to rest facing west. From his experience in investigating traffic accidents he would say that car must have been travelling at a high rate of speed. "It must have been over 40 miles an hour," the officer said, adding that from the knoll to the west of the scene of the accident he had been able to see a flare and the headlights of the truck.

Clinton Crowe said that when he came over the knoll, driving toward Norwood he did not notice anything. Half way between the knoll and the scene of the accident he saw headlights suddenly flash on and realized thtat there was another vehicle there.

"We had met several cars on the wrong side of the road on the way down and they had pulled over when we got near," said Crowe. "I thought this one could do the same."

Witness said that he did not see the flare at all until after the accident. He said that he had been driving at 35 miles an hour and that when he realized that the other vehicle was not pulling over and applied his brakes, his car slowed down and was not travelling more than 10 or 15 miles an hour at the moment of impact. He testified that after his car had gone into the ditch he had driven it into the position in which it was found by Officer Grayling.

To Mr. McElderry Crowe admitted that on the Saturday night he had drunk a quart of beer and part of a second quart in a local beverage room. He and his companions were on their way to visit friends near Norwood when the accident happened, he said.

At this point court adjourned for luncheon.

Capt. Croll Back; Drew Scores Gaming Racket

TORONTO, April 14. — (CP). — Capt. David Croll makes a brief appearance in the Ontario Legislature to-day and the Windsor-Walkerville members visit will be a pleasant interlude in the drive toward prorogation.

Capt. Croll — his promotion was announced yesterday in London— is expected to give the members details of a few of his experiences since he last sat in the House two sessions ago. Just possibly he may bring a message from Major Colin Campbell of Sault Ste. Marie, the other member who is overseas. Both are former cabilet ministers.

The rush to prorogue started yesterday when both day and night sittings were held. Another night sitting is on the agenda to-night and if at all possible the government hopes to close the session Wednesday, sitting that night if necessary.

During yesterday's long session which didn't end until 11.30 p.m. the members heard a denunciation of gambling as carried on in areas adjacent to Toronto; gave second reading to 12 bills and passed through committee 27 others and embarked upon the estimates.

Conservative Leader George A. Drew called for legislation to be passed at the current session, if necessary, to stamp out the organized gambling which he said was being conducted by "Manny Feder, alias Fuller."

THOS. R. (JACK) COOPER.

An Imperial soldier in the Empress of India Lancers for many years and a veteran of World War 1 as well, Thomas Robinson Cooper died Tuesday morning in his 67th year. He was popularly known as Jack Cooper, and he devoted his life to service as a soldier of the Empire, with the rank of farrier sergeant.

He was born in Durham, England, and enlisted with the Imperials when 17 years of age. His service medals indicate that he was on active duty at the relief of Khartoum, also in the Sudan, in the Transvaal, Orange Free States, and he retired in 1912 and came to Canada. When World War 1 broke out he enlisted in Peterborough and served overseas, being invalided home after a severe attack of gas. He was one of the charter members of the Canadian Legion, and always took an active part in the affairs of the Legion. He wore the Mons Star, and the service medals of World War 1.

He was a son of the late Thomas Cooper and Charlotte Daffin, and his wife died a year ago last June. One daughter, Doris Eleanor, is at home, and a son, Joseph H., also lives in Peterborough. One brother Alfred, lives in Peterborough, and a sister, Mrs. E. Bossom, lives in Birmingham, England. He was a member of All Saints' church.

The funeral will be held on Thursday, April 16 from the Nesbitt Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street, to All Saints' church for services, and interment will be in Little Lake cemetery. The Rev. W. A. Filer, rector of All Saints', will conduct the funeral services

MRS. JOSEPH SEDGEWICK.

Tremendous Amount Of Work Done By Port Hope War Workers

PORT HOPE, April 14—(ENS).—The regular meeting of the Women's War Workers' Committee met on Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Red Cross rooms in the Post Office building with its president, Mrs. J. W. Foote, in the chair.

The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Ryan and the reports of the different conveners are as follows: Mrs. Martin reported that $1,076.50 had already been received from the Red Cross Bridge Marathons which were carried out during the winter months.

At the regular meeting of the Red Cross executive held on Friday night a recommendation was made that the Red Cross re-organize the Bridge Marathons in the fall. Mrs. Fred Sculthorpe moved that the Red Cross Society resume Bridge Marathons in September and this was seconded by Mrs. Chisholme and carried by the committee.

The matter of the collection of the broken glass salvage discussed at the last meeting will have to be dropped for the present but might be taken up at a future date.

Mrs. C. M. Thompson, in her treasurer's report, reported the proceeds from the tea room were $50.89.

Mrs. Perkins, convener of the knitting committee, reported that 874½ yards of material had been cut in the past month, this being cut into pyjamas, nightgowns, skirts, surgical towels and girls' clothing.

Miss H. Smart, convener of the sewing committee, reported that 100 women's nightgowns and 100 girls' nightgowns, fifty girls' bolero suits, consisting of coat and skirt, twenty bed jackets, one hundred and sixty gauze handkerchiefs, 760 khaki handkerchiefs, 125 wash cloths, 100 surgical towels.

Refugee Work.

Mrs. Sheehan, convener of the Refugee Committee, reported that the following articles had been shipped during March: 119 quilts, 3 crib quilts, 3 afghans, 1 blanket, 126 quilts, 10 complete layettes; also given out were 155 linings and 52 batts.

Mrs. Freeman's report on the Wool Committee: Articles for Army and Air Force—10 sweaters, sleeveless, 70 pairs socks, 10 pairs mitts, 20 pairs gloves, 5 turtle neck sweaters, 5 alternative caps. For the Navy—40 pair mitts, 15 aero helmets, 5 scarves, 15 turtle neck sweaters, 5 pairs gloves, 25 pairs 26-inch stockings, 25 pair 18-inch stockings, 2 leather vests, 1 odd helmet, 1 sleeveless sweater.

Mrs. Chisholm reported the extra members that had been added to the social committee from St. Paul's Church: Mrs. R. McDerment, Miss D. McElroy; from St. Mary's: Mrs. J. Hozack, Miss Foy; the Baptist Church: Mrs. McKechnie, Mrs. Van Everdingen; from United Church: Mrs. R. Melville, Mrs. J. Reynolds; from the Business and Professional Women: Miss Georgia Lee and Mrs. R. Clarke.

The buying of a sewing machine buttonhole attachment was then discussed and it was decided that such an attachment was necessary and it was left to the tea-room conveners, Mrs. Diamond and Mrs. M. Hancock, to see that a special tea be put on by the Canton unit on Saturday, April 18, to raise funds to buy such an attachment, moved and carried by the committee.

Sweeper Donated.

It was reported that a carpet sweeper had been donated to the rooms by Mrs. Morton and a special vote of thanks was moved for a much needed article.

Mrs. Wotherspoon, president of the Port Hope Red Cross branch, reported having attended the Red Cross annual in Toronto and that the amounts given out in 1941 from the 463 Red Cross branches in Ontario had turned out two million four hundred and ninety-three thousand one hundred and eight articles and hospital supplies of over five hundred thousand articles.

Mrs. Wotherspoon read a letter from Mrs. Stevenson regarding the packing of jams and assuring the Port Hope unit that forty-eight four-pound tins would be sent them to be filled with small fruits in the fall.

The committee was reminded that the big Red Cross campaign was coming in May and for everyone to be in readiness for it.

This meeting was the largest committee meeting held yet this year.

Cobourg Mayor Requests Rebate

COBOURG, April 14.—(ENS).—Matters of routine business occupied the attention of the Public Utilities Commission at its regular meeting Monday night.

Current accounts ratified were: electric department, $202.85 and water department, $132.16. Prepaid accounts were: electric department, $858.60, and water department, $407.53.

A letter advising the Commission of the water works convention at Niagara Falls, Ont., was read and on motion the commission authorized the manager to attend as well as any other member of the commission.

The commission decided to send a letter to J. E. Skidmore, former utilities manager expressing the hope of a speedy recovery from illness. It was decided to have the water storage tank at the north end of the town painted. In view of the aluminum paint shortage, the commission felt that it should be done in May. It has not been done since its installation nine years ago. Price for painting the exterior and interior is $800.

Mayor Burnet in reference to a $1,100 item in the auditors' report covering rebate on street lighting requested that this amount be given back to the town. Chairman McGuire was of the opinion that as the town's estimates had been struck he doubted if the money could be used. Mayor Burnet replied that the town would have a place for the money before long and if necessary an application could be made to use these funds.

"The money belongs to the town all right," conceded Chairman McGuire.

Councillor Jack Delanty, appropos of the harbor receipts, said that these monies had been going into the general fund whereas he felt that they should be ear-marked for a special fund to repair the centre pier owned by the town.

Mayor Burnet replied that when the time came to repair them, debentures could be issued.

"Debentures are bad things. We know that they have been a load of Cobourg in the past," said Chairman McGuire.

"Our rate will be down in the near future and that will be time to consider the matter, replied the mayor.

Chairman McGuire said that money could be spent on improving the street lighting system.

"Have the council send us a formal letter requesting the return of the rebate," advised Chairman McGuire.

Mayor Burnet said that he would.

Churchill Stayed

Somewhere in England, April 14 (CP Cable)

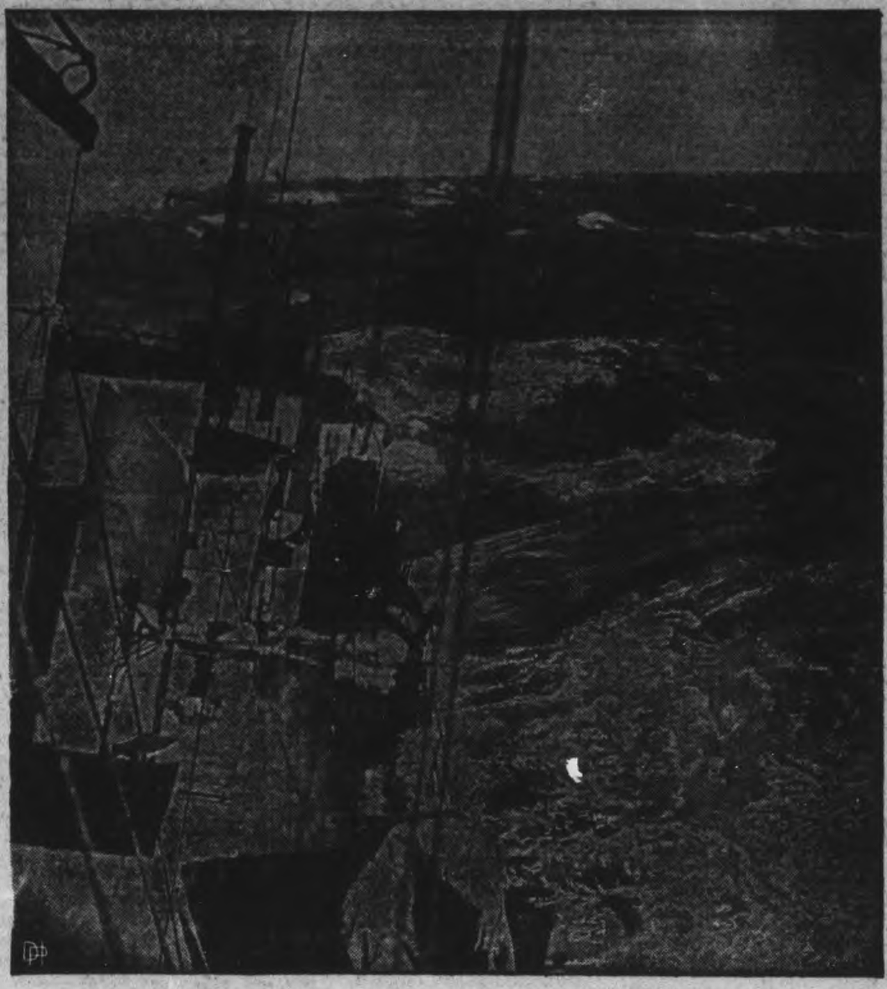
THIS man Churchill just won't scare, say pilots of an R.C.A.F. fighter squadron.

FO. Norman Dick, Canora, Sask., Flt.-Sgt. L. A. Walker, Norwich, Ont., and Flt.-Sgt. L. J. Somers, Simcoe, Ont., tell the story.

Assigned to strafe theoretically gun positions which Mr. Churchill, with officials, was inspecting, the fliers dived from 2,000 feet. The assemblage, including cabinet ministers, scattered like rabbits as the Spitfires roared down to from 10 to 15 feet above the ground.

"But not the prime minister," said Walker. "He just stood still while we flew clean over his head. He was the only one of the group who stayed there."

Riding Angry Atlantic Seas



Dirty weather at sea is nothing to get excited about, say the men who sail the ships of the Royal Canadian Navy. It can happen every day — and often does. Through the raging tempests of the winter Atlantic the boys from Canada's farms and cities are fighting in the finest British tradition to defend their homes.

COBOURG

700 Orangemen Are To Meet In Convention

COBOURG, April 14.—(ENS). — Approximately 700 Orangemen and lady members of the Grand Lodge of Ontario East are expected to attend here this week for the 83rd annual meeting of the district. The are represented extends from Cobourg on the west to Pembroke on the north and east to Ottawa. The Provincial Grand Black Chapter of Eastern Ontario met last night in the town hall to open its sessions. The Provincial Grand Lodge L.O. B.A. will open its meeting at the Memorial Hall on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock The Provincial Grand Lodge, Orange Young Britons commences its sessions with a meeting in the town hall on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock.

The general program starts at ten o'clock Wednesday morning with special opening ceremonies, followed by the appointing of session officers and committees, the address of the Grand Master and the reports of the grand secretary, treasurer, auditors and the report of the striking committee. In the afternoon at two o'clock, Mayor John Burnet and council will extend a civic welcome to the visiting delegates. The afternoon will also include reports by the field secretary, insurance and immigration departments and the report of the True Blue and Orange Home. Degree eexmplification will be held in the evening.

Activities of the morning session on Thursday will be made up of reports of special committees, regular committees and general business, election and installation of officers, addresses by the newly-elected officers and the closing of the lodge.

Among the notables of the Provincial Grand Black Chapter of Eastern Ontario attending last nights opening session were G. M. Leslie, G.M., of Ottawa; W. H. Smith, D.G.M., Lindsay; G. E. Purcell, A.D.G.M., Athens; W. Chambers, G.R., Manotick; W. A. Andrews, Grand Chaplain, Oxford Mills and G Reid, Grand Treasurer, Belleville.

Rural Customers Of Hydro ReadOwnMeters

Rural customers of the Utilities Commission will have to read their own meters henceforth as just one more effort to save gasoline.

The Hydro-Electric Commission has estimated that the read-your-own meter expedient will save 300,000 miles of truck operation in a year.

Instructions are now being sent out to the rural power users with explanations of how to mark the meter-reading post cards which are then mailed to the local post office.

Cecil Delong, Commission employee who has enlisted with the Prince of Wales Rangers, will receive the adopted gratuity of one month's pay.

North Monaghan has asked for an extension of the city water service 75 feet westerly from the present end of the main out Charlotte street, and also on McGill street from Lock to Park street. The Commission agreed to both requests, but stipulated in the south end that the McGill street main should be carried up Park street to form a loop at Brioux avenue.

Monaghan Problem

"It might not be long until they have to put in a pumping station of their own," R. L. Dobbin, manager, remarked in answer to a question about the supplying of the township's water needs.

The pumpage for March at the city's filtration plant was 98,424,000 gallons, an increase of 15,578,000 gallons over March last year. This demand is now one-half a million gallons a day more than a year ago, and there is a slight apprehension on the part of the Utilities Commission that the consumption peak is soon going to catch up on the pumps. An experience last summer caused a flurry of concern, and the Commissioners are becoming somewhat anxious about the increased demand this summer.

"If it ever came to that, I suppose we would have to tell them we had no more water for them," G. S. Matthews commented.

"And wouldn't that raise a swell howl," Mr. Dobbin commented.

George A. Macdonald was still thinking in mayoral channels when he said that "it might force the township to come into the city for their own protection."

Domestic lighting last month was 13.9 per cent more than in March, 1941, commercial was up 12.7 per cent and commercial power 2.23. Gas consumption is also maintaining its high level.

Mr. Dobbin's March report to the Commission was as follows:

Electric Department

The peak for March, 1942 was 12,000 horsepower as compared with 10.900 horsepower in March, 1941, 9.400 horsepower in March, 1940, and 9,000 horsepower in March, 1939.

The increase over 1941 was 1,100 h.p., and it is interesting to note that the increase since the war started is 3,000 h.p.

Only maintenance work was done on the distribution system in the city and rural district.

Waterworks Department

The pumpage for March 1942 was 98,424,000 gallons as compared with 82,846,000 gallons in March 1941. This is an increase of 15,578,000 gallons, or one-half million gallons per day.

The weather this year was decidedly milder than last year, the mean temperature being 33.7 degrees as compared with 20.6 degrees in 1941.

Frazile ice appeared on March 11 and the water wheels at the pumping station were affected. The steam pump was made ready but was not used.

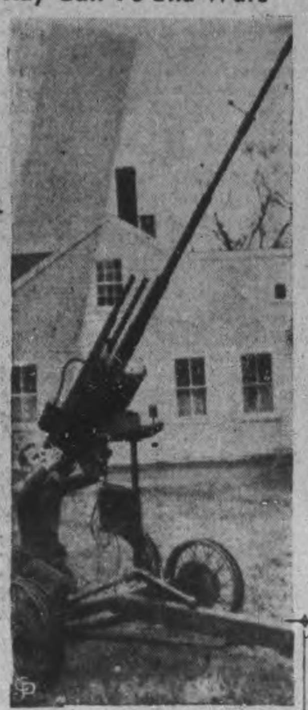
557 feet of 6-inch water main were laid on Stormont street north of Wolsley, and 43 services for the new houses. One fire hydrant was set on this main.

Work started on the new 18-inch force main on Bethune street on March 23, and a short length of pipe had been laid by the end of the month. At present there is only a small gang on this job, but will be increased shortly.

Gas Department

Very little outside work was done during the month. The amount of gas made at the plant continues to increase.

Ray-Gun To End Wars



Carlo Gallerani, of Bridgewater, Mass., is shown with his invention which he claims will project rays to render machinery of battleships and airplanes immobile when perfected. According to the inventor, his gun will utilize the electronic ray theory, a theory that he claims he has worked out successfully on a small scale. Mr. Gallerani is a shoe cutter by trade. All of his spare time is spent in working on inventions that will end this war.

Mrs. T. Roberts Dies In 82nd Year

PORT HOPE April 14—(ENS).—The death occurred at nine o'clock on Monday, April 13, at the family residence, 39 Ontario Street, of Mrs. Thomas D. Roberts, in her 82nd year.

Mrs. Roberts, whose maiden name was Eliza Jane Crowhurst, was born in England, coming to Canada with her parents when she was very young and settling in Port Hope, where she has lived continuously.

Mrs. Roberts, though in poor health for several years died very suddenly, having celebrated with her husband and large family of children and grandchildren the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding on Sunday, the wedding anniversary date being April 13.

Mrs. Roberts leaves to mourn her passing three sons, Walter, Ralston, and Edward (Ert), all of Port Hope, and five daughters, Mrs. Archie Campbell (Mabel) of Toronto, Mrs. Charlie Wilson (Flossie) of Toronto, Mrs. George Austin (Edith) Mrs. R. Robertson (Eunice), Mrs. Roy Thompson (Dorothy), all of Port Hope, and twenty grandchildren and seven great-grandchilden.

The funeral service will be held on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock from the family residence, 39 Ontario Street.

Winners Claim Theatre Prizes

PORT HOPE, April 14.—(ENS).—Mr. Ed. Brandwood was again the master of ceremonies for the weekly Dimes for Victory draw at the Capitol Theatre on Monday night, April 13, assisted by two small brownies, Miss Jean McCarthy and Miss Nathalee Jordon.

The $25.00 cash theatre prize was won by Mrs. Cy. Williams, who was in the audience and the $25.00 war saving certificate went to Mr. R. A. MacGregor of 38 John street, Port Hope, while the $10.00 war saving certificate went to Mrs. Leo Swales. The $5.00 certificates went to R. H. Rowden, Ted Branton of the Upper Canada News, Belleville, Ont., J. G. Hawkins of 1013 Water street, Peterborough, Ont., Isobel Troup, Miss Bessie Record, Mrs. H. Mitchell, Miss Margaret Doney, Mrs. Trolley, Mrs. A. E. Darck, Miss Irene Quinlan, Miss Lione Southby, Everette Jones, Bowmanville; Mrs. S. Collins, Mr. John Harrison and Miss Elaiare Robson of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, who is a guest at Port Hope for the duration.

Selling A Bicycle

Cobourg, April 14 (ENS)

SOME conception of the growing scarcity of bicycles can be gained from the manner in which a sale of a lady's bicycle was handled yesterday by John Henley, local dealer. Mr. Henley stated that a Belleville jobber obtained a bicycle from the factory and sold it to Mr. Henley when the latter was in Belleville. The wheel was brought up to Cobourg where it was sold to a Toronto woman who wanted it for her daughter's birthday and took the bicycle up to Toronto where she had been unable to purchase one.

Sea-Born Baby

Mrs. Desanka Mohorovicic holds her two weeks baby in her arms. Mrs. Mohorovicic, wife of an attache of the Jugoslav consulate in New York, gave birth to the baby while in a lifeboat. The ship she was on was torpedoed by an undersea raider, and Mrs. Mohorovicic landed in one of the boats. The baby, not expected for seven or eight weeks, was brought into the world by Dr. Leonard H. Conly, ship's surgeon, while he himself was suffering from two broken ribs.

Seymour Newlyweds Honored By Friends

CAMPBELLFORD, April 14 (ENS)—Several interesting events have been staged in Seymour East recently in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Rannie whose wedding took place on March 28. On both Thursday and Friday evenings of last week post nuptial showers were given in honor of the popular couple who have many friends both in the town and township. Close to 140 attended a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Rannie on Thursday evening when the newlyweds received a large number of lovely gifts including a radio, clock, silver casseroles and kitchen utensils John Coggins read the address extending good wishes and expressing the hope for their continued happiness when they moved to their new home near Tweed and to this Mitchell Rannie responded tendering his sincere gratitude on behalf of his wife and self. An impromptu program was enjoyed along with a number of parlor games. Miss Mildred Heagle gave a piano solo; Mrs. George Ingram, a reading; Malcolm and Howard Hutcheon, a duet; John Coggins, a vocal solo; Misses Laura and Jean Third, a duet. At the close refreshments were served.

On Friday Mr. and Mrs. Rannie were taken completely by surprise when members of the choir of St. John's United Church visited them and during the evening presented them with a lovely electric clock. In the presentation address, read by Mrs. H. M. Donald, thanks was expressed to Mitchell Rannie for his faithful assistance in the choir during the past six years and the wish for the future happiness of both Mr. and Mrs. Rannie was sounded. Mrs. Hilliard Jones made the presentation and Mr. Rannie responded appropriately. Following this a brief choir rehearsal was held and several games and contests were enjoyed. Refreshments were then served and all joined in singing Auld Lang Syne.

Havelock Blast Lifts Hill Of 92,000 Tons

HAVELOCK, April 14—(ENS). — A large crowd of spectators gathered at the Ontario Rock Company quarry some three miles east of the town this afternoon when the thirteenth tunnel blast was fired at 2 o'clock. It is estimated that 92,000 tons of trap rock were displaced by 16 tons of dynamite.

It was distributed into 65 charges, ranging in size from six cases to 27 cases. These charges were wired in five series with 13 charges to a series and wired with two No. 8 eoctric caps in each charge. As the charges wereplaced and wired, the tunnel was back-filled with trap-rock screenings. For protection the wiring was all doubled in case one circuit should break. The tunnel this year was 953 feet long and 3½ feet wide by 4½ feet high, with an average over burden from 37 feet to 68 feet at various places.

This blast marks the thirteenth held at the quarry and the eleventh that Superintendent Harry Scott has successfully engineered. His brother, Clifford Scott, pulled the switch, promptly as 2 o'clock, which made the hill seem to rise as though on a hoist, a heavy rumble followed, and the hill cracked up into huge pieces.

Dense clouds of dirty grey smoke arose, followed by an enormous amount of flame, providing a wonderful spectacle to the onlookers, who rushed from a distance to get a close-up of the result.

The blast loosened sufficient rock to keep the quarry employees busy all summer.

Friends Honor Pt. Hope Couple

PORT HOPE, April 14—(ENS).—A lovely evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tozier, 16 Princess street, on Saturday, when twenty-five friends met to wish Mr. and Mrs. E. Kerwood Taylor farewell.

Mr. Taylor, who for the past fifteen years has been a draftsman at the Port Hope Sanitary, has left to go on war work in Toronto.

Six tables of bridge were played and a very delicious angel cake was won as high prize by Mrs. H. J. C. Beatty, while a low prize went to Mr. S. Macdonald.

With a few appropriate words Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were presented with a beautiful walnut coffee table. Though taken by surprise Mr. Taylor thanked his many friends in well chosen words and after the serving of dainty refreshments the evening came to a close with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

Failure In India

Britain has offered India self-government, and the offer has been refused. It may be said that the offer was made too late, but it is doubtful if anyone who has troubled to acquaint himself, even in the most superficial manner, with the circumstances of British rule in India, will be able to specify a time in the past when such an offer might have had a better chance than it has had in the past month; it might be said with more justice that the offer was made too soon, for it is clear that the Indians are not yet ready for self-government or for any sort of unity not imposed upon them by an outside force. Countries rarely have opportunity to make vital decisions under ideal circumstances; in the past month Britain and India have been forced to make a great decision by circumstances out of their control, and India has chosen to face a ruthless enemy with all her grievances intact, rather than accept the generous British plan.

It is difficult to interpret the statement of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru that "We are not going to embarrass the British war effort in India . . ." It would be interesting to know precisely what the Indian leader would call embarrassment; Nehru, of course, is in an extremely awkward position, for he was more anxious than many of his colleagues to accept the British offer, and he seems to have a more acute realization of India's danger at the moment.

A great part of the responsibility for the failure of negotiations must lie at the door of Mohandas Karamchand Ghandi, whose strong pacificism makes him almost impossible to deal with in time of war. Ghandi is not afraid of the Japanese; he thinks that if they overrun India the Indians will eventually defeat them by refusing to co-operate with them; understandably he thinks of the war solely from an Indian point of view and refuses to countenance fighting, for any cause whatever. As always in considering this Indian point of view, it is impossible for an Occidental to decide how much of Ghandi's pacificism is saintliness and how much of it is a crazy notion which appeals only to a devitalized element among the Indian peoples. One thing is obvious: passive resistance and refusal to co-operate with the enemy are going to make the British fight in India not easier, but harder.

The Indian military situation is far from hopeless. The British will organize the best defence that they can and the best British General has the matter in hand. Though Indian leaders may be indecisive and naive there are thousands of Indian troops who like nothing better than a good scrap. India has trained troops and munitions in considerable quantities and the least that can be hoped from the Battle for India is that it will prove painful and exhausting for the Japs.

That, however, is in the future. The depressing fact at the moment is that we have suffered a political defeat in India, which will make the task of the United Nations difficult, and India has thrown away a great opportunity. It is a gloomy incident in human history.

Cripps Did His Best

It used to be said that a man whose power and well-being depended upon the favors of princes was a man whose life hung by a thread; nowadays it is not a single ruler, but the public as a whole which has power to make or break a statesman. How will the British public, which set great store by the abilities of Sir Stafford Cripps, receive him after his failure in India? He was given a great task, and was asked to accomplish it in a short time; he expressed optimism about his power to do so, he did his best, and he failed. Now what will become of him? Will the British public keep its faith in him, or will it set him aside as useless?

Let us hope that it does not choose the latter course. Cripps is one of the most brilliant men in England today and the Government has uses for him. He suffered, rather like General MacArthur, from a form of public hysteria which reposed in him hopes which only a man of supernormal abilities could fulfil. He is not to be blamed for taking a highly optimistic view of his own chances of success in India; he must certainly have known what difficulties he had to face, but he would have been foolish to set out on his journey with anything but a high heart. His conduct in India was unimpeachable. He made a fine impression on the Indian people, although it is doubtful if his passion for informality and simple living really made them think more highly of him than if he had travelled and lived magnificently; Sir Stafford is an intellectual rather than a statesman and he may not know how to win simple people who love display. But in any case he left India on the most friendly terms with its leaders, and that in itself was a remarkable feat.

What will be his fate now? A month or so ago there was an agitation to oust Winston Churchill from power and to replace him with Sir Stafford Cripps. Churchill had made mistakes, and things were going badly; apparently many people thought that a change of Prime Minister might bring a change of luck. Will they think so now? It is not impossible; the war has made some surprising changes in the complexion of Britain's political thought and the sallowness of the Baldwin-Chamberlain days of conservation is giving place to the ruddier flush of socialism. Heavy taxes and deprivation of privileges have removed the average man's objection to socialism—that it might take from him something which he had painfully gained and which set him a little above his fellows—and there is a growing feeling that the vigor of the Leftist group in Britain might win the war quicker and more decisively than present sturdy but conservative methods. We make no criticism of this point of view; we are content to state that it exists, and that it may yet have its chance under the leadership of Stafford Cripps. Just now his future is in the hands of the public; what will it do with him?

Change In Aerial Warfare

The threat of the Luftwaffe to Britain has become considerably less in recent months, and the Germans are admitting it. A dispatch from Madrid recently quoted a German spokesman as saying that the improvement in British defences against night raids had made such attacks most unprofitable. The spokesman went on to say that the popular belief that German raids on Britain had decreased because Germany had to keep the greater part of her airforce in Russia was not founded in fact; the real reason was that the British electro-magnetic plane detector made the cost of bombing too high.

In aerial warfare a raid which costs more than ten per cent. of the planes taking part is considered unsatisfactory. German losses have been in excess of this figure for some time. The electro-magnetic detector may be used from the ground or from a two-seater pursuit plane, and it makes anything in the nature of a mass raid vulnerable to attack from night-fighters. Under these circumstances the British know where the Germans are, but the Germans do not know where the British are, and so may be taken unawares. The cost has been heavy.

German defence against raids, on the other hand, relies heavily upon huge concentrations of searchlights and anti-aircraft weapons in areas where bombing is likely. This method of defence has proved much less satisfactory than the British device. Although details of raids over Germany are seldom released, the R.A.F. recently made known that of a sweep of 300 bombers over Germany, 295 returned safely, a brilliant record. Germany is now feeling something of the fury of the raids over Coventry and Plymouth. We have no desire to indulge in foolish optimism, but it certainly looks as though the tide of war in the air had changed. But it has also become apparent that air war alone will not decide the present conflict.

On Swinging The Classics

Some of our contemporaries are exercised over the fact that, of late months, the dance-band musicians have turned to the classics for their inspiration, and have hotted up themes from Tschaikowsky, Ravel, Beethoven, Brahms, and Rachmaninoff in order to provide themselves with new numbers. We cannot become greatly disturbed over this fact ourselves, for we do not think that it matters very much, and the business of stealing from the classics has been going on for a long time. Of course, it does seem a little unjust that Freddie Martin of the Waldorf-Astoria should make a sum reputed to be in excess of $100,000 with his perversion of Tschaikowsky's pianoforte concerto in B flat when the original composer lived all his life in rather humble circumstances; but there is always this to be remembered: Tschaikowsky had the honor and the glory of being Tschaikowsky and Freddie Martin, however much money he makes, is only Freddie Martin. We doubt if the Russian genius would have accepted an even million to change places with the hep-cat's idol.

What really interests us about the popular music which is pinched from the classics is the change which comes over it before it is presented for the delectation of the dancing public. It is not merely vulgarized; it is gelded. Any strength, any violence, any passion or real tenderness which distinguished the original is changed to weakness, nostalgia, and mawkish sentimentality. The dance-band version bears the same resemblance to the original that a bottle of pop does to a bottle of fragrant, generous Burgundy: the one is for children on a spree, and the other for men and women who know that life is a mystery of dark and wonderful beauty. It is a little disturbing to find these enfeebled versions of great creations catching the fancy of so many people.

The dancing which accompanies these androgynous versions of the classics is disturbing also. Dancing was, for thousands of years, a sacred ritual, expressing through the body man's awe and pleasure in the various and delightful and terrifying universe about him. Now it is a nervous and devitalized method of passing the time. Feeble dancing to feeble music: what is wrong with us? Modern life could do with an injection of adult vigor, and the sooner it gets it, the better.

The Guggenheim Fellowships

When so much of the news is of war and destruction it is a relief to read of the annual award of the Guggenheim Fellowships, which enable artists and scientists to spend a year on some project dear to their hearts, free from financial worry. This year a professor at McGill will be able to prepare a book on cytology and genetics in plants, animals and man; we wish him every success, though we do not promise to read the book. John Dos Passos, the American author whose sprawling, journalistic novels have won him a following among those who like to fancy themselves advanced political thinkers, is going to write a life of Thomas Jefferson. A Professor Dixon Wecter is to spend his year preparing a history of the Roosevelt family in America; this seems somewhat premature; surely Professor Wecter would be well advised to wait until the greatest of the Roosevelts has finished making history. Eudora Welty and Carson McCullers will write novels; we do not know anything about Eudora Welty, but Carson McCullers has a most original way of looking at life, and may become one of America's foremost novelists if she continues to develop. The British poet, W. H. Auden, will write poetry; in an age which lacks great poets, Auden is one of the best of the second-raters. And Professor Meyer Schapiro, who teaches Fine Arts at Columbia, will make a collection of medieval manuscript art.

Some people may be angry to think of the 82 Guggenheim Fellows peacefully pursuing their tasks during a year which will be a very hard one for all of us. We are not angry; we are pleased. That is what man is for—to think about cytology and genetics, to write poetry, to distill life through the imagination, to glory in the past and to record it. We have to fight a war, and it is desperately important that we win it, but let us not forget that it is civilization which we are fighting for, and the holders of the Guggenheim Fellowships are laboring to provide a civilization worthy of the fight.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The League of Nations, we hear, is carrying on with a skeleton staff; the staff may be a skeleton but the League spirit is a ghost, and a thin one at that.

One by one the isolationists are weakening; a picture has appeared of Charles Augustus Lindbergh wearing a pair of Victory trousers.

Italian naval losses have become so heavy that the Nazis are taking over the Italian fleet; who said the Italians were a buoyant race?

A report from Russia says that the Nazis are now using troops of very inferior type, and some are described as "deaf and one-eyed." Nazi leaders have been short-sighted for a long time.

ST. PETER'S BAY

Now with the sunset slowly dimming,
  And above the surf in shell-strewn caves,
I hear the scream of gray gulls skimming,
  Along the beach and the white-capped waves.

And from the tip of yonder tower
  A shaft of light slow swings to sea;
While at this strange bewitching hour
  The roar of the rip tide comes to me.

Extraordinary Miss Thompson

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

WHEN the history of this war comes to be written, not the least remarkable of its many peculiar manifestations will be Miss Dorothy Thompson. Women have been influential in world affairs before this, of course, but usually they have been glamorous courtesans, ruling statesmen and soldiers by their beauty, wit and charm; Miss Thompson makes no pretensions to beauty, is rather devoid of humor than otherwise, and her charm is the property of millions and not of any single person. There have been other, and greater women correspondents than she; Genevieve Tabouis, for instance, can make rings around her as a prophetess; it is not as a reporter that Miss Thompson is notable. No, she has rather the inexplicable appeal of a Mrs. Roosevelt; she has the ability to grasp and hold the attention of hundreds of thousands of people while imparting to them no very remarkable knowledge; she has something of the ability to command respect and chivalry which distinguishes Queen Elizabeth; she has a strongly evangelical quality which may be an heritage from her preacher father; she is that modern phenomenon, a female demagogue.

◆ ◆ ◆

A book has just appeared called "Dorothy Thompson's English Journey," written by J. W. Drawbell, editor of that popular London paper, the "Sunday Chronicle." It purports to be an account of Miss Thompson's recent visit to Britain and in a sense it is, but it is much more an account of Miss Thompson's impact upon Mr. Drawbell, and as such it has a special interest. The reader gathers that Mr. Drawbell was not altogether sure what he was going to do with the phenomenon before she arrived in Britain, but that he was never allowed one moment's doubt when once she had actually arrived. Mr. Drawbell, like many another, came under Miss Thompson's spell at once, and his book was obviously written while he was still under the influence.

◆ ◆ ◆

IT MUST be made clear at once that Miss Thompson's special fascination has little to do with her sex. It is not as a woman that she reduces hardened British journalists to admiring pulp, but rather as a talker, a producer of brilliant generalizations, and indefatigable worker and, it must be confessed, as a sob-sister. The reader's understanding of Miss Thompson may be increased by an anecdote related of her recently by George Jean Nathan, the eminent New York dramatic critic. Mr. Nathan had been inveighing, as is his custom, against the state of the American theatre to Miss Thompson, who thereupon told him, in so many words, that there was no place for him in the modern world, nor for any mere critic and looker-on at life. The deflated Mr. Nathan was left to reflect that Miss Thompson was herself no more than a critic and a looker-on. But Miss Thompson is a somewhat intrusive critic; whenever she can, she crawls up on the stage and takes a hand in the play herself; she likes the limelight.

◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Thompson has had a remarkable career. Her father was a Methodist preacher from Durham, in England, who sought his fortune in the United States. His eldest daughter learned from him a love of rhetoric and poetry, and began her career as a writer in the advertising business. Tiring of this she went to England and, by a combination of persistance, talent and luck, she eventually became one of the foremost journalists of her time, and incurred the deep hatred of Adolf Hitler. She spotted him for what he was away back in 1924, and was certainly the first journalist to take him seriously; she even read "Mein Kampf" when it first appeared, a remarkable feat in a world where the book was dismissed as a foolish dream by the few militarists and statesmen who had heard of it. Dorothy Thompson was certainly the first Democratic Power to declare war on Hitler and she is far from being the least successful.

◆ ◆ ◆

IN CANADA she is best known as an early supporter of All-out Aid to Britain and as a valiant fighter against Isolationism. She was accused many times of attempting to bring the U.S. into the war, and that was undoubtedly her intention. Certainly she did much to pave the way for the declaration which followed Pearl Harbor. She is a mighty champion of democracy and she knows what democracy really is, something which cannot be said for every spokesman who uses the word. In Mr. Drawbell's book there is a letter which she wrote to the "Sunday Times" in answer to one of her critics which is a remarkable document, stating her democratic beliefs with admirable clarity and making an eloquent plea for Anglo-American friendship. That is one of the disturbing things about Dorothy Thompson; sometimes she writes or speaks with burning eloquence, voicing the thoughts and desires of a whole nation, and at other times she gives utterance to stuff which is on the lowest sob-sister level. In this book there is a most moving description of how Winston Churchill heard a recording of her broadcast to Britain, the one which had the peroration beginning...."and when you speak, Churchill, brave men's hearts everywhere go out to you: there are no neutral hearts except those that have stopped beating....": when it was over the Prime Minister said, with glistening eyes, "Do people really feel like that? Do they feel like that about me?" That was when Dorothy Thompson spoke for millions.

◆ ◆ ◆

Alas, it is not always so. She can also produce such stuff as, "If I'd a daughter I'd tell her: Think twice before you prefer a career to marriage... it's a better thing to produce a fine man than a second-rate novel, and fine men begin by being fine children." Miss Thompson has no daughter. But the career of a journalist is a path of thorns; they must always be talking and giving opinions, and it is small wonder if they talk nonsense a good part of the time. Mr. Drawbell's book is an excellent impression of a remarkable personality, and it should prove popular with Canadians, who owe much to Dorothy Thompson, as does all the free world.

• Japs Swinging to India •

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Japanese moves in the Philippines and Indian Ocean are shaping to a definite pattern. They foreshadow clearly coming blows at India while a Pacific holding front, hinged on island bases from the coast of Japan to that of Australia, wards off intervention by the United States Fleet.

Prime Minister Churchill has disclosed that British planes had spotted three or more Japanese battleships, five plane carriers and many light craft in the Bay of Bengal. He gave no indication of British naval strength there, but loss of two heavy cruisers and a small plane carrier has already gravely reduced it.

LARGE PART OF JAP FLEET

The Japanese force represents virtually half of Japan's known plane carrier fleet and at least a fourth and perhaps even a third of her battleship strength. It means that Japan's sea-air forces on her Pacific flank, from Japan itself to the Solomons off Australia's east coast, have been dangerously scaled down. An opportunity for a smashing American naval and air blow at Japanese communication lines in the China Sea would be clearly indicated but for two circumstances.

One is the bulwark of Japanese island bases for airplanes and submarines along the Pacific flank. They cover every approach from the Pacific to the China Sea, including all routes through interior waters of the Philippine Archipelago.

The other American naval handicap on which Tokyo's war lords undoubtedly are counting is the fact that except for roving task forces United States sea power in the Pacific is necessarily disposed to safeguard supply routes to Australia. Even if Japan's main battle fleet has been reduced to the extent indicated, there seems little prospect that American sea forces can be spared from convoy duty to seek it out for decisive action.

GIVES MacARTHUR TIME

Japanese concentration of power in the Indian Ocean, however, does strongly intimate that any immediate attempt to invade Australia is impossible. General MacArthur seems certain to be granted additional time for mobilization, training and equipment of his Australian-American armies for offensive as well as defensive operations.

There is every reason, however, to expect and hope for a stepping-up of blows at Japanese island outposts by American naval task forces and an increase also in American submarine raiding in Japanese waters. Presumably it was to guard against just that that the Japanese moved against Cebu in the Philippines even before their conquest of Bataan Peninsula on Luzon was complete.

A map of the Philippines will reveal at once the high strategic value of the big island 375 miles south of Luzon. It dominates both Surigao and San Bernardino Straits, the only two passages from the Pacific into the China Sea through Philippine interior waters.

A Bible Message For Today . . .

In Gibeon the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream by night: and God said, Ask what I shall give thee. And Solomon said, Thou hast shewed unto they servant David my father great mercy, according as he walked before thee in truth, and in righteousness and in uprightness of heart with thee; and thou has kept for him this great kindness, that thou hast given him a son to sit on his throne, as it is this day.

And now, O Lord my God, thou hast made thy servant king instead of David my father: and I am but a little child: I know not how to go out or come in....Give therefore thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people, that I may discern between good and bad: for who is able to judge this thy so great a people?...

And God said unto him, Because thou hast asked this thing, and hast not asked for thyself long life; neither hast asked riches for thyself, nor hast asked the life of thine enemies; but hast asked for thyself understanding to discern judgment; behold, I have done according to thy words: lo, I have given thee a wise and an understanding heart....And I have also given thee that which thou hast not asked, both riches and honour.—I Kings iii, 5-7, 9, 11, 12, 13.

◆ ◆ ◆

For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God. Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God.—I Cor. ii, 11-12.

GENEROUS GESTURE

BECAUSE of clothes-rationing Boy Scouts may have to go without new uniforms.

The other day it was my excellent fortune to be admitted to a certain Den where, amid the poles, banners and trophies of the Troop, a new Wolf Cub Pack was being formed. The little boys sat along the wall in a state of considerable emotion, their bare knees twinkling, their wide eyes taking in everything but especially the dirk in the Scoutmaster's stocking.

Of course, the whole of their ambition was to have a uniform of similar grandeur and, with many shifts and ruses, the Pack was finally equipped with everything but that important item—the neckerchief, or, more properly, the necker. This was of an exclusive Scots tartan and quite unobtainable. So those noble Scouts took their own prized Neckers, cut them solemnly across, and gave each delighted Cub his half. St. Martin did no more.—Yorkshire Post.

DRESS HAS SHIRRED BODICE

The new vogue for soft detail influences this charming frock by Marian Martin, Pattern 9030. The bodice sections are becomingly shirred and accented by revers. Don't you like the ribbon sash? It's a favorite on print frocks this year. You might like to use contrast, as shown in the smaller figure, to emphasize the bolero line of the panel; you might like to use lace edging on the revers!

Pattern 9030 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3⅛ yards 39 inch fabric.

Alice Grace Coles Is Wed To Gordon A. Hendren

HASTINGS, April 14—(ENS).—Rev. Dr. Smart officiated this afternoon at the marriage of Alice Grace Coles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coles of Hastings, to Gordon Albert Hendren, of Lakefield, solemnized in St. Paul's Presbyterian Manse, Peterborough.

Gowned in a white floor length dress with attached train, the bride's veil was of white French lace caught at the top with a halo of pink roses. Rose Coles, sister of the bride, wearing a pink sheer crepe floor length dress with white hat and accessories, was the bridesemaid. Pte. Harold Hendren, twin brother of the groom, was best man.

Following the wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents near Hastings, attended by the families and immediate relatives of the happy couple. Serving were Mrs. Eric Emery and Miss Lynda Hendren.

For travelling the bride donned a back and white checkered coat, and a red hat with matching accessories. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm in Dummer.

Marmora Man Wed in Toronto

MARMORA, April 14—(ENS).—A pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Rev. W. J. Boyd, 130 Tyndall Avenue, Toronto, on Saturday afternoon, the contracting parties being Mildred Bise, daughter of Mr and Mrs. W. C. Bise, of 37 Miller Avenue, Toronto, and Hugh Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips of Marmora. The bride was daintily attired in Windsor blue crepe and blue hat with biege accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses. Mrs. Vincent McCartior of Niagara Falls, N.Y., niece of the bride, as attendant, wore biege and green two-piece crepe dress with biege accessories, and corsage of red roses. The duties of best man were carried out by George Kockle of Toronto.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, with about fifty in attendance. The bride's mother wore blue crepe and corsage of red roses, and the mother of the groom was attired in light blue crepe and wore a corsage of red roses. The happy young couple received many beautiful gifts. They will take up residence in Toronto.

Home and School Association News

The May's School Home and School Association held their regular meeting on Monday evening. The program was a musical treat. The president called the meeting to order and opened the meeting with the Home and School hymn followed by the Lord's Prayer. A large and appreciative audience was in attendance. Mrs. Breckenbridge took the chair for the program, which was given by the pupils of Mrs. P. S. Dallin, assisted by Barbara Rose, who gave two readings, and Cyril Robinson, who played two violin solos. Because of illness several numbers had to be cancelled. Mrs. Dallin's pupils in the concert were Shirley Smith, Shirley and Ethel Roberts, Bernice Magee, Doreen Vass, Fern Moncrief, Jean Booth, Eleanor Rickard, Frances Carpenter, Shirley Heckman, Alan Lundy, Phyllis Dummitt and Eva Fallis.

Mrs. H. Taylor moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Dallin and her pupils and to those assisting them. Sandwiches and tea were served and a social half hour was enjoyed by all.

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL.

The regular meeting of the Confederation Home and School Assocíaiton was held on Monday evening in the form of a Fathers' Night, and it was pleasing to note the considerable number of fathers who turned out. Mrs. F. White, president, was in the chair, and asked Mrs. J. Douglas about the salvage in the South-end. Anyone who has any salvage should give Mrs. Douglas a call, as it is being collected in her garage on Young Street. Mrs. Jackson promised the co-operation of the senior pupils in getting the salvage together and taking it to Mrs. Douglas' garage.

The president then called for a nominating committee and Mrs. N. Monks appointed Mrs. M. Parry and Mrs. W. Naish to assist her.

Mrs. W. White gave a splendid report on the war work committee.

The fathers then took over the social part of the evening. Mr. M. Parry and Mr. L. Watkiss held an amusing quiz program and Mr. Joe Murphy gave two very fine violin solos. Master Joey McMahon, accompanied by Mr. William Potter, sang "Mother Machree." Mr. Alex Kay gave an interesting talk on the 768 varieties of birds to be found in Canada and stressed the necessity for protecting them, with special emphasis on boys with air rifles.

Mrs. E. Chambers, president of the Home and School Council, gave a brief sketch of the convention held in Toronto, and Mrs. R. Parnall, past president, spoke on the meaning of the Home and School Association. Since time was limited it was decided to ask both speakers back at some future date. Mrs. Jackson's and Miss Garbutt's classes tied for the attendance banner.

KING EDWARD SCHOOL

Rev. Alex Haddow interested a large audience at the King Edward Home and School Association meeting on Monday evening with highlights of his journey from New York to Bolivia. Mr. Haddow has spent several years as a missionary in Bolivia and he also spoke on his work among the people in that country. The speaker was introduced by Mr. D. Crawford. Mrs. E. Chambers gave a report on the recent Home and School conference held in Toronto, stressing in part the panel discussion under the leadership of Miss Mary Davidson on Home Education, and parent-teacher co-operation.

A Swedish folk dance was performed by the pupils of Miss Hart's class and a choir under direction of Miss Margaret Dickson and sang two of their numbers from the Spring Musical Festival, with Mrs. G. Wallace at the piano.

The report of the C.W.S.C. meeting was given by Mrs. A. Ellis, who told of the need for more salvage workers. Mrs. L. Gibson, convener of the King Edward war service committee, thanked the ladies who had been so kind to finish two quilts and some articles of clothing, which are to be sent to the Red Shield. Mr. McKee's class were winners of the attendance banner for another month. A vote of thanks to all who had taken part was moved by Mrs. C. Chapman. Refreshments were served.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

The regular meeting of the Central Home and School Association was held on Monday evening in the Kindergarten with the president, Mrs. G. Leeming, in the chair. The usual business was dealt with, Miss Doughty's room winning the attendance prize. Jane Dutton, Audrey Metheral and Shirley Sisson displayed a handsome quilt which they had knitted. Mrs. McGee gave a report on the C.W.S.C. meeting and the salvage committee.

Mrs. L. Groombridge gave a report of the annual meeting of the Home and School convention at the Royal York Hotel. Mrs. H. Raper spoke on the nomination papers, of which Mrs. E. Outram, Mrs. R. Pearse, and Mrs. Gilders are conveners.

The remainder of the evening was given over to a musical program by pupils of the school. Mr. D. Munro was chairman for the program, which opened with a group of 18 folk dances and games by the pupils of Miss Darcy's class, who looked charming in their black bodices, green skirts and green kerchiefs. This was followed by an Irish reel by Marjory Pearse. Then the school choir sang "O Canada", "Star Spangled Banner", "Fairest Isle" and "Easter Hymn," with Miss Musa Cox at the piano.

Victor Barrett sang a solo, "Annie Laurie," with Nan Pitchford at the piano, and was followed by a piano quartet, Madge Jones, M. Honour, Barbara Craig, and Marjorie Pearse. The choir sang "All Through the Night", "Billy Boy" and "There's an Empire Back of the Union Jack." Jack Cruthers gave a recitation, "My Dog Jig", which he had written himself.

Eleanor John, supported by the choir and accompanied by Patricia Martyn, sang "Land of Hope and Glory." Three choral numbers, "Our Canada From Sea to Sea," sung with descant, "Thanksgiving Hymn", "Our Mother Land" and "Rule Britannia," closed the program.

Town Cotton

By PRUNELLA WOOD

ONE of the best finds in fashions for the coming warm season is the suit sketched here today. During any summer spent in town it would be a success, but this summer, when clothes must be functional, no matter how pretty, this cotton tailleur is a winner.

One can wear it on hot days that are sunny or rainy, secure in its discreet and trig design; without its jacket the frock is revealed as a good looking costume on its own. Of cotton cloth there is plenty and in a chambray weave it makes splendid summer tailoring fabric.

Cotton chambray in pink, blue, gray or brown is tailored for a jacket frock. Pearl buttons.

Mission Circle Holds Easter Meeting

The Easter thankoffering meeting of the Frances Watt Mission Circle of Knox United Church was held at the home of Mrs. J. Gerrard, Aylmer Street, president of the Knox W.M.S. Miss Jean Hair presided at the meeting.

During the business period the treasurer's report showed a surplus over the Circle's allocation for the first quarter. Plans were made for the next meeting, which is to be held at hte home of Miss Phyllis Kidd, Reid Street. Mrs. C. Ross was appointed treasurer for the balance of the year. Members were reminded to bring articles for the bale to the next meeting.

Miss Jean Hair led the worship service. She was assisted by the Misses Marjorie Lewis, Irene Graham, Mrs. F. Dunford and Mrs. J. Gerrard. Mrs. H. Clegg led in prayer.

Mrs. F. Harris, president of the Presbyterial, was introduced by Mrs. E. Mesley, and gave a forceful address, stressing the importance of the work and telling of the different branches in Canada and other lands. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by Miss Irene Graham and her assistants.

MONTREAL ELIMINATES FLIERS FROM EASTERN CANADA FINALS

Wilson Scores 19 As Oilers Take Fliers By 47-38

By ALAN DUCKETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

MONTREAL, April 14—(CP). — When Ronnie Wilson moved to Montreal from Winnipeg last fall a group of basketball-minded Montrealers were forming a team to enter into the Montreal Senior Basketball League. So Wilson went to one of the workouts and was immediately signed to play because of his near-perfect shooting.

Well, one man who is really happy about it all to-day is Coach Johnny Ferraro of the Montreal Oilers.

Wilson scored 19 points last night as the Oilers won the deciding game of a best-of-three Eastern semi-final series against Trenton Royal Canadian Air Force Flyers, 47-38, and after the game Ferraro burst out: "I knew he'd do it, I knew it. I knew he was an ace shot and he really proved it out there to-night."

By their victory, the Montrealers earned the right to tackle Dalhousie University in a best-of-three Eastern final series starting in Halifax on Wednesday.

Hold Edge All Way.

The Montreal quintette held a commanding lead throughout the entire game after they wiped out a two-point advantage the Airmen took in the opening minute of the game. Four baskets by Wilson broke up a Trenton threat late in the fast battle. Pat Flynn started the offensive for the Flyers with four straight baskets but smart defensive work stopped the offensive there.

Second to Wilson in the Montreal scoring were Pat Grifin, who had been on the floor throughout the first and second halves until he was sent off with less than three seconds to go in the final session for committing four personal fouls, and Bob Irwin. The two accounted for seven points apiece, while Coach Ferraro tallied six of the remaining points.

Setting the pace for the Airmen was Pat Flynn, the only player on the floor to play the entire game, with seven field goals and one free shot for 15 points. George Weese obtained eight points, while Archie Green and Brian Casey each collected five.

NEW YORK, April 14—(AP). — The bands may be playing 'Take me out to the ball game' to-day, but it's our hunch that before the season ends the tune will be 'There'll be some changes made. Alsab Is Shaded By Neck In Chesapeake

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Albert Sabath's Alsab closed like an express train here yesterday afternoon but missed by a neck margin of getting up and victory in the 2,500 added Chesapeake trial went to R. Sterling Clark's Colchis. Third in the field of six was Mrs. Walter M. Jefford's Seamanlike a half length behind the Juvenile champion of 1941.

Although defeated, Alsab regained his prestige and the consensus of the press box was that son of Good Gods was ready for the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and anything asked of him. Alsab was last in midstretch but turned on a burst of speed that would have made him the winner in another stride.

The Chicago-owned star carried 126 pounds, giving eight pounds to Colchis and twelve pounds to the others. After the finish, Jockey Al Schmidl kept him going in a workout that went to a mile. Colchis' time for the six furlongs was 1:12 2-5.

Bright Willie, Mrs. Ralph McIlvain's Derby candidate, finished in fifth position, while the Foxcatcher Farms' Baby Dumpling, another candidate for the Kentucky classic, was behind Bright Willie and last.

The race was marked by crowding in the stretch caused by Colchis. The son of Happy Argo came over on Seamanlike while going to the front and Bright Willie and Marksman were caught in the jam that resulted. Alsab, on the extreme outside, had clear sailing.

Colchis and Alsab carried the same weight as they did when they finished in a dead heat here last fall. Colchis paid $7.30.

Syracuse Chiefs Undergo Great Shuffle

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., April 14—(AP)—Syracuse Chiefs will start the 1942 baseball season in the International League with the most thorough changed lineup in the circuit. Veterans have been dropped in great numbers and replaced by young players.

The Cincinnati influence is being felt keenly. Jewel Ens of the Red forces has taken over the management of the team. Goody Rosen of Toronto is the only veteran outfielder among the five who will be listed eligible for service on opening day. The others are Eddie Lukon and Al Mele, a pair of left handed hitters who had better than .300 averages in the Southern Association last year, and Clyde Volmer and Carmel Castle, a pair of youngsters from the Reds' string of farms.

The infield present Ed Shokes at first base; Bobby Adams, another youngster, at second; Bobby Williams, a holdover, at shortstop, and Red Juelich, another survivor from last year, at third. Cuban Chico Rodriguez and Johnny Miggins, both youngsters, are the utility men.

Some Likely Material

Shokes is the former Duke University athlete who broke into baseball with Indianapolis last year. Adams, just past his 21st birthday, is the prize of Cincinnati's farm development system. Shokes is a southpaw and the only infielder who is left handed.

Chris Hartje and John Bottarini, holdover, are the heads of the catching staff but one or the other is likely to be traded.

Nate Andrews, who pitched well last year, Les Hinckle, back with the Chiefs after a Cincinnati trial, and Lynn Nelson, relief man of last year, are the only pitching holdovers. Red Barrett returns to Syracuse after a three-year absence to be listed as No. 1 pitcher.

Ben Wade, Mike Schultz and Clayton Lambert are three of the most promising rookies the league has to offer.

Nelson Humbles Hogan By One

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 14—(AP).—Byron Nelson, called by such an authority as Tommy Armour the "greatest golfer I ever saw," sported his second Masters' championship today as the winter tour came to an official end.

The slim, red-faced sharpshooter gathered himself together after taking a nerve-shattering six on the first hole to shoot a great 69 and defeat his old Fort Worth, Texas, friend, Ben Hogan, by one stroke in yesterday's play-off for what probably will be the last masters' tournament until after the war. They were tied at the end of the regulation 72 holes at 280 strokes apiece.

When it was over and the money was split—$1,500 to Nelson, $800 to Hogan—it was announced that three more great players of another day had been nominated for golf's hall of fame. They are Walter Travis, Jim Barnes and Tommy Armour. This fell a little flat, in view of Armour's defiant pronouncement earlier in the day that Nelson was the best man with the sticks he ever saw.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

There should be quite a hockey game in Toronto tonight. With the Leafs still in the running by reason of their fighting win in Detroit Sunday night and with interest in the battle at fever heat following the riot that ended that fourth game, this should be the most hectic battle in a memorable series. Local fans are predicting a Toronto victory; in fact there are many enthusiasts who believe that the Leafs will grab off the next three games and take the Stanley Cup. The first part of this prediction is much more likely to come true than the second. Back on their own ice and heartened by the fact that they were able to pull themselves together just as they were about to drop into the discard should give the Leafs the edge in tonight's game. But it is almost too much to expect that a team that lost three straight games in a final series should develop enough fresh power to carry them through four consecutive victories after such a start. Never in the history of the Stanley Cup has a team that dropped the first two games come on to take the battered mug and the Leafs lost three in a row.

* * * * * *

Right now of course the Red Wings are probably a little jittery. They thought they had the Cup all nicely wrapped up and that they only had to go through the motions Sunday night. And when they scored the first two goals it looked as if they were right. Even when the Leafs staged a rally and fired two themselves to climb up on even terms the Red Wings were still cocky and grew more so early in the final period when they went in front again. But once more the Leafs tied it up and this time they did more than that. They came back with a goal that proved to be the winner and now the Wings realized that they still have a battle on their hands. The balance of morale in short has shifted a bit and that may be a decided factor in tonight's game.

* * * * * *

One angle of the fifth game that seems to be a main topic of conversation is whether the order banning Manager Jack Adams from having a hand in the handling of the Detroit team will hold good. Opinion in Toronto seems to be that the Red Wing pilot will buy a seat near the Detroit bench and shout his instructions ot his lieutenant Ebbie Goodfellow. In such cases baseball umpires have been known to order the offender right out of the ball park and hold up the game until the police have seen that the order was carried out. It would be a good thing if hockey officials had similar authority. Certainly if Adams' part in the riot was as described in the press stories of the game the Wings' pilot should be effectively barred from taking any part in conducting operations tonight. He has forfeited any right to consideration by conduct that has grievously injured the cause of professional hockey. It was Adams' plain duty Sunday night to go to the rescue of an official who was being mobbed. Instead he chose to take part in the assault and for that offence should be fittingly punished.

* * * * * *

The Detroit broadcaster who aired Sunday night's game was heard to ask the question after he had described the riot: "Can you imagine a baseball crowd attacking an umpire like that?" It has been done. and south of the border, too. We remember being in the press box at Erie, Pa., back in 1914 when Erie was a member of the Canadian League. The Petes opened the season there that year and had a one-run lead when Erie went to bat in the final frame. The first man up for the Pennsylvania city team came through with a clean double. As he pulled up at second the umpire happened to notice that the crowd along the left field line had started to edge out on the playing field and he motioned with his hand for them to get back. The runner on second thought he was being waved over to third and he started to jog over to the difficult corner. Louie Schettler who was pitching for the Petes ran over and tagged him on the way to third and the umpire called him out. The next two were easy and the game was over. Then the crowd poured down from the stands and raced for the umpire from all sides. But a squad of police, scenting trouble rushed in and surrounded the official and drawing revolvers escorted him through the milling crowd to the dressing-room. The constabulary undoubtedly saved His Umps from a man-handling for the fans were really riled.

Older Peterborough fans heard yesterday with regret of the death in hospital at Buffalo Saturday of a former Peterborough player who was a prime favorite here in the days of professional baseball in the person of Norman McNeal, the Buffalo, N.Y., boy who did the bulk of the catching for the Petes in 1913 under the managership of Davie Rowan. McNeal, a big, husky kid, was only 20 years old when he was turned over to Peterborough by the Toronto International League club who had purchased him from Syracuse, N.Y. McNeal was behind the bat for the majority of the Peterborough games that season and did a fine job. hitting well, handling pitchers smartly and exhibiting a fine arm. Teammates of McNeal's that campaign were Pitchers Sterling, Tracey, Cresswell, Belting and Brodie, first baseman Dave Rowan, second baseman Joe Sargent, shortstop Harry Brant, third baseman Joe Byrne and outfielders Peggy Swartz, Dave Hilliard and Don Totten. The veteran Jimmy Beard and Jack White began the 1913 campaign with the Petes but were released early in the season. After that year with the local club McNeal was drafted into the International League and caught fine ball for a number of seasons for Providence. He was 49 years old when he died.

Brian Casey's Trenton Flyers were grounded for the season last night when Johnny Ferraro's Montreal Oilers defeated them 47 to 38 in the third and deciding game of the best-of-three series. The result was a surprise to local followers of the Flyers who figured that after the Trenton gang had snapped back and won the second game the third was in the bag. However Montreal proved too good last night, cutting down an early Flyer lead and then going out in front and staying there despite a desperate Air Force offensive that failed to click because the Trenton shooting was off the beam. Ronnie Wilson, former Winnipegger, was the big scoring star of the game for the Oilers, dropping in nine field baskets and cashing in on one free throw for 19 points. Pat Flynn, the big Vancouver centre player did his bit for the Flyers by playing the full game without relief and scoring 15 points. The defeat of the Trenton team will be regretted here although we have seen it coming ever since Ken Colling adopted the Flyers as his own.

* * * * * *

It is Port Arthur vs. Ottawa R.C.A.F. for the Allan Cup. The Bearcats qualified for the final last night by their third straight game over Kimberley Dynamiters who bowed out 3 to 1. Kimberley made a stout stand, leading 1 to 0 at the end of the second period but the Laprades got working in the final 20 minutes and the two brothers each scored within a few seconds of each other to give Port Arthur the lead. The Leprade pair are great hockey players, miles ahead of a lot of pro stars and if Port Arthur gets anywhere in the final series it will likely be because of their work. The Ottawa Flyers are favorites but it should be an interesting series.

EXPLOSION!
CHAPTER XVII

"It's German!" Allan gasped, staring at the swastika on the fuselage of the plane that had machine-gunned Escobar's rurales on shore.

He, the officer and Kay had come to their feet to watch events from the doorway of the house. Escobar's face was set and grim.

"Yes," he said. "Now I comprehend certain hints I have had from Asia. It is Germany working with this Japanese front! And Asia is the Nazi agent, which accounts for her authority over Watanabe!" He added after a moment: "I fear senor, we have lost the last trick."

"Colonel! Allan! See!" Kay was pointing excitedly to the island pier. "Isn't that Pierre getting into a launch?"

"Yes," confirmed Escobar sourly. "The—the Vichy-livered Frenchman is going out to greet his German pals!"

Apparently De Fontanelle was doing exactly that. His launch was putt-putting toward the plane, he seated in the stern. A panel slid back in the side of the bomber and several heads stuck out, their owners staring at the approaching visitor. When the launch was 20 paces from its goal, a harsh challenge rang out. De Fontanelle stopped his engine promptly and curved away till his craft was floating parallel with the bomber.

He stood up, but his back was turned to the plane and he seemed to be looking at the three persons grouped in the doorway of the prison bungalow. He threw up his head to shout, and the words came to them clarion-clear across the water.

"Vive la France!"

He turned like lightning to face the plane. His right arm went back, then snapped forward. Some object he had been holding—it looked like a small stick—went hurtling through the air to strike the bomber square amidship.

There was a great sheet of red flame, a cloud of greasy black smoke, before the crash of the explosion reached the bungalow. When the smoke rolled away, there was no plane, no launch—no Pierre!

"That was the stolen brick!" thought Allan.

From beside him, he heard the swish of metal upon metal. He turned his head. Escobar had drawn his long machete from its scabbard. Facing the spot where Pierre had vanished, he was standing very still, very erect, the hilt of his bright sword raised to the visor of his cap. A moment he held the pose, a statue in khaki; then he relaxed and sent the machete ringing into its sheath. He looked gravely at Allan and Kay Sargent.

"My friends," he said quietly, "we have just seen the death of a very brave man!"

"But—but why?" cried Kay, almost tearfully. "Why did he do it?"

"You don't understand, senorita? De Fontanelle was no traitor to his country after all, no faint-hearted defeatist. He was an out-and-out Free Frenchman! Free in spirit, that is, but chained in body. The Nazis controlled his actions, because they could threaten injury to his mother, in Paris. The old German game! And now, young lady, we know why a man, hearing of his mother's death may show elation! I—"

"Escobar;" broke in Allan frantically; while listening, he had been watching the rurales returning to action on the Peninsula. "They've got a battery of field pieces! Stop them, man—for God's sake, stop them! That whole island is a magazine of high explosive—!"

* * *

He spoke too late. So did the colonel of rurales, who had promptly bellowed a mighty 'Hola!' at his distant men. Four small cannon let go with a roar, their well-aimed projectiles bursting against a squat, concrete turret in the center of the main island.

So much Allan glimpsed before the world came temporarily to an end. It was like all the earthquakes he had ever felt rolled into one. A terrific concussion flung him to the ground, where his body broke Kay's fall as she was thrown on top of him. The earth, the water and the skies were all gyrating in a mad circle. The center of the big island seemed to split open, throw itself up in the air, then crash slowly down upon its own ruins. A pillar of fire rose from the debris like flames from the crater of a volcano. . . .

"Oh, God! Allan! Allan! My father—my father—!"

"Steady, dear! He may be unhurt in that deep cell where they kept him. I'll go right over—"

He scrambled to his feet and ran across to where their guards, who had gone over in a body to the defense of the island, had left one launch. He was getting in when Escobar landed beside him.

"I'm with you, senor! You'll take care of the old gentleman while I go after the lady! Asia, too, had underground quarters."

"Forgotten Asia? Tut, tut, she wouldn't like that." And the colonel added significantly as the boat shot away from the dock: "I think she'd much rather I'd forget her."

* *

The launch was speedy but Allan thought they'd never get to the main island. Looking ahead, he could see nothing but a reeking scene of ruin. A pall of smoke hung over everything. No sign of life met his eye. It would be different soon: to the right, he glimpsed a horde of disguised rurales tumbling into boats and barges; they must have been surprised by the cataclysm, but were moving to profit by it.

The rocky beach at last, and the two men sprang ashore. Escobar headed inland as if he knew exactly where to go, while Allan sped to the iron door in the rock. It was unlocked, as was the inner cell. And there on the bed was Dr. Sargent, stunned and confused but quite uninjured and able to pull his wits together when Allan spoke.

"Kay told me they put your car in a garage on the mainland. Right? I'll take you over there, then. After I'll fetch Kay." He waited impatiently as the old man got together some papers and put them carefully in an inner pocket of his coat. "You're lucky to be unhurt, sir. I expect it was shells from a field gun that touched it off."

"Perhaps. Or perhaps it was Poona Gungas. I saw the beginning of the fight. Came down here when it got too hot. Watanabe and Dr. Ishizuka were both killed by machine gun bullets—and Gungas had orders to blow up the magazine if the island seemed likely to fall." A look of deep satisfaction came to the scientist's face. "At least those yellow devils got none of the stuff—and there's plenty of raw material left for us!"

Allan ferried him across to the Peninsula and escorted him to a corrugated tin shed where the Sargent car had been placed when its owner was taken. He left the old man tinkering happily with it, and promising to bring Kay in a hurry, he stepped from the building.

He paused abruptly as he spied Escobar and Asia some hundred yards to his left. He slipped behind a clump of cactus and watched as the colonel bowed the lady into a small tool-shed, slammed the door on her, snapped a padlock shut and put the key in his pocket; then he turned away and strode to a launch, which he boarded and headed for the prison island.

"So Asia's a prisoner herself now!" muttered Allan, and contemplated the tool-shed pensively. "B'gosh—I'll chance it!"

He walked to the shed, picking up a short iron bar as he went. Most of the rurales were over on the captured island; the few he met merely smiled politely and seemed to take el americano for granted. Nobody saw him as he thrust the bar into the padlock, snapped it, and kicked open the door.

BEARCATS SETTLE DYNAMITERS 3-2 TO CAPTURE WESTERN CROWN

Steaming East To Tackle Flyers Next

PORT ARTHUR, April 14—(CP).—Port Arthur Bearcats, with the Western Canada senior hockey championship safely tucked away, are en route to Ottawa to-day for the first game of the Allan Cup finals against Ottawa R.C.A.F. Flyers in the Dominion Capital on Thursday night. Bearcats defeated Kimberley Dynamiters 3-1 last night to win the Western crown.

It was a gloomy team that entrained last night. Their star defenceman, Bert Laprade, was resting in hospital after being boarded in the dying seconds of last night's game. X-ray pictures showed there were no fractures. Hospital authorities, however, stated to-day he would be able to leave on Wednesday morning in time to catch the first game.

The Laprade brothers, Bert and Edgar, were again prominent in last night's win. After being held scoreless by Dynamiters until the 5:11 mark of the third, Edgar scored on a pass from Lindsay McDougall. Bert roared down 57 seconds later and scored what proved to be the winning counter on a double pass from Edgar and McDougall. The other Bearcats counter came when Waikko Koivisto blazed the puck past Jakie Nash on a penalty shot at 13:03 of the third to complete the scoring.

Kimberley presented a fast-skating forward line that checked Port Arthur to a standstill in the first two periods. The only Kimberley goal came at the 13:40 mark of the second period when Sandy Sanderson combined with Sully Sullivan to beat Goalie Russ Dertell.

In the Western best-of-five final series, Kimberley defeated Port Arthur at Calgary in the first game 2-1. Bearcats came back to drub the B.C. squad 8-2 in the second game at Regina, and then on their home ice on Saturday night laced Kimberley 7-3.

Bud Poile, who was a standout for Fort William Hurricane-Ranger Juniors in the Western playdowns against Portage La Prairie Terriers, was an addition to the Port Arthur lineup last night. Poile, a centre, signed to a Toronto Maple Leafs contract.

Ruth Out Of Bed; Likes Pirates

HOLLYWOOD, April 14—(AP).—Babe Ruth got out of his hospital bed long enough yesterday to receive a few visitors and voice two predictions about the 1942 major league baseball campaign— one of them a surprise.

The Bambino, recuperating from a pneumonia attack, said he figured his old team, New York Yankees, would again capture the American League pennant.

The surprise?

"I kinda like Pittsburgh in the National League. Looks to me as if Frankie Frisch's Pirates might upset the dope this year," said Ruth.

"Sure," he continued. "I know most of the boys are picking em to finish fourth or even fifth, but I think Pittsburg is going to be a big surprise."

The Babe, taken sick last week during the production of a motion picture based on the life of his ex-teammate, the late Lou Gehrig, said he hopes to leave hospital in mid-week, and possibly return to his home in New York in another week or so.

He'll miss the major league opening to-day for the second successive year. He was on a fishing jaunt last season when the big show got under way.

Callura Punches Speary For Win

NEW ORLEANS, April 14—(CP).—Billy Speary says Jackie Callura, tough little buzzsaw of the featherweights, as "a wild swinger but one of the hardest punchers I ever met."

Speary, from Nanticoke, Pa., and once a holder of the world's amateur featherweight title, made the comment last night after experiencing some of Callura's swings that landed often enough to give him a decision in a bruising 10-round bout in Victory Arena. The decision was close and Speary might have taken it had be punched just a bit harder.

The little Hamilton, Ont., battler was awarded all but the sixth, seventh and eighth rounds by Referee Dolan, who called the sixth even.

Each fighter weighed 127¼.

HOW TO RELIEVE
PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY AND EASILY
If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.
For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.
If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

16 Major Squads On Diamonds For Opening Day

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP)—This is major league baseball's opening day.

Unless the weather intervenes, all 16 teams will move off together this afternoon, with something like 200,000 fans in the stands and countless others following their favorites by remote control.

Facing their first wartime season since 1918, the 67th annual National League campaign and the 42nd for the American circuit open in the most unusual setting in the history of baseball—now in the third year of its second century.

The war failed to interfere with the sport because President Roosevelt, like Casey at the bat, bade the game go on. But the customers will have a hard time forgetting that the United States is at war.

Air raid precautions will be observed day and night at most of the major league parks. Signs and arrows will tell the fans which way to go to be safe from bombardment —information that might also be helpful to visiting pitchers in places like Yankee Stadium.

Barrels of water, bins of sand and other paraphernalia unknown to ball parks in the past will be found in strategic places. And if some clubs don't perform better than they did in spring training, they may find the customers turning to the sand piles for amusement.

Yanks On Senators' Field

The 1941 champions of both leagues open on foreign fields. The Yankees, owners of the American League and World Series crowns, start their drive for the sixth pennant in seven years against the Senators in Washington.

Brooklyn Dodgers begin defence of their National League title against their blood enemies, the Giants, at New York's Polo Grounds.

The rest of the American League program finds Philadelphia at Boston, Cleveland at Detroit and St. Louis at Chicago, while in the National League Boston is at Philadelphia, Pittsburg at Cincinnati and Chicago at St. Louis.

The Yankees, top-heavy favorites to rule the junior circuit again, open with new faces at the far corners of their infield, but with all their heavy artillery still loaded.

Baseball's contribution to the war effort is exemplified at Detroit, where a Cleveland team without Bob Feller makes its first start under young Lou Boudreau against a Detroit team without Hank Greenberg.

The Indian mound ace and the Tiger slugger, like more than 60 other major leaguers, are in the service.

At Chicago, the White Sox start unwrapping their pitching finery against St. Louis Browns, who offer a well-balanced club in spite of numerous losses to the armed forces, al by way of enlistment.

The White Sox, as in 1941, are putting all their eggs on the pitchers' mound and depending on the hurlers and the managerial magic of Jimmy Dykes to pull them through.

Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, tagged for a repeat performance in the cellar despite an overhaul job, are at Boston to open against a Red Sox team that finished second last year and could do it again if the pitchers come through.

The Dodgers' bolstered by the addition of such players as Arky Vaughan, Augie Galan and Johnny Rizzo to their pennant stars of 1941, begin their bid against a New York Giants crew that has Johnny Mize, Bill Werber, Hank Leiber and a host of promising rookies.

The Giants have turned the managership over to Mel Ott, who still patrols right field. They have done about everything possible to mould a winning team, but the attack failed to jell in pre-season training and it may take weeks to get them on the right track.

St. Louis Cardinals, who are being picked by most of the experts to dethrone the defending champs, open at home against Chicago Cubs, a jigsaw puzzle that might be a winner if all the pieces could be made to fit.

In addition to most of the hands who gave the Dodgers a run for the money in 1941, the Cardinals have everything the doctor ordered, including enough hospital supplies to patch up the wounded if they insist on knocking themselves out as they did last year.

Baseball's greatest idol, Babe Ruth, is reported to have recovered from a serious illness in Hollywood. The Babe is pictured here during batting practice when he was coaching Brooklyn Dodgers.

Generals Try Out 'Peg Ice—Mum On Terrier Tilt

WINNIPEG, April 14 — (CP). — Oshawa Generals, Eastern Canada titlists and Portage La Prairie Terriers, Western champions, are all tuned up for their first clash in the best-of-five series for the Memorial Cup here tonight. Second game of the playoff will be here Thursday and the third Saturday.

Generals arrived here yesterday and have whipped through some skating, shooting and scrimmage workouts since that time at the Amphitheatre Rink, where a sell-out crowd of more than 5,000 will watch the first game. Portage, after a workout yesterday headed back to their home town, 56 miles west of here and didn't arrive back until around noon today.

Manager Matt Leyden of Oshawa, and Charlie Conacher, former Toronto Maple Leafs National League star, who is taking the place of the suspended Tracy Shaw in the coaching spot, would not commit themselves as to the outcome of the first game.

"There's not much we can say except we'll be in there trying to beat Terriers who have an impressive record," said Leyden. Leyden reported his charges, trying for the 12th eastern victory in the Memorial Cup, in "very good condition."

2 Terriers Shakey

Staff-Sergeant Andie Bell, coach of the Terriers, on the other hand is having trouble trying to get his players in good shape for the opener. Two of his stars, Bill Heindl, defenceman, and Bell's son, Joe, a forward, are casualties.

Hockey enthusiasts of Winnipeg made Oshawa slight favorites to cop the game tonight as the easterners' defence of Bill Mortimer, captain of the team, and defenceman for last year's Canadian junior champions, Winnipeg Rangers, and "Bep" Guidolin looked like a hard duo to break through.

They, however, conceded that Portage have a little advantage in speed if the starting line of Bob Love, Lin Bend and Joe Bell are on form.

Old Meal Ticket Hubbel Starts

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—New York Giants underwent a thorough overhauling during the winter but the "Old Meal Ticket," Carl Hubbell, will be on the mound today in the opening game of the season against Brooklyn Dodgers.

The battle between the National League's defending champions from Brooklyn and the reconstructed Giants is expected to lure some 50,000 fans to the Polo Grounds.

Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers announced he would send the veteran Curt Davis to the mound as Hubbell's foe.

Club Owner's Box For Adams; Post Leafs 8-5 In Tonight's Game

TORONTO, April 14.—(CP.)—The question before the class to-day is this: How much of the hot-tempered action in Sunday night's game between Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings will be carried over into the fifth game of the Stanley Cup final to-night?

Answer: No one knows.

Jack Adams, being one of the star players in this little drama, probably could cast some light on the matter. But Adams was not at his customary position on the receiving line at Detroit headquarters set up here after the Wings arrived last night.

Reporters naturally were itching to get the latest Adams' opinion on the suspension tacked on him for his belligerence in the vicinity of Referee Mel Harwood Sunday night. Adams didn't give them the chance. But it was learned that his statement yesterday that he could buy a ticket into Maple Leaf Gardens like anyone else shouldn't be taken too literally. He probably will sit in the box usually reserved for James D. Norris, Sr., owner of the Detroit club.

Coach Ebbie Goodfellow, who will handle Wings from the bench, said his club would have no lineup changes for the fifth game. The squad that beat Toronto three straight at the beginning of this best of seven series is good enough for him. Defeat by Toronto in the fourth game didn't shake his confidence.

Just a Spare Goalie.

Only extra player to make the trip with Wings was Joe Turner, spare goalkeeper.

Carson Cooper, chief scout for the Detroiters, had the only free comment on the series. He said: "We're worried. Why, the Leafs only have to win three games and we need to win one. Boy, are we worried."

Toronto bookies, who took a 12-5 licking on the first game of the series and 11-5 on the second, weren't worried either. By some astonishing mathematical procedure they established Leafs at 8-5 favorites for to-night's game.

Coach Hap Day of the Leafs wouldn't comment on the possibility of lineup changes for this game, but it was believed he may send a fifth defenceman into the fray. Either Bucko McDonald, who was benched for Sunday's contest, or Frankie Eddolls, a Leaf farmhand with Hershey in the American League this year, will get the call. There was no indication that Gordie Drillon, also benched on Sunday, would get into action.

Probable starting line-ups:

Detroit.	Position.	Toronto.
	Goal.
Mowers		Broda
	Defence.
Orlando		Stanowski
Stewart		Kampman
	Centre.
Grosso		Langelle
	Wings.
Wares		McCreedy

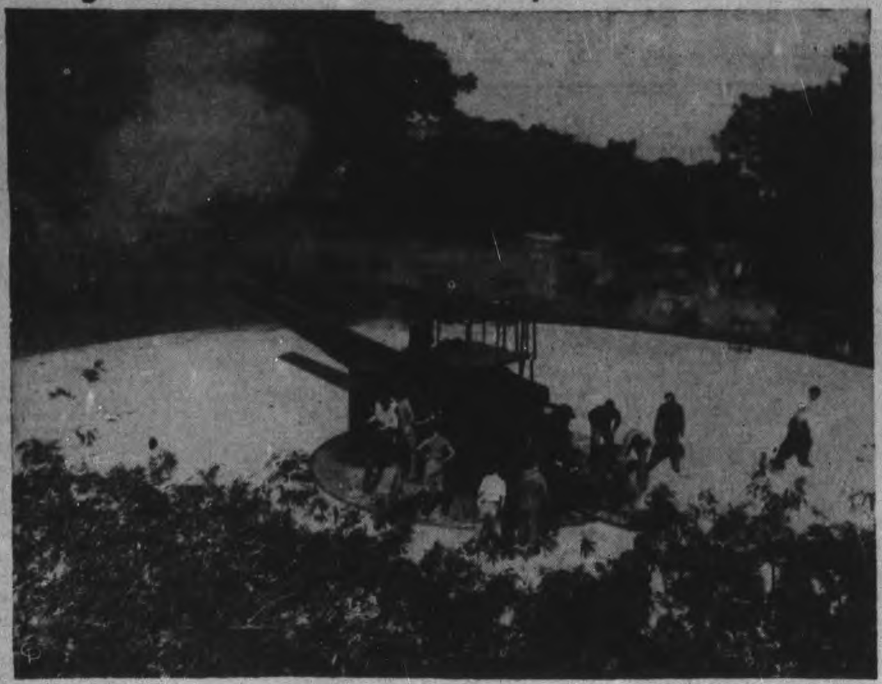
Hurling Last Stand Defiance At Japs



One of the 12-inch disappearing guns with which the great fortress of Corregidor is equipped is shown in action. Today these guns are holding off the Japs while the remnants of the gallant little army from Bataan peninsula reorganizes on the island fortress to continue resistance to the Japs.

Characterizing Feder as the 'overlord of the underworld,' Col. Drew said his operations had reached such an extent that 'racketeering on a scale never before known in Canada is taking place right around us.'

"We in this country have been proud that racketeering on a large scale has never been allowed to flourish in this country. Yet, thugs, driven from the United States, are on the payroll of this organization."

Use Bombing, Beating

The Conservative Leader said the Feder gang has resorted to bombings and beatings with clubs to eliminate competition and "only recently have men left the hospital who were beaten up by thugs brought in for this express purpose."

Attorney-General Gordon Conant said the Provincial Police didn't profess to be able to police the whole province and was loath to enter any municipality which had a police force unless requested.

He said he had introduced legislation some years ago which would have given him the necessary powers to step into a municipality which was lax in law enforcement but it failed to get any support.

First reading was given to a bill introduced by the Attorney-General, purpose of which is to facilitate the mining of the millions of tons of high grade ore at the bottom of Steep Rock Lake in the Rainy River district.

The bill validates an agreement between the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission; the Ontario Minnesota Pulp and Paper Co.; the Seine River Improvement Company and the Steep Rock Mine, Ltd.

More than $1,000,000 already has been spent on drilling and exploration and purpose of the agreement is to speed up the work in order to obtain the order for war purposes.

Mr. Conant also obtained first reading for a bill extending the term of the government for one year. Both measures are to come up for second reading today.

22 Million Estimates

Late last night the House in committee of supply passed estimates for four departments totalling more than $22,000,000.

Estimates were approved for the following departments: lands and forests, $2,686,435; game and fisheries, $637,600; provincial secretary, $2,064,932 and highways, $17,157,800.

The highways estimates provoked the only discussion of any extent when two Conservative members, George S. Henry of York East and George Doucett, Lanark, deplored the reduction of provincial subsidies for county and township roads.

Mr. Doucett said the average provincial subsidy for the years 1927 to 1932 was $5,000,000 while this year it was down to $3,390,000. He contended it did not seem fair that the county roads should suffer a decrease while the taxing powers of the government increased.

Mr. Henry pointed out the department had increased its expenditures by 50 per cent for King's highways last year from an estimated $7,000,000 to an actual $11,000,000.

"There is no policeman in the department, yet it metes out cold justice to the counties," he charged.

'Sometimes Providence deals out cold justice to the department,' replied Mr. McQueston. He went on to detail the undue amount of rain which had caused damage to the highway structures last year.

'The minister, if he knows his scripture, knows that it rains on the just as well as the unjust,' said Mr. Henry.

Mr. Henry then said that the counties, with their huge provincial subsidies were to be cut 50 per cent, and in some cases, a good percentage of the subsidy already had been used in snow removal.

Thinks Shock Needed.

Mr. McQuesten admitted there were cases that needed adjustment but he didn't think it was any 'great harm to give these authorities a shock once in a while.'

He was satisfied, however, that once the House prorogued, his officials would go into the matter more fully and be able to meet the requirements of the counties.

C. M. Macfie (Lib. Middlesex South) asked if the farmer, who was compelled to use colored gas in his tractors by order of the oil controller, would receive this gas tax free rather than have to apply for a rebate.

Premier Hepburn said officials of the province were negotiating with the oil controller in this matter and he hoped to have a statement in the course of a few days.

Three Indians

The ice had just been out of the lake about four days. The men purchased 200 pounds of hen feed, and apparently met the two Taylor girls, both daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor of Curve. Hilda had been working as a domestic in a Toronto home, and her sister had been visiting her. They were returning home, and it is believed the two men offered to give them a canoe ride across to the reservation.

Happened Near Shore

The canoe had not travelled more than 100 yards from shore when it sank. Knott struck out at once for shore, but Johnson was wearing hip rubber boots, rolled down to the knees, the worst thing in the world, as they trap the swimmer, and can only be removed by the slash of a knife.

"When I looked back Johnson was hanging on to the canoe, and Hilda was holding her sister on her arm," Knott said last night. "I was just about done when I reached shore and when I saw that Johnson was still hanging on, I tried my best to reach the farmhouse for help, but I guess it took me quite a while."

The Indian was given first aid at Elliott's home, and was taken back to the reservation by neighbors late last evening.

Bodies Not Recovered

Searchers recovered the canoe, both paddles and one of the girl's shopping bags before dark last evening, but when they made a call for help to the local fire department, the bodies had been in the water for more than an hour, so it was decided to postpone the search until this morning.

Lights burned late Monday night in the homes on the Reserve as the Indians tried to figure out what might have happened. It was a studfly built 16-foot cedar strip canoe, and the lake was calm. It is not an uncommon thing for four Indians, with luggage in excess of 200 pounds to travel in a 16-footer, and many times an Indian's canoe will be noticed fully loaded and riding low in the water with less than two inches of clearance.

Selwyn is located on the Buckhorn Road, about five miles from Lakefield, and a road leads due west from the store and down to Robertson's Landing, on Curve Lake, which is actually the top end of Chemong Lake.

Cliff Whetung, son of the chief, who was one of the first to reach the scene of the accident, said he could not recall when there had been another drowning fatality at the reservation.

10,000 New Cars Are Held By Auto Dealers Outside Of 4,000 Placed In Reserve "Bank"

MONTREAL, April 14—R. B. Perrault, President of the Federation of Automobile Dealer Associations of Canada, today pointed out that in addition to the 4,000 cars in the reserve "bank" from which essential users will be supplied on permit of the Motor Vehicle Controller, there are some 10,000 brand new cars in dealers' showrooms across Canada which are for sale to the general public for legitimate driving purposes. He was commenting on a statement by J. H. Berry, motor vehiclee controller, that the last new civilian car left the assembly line about April 1.

Mr. Perrault pointed out that in addition to the 4,000 cars in the "official pool," and the 10,000 free cars available for general purposes, there are many thousands of used cars equipped with tires in excellent condition. The total supply of new and used cars on the Canadian market today will last for at least two years, serving all legitimate purposes, if car drivers use utmost caution in conserving tires and gasoline, Mr. Perrault said.

"The cars in the official pool cannot be sold without a special permit from the motor vehicles contoller, but the other 10,000 free cars and any used cars can be sold at the discretion of car dealers, who have been requested to see that all new cars are placed in the hands of those who require them for legitimate purposes," Mr. Perrault said.

Through the "Official Pool," those engaged in public services, and health and sanitation have been protected against the impossibility of obtaining cars when their present cars are worn out, it was pointed out. The 4,000 cars should last a long time on that basis, Mr. Perrault said.

205,000 Canadians Are Engaged In Canada's Lumber Industry

The lumbering industry in Canada last year had an invested capital of $137,000,000, gave employment to 205,000 Canadians, paid $192,000,000 in salaries and wages and had a production of $377,000,000, Rotarian Gordon Munro, vice-president of the Peterborough Lumber Company told his fellow members of the Peterborough Rotary Club in a classification talk at the regular weekly luncheon at the Empress Hotel Monday. Rotarian Munro declared that the industry was having a rebirth and stressed the importance from a national viewpoint of making it profitable.

The speaker, who was introduced by Rotarian D. T. Diplock, began by stressing the steps that had been taken by the lumbering industry itself to put its household in order. He told of the formation of the White Pine Bureau, the Canadian Hardware Bureau and finally of the launching of the Canadian Lumbermen's Asociation, formed to handle problems peculiar to the industry, particularly in Eastern Canada.

Rotarian Munro gave many figures to show the importance and extent of the industry. The production of the entire Dominion in 1941, he said, was 5,087,000,000 feet as compared with about 3½ billions in 1938. The industry, he declared, was the main source of supply for Britain, its sales to the United States enabled Canada to pay for war materials from that country and it was meeting the increased domestic demands for lumber caused by war needs.

In Peterborough County

The history of lumbering in Peterborough county was given by the speaker in concise form. He showed how the cutting of square timber was the beginning of the industry and told Rotarians that in 1866 Peterborough county produced 1,600,000 feet of white pine. Then came the change to sawn timber and the establishment of sawmills with the names of Dickson, Snider, and Hilliard, prominent as pioneers. In 1866 Peterborough County produced 50,000,000 feet of sawn white pine. The cutting of white pine continued for many years but around 1912 the cut was reduced to around 5,000,000 feet and the cutting of hardwood and hemlock stands commenced.

At the present time, Rotarian Munro said, Peterborough county was producing 15,000,000 feet of lumber, 40,000 cords of fuel wood, and $200,000 worth of pulpwood a year. The value of county's forest products per year was around $2,000,000 mark, the speaker said. He made a plea for conservation of the forest supply, for more fire protection and fire-ranging and for more support on behalf of the tourist industry, pointing out that this county had a second Algonquin Park in the game preserve in the north and the opportunity should be cashed in on.

Lumbering was one of the greatest of Canadian industries, Rotarian Munro declared and the capital that had been raised from lumbering had financed the building of Canada's railways and electric system and other enterprises.

President Rev. George S. Easton thanked the speaker for his informative address.

As part of the Rotary education committee's program, Rotarian R. F. Downey gave a brief talk on the first object of Rotary, the encouraging and fostering of the ideal of service and the encouraging and fostering of acquaintance as an opportunity for service. The foundation of Rotary, the speaker said, was getting acquainted and he stressed the desirability of Rotarians getting to know each other, and each other's problems and viewpoints better.

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian E. L. Sackville, chairman of the committee.

A nominating committee composed of W. R. Morris, James Dutton, E. L. Sackville, R. L. Dobbin and Robt. Abbott was named to nominate a slate of ten from which the five directors for the next Rotary year will be elected.

London Taking

LONDON, April 14 — (CP). — The British Government takes "an exceedingly grave view" of the reentry of Pierre Laval into the Vichy government's councils, British sources said to-day.

Informed diplomatic sources said they viewed his return as a "tactical defeat" for the United Naitons' diplomatic campaign waged through the State Department in Washington, to win Vichy away from the Nazis.

Although a Foreign Office commentator remained silent on this, there was strong belief among informed sources that Britain and the United States would greet the reinstatement of France's arch Nazi collaborator with a stricter policy toward Vichy.

Furthermore, it was said, Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Free French movement now may expect more help and greater recognition both here and in the United States—recognition which De Gaulle plainly sought in a recent speech.

The Foreign Office commentator, however, pictured the Vichy reorganization as forced on the Petain regime by the Nazis because "the Germans are to a high degree nervous about affairs in France."

The stock of Admiral Jean Darlan, Vice-Premier and Foreign Minister in the former Cabinet, is known to have been falling in France and, from the German point of view, he was useless to foster further collaboration, the commentator added.

He said there was a corresponding upswing in pro-Allied sympathy in France and that Vichy's inability to cope with it had aroused the Germans to force Petain's acceptance of Laval.

Darlan was desecribed, nevertheless, as being "as much in favor of collaboration with Germany as ever."

Diplomatic sources expressed belief that his presence with Laval in the same cabinet probably would enhance Germany's prospects of getting the French fleet for Axis operations against Britain in the eastern Mediterranean area.

Two other causes contributing to the revision, the foreign office commentator said, were the Rion trials and Vichy's failure to handle the type of propaganda Germany wanted on the raid on the Renault plant in the Paris environs last month by the R.A.F.

"The Riom trials were intended by the Germans to demonstrate France's guilt," this source asserted. He said they failed in that and merely showed "the incompetence of the regime which Vichy replaced."

Parallel with the cabinet change, Vichy announced today a modification of the Riom charges to conform more closely to the Nazi conception.

The Germans seized upon the raid on the Renault works as a "wonderful opportunity" to arouse French feeling against the allies and for further collaboration, the commentator said, but Vichy failed to do as expected.

He said the Germans instantly thought of Laval who, though no more pro-German than Darlan, is "far cleverer" and hoped by forcing him back into Vichy's councils to secure the Nazi rear for spring offensives in Russia and the Middle East and also to reap richer rewards from collaboration than in the past.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

CONTRIBUTIONS ARE UP

Bob Hotrum of the Canadian Legion reports that contributions to the local Buckshee Fund, which provides cigarettes for the soldiers overseas continue to come in. To date he has collected $1,624.76 which means that 755,686 cigarettes have been sent overseas. Brinton Carpet Company employees came through last week with their second substantial donation.

FIREMEN ASSIST

Joe Astles and Vic Barry of the Peterborough Fire Department left this morning to assist in the search for bodies of two women and a man drowned in Curve Lake, early Monday evening. They took along the grappling hooks owned by the city fire fighting force.

GOOD TRIMMING JOB

Parks department employees have done a fine job of trimming the trees in Nicholls Oval, and the piles of brush are stacked neatly around the park ready for roads to harden so that they may be trucked away. The trees appear to be in splendid condition.

REPORTED SOLD

It was reliably reported Tuesday morning that the building occupied by the Lane and Eano, furniture and undertaking business had been sold by Mr. Eano to Nathan Fine. Neither Mr. Lane, nor Mr. Eano had any statement to make as yet on plans for the future. This partnership has existed for 42 years.

THEY ALSO HELP

Howard Shill, well known oil company salesman, and a recent recruit to the ranks of the Kinsmen Club has his two young sons aiding the Milk For Britain Fund. The two boys, Murray and Howard, obtained one of the Milk for Britain bottles, and whenever they received a copper, nickel or a dime, they placed it in the bottle. On Monday they turned over $1.60 to the fund, and this is a noble effort on the part of two youngsters.

MORE GRADUATES

Air observers and air gunners are graduating in large numbers from Canadian Flying Schools and the latest group to get wings was at Mount Joli, Quebec. Included in the class were Frederick Barnard, Stirling; J. K. Wood, Stirling; and I. F. McIntosh, Lindsay.

A PROFITABLE AFFAIR

Inspector James F. Reid announced today that the Peterborough police department's Spitfire dance, augmented by several subscriptions will show a profit of around $400.

THE LAW SAYS NO

Instructions issued by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board indicate the store keepers may not display rubber goods in the windows, in order to restrict the sale of these articles. The understanding is that no further supplies are available and it is the wish of the Board that present stocks supply the need as long as possible.

KILLED IN CAVE-IN.

Reports reaching Peterborough on Monday reveal that Tom Holman, employed by Ruscica Bros., Toronto contractors, had been killed by a manhole cave-in at Parry Sound working on a Wartime Housing project. Holman boarded at 621 Water Street in this city while working at Parkhill section wartime houses a short time ago.

MILK FOR BRITAIN

Springville W. A., through Mrs. Owen Murray, has donated the sum of $10.00 to the Milk for Britain fund it was announced today by J. A. MacDonald the treasurer for Peterborough and District.

C.N.R. OFFICIALS COMING.

Officials of the C.N.R. are coming to Peterborough on Wednesday afternoon to hear the appeal of district municipal representatives for the continuation of the Peterborough-Port Hope branch of the railway.

HEAVY SNOWFALL.

A. O. Phillips, official weather recorder, reported to-day that the snowfall last week-end amounted to six inches. This was not a record for April by any means, as on four occasions in the last two decades, more than nine inches of snow has fallen.

STILL THEY CLIMB

The report from the Collegiate this morning shows that examinations have not crimped the selling effort of the Collegians. Total sale of stamps for last week was $365.00, an increase of $115.00, and sale of certificates amounted to $176.00, which was an increase of $$100.00 over the previous week. This means $541.00 more for the war chest through the sale of War Savings Stamps and Certificates.

IS FINED TWENTY DOLLARS

Mark J. Collins pleaded guilty in police court this morning to a charge of illegal possession of liquor and was fined $20 and $2.50 costs. A second charge of careless driving was withdrawn by the crown.

WARNING TO BICYCLISTS

Chief Constable Sam Newhall issued a warning to bicyclists today that they must be careful to display their license markers on their rear mudguard, as placed by the police. Some bicycle-owners have changed the position of the markers and they are being carried where they cannot readily be seen. Those guilty of that offence will be charged, the chief constable warns.

PICTURES SHOWN

Pictures in color entitled 'spring to fall at the Dominion experimental farms' shown by G. K. Fraser, M.P., at last night's meeting of the Horticultural Society were of special appeal to the members. Mr. Fraser also included some pictures of his home surroundings at Burleigh Falls and others taken of Premier Churchill's visit to Ottawa.

CONFERENCE DATES.

Dates of the annual conferences of the United Church of Canada were announced to-day by Rev. Dr. Gordon A. Sisco, secretary of the General Council. Toronto Conference will be June 2 in Danforth United Church, Rev. L. I. Hunter, presiding; Bay of Quinte Conference, June 2, in Cambridge United Church, Lindsay, with Rev. Dr. W. P. Fletcher, presiding; Montreal and Ottawa Conference, June 1, in St. James' Church, Montreal, Rev. W. H. Johnston, presiding.

Bowling Club Gives $20 To War Victims

The Lucky Strike Bowling Club has once again come to the assistance of the sufferers from air raids in Britain, through the local and district fund. This club is composed of a group of ladies who have been organized under this name for a number of years past, who bowl once a week, on Thursday afternoon, and during the season just closed had Mrs. W. M. Cruthers as president and Mrs. J. C. Green as secretary.

Last year, in the midst of their own pleasure they were not unmindful of the needs of o' ers, and gave up their annual tea and presentation of prizes, in order that those in need of help in England might benefit, and once again this year, they have followed the same principle. The prizes were cut to a minimum, and those that were given were war savings stamps, and together with the saving affected by foregoing the tea they were able to save some $40, half of which has been given to the fund, and appears in this day's list of acknowledgments per Mrs. M. Holt, who incidentally is the new president to guide their fortunes during next season.

In Byersville, the fund has a regular supporter known as "A Friend, E.C.," and once again a donation of $2 is listed under that nar .

Getting ver closer to the $40,000 mark, it now requires but $278 to top that objective.

Mrs. O. Church of Sherbrooke Street West has worked a tablecloth with cross-stitch in black and red, and donated it to the fund.

The Star of Bethlehem L.O.B.A. have been sponsoring the sale of tickets for a draw on it at 10 cents each for some time now, and this coming Saturday it is to be displayed on the regular market stall allotted to the fund by the City Council, and tickets will be made available to all who wish to secure a chance on it. The draw for this will be made at the Orange Hall on Saturday, April 25.

Carriers Sell $561 In Stamps

The week ending April 4 was productive of a splendid total of sales of War Savings Stamps by the Examiner Carriers, when they brought in $561.75 in cash. For the first time since this campaign of their's began last November one of the girl carriers is in first place and another girl is a close third. The winner of the theatre tickets for first prize is Nancy Leith of 617 Gilmour street who brought in the grand total of $67.75. Nancy has been a regular top-bracket salesman for War Savings Stamps and deserves all praise for this last week's effort.

Keith Orde, who last week was presented with the Examiner Gold Trophy for highest sales in March, is second place winner with sales of $51.50. Very close behind is Elva Laing of 272 Armour Road whose efforts brought forth the respectable sum of $48.25. A south end young man with a great record of sales is Jack Harris of 239 Princess street who is fourth with $40.25. The west end is represented by Clare Galvin with a total of $35.25 for the week and the north end by Stewart Brown who sold the sum of $33.75. Walter Noble, a young but snappy salesman of War Savings Stamps, is here again with $32.25 and George Clark with $24.

Donald Pagett, who has appeared many times in this column, is still going strong and brought in $20.00. Others worthy of mention are Ted Payne, $10; Bill Leahy, $9.75 Bob Sugden, $7.25; Harry Hickson, $6.50; Alan Sage, assisted by Gerald Rose, $6; and two boys in the south end, Grant Finnie and Gerry Field both with $6.75. Many others are making regular contributions that are much appreciated and will be heard from again. Though they are not in the prize money class their weekly efforts go to swell the total that is mounting to such a considerable sum.

Cruiser Damaged

BERLIN, (From German Broadcasts), April 14.—(AP).—The Germans, quoting reports from Tangiers, Monday claimed a British cruiser 'of the Hermione class' had arrived at Gibraltar heavily damaged and with many of her crew wounded after an engagement with Axis planes at Malta.

(Janes fighting ships list the Hermione as one of a class of ten 5,450-ton cruiser, all built during 1939 and 1940. The others are the Dido, Euryalus, Naiad Poebe, Sirius, Bonaventure, Charybdis, Cleopatra and Scylla.)

DOCTORS ON CALL.

The Peterborough Doctors are observing Wednesday Afternoon as a Half-Holiday throughout the year. Those on call on Wednesday Afternoon and Evening of this week are: Dr. J. M. McCulloch, Dr. H. V. Dobson.

Reading The Examiner Overseas

The eagerness of Peterborough boys to get news from the old home town is reflected in the smiles of this group who went overseas with the Engineers. On the LEFT of the 'quintette' is Elmer Kelly; the next two toward the right are Eddie Kearns and Ken Mann, although identification in that order is not positive; fourth from the left is Charles McDermott, and on the Extreme Right is Wally Agnew. The picture was received by Mrs. C. McDermott, 527 Chamberlain Street, from her son who is somewhere in England. The young man at the Right who was almost entirely omitted by the camera, is getting a glimpse of the front page. He is not identified.

Missionary From Gold Coast Claims Dakar Vital To Hitler

Stories of the mission fields of Thailand and French West Africa will be told against a background of the extending restrictions of war during this week of services at Bethany Tabernacle.

Rev. John I. Perkins and Rev. C. C. Ellenberger are bringing first hand accounts from two far separated and comparatively obscure spots on the map upon which world interest has been focussed since the outbreak of war.

Japan wanted Thailand (Siam) and Indo-China and Burma as part of their expansion into the southern Pacific and so far nothing has stopped their ruthless progress. Rev. Mr. Perkins knows the Thai people.

Dakar, government seat of French West Africa, is the most strategic point on the African west coast, only 1,600 miles from America, and sought by Hitler as a means of cutting the British shipping lines now taking the long way around the Cape of Good Hope to Australia and India.

20 Years With Negroes

Rev. Mr. Ellenberger spent more than twenty years on the African coast, and knows all that chapter of missionary endeavor and accomplishment in an area which the war has converted into a salient whose importance has been sharpened by Pierre Laval's return to power in Vichy.

Mr. Ellenberger has been home for two years and cannot go back to Africa.

"French West Africa is virtually blockaded," he told the Examiner, "and has been that way for two years. Our missionaries in that area have not received any correspondence in all that time. Foreign supplies are exhausted, and some form of rationing is in effect."

The future of this mission field is obscure, Mr. Ellenberger said, "but we have 250 native workers to carry on what we have begun."

One of the accomplishments of the missionaries has been the transfer of the Maninka language or tongue to written form. This has been done for the first time:

"We succeeded in reducing the spoken words to writing and have brought the manuscript to the United States where it is being used in publishing the bible in Maninka. There are seventeen of these tongues which are being translated into the written form for the first time. If anything happened that we were ever unable to continue our work in Africa, the word of God would be still in the hands of the native workers for carrying the gospel to the people."

Rev. Mr. Ellenberger will explain the geographic importance of West Africa as incidental to his addresses here this week. He will also tell about a great prophet revival which took place along the gold and ivory coast in which more than 100,000 cannibals turned to Christ.

24 Mission Stations

"The people of French West Africa are of negro races, more than 12,000,000 of them. They are fine hearted men but have been greatly influenced by Mohammedanism which swept in from the north. Our work has penetrated 1,250 miles in the last twenty years, with the establishment of 24 main mission stations and 100 outposts among thirty-one tribes."

Rev. Mr. Ellenberger said this expansions had been greatly accelerated after the last war.

Worthy Of Awards

Kuibyshev, April 14 (AP)

THREE new Soviet weapons—a long-range field gun, a huge naval gun, and an anti-tank gun to be used from airplanes—were disclosed today in Stalin awards for three inventions.

The field piece was declared to have a greater range than any other and the naval gun to have the greatest range ever known.

The anti-tank gun was said to be more effective in destroying tanks than land anti-tank guns because it is able to attack the tanks from the top where they are less heavily armored.

Maynooth Youth Used To Sleeping Outdoors Enlists With The Prince Of Wales Rangers

Faced with two of the greatest impediments in social life, Lorne Scott, 19, of Maynooth, joined the Prince of Wales Rangers to fight for his country because he said it was his duty. Lorne can't read nor write, but that did not stop him from offering his services to his country.

He explained that when he was young, his parents lived ten miles from the nearest school, and to reach school meant a walk through dense bush. Thus he was deprived of primary education as a result of circumstances no fault of his own. Later, his family moved nearer to a school, but by this time Lorne had become a bushman and spent most of his time in lumber camps. He is the oldest of a family of ten children.

Asked if he thought that not being able to read or write would interfere with his army training, Lorne said he did not think it would matter a great deal and that he is going to try "real hard" to become a good soldier. "I am sure I am going to like army life," he said.

This toughened youth from one of the lumbering districts of Ontario has had much of the experience that commandos are taught. In the early winter, he has been accustomed to sleeping outdoors without even a tent overhead.

Lorne explained that the first procedure was to place an oilskin or rubber coat on the snowy ground over which a woollen blanket was placed. "With all my clothes on, I would roll the groundsheet and blanket around me, cover my head and go to sleep," he said.

"I have slept outdoors until Christmas like that," the youth stated. He said he would do the same thing in the dead of winter in sub-zero temperature just as he had in the early winter. "If I started to get cold, I would get up and walk for a while. As soon I got warm, I would 'go to bed' again."

Farewell Dinner Is Given To A. L. Elliott

Lieutenant Alex L. Elliott, M.P.P., was the guest of a large company of his friends at a farewell dinner Monday evening at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club immediately preceding his departure for the training centre for officers of the Canadian Army at Indian Head, British Columbia.

And with the memory of that leave-taking and its warm wishes of welfare, Lieut. Elliott took with him the gift of an exceptionally fine wrist watch which was presented on behalf of the assembly by Colonel John A. Dewart, M.C., following a tributary address by Gordon S. Matthews.

Fred Hills was a happy choice as after dinner chairman, sounding a light note of sentiment masked by genial banter that avoided a too solemn atmosphere and sparkled along with wisecracks.

The dinner over, Lieut. Elliott left for Toronto at 7.45 o'clock by automobile driven by Jack L. Gillespie, to catch the 11 p.m. train for the west. His last handshake in the drive way of the Club was with his brother, Chas. H. Elliott.

At the head table with Mr. Hills and the evening's guest were Mayor Hamilton, Judge S. L. Smoke, Mr. Matthews, Colonel Dewart and Roy Brown, a former Warden of the county.

Members of the city and county council of the present and other years, heads of the city's industries, professional and business men, including a few from out of town, were noticed in the gathering of about one hundred and twenty-five men who met on short notice for the purpose of giving one of their own an affectionate send off.

The affair was pervaded by a glowing friendliness, the quality of appreciation and attachment which Major James Turnbull recently mentioned as a stirling element of Peterborough's community life which he missed the most in his travels overseas and which he found undiminished on his recent return. There was nothing fulsome about it, just a big family spirit which receives newcomers into its circle and reluctantly bids an adieu to those whom it has tried and taken into its fold.

Conservative Friends

Another aspect of the dinner crowd was the fact that all incidental lines were withdrawn. Although Lieut. Elliott is a member of the Hepburn government, political affiliations were laid aside by his Conservative friends. In fact that difference in party loyalties tended to accentuate the sincerity and the cordial atmosphere of the whole affair, one of the most pleasant occasions of its kind in a long time.

Gordon Matthews gave the right ring to that minor element of divergence when he said: "Alex knows I didn't vote for him in the last elections, but I can say that he has made a splendid representative of Peterborough in the Ontario Legislature. He has been chairman of the Public Bills Committee for the last two years, and in 1939 he sponsored the Bill that went through the Legislature for which he deserves a lot of credit. I see Mr. Eastwood (chairman of the City Trust Commission) here, and I think it is all right to recall that this Bill provided that any surplus of the City Trust Commission could be used to reduce the amount of sinking fund required from the city taxes, providing of course that there is a surplus and also requiring approval of Commission and the Ontario Municipal Board."

Demonstration of Friendship

Mr. Matthews said the dinner gathering was a demonstration to "Alex Elliott of our friendship and also of our admiration of him in joining the Canadian Active Force, and in particular the Prince of Wales Rangers. We are here tonight to wish him good luck and safe return. He will be missed in Peterborough and we feel sure that he is going to miss a lot of things about Peterborough. He has been director of the Y.M.C.A. membership campaign in the last two years and is also an active member of the Kinsmen's Club. On the other hand he is going to miss such things as his summer fishing trips, including his trips to Buckhorn Lake."

Mr. Matthews concluded his speech on a note of humor recalling humorous accidents and incidents of Lieut. Elliott's fishing and hunting expeditions involving episodes in which other figures were Dr. S. Y. Walsh, Colonel Dewart, John Sears of Port Hope, engineer of the Department of Highways, who was present last night, Major Ralph Honey and others.

In presenting the gift wrist watch to Lieut. Elliott, Colonel Dewart said "Alex, it is my privilege to present to you this token of the esteem, admiration and friendship of your many friends who have gathered here this evening. On their behalf I ask you to accept it not for its intrinsic value but in the spirit which prompted it and in which it is given." Colonel Dewart said Lieut. Elliott had adorned public life of the city and province, "and we feel you will adorn the military life of Canada and particularly of Peterborough. As a member of the Legislature of this province you have taken a step that will be an example to young men, and that wwill be followed by them. We are confident you are going to give a good account of yourself in whatever lies ahead and we wish you good luck and Godspeed."

Col. Dewart said he had had something to do with Lieut. Elliott's entry into political and military life.

Following Mr. Hills and in his vein, Mayor Hamilton contributed a touch of humor and in serious vein said: "We know Alex is doing something he feels he should do, and that something is for all of us. We admire him for it and we will never forget him for what he has been among us. That is why we are paying him this tribute."

Enlisted in 1939

After thanking the gathering for their gift and their presence, and with a special word to those who had spoken, Lieutenant Elliott said "I don't think I deserve any recognition of this kind. Hundreds have already enlisted from Peterborough and have preceded me into the ranks. In October 1939 shortly after the outbreak of the war I enlisted in the Prince of Wales Rangers with the intention of enlisting for active service when the regiment was mobilized as a unit. For those reasons my joining warrants nothing more than casual mention. But, if I am in any way responsible for this gathering here this evening then I do feel that any little thing I have done is justified."

Lieut. Elliott spoke of his friendly relations with the city and county council during the years in the Legislature, with special reference to co-operative relations with Mayor Hamilton and his predecessors George A. Macdonald and the late Roland Denne. He also mentioned the work done by Chas. S. Kingan as president of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association resulting in the award to the Association of the Mary Pickford trophy last year for outstanding work in promoting fish and game resources and reforestation. He said he would also miss the forum of Smith and Freeman's barber shop.

"Peterborough is fortunate in the men it elects to administer the city's affairs. They have always seemed to me to be doing their level best for th people, and I want to mention especially our genial present Mayor, Jim Hamilton, for the time and effort he devotes to his duty to the city. Peterborough is lucky in having a man like Mayor Hamilton during these war times, because so many organizations develop as a result of the war and require a man who is able to give leadership."

Lieut. Elliott expanded the suggestion that he would miss the fishing around the district especially in the Buckhorn district of "which Bill Atkinson is Mayor."

"In The Army Now"

"Well, I expected to go to Brockville, but on Saturday I got marching orders with other officers to leave tonight for British Columbia, and that certainly impressed me with the fact that I was in the army now. I would like to say to you again that I consider it a great honor to be your guest. This timepiece will remind me of my Peterborough friends and my associations here. I shall treasure it for those fine sentiments expressed by the speakers in their words and by you in your presence tonight."

After the singing of Auld Lang Syne by the entire company, Lieut. Elliott said a final goodbye and left with Jack Gillespie for all the uncertainties of the muture, medical boards, military orders and all the rest of it. Peterborough's member of the povincial Legislature was on his way giving up the preferment of an elective office, his law practice, club associations, and all those things which a young man weaves into his life when the world is at peace and men are not expected to do heroic things for their country.

Gas For Tourists

Campbellford, April 14 (ENS)

GOOD NEWS to those who are interested in the tourist trade was revealed on Monday by the local issuer of ration cards, C. B. Williams. He said he had just been notified by the department that the amount of gas for tourists would not be limited to any definite numbers of gallons but under a new ruling they would be issued with ration books at the border and these would provide them with sufficient gas to last them for 90 days.

17 Men Apply To Join Rangers Monday

Applications for enlistment with the Prince of Wales Rangers continue at a steady pace and yesterday saw another goodly number present themselves for this purpose. Seventeen men, including four from Bancroft were at the armoury with the intention of joining the P.W.R.s. Three men were officially taken on the strength of the unit.

Captain H. A. Craig has again expressed his appreciation for the manner in which the management of the Y.M.C.A. has kindly offered the facilities of the swimming pool and gym to men of the armed forces and in particular to men of the Prince of Wales Rangers. A number of officers took their P.T. at the Y this morning immediately following roll call for half an hour. At nine o'clock a platoon had a swim and use of the gym while another platoon was paraded over at ten o'clock for that purpose. The daily dip seems to have a way of preparing the men for the strenuous drill periods ahead each day and their enthusiasm for this swim period is echoed many times.

To-day, the Prince of Wales Regiment was narrowed down by the leaving of eight junior officers and an N.C.O. for Western Canada last night to take their qualifying courses. In the absence of Lt. Heideman, Captain Morley is the interviewing officer under Major Ralph Honey, area recruiting officer.

A LOGICAL WAY

There is a health science that has proved beneficial to many persons and has helped them to gain that degree of strength and energy so necessary for the attainment of success. That science is Chiropractic and it devotes special attention to the human spine. The spinal column in its natural formation serves to protect the spinal cord and nerves but if a vertebra becomes slightly deranged (and this may occur because of some jar, twist or strain) some nerve fibres will be constricted. The result is impaired function and finally disease in the tissues supplied by these constricted nerves.

VINETTE—PATTERSON. — On April 6, 1942, the marriage was solemnized of Earla Edith, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Patterson, to Cpl. Albert Robert, son of Mr. Edward Vinette and the late Mrs. Vinette, at the Rectory of the Sacred Heart Church, by Rev. Father Grant.

DIED

PEZZACK, Ann. — On Tuesday, April 14, 1942, at the residence of J. W. E. Thomas, 548 Weller street, Ann Pezzack, in her 74th year, beloved aunt of Lorna Cotton Thomas. Funeral on Thursday afternoon, at 2.30, from the D. Belleghem and Sons, Funeral Home, 190 Hunter street. Interment, Little Lake Cemetery. Kindly omit flowers.

COOPER, T. R.—On Tuesday, April 14, 1942, at Nicholls Hospital, Thomas Robinson (Jack) Cooper, of 267 Reid street, beloved husband of the late Florence Ellen Barnbrook, and father of Doris and Joseph Cooper. Funeral on Thursday, April 16, from the Nisbett Funeral Home, 347 Charlottee street, to All Saints' Church for service at 2 p.m. Rev. W. A. Filer officiating. Interment, Little Lake Cemetery.

PULFER, Miss Susannah.—In Peterborough, on Sunday, April 12, 1942, Susannah Pulfer, in her 77th year. The funeral will be held on Wednesday from the home of her brother, James Pulfer, Hastings. Service at the house at 3.30 p.m. Interment, Roseneath Cemetery.

SEDGEWICK, Mrs. Joseph E.—On Tuesday, April 14, 1942, at her late residence, Eva R. Lee, beloved wife of Joseph E. Sedgewick, in her 64th year. Funeral service on Thursday, April 16, 1942, at 2.30 p.m. from her late residence, 498 McDonnel street. Rev. H. L. Roberts of George Street United Church officiating clergyman. Interment, Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough.

DAVIDSON, Henry Vincent. — In Belmont Township, on Monday, April 13, 1942, Henry Vincent Davidson, beloved husband of Mary Martha Corneil, in his 89th year. Resting at his late residence, Belmont Township, for funeral service on Wednesday, April 15, at 1.30 p.m. Interment, Pine Grove Cemetery, Havelock.

IN MEMORIAM

MAHOOD.—In loving memory of our dear Baby Helen, who went to be with Jesus just five years ago today, age 7 months.

Deep in our hearts lies a picture
Of Helen gone to rest,
In memory's frame we will keep it
Because she was one of the best.
Our lips cannot tell how we miss her,
Our hearts do not know what to say,
God alone knows how we miss her
In our hearts that are lonesome to-day.

—Ever remembered by Mamma, Daddy, June and Wilma.

LOWE.—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. John Lowe, who passed away a year ago today, April 14, 1941.

A silent thought, a secret tear,
Keeps her memory ever dear."

—Sadly missed by Husband and Family.

OWEN.—In loving memory of a dear brother, Ernest, who was killed in action one year ago today, April 14, 1941.

Time speeds on, one year has passed
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.

—Sadly missed by his sisters, Mrs. Blackwood and Mrs. Maunder, nephews and nieces.

DOROTHY DIX

ALL GIRLS ARE ROOTING FOR BOYS IN UNIFORM.

They're Keeping them True to the Ones Back Home and Playing Square.

Dear Miss Dix: Recently you published a letter from a group of hometown girls in which they expressed fear that their boy friends would be stolen from them by the pretty girls they would meet in their soldiering. They seemed to have gotten quite jittery over the parties and attentions that were paid to the draftees, and to think that their steadies were in more danger of being captured by predatory ladies than they were by Germans or Japs, and they made a heartfelt appeal to those of us who live near training camps to keep hands off of their property. Let me set these sisters' minds at rest. We girls who happen to be sally-on-the-spot and who have answered the Government's plea to try to entertain the soldiers in our midst and make camp life less dreary, are not a band of manhunters. We are just a bunch of hometown girls like yourselves. Our Johnnies and Joes are off in camp, too, and our hearts are no less heavy than yours. We are in there pitching (and I don't mean woo!) to keep our boys away from the so-called slums of a big city, and we would be very grateful if you would do the same for us. We aren't afraid you will take them away from us, not because we doubt your charms in the least, for we have heard quite a bit about them from your own local draftees who have assured us that the prettiest and the sweetest and the most wonderful girls in the world live in Maine, or California, or Wisconsin, or wherever the lad hails from.

But this is how we figure. If a man will succumb to just any pretty face that comes along, or be trapped by any girl with a slick line, he isn't worth getting gray hairs about. In other words, if it is true love it will stand any test; and if it is phony, a girl is lucky to find it out in the safe side of the altar.

Only Being Sociable

Of course, we enjoy these soldier dances. We are human and it isn't natural for a girl not to enjoy a rush from the stag line, but it is not our intention to round up a mate out of we spot you ighs. W a jus ou f a the ranks of your men. We realize that in this project you have a priority, and we respect your rights. We are just out for a good time for ourselves and to give one to the boys of the U.S. Army.

And it may comfort you to know that the girls back home are the most frequent topic of conversation at the U.S.O. dances and we are in there rooting for you. But let me give you a tip. Just any girl doesn't look good to an Army man because that uniform does something to him. It changees his sense of value to a higher standard. So instead of spending your time getting green-eyed about some faraway girl, get busy improving your looks and your mind and your disposition so that you will be the girl of his dreams when Johnny comes marching home.

Incidentally—and this is the voice of experience speaking—the best way to keep your boy friend always thinking of you is the correspondence method. In army camps there is a continual wail over there not being enough letters from home, so write, write, write. Make your letters gay and cheerful.

Tell Johnny all the funny little things you can think of and all the neighborhood gossip. Tell him how you miss him, but how proud you are of him going out to defend his country and that you are trying to be as brave as he is. And don't tell him about the handsome stranger who has come to town, or anything else that will make him jealous. If you keep writing, Johnny can't possibly forget you.

They say the American way is the sporting way. We know you are American to the core, so why not take your boy friend's absence with your chin up, instead of letting it get you down? If he really loves you, you can't lose. If he strays off after every pretty face, let him go without a whimper and hope for better luck next time. That is the way we are trying to do, and don't think of us as your enemies. We are your friends.—(A bunch of other hometown girls.)

It Has Its Good Points

ANSWER: This letter, written by a girl who lives near a great Army camp and who knits for the soldiers as well as dances with them, should comfort many a girl who lies awake at night wondering if her Johnny is looking into some other girl's eyes with the expression that devastated her own heart. Probably he isn't. In fact, the chances are that he is boring the other girl stiff telling her all about how cute his girl back home is. And if he isn't well, one of the blessings of war is that it weeds out the philanderers and saves a girl a trip to Reno.

A Mother's Love

Dear Miss Dix: I am a boy 13 years old. Mom and I have always been great pals, but one night I was very fresh with her and she struck me twice with her fist and I lost my temper and hit her in the face. When I realized what I had done I was brokenhearted and I can't get it out of my mind. I told her how sorry I was and she forgave me, but I still feel terrible over it. Please tell me what to do.—SCHOOL BOY.

ANSWER: Don't worry over it any more, son. When God made mothers, He gave them the power of not only forgiving but forgetting any wrong their chidren did them. Besides, in this case your mother was even more at fault than you were.

Toll In The Balkans

LONDON, April 14.—(CP)—A Rome radio report that Italian casualties in the Balkans during March totalled 352 killed and 358 missing was interpreted in British circles today as indicating Greek patriot forces were giving Mussolini's army of occupation considerable opposition.

These circles said it was probable most of the Italian casualties were incurred in Greece because there are comparatively few Italian troops in Yugoslavia.

Writing Letters the Charming Way

As If Friend Were Present

Here's one girl who can hold her man by mail! While others labor over stilted, clumsy letters, she writes hers in the easiest, most delightful way.

How? Our letter-writing booklet calls a good letter a "written chat." What do you and your friend like to talk about? THAT'S what he'll like to read about!

If it's swing music, write just as if you were talking: "But oh, that band is out of this world!" If he, or she, likes to chat about who's doing what, then just gossip: "Dan has a new girl, but Jane has a new man! So—"

Of course "just as if you were talking" doesn't mean ungrammatically. Bad grammar in a letter makes an ugly impression.

So track down offenders like "everyone had THEIR own" and "I'm LIABLE to leave." Write "everyone had HIS own," "I'm LIKELY to leave."

Be sparklingly specific! Not "she walked in," but "she minced," "tiptoed" or "tramped"!

Our 32-page booklet shows you how to write interesting correct letters. Gives 24 excellent models—friendly, formal and business. Lists common errors with corrections. Tells how to enrich your vocabulary, suggests topics to write about.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

BID IT YOURSELF

WHENEVER you know there is a game in the hand for your side, even if your partner has the weakest possible hand which could have justified some action he had already taken, your job is either to bid that game or make a positively forcing bid which will enable him to bid further on the strength you have shown, without requiring any more himself. Making a minimum bid in such a spot, and hoping he will have enough more to bid again, is likely to throw away the game.

North: ♠ A J 7 4 ♥ K 9 5 ♦ 9 5 3 ♣ 8 4 3

West: ♠ 6 ♥ 10 8 7 6 4 3 ♦ 10 8 4 ♣ Q 9 5

East: ♠ 9 3 ♥ 2 ♦ K 7 6 2 ♣ A K J 10 7 2

South: ♠ K Q 10 8 5 2 ♥ A Q J ♦ A Q J ♣ 6

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	1♣	Dbl	1♥
1♠	Pass	2♠

South nearly dropped dead when his partner passed and left him in 2-Spades. As he reeled off every trick after losing the opener to the club Q, he keenly regretted his minimum raise from 1-Spade to 2-Spades. He should have realized that it was a virtual impossibility for his partner to have material for another voluntary bid in his hand, in view of the fact that East had shown enough for an opening bid.

This deal was played at eight other duplicate tables, and in all of those cases South reached 6-Spades by one means or another. In two of those cases, the early bidding was the same. After South's double of 1-Club, West made the same weakness call of 1-Heart, and North voluntarily bid 1-Spade. With only two aces and two kings missing, it was a virtual certainty that North had one of those aces and one of those kings, and consequently South bid 6-Spades. In one case, South bid a Blackwood 4-No Trumps, and North showed one ace with 5-Diamonds, whereupon South bid the small slam.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ K Q 10 9 ♥ K J ♦ J 10 7 5 ♣ Q 8 3

West: ♠ 5 3 ♥ 9 8 6 2 ♦ 4 2 ♣ K 9 5 4 2

East: ♠ A J 8 7 2 ♥ 4 3 ♦ Q 8 ♣ A J 10 6

South: ♠ 6 4 ♥ A Q 10 7 5 ♦ A K 9 6 3 ♣ 7

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

After East starts this deal with 1-Spade, what action should be taken by the other side?

Jap Loot Claims In Java All Fake

MELBOURNE, Ajril 14.—(CP)—Raden (Prince) Lukman Djajadiningrat, former Javanese Director of Education at Batavia and now the Commissioner of the Netherlands East Indies Government in Australia and New Zealand, said to-day Japanese claims to have captured much material in Java are "a fake" and "a perfect lie."

In a statement read by Capt. S. H. Sopoor of the N.E.I. general staff, the last Netherlands officer to leave Bandung, Java by plane, the Javanese Prince said the "Japanese claimed to have captured 177 aircraft, 1.059 tanks and armored cars, large quantities of artillery, and small arms equipment.

"The statement about large quantities of artillery is a fake because the Netherlands Army had only a small number of artillery units and part of this artillery was damaged and put out of action during the war by Japanese air attacks," the Prince's statement said.

"Moreover the remaining guns were destroyed before they were captured by the Japanese. The claim that Japan captured 177 warplanes is a perfect lie. When the war had to be finished in the vicinity of Bandung because the Netherlands troops were outnumbered by the Japanese there were no more serviceable aircraft available in Java.

"Planes in repair in airports were destroyed by Netherlands troops when they received the order to withdraw."

Address On Orient To Millbrook W.M.S.

MILLBROOK, April 14.—(ENS)—An Easter message of great beauty and impressiveness was presented to the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Church, by the Presbyterial president, Mrs. F. Harris of Peterborough, Wednesday, the address also including instances from the mission fields showing the startling contrast between motherhood and childhood in Christian and heathen lands.

What the W.M.S. does in providing missionaries, medical and educational, to alleviate the lot of 'our sisters in far-off lands,' as well as among the Orientals in Canada, proved and interesting and fascinating story, as the guest speaker continued with her narrative and stated well-authenticated facts. That many of the Canadian-born Chinese and Japanese in Western Canada are against the war and more than willing to fight with the forces of the Dominion against the ruthless aggression of Japan as shown in the Far East, was made clear from instances in Mr. Harris' own personal experience.

The Easter thankoffering was taken by Mrs. M. McDowell and Mrs. J. McKnight, the prayer of dedication being offered by Mrs Franklin Bannister. Mrs. McKnight gave the Christian stewardship message previous to Mrs. Harris' introduction by the president, Mrs. A. L. Sisco, and a duet, "He Lives," by Misses Marjorie and Beatrice McDowell appropriately followed the guest speaker's address.

Mrs. Henry Gray, president of the Mission Circle, announced the latter's Easter thankoffering meeting on April 23, in the church, with "Glimpses of West China" shown on the screen, and a two-act play, "New Homes for Old," as part of the program.

The W.M.S. Watchword in unison closed the meeting, and afterward Mrs. Sisco and her daughter, Mrs. H. W. Gray, served afternoon tea at the parsonage for the visiting speaker, and the executive.

Marmora W.I. Elects Officers

MARMORA, April 10.—(ENS)—Mrs. Leslie R. Rundle was elected president of the Marmora Women's Institute at the regular monthly meeting of that organization held in the home of Mrs. Frank Sweet on Wednesday evening. The election of officers was carried out by Mrs. H. R. Haacke, district president and their roll is as follows:

Past president, Mrs. F. Grant; president, Mrs. L. R. Rundle 1st vice-president, Mrs. P. Gray; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. D. Sanderson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. D. Lavender; pianist, Mrs. F. R. Wells; press reporter, Mrs. H. P. Nayler; directors, Mrs. F. Grant, Mrs. G. Kerr and Mrs. E. Gray; district director, Mrs. J. Gordenier; auditors, Mrs. L. Green and Mrs. R. E. Neal.

Prior to the election, the usual order of business was carried out. The roll call was "A famous leader of bygone days" and this was well responded to by the goodly number present. Plans were made for the attendance of local leaders and members of the summary day for the uses of whole wheat at Madoc on May 6. Mrs. H. P. Nayler gave a paper in connection with historical research, touching upon the first twenty-five years of the history of the local branch.

A paper on "Education" for which Mrs. F. Sweet was responsible was given by Miss Dafoe. Following election of officers which occurred at this part of the meeting, Mrs. W. Holland gave a reading, "The Power of a Smile." A spelling contest was won by Mrs. E. Belanger after which the National Anthem was sung and the committee in charge served refreshments. The next meeting which will be the annual one will take place at the residence of Mrs. A. H. Connor.

Watch Those Britches, Boys

This photo shows part of the military training that the British army personnel, consisting of infantry, artillery, medical units, tank crews, signal corps, etc., go through before they are first class fighting men. The boys are learning how to crawl under barbed wire with full pack. When they master this and the other necessary arts of fighting they will be sent to all parts of the world to fight against the Axis.

Seek To Establish Rat Farm In Emily

The Emily Municipal Council met in the Farmers' Club Rooms, Omemee, on Tuesday, with W. J. Patrick, Reeve, in the chair, and Councillors Vincent Fee, Paul J. McGuire, Thomas Morrissey, and D. W. Wilson present.

The following communications were read:

From F. L. Weldon, asking for information re a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital Sunnyside, who claimed to be a resident of Emily and an indigent.

From J. S. Lucas, claiming compensation for damages to sleigh and hay press.

From E. Jean, Lafond, Alberta, asking for information as to the possibilities of leasing marsh land in Emily for a rat and beaver farm.

From the C. N. Railway Right-of-Way Agent, informing Council that their offer for the abandoned portion of the line in Emily had been accepted and that a deed for the same would be issued in due time.

From the Department of Highways re rationing of gasoline for township machinery.

On motion the accounts for work on roads as presented by the road superintendent were approved and ordered paid by the treasurer. The amount, $397.28.

Payments: Miscellaneous— R. W. Hill, secretary-treasurer Municipal Telephone System, balance 1941 account $284.15; David Weir, telephone messages, $1.15; David Weir, one-quarter salary, $100.00; Bank of Toronto, rent safety deposit box, $3.00.

Schools — S.S. 3, J. M. Thurston, secretary-treasurer, advance, $100; S.S. 6. Vince Perdue, secretary-treasurer advance, $100; S.S. 7, Frank Crough, secretary-treasurer, advance, $65; S.S. 12. Burt Morrissey, secretary-treasurer, advance, $100; S.S. 15, Earl Herlihey, secretary-treasurer, advance, $200.

Live stock killed by dogs — Ed. Best' shooting dog, $10.00; Ed. Best, injuries to sheep, $8.00; Neil McInnis, valuing sheep of E. Best, $1.50.

The Reeve and Councillors were named a committee to meet the collector and the treasurer and prepare the list of arrears of taxes to be sent to the County Treasurer.

The clerk was instructed to advertise in the Daily Commercial News, Toronto, three insertions asking for tenders for crushing, delivering, and spreading approximately 8,000 yards of gravel on the township roads during the season of 1942, tenders to be received until May 4 next, by Walter Herlihey, road superintendent and David Weir, clerk, and to be accompanied by a marked cheque for $200, the lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Wages of men working on the township roads were set at: For man and team 50 cents per hour, for man without team 35 cents per hour, for tractors $1.25 per hour.

And nine hours will constitute a days work.

The remuneration of the members of the Council was set as follows from the 1st of January, 1942: For attending Council and other work, $4.00 per day, and that the mileage for attending meetings of the Council shall be the same as heretofore, 10 cents a mile one way only.

A by-law to confirm this resolution was introduced, given several readings and passed, signed and sealed.

The clerk was instructed to reply to the inquiry from Alberta in the matter of marshes suitable for a rat farm and Council adjourned to meet on May 4 next.

HEALTHFUL HERBS FOUND IN SYNTONA MAKE YOUR IDEAL SPRING MEDICINE

Rids System of Excess Acids and Impurities. Improves Action of Stomach. Flushes Poisons from Kidneys. Appetite Improves. Tired, Rundown Feelings Disappear.

After the inactivity and confinement of the long winter months, thousands suffer from digestive disturbances, stomach gas, acid, backache, minor kidney irregularities; bowels do not function properly, appetite is lost and they feel sluggish, tired and run down.

With the first sign of warm weather, these troubles become more pronounced. Each day is a burden and the need for a good spring tonic becomes real indeed.

Because Syntona is made from 12 of Nature's Finest Medicinal Herbs it is particularly valuable at this season of the year. It helps to rid the system of these accumulated acids and impurities in a natural way, improves action of the stomach, acts as a diuretic to the kidneys, flushing out poisons and irritating acids. Hundreds declare that even after using it a week they look, feel and act like new. This spring, try Syntona for yourself and the chances are that you will be ready for the warmer weather feeling as fit and fine as anyone could wish to be.

If you live in Peterborough or vicinity, go to Elliott's Drug Store, and find out all about this pure herbal medicine. Remember the name, SYNTONA, and avoid disappointment. (Advt.)

Pancake Social Held United Church W.M.S.

HASTINGS, April 14—(ENS). — Following the regular meeting of the Trinity United Church W.M.S. on Thursday afternoon, a pancake and maple syrup social was held in the basement of the church. The social was well attended and proved to be a very enjoyable event.

Mrs. Alfred Metcalfe, president of the Trinity Women's Missionary Society was in the chair for the regular meeting and had charge of the worship period. Bible references were delivered by Mrs. A. V. German, Mrs. Gordon Faux, and Mrs. Way. A reading entitled "Easter" was also delivered by Mrs. A. V. German.

With The Boy Scouts

EXECUTIVE MEETING

Members of the executive of the local association are warned that a meeting is scheduled for Tuesday of next week, April 21.

SCOUT CRAFT SHOW

It is the request of the committee that every troop and pack put on some display as a group at the coming scout craft show. Some special demonstration or model patrol corners, special equipment or any ideas of your own. The Market Hall is large; let us try to fill it up.

ST. LUKE'S (2ND ARMOUR)

Now that Easter holidays are over the cubs are asked to attend the jungle regularly that all work and practise can be carried out in full. Sixers Billie King and LaVergne Butcher passed modelling and received their second star. You youngsters want to remember that it's only three weeks to complete your scout craft work; so get busy. Paint can be obtained at Baloo's or Akela's homes.

Next group practise will be held at St. Luke's Church at 7.00 p.m. on Thursday, 16th April. Please be on time.

Parent's Night.—The scouts and cubs will hold a Parent's Night on Tuesday, April 28. All mothers and fathers are requested to keep this date open to attend.

SACRED HEART NEWS

Jack Hayes took another step forward as he passed more second class tests. It has been decided to hold a son and parents' banquet on Tuesday, April 28, at 7 p.m., in the basement of the church, and that all scout leaders are invited to attend.

A group committee meeting was held on Thursday last, at which Miss Dorothy Grady was reappointed Akela. Miss Grady has been absent through studies.

Four or five new members were added to the committee that a working committee could be arranged owing to the extra work of present-day conditions. Mr. Ed. O'Rourke being appointed vice-chairman of the committee.

At the court of honor meeting a rag collection was set for Saturday next. Anyone having rags they would like to donate, please phone Scouter Dominik 7756 and they will be picked up.

Two vacancies have been created in the troop. Any boys wishing to fill these places, please come on Tuesday and make application.

Map reading was the main topic at a special meeting of the patrol leaders held on Sunday.

We hope to be able to present several second class badges at the banquet. So how about it, fellows. Get ready with your work.

ALL SAINTS' TROOP

Good Friday was another day of study and test passing, with some thirty second class tests being gained among the troop. This is good, but no record; as last year 72 tests were passed. A new system was tried out with the troop being divided into three sections: tenderfoot, second and first class instruction during the study periods. The system shows advantage to study for the boys.

Two scouts, Stanley Feneron and Bob Hopkins completed all second-class work.

We would remind all you fellows to come along and get down to business on Friday next. What with the scout craft show and jamboree coming along, we want to be prepared.

AT ST. ANDREW'S

We understand that a real good Parents' Night was enjoyed by all at St. Andrew's Sunday School, with many tests of various scout and cub activities being domonstrated. It appears that our Old Maestro A. Hope was on the job at camp fire, and also that for the first time in all his scouting career, Assistant Commission Lewis A. Grant sang a solo. According to report one of the fathers offered to give $1 to the Chins Up Fund if Mr. Grant would sing—and he did, or did he. Anyway, it is reported that Mr. Hope and company have not yet fully re- and covered from the results.

LEADERS' MEETING

At a leaders' meeting called by Commissioner J. T. Hornsby nearly every officer was in attendance. The Commissioner spoke on the various phases of scouting under war conditions, and urged that the patrol system be carried out more fully, and that patrol leaders are given more responsibility, that they may be fitted to carry on should the officer commanding units be called to the colors. Also that more co-operation be borne between the cub and scout officers, between the officers and the group committees, and between the officers of the district, that a full accord may be found in this work for boys; a work very essential in the life of our country and empire.

The commissioner also mentioned the coming scout craft show and jamborees, and urged that every effort be put forward to bring about the ultimate success of these two occasions.

In closing, Mr. Hornsby reminded the officers that our work is "Scouting for Boys," and in that the study of the boy is first and foremost, and that the best time for scouting is in the months of May, June, July, August and September—which means, no closing of troops or packs during the summer months.

We regret to hear that Scouter Earl McNabb and Akela Quirt McKinney are both confined to bed through illness. We wish them both a speedy recovery to good health.

GUARDS NOW ARMORED

LONDON—(CP). — The famous Guards Brigade, which has fought in every British campaign since 1660 has been converted, into an armored brigade and forms part of an armored division now including the Coldstreams, Grenadiers, Irish, Scots and Welsh regiments.

Ladies' Aid Tea At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, April 14—(ENS).—Mrs. Robert and Miss Mina Gibson were joint hosesses for the April meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Grace Presbyterian church, held at their home, King street east, on Wednesday at 3 p.m., with the president, Mrs. Suttle Pritchard, in the chair. Mrs. Z. Seaton took the opening worship period, giving the Easter message, and Mrs. A. R. Gibson closed with prayer.

Business discussion centred round arrangements for the hostess tea on June 3, at the church, the committee to look after details including: Mrs. H. A. Kerr, Mrs. H. W. Ball, Mrs. J. R Thompson and Miss Mina Gibson; Mrs. Gordon Muspratt and the President are the committee on program. The visiting committee for the next three months is Mrs. Seaton and Mrs. A. S. Hall; and Group 1 Miss Gibson convener, will look after flowers for the church for April and May.

The next meeting will be on May 6, and following the closing hymn and prayer, the hostesses served tea, the table being lovely with spring flowers, and the members of Miss Gibson's group assisting her with waiting on the guests. The amount realized from the tea increased the funds of Group 1, each group in the Society aiming at a certain figure for the current twelve months' activities.

Diesels After Dark

Vichy, April 14 (AP)

A BERNE dispatch quoting the Berlin correspondent of Die Tat said today the Germans are using multiple-seated Diesel planes equipped with radio location apparatus as night fighters.

The detection apparatus was said to determine the position and direction of attacking planes by picking up radio waves from the raiders' ignitions. The Germans were said to be using Diesel motors so there would be no magneto interference with the detectors.

Mrs. James Downing Is Hostess To Guild

APSLEY, April 14. — (ENS).—The St. George's Women's Guild held its monthly meeting on Thursday at the home of the president, Mrs. James Downey. A quilt made in crazy patchwork style of print, the work of Mrs. H. Everett of Chandos, was displayed, and it was decided to have a quilting next Thursday at Mrs. Downing's home. A pot-luck dinner will be served. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. T. H. Lean's home. Lunch was served by the hostess.

A card party for the Apsley Red Cross Hospital was held on Friday evening at Mrs. T. H. Lean's farm home. Seven tables of euchre were played, with the highest scores by Mrs. W. Staples and Rodney Kilborn, who won first prizes. Consolations went to Mrs. Roland Tucker and Jack Tucker. Another card party will be held next week in aid of the Red Cross. Mrs. Don Newberry will be hostess for the occasion.

Slash In Gas To Hit Thousands

Cut Coupon Ratings, Aim To Eliminate Cars From Business

OTTAWA, April 15 — (CP). — Hundreds and perhaps thousands of Canadian motorists will be affected by a downward reallocation of gasoline category ratings, the Munitions and Supply Department announced to-day on behalf of Munitions Minister Howe.

The move was made because of the "increasingly serious shortage of crude petroleum," a Department statement said. It quoted Mr. Howe as saying:

"The time is past when we should mince words. The war situation is grave. Tanker sinkings have proved a severe blow to our war program. The inventory position is serious enough to justify drastic steps, and the first of these steps will be the reallocation of gasoline category rations throughout the country."

Amplifying the minister's statement, Oil Controller G. R. Cottrelle of Toronto said many vehicles in the higher passenger car categories will be reduced to lower categories, and many others will be reduced to Category A, allowing from 300 to 360 gallons a year under the pre-

Axis Aces Bomb Own Libya Unit

CAIRO, Egypt, April 15 — (AP). —The British Middle East Command reported to-day that a British column which engaged a superior enemy armored force of 30 tanks and self-propelled guns on Monday burned out two tanks and damaged five.

The action occurred at Temrad, 12 miles south-west of Gazala and 60 miles from the British defences at Tobruk.

A communique reported that during yesterday, when sand storms by day and cloudy weather by night were reported from the forward area, Axis planes were seen to bomb one of their own columns.

An Air Headquarters bulletin said sand storms had restricted activity yesterday but that during the night Axis airdromes at Derna and Martuba were attacked.

Over Malta three Messerschmitt fighters were destroyed by the British defenders.

Only one fighter plane was lost in operations during the 24 hours under review, and the pilot of this is safe. (The German high command had claimed nine British planes destroyed in the Mediterranean area.)

Charles Just A Piker

LONDON, April 15—(CP Cable).—Sir Kingsley Wood, Chancellor of the Exchequer by his new beer tax in the budget of tuppence a pint, made that old master of taxation, King Charles II., look like a rank amateur.

Charles, a strong believer in taxation of all kinds, was first to strike at the British "working man's food and working man's drink" when he levied in 1660 a tax of four shillings and ninepence the barrel. Sir Kingsley put him in the shade when he jumped the pint tax threepence to fivepence, or 48 shillings a barrel of 36 gallons. (Tax per glass is equal to the price of one in Canada).

Believe Darlan To Keep Fleet; Discount Value

LONDON, April 15.—(CP)—While a foreign office commentator said the Vichy Government had been reduced to the level of a "Nickel Balkan State" by the re-entry of Pierre Laval into power, different opinions were expressed today as to whether that event would cause any change in control of the French fleet.

One British sources gave it as his personal opinion that Vice-Premier Admiral Darlan would keep control of the French battle fleet, his greatest pride, and would not "let any authority slip out of his hands in that direction."

Diplomats here, however, took an opposite view and predicted a complete reversal of the Vichy policy on disposal of the fleet which they described as a "formidable" force.

They also predicted Japanese threats to Madagascar off the East African coast in an effort to choke off Allied supply lines in the Indian Ocean, and Axis moves against French bases fronting the Atlantic in Africa.

"At a time when Anglo-American naval strength is stretched to the limit, the addition of the French fleet to the Axis navies would be a very grave blow indeed," one diplomatic source commented.

The British sources who expressed doubt that Darlan would turn the fleet over, however, also discounted its value to Hitler even if he did get it.

The French fleet was "efficient up to a point," the informant said, but he doubted that it "would be highly efficient in operations."

Observers pointed out that the French fleet has been inactive for nearly two years, unable to engage in manoeuvres or exercises.

Labor Ration Definite Possibility

Manpower Shortage To Rule Occupations Says Selection Chief

TORONTO, April 15 (CP)—Labor rationing is a definite wartime possibility, Elliott M. Little, director of National Selective Service, said in an address today at a Canadian Press luncheon to which members of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association were invited.

"As time goes on all occupations must be governed by the acuteness of the manpower shortage," Mr. Little said.

His address included these two frank comments on war industry: 'Our problem is not simply to man industry — industry must also be made more efficient" and "better employer - employee relations have got to be brought about."

Of regulations governing selective service, Mr. Little said: "If they have to be tougher the government can make them tougher."

Newspapers had an important duty, he said.

"You hold the means of swaying the people one way or the other," he told his audience. "This power imposes tremendous responsibilities, particularly in time of war."

Thankful For Honest Press

"Canadian may be thankful that we have newspapers which are honest and intelligent—newspapers which tell the truth. It is important that we get the facts, no matter how distasteful."

Publishers could give "invaluable assistance" in the selective service program, he continued.

"I hope to give our program effect in the decent Canadian way, by cooperation as opposed to compulsion, and capitalizing to the full on the eagerness of the people to respond to the effort. You can help us by keeping the public informed, by giving them the facts so that they may understand what is being planned and why."

Planning for manpower for the war effort, and obtaining it in orderly fashion was the function of selective service.

"There must first be the jobs," he explained. "Then we must know where they are—and when and what kind of people are required to fill them. We must find the people."

Waiting The Cue

WASHINGTON, April 15—(CP)—Canada's attitude toward the Laval Vichy government's Minister in Ottawa will be decided after consideration of British and United States reaction, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today on his arrival here to visit President Roosevelt.

It is expected the Prime Minister and the President will discuss the Vichy situation, in the light of pro-Nazi Pierre Laval's re-entry to the Petain government, by the White House fireside tonight.

The Vichy government reorganization yesterday, Mr. King said, might lead to "a serious situation."

Le Droit Fined $200 For Rap At Renault Raid

OTTAWA, April 15 (CP)—Magistrate Glen Strike today convicted Le Droit, Ottawa French-language newspaper, on two charges under the Defence of Canada regulations and imposed fines of $100 on each charge.

Two other charges were withdrawn by Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier.

The charges were laid on instructions of Justice Minister St. Laurent following publication in Le Droit of a news item dealing with British air raids on Renault industries in the Paris suburbs and an article in the column "Day by Day" in which raids on Occupied France were discussed.

The case was heard by Magistrate Strike April 8 and judgment reserved until today. In making a conviction Magistrate Strike referred to the generally-loyal policy of De Droit.

"It would appear obvious to me that the sentiments expressed are misplaced, but unfortunately the words used are such that—if a considerable number of people accepted them there would not be that united effort which is so essential to the winning of the war, upon which principle these regulations are based," the magistrate said in a prepared judgment.

"It is very unfortunate that these articles appeared in Le Droit because of the fact that this newspaper has been consistently loyal in its policy.

RAF Pounds Non-Stop At The Ruhr

Batter French Area For 9½ Hours; 11 Bombers Missing

LONDON, April 15.—(CP).—The hard-hitting Royal Air Force began its second 24 hours of a non-stop offensive over the continent this morning wtih raids against the strongly-entrenched occupied coast after leaving 'very large' fires burning in the Ruhr Valley.

The daylight attacks were made in the wake of blasting raids on the Ruhr by a heavy force of powerful night bombers and all-day attacks against occupied Europe yesterday.

High winds prevailed when the squadrons headed across the channel and the French beach areas where thousands of workers and German soldiers are laboring upon new fortifications.

The gigantic industrial target in the Ruhr, where most of the German heavy industries are concentrated, has been under a hail of heavy bombs for six of the last 10 nights.

The only interruptions were due to bad weather.

The weight of high-explosive bombs being dropped on the Ruhr was said to run into "hundreds of tons each night an attack is made."

The Air Ministry, indicating the wide scope of last night's raids, announced 11 bombers are missing.

The attacks also incuded raids in Le Havre and on airdromes in occupied territory.

The muffled sound of distant explosions heard at Folkestone from the direction of the Belgian coast indicated that the R.A.F. had resumed its daylight offensive against occupied France—which set a record of 9½ hours duration yesterday.

Back After Coast Again.

Flying too high to be seen, formations of British planes later flew in over the English coast, evidently returning from morning forays over the Boulogne and Calais areas of occupied Northern France.

The Ministry said a 'strong force' of bombers took part in the Ruhr attack.

"Industrial objectives were heavily bombed and many fires, some of them very large, were left burning," the communique said.

U.S. Takes Action

WASHINGTON, April 15—(AP).—The United States has held up shipments of non - military supplies to French North Africa pending clarification of the situation in Vichy.

This was disclosed today by the Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles, who told a press conference that two ships in New York harbor loaded with supplies for North Africa, which were about to sail in accordance with an agreement announced last week, would be held in port. Arrangements to send a Red Cross ship with milk and children's layettes to unoccupied Francc also have been held in abeyance, he said.

Russians Smash First Lines Before Bryansk

By EDDY GILMORE

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 15 — (AP)—Soviet troops have smashed through the first line of German defences guarding Bryansk, 200 miles southwest of Moscow, and are battling fiercely in the second line, dispatches from the front reported today.

The direct assault on the fortified lines guarding the key salient barely 60 miles from the frontier of White Russia is said to have developed from an offensive in which numerous communities were recaptured and 3,000 Germans killed in the last two weeks.

The dispatches said Nazi supplies engulfed in the westward sweep of the Russian forces included quantities of new rifles and machine guns apparently moved up for a German spring drive.

Fierce fighting also was reported northwest of Moscow, where the Germans are said to have lost 1,200 men in the past few days.

Red Star said guerilla detachments operating back of the German lines in the Smolensk area and widely through White Russia had captured numerous German soldiers, including 10 officers.

13 Big Raiders Create Havoc Also Among Jap Bases At Cebu, Davao, Batangas

Batter Shipping, Docks, Destroy Aircraft With Loss Of Only One Bomber On Round Trips Ranging Up To 4,000 Miles

U.S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 15—(AP).—Thirteen big United States bombers operating from Australia made attacks on Japanese bases and shipping at Manila, Cebu, Davao and Batangas in the Philippine Islands Monday and Tuesday, it was announced tonight.

The communique said "enemy shipping, docks and aircraft were destroyed and damaged in an American air attack in the Philippines area April 13 and 14. The flight consisted of three B-17's and 10 B-25's under personal command of Brig.-Gen. Ralph Royce. Nichols Field, Batangas, Cebu and Davao were attacked."

At Batangas, a Japanese cargo ship presumably carrying military supplies was sunk.

The raid was accomplished with the loss of only one plane, and its crew was saved.

At Nichols Field, at Manila, hangars were destroyed and runways damaged, the announcement said.

At Davao, in the southern part of Mindanao Island, one bomber was destroyed and several damaged; two transports were hit and one probably sunk, one seaplane was shot down and two others damaged. Troop concentrations were attacked and docks and warehouses damaged.

Sink 3 Ships at Cebu

At Cebu, in the central group of islands where the Japanese have made their most recent attempts at occupation, three transports were sunk and two others hit. In addition there were several near misses on other vessels, three planes were shot down and several were damaged on the ground. Considerable damage also was done to the docks.

(The bases from which the U.S. air forces delivered the widespread blows in such surprise fashion were not disclosed at once.

(There are some 7,000 islands in the Philippines, and only a few of them have been occupied by the Japanese. To attack from Australia, nearest known bases of the Americans, the planes would have to fly 2,000 miles to reach Manila and 1,400 miles to reach Davao.

(Since the B-25 bombers have a round trip range, loaded, of about 1,700 miles, the implication was that they may have refueled somewhere in American-held territory in the Philippines.

(The three B-17's—flying fortresses—could make the round trip readily without refueling.)

Lt.-Gen. George Brett, Allied air commander, issued a statement commending Gen Royce, saying he volunteered for "this most important mission," and that:

Curtin Contends MacArthur Supreme Chief

CANBERRA, April 15 — (CP). — Prime Minister John Curtin said today that the Australian government's view is that Gen. Douglas MacArthur is supreme commander of all Allied forces in the southwest Pacific with power to take any steps he thinks fit.

The prime minister said that a supreme commander was appointed in his own offices in consultation with the governments involved.

Thus, he said, the Australian Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, commander of all land forces in Australia; the American Lt.-Gen. George Brett, air commander and MacArthur's chief aide, and United States Rear Admiral Herbert Leary, head of the naval forces, all are under Gen. MacArthur.

Mr. Curtin added that the change in the Dominion's defence machinery yesterday by which he assumed the defence portfolio would simplify liaison between Gen. MacArthur and the Australian government.

The Will To Fight

Chungking, China, April 15 (AP)

CRITICIZING Allied retreats in Burma, the English-language newspaper National Herald said editorially today that the will to fight is even more important than planes, guns and tanks and pointed to the "courageous stand" of the Chinese troops in Burma as an example for all Allied forces.

"It appears there still is a lack of co-ordination among various Allied units in Burma as the question of unified command evidently is not yet settled," the paper said.

"More than once a precipitious Allied withdrawal from one sector of Burma has seriously exposed the flank of another Allied force in some other sector. There has been a singular lack of any attempt by one Allied force to stage a diversion or counterattack to relieve the enemy pressure on another sector."

Long Faces In English Pubs

Twopence Beer Boost Gets Hitler Hard Names

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 15.—(CP Cable). —Long faces in Britain's pub last night told the story of Sir Kingsley Woods budget speech.

As workingmen drank their last ninepenny (17-cent) pints of beer until after the war they agreed the government had handed them a hard knock, unloosed a few choice oaths at Hitler and decided they might as well make the best of this forced "austerity."

Starting to-day the people of Britain will pay two-pence a pint more for beer. A small whisky will cost them a shiling (22 cents) instead of 11 pence and they will have to pay three-pence more for 10 popular brand cigarettes now costing ninepence.

These increases and others effective next month in the prices of movie theatre and other entertainment tickets hit the workingman hardest, but he is consoled by certain concessions made to help ease his tax burden and by the knowledge that his neighbor, no matter what his job or salary, is going to suffer just as much as he.

Doubling of the 33 1/3-per cent. purchase tax on a long list of luxury articles ranging from silk ties to phonograph records is unlikely to have much effect on the lower-bracket wage earners. The promised removal later in the year of the tax on purchases of the new "utility" clothing" and footwear will be to his advantage.

Revolt Now in France Nasty for Hitler

Wants Fleet More Than Right Hand—Can't Risk Rising—Concessions May Get It

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst.

The return of pro-Nazi, anti-British Laval to a position of power in the Vichy Government of harassed old Marshal Petain is a matter of grave anxiety for the Allies, but while we can see German influence in the immediate change, it strikes me that it's too soon to forecast what will develop from the change.

One thing which does seem clear is that we are witnessing an historic drama which involves the survival of the French nation.

The spirit of France—of the French people—is in the leading role and we must look to this for guidance.

Of course, with half an eye one can see plenty of potential trouble for the United Nations—Hitler's acquisition of the French Navy, his possession of France's colonies as bases, a diplomatic rupture between France and the United States, so eagerly sought by the Fuehrer, and what not. Still, while those things are distinct possibilities they aren't actualities, and Berlin has no guarantee they ever will be.

The majority in France is still anti-Nazi and pro-Ally. This is one reason why Hitler heretofore has moved circumspectly in trying to force concessions from Petain.

Hitler has been afraid of the hostility of the French public. The people know their salvation lies in an Allied victory, and there would be danger to him if he applied strong-arm methods too vigorously. In short, if the Fuehrer now tries to force the issue through the crafty Laval, it will be inviting a public explosion if and when the opportune moment arrives.

Take the matter of the French Navy. Hitler wants that more than he does his right hand, but indications are the French public wouldn't sanction such a deal by the Vichy Government. Moreover, I am told by a well-informed French source that many French sailors in the fleet are hotly anti-German and would never be willing parties to a surrender of their ships to the Nazis.

Thus we have a position which Hitler would be challenging trouble if he acted precipitately in any direction. Why then this sudden burst of energy in Berlin to remould the Vichy government into the image of the Fuehrer?

For one thing London hears Nazidom is suffering from war-nerves and is worried over the possibility of an Allied invasion through France. Should this be accompanied by a revolt of the French people it would be a nasty business for the Nazis. The probabilities are that Laval-the-fixer has a pocket full of "concessions" to hand the French public in exchange for tranquility.

Then, too, Hitler is about to stake everything on the fling of his spring or summer offensive, and he wants those warships and colonial bases.

However, at this writing the outcome of the Vichy shake-up is far from certain.

Carelessness On Normandie

Probe Scouts Sabotage, But Ship Open To It

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP). —A House of Representatives Naval Sub-committee blamed "carelessness and lack of proper supervision" to-day for the fire which damaged the liner Normandie in New York but reported that opportunities for sabotage were "abundant."

Concluding a two-months' investigation, the sub-committee issued a long report sharply critical of government handling of the big ship and disclosed that orders had been given it for it to sail on Feb. 14, five days after it burned and capsized.

Asserting that the fire unquestionably started from a blow torch which ignited life preservers, the sub-committee said investigation failed to disclose any persons intent on acts of sabotage and said the fire "was not started with willful or malicious intent."

"There is no escape from the conclusion, however, that the cause and consequences of the fire are directly attributable to carelessness and lack of proper supervision," the report said.

"There was no evidence to indicate that the fire on the Normandie may be attributed to sabotage. Opportunities for sabotage or almost any subversive activity were, however, abundant on the Normandie. That the fire may not be attributed to sabotage is only indicative, therefore, of the fact that saboteurs, if there were any, did not deem the time ripe for sabotage."

UNITED STATES AND VICHY NEAR BREAK, MAY CALL LEAHY HOME

By WADE WERNER

WASHINGTON, April 15—(AP).—The United States and Vichy France neared a break today, with the recall of Ambassador William D. Leahy generally expected in informed quarters.

The State Department withheld any official indication of its reaction to the return of pro - Nazi, British - hating Pierre Laval to a key position in the Vichy regime pending a report from Admiral Leahy on the developments.

A high Government source conceded last night, however, that a complete re-examination of American relations with Vichy "obviously" is necessary. Whether this would lead to a final rupture of diplomatic relations is a matter on which observers here disagreed, but there are indications the Government is seriously weighing the advisability of calling Admiral Leahy home.

Such a recall could take place without a formal severance of relations, leaving the situation between the United States and Vichy governments the same as that between Washington and Berlin in the months preceding actual warfare.

There was much conjecture as to the possibility not only of a clean break with Vichy but a more positive and all-out support of the Free French movement. Informed sources cautioned, however, against jumping at conclusions in this direction.

Serious Situation

What Hitler and the Japanese might be expected to get out of the new turn in Laval's fortunes was a matter of grave concern here. Officials re-examining the whole structure of Vichy-Washington relations considered these questions:—

The French fleet. The Allies are seriously engaged in the Pacific and Indian Oceans; the Germans are known to be preparing the battleships Tirpitz, Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, the aircraft carriers Graf Zeppelin and Deutschland and other strong units for an Atlantic adven-

All these commanders of the north-central front presumably remain under general direction of Field Marshal Wilhelm Von Leeb, who personally had charge of the Leningrad sector.

Field Marshal Walther Von Brauchitsch, reported called back to service after his replacement by Hitler himself as commander in chief when the German winter drive went into reverse, is believed to have been placed in charge of assembling Nazi forces along the important south-central front in the area of Kharkov, Bryansk, Orel and Gomel.

Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock, who has served at Smolensk and on the north flank, is believed to have been placed in charge of the south flank in the vicinity of Taganrog.

We shall also insist, wherever possible, on the elimination of the use of cars in business. There are many who can rearrange their activitiese to this end, and we will see that they do so."

In addition, there are the 35,000-ton Jean Bart, towed in an incomplete state of construction to Casablanca in Morocco in 1940 and probably still unfinished, and the 35,000-ton Richelieu, damaged at Dakar, but able to be used at that place as a floating fort.

tions—those in which able-bodied men between the ages of 17 and 45 may not take employment—were not "necessarily non-essential," Mr. Little referred to bakeries and newspapers.

"The bakery business, for example is rather essential," he said, "but you will find it on the list because women and older men can operate it. Some of the functions of our newspapers are essential; but you will find publishing on the restricted list also."

Necessary To Morale.

"I do not believe the publishers of Canada want preferred treatment," Mr. Little said. "You have too real a knowledge of the peril we face to want or expect this. However, I can assure you we have no intention of impairing the efficiency of the public press. Now, as never before, our press is necessary to maintain morale and keep the people informed so that they may have a vivid realization of their duty."

In granting permits for men to take employment in restricted occupations preference would be given to married men and the needs of the time or of local essential industries would be considered.

"As time goes on all occupations must be governed by the acuteness of the manpower shortage," he said. "Our war effort will result in a general tightness in labor supply. Only when we have a real and general tightness will we have concrete evidence before us that every man and woman is doing his or her part."

"If that objective is desirable, and I am sure we agree that it is, we may have to have labor rationing. We may have to allot each employer only such men as can be spared to meet his essential needs."

"I do no make this statement from any knowledge of what the government plans," Mr. Little continued, "but I believe the regulations concerning technical personnel can be taken as the pattern for other occupations as and when shortages develop."

(Under national selective service regulations technicians who are willing to leave non-essential industries must be released by their employers and guaranteed their former positions after the war).

"On the question of women in industry I would emphasize that no compulsion is planned. Selective service regulations are confined to men; none of the regulations applies to women."

"There are some who say that the selective service regulations do not go far enough in the matter of compulsoin," he said at another point. "If they have to be tougher the government can make them tougher."

128 Examined During Visit Chest Clinic

Three new re-activated cases of pulmonary tuberculosis in March were mentioned in the report for March by Miss Geraldine Conley, Public Health Nurse, to the Board of Health Tuesday night. All three were men. Two of them have been admitted to sanitorium. They were taken on stretchers, one to Gravenhurst and the other to Freeport, accompanied by a nurse. The other man refuses to go to a sanitorium for the present, Miss Conley commented. "These three men have had previous sanitorium care."

"Eighteen contacts of these cases have been tuberculin tested by Dr. D. B. Avison, M.O.H. There are still seven to be done by private physicians. Positive reactors will be brought in to the next clinic and negative reactors will be tested again in three months."

Chest Clinic

The clinic in February conducted by the Provincial Travelling Chest Clinic examined 128 persons of whom 107 were residents of the city and 21 were non-residents.

Seventy-three of these persons attended the clinic for the first time, 59 from the city and 14 were non-residents.

Two cases were diagnosed as active tuberculosis. They were both re-activated and were residents.

Other details reported by Miss Conley were: quiescent cases of tuberculosis examined, 20; arrested cases examined, 2; contacts of tuberculosis examined, 59, of whom 53 were resident and 6 non-resident.

Persons attending for the first time as suspected cases of tuberculosis, 45, of whom 32 were resident and 13 non-resident.

Details of the report also cover the number of visits in other phases of public health work. In addition to them, including 162 homes visited and 221 individuals, there were also eight child hygiene clinics during March. Total attendance was 127 of whom 14 were infants attending for the first time. Total number of pre-school children attending, 80; new pre-school children, 12; complete physical examinations, 8; seen for other reasons, 11; referred to family physicians, 4.

Miss Conley also referred to 105 immunixation treatments. Three pre-natal cases were referred to the Victorian Order of Nurses in March; two mental health clinics were held; and two conferences were held with the social workers of the Children's Aid Society in regard to cases in which both agencies are interested. These were some of the activities mentioned in Miss Conley's report.

M.O.H. Report

Dr. Avison informed the Board of 216 cases of mumps in March as compared with 298 in February and 221 in January. The present epidemic started in October and over 800 cases have been reported to date. The last week of March showed a sharp drop in the number of cases reported. "April should see the end of this epidemic."

"There were relatively few other communicable diseases: 5 scarlet fever; 5 whooping cough; 6 measles; 8 German measles and 1 chickenpox. It should be noted that these figures do not include those in the military training centre.

"Queen Mary Hospital has continued to be busy with all the beds occupied most of the time. With the advent of spring the welfare clinics have taken on new life with twenty to thirty babies present each day."

"For a city of this size," Dr. Avison observed, "there should be four of these clinics all with an average attendance of more than 20. The prime purpose of such clinics is to educate mothers to the advantage of medical supervision of their children. It is an educational process which starts at birth and carries through until school age, from which point it goes on through public school days."

Miss M. Cunningham, Public Health Nurse, reported that four children were referred to the mental health clinic last month due to mental retardment. Two children were referred to this clinic for speech training.

Miss Cunningham reported 45 home visits, 48 special inspections, 70 special physical inspections, 166 vision tests, and 28 children referred to dentists.

Sanitary Inspector MacPherson commented "that of the quantity of milk examined last month, the cleanliness and keeping quality compared favorably with previous reports."

Legal action was taken against the operator of one restaurant for neglect of kitchen wastes. A conviction was registered. The interior of one restaurant was completely redecorated and another is in the process of remodelling along sanitary lines.

Mr. MacPherson's report included the following reference to wells:

"Some thirty-two private wells were examined this month and specimens of water submitted to the Provincial Branch Laboratory for bacterial analysis. All but three of these wells were classified as "A." The two specimens were classified "D," i.e., unfit for drinking purposes. These wells were not in use but as a precautionary measure the pumps were padlocked so as to prevent possible usage. One specimen was classified as "B," i.e., not sufficient polution present to render the water definitely unfit.

In this connection also a number of private wells were located as sources of supplies for cooling systems for industrial refrigeration plants. In four cases these supplies were crossed with the city supplies. Although the water from all these wells was found to be potable, nevertheless this is no guarantee that it will remain thus. So again as a precautionary measure the owners of these wells were advised to insert a series of stop valves and a check valve on the private supply so as to prevent possible contamination of the city supply."

Henry's Charges On Hydro Enliven House

TORONTO, April 15—(CP).—If at all possible the Ontario Legislature will prorogue today. The House sat until the early hours in an effort to clear the order paper and made considerable progress in the handling of bills. A two-hour speech by George S. Henry (Con, East York), however, held to a minimum the consideration of estimates.

The former premier, speaking at length for the first time in the session, began his address when the hydro estimates were called and didn't conclude until well after midnight.

There were many interruptions from government members as Mr. Henry spoke and several times Premier Hepburn clashed with his predecessor in office.

The York East member referred back to matters of years standing. He criticized what he termed the "repudiation" of Quebec power contracts by the government in 1936.

It was the government's policy, he said, not the demand by war industries that was responsible for the shortage of power in the province today and it was because of this that war industries were passing up Ontario in favor of Quebec which had "adequate" power reserves.

In concluding his remarks, Mr. Henry charged the government with abusing its position and failing to carry out its responsibilities with regard to hydro development here.

The Gambling Issue

During the afternoon session the members heard a heated exchange between Attorney-General Gordon Conant and Conservative Leader George A. Drew on gambling in the areas adjacent to Toronto.

Just when it appeared as if a full-dress debate would flare up the speaker, Hon. James H. Clark, stopped the exchange by ruling there

HENRY'S CHARGES

Francis Asta Found Guilty

Francis Asta, 21, pleaded guilty in traffic court this morning to a charge of careless driving and was fined $7.50 and $2.50 costs after Sergt. G. T. Puffer had explained the circumstances to Magistrate Langley.

"He was going too fast and ran off Highway 28 on a curve, striking a post," said Sergt. Puffer. "No one was hurt, no other car was involved and all the damage was done to the car he was driving.

For not having a light on his bicycle Carman Chas was fined $2 and $1 costs. It was explained that Chase was riding his bicycle on the Chemong road and there was a collision with a pedestrian who as injured when struck by the wheel.

James Elmhurst failed to produce a driver's license or chaufeur's permit when called upon to do so and the omission cost him $5 and $2.50 costs on a written plea of guilty in traffic court today.

Max Lloyd selected a time to drive faster than 30 miles an hour when Traffic Officer C. J. McGillen happened to be looking and as a result he had to pay $5 and $2.50 costs on a speeding charge. A written plea of guilty was entered.

Failing to stop at a stop sign resulted in fines of $2 and $1 costs for H. J. Preston, C. W. McMaster, F. L. Buckland, Hugh Davis, E. L. Garbutt, John O'Brien, A. McLaren, A. Hosker and R. P. Wellman on written guilty pleas.

Pleading guilty to overtime parking Ethel Williams, Elmer Rosborough, Geraldine McMullen, and Fred Cripps were fined $2 and $1 costs.

Young Airman Is Acquitted

Clinton Crowe, of the Royal Canadian Air Force headquarters, Ottawa, was found not guilty by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court Tuesday afternoon on a charge of reckless driving arising out of a traffic accident on Highway 7, three miles west of Norwood in which the airman's car and two milk transport trucks were involved.

At the afternoon session of the court W. B. Gordon, defence counsel, called to the witness box two young men who had been passengers in Crowe's car on the night of the accident and they corroborated the driver's version of the accident, declaring that they had not seen the flares and that they were dazzled when the lights of the truck suddenly came on full.

In giving judgment Magistrate Langley said that although the defence witnesses frankly admitted that they had some beer to drink some hours before the accident, he had been impressed by their story of what had happened and he had no hesitation in accepting it.

"The drivers of the milk trucks were guilty of gross negligence," said His Worship, "in being on the wrong side of the road and not protecting themselves properly. If those flares had been placed as recommended by the Highway Traffic Act there would have been no accident. But in the position in which they were placed they were no protection at all and the trucks on the wrong side of the road and without the safe-guard of properly placed flares were a danger all the time they were there."

Magistrate Langley said that the only question of reckless driving on the part of the accused concerned the speed at which he was travelling and added that he did not think Crowe had been driving at a rate to constitute reckless driving within the meaning of the code.

London, April 15 (CP)

GERMANY has sent hundreds of new planes into action over the eastern front in an effort to wrest air supremacy from the Russians and blast a path for a ground offensive, Russian dispatches reported tonight.

Pravada, the Moscow Communist newspaper, asserted that the German air effort was doomed to failure because the attackers were being shot down at a ratio of seven to one in favor of the defenders.

German ground transport was said to have been so disrupted by bad weather and guerilla attacks that the German air force had been called on to supply and reinforce advanced tropps.

Japs Within 30 Miles Of Burma Oil

Infiltration Tactics Pierce U.K. Lines; Chinese Hard-Pressed

NEW DELHI, India, April 15 — (CP). — Despite fierce fighting along the entire Burmese Front, the British, Indian, and Chinese troops have been forced to fall back before the relentless pounding of the Japanese who now are within 30 miles of the Burma oil area British Headquarters announced to-day.

The Japanese have occupied the town of Migyaungye, on the Irrawaddy River, 30 miles from the oil area.

The hard-fighting Chinese were forced to give ground on the Sittang River front, the communique said.

"It was reported from the Chinese Expeditionary Force Field Headquarters that Chinese forces on the southern front have withdrawn to Myohla, a few miles north of the Swa, fighting strong delaying action all the way," the communique said in describing that action.

In one area— the Taungdwingyi section about 45 miles south-east of Migyanugye and between the Irrawaddy and Sittang fronts—the British commanders said they are holding their positions "in spite of repeated air and ground attacks."

Use Malaya Tactics.

The Japanese, resorting to their infiltration tactics used so successfully in Malaya, succeeded in pushing small parties around British positions on the Taungdwingyi front "with the object of interfering with our lines of communication," the communique declared.

"They are now being engaged by our reserves," the British communique said.

The British declared that the Japanese had bombed a town in North-east Burma and another in Central Burma with heavy civilian casualties.

Three main Japanese forces are pushing northward in Burma— up the Irrawaddy front, in the Taungdwingyi area, and up the Sittang River front toward Mandalay.

On the east, the Chinese forces were said to have withdrawn to the north of the town of Yedashe, about 20 miles above Toungoo, to avoid a threatened envelopment of their left flank by Japanese forces crossing the Swa River.

effected but Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been working steadily on war planes with Australian chiefs pending assumption of his command, a headquarters spokesman declared today.

In reply to questions at a press conference, the spokesman explained that Gen. MacArthur at present is in command of the United States forces in the Orient, as he has been since last July.

"The only change is that the General's headquarters were removed from the Philippines to Australia," the spokesman said. "Discussions have taken place in Washington but no decision has been received here."

The headquarters spokesman said Gen. MacArthur has been in constant consultation with Australian government leaders from whom, he said, he received the closest co-operation.

Under the heading "Is General MacArthur In Fact Supreme Commander in the Southwest Pacific?" the Melbourne Herald questions whether his powers are not less than his title suggests if New Zealand is not within his sphere.

The newspaper believed that doubt would persist until the general's authority was defined.

Fear Of Over-Production On Farm After War Is Slowing Up Farmers' Effort Miss MacPhail Says

CAMPBELLFORD, April 15 (ENS) Fear that over-production on the farm will have the same devastating effect after this war as it did after the last great war is slowing up the effort of Canadian farmers today Agnes MacPhail, ex-M.P. for South Grey, told an open meeting of the Federation of Agriculture held in the Masonic Temple here on Tuesday evening. The former U.F.O. member, who for nearly twenty years sat in the House of Commons as a champion of the farmer, was the chief speaker at the meeting arranged by the Federation which has scheduled a series of gatherings in the County in an effort to expand its membership and acquaint the rural dweller with its policies.

Tempering some hard boiled facts with her ready wit, Miss MacPhail, who is currently representing the farm women of Ontario on the executive of the Federation of Agriculture, began her remarks by issuing a warning to the organization not to identify itself with any political party. She was of the opinion the Federation had so far accomplished one very important thing—convincing the public that agriculture is in a serious condition. "Anyone who thinks or reads, should know that from the end of the last war and with the exception of the period from 1924-29, there were bad times, very bad, for the farmer." She jibed the powers that be, which so quickly hit upon the idea of a price ceiling last year adding "what we needed in 1931 was a floor and nobody thought of it."

Proof Something Wrong

Pointing to the continued hard times suffered by the farmer the speaker declared, "Anyone can stand a tough year once in a while . . . but during the period from 1930 to 1941 agriculture yielded not quite ten per cent of the national income." The farmers had made capital expenditures in 1929 and subsequently had to scrape together every dollar he owned—selling woodlots and cattle unprofitably, in a desperate effort to pay taxes. Citing the figures given by William Goodfellow, a preceeding speaker, who had revealed the male population of Brighton township was down 20 per cent in the past five years, Miss MacPhail declared this was definite proof there was something wrong, "people don't just run away from an industry." "Scores of young men have told me they would like to live on the farm but 'there's no future in it'."

A tremendous amount of land has been taken out of cultivation since the war began as more and more have turned to war industries where they could make more money, leaving a father too old to carry on alone.

At the end of the last war the government, which had pleaded throughout for greater and greater production, did nothing to take care of those surpluses brought about by increased production and it is the fear that the same thing will happen again that is slowing up the farmer's war effort. Admitting that it might not be an entirely patriotic attitude the speaker announced, "Now is the time for the farmers to make a bargain with the government. They will make a bargain now that they wouldn't look at after," she asserted, directing attention to the fact that trade agreements made by both Australia and New Zealand were to be renewed at the prevailing prices for one year following the war.

Of W.P.T.B. man Donald Gordon's advice that Western farmers should go into hogs and dairying, the speaker felt this would be a great disaster for the Ontario farmer. Miss MacPhail, however, saw some hope for farm surpluses after the war since this continent will probably be called upon to feed the starving millions in Europe for several years.

Some Suggestions

Turning to concrete suggestions for the Federation the speaker saw the surplus food stamps adopted by the U. S. Government and given old age pensioners, reliefers, etc., with which they could obtain through the Farm Marketing Board foods listed currently as "surplus", as one plan that might be adipted here.

Although the foundation for the Federation of Agriculture was laid at a meeting held in Toronto attended by about 90 men in 1935, there was great difficulty in selling the idea to farmers and not till 1941 did they begin to rush to join and now approximately 350,000 of Canada's 700,000 farmers are members of the Federation.

"There was a new ring in the farmer's voices when they met Agriculture Minister James Gardner at the London Conference." According to Miss MacPhail the Minister arrived at London armed with facts the figures for the farms but he got an earful himself and not long afterwards "the bonuses came like an epidemic of measles on cheese, eggs, hogs, freight, and fertilizer. He may deny it, but Mr. Gardner saw the light in London."

The one great object if the Federation is to establish parity prices and with this point the speaker said it is rather hard to interest the women "until you can get them to see that it means getting Johnny's tonsils out when he needs them out and giving Mary piano lessons or providing that new piece of linoleum. It won't make millionaries but it does mean better prices. You've got to get the women in this," emphasized Miss MacPhail.

The speaker then reviewed the work of one or two of the more active Federation groups and said it was having the effect of stirring up the common people to solve their own problems.

"I believe the only way we can put democracy into operation is through cooperation." Centralization has resulted in the old private merchant retiring from the picture while the manufacturer - retailer chain crowds him out. The only way to put democracy over is to build up through wholesale and retail cooperative establishments and this will bring about a new social order without revolution.

At the conclusion of her address, District Dairy Instructor J. A. Murray moved a vote of thanks which was seconded by Harold B. Wood of Trent River. Charles Quinn, County Federation president, was chairman of the evening and he called on Mayor F. F. Long to introduce the speaker.

E. R. Long of the Farm Service Force, Toronto, outlined the work being done to provide additional help for the farmer during the coming summer and said the branch was

United Church Y.P.S. Plans Joint Meeting

HASTINGS, April 15.—(ENS)—Plans were completed Monday night at the regular meeting of Trinity United Church Y.P.S. for a joint meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian and St. George's Anglican Young People's Societies to be staged Monday, April 27. Trinity Y.P.S. will act as hosts for this their final meeting during the present season.

Those appointed on the committee to look after general arrangements and the lunch for the joint gathering are: Mrs. E. C. Oliver, Dorothy Scriver, Marjorie Scriver and Doreen Fleming. On motions of Rev. J. E. Glover and Clifford Beamish the Y.P.S. decided to purchase two War Savings Certificates.

Mr. Glover reviewed a portion of the book, "Stars in the Sky." The study book was discussed by Mrs. Grant Sine. Readings were delivered by Ronald Warner and Mrs. C. Oliver. Miss Betty Campbell played a pleasing piano solo.

No meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Y.P.S. was held Monday night as many of the members were busy preparing for the play "Tempest and Sunshine," to be staged under the auspices of that society Friday, April 24.

99 Years Old

Mrs. J. B. Johnson, who celebrated her 99th birthday here on Tuesday. She hopes to live till the United Nations have won the war.

Campbellford's Oldest Citizen Celebrates Her 99th Birthday

CAMPBELLFORD, April 15 (ENS)—This town's oldest citizen, Mrs. J. B. Johnson celebrated her 99th birthday at her home on Rear street Tuesday afternoon. She was a daughter of pioneer parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Callaghan, of Marysville, Ont., and she was born on April 14, 1843. As a young girl she went to the United States and there married J. B. Johnson, a railroad man, who was a veteran of the Civil war. They were married at Lockport, N.Y., on April 7, 1867 and they subsequently lived in various American cities prior to coming to Canada fifty years ago. On arriving here they lived for three years in Belleville and then moved to this town.

Father Lived To Be 99

Mrs. Johnson comes from a family which is noted for longevity and thus feels that her many years of life are for that reason not unusual. Her father lived to the age of 99 and she has always had good health and was quite able to look after herself and get around the house until she suffered a fall two years ago on her 97th birthday. Though she is now confined to her room a good deal of the time Mrs. Johnson has by no means lost touch with the world outside and she follows the day to day bulletins of the war given to her by her niece, Miss M. Callaghan, who lives with her. Evidence of her deep concern for the war is seen in her chief reason for being spared a little longer. She has said several times that she would like to live to see the day when the United Nations have been victorious.

A devout Catholic and member of the Catholic Women's League, although she has been unable to attend for several years, Mrs. Johnson still takes an interest in its activities. A brother of Mrs. Johnson, Mort Callaghan is 84 years old and lives in Western Canada while her only sister, Mrs. James Farrell is a neighbor on the same street in this town and in February she and her husband celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary.

Presentation Made To Pt. Hope Couple

PORT HOPE, April 15.—(ENS)—On Monday evening, April 13, a few close friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bryon Meyers, 96 John street, to wish them farewell in leaving Port Hope after many years' residence here.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyers were presented with a table by their friends and will shortly take up residence in Lindsay.

Fireside Meeting Is Very Popular

PORT HOPE, April 15.—(ENS)—The Baptist Young People's Society held a most interesting fireside meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Van Everdingen, on Sunday evening. This meeting takes place on Sunday night once a month instead of the regular Monday night service and was in charge of Miss Dorothy Ough.

Mrs. W. Elmsley gave a most interesting talk on "Sandy" a Scotch parishioner taken from Rev. Frank Borehan's book, "The Other Side of the Hill."

The young people enjoyed a Bible quiz which was arranged by Mrs. Edward Hazell. Mrs. McKechnie gave a piano solo which was followed by a general sing song and refreshments.

Campbellford Boy Hurt In England

CAMPBELLFORD, April 15 (ENS)—Word has just been received here that Gunner Lloyd Petherick has been seriously injured in an accident during a black-out in England. Lloyd is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Petherick of this town and he went overseas early in 1940. He enlisted with the 14th Field Battery at Cobourg and was on duty as a dispatch rider at the time of the accident according to the information received by his parents.

SUNLIGHT'S
"EXTRA-SOAPINESS"
for the extra dirty parts

CLOTHES get badly soiled in the same difficult places week after week. Any soap—flakes, powders, or bar—will remove the ordinary dirt. But you need Sunlight's "extra-soapiness" for those special places where the dirt sticks tightly. The reason is that Sunlight Soap is exactly suited for giving an extra soaping to the very dirty spots. Its wonderful "extra-soapiness" allows you to get right on to the real dirt at once—and without hard rubbing.

Just apply Sunlight lightly—scarcely more than a mere touch—and you leave a film of soap right in contact with the dirt. As the clothes are washed this soapy film lathers instantly into rich suds that speedily loosen the dirt and remove it entirely. That's the Sunlight method of washing—a positively sure way of getting your clothes spotlessly clean all over with perfect safety. You don't have to scrub a bit.

You'll find house cleaning, the weekly and the day-to-day washing, all the easier when you have Sunlight's "extra-soapiness" to help you. And you'll save money as well, for Sunlight's purity safeguards the finest and most delicate materials—protects your hands, too.

You can't do without

Lack Of Realism In India

Yesterday we described the breakdown of negotiations between Sir Stafford Cripps and the leaders of the Indian peoples as a failure, and we are convinced that this is the right word. It was far from being an inglorious failure, however, and Britain has emerged from the discussions with enormously increased prestige. The last words of Sir Stafford Cripps to the Indian people express, we think, all that is best in the British attitude toward India, and all that has made possible a reasonable working arrangement between the Indian peoples and their conqueror for a century. He said:

> "The discussions are over. They will slip back into history and they will leave their impress, a good, clear and healthy impress which will influence the future. But the present and future press upon us and must be faced.
> "We have tried our best to agree. We have failed. Never mind whose fault it is. Let me take all the blame if that will help in uniting India for her own defence.
> "Great Britain will do her utmost."

It is this spirit which is, in a way, responsible for the breakdown of negotiations, for it expresses a liberal attitude toward a conquered people which has been unknown in this world since the best days of the Roman Empire. Britain has, it is true, held India as a subject state, but she has also given the Indians a large measure of freedom and as much education as they could absorb. The Indian leaders are, in the main, men who have been educated in England, and many of them at Oxford and Cambridge, those two fountains of humanism and freedom; the number of Indians who have learned to abuse the British Raj in the debating halls of those two universities is phenomenal. The Indians have not had freedom to rule themselves, but they have had freedom to complain, freedom to preach their various doctrines of salvation for India, and freedom to do as much for themselves, under British rule, as they wished. Understandably, they resent a conqueror, but surely they have sense enough to distinguish between a reasonably indulgent conqueror and a tyrannous one? Surely they realize that they will have no freedom at all under the Axis? Surely they realize that, although the British may put Mohandas Ghandi in prison now and again, the Axis would kill him out of hand? No, they do not seem to realize these things; they are tragically unrealistic about the whole business.

Nor, for all their talk of liberty and self-government, do they seem to know what those words mean. The final breakdown in negotiations was caused by demands that the Constitution be altered and a national government established which would have held very wide powers without responsibility either to the people or to the British Government. From an Indian point of view this is understandable, for India is caste-ridden, and responsibility toward persons of a lower caste is an unfamiliar and unpleasing idea. But Britain cannot leave India stranded with a system which guarantees liberty only to a part of the population.

If we are lucky these Indian negotiations may be re-opened and pursued through their many intricacies in a few years. Meanwhile it is impossible not to be exasperated by the lack of realism shown by India's leaders. Britain has shown her good faith and, in the words of Winston Churchill in his commendation of Sir Stafford Cripps, "the foundations have been laid for the future progress of the peoples of India." Let us hope that the future referred to is near, and that it will not be separated from the present by a disagreeable interlude under a new and considerably less well-intentioned conqueror.

The Vagaries Of Vichy

The news that a new cabinet including Pierre Laval and Admiral Darlan has been formed at Vichy under Marshal Petain is interesting but certainly not unexpected. The Nazis have taken no pains to conceal their dismay and displeasure at the conduct of the Riom trials; they are more anxious than ever to have the French fleet for use in the Mediterranean, and they are nervous of an Allied attack on France. Vichy has tried to please everyone and has not succeeded in pleasing anyone; hence the reorganibzed government with France's arch-collaborator prominently placed in it. We may regard this as a diplomatic defeat for the Allies, who have been trying to woo Vichy subtly for several months through the State Department in Washington, but we may also take it as evidence that the Nazis are rattled by the stubbornly non-co-operative spirit of the French people. Although Vichy does its poor best to reconcile France to her new master the French people are unimpressed, and the exploits of the R.A.F. have increased French admiration for the Allies and have raised hopes of an Allied victory.

Germany is thoroughly occupied in Russia, and is forced to devote more and more of her available strength to that battlefields; she dare not risk an attack from the rear striking at her through France, aided by a sympathetic French people. Therefore she must have a government at Vichy more in accord with her plans. Laval is the cleverest of French Nazis, and perhaps Germany hopes that he may be able to persuade France that her best interests lie with her conqueror; this seems a large order, but Laval is a brilliantly persuasive man.

The anticipated change at Vichy has now come about, and the developments from it should be interesting. On the surface it seems to be all in favor of Germany, but an examination of the causes for the change alters that superficial view. Germany is worried about France and wants to strengthen the Nazi grasp upon her; if we have any luck at all in the next few months the move should prove fruitless.

Hurt Feelings

Doubless many of our readers are following the great newspaper libel action now being tried in Toronto with the same breathless interest as ourselves. When the Daily Star and the Globe and Mail mix it up in a courtroom, with $100,000 as the purse, we are reminded of nothing so much as the fight between the prehistoric monsters in the old silent film of The Lost World. It is possible however, that some spectators may not be fully informed of the circumstances which led to the action, for they took place more than a year ago, at a time when there was even more important news in the papers.

It has become clear over a period of years that the Globe and Mail finds itself out of sympathy with Canada's Prime Minister, the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, and sometimes it forces itself (doubtless by a mighty effort of will) to criticize his actions; the Star, on the other hand, likes Mr. King and his policies, and says nice things about him when it can, which is fairly often. In March, 1941, the Globe and Mail accused Mr. King of preventing the Public Accounts Committee from having free access to some accounts of Government expenditure; such a charge was not one which could be passed over, and Mr. King denied it emphatically in the House; thereupon the Star wrote an editorial in which it called the Globe and Mail a "rumor factory."

There was a time when newspapers were not abnormally sensitive to criticism. Indeed, there was nothing which they could not call each other, and no crime was too black, no hypocrisy too mean, to be imputed to a contemporary. But those hairy-chested days have gone; newspapers nowadays are schoolgirl complexion all over. Unable to stomach the accusation of being a rumor factory the Globe and Mail published an editorial headed "Journalism of the Gutter," in which it spoke in these uncharitable terms of its accuser:

> "The Toronto Daily Star of all papers in Canada has undertaken to lecture the Globe and Mail and the Montreal Gazette on newspaper morals. This slavish party organ with a reputation of violating every known cod of newspaper ethics and all other ethics to gain its ends, which colors its news to suit it aims, is a strange creature to pretend to principles of honest journalism. For months it has been trying to get a provincial premier by methods no self-respecting journal would countenance. It puts on a face of sanctity, filling its columns with benevolent platitudes and observing the opposite in practice. Fooling the public is its chief vocation because it finds thas this pays in mass circulation and circulation and full coffers are all it cares about. Does the Star think its racket pulls the wool over the eyes of thinking people? Honest journalism! It doesn't know the meaning of the word."

As a result of this exchange of pleasantries the Star is now suing the Globe for libel, and it estimates that its feelings and its reputation have been hurt $100,000 worth. There was a time, not so long ago, when Canadian editors simply exchanged a few shots in the street or in a bar-room over matters like this, and parted friends; we hope that an appeal to law marks a milestone in the progress of civilization, but we are not entirely sure of it.

Food For Men In Prison Camps

Every week the Canadian Red Cross arranges for the shipment of approximately 10,000 packages of food to prisoners of war held in Axis prison camps; these packages weigh about eleven pounds each and contain chocolate, condensed milk, tinned butter, tea, sardines, biscuits, pressed meat, raisins, salmon, jam or marmalade, sugar, salt, cheese, prunes and soap; the cost of this work is about $25,000 weekly. The number of packages varies greatly from time to time, and during 1941, 691,000 parcels altogether were sent. These were distributed among 714 camps through the agency of the International Red Cross which has its headquarters at Geneva in Switzerland.

This is a great and necessary humanitarian work. Under the terms of the Geneva Convention, which governs the treatment of war prisoners, the enemy is bound to provide its captives with the same sort of food and shelter as its own troops of similar rank. The enemy claim that they provide only 1,000 calories a day for their troops, which is probably untrue, for 2,500 calories a day is a very modest allowance for grown men. The Red Cross parcels help to make up the difference, and they also provide the men with food which is recognizable as such, for the Geneva Convention is scarcely able to control the quality of Axis cooking. It also assures the men that they are not forgotten and unappreciated by their countrymen; life in a prison camp is deadly at best, and reminders of better days mean more to prisoners than we can possibly imagine. A card acknowledging its receipt is included in each parcel, and it is by the return of these that the International Red Cross is able to assure itself that the food is not being diverted to unworthy sources.

At present most of these parcels are going to Australian and New Zealand troops and the governments of those countries pay a little more than three-fifths of the total cost. The rest is paid from the funds of the Canadian Red Cross Society, and that is why we are bringing these facts to your attention. When the Red Cross makes its annual appeal please think of the weekly parcels sent from this country to the prisoners of war, and of what they mean as food to hungry men, and as reminders of countries where food is plentiful and good. We hardly know our luck in this country where we have suffered no appreciable deprivations of food; let us be mindful of those who go hungry and hopeless unless we do something practical about it.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Police in Toronto have seized and sealed 245 gallons of home-made wine. Under the gasoline regulations, we suppose.

Keen gardeners are already buying large quantities of seeds. Apparently the war has not altogether stopped the pleasant habit of feeding wild birds.

"Peace Feelers Are Made By Nazi Banker In Sweden" says a headline. Those Nazi feelers have a nasty way of becoming nippers.

These are days when we must all be careful in our use of words. For instance, don't confuse "salvage" with "garbage."

Hanging has replaced imprisonment as a punishment for food-hoarding in Germany. But the victim does a stretch in either case.

Canada is to have a new issue of stamps showing the part she is playing in this war. For purposes of symbolism we suggest that a glue with more sticking power be used than that which is now employed.

The Brantford Expositor expostulates against talk of a "second" front, saying: "There is one front in Russia, another on the Atlantic, a third on the Pacific, still another in China, one in Burma, and one in Libya, to mention a few. What do people mean when they talk of a 'second' front?"

Some people are taking great comfort from some words which Hitler wrote in Mein Kampf years ago. They are to the effect that Britain always carries on to victory in any struggle she enters, however hard the path may be. That is all very well, but testimonials from Hitler are the last thing we want just now.

NO TRUCE WITH TIME

Time will tire of you some day,
Tire of keeping your body young,
Your spirit strong. No use to pray;
Time will tire of you some day.

The heart that has so often hung
On gossamer threads of hope will fail,
The hands that to illusions clung
Will drop, of all desire wrung.

Soon it will be of no avail
To plan, to wish, to hope, to wait.
Human life is thin and frail,
And Time becomes a powerful gale.

Oh, heed Fate's warning! cultivate
Wisdom and strength while yet you may.
Soon it will be too late, too late,
Time will tire of you some day.

In Praise Of Walking Sticks

Christian Science Monitor

NEARLY all genuine country walkers carry sticks. I'm certain that I could not be content to go far afield without my ever-ready and untiring "third leg"; and each spring I count the gathering of a new sheaf of sticks as one of my most pleasurable adventures. With knife freshly sharpened, I enter the tract of growing sticks and cut at least a dozen specimens. Hickory and hard maple wood I choose; and about half of these are for my own use through the coming twelve months, the others being for visiting friends who will be my companions on long walks.

In average country, the finding of a perfect walking stick is not so easy as one would imagine. It must be straight except at the top, and it must be neither too thick nor too thin: for a thick stick is too heavy and a thin one is too weak to bear the demands made upon it. Somewhere in his Journal, Thoreau describes a long hunt that he made to find a perfect stick. I, too, have spent many an hour pecking like a Robin Hood through green nooks, searching carefully for the sapling exactly suited to my need. However, where a forest has been cut down and thousands of seedlings are springing up in its place, there is little difficulty in finding dozens of perfect sticks. The untenanted land that starts half-a-mile behind my house answers to my description.

◆ ◆ ◆

I DO NOT peel my sticks, for peeled ones soon look soiled unless they are carefully dried and varnished; and such a procedure is too elaborate for my disposition. I trim my sticks carefully as soon as I find them, then bring them home and, tying an individual string at the small end of each, hang them from the ceiling in the darkest, coolest room of the house. This minimum of care is important; otherwise, the sticks may warp badly while they are drying. In about a month, I take them down, for they are then ready to use. Nothing fancy here to look at, of course, yet each one has all the qualities of a good walking stick — each is ready for a year of varied country adventures!

ONLY a habitual walker can know the various uses to which a walking stick may be put. Next to its distinct asset as a walking aid, whether on level or on hilly land, it is appreciated simply for the company it gives to the unoccupied hand. A stick is that which one may swing for the mere pleasure of it; it is something to dabble with, something to nudge the earth with. It is something that may be pointed at a star by night, or at a butterfly by day.

More earnest walkers, however, may carry their sticks for more practical reasons. I use mine for probing springs, rivers, or woodchuck holes, or snowy ditches which I am about to jump over. In the autumn, I reach up with it "reach down" many a luscious apple from an apple tree. With it I press aside briers, burrs, and nettles that may bar my path. I am able to tell if a tree is hollow by the sound my stick makes when striking it. My stick is a drain-opener by spring; a leaf-raker by fall. It makes a good bonfire poker; in the garden, I often use it for a stake on which to tie a marking-line. Or I may use it to make holes for the beans and peas which I am planting.

Its uses are indeed endless; and, when I see a walker starting off without one, I want to cry out: "Wait, my friend; where's your walking stick?" Being such an insignificant-looking article, uninitiated people are apt to neglect using it; but, as in life, so it is with walking sticks—the seemingly insignificant may quietly be able to swing, for better or worse, the balance of an era. And, now that our faltering cars are making walking popular again, let me strongly advise the uninitiated to get themselves good walking sticks. Let them thoroughly learn the gentle art of walking with a stick, and their joys will expand in nature. Let sticks be their measuring-rods for miles; and they will discover on every journey some new, unsuspected measuring-rod for depths of clear thought.

A Bible Message For Today . . .

Sixteen years old was Uzziah when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty and two years in Jerusalem. . . . And he sought God in the days of Zechariah, who had understanding in the visions of God: and as long as he sought the Lord, God made him to prosper . . . . And God helped him against the Philistines, and against the Arabians that dwelt in Gur-baal, and the Mehunims. And the Ammonites gave gifts to Uzziah: and his name spread abroad even to the entering in of Egypt; for he strengthened himself exceedingly. . . .

But when he was strong, his heart was lifted up to his destruction: for he transgressed against the Lord his God, and went into the temple of the Lord to burn incense upon the altar of incense. And Azariah the priest went in after him, and with him fourscore priests of the Lord, that were valiant men: and they withstood Uzziah the king, and said unto him, It appertaineth not unto thee, Uzziah, to burn incense unto the Lord, but to the priests of the sons of Aaron, that are consecrated to burn incense: go out of the sanctuary, for thou hast trespassed; neither shall it be for thine honour from the Lord.

Then Uzziah was wroth, and had a censer in his hand to burn incense: and while he was wroth with the priests, the leprosy even rose up in his forehead before the priests in the house of the Lord, from beside the incense altar. . . . And Uzziah the king was a leper unto the day of his death, and dwelt in a several house, being a leper; for he was cut off from the house of the Lord.—II Chron. xxvi, 3, 5, 7, 8, 16-19, 21.

◆ ◆ ◆

For ye see your calling, brethren, how that not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble, are called; but God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty; and base things of the world, and things which are despised, hath God chosen, yea, and things which are not, to bring to nought things that are: that no flesh should glory in his presence.—I Cor. i, 26-29.

• Hun Need French Labor

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, April 15—While the return to power of pro-Nazi Pierre Laval at Vichy constitutes a rebuff to the United Nations' cause, its scope may prove limited. It depends on just why Berlin forced the issue upon old Marshal Petain at this time.

Although some observers leap to the conclusion that Nazi hopes of obtaining France's still powerful fleet to implement Hitler's spring-summer offensive have been served, there are significant hints from European diplomatic listening posts that another German objective, of even greater immediate consequence, might be involved.

Nazi shortage of skilled craftsmen in war industries due to fresh army inroads on German manpower has been emphasized for weeks. Every account of Berlin-Vichy negotiations which led to Laval's restoration has touched upon the labor angle. Estimates of the skilled mechanics Hitler expects to recruit from Occupied as well as Unoccupied France to man his war factories run from 100,000 to 500,000.

MAY DIRECT DRIVE

It may be primarily to direct that German war labor conscription drive in France that Hitler has forced Laval on Petain. The nature of Laval's duties when officially disclosed should be revealing.

Laval, whatever his title, necessarily becomes again Vichy contactman with the Nazis to work out the new collaboration or co-operation formula, of which recruitment of French labor for German war factories in Germany, France or other Nazi-conquered countries may prove the main element. He would unquestionably require direct control of French police forces, as distinct from the army and navy.

NOT ALL LOST

Assuming that a labor shortage as well as army expansion difficulties due to losses in Russia are plaguing Hitler to the extent reported, the Vichy deal is not all loss to the Allies. It directly reflects growing Nazi manpower attrition both at the front and in war industries; that, too, at the time when the American war effort is only beginning to get into its stride.

It can be set down as a clear indication of a German manpower strain within distant sight of the breaking point if it is French war factory labor even more than the French fleet that Hitler now most covets. Should that prove to be the case, Petain's new surrender to his Nazi overlord would not be without compensating values to London and Washington. Time, and not much of it, will tell.

London advices indicate that Nazi apprehensions of an Anglo-American invasion thrust somewhere against the German-held continental coast were part of the background for the Vichy political coup. It is possible, but far from probable particularly while Anglo-French tension over the future role of the French battle fleet is so heightened.

To The Editor . . .

DEHYDRATED FOOD FOR BRITAIN

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—An item in the news points out that "between 15 and 20 bombers are daily winging their way across the Atlantic."

This was mighty fine news, and bodes ill for the brutal aggressors in Europe and elsewhere?

The added feature which appealed to this farmer was that "the planes are loaded with spare parts, vital chemical and medical supplies, and food." With the developments of dehydration and drying of foods for shipment to the valiant folks in the North Sea, this steady stream of aerial ships "dropping down with costly bales" on British airfields, should be of increasing assistance, in making a valued contribution toward making up the temporary shipping shortages? I have often wondered, for example, in view of the fact that one ton of dehydrated food carries the nutritional equivalent of 7 tons of the same food in the raw state, if we are not making good use of that 4,000-ton "Surcouf" submarine, flying the Free French flag? It seems to me that getting 100,000 tons of dehydrated foods into U.K. ports in a year, without need of, or benefit of, convoy escort, would be excellent service by this single undersea giant.

"Food" eats up ship-tonnage in hearty style, according to the April letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, which points out that "Canada shipped more than 300 million bushels of wheat and 7 million barrels of flour to the United Kingdom alone in the first two years of the war, as well as 1,830 million pounds of other food products. . . ."

Working out the above data on a poundage basis seems to this reader to give a revealing picture of this "food" traffic generally but, particularly of the vast wheat-and-flour tonnage movement:

Other food products, 1,830,000,000 lbs.;

Wheat and Flour shipments, 19,800,000,000 lbs.

It may interest the statistically-minded reader to learn that it would take just four hundred years to get that food-tonnage across to Britain, by the use of 15 planes each loaded with 10,000 lbs., and arriving every morning—yes, I said "every morning," between April 10, 1942 and April 10, 2340.

"FARMER."

RATIONED RELIGION

THERE is a little girl who, during the recent snows, could not reach the church she usually attends. So her mother took her to another, of a different denomination, but nearer. Soon after the service had started, the small girl, observing certain items of procedure which seemed a little strange, whispered:

"Mummy, are we registered here?"

THE DREAMER OF CAPRI

HAVING frequently taken a great deal of pleasure in quoting the thoughtful prose of Signor Gayda, I feel it is only fair that I should remove certain misapprehensions about him. He is often described as Mussolini's Mouthpiece. What evidence is there that Il Duce, noisy hero of so many Balcony Scenes, has need of any such instrument?

Gayda is actually the mouthpiece of the Italian Press. All over Italy, Fascist journalists are writing articles and editorials. But they write, as we may well imagine, in a state of hot Latin temper, fed by Southern volubility, fanned by fanaticism, and distorted by acute spasms of doubt. The result is, almost always, a loud roar of incoherence which does not lend itself to effective quotation abroad.

But Signor Gayda writes on the isle of Capri, far from the madding crowd, and telephones his editorial each night. There is evidently something in the romantic atmosphere of Capri which inspires the prolific Signor. Whatever fears may afflict the writers of Rome, from Capri it always looks as though Italy is winning.—Yorkshire Post.

FREEDOM

They did not seek for a political leader or a military comander who would help them to enjoy a comfortable serviture. They did not think it worth while even to live, if they could not do so with freedom.

German Tank To Roll No More

Rendered useless this German tank is pictured with its turret turned upside down, proving the effectiveness of British guns. Many such tanks and guns were destroyed by the British during the Libyan campaign.

Over 25 p.c. Scout Leaders Enlist

OTTAWA, April 15—(CP). — Enlistment of Boy Scout leaders in the armed forces resulted in a slight drop in Boy Scout membership in 1941, said the annual report of the executive committee prepared for presentation at the annual meeting of the Canadian General Council of the Boy Scouts Association in Ottawa today.

More than 25 per cent of the leaders have enlisted and more than 50 per cent of the Scouts volunteer as they become 18 years of age, it was reported. During the year 63 members of the association died on active service.

Total membership of all ranks on Oct. 31, 1941, was 91,334, a decrease of approximately six per cent from the previous year.

The Boy Scouts of Toronto and the surrounding district collected some 80,000 cans of food later sent by the Red Cross to Britain for distribution. The "B-P Chins Up Fund" for British Scout war sufferers, which originated in Toronto, was extended to a national effort and is meeting with great success, the report said.

Musso A Wreck

LONDON, April 15 (C)

A SPECIAL correspondent of the Daily Mail on the Italian frontier cabled today that Mussolini was found in a state of "complete prostration" when examined by a specialist.

The dispatch said: "During the interview Il Duce sobbed bitterly, then burst into hysterical laughter. The specialist said Mussolini had lost all control of himself and no longer was able to manage his affairs as dictator of Italy, which now are reported in a chaotic condition."

Mounties Seize Bancroft Still

BANCROFT, April 15 — (ENS). —W. Beattie of the R.C.M.P. of Belleville and Provincial Constable S. W. Palmatter of Bancroft, conducting a search on the premises of William McGinn of Ormsby, sixteen miles south of Bancroft, Thursday night discovered and seized a complete still on McGinn's premises. McGinn was arrested later, being released on a $500 bail and will appear in Bancroft police court on April 21st.

Narrow Escape.

Pte. Leslie Ray of Bancroft, had a narrow escape from severe injury Friday night at Maynooth when he drove his car into the side of a train. Mr. Ray, accompanied by his wife and family, were returning from Petawawa and on driving through Maynooth about eleven-thirty that evening never thought about any train, and visibility being poor due to a heavy snow falling, struck the sixth box car from the engine of a train standing on the highway crossing. Luckily for the driver and his family that they were not driving fast at the time. The car was considerably damaged and later brought to Bancroft for repaiars. The occupants of the car were but slightly injured.

Soldier's Gift Soaked In Sea Water

MILLBROOK, April 14—(ENS).—Mrs. H. A. Earle entertained the Women's Institute for its April meeting, at her home, King street west, on Saturday, the attendance being gratifying, and the president, Mrs. E. V. Richards, occupying the chair.

The roll was answered with an article for the layette the society is preparing for the Red Cross, quite a number of dainty contributions being received.

The secretary, Mrs. J. W. Hilton, reported a donation of six dollars from the W.I. toward expenses of sending two girls to the conference at Kemptville, and so read a letter of thanks from Sgt. Earl Edworthy, overseas, for the box sent him at Christmas. Mrs. M. W. Ball reported that Ted Scott had also received parcel, but apparently the boat had been torpedoed for the cigarettes were "just a sodden mass of tobacco, and utterly unfit for use." It was decided to send Private Scott another lot of cigarettes in the immediate future.

Changes Listed

Other correespondence included a letter from Miss Mary A. Clarke,, general secretary, regarding changes in the Standing Committees; citizenship is a new caption, and under it are listed Canadianization, Legislation, Peace Education and International Relationships; Historical Research, remains the same; Home Economics is retained; Social Welfare is new, and under it are: Community Activities, relief, education, child welfare, also legislation if so desired; Publicity is new, also War Work.

A request from the secretary of the Oshawa Fair Board that the local branch plan an exhibit at their annual fair was given some consideration, the prize list being enclosed. Suggestions as to whether the local Institute would join with the others of East Durham in a district project, or would like a short course, with choice of such subjects as: Nutrition, to which every district and Institute is being urged to give special study "so we may use our food supply to build up physical and mental resistance to withstand the strain of war time, since the first duty of every citizen is the conservation of health"; Clothing; Home Crafts; Housing; and Health Education, were the subject of a letter from the Department.

Sugar for Navy

The matter of helping with the supply of maple syrup, and particularly maple sugar, for the Navy was also included in the correspondence, the letter being from the general secretary, F. Trimble. This matter will have to be looked into to see what can be done locally to help.

The treasurer, Mrs. Melville Ball, reported $11.20 from the afternoon tea and baking sale last week, with $1.80 in expenses; $2 rental from the L.O.B.S. for use of the piano in the Town Hall; and a balance of $26.75 in the bank. Also the fund for special objects is now $4.00 overpaid.

After discussion it was decided to purchase a new flag for the pole in front of the Town Hall, this action at the request of the municipal council, the size desired costing $8.85. The quilt donated by Mrs. John Allen Sr., charter member, had been completed, and was on display, tickets to be sold on same and proceeds devoted to Red Cross activities.

Mrs. Earle presented another top, and offered her home for the quilting of same. She will also donate the lining and Mrs. H. M. Trick the batting.

The hostess gave an excellent paper on "Health Education and Child Welfare," and after the National Anthem served a dainty lunch, assisted by Mrs. Ball.

Mrs. J. L. Byam invited the Institute for the May meeting, when the guest of honor will be the district president, Mrs. Ira Lowe. Mrs. Lowe was expected at Saturday's meeting but sent word she could not be present on account of the state of the roads.

Plan Formation CGIT For Girls

HAVELOCK, April 15—(ENS).—Soft Easter music was played by the pianist, Mrs. Harry Watson, prior to the opening of the Women's Missionary Society meeting on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. S. Clarke. The president, Mrs. George Chiles, opened the meeting with the theme "The Call of the Risen Christ to Youth." The opening hymn "Jesus Christ is risen To-day" was sung by Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson, with the members joining in the "Hallelujah" chorus. The Scripture lesson and response were read by Mrs. A. Anderson and Mrs. C. Price. The singing of the hymn "Jesus calls us o'er the tumult" closed the devotional period. During the business period final arrangements were made for the society's Easter thankoffering on Snuday evening, April 12, when the members met in the basement and proceeded in a body to the front pews of the church. The resignation of Mrs. Herbert Hoard as assistant Mission Band leader, owing to ill-health, was accepted with regret, and Mrs. Ray Moir was appointed to fill the vacancy. A Presbyterial missionary conference is to be held in George Street United Church, Peterborough, on Tuesday, April 21, and members are urged to attend if possible. The treasurer reported that $35.00 had been forwarded as part of our allocation. Miss Annie Young made a very earnest appeal on behalf of the temperance cause. The quilt blocks for the Victory autograph quilt were given out to the members, which were to be returned in September. Roll call was answered by all present with an Easter verse. A committee was appointed to try and get a C.G.I.T. group of girls formed in the church. The last half of the chapter on "Chinese People Rise" was capably dealt with by Mrs. Edward Fennell.

The offering was taken and dedicated, after which the hymn 'Jesus shall reign where'er the Sun," was sung, and the meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. John Kinnaird.

Berlin Claims 15

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), April 14—(AP) The German high command claimed today German submarines and planes had sunk 15 Allied merchant ships totalling 120,000 tons, two of them American vessels in a convoy returning from the Soviet port of Murmansk. (The reports lacked any Allied confirmation).

Submarines were said to have destroyed the American craft. One had been damaged previously in an aerial attack, a special communique said. They were reported to have totalled 12,200 tons.

United Church Ladies Meet At Young's Point

YOUNG'S POINT, April 15 (ENS) —On Thursday evening, April 9th, the Women's Associaton of the United Church held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Ed. Crapp with a fair attendance. The president, Mrs. Roy Kidd, opened the meeting with prayer and the Apostles' Creed was recited in unison.

The meetings will be held in the evening for the summer months. Mrs. Roy Kidd will entertain the ladies at her home on Thursday, May 14th, for the next meeting.

After various matters had been discussed and the meeting brought to a close the hostess served refreshments and a pleasant social time was spent.

On Thursday evening St. Aidan's church held a progressive euchre party in the Parish Hall. The attendance was small, only three tables being played, but a very jolly tim was enjoyed by everyone. Ladies first and second prizes were won by Mrs. Nicholson and Miss Helen Coones. Gents first and second by Larry Godfrey and Braden McNaughton and the door prize by Mrs. Earl Dixon.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

This screwiest of all Stanley Cup final series is enough to make the hockey experts hit for an air raid shelter. After being down three games on the series and fighting back to keep the round alive by a 4 to 3 win in Detroit Sunday night the Maple Leafs went out last night and made the Red Wings look like the Haliburton second team to win 9 goals to 3. You couldn't even dream up a score like that. The revamped Day crowd ran in seven straight goals before the dizzy Detroiters got a piece of the net at all. It was 2 to 0 at the end of the first period and in the second session the Leafs banged in five more counters with the Detroit defensive system so full of holes that it was merely a case of Mowers against the Toronto snipers. True Detroit came on in the final period to outscore the Leafs 3 to 2 but whether that means anything or not we are not prepared to say. Anyway you can do your own master-minding on that development. The Leafs were so far ahead before the Red Wings finally scored that the Toronto team was probably more or less coasting in that final session.

* * * * * *

Now the series stands Detroit 3 Toronto 2 and the Leafs who were down and almost out last week are in a position where they can take the Stanley Cup by winning two more games. In short they have half completed the apparently hopeless task of winning four games in a row against a club that had beaten them previously three times in succession. The payoff game is billed for Detroit tomorrow night. If the Red Wings, humbled as few teams have ever been in a final series last night, can snap back to their winning gait of last week the series will be over. If they fail the seventh game will be staged on Toronto ice and the Detroiters can kiss the mug good-bye. The shellacking the Red Wings received last night must have been a surprise even to the Leafs. While they were confident of a victory there was probably no one in the Toronto camp who imagined that Hap Day's team would win by any such margin. Certainly the way the Leafs played in the first three games of the series they couldn't have scored nine goals against the champions of the Mercantile League.

* * * * * *

Tomorrow night's game hinges on the ability of the Detroit team to come back to the form that has swept them through the playoffs. They were far below that standard last night. With the almost forgotten Don Metz leading the attack the Leafs were inside the Detroit blue line so often that Jack Adams would have been justified in collecting rent from them. Apparently no one but Mowers was doing much to stop the Leaf raiders and he was busier than a chiselling motorist who is trying to convince the fuel control authorities that he should have a preferred rating in regard to gasoline. Outside of the work of the goalie about the only Detroiter who earned any medals was the veteran Syd Howe who figured in all three of his team's goals, driving in one himself and assisting with the other two.

The Big Show Has Started

Outside of the fact that only one home team won in the eight games scheduled for the big leagues opening day yesterday the launching of the 1942 major league ball season was quite a success. Over 200,000 fans forgot the blue news from the war zones as all but a few thousand of them in Boston watched their favorites losing on the home front. Only the Boston Red Sox of the eight home clubs in action yesterday were able to send their patrons home happy. The Sox, getting good pitching from H. Newsome and power-house hitting from Ted Williams walloped the Philadelphia A's 8 to 3, with Phil Marchildon, Penetang's pride, taking a lacing. Apparently Williams is not going to let the fuss over his draft appeal affect his ball playing. All he did yesterday was to wallop a homer in the first inning with two runners on, come back later with two more hits and drive in a total of five runs.

* * * * * *

Outstanding pitching achievements of opening day in the American League were credited to veteran Red Ruffing of the Yanks and Muncrief of the St. Louis Browns, each of whom pitched a three hit shutout. Ruffing was on the rubber for the world champions and gave a grand performance as the Yanks won 7 to 0, getting ten hits off Hudson. Muncrief outpitched Rigney in a nice duel, the St. Louis Browns winning from the Chicago White Sox 3 to 0. Rigney held the St. Louis hitters to five safe blows but that achievement was not enough against the shutout twirling of his opponent. Outside of Williams' home run, Ken Keltner and rookie Fleming of the Cleveland Indians hit for the circuit as the Indians, making their American League debut against the Detroit Tigers, won 5 to 2, with Jim Bagby and Heving doing the twirling in the winning cause. Benton was the losing pitcher.

* * * * * *

In the National League them Brooklyn bums got away to a good start by invading the Polo Grounds and walloping Mel Ott's Giants, with Carl Hubbell the starting pitcher, 7 to 5. The Daffyness Boys kicked in with five errors but only one of the misplays did any harm. Curt Davis and Allen did the Brooklyn pitching and Peewee Reese hit a homer. So also did Johnny Mize for the Giants with a couple of customers on the cushions. Pittsburg Pirates defeated the Cincinnati Reds 4 to 2 with two Red errors robbing Buck Walters of a chance to win. Javery pitched steady ball for Boston as the Braves nosed out the Phillies 2 to 1. At St. Louis the Cards entertained the Chicago Cubs and were beaten 5 to 4 in spite of a homer by O'Dea.

* * * * * *

The Oshawa Generals, although installed as favorites to take the Canadian junior championship and the Memorial Cup ran into a really tough junior squad at Winnipeg last night when the Portage La Prairie Terriers stopped the Motor City team by 5 goals to 1 in the first game of the best-of-five final series. And at that the Terriers had to play without the services of their star wing player Joe Bell. In spite of that handicap, the Westerners played great hockey to hand up their 23rd straight victory. They outscored Oshawa 2 to 1 in the first period, added another in the second and after Ronnie Nelson finally registered for Oshawa early in the final session the Portage La Prairie kids were good enough to come back with two more counters to make their win very convincing. Jack McDonald, Portage winger was the big scoring star, performing the hat trick by rattling in a goal in every period. The Generals are a great money team and should not be counted out yet. They have a habit of bouncing back.

* * * * * *

Peterborough's biggest bowling league, the C.G.E. organization which held its annual banquet last night has become really big business. The league now comprises 44 teams, each of them carrying six players and another proof of the size of the organization is that $1,000 in prize money was distributed to the winning teams and to the individual high scorers. And One Grand, we might say in passing is not exactly hay. The loop with such enthusiasts as George Walton, Jack Wade, Sid Trowbdidge and Jack Playford at the helm is a well-managed organization and has probably done more to develop an esprit-de-corps in the big C.G.E. establishment than any other factor. This has probably been the most successful year in the history of the league.

* * * * * *

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Toronto's nine goal total last night was not a record. In fact it only equalled the mark set by the Red Wings themselves against the Leafs in 1936 when Detroit won 9 to 5....The National League outdrew the American loop in the opening games yesterday ....Ted Williams got the jump on his nearest rival Joe DiMaggio by poling three hits in four times at bat. DiMag only had one for five....Bobby Bauer may be back with the Ottawa Flyers for the third game of the Allan Cup series....Now it's the Red Wings' turn to complain that King Clancy's refereeing cost them the hall game....Montreal Oilers will meet Dalhousie University in the Eastern Canada senior basketball finals....Don Metz was the Toronto hero last night. Two weeks ago he wasn't even thought of as a possible starter in the big series....Bert Laprade will join the Port Arthur Bear Cats in time to get into the first game for the Allan Cup....The Leafs will have to take an army escort to Detroit with them tomorrow night....The atmosphere in the Olympia during the sixth game promises to be sizzling.

Promising Rookie

John Lindell, pitcher, New York Yanks...He is a six-foot four-inch righthander who won 23 games against but four losses for Newark last season...Hails from Greeley, Colo....He has been in the Yank chain for six years...Is a good hitter as well as being a good pitcher.

Picking Newsmen

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., April 15 —(AP)—The Rutgers University Department of Journalism, elevated today to the School of Journalism, five Associated Press reporters and editors among its 10 most distinguished alumni.

They are Clark Lee, now covering the war for AP member papers in Australia after his dramatic from Bataan; Samuel G. Blackman, Bay City editor of the New York Bureau; Rafael Ordorica, chief of the bureau of Buenos Aires; Henry W. Bagley, chief of bureau at Rio de Janeiro, and Robert Okin, a member of the New York city staff.

44 Teams Took Part In League Play

Featured by the distribution of $1,000 in prize money and an enthusiastic attendance of 225 the ninth annual banquet of the C.G.E. Bowling League in the Legion Hall Tuesday night, one of the most enjoyable in the history of the club, was a fitting climax to about the most successful year this big and flourishing organization has enjoyed.

Forty-four teams have competed during the season that has just closed and the extent to which the organization's activities have developed is shown by the fact that Secretary-treasurer George Walton announced last night that the league had paid $2,000 during the season for the use of the Duffus alleys.

The banquet was an informal and highly enjoyable function, with speeches cut to the minimum and the big business of the night was the presentation of prize money to the various section winners and to the individual prize winners, and the distribution of door prizes.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion catered for the affair and a most enjoyable dinner was efficiently served by the members of the Auxiliary.

President Jack Wade was in the chair for the program that followed which opened with a toast to the King.

In his brief opening address the president said that the banquet was the biggest gathering in the history of the C.G.E. Bowling League and for that he said the credit was not due to the officers or the committee but to the interest shown in the league by the individual members.

Secretary-Treasurer Walton presented the financial report to show a satisfactory financial season with a balance of $50 to the credit of the organization.

The only other speaker was Ald. R. S. Cotton who expressed the hope that the League would continue to thrive.

"I am probably the worst bowler in the organization," said Ald. Cotton, "but I have always had a lot of fun out of my connection with the League. I hope it will long continue for it is the greatest get-together that we have."

Ald. Cotton called upon the guests to stand for a minute in silence as a tribute to the Canadians who are serving in the army, the navy and the air force.

President Wade then took charge of the distribution of the prize money, with the following individual prizes being handed out first:

High average—Bud White, now in the Army, who had an average of 241.

High three games—Doug. Abraham, 896.

High single—R. Mongraw, 398.

After the prize money had been divided among the four winners in each of the six groups and the consolation series, $50 remaining was handed out in door prizes, ranging from $2 to $5 to the holders of the lucky tickets from the box. After this part of the program the bowlers wound up the night with a social hour or two.

No Arguments in This Foursome!

Papa Ray Best inquires of his well-known curling star son, Don, if he has the proper hold on the stone as the Best family takes time out during the recent Brereton-Raw mixed bonspiel in Toronto. Son Don is the skip of the Kirkland Lake rink that captured the Northern Ontario title. Mrs. Best Sr., is on the left. The other lady is Don's better half. The spiel was a sort of reunion for the Best family, the folks living in Peterboro and the youngsters making Kirkland Lake their home.

City League Final Thursday Night

City League bowlers are asked to be on hand at Duffus Alleys at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow night (Thursday) for the final games of this year's bowling schedule. The old excuse for late starting has been eliminated due to the fact that the C.G.E. League which had the first go on the alleys all winter has checked out for the year. The request for an on time start tomorow evening is made because at the conclusion of the games a meeting of all the teams will be held in the board room to clean up the season's business and distribute prizes.

Every match should be packed full of action. George Jay's champions can turn it on in a tune up for C.B.A. competition in Toronto against the second place Capitol Grill squad. A win for either team will make no difference in the standing as both outfits are firmly entrenched in first and second positions.

The jam around third and fourth places is the hot spot of the loop standing at present. Outlaws, Royal Yorks, Dunn's, Old Timers, Freeman's and Big Five have a chance to make the grade if lady luck is with them. Huffman's and Quakers may provide the upsets.

The schedule of tomorrow's games is as follows: Outlaws vs Old Timers, 7-8; Royal Yorks vs Big Five, 9-10; Quakers vs Freeman's, 11-12; Jay's vs Capitols, 13-14; Dunn's vs Huffman's, 15-16.

Nels Routley Hits High Score

Roy Lewis' Nashua Paper Company C.B.A. entry were defeated in a challenge match by the Old Timers City League team last night. The old boys rolled up around a 3700 score to which the veteran, Nelson Routley contributed an even 900 pins. He nailed a fine 366 single to start him on the way. Bill Lewis hit a 361 for the Nashua team.

Dempsey Lends a Hand

ST. PAUL, April 15 — (AP). — Assisting in a war-bond sale and an auction for the Red Cross at the annual dinner of the Twin Cities Newspaper Guild, Jack Dempsey helped 650 guests buy $56,000 worth of war bonds and stamps last night. Before the dinner, Dempsey said he had applied for enlistment in the United States coastguard and had been offered a lieutenant's commission.

HOW THEY LOOK IN THE MAJORS

JACK SORDS Sizes Up the Big League Teams

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Canadian Writer

NEW YORK, April 15—One would have to be brave to pick the Boston Braves for the first division this year. The Braves, it seems, always are confined to a deep spot in the second division and Manager Carey Stengel's charges appear destined for the same rut in 1942.

A glance at the records reveals that only three times in the last 25 years have the Braves managed to struggle out of the second division. In 1921, '33 and '34 the Boston club finished in fourth place. The best years, of course, were in 1914-15-16, when the team won the pennant and the world championship, finished second and finished third in order in those years.

Tobin May Go

Pitching, annually the downfall of the Braves, once again is a major problem. Of course, the Braves could use some .300 hitters and some flashy fielders, too.

And, according to some reports from the southland, the Braves might even lose their star hurler, Jim Tobin, or some other flinger, if a rumored trade with the Dodgers goes through. It is reported the Dodgers are in the market for a pitcher or two and have turned attention to the nearby Braves' camp at Sanford, Fla.

Tobin, former Pirate star, took part in 33 games with the Braves last year, winning 12 and losing the same number.

Alva Javery, who won 10 against 11 losses is the No. 2 star with Dick Errickson or Manuel Salvo the possible No. 3 choice. Errickson won but six games while losing 12 in 38 appearances on the mound last season. Tom Earley, Johnny Hutchings, Art Johnson and Frank Lamanna are the other Brave twirlers who have been around. Hutchings came to camp weighing 250 pounds, some of which he'll have to get rid of.

If the rookie pitching help, Willard Donovan won 17 for Evansville, Warren Spahn won 19 for the same team, Lou Tost won 13 for Hollywood and George Diehl won eight for Evansville. George Washburn, purchased conditionally from the Yanks, is around, as is Jim Hickey and Jimmy Wallace, both of whom belong to Hartford.

Catchers Are Good

Manager Stengel's catching staff is the best fortified position on the team. No less than five catchers are listed on the roster, headed by the slugging ex-Cincinnati star, Ernie Lombardi, who has been pounding the ball at an amazing pace in the training camp. Lombardi knocked 19 baseballs over the fence in one day's practice and is hitting 'em all hard. He has shed some of his excess weight and is in good condition.

Pressing Lombardi for the No. 1 catching job is the rookie, Clyde Kluttz, who belted the ball for a .336 average at Sacramento and who is a standout in the Sanford camp. Another rookie catcher is Johnny Stats, who played with Bridgeport last year. Regulars from last season are Ray Berres, who hit but .201, Phil Masi and Al Montgomery.

Tony Cuccinello, who has seen service with the Braves and Brooklyn, is back with the team after spending the season with Jersey City. He is expected to win an infield job. Eddie Miller is the shortstop, but Froilan Fernandez, who played short for San Francisco last year, hitting .327 in 177 games, is expected to win one birth because of his stickwork.

Cooney Ready Anywhere

Sibi Sisti, who played third last year, is the hot corner guardian. In field newcomers include Bill Heltzel, a shortstop from Bridgeport; Bill Wietelmann, another shortstop from Hartford and Johnny Dudra, with the club late last year.

In the outfield, the veteran Johnny Cooney, who hit .319 for the Braves in 123 games last year, Max West and Paul Waner are around. Reports from the south indicate that West, Outfielder Chet Ross and Lew Gremp will be tried for the first base job and, if found lacking, Cooney, who can help out most anywhere, will take over. Tommy Holmes, former Yankee chain member who hit .302 for Newark last season, may win an outfield job.

Only losses to the armed service in the Braves' camp were two regulars, Pitcher Bill Posdel and the infielder, Citronella Rowell.

Terriers Polish Generals 5-1 Grabbing Breaks

By MARSHALL BATEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

WINNIPEG, April 15 — (CP). — Portage La Prairie Terriers to-day are ahead 1-0 in the best-of-five series with Oshawa Generals for the Dominion junior hockey championship because they capitalized on the breaks and displayed more finish around the goal in a 5-1 victory here last night.

Backed by the outstanding performance of Gordie Bell in the Portage goal, the speedy Manitobans outskated the Eastern champions to take a 2-0 lead in the first period. scored with a man-advantage in the second. and added a pair of goals to Generals' lone counter in the blazing third session.

Generals, unfamiliar with the rink and playing under different climatic conditions. showed lack of timing on their passing plays and lack of finish around the goal.

"But that one is over," said Manager Matt Leyden while he and his players forecast the next game on Thursday night will be a different story.

Capt. Bill Mortimer, Oshawa defenceman, said his mates were playing below their usual form and Coach Charlie Conacher remarked: "It will be a good series before it's over....Our boys weren't going their best lick."

Terriers Slightly Faster.

Play throughout was close-checking and fast, with Terriers holding an edge on speed with ability to overtake Oshawa players on several clear breakaways. Generals, however, took two penalties in the third period. both by Mortimer.

Jack McDonald, husky six-foot right winger, punched home three goals for the winners, the others going to Lin Bend and Bob Love.

Goalkeeper Bell. turning aside 51 shots, most of them close-in drives, was beaten after six minutes in the third. A tricky passing play by Generals' first string of Ronnie Nelson, Buck Davies, and Ron Wilson finally clicked after many tries, Nelson scoring.

Generals dominated second period play, having 16 shots on Bell against only six made at Rube Weddell in the other goal during the first 15 minutes. Waddell turned aside 43 shots during the game.

Terriers played without Joe Bell. left winger of the first line, which includes Bend and Love. He is receiving treatment for an infected bladder.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, April 15 — (AP). — Judging by yesterday's crowds, the war hasn't made Americans forget about baseball ... Everybody was on hand except the president and, as a 10-year man, he's entitled to his unconditional release from first-ball throwing ... And, if you remember, back in 1918 President Wilson was too busy with a war to take time out for baseball so he turned over his studies to the assistant Secretary of the Navy, a gent named Franklin D. Rooevelt ...

Season's Greetings

Ted Williams, telling his side of it to Bill Cunningham for a magazine piece, says that he hears every boo, even if most of the crowd is cheering him ... That homer yesterday probably saved his ears a lot; and now all he has to do is hit .406 again ...

Wings Get Tough Penalties Cost Contest

By WILLIAM H. DUMSDAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 15.—(CP)—Product of one of the most daring experiments in hockey history—Toronto's rejuvenated Maple Leafs—today retained a chance of gaining the Stanely Cup for Coach Happy Day. the man who rebuilt the club in midstream of the world series.

With three of their stars benched in the shakeup which Day instigated in desperation, the Leafs walloped Detroit Red Wings 9-3 here last night. It was the second straight victory for the reorganized club in the best-of-seven series after the regular lineup dropped three in a row to the boisterous Wings. The sixth game is scheduled for Detroit Thursday night with the seventh here Saturday if necessary.

On the sidelines in the shuffle which started in Detroit last Sunday night when the Leafs gained their first victory were Gordie Drillon, ace right winger; Bucko McDonald, first-ranking defenceman and Left Winger Hank Goldup. In their places were two rookies, Gaye Stewart and Ernie Dickens, and the game's hero—Don Metz.

Used sparingly during the season and a spectator in the playoffs until last Sunday, Don Metz played the finest game of his career to score three of the Leafs' goals and help in two others. The young Saskatchewan farmer filled in for the great Drillon on a line with his brother Nick and Syl Apps.

Stewart For Goldup

Biggest surprise of Day's radical experiment was the injection into the lineup of 19-year-old Gaye Stewart in place of Goldup. A star with Toronto Marlboros juniors and seniors, Stewart turned pro late this season, being sent by the Leafs to Hershey Bears of the American League.

Detroit's chances of winning the Stanley Cup on Toronto ice vanished in the first period when they failed to play by the book and crowded the penalty box. They suffered five penalties to one for the Leafs in the first session and were shorthanded on both of Toronto's first two goals.

Gunning to overcome the Toronto lead they neglected defence in the second and the Leafs swarmed over them for five more goals. The Leafs took the worst of the penalties in the second but the Wings had lost their spirit and failed to take any advantage.

Apps counted two of the Leafs' total and made plays on three other goals to bring his playoffs point total to 13. Toronto's other marksmen were Nick Metz, Wally Stanowski, Bob Goldham and Dave Schriner.

The badly-beaten Wings staged a rally in the third period to outscore the Leafs three goals to two as both teams played wide-open hockey. Syd Howe potted the first Detroit goal and made the plays for markers recorded by Alex Motter and Carl Liscombe.

The Wings were directed from the bench by Coach Ebbie Goodfellow in the absence of Manager Jack Adams who was suspended indefinitely for striking Referee Mel Harwood in Detroit after Sunday's night's game. Adams sat in a box seat to watch his club flounder to defeat.

One Good Fist Battle

Feeling ran high throughout the game and the climax came in the third period when Bob Goldham, Toronto defenceman, and Don Grosso, exchanged punches at the boards and continued their feud in the penalty box. Besides majors for fighting the players received misconduct penalties, Goldham also being charged with a minor.

While Referee King Clancy was attempting to straighten matters out with the penalty time-keeper, a fight broke out in the crowd on the other side of the rink. A portion of a police squadron that stepped in to settled the Grosso-Goldham duel had to leave the penalty box to quiten the rumpus among the paid customers who numbered 15,076.

Lineups:

Detroit—Goal, Mowers; defence, Bush, J. Stewart; centre, Grosso; wings, Wares, Abel; subs, Orlando, Howe, Bruneteau, Liscombe, Carveth, J. Brown, McCreavy, Motter, A. Brown.

Toronto—Goal, Broda; defence, Kampman Stanowski; centre, Apps; wings, D. Metz, N. Metz; subs, Goldham, Dickens, Langelle,, McCreedy, Davdison, Taylor, Carr, Schriner, G. Stewart.

Officials—King Clancy, referee; Aurel Joliat, Archie Wilcox, linesmen.

Summary:

Dodgers, Yanks Win Openers

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer

Sports fans in the United States now have had their first taste of a tonic labelled "major league baseball, an antidote for war worries," and the dose given 190,775 persons in eight cities yesterday had an agreeable flavor.

The opening games were crammed with enough excitement to satisfy any thrill-hunting baseball bug and they heralded more interesting encounters to come.

New York Yankees functioned like a well-geared machine, but Boston, Cleveland and St. Louis also looked good in winning and Brooklyn Dodgers keynoted another topsy-turvy National League campaign with as dizzy a ball game as New York fans have seen in a long time.

At Washington, before Vice-President Henry Wallace and 31,000 other fans, old Charley (Red) Ruffing embarked on his 18th American League season by hurling a magnificent three-hit 7-0 shutout against the Senators.

Ruffing gave as grand a show as ever in his career. Besides three singles he allowed only one walk and never let a man past first base. He himself accounted for two of New York's 10 bingles off young Sid Hudson and one of these slashes by the husky, 37 year old righthander knocked in two runs.

At New York, 42,653 fans, the biggest turnout of the day, watched the Dodgers down the Giants 7-5 in the Polo Grounds.

Hubbell Lasts Four

The National League champions looked invincible as they stabbed old Carl Hubbell for four runs in the first inning, belted him out of the box with Peewee Reese's two-run homer in the fourth and ran their margin to 7-0 in the first six stanzas.

But they didn't look so good in the seventh when Curt Davis gave five runs on two walks and four hits, including a tremendous home run by John Mize with two aboard, and their five errors for the game were best forgotten. In fact, they made fans forget some of them by rattling of three sparkling double plays.

As further evidence that anything can happen in the senior circuit, both St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds, chief rivals of the Dodgers, lost their debuts.

Chicago Cubs nosed out the Cards 5-4 by bunching two runs in the first inning and three more in the sixth off Mort Cooper. Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Bruins also earned the distinction of being the first pilot thumber out of a game by an umpire and two of his players, Dom Dallessandro and Charley Gilbert, were slightly hurt.

The Reds were set down 4-2 by Pittsburgh Pirates as big Max Butcher outpitched Bucky Walters, six hits to seven.

Johnny Cooney, the 41-year-old handyman of Boston Braves, took over first base and provided a timely single and double to help beat the Phils 2-1.

Ted Williams, the batting hero of last season with a .406 average, opened this campaign with a three-run homer on his first trip to the plate and also collected two singles. He knocked home five runs as Boston Red Sox overpowered Philadelphia Athletics 8-3.

Indians Clip Tigers

Cleveland Indians let loose a war whoop calculated to chill some of their rivals for the American League's first division as they trounced Detroit Tigers 5-2. While Jim Bagby and Joe Heving shared a seven-hit pitching performance, their teammates collected 13 including a home run, double and single by Rookie Lees Fleming, the first baseman whose hitting some folks doubted.

Likewise St. Louis Browns made an early bid for recognition as a first-division contender by chopping down Chicago White Sox 3-0 in the day's tightest hurling duel. Bob Muncrief, held the White Sox to three hits, gave no walks, let no one get past first and faced only 28 men. In rebuttal, John Rigney rationed the Browns to five safeties and kept the score to 1-0 till the ninth.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Red Ruffing, Yankees — Pitched three-hit shutout against Senators and made two singles himself, knocking in two runs.

Ted Williams, Red Sox—Hit three-run homer in first inning and collected two other hits to drive in total of five runs against Athletics.

Bob Muncrief, Browns — Shut out White Sox with three-hit hurling.

John Cooney, Braves—Contributed timely single and double to victory over Phils.

Les Fleming, Indians—Hit home run, double and single in debut at first base against Tigers.

Peewee Reese, Dodgers — Opened four-run first inning flurry against Giants with double and later hit two-run homer.

Max Butcher, Pirates — Stopped Rds with hix-hit pitching.

Phil Cavarretta, Cubs—Hit double and two singles to lead assault on Cardinals.

U.S. Staff Chief, Lord Louis Confer

LONDON, April 15—(CP).—Gen. George C. Marshall, United States Army Chief of Staff, conferred several times yesterday with Vice-Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, chief of Britain's commandos. and arranged for further conferences today, it was stated reliably.

Observers noted that Lord Louis, whose appointment as chief of the commandos was announced yesterday, is one of Britain's best-known experts on invasion tactics.

When United States troops landed in Northern Ireland, the wish was heard in many quarters that they join the invasion-trained commandos and participate in raids on the European continent. There even was speculation that they might be trained as shock landing troops.

Official silence has been maintained, however, on the American objectives.

While General Marshal was engaged in military conferences, Harry Hopkins met V. K. Wellington Koo, China's ambassador here, for an hour's discussion and then conferred with Count Edward Raczynski, Foreing Minister of the Polish Government.

As chairman of the Munitions Assignment Board in Washington, Mr. Hopkins was considered to be concerned with supplies for the Polish Army in Russia which will be equipped largely by Britain and the United States.

The Polish Government at the same time announced that Gen. Wladyslaw Anders, commander in chief of Polish forces in Russia, is coming to London via Cairo for conferences with the Polish Premier, Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, and British officials.

Ships Of The Desert—Ancient And Modern

For many centuries the only means of desert transportation was by camel. ABOVE is a contrast between modern desert travel and the ancient. A British tank, operating in Libya, rumbles past a camel. The hump-backed animal shows a singular lack of enthusiasm.

Henry's Charges

was no question before the House.

Col. Drew said, after urging the attorney-general to inquire into a fight in the Auburn Club, March 18-19, that he would bring up the matter again during discussion of the estimates for Mr. Conant's department.

"I will do it up brown at that time," declared the Conservative leader.

Prior to the speaker stopping the exchange, Col. Drew read a letter from Crown Attorney J. W. McFadden, of Toronto, who had asked the Conservative leader to submit evidence to support his charge Manny Feder was head of an organizer gang which controlled gambling and had gunmen in its employ. The charge was made in the House Monday.

The issue was introduced by Attorney-General Conant when he rose on a question of personal privilege to reply to charges of Reeve Clutterbuck of Scarborough township that the Provincial Police had failed to act in attempting to close the White Castle, alleged resort in Scarborough.

In a newspaper interview earlier in the day Reeve B. L. Clutterbuck said: "I would like Mr. Conant to give his reasons for not complying with the requests of the township to deal with the situation and to say why no action has been taken since October of 1941."

Mr. Clutterbuck declared that correspondence between the police and the Attorney-General would prove to what extent Scarborough had sougth to stamp out the gambling menace.

"Who is behind the White Castle which stands out like a church spire on a main highway?" interjected Leopold Macaulay (Con. York South).

Some Explaining.

Mr. Conant said the records of the Provincial Secretary's Department showed no charter granted to any place like the Scarborough Club although there was a White Castle Ltd. Incorporated under the Companies Act, which was a Dominion Act. At the same time, he said, he would like to correct 'the false impression that holding of a charter permitted the breaking of the law."

"From the communication of the Chief Constable and the remarks of the Reeve they apparently are unaware of the necessary procedure to be followed in cases of this kind," Mr. Conant said.

The Attorney-General went on to explain what plans were necessary to raid such places and stressed that secrecy was a paramount requisite.

The Attorney-General said that Police Commissioner Stringer had been ordered to raid the White Castle, but the police operatives sent to get information had been thrown out as soon as they got inside. Other efforts to obtain evidence were futile, Mr. Conant said.

Turning to Col. Drew's charge that Manny Feder was responsible for the organized gambling in the vicinity of Toronto and had on his payroll gunmen, the Attorney-General said:

"I despise Manny Feder and all his kind, but it is a different matter to despise him and get evidence to send him to jail."

Scored Leniency.

Writing to Crown Attorney McFadden of Toronto, he had expressed his displeasure at the leniency accorded to the gang and at the time had written to Chief Constable Draper asking him to keep them under close surveillance.

Since that time he had no intimation that Feder had resumed his illegal operations until the Conservative leader had introduced the matter into the Legislature yesterday.

He said the Conservative leader had made serious charges and he must insist that evidence be furnished to support them.

Col. Drew said that "parliamentary language" prevented him from describing what he thought of the explanation offered by the Attorney-General. This provoked a murmur of voices from the Liberal benches.

"I hear a rumble around me from people who would be better engaged in helping me to bring about an enforcement of the law," declared the Conservative leader.

Col. Drew said that Feder and an accomplice, "one Leibermann" were arrested first in October, 1938, and were found to be in possession of a sawed-off shot gun.

"This is not an instrument of gambling by any stretch of imagination. Yet the charge of having this shotgun was withdrawn; one of gambling pressed and the result was an extremely minor penalty."

The Attorney-General had no justification for withdrawing this charge, which had a maximum prison term of five years under the criminal code. The men were picked up in a raid on the Brown Derby.

Gun Found, But No Charges

In November, 1940, there was a raid on the Combine Club, Feder's place also, but for some unexplained reason there were no large sums of money found, although such places usually keep huge supplies of currency on hand.

"However, a tommy gun and a black jack were found but again Feder and Liebermann were excused as two years before. That is the sort of thing which is undermining the public's confidence in the enforcement of the law."

The attorney-general "brazenly" sought to convey the explanation that the problem could not be dealt with under existing legislation.

"I contend no amendment is necessary," said Col. Drew.

One measure which was given second reading during the lengthy session and is assured of unanimous support of all the members is the bill extending the life of the Liberal administration for one year. Conservative Leader Drew announced his intention to support the measure as an election would precipitate useless expenditure of money, gasoline and rubber.

Among the numerous clashes in which Mr. Henry was involved during the night session was one with Hon. W. L. Houck, vice-chairman of the Hydro Commission.

"No Action for Reserves"

The York East member said that in 1938 Premier Hepburn had predicted the outbreak of war yet had done nothing to build up the power reserves, a charge which Mr. Houck took exception to.

Mr. Houck said that in the past two years the commission had obtained more than 70,000 new horsepower and had spent $30,000,000 in construction work, all of which had been done under the direction of Dr. T. H. Hogg, former chief engineer and now commission chairman.

"I'll take my advice from an engineer of the abilities of Dr. Hogg rather than take it from a farmer," remarked Mr. Houck as he sat down.

"I've always called myself a farmer and I'm proud of it but I've made a study of the hydro situation for the last 30 years, long before you came to this country," retorted Mr. Henry.

The former premier, during the course of his remarks, reiterated a chage made by members of his party in the budget debate that the premier "dipped" into the hydro reserves to dress up his budgets.

Mr. Hepburn denied the charge and said hydro repayments were made only in accordance with schedules drafted when the bonds were issued.

Hitting at Nazi bases within and behind Hitler's growing coastal defences, the Ministry said its bombers pounded docks at Le Havre and airdromes in the occupied zone.

Mines also were laid in enemy waters by other R.A.F. planes.

In the midst of musical programs, German radio stations at Hilversum, Luxembourg, Calais and Paris went off the air early today. Exchange telegraph reported such interruptions normally indicate shutting down of the stations so they will not serve as beacons for aerial raiders.

Maintenance of the aerial offensive on an around-the-lock basis was signalled to English channel coast observers by flashes and explosions from the Cap Gris Nez and Calais areas, centres of the German defences set up against an allied invasion.

This thrust came after British bombers and fighters had wound up 9½ hours of relatively free daylight operations over northern France—their longest such work of the year—and fought off Nazi interceptors who challenged them over the channel.

28 Planes Lost

Heavy blows in the preceding 48 hours had been directed against Turin, the site of Italy's royal arsenal; the Krupp works of Essen and other Ruhr Valley establishments; and the railway network of Hazebrouck, occupied France, in raids of a scope measured by the fact that 28 planes did not return.

Military informants said the Germans had concentrated along the channel coast a mass of artillery more powerful than the batteries in any sector of the Nazi front in Russia for an effort to counter landings which might follow the aerial assaults.

Through field glasses, observers at Dover could see laborers strengthening already formidable works on the French shore 22 miles away.

Aerial scouts have established that new defences include a series of concrête fortifications and tank barriers extending back several miles, the British said.

Both German soldiers and French laborers "all are working feverishly" along the strait frontages, one source said. The preparations were intensified immediately after the commando raid March 27-28 upon the U-boat base at St. Nazaire.

ture and to be coveting what French warships escaped British guns at Oran or immobilization at Alexandria. Under German control or under orders to collaborate with Germany, warships of the fleet now based at Toulon could be a serious menace to the Allied position, not only in the Mediterranean but also in the North Atlantic. Joined with the German and Italian fleets they could form a powerful force for blows against the supply route to Russia, against Iceland, Britain, the South Atlantic route to Africa, or even against the U.S. coast.

Madagascar. This strategic French island, now under Vichy control, may become the key to the battle for India and the British fight to keep a foothold in the Middle East. The Japanese fleet already is cruising the Indian Ocean. With a base on Madagascar the Japanese position in the vital Indian theatre would be similar to the one Tokyo held in the Southwest Pacific at the start of the war with its bases in French Indo-China. Now Japan is believed to be exerting on Vichy the same sort of pressure which won her effective control of Indo-China last year.

Secret U-Boat Bases

Martinique and Quadaloupe. There have been repeated rumors that these islands, in the Windward group flanking the Panama Canal, are the sites of secret submarine bases. Due to friendly relations between the state department and local Vichy authorities it has been possible to check quickly on developments in the islands through American observers stated there. Should henchmen of Laval gain control, however, it is felt the United States would have to take vigorous action to secure its own interests rather than chance waiting for developments.

American or American-supported Free French occupation of the islands would be no surprise to Washington observers if developments of the next few days should indicate that Laval is in a position to enforce a collaborationist policy in the western hemisphere.

Defies Draft

Gregory Cahart, 29, of West Chesterfield, Mass., is shown in front of his cabin holding a rifle with which he threatened to "shoot it out' with anyone who tries to seize him as a draft dodger. Cahart, a hermit for six years, [illegible], "I would help my country if I was convinced that a better world would emerge from this carnage. However, I do not feel there will be a just peace and we will be sitting on a powder keg again." Cahart's draft board has threatened to jail him for refusing to obey draft orders.

No Drastic Tax Boosts For U.S.

WASHINGON, April 15—(AP).—The Government was reported authoritatively today to have decided against asking for drastic new tax increases as a means of combatting inflation in the United States.

Attempts are under way to compose disagreements among high Government officials over a broad program envisioning the freezing of prices, wages, profits and bonuses.

Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr., is represented by his aides as believing the present £7,800,000,000 tax program is sufficient, that voluntary purchases of war bonds could be stepped up to $11,000,000,000 a year, thus absorbing excess purchasing power, and that consumer merchandise should be rationed.

He is understood to be opposed to most of the plans fathered by a group led by Price Administrator Leon Henderson and Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who reportedly favor not only a much stiffer tax program but a simultaneous assault on all important inflationary factors as well. This would mean freezing of nearly all wages and prices, compulsory war bond purchases, profit limitations, and general retail credit controls.

President Roosevelt has curtailed his engagements to devote as much time as possible to the problem, his solution of which may be outlined in a fireside chat within the next two weeks.

Having a Checkup

WOODSTOCK, Ont., April 15. —(CP).—David Hill, farm workers, answering a charge of trapping muskrats without a license, appeared yesterday before Magistrate R. G. Groom in full Indian regalia topped with a magnificent head dress. Hill who pleaded not guilty told the court that as a Chief of the Iroquois tribe of the Five Nations Federation he was entitled under treaty rights to trap without a license.

Magistrate Groom expressed the belief that any such rights would be good only on a reservation but withheld judgment for the purpose of studying the law on this point.

HIS LUMBAGO HAS NOT COME BACK

Keeps Free of It With Kruschen

There can be no doubt about the effectiveness of the remedy this man uses against lumbago. Read this letter:—

"About four years ago, I had a bad attack of lumbago. After being in hospital for two weeks taking heat treatment, I started taking Kruschen Salts. Since then, I am happy to say, I have not been troubled with lumbago. I shall still continue taking Kruschen to be sure the lumbago won't come back."—A. C. C.

Why is it that Kruschen is so effective in keeping lumbago at bay? Simply because it goes right down to the root of the trouble, and removes the cause, which is in an impure blood-stream. The six salts in Kruschen help to keep the blood-stream pure and vigorous by promoting a clockwork regularity of all the organs of elimination.

Deserted Wives Bill Limited

TORONTO, April 15—(CP).—Attorney-General Gordon Conant intimated in the Ontario Legislature Monday that legislation would be introduced next year to provide further protection to deserted wives in this province.

Mr. Conant did not specify the form other legislation would take but indicated it would broaden existing protection. His statement was made during consideration of a bill advanced by Welfare Minister Farquhar Oliver which would order husbands in some of these cases to report monthly on status of their support payments.

Mr. Oliver's bill applies only to deserted wives who either are on relief, or about to receive relief.

Conservation Leader Geoerge A. Drew urged that the bill be extended to cover all deserted wives and G. C. Elgie (Con. Toronto Woodbine) moved an amendment to that effect. The amendment was defeated

MILK FOR BRITAIN

The Kinettes reported today receiving donations of $20 from the Lucky Strike Bowling Club and $10 from the Ladies' Curling Club towards the Milk for Britain fund. In both instances members of the club forewent prizes to contribute to the Milk for Britain fund.

RECORDS HIT HARD.

Shortage of shellac which comes from India and China is the reason for the reduction in manufacture of phonograph records which is said to be cut by 70 per cent. This means that people who use a great many records can only buy three now, where they used to buy ten.

BROKEN BARRIERS

Officials of the Board of Works department are complaining that motorists are smashing road barriers erected on dangerous stretches of road. During the past seven days, the barrier on Victoria avenue, has been smashed along with one on Parkhill Road. Cars that barge through these barriers are likely to bog down.

MUST RETURN BOOK

J. J. Dorris stated today that the ruling by the Oil Controller on the sale of trade-in of cars, is that the original owner must return the ration book to the office of the Oil Controller at Toronto, when he sells or trades in his car. Then the new owner buys a new ration book for his own use. Transactions such as these are being checked carefully to avoid any mis-use of the ration books.

THREE WILD TURKEYS

Charles Kingan reported this morning that three wild turkeys have arrived in the city from Middletown, Connecticut, and will be on display in the window of the Kingan Hardware this evening. They cost $49.25 including express, and will be placed in the zoo at the filtration plant until a hatching of eggs is obtained. There are two hens and a gobbler. They will eventually be set loose in the Crown Game Preserve north of Peterborough.

MANY PATIENTS

The register at Queen Mary Hospital Tuesday showed twenty-five patients, eight of them scarlet fever cases.

FIRST CLASS SIGNS

Danger signs warning motorists that they are entering school areas have been placed in the proper locations throughout the city, and these are most effective. Each sign shows a child running, and is black and yellow collors, mounted on a square post which has a barber pole effect in black and yellow.

TREND OF THE TIMES

A horseman has been noticed during the past few days riding a fine looking chestnut horse up to the Post Office, where he climbs down, ties the horse to a steel standard and goes in to get his mail. The horse is undisturbed by the traffic and pedestrians get quite a thrill out of seeing this chap, riding through the business section.

DRIVING OVER FIRE HOSE

"I don't know anything about it. My son was driving the car that night and he is in Montreal with the Air Force," explained W. S. Jolly, when he faced a charge in police court this morning of driving over a fire hose. The case was adjourned for a week without plea when it was stated that no one was on hand to present the complainant's side.

DISTRICT HISTORY

Reaboro on the Peterborough-Lindsay highway was named after Thomas Rea, says the Lindsay Post. He settled there in the early twenties, and not long afterward a man named Francis Kelly built the hotel which still stands on No. 7 highway near Reaboro. It was raided in 1837 by soldiers who were searching for William Lyon Mackenzie. The Post also says William Cottingham built a long flour mill at Omemee in the twenties of the last century, and Thomas Deyell erected a grist mill at Cavan, now Millbrook. "Residents of Ops township often took their grain to the Cavan mill. Deyell's mill was built before one was erected at Peterborough."

Canadian Bands Take Part In Warship Week

Kilted Canadian pipe bands are shown parading in Hyde Park as the Canadian units took part in London's warship week.

Prince Of Wales Rangers Hold Pay Parade

Today was pay day for the Prince of Wales Rangers, which includes men and officers numbering fifty-nine. At 11.10 a.m. this morning, the second official pay of the unit as an active unit was given out. It must not be construed that this number represents the full strength of the Rangers as many of the men have been transferred to the military training centre in Peterborough for their basic training and several officers have departed for Western Canada, where they will undergo a qualifying course. These latter mentioned men will be paid at their prospective training centers.

Military haircuts are in the order of the day among men of the unit. The official hair do is to have it cut to a length of one inch over the forehead and trimmed well at the sides. Undoubtedly, many of the men will be invading the city barber shops tomorrow at the suggestion of Captain J. A. Morley.

Yesterday eight men presented themselves for enlistment with the Prince of Wales Rangers and some of them were being medically boarded today.

On Part 2 orders issued Tuesday afternoon, it was made known that Lieut. J. C. C. Dawson, medical officer of the unit and a former practioner in the city of Peterborough has been appointed to the general list Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps (AF) with the rank of Lieut. (Acting Captain) and is attached for all purposes to the Prince of Wales Rangers for duty as medical officer. He is married: Next of kin, wife, Mrs. Muriel Talbot Dawson, 452 Hunter street west, Peterborough.

Lieut. H. J. Morley, who was recently transferred to the Prince of Wales Rangers following extensive courses is listed in the "A" officers orders as a captain.

Appointments and promotions for ranks of the regiment are coming through almost daily and it can be observed by readers that these are to be had by men joining the unit, providing they show aptitude for the promotions. In Tuesday's list are:

Acting Corporal H. D. White is to be acting sergeant; Pte. H. W. Kennedy is to be acting sergeant; Lance Corporal D. G. Clark is to be acting Corporal; Pte. H. H. Braiden is appointed Lance Corporal; Pte. B. C. Castle is appointed Lance Corporal; Pte. F. E. Shine is appointed Lance Corporal.

One man was officially taken on strength of the unit yesterday. He is Pte. Harold Harvey, single; next of kin, Mrs. Florence Harvey, Harwood, Ontario.

Cliff Cruickshanks, former manager of Scarfe's paint store on Hunter street, was in the khaki of the King this morning with the Rangers. He had not officially been taken on strength of the unit this morning until his name appears on orders, probably this afternoon.

Grand Knights Renew Loyalty Pledge

COBOURG, April 15 — (ENS).—The following resolution was endorsed by the Provincial Grand Black Chapter at its annual meeting here on Tuesday:

"The Grand Black Chapter of Ontario East, Royal Black Knights of Ireland, at the 66th annual session in Cobourg, dutifully renews its allegiance and unswerving loyalty to the person and throne of His Gracious Majesty George Sixth, with the prayer that He who provided for and guided the children of Israel through the wilderness, will continue to be his guide and to provide his nations and Allies during this time of war and distress."

Opening Session.

The first part of the session was in charge of G. Leslie, Ottawa, un't'il W. H. Smith of Lindsay took over in his capacity of Grand Master for the coming year. Communications were received from a number of past masters, expressing regret that they could not attend.

Mayor John Burnet and members of the Council extended a civic welcome to the delegates and the good wishes of Cobourg Ministerial Association were conveyed by Rev. W. P. Woodger of Cobourg.

In his report on the past year in his capacity as Grand Master, G. Leslie of Ottawa gave a comprehensive report on the year's activities. Mr. Leslie read out the names of those who died since the last meeting and a brief memorial was held. He spoke on the work of the Orange Relief Fund and asked also the support of the Orange Fund for the bombed-out people in Ireland, England and Scotland. He asked for the support of the Orange Young Britons, pointing out that many of them had donned their uniforms as had their fathers in the last war.

English Speaking.

His comment that the Union Jack as the flag of Canada and the National Anthem as having a preference over "O Canada" received the approbation of the session. As far as Ontario was concerned, he said in reference to bi-lingualism, it was an English-speaking province and its people should not be insulted with the receipt of radio licence notices and other things from the Government in which both English and French printing appeared. Mr. Leslie's report was lauded by the members at the session.

Rev. F. T. Dunlop urged that the people of Canada should vote "yes" at the plebiscite so as to release the Government from past pledges and enable it to conduct a total war effort. H. B. Fetterly of Belleville, P.G.M. of Ontario East, also spoke at the session yesterday.

During the session, the Grand Mistress and Deputy Grand Mistress of the Provincial L.O.B.A., which is also meeting here, brought greetings from the ladies' lodges.

Top-Ranking Graduate

Sgt. Observer Malcolm (Mac) Buchanan, 24-year-old son of Mrs. Agnes Buchanan, 145 Benson Avenue, and the late Malcolm Buchanan, received his wings recently in New Brunswick and placed high in the class. He is a graduate of St. Peter's High School, and a br[illegible] of Miss Myrtle Buchanan, well-known druggist.

Gordon Fraser To Urge Voting "Yes"

Gordon K. Fraser, West Peterborough's Federal member, will go on the air Friday, it is announced today, to give his reasons why he thinks the people of this riding should vote Yes in the coming plebiscite. The member for West Peterborough, while not approving of the action of the Government in holding a plebiscite, believes that now that the country is committed to such a course, there should only be one answer, a vote that will remove all restrictions from Canada's war effort. Mr. Fraser will state his reasons for such belief in a boadcast over Station CHEX at 12.45 o'clock on Friday noon.

City Salvage Adds $16.88 For War Victims

On more than one occasion and by substantial means, the Mayor and City Council have demonstrated in a practical way their interest in the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund.

To-day this interest is again evidenced by a donation which comes to the fund as a result of the sale of tin from the incinerator which amounts to $16.88, and in so doing they take the lead in conserving resources, which before the war were not thought of, or just discarded as waste matter, an example all citizens are asked to follow.

Coincident with this contribution comes a letter addressed to His Worship the Mayor from the Lord Mayor of London, in acknowledgment of the sixteenth donation of £500 cabled to him on March 18, with official receipt No. 87005 enclosed.

In part the Lord Mayor says:

"Once again I should like to say how very much I appreciate the splendid way in which you are supporting my fund, thereby evincing the deep sympathy felt for our air raid victims. It is very encouraging to me in my work on the fund to know that I have behind me the support such as you are giving, and I shall be glad if you will kindly convey my warmest thanks to all contributors for their continued generosity."

Coming on top of one lone air raid on Tuesday in which fourteen people were killed, others injured and their property damaged, it emphasizes the good that can be done through the fund.

The Women's Friendly Bible Class of St. John's Church has once more (this time the sixth) sent in a donation for $10 carrying the friendliness which its name implies to those in need in Britain.

The monthly collection was made on Tuesday of the box in the Bell Telephone Company Ltd. office on Hunter Street, and this time the amount was $2.40, bringing the total that has come to the fund from this one box up to the sum of $60.08.

Old Bylaw Requires Producers To Give Proper Identification

While the council and Board of Health have both been considering in recent years ways of persuading producers on the market to identify themselves, a bylaw requiring that information for the public was passed in 1909, Sanitary Inspector MacPherson told the Board of Tuesday night.

A citizen complained this week that a chicken he bought on the market Saturday was tubercular. He did not know the name of the vendor, and he had no way of getting value for the money he paid to some person.

The Examiner has been trying for more than a year to convince farmers to mark their produce with their names as a means of cultivating buyer confidence, but that little campaign flattened out.

Neither bylaw, propaganda, common sense and interest in building up the market has had any avail on the Peterborough producers. They have persistently refused to co-operate to that extent with the city council who on the other hand has been doing its part, redecorated the market hall, put in new counters big floor thoroughly washed.

Alderman Dutton, chairman, said that the Board could at least call the attention of the property committee to this recent complaint and also to the bylaw.

Ambrose Pooley did the floor job last week for $18, using mechanical equipment, but has offered to give it a monthly cleaning for $12.

"Get it done whenever you think it is necessary," Mayor Hamilton suggested to Mr. MacPherson.

In the meantime the market has probably lost a customer, and that means one buyer who will perhaps broadcast his experience in buying a chicken and then having finally to toss it away.

Board Replies To Trustees

In the gesture of caution and meticulous tact signifying "we'd better handle this with gloves," the Board of Health subscribed Tuesday night to a letter prepared by Dr. D. B. Avison in reply to the Board of Education.

It seems that the Board of Education had volunteered the assistance of its two nurses for the midyear months of July and August, and the Health Board, according to the minutes, had gratefully accepted this offer. Then came a letter from the School Trustees enquiring about the duties contemplated for the nurses, and apparently the Board of Health felt a slight frost around the edges as if something unexplained had happened betimes.

Dr. Avison's letter seemed to be amply mollifying and hopefully ingratiating, substantially amended from the first suggestion by the chairman, Alderman Dutton, who expressed the opinion that the Board of Education should have sufficient confidence in the Board of Health to be reassured by such a plain statement such as 'the nurses are to be assigned duties by Dr. Avison."

That idea seemed to be substantially lacking in warmth, and the pencilled letter which Dr. Avison had brought with him will be posted to the Board of Education.

Small Increase Is Shown In War Stamps

The monthly report of the War Savings Committee for this city for March shows a slight increase over the December report, and it indicates that industrial workers are doing a fine job in maintaining their regular purchases of stamps.

It is interesting to note that employees of the G. Whitaker Company of this city have the highest average per application of any firm in the city, which means that the workers in this wool firm are buying heavily. There are 26 of the 35 purchasing $580.00 worth of stamps a month for an average of $22.31 apiece. The next highest average is the Canadian Sealright, but only five of the workers are buying and the average purchase per month is $9.60. Martin-Hewitt Containers have 13 of the 26 employees buying $8.61 per month, and the real highlight of the report is the C.G.E. report where 3,478 workers are purchasing an average of $5.06 a month. 195 workers at Canada Packers are maintaining an average of $5.10, and 119 workers at the Canadian Raybestos are doing fine with an average of $6.72 per month.

Outboard Marine also rates a top bracket position as 260 employers in that plant are buying an average of $7.00 worth a month. 429 workers at the Quaker Oats are averaging $4.40 each. The workers down at the J. C. Poolman Manufacturing Company are batting one hundred per cent. There are 15 employees, and all are regular purchasers, with an average of 538 a month.

Some of the workers are falling off in their purchases and the various shop committees are being asked to encourage these people to carry on, and also to get the large number of workers who are not regular subscribers now to start a program of buying setting aside a part of their wages regularly for the depression period after the war, or for educational purposes or the purchase of a new home.

Obituary

MRS. WM. JOHN LAMB

Mrs. William John Lamb, formerly Hattie May Corniel, died Wednesday morning in the hospital following a short illness, although her health has been poor for a number of years.

The late Mrs. Lamb was born in Victoria County, a daughter of the late Charles Corneil and Mary Ann Corbitt, and she came to this city from Omemee about 35 years ago.

Surviving is her husband, William John Lamb, and one daughter, Mrs. James Matthews of Peterborough, and one son, W. Gordon Lamb of Los Angeles. Two brothers also survive, W. G. Corneil, of Peterborough and M. C. Corneil of Toronto. She was a member of George Street United Church.

The funeral will take place on Friday, April 17 at 2.30 from the family residence, 174 London street, with interment in Little Lake cemetery. The Rev. H. L. Roberts of George Street United Church will conduct the funeral services.

8-Day Extension For Trappers

Trappers north of No. 7 Highway have received a bit of extra encouragement in the announcement of an eight-day extension to the season from April 12 to April 20.

Notification to this effect was received Wednesday by Game Overseer I. J. Lyons and applies to areas in Victoria, Peterborough, Hastings, Lennox and Addington north of the highway.

Inspector Lyons reports considerably fewer trappers on the marshes and lakes, but states the majority of those out are getting good catches.

Disgraces City Miss Young Says

The circumstances in which the numerous children of four or five families are growing up were discussed at considerable length Tuesday night by the Board of Health.

Health and social responsibility and morals were all considered. "We can't condone things like that," said Alderman Dutton, "but whatever we do it is going to involve expense."

"I would rather see us cut down on a whole lot of other things than to fail to do anything we can do in an effort to help those children," Alderman Sullivan said.

The mother of one group of eight or ten children is said to be flagrantly immoral, with several girls of 'teenage for whom the Board is especially anxious.

"Miss Young of the Children's Aid Society says it is a disgrace to the city," Alderman Dutton said.

"It is an evil we've known about," Mayor Hamilton admitted, "and I don't like leaving it unsettled any more."

Alderman Dutton suggested the idea of getting a house for that family. The place in which they have been or still are living should be pulled down, Sanitary Inspector MacPherson said.

The Board decided to ask Miss Young for a definite report in this case, but there were four or five others mentioned as being on the border line, but presumably the debilities in those families were mostly poverty and laziness and broad personal inefficiency.

Crokinole Tourney Held At Fraserville

FRASERVILLE, April 15—(ENS).—The Women's Association held a successful crokinole tournament in the Orange Hall last week. Seven tables of crokinole were played with high score prizes going to Elmer Hogg and Ray Bothwell. Lucky chair prize went to Miss Lorraine Pue.

The Y.P.U. held its weekly meeting on Thursday night at the parsonage. The president opened the meeting and in the business discussion it was decided to extend an invitation to the Fairmount Union to be guests on Thursday, April 16. Mr. Rowland had charge of the meeting. Mrs. Rowland read the Scripture lesson and Mr. Rowland gave the topic. A contest was enjoyed.

A Box Of Biscuits, A Jug Of Wine, And Three Alas, P.C. McGillen Came To Spoil The Spree

A jar of wine, a large package of soda biscuits, an adequate quota of cheese and three convivial souls basking in the April sunshine and waxing merry over an al fresco luncheon near the boat houses above the C.P.R. bridge Tuesday afternoon made up a seasonable spring picture. All went merry as a marriage bell until retribution in the person of Constable C. J. McGillen suddenly came from nowhere and landed in the middle of the picnic.

The wine was confiscated and the three kindred spirits were taken for a ride to the police station. This morning all three pleaded guilty to being intoxicated and were fined $10 and costs, or ten days in jail and two of them decided to join the circle at Castle Johnston.

Some time after the arrest of the merry three a soldier who had apparently dropped off a passing train, carrying a good coating of soot and an inner lining of something that both cheered and inebriated was arrested at almost the same spot and he too entered a plea of guilty to an intoxication charge in police court today, with the usual result. He will not rejoin his unit for at least ten days.

St. Andrew's Y.P.U.

The fellowship group of St. Andrew's Young People's Union had charge of the meeting on Tuesday evening. The theme was "Companionship" which was discussed after a brief worship service during which a piano solo, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" was played by Walter Morrow. An extract from David Grayson's "Adventures in Friendship" which dealt with two working companions, was discussed.

In the discussion, it was the opinion that a companion is one who may develop into a friend, and his qualities are several. He may stimulate one to do better things, gives confidence through trust, and encourages and understands the other person. Companions are necessary man is a social animal and must live a social life to achieve his desires. Of the two definite types of companion, the good was preferred to the latter, which led one astray. The good help us and bring our best selves to the surface.

The question, "What should be our relationship to God?" stimulated the thinking powers of the young people. The meeting closed with the singing of "Jesus Thou Divine Companion."

Local Y.W.C.A. Has Letter Of Thanks

The following is a letter which the local Y.W.C.A. received recently from May Curwen, National General secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association of Great Britain.

"Dear members of the Peterborough Y.W.C.A.:

It is difficult to express adequately the pleasure we feel in receiving your generous contribution to our funds through the National Y.W.C.A. of Canada. The gifts which come to us through the effort of Y.W.C.A. members are doubly precious as a further reminder of that real world fellowship for which the associations stands.

More and more women are joining the Services—indeed, I sometimes think that to anyone who had not visited Britain since war began one of the greatest changes would be the sight of so many women in the uniforms of H.M. Forces. You will, I know, appreciate how much new work this means for the Y.W.C.A. For the practical part which you are taking in our efforts to meet these demands we do indeed thank you."

Yours sincerely,
MAY CURWEN,
National General Secretary.

Ditty Bags Are Appreciated By The Sailors

Just before Christmas the girls in Zellers Store packed a big parcel of comfort for sailors, which they gave to the Salvation Army for shipment. The things were packed into ditty bags and sent to Halifax and the following is a letter which Phyllis Wilson, who works in Zellers, received from a sailor who received one of the bags.

"Dear Miss or Mrs. Wilson:

I'm writing these few lines to show my appreciation. I received a bag of comforts, etc., from the Salvation Army Hostel in Halifax and gosh! were they acceptable? I'll tell you what my job is and then you will know what needful hands your bag fell in.

First of all I'm in the British Army. I, with five others, are an anti-aircraft gun team on a merchant ship and we arrived here the day before Christmas, for which I was very grateful, we had a terrible journey. We were 24 days coming from England and it was blowing a gale head on all the way over. We lost the convoy only two days out from England and we all felt a bit jittery as we were getting SOS messages from different ships, some very close and of course the seas were like mountains coming at you. The ship did everything but turn over. The ship was all out full speed ahead for two days and went backwards 30 miles so you can guess what it was like. To make matters worse we ran into a blizzard and the ship was covered with snow and ice and our job, having to stand by our gun for four hours at a time, gets almost too much sometimes. Still, we must grin and bear it. We got here safe and sound, that's the main thing, and I can assure you I shall be thinking of you every time I put the scarf on. Gee it will come in handy, as will all the other things. We are sailing for home again shortly. I want to get back by the beginning of February as it's my twin sister's birthday (25) and I've bought her just the present she's been wanting. Well, thanking you once more, I'll ring off. Cheerio, and thanks a million."

C.W.L. Executive Holds Final Meeting

The final meeting of the year of the Diocesan Executive of the Catholic Women's League was held on Saturday, April 11 at the home of Miss Lillian Hurley, president.

A cheque for $25 was sent to the Catholic Women's League of London, England, for the Catholic Club for the Women's Auxiliary Territorial Force. At the National convention held in Toronto last year, each diocese of the Dominion adopted an overseas chaplain. The Peterborough dioceses adopted Rev. C. McCarney, and the sub-division have in turn sent cigarettes every two weeks for the soldiers. In addition to this $25 is to be sent him for a special treat for the boys.

The sub-divisions are also subscribing for Catholic papers and magazines for the soldiers in the Training Centre at Peterborough, Bowmanville and Gravenhurst. Up to date, ten dollars has been donated for rosaries for the soldiers.

Nomination papers were filled out for the National Executive.

The Diocesan, Miss Hurley, was appointed delegate to the National meeting to be held in Montreal, July 10-12. Mrs. T. J. Begley of Lindsay was named alternative delegate. Miss W. R. Baker of Lindsay, National convener of Lay Retreats will also attend the meeting.

Owing to war conditions, the national president, Mrs. J. A. McCabe wishes to announce the National convention will not take place in Edmonton this year as previously arranged.

Following the business meeting, a social half hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Connolly of Sacred Heart parish moved a hearty vote of appreciation to their gracious president.

Mission Circle Hears Of Alberta At April Meeting

A song service of hymns opened the Easter Thank offering meeting of the Jean Wagar Mission Circle at St. James' United Church on Monday night, when the Circle was represented by the majority of its members. The guests were met and welcomed by the circle president, Dorothy Martin, who presided over the evening's program.

The girls gathered at six o'clock for this Easter supper meeting, when about thirty covers were laid. The table, done in the appropriate springtime colours of the circle, yellow, white and green, formed a pretty setting for the party. Streamers of green and yellow crepe paper decorated the white table cloths, centred by a lovely amber bowl of daffodils with bud vases of pussy-willows at either side.

An honored guest of the meeting was Mrs. Wesley Rose, W.M.S. president, who led in prayer after which Zetta Wood, secretary of Christian Stewardship, gave a timely reading "Consider Jesus" from the parable of the "rich fool."

During the brief business session, which included the minutes and roll call by the secretary, Greta VanNest, plans were made for the May meeting to be held at the home of Alma Saunders, Monaghan road.

The girls were led in a responsive service of worship by Connie Wagar assisted by Jessie Martin, with Anne Deyell at the piano.

Miss Isobel Connolly of All Saints Anglican Church, as guest speaker, brought a most inspiring message to the girls, based upon her recent work in Northern Alberta conducting daily vocation Bible schools. Referring to this district as "the land of beginning again" the speaker described its natural beauties as well as the many hardships endured by the people, especially in the isolated areas. Many interesting incidents of camp life were told to illustrate the benefit of Bible teaching upon the spiritual life of these boys and girls who had so few opportunities. Although sent out by the Anglican church, Miss Connolly spoke of the fine spirit of unity prevailing among all denominations. She supplemented her address by means of snapshots, views of the country, its work and of the homes and churches. In one of the homes Miss Connolly saw a motto which read "The greatest end of life is to know the Life that never ends," which struck the keynote of all her work in the West.

The thanks of the Circle to Miss Connolly for sharing her experiences with the St. James' girls, was voiced by Jessie Martin.

Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Craik were also guests of the Circle and Mr. Craik spoke briefly in a message of encouragement to the members.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation of a gift to the most recent bride, Mrs. Hunter, (nee Alma Welch) by Jean Hammond on behalf of the Circle. Prayer, offered by the pastor, brought to a conclusion another Easter meeting.

Much of the success of the supper was due to the efforts of the committee, Dorothy Martin, A. Rutherford and Gladys Meredith, who were assisted by Mrs. E. M. Davis and Mrs. Drysdale. The flowers which centred the table were sent to the advisory president, Mrs. Wagar, who was unable to be present.

Auxiliary and WMS Hear Of Iran At Joint Meeting

The Elizabeth Bell Auxiliary and the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Church held a joint Easter thankoffering meeting in the ladies' parlours on Tuesday evening, with Mrs. Cuyler Young, wife of the present assistant professor of oriental languages at Victoria College, University of Toronto, as guest speaker. Mrs. Young was head of a girls' school in Iran for 12 years and she described vividly the changes which are gradually taking place in that country, in spite of its strict Moslem background, which is almost impervious to change of any kind not authorized by their great prophet Mahomet.

To a Moslem's eyes a westerner and a Christian are synonmous. His impression of our western world and christianity is gained from the types of westerners who come to his country, and who, unfortunately, are not always Christian. When the American movies are sifted, the trash rejected by us is sent to Eastern countries on the assumption that the oriental will not know any better than to enjoy them. The result is a sordid and erroneous impression of life in the so-called christian countries.

Mrs. Young also brought an interesting display of curios, handworked metals, mosaic embroidery and linen pierced work, as well as dolls in the various costumes of the country.

Mrs. Ross Williamson was guest soloist, accompanied by Miss Elsie Chambers.

Trinity Society Hears Of China At April Meeting

The April meeting of the Trinity W.M.S. was held in the Reid street hall in the form of a family party. All of the church's organizations being well represented.

The scripture was read by Mrs. M. Latimer and the opening prayer offered by Mrs. S. D. Carver.

The speaker of the evening, Dr. A. E. Armstrong, secretary of the foreign Missionary Board, was introduced by Dr. Easton.

Dr. Armstrong spoke of the situation that existed between China and Japan in 1931, when Japan seized Manchuria. Because of China's heroic resistance despite the terrific odds, we are in a much better position than we would have been if she had given in and let Japan have full sway. Unhampered, Japan would have seized the land that she is now after without any resistance at all, for none of the Allied Nations were prepared for any warlike effort, no matter how small, at that time. The speaker illustrated his talk with pictures of bombings, rescues and construction along the Burma Road. He also gave a thorough word picture of the part that the missionary is playing in advisory and actual participation of the affairs of the Chinese Government. Highest praise was given to Chiang Kai-Shek and his wife for their untiring efforts for their country.

After closing tea was served and a social half hour was enjoyed by all.

George St. W.M.S. Holds April Meeting

The Easter meeting of George Street United Church W.M.S. was held in the board room of the church on Tuesday afternoon. While the members were gathering, Mrs. W. P. Purdy played some sacred music. The president, Mrs. James Brown, opened the meeting. The hymn, "Rejoice, the Lord is King," was followed by the Lord's Prayer. The president welcomed several of the Baptist ladies on behalf of the society.

The treasurer's report showed $215 sent to the branch treasurer for the quarter. The sick and visiting committee made 67 calls for the month and the community friendship committee made 31 calls in homes and 10 at the hospital.

Mrs. W. H. Morton gave the Bible lesson, taken from Mark 16. Mrs. A. H. Radford sang a beautiful solo, "I Know that my Redeemer Liveth," accompanying herself on the piano. This number was very much enjoyed.

Mrs. J. C. Boulter led in prayer for our missionaries. The following ladies are to be collectors for the Bible Society from George Street Church. Mrs. Harry Dulmage, Mrs. M. Northey, Mrs. B. Manning, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Scott Wildman, Mrs. J. H Rowe, Mrs. R. McKee, and one other to be appointed later.

Mrs. J. Brown led in prayer. A feature of the meeting was a talk by F. W. K. Harris, president of the Presbyterial, who gave an informative talk on Oriental people, especially in Canada. The meeting closed with prayer by the president.

KEEPING UP WITH JONESES BRINGS DAY OF RECKONING

Living Beyond your Means Can Bring Nothing But Sorrow and Ill-Health.

One of the curious manias of women is wanting to know people who do not want to know them, and to run with those whose pace they cannot keep. Sometimes men also are afflicted with the keep-up-with-the-Joneses neurosis that yearly sends its thousands of victims into the bankruptcy courts, and sanatoriums and the grave. That no other malady known to medical science is so much to be dreaded at this mental aberration is not to be denied, for once its infection takes hold of a household its peace and contentment and happiness are gone and there is no health left in it. And, in particular, it has the power to change a woman's whole nature and rob her of her last vestige of sanity. Many of the tragedies among our friends and acquaintances that shock us and that we find so mysterious, such as heart disease, suicide, defaulting with their employers' money are nothing except an acute attack of keeping up with the Joneses.

Take the case of the A.'s for instance. Mr. A. owned a prosperous little grocery which enabled him to live comfortably and put aside a little something for a rainy day every year. They lived above the store and on busy days Mama would come down and help with the sales and the older children would assist with the deliveries, and they were a happy and united family because they were all vitally interested in playing the exciting game of building up a small business into a big one in which they all had a stake.

When Trouble Starts

Then Mama got acquainted with Mrs. Jones, who ordered her groceries by telephone; who played bridge in the afternoons instead of weighing out onions; who bought her clothes at a specialty shop instead of a bargain basement, and who lived in a house instead of over a store. And Mama was never again the same woman.

From being happy and contented and jolly and full of fun she became peevish and fretful and discontented. She quit laughing and began complaining. From encouraging and helping her husband she began nagging him about not making more money, like Mr. Jones did. And, above all, she never ceased wailing about having to live in a flat instead of having a beautiful home.

Poor Mr. Jones resisted as long as he could and kept telling his wife that they were darn lucky that they were as well off as they were, but in the end she wore him down and he built a house that cost about twice what he expected in a new suburb near the Joneses. By the time Mama had it furnished by an interior decorator, whom Mrs. Jones recommended, they were in debt for the first time in their lives.

Worry Comes In the Door

Also, for the first time Mr. Jones began to look old and tired, for he was lying awake at night wondering how he was going to meet the bills that were coming due and his notes in the bank, and the business wasn't going so good as it was when he could give it his full attention and when he put so much personal interest and enthusiasm in it that

Lakefield Council Backs Red Cross In Move To Salvage Organization

LAKEFIELD April 15—(ENS).—First step to concerted action regarding a permanent Salvage Campaign Committee was taken Monday night by the Village Council following a deputation of Red Cross ladies urging the councillors to take leadership in the matter.

Mrs. W. J. Ridpath supported by Mrs. William Gillman and Miss Grace Yonge started the fireworks by charging there seemed a certain lack of action on the part of the men — immediately resented by Reeve C. S. Tanner, who pointed out the part the councillors had played in the last drive—in which, through a misunderstanding in Peterborough the Lakefield effort was not recognized until three months later.

Councillors Millar and Graham urged care be taken lest the splendid organization for collection the pupils of both schools have set up be disrupted. The Reeve claimed the matter was not one for the Council alone but the whole village as a community, for maximum results. Other members agreed and the ladies were pacified with the assurance a depot for depositing material would be located and the matter of collection studied.

Later it was decided to get in touch with the Red Cross group for the calling of a community rally, with the date suggested as Monday, April 20. Heads of the school organizations will be invited to co-operate, salvage officials called in to speak, ministers urged to ask the congregations to attend, and the village as a whole aroused to the importance of this war effort.

It is proposed to set up at this meeting a group that will function for the duration and working with the schools keep salvage rolling out systematically.

Cash for New Books.

On behalf of the Library Board, Mrs. Ridpath reported an increased interest in reading— February 91, March 103—with considerable depletion in books of the children's department. Calls had come in for books on India—Ghandi, Brazil, the Spanish War, and one for a book on economics—none of which were in the Library. Due to a mistake in information as to when the Board's year ended the final $35 of the Council $335 grant had not been received, and Mrs. Ridpath suggested $50 would be more acceptable to put the book shelves up to par. This was granted.

E. W. Bailey, G. S. Scriver, and D. H. Charlton, representing the Curling Club, proposed teh Council assist in a project to improve the curling rink site, which, due to a muck bottom, has a tendency to heave, ruining the curling ices.

Mr. Bailey stated the club was willing to devote a large part of its surplus from the season's operation of the rink to the plan, but as the rink is owned by the village, asked the Council supervise and assist with part of the cost of removing about 18 inches of soft surface earth down to hardpan and refill with broken cement chunks, brick and gravel which the Cement Company was willing to donate if it were shifted from their property before the end of May.

The job would entail the use of wheel scrapers, which the company would loan, and require the removal of about 250 yards of material. He also suggested soft spots in the skating ice portion be fixed at the same time. The removed earth could be placed on the lot adjoining the rink to its improvement.

Reeve Tanner suggested one ice be tried the first year to see if the fill would work, but Dave Charlton rink manager, stated it would cause havoc with one ice heaving and the other not. Councillor Fred Lawrence proposed the club pay for the venture over a period of years out of revenue if they handled the rink in future as the idea seemed to be. Mr. Bailey replied the club was willing to spend most of its surplus on the job, but wished to retain some to improve the club rooms in the rink building.

A Check on Prices.

Upshot of the affair, on George Graham's motion, the Council will make inquiries as to prices on the job with an eye to action before the Cement Company's offer of free fill expires.

Councillor Charlton reported after months of investigation, during which time the rink had been broken into repeatedly with lights broken, ventilator ropes cut, locks smashed, and booth entered, that the culprit had been observed leaving the premises. Councillor Millar demanded the parents be asked to make the damage good, and the Reeve stated action would be taken.

The question of oil for the village streets was taken up, and it was revealed the same company will be able to handle the job this year with a start in May if conditions are suitable.

Last year there was an over-abundance of oil used and in spots the surplus not only covered the roads but flowed into some gardens soaking lettuce and onions (which Fred Lawrence said managed miraculously to live through the ordeal), and at one spot threatened to pour into a citizen's cellar. With an oil shortage this year it was held unlikely there would be a recurrence.

Considerable calcium chloride will be ordered also, and the road commissioner, George Graham, proposed four stock piles of gravel and repair material be set up at different points in the village with an eye to more efficient road fixing.

The Hydro-Electric Commission requested a date for discussion of a further reduction in its assessment, but as the assessor's rolls have not been returned this was left over.

John Sanderson's request for permission to run a drain across lots will be investigated, and on Robert Lennox' complaint of sidewalk trouble the walk on Dean Street will have new stingers inserted.

With rubber Canada's greatest shortage and considerable of the village's fire hose in bad shape, the Fire Chief, Allan H. Clark, asked for 200 feet of 2½-inch hose, also two refills for the gas masks a pair of rubber boots, two electric hand lanterns, and three dozen killsoots. Council sanctioned 100 feet of hose and the rest of the material.

Two Lots Sold.

Lot 3 and part of Lot 4 and the closed portion of River Street were authorized sold to the American Nepheline Company, subject to a 20-foot right-of-way giving access to Lot 5, the sawmill and the boathouses on the waterfront.

Matter of a caretaker or the park was discussed briely, but let over till next month when drier conditions will enable a start on a general cleanup in anticipation of a good tourist year.

As a closing move Reeve Tanner proposed the clerk, Harry T. Hill, be granted a $15 raise to $75 a month. It was pointed out the clerk had had considerable more duties laid upon his shoulders in the past year — as a result the councillors backed the proposal unanimously and made it retroactive to March 1.

Accounts were passed as follows: Paysheet No. 4, roads, $21.70; Lakefield High School, $1,000; Public School $800; Paysheet No. 5, roads, buildings, $54.90; Bell Telephone Company, $5.31; F. L. Erskine, supplies rink, $48.98; Lakefield Hydro-Electric Commission, $156.08; S. J. Charlton, insurance, hall and rink, $375.50; Ontario Hospital patient, $45.50; W. J. Charlton, wood, $9.00; Davis & Charlton, gas, grader for roads, $3.74; Clarence Foster, repairing grader, $7.35; D. H. Webster, livery, roads, $1.75; W. B. Gordon, legal costs, $11.70; Review Printing Company, book, $2.16; A. H. Clark, firemen, telephone account, payroll, $73.62; T. H. Hill, ration books and freight $2.50; S. Richardson, operating grader, $40.00; C. W. Payne charity, $8.00; T. W. Chaplin, stamps, $8.00; total, $873.79.

ASIA'S GETAWAY

CHAPTER XVIII

"Allan!" He marvelled at the way Asia's wonderful eyes were suddenly lighted by the fire of new hope. "You've come to save me! He will—he will shoot me, that Escobar!"

"I believe that's the idea," said Allan. "So think fast, lady! You can drive a car Good! Do you happen to know where I left mine?" She nodded; Poona, she said, had told her. "Okay—here are the keys. Your pals didn't take them from me, thank goodness. Now, you hop in the sedan and beat it for the border—Mexicali. Understand?"

"Yes, yes! But—that devil will catch—me!"

"Leave him to me. I think I can fix him. Got any cash?" She shook her head. "Here's a hundred. Will that get you anywhere?"

"Yes! It will take me in the States to — to where I have resources! Oh, Allan—how can I ever repay you?"

"We-ell, you might send me your address. Write me care of General Delivery, San Diego. Then I will come to you and—er—claim my reward! How's that?"

"Oh, Allan—it will be wonderful! You shall have anything I can give you—everything!"

"Little liar," said Allan to himself cheerfully. He looked around. "Nobody about for the moment," he said aloud. "Get going, Asia, and keep your foot on the gas till you hit the border. Vamose!"

She flashed away on the instant, streaking it for a stand of pines into which her slim shape disappeared. Grinning a little, Allan helped himself to a launch and crossed to the prison island. At least, he reflected, Asia wouldn't face a firing squad in the States.

He was serious, however, when he met Escobar coming down the steps of the bungalow. The officer was smiling and gay till Allan summoned this courage aid spoke bluntly to the point.

"You won't like it, but—I've just set Asia free."

"The devil you have!" For the first time, Allan saw the colonel really angry; his brow was a thundercloud, his eyes were coals of fire. "You carry sentiment a bit too far, senor! That woman—"

"I gave her my car and she's headed for Mexicali by now. I'm going to carry sentiment a little farther, Colonel. I was able to do you a small service once, and you promised to return the favor. I'm going to ask you to see she is allowed to cross the border unchecked."

There was a moment of silence so deep it could be felt. Then Escobar bowed—the coldest, most ironical bow Allan had ever seen.

"You shall have the favor you ask, senor, with my compilments—and contempt!"

* * *

That was too much. Allan flushed an angry red, but before he could open his mouth to protest, a step sounded on the tiles behind the colonel. Kay Sargent appeared from the foyer, and one look at her white face told Allan she must have heard the conversation. She spoke to him without meeting his eyes.

"My father, Mr. Steele?"

"He's over in the shed where they put your car. I have come to get you and bring you to him—"

"I wouldn't dream of troubling you. Colonel Escobar, will you take me across?"

"Senorita! With pleasure! Your servant always!"

"Kay For heaven's sake, listen, will you—"

Her lifted chin told him she wouldn't. The colonel extended his elbow. She put her fingertips on his arm. And at the last she couldn't resist a touch of feminine malice. She looked at Allan.

"You are becoming more adept at intrigue, I see. This time you remembered to wipe off the lipstick!"

They turned together and took the path to the pier. Alan sat down on the bungalow steps and watched their stiff, retreating backs. He felt angry, miserable and dispirited. When the pair reached the dock, he saw them pause as the colonel accepted a dispatch case from a newly arrived messenger. Then they were in the launch—pushing off—and no backward glance from Kay! He dropped his chin in his hands and stared glumly at the ground.

He was still sitting in the same spot and the same attitude 20 minutes later when Escobar came striding back, his spurs jingling briskly, to halt a few paces before him. Allan looked up. The colonel was grave, but no longer appeared angry. He saluted formally.

"I believe I owe you an apology—Captain Steele!"

"I believe you do," said Allan. "Forget it." He added after a moment. "How did you find out?"

"It was not difficult. I was interested in a young man who came to Lower California in mid-summer to take photographs. I had inquiries made in San Francisco. The editor of the Golden Horn Review confirmed your story. However, our men are very thorough; they also inquired of the minor members of the magazine staff and they had never heard of a Mr. Allan Steele. That was the report I received."

"I get it. So then—?"

* * *

"So then I began remembering little things I noticed about you. The way you rode you horse like a soldier. The way you started once to salute me, then lifted your hat instead. I suggested a possibility to your agents in California. Your army list showed a Capt. Allan Steele, U.S. Cavalry, stationed at San Diego but at present 'detached for special duty!' The report reached me only a few minutes ago. I realized at once the special duty could only mean you came to San Saba as a secret agent for your government, possibly in search for Dr. John Sargent and his daughter." He paused as if waiting for Allan to speak, but the American remained silent. "Your regulations, no doubt, forbade your revealing your status to me—or anyone."

"Yes, I couldn't tell— anyone. I know now just how you felt when you said you had to put yourself in a bad light with your friends because they did not know you were in the Mexican secret service."

"Quite so. It is too bad we have to masquerade ourselves, sometimes, in order to unmask others. Incidentally, I can see now you had more than a sentimental interest in releasing the lovely Asia."

Oh, sure. She'd have been wasted on you, Colonel—you only wanted to shoot her—but she can be very useful to me. I'll get our border officials on the phone long before she reaches Mexicali and Calexico." He went on a trifle sententiously: 'The American eagle has eyes, Colonel Escobar. Those eyes will be on her from the moment she sets foot in the States till she leads us to Gen. Baron Kazunari Sagoya; and they will be on Sagoya till he leads us to a certain German agent who was in on this Japanese camouflage; and they'll be on the Nazi agent until he innocently reveals the location of the secret Nazi base in the Pacific from which that bomber must have come this morning, summoned by Watanbe before a bullet put him out."

"Splendid! I knew that would be your program, for it is exactly the clever strategy I would have adopted in your place," said the colonel artlessly. "And now, Captain Steele, our masquerade here is ended. You will be going home—and to the further pursuit of Asia, no doubt! But some day, when this mad world is sane again, you will come to see me in Mexico City, I hope. We will talk over these strange times. And you will bring Senora Steele, eh? She, too, will have memories."

"Senora Steele!" Allan laughed shortly. "You're wrong there, Colonel. I'm more likely to lead her to jail than to the altar!"

"Poof! I dont mean Asia! I mean the equally charming young lady who is waiting for you with her father—over there!" The officer jerked his head toward the Peninsula. "You will find her very penitent, very anxious to make amends for having misjudged you."

"What!" Allan came to his feet like a jack in the box, his heart beating wildly. "Do you mean to say you—you—?"

"Why not? After all, what are your government regulations to me?" Escobar's white teeth were flashing in a smile as he held out his hand. "I knew you couldn't tell her, my friend, so—I did!"

St. John's YPU Meeting At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, April 15 (ENS)—Rev. J. W. Wilkinson of Havelock was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of St. John's Y.P.U. held on Monday evening when several guests from both Trent River and Havelock attended and assisted with the program.

The meeting was in charge of the Fellowship Convenors, Mrs. Cecil Stephens and Miss Jessie Gratton, and following the opening hymn, Miss Jerrine Brown of Trent River gave a vocal solo accompanied by Mrs. D. Dart. Miss Betty Johnston gave a piano solo and Miss Helen Young provided the guitar accompaniment for a vocal number by herself and Russell Young. After a vocal solo by Miss Margaret Johnston Mrs. Stephens gave a talk on the author of the hymn "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Miss Jessie Gratton read the scripture and following this Rev. Wilkinson delivered a very inspiring message on "The Power of God Released at Easter."

Mission Work in West China

A review of some of the Missionary work done by the United Church Mission in West China was presented as one of the interesting features of the monthly meeting of St. John's W.M.S., which met on Tuesday afternoon. The synopsis was given by Mrs. W. A. Johnson, who spoke at length on the valued work being contributed in this section of China among the thousands of refugees who have been forced to flee before the invading Japanese. Mrs. A. J. Armour, vice-president, presided for the meeting, which opened with a hymn and the customary monthly reports from the treasurer and secretary. The Community Friendship Secretary, Mrs. C. W. Turner, told members she had made 52 calls during the month, while other ladies in thte group were responsible for 24 others. During the business period Mrs. H. Free gave some information regarding the bale which will be packed by members on April 29th and she emphasized that there was still a need for a considerable amount of "good used clothing."

The program was in charge of Mrs. C. K. Stephens and following a hymn, Mrs. Rannie read the Scripture lesson and an Easter paper, after which Mrs. Slush led in prayer. "Courage and Faith" was the title of an Easter leaflet presented by Mrs. Stephens with the assistance of Mesdames Sloggett, Hore, Bakes, and Miss Casey.

Guild Holds Bridge

Christ Church Parish Guild held what was described as a very successful bridge and euchre party in the Parish Hall on Monday evening, which was made possible by the Men's Club, who withdrew their regular meeting for that night. Winners of the bridge prizes were Mrs. O. Hartley and Mr. F. Chapman and the euchre awards went to Mrs. Walter Blake and Mr. Harry Bennett. Guild president, Mrs. R. A. Linton presented the prizes to the winning players and in doing so pointed out that they were all donated by members. She expressed appreciation for the generous support the affair was given and also to all who assisted in arranging it and providing the refreshments.

Big RAF Raiders Kept Grounded

LONDON, April 15—(CP).—Some Royal Air Force activity over Germany last night was reported informed quarters today but bad weather was said to have kept most of Britain's big bomber squadrons on the ground.

German raiders attacked coastal districts in eastern and northeastern England last night, taking some lives but nowhere causing extensive damage or casualties a communique announced.

One raider stabbed inland "some distance toward the northwest," it said.

Near one northeastern town bombs smashed a garden shelter where nine members of two families had sought refuge. Four persons were killed outright; the remaining five were sent to hospitals.

'Slaves' Begin Turning

LONDON, April 15 (CP).—Evidence that British broadcasts are arousing the inhabitants of Nazi-occupied countries against the German occupation forces was given today in an exchange telegraph report from Stockholm that a German court at Ghen had sentenced 14 Belgians to death on charges of murder, sabotage, possession of weapons, communist activity and anti-German propaganda.

The court, said the agency, decided that the accused were "to a high degree influenced by broadcasts from Britain" and imposed the sentences as an example to others who listened to the BBC's hints for secret work against Germany.

Spring Grain Needed For Feed Purposes

The growing of spring grain for feed purposes will be urged upon farmers until the new seeding is completed, F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative in this county, sasid this morning.

"This continent is desperately short of edible oils as a result of the events of the war in the last six months," Mr. Paterson said. "Stress is being placed in the United States this season on a vastly greater production of vegetables which yield oil. Just as indication of that was shown in the Examiner a few days ago in the appeal for an increase of 157% in the crop of peanuts. It may be that grain feeds in the United States might not be much more than normal. We cannot tell what the situation will be. News from the west says Alberta is dry, and so the emphasis in this part of Ontario is being turned to a bigger spring planting."

Mr. Paterson referred to the meeting here Monday of agricultural representatives of eight counties from Ontario county to Frontenac and Prince Edward with Toronto officials of the Department.

Agricultural surveys of these counties, carried on during the winter, were considered separately during the morning and afternoon sessions, and their facts collated. Need of more co-operation by farmers is general, neighborly, helping and making best use of available machinery, use of students, greater care of farm machinery, these were some of the general recommendations emanating from farmers themselves.

it made people like to come and buy from him.

And Mama found out that having caught up with Jones in the matter of an address didn't end the race. It called for more speed. The baby had to have hand-made clothes like the Jones' infant had, and Mama had to sit up half the night stitching her poor eyes out to make them. The children had to go to the swanky school the Jones' children went to, and have the same sort of sweaters and caps and shoes and bicycles and skates that the Jones' children had, and Mama had to have a near-mink coat because Mrs. Jones had a real one, and the first of every month became as much of a horror as the crack of doom.

And they had to give cocktail parties because the Joneses did, though the family lived on bread and water to pay for the liquor. And Mama was lonesome because she had given up all of her good old friends, who knew and loved her, to try to get in with Mrs. Jones' crowd who snooted her. And many was the time when she wished that she was leaning over the back fence, when she went to hang out the wash, talking to Mrs. O'Flarety next door, instead of sitting alone in the drawing room in which she never felt at home.

The Day of Reckoning

And then at last the inevitable end came. Mrs. A. on her shoestring couldn't keep up with Mrs. Jones with her wad, and with health gone, happiness gone, the children ruined by having been reared in an atmosphere of false standards and pretense, she knew at last that she was beaten.

Perhaps the silver lining to the war cloud is going to be that when we all have to give up extravagant standards of living and be poor together, and when it is going to be fashionable to wear our old clothes and live simply, it will keep a lot of silly women from wrecking themselves and their families by trying to keep with with the Joneses.

AUCTION SALES

AUCTION MARKET, SATURDAY — Horses, Stocker Cattle, Six Sets Harness, Horse Collars. — J. H. Miles, Auctioneer.

Last year they expected to place 10,000 but wound up with 23,000 assisting with various phases of farm work and inJuly and August there was a demand for ten times as many as were available. An estimated 25,000 to 30,000 young people who will be placed on farms during the coming summer "will go a long way towards helping the individual farmer boost production."

"A good high school boy will prove to be a great help if a little common sense is used in the beginning," said William Goodfellow, vice-president of the Federation in Northumberland, who succeeded Mr. Hall as speaker. Other items in the program were vocal solos by Francis DeCarrol and Mrs. Gerald Ackerman.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, April 16

Happy and propitious auguries are to be found in this day's astrological map, according to both lunar and mutual aspects., While business interests are under lively and productive incitements perhaps these may be overshadowed by personal, social, affectional, domestic or artistic engagements and activities. The young with their aims and progress are quite to the fore, whether in an intellectual, artistic or emotional expression. There may be surprising twists to the fortunes, with speculative enterprises or unlooked for benefits.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of much progress, enterprise and expansion, with unusual opportunity for the young, ambitious and resourceful. This may reach far in diverse fields of endeavor, with success and satisfaction probably attaining surprising heights of expression and good fortune. There are certain speculative stimuli as well as a decided stabiling force, excepting where public, group or community interests may be disappointing.

A child born on this day should have great intellectual or artistic talent, assuring professional, dramatic, literary or other creative ability.

Teach Self Piano This Simple Way

Compliments For Her Playing

To be sought out and admired is delightful! If you'd like it to happen to you learn the piano.

You can teach yourself to play, thanks to a simple method of learning that numbers of people are discovering.

You have a "life-size" chart showing the most used part of the piano keyboard and right beside each pictured key is the note which is its music-staff symbol.

Placing the chart behind your real keyboard, you see at once which key to strike for each note.

You see, too, that your keyboard just repeats the same seven white and five black keys throughout. Our diagram shows you the notes and seven white keys from Middle C to the C above. Learn these and you've taken your first step in playing.

Then you'll progress to time values, know how to count for waltz or fox-trot. There's a short-cut method of playing popular music, too, using simple chords.

From our 24-page instruction book you can learn this short-cut method in detail, soon be entertaining your friends. Has keyboard chart, table of chords; three pieces for practise.

TEACH SELF PIANO THIS SIMPLE WAY

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps for your copy of "Quick Course in Piano Playing" to The Examiner Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of instruction book.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

FAVORING A SUIT CONTRACT

WHENEVER your partner has bid a No-Trump game and you have previously shown only one of two good suits, it is bad business to pass, unless he has made it perfectly clear that he has both of the other suits well stopped. Otherwise the opponents may run one of them against him. It is better in such a situation to show the other suit at the range of four, even if it is a minor.

North: ♠ K Q 10 9 ♥ K J ♦ J 10 7 5 ♣ Q 8 3

West: ♠ 5 3 ♥ 9 8 6 2 ♦ 4 2 ♣ K 9 5 4 2

East: ♠ A J 8 7 2 ♥ 4 3 ♦ Q 8 ♣ A J 10 6

South: ♠ 6 4 ♥ A Q 10 7 5 ♦ A K 9 6 3 ♣ 7

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 ♠	Dbl	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 NT

East led the club J, which was won by the K, and West returned the 4 to the 8 and 10. The club A dropped the Q and the 6 was led to the 9. The 5 then set the contract one trick, and the spade A beat it another.

South should never have let his partner play that deal in a No Trump game without showing his diamond suit. He should have done that for two purposes, one positive and one negative. The negative one was the danger that something might occur just like what did happen. The positive reason was that bidding 4-Diamonds might possibly have been the key to a slam at one of the red suits, if North held a slightly different hand. As it turned out, 5-odd would have been easy at either suit.

South, of course, should not have doubled on his first turn, but should have bid either 2-Hearts or 3-Hearts, preferably the latter.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ 9 4 3 ♥ K J 6 4 ♦ K J 7 5 ♣ Q 5

West: ♠ 8 6 ♥ 10 9 7 3 2 ♦ 8 2 ♣ 6 4 3 2

East: ♠ Q J 10 7 5 2 ♥ A ♦ 9 6 3 ♣ K 10 7

South: ♠ A K ♥ Q 8 5 ♦ A Q 10 4 ♣ A J 9 8

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

After East bids 1-Spade, South doubles, West passes and North calls 3-Hearts, what is South's logical action?

OMEMEE, April 15 — (ENS). — The Omemee Council met on Thursday night in the Council Chamber, with Reeve Bent in the chair, and Councillors Parsons, Douglas, and Burgess present. Correspondence was read from Muskoka Hospital, Chinese War Relief Fund, and the Department of Municipal Affairs.

The Chinese War Relief Fund was given permission to hold a tag day in the village on May 30, and the Institute for the Blind was granted permission for a tag day on May 16.

The treasurer reported that all accounts were paid with a balance of $1,416.05 in the bank. Miss Patricia Harris, treasurer of the Arena, gave a report for past season which showed that receipts from season tickets had been $159, from door receipts $653, from booth $680, and rents $51, or total receipts of $1,533. With all expenses paid the Arena Committee handed to the village a cheque for $369. Insurance premium of $140 is paid by the Council.

Constable Dixon reported that two charges had been laid under the Highway Traffic Act, and the cases settled out of court. Five transients had overnight lodgings during March.

The clerk was authorized to have bills printed for a clean-up day on May 7.

A budget of expenditures for 1942 was decided on as follows: Salaries $1,330, printing $100, Coronation Hall $250, street lights $1,000, roads and sidewalks $1,000, debenture $730, Fire Department $125, Arena $75, insurance $310, grants $100, miscellaneous $350.

Following accounts were ordered paid:

Street lights, $82.17; L. Morcombe funeral, $43; J. A. Bent, registry office expenses, $1.95; J. Magee, rink account, $3.00; C. E. Jones, rink account, $8.00; Peterborough Examiner, $8.40; licence fire truck, $2; licence motorcycle, $1.00; clerk, postage, $1.50; telephone, police, $2.56; Municipal World acconut, $2.03; R. J. Grandy, premium Fire Hall, $27.00; J. M. Dixon, salary, $83.34; J. M. Dixon, expenses, $1.20; Muskoka Hospital account Willard Rehill, $12.00; G. Lloyd, streets, $7.88; R. W. Mitchell, account, $31.34; total, $318.66.

Conucil adjourned to meet on May 4.

Submarine Lockinvar Hailed In Court

Courtanety Berg, the young U.S. submarine sailor who went A.W.O.L. from his Pacific coast station, borrowed a car (while the owner wasn't looking) and drove to New York to marry the gal he left behind, is shown with his bride in felony court. Courtney got into a peck of trouble on account of his romance, but it seems that all concerned were willing to forgive—that is, all except the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The G-men have it in for Courtney on account of the Dyer Act, which makes it a Federal offence to transport a stolen car across a state line.

2 Fliers Make Fortress Of 4 Wrecks Fly 11 From Bandung Over Jap Dead

By CLARK LEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 15 (AP)—The two airmen had never taken up a Flying Fortress before...

But they patched this one up from the parts of three damaged ones—then had to do the job over because the Japanese attacked the airport and sent bullets through the carburetor and magneto.

But finally they cleared the dead Japanese off the runway, took off in the light of a lantern, and with child refugees stowed in the bomb bay and without instruments or maps flew their bullet-pierced four-motored bomber from Bandung in Java across the Indian Ocean to Australia.

They are here now.

Capt. Gerald Cherymisin of Altaloma, Calif., and Sgt. Harry Hayes, San Antonio, Tex., dismissed the whole exploit with the explanation: "Neither of us could have done it without the other."

The two Americans flew the patched-up plane, last Allied aircraft to escape from Bandung before the Japanese captured that former Allied headquarters, also saved three Netherlands air force officials and eight women and children of Indies officials.

They used parts from three partly wrecked Fortress planes to make one serviceable craft, working with Malayan mechanics for 4½ days in the Bandung railway shops.

They finished their work the afternoon of March 7 and were just preparing to take off when—Japanese planes swooped low and landed 75 parachutists.

Another Surprise

Simultaneously a small Japanese force which had approached undetected began to attack.

The Netherlands and Javanese defenders of the airport went into action and soon wiped out the parachutists and their comrades.

They cleared the runways of bodies and Sgt. Hayes tuned up the motors. Then he discovered that two of the engines were not functioning. During the shooting bullets had gone through one magneto and one carburetor.

They worked all night to repair the damage and finally were ready to hop off at 4 a.m. on March 8.

Neither Cherymisin nor Hayes had ever taken a Fortress off the ground before, but both had plenty of flying experience. Cherymisin had had two years in China and afterward was with Pan American in South America and with the Royal Netherlands Air Lines in the East Indies.

Hayes had flown in Flying Fortresses since 1936 and had taken the controls while in flight to Peru, Honolulu and across Africa to the East Indies.

Mrs. Sandercock New Head Of Fenella W.I.

FENELLA, April 15 — (ENS). — The ladies of the Fenella W.I. held their annual meeting in the hall on Thursday with 21 members and three visitors present. The president, Mrs. C. McNaught opened the meeting with the Institue Ode, followed by the Creed. A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. Hugh Sherwin for a plant sent her during her illness.

Mrs. G. Isaac gave the Sunshine report, stating two good cheer boxes and one plant had been sent to sick members during the month. The roll call was "What war work I have done during the year."

Reports were given by the officers of the past year's work. Mrs. C. Childs gave the financial report, stating a balance was on hand of $33.44; Mrs C Leach, auditor's report; Mrs. M. Lonsberry reported $55.20 raised for war work, with a balance on hand of $5.41. Mrs. McNaught reported a very successful year as president

Mrs. R. Eagleson was appointed chair lady, Mrs. C. Childs secretary, Mrs S. Elder and Miss Shirley George scrutineers for the selection of officers. The officers elected were: President, Mrs Eric Sandercock; 1st vice-president, Mrs. R. Eagleson; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. C. McNaught; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Charles Childs; district director, Mrs N. C. Leach; branch directors Mrs. T. Bates, Mrs. B. McDonald, Mrs G. Isaac; Sunshine Committee, Mrs B. Macklin, Mrs. G. Isaac, and Mrs. Delbert Adams; committee to visit the sick, Mrs. W. H. Sandercock, Miss Ruby Adams, Mrs. B. Macklin, and Miss Ruby Herrington; pianist, Mrs. P. Macklin; assistant pianist, Mrs. G. Isaac; press reported, Mrs. C. Childs and auditors, Mrs. G. Jewell and Mrs. J. Waldie.

By motion it was decided the secretary handle the money raised for war work. Mrs. S. Leach moved a vote of thanks to the retiring officers of the past year.

It was decided to have a salvage of paper, rags, aluminum, rubber, etc., the date to be set at the next meeting.

The May meeting will be held in the hall with Mrs. J. Waldie as hostess. Mrs. M. Lonsberry and Mrs. Delbert Adams volunteered for the Program Committee. Ian McLead, district agricultural representative, is to be invited as the guest speaker and there will be an exchange of seeds and bulbs. Mrs. Percy Macklin, Mrs. Bruce Macklin, and Mrs. H. Harper were appointed a committee to make out a roll call program.

Five quilts were displayed which were made for the Red Cross and also a scarf knit by the family of Mrs. T. Madge and donated for war work.

The program, with Mrs. Eric Sandercock as convener, was as follows: Reading "A Flower Garden," by Mrs. L. Campbell; community singing; reading, "People Will Talk" by Mrs. W. H. Sandercock. Lunch was served and all enjoyed a social half-hour.

Curtin Defence Chief

MTLBOURNE, April 15—(CP).—Prime Minister John Curtin was sworn in today as defence minister to enable him to serve more effectively as a link between the government and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander of United Nations forces in the Southwest Pacific.

The ministry of defence will supplant the former department of defence co-ordination. The change represents a major regrouping of service ministerial functions.

New Defence, AA Schools Ordered For West

HALIFAX, April 15—(CP).—Establishment of two new training schools—one a huge establishment for coastal defence and anti-aircraft gunnery at nearby Dartmouth and the other for advanced battle training of troops "somewhere in the West"—were announced here yesterday by Defence Minister Ralston.

Work on the Dartmouth school, which will train 1,000 men at a time, would begin at once, Mr. Ralston said at a press conference. There soldiers will be trained to guard Canada's coasts in the only school of its kind in the Dominion.

Col. Frederick Scott, recently returned from England, will command the western school where men picked from units all across Canada will be given a "toughening course and renturn to their units as instructors, Col. Ralston said.

The Defence Minister said the work of coast defenders was "magnificent," but added they received little credit and were "the forgotten men of our war effort." He said a "very great improvement" had been made in eastern Canadian coast defences.

Col. Ralston leaves today for a tour of Cape Breton defences. Yesterday he and his staff were accompanied by Col. C. S. Craig, fortress commander, and Maj.-Gen. W. H P. Elkins, officer commanding the Atlantic coast area, on a visit to defences in the Halifax region.

Ottawa Debates Beef Situation

OTTAWA, Ajril 15—(CP). — The beef cattle situation was to be studied at a meeting of representatives of livestock producers, called by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, which assembled in Ottawa today.

H. H. Hannah of Toronto, Federation president, said representatives from several provinces were expected to attend the private discussions.

The beef cattle situation was spotlighted recently by sparse deliveries to Eastern Canadian markets. Mr. [illegible]nnam said winter prices for cattle were a matter for consideration at the meeting as there was a question whether cattle still could be brought profitably from the West to the East for feeding, or whether they would be shipped to the United States.

Preliminary discussions were held this morning and Federation officials said further delegates were expected this afternoon.

"FINISH THE JOB!"

MANY of the materials that go to make a C.C.M. Bicycle and the machines which convert them are the same type of materials and the identical machines we are using to produce war supplies—war supplies that are vital to John Bull to help him "Finish the Job." Naturally, then, we are not making so many bicycles.

We are rigidly maintaining, however, the established high standard of C.C.M. quality and C.C.M. accuracy in the making of every last bicycle for which we can obtain material.

Not only are we maintaining quality and accuracy, but we are gaining a great new wealth of manufacturing experience and learning new methods, processes and of new materials that will be passed on to you in the C.C.M. Bicycles of the future which we will make when "Peace breaks out again."

In the meantime, You do what you can to keep your bicycle (if you have one) on the road, or, if you are a war worker, perhaps your C.C.M. dealer can get you a new C.C.M. Bicycle. You do that and we will make what bicycles we can, and at the same time plenty of war supplies to help John Bull "Finish the Job!"

Premier King Debates Canada's Interests With Pacific Council

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 16.—(CP)—Closer integration of Canada's war effort with that of the United States was seen here today as a likely outcome of conversations between Prime Minister Mackenzie King and President Roosevelt.

Mr. King returned to his private railway car at noon today after a stay of nearly 24 hours as a White House guest, during which he lunched, dined and breakfasted with the President, and he went again for lunch today after an hours work with his secretarial staff.

Also during that period Mr. King attended yesterday afternoon's long meeting of the Pacific War Council, presided over by the President.

"It was a most interesting and valuable experience," Mr. King said today of yesterday's council meeting. "Canada's interests in the Pacific were discussed and the opportunity to be there was well worth my visit to Washington."

"Then, the Canadian representative at these meetings is not there merely as an observer?" the Prime Minister was asked.

"He certainly is not," Mr. King replied.

Talks Continuing

He said he had enjoyed long conversations with the President on matters affecting the two countries, and would have further talks with him at today's luncheon meeting.

This afternoon Mr. King will confer with Leighton McCarthy, Canadian minister, and at four o'clock he will be received at the state department by Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state in the absence of

Trap Shooting On Barred List

OTTAWA, April 16—(CP)—Civilian trap and skeet shooting except under sponsorship of the Defence Department and use of small arms ammunition at fairs and exhibitions and in commercial shooting galleries has been banned, the Munitions and Supplies Department announced today.

The new order, issued by Supplies Controller Alan H. Williamson and approved by R. C. Berkinshaw, chairman of the Wartime Industries Control Board, does not restrict the use of rifle ammunition for members of recognized rifle clubs, or use of ammunition for hunting.

"Because there are many rural residents, trappers, and others who depend on on wild game for their fresh meat, we will not prohibit the use of ammunition for hunting," said Mr. Williamson.

Norwegian Gunners Pick Off Axis Seawolf In Running Battle As Ship Takes Punishment But Wins Fight Off Brazilian Sub Lair

RIO DE JANEIRO, April 16 — (AP).—Reports of a running sea fight in which the armed Norwegian merchantman Baalbek sank an Axis submarine were received here today.

The action, these reports said, took place off Brazil's inlet-indented, island-screened north coast where one or more undersea raiders, mostly striking by night, apparently have been trying to cut the sea-lanes between the Americas.

It was learned that 34 survivors of an oil tanker identified variously as the Ben Bush or the Ben Brush have reached shore after the torpedoing of their ship last Sunday north of Natal.

That is the same area where reports authorized for publication on Monday said the United States tankers T. C. McCobb, 7,452 tons, and Eugene V. R. Thayer, 7,138 tons, and the 2,161-ton Norwegian freighter Balkis were torpedoed last week.

Survivors were brought ashore from the Eugene V. R. Thayer and the Balkis, both reported sunk, but there has been no further word of the McCobb.

In the case of the Ben Bush or Ben Brush the submarine attacked by daylight.

The Baalbek was reported to have been damaged but afloat after sinking the submarine.

Air Battles Shift to France

Spitfires Keep Hun Busy While Bombers Do Their Work

LONDON, April 16 (CP)—British and German fliers fought bitter air battles high over France today as the R.A.F., still hitting on an around-the-clock schedule, smashed back in a daylight offensive following heavy attacks on the Ruhr last night.

Two Nazi planes were reported authoritatively as having been shot down in the dogfighting this morning.

The air ministry news service said three others were damaged by R.A.F. fighters during the sweep in which bomb-bearing Hurricanes scored hits on railroad sidings and the dock area of Dunkirk.

None of the Hurricane bombers or their Spitfire escort was hit during the sweep, the service said.

In one sky battle, it reported, a wing of Spitfires engaged 12 FW 109's at 20,000 feet and "probably destroyed" two of the German planes.

The Spitfires were so high, however, that their pilots could not see the end of their victims.

In another, still higher battle, it said, the leader of the R.A.F. fighter squadron drilled another FW-109 which "rolled over and went steeply down with smoke pouring from it."

The service also reported that a lone Spitfire, on shipping reconnaissance, spotted a 200-ton German torpedo boat in the Channel and dived on it from 5,000 feet with cannon and machine guns firing.

It said the boat was damaged in the dive attack, which the pilot kept up until his plane was almost touching water.

The night attack on the Ruhr was the second large-scale penetration of Germany in as many nights.

Four planes were announced as missing from the night attacks which also included raids on St. Nazaire, docks at Le Havre and airdromes in the Low Countries.

Krupps Well Pasted

The Ruhr, site of the Krupp works and other industries which form a backbone of the Nazi war effort, caught most of 1,000 tons of bombs dropped on Germany last week and observers expressed belief it was well on the way toward receiving another 1,000 tons this week.

Sunday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights the valley targets were blasted in attacks officially described as heavy.

Plane formations droned over the Channel coast at Folkestone soon after dawn and observers heard the distant explosion of bombs and anti-aircraft fire 1½ hours before they returned.

Yanks Hit Manila From Secret Base

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer.

U.S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 1. — (AP).—Brig.-Gen. Ralph Royce, volunteer leader of the bomber squadron which delivered the United States' first long distance smash in the Philippines, disclosed to-day that the raiders used a base hidden in the islands, protected by fighter planes, and provisioned it for future use.

Twelve of the 13 which for two days wrought destruction and dismay among the enemy at the start of the week ferried 44 passengers on their return trip to Australia —10 crewmen from a fortress bomber lost on the foray and 34 army men and civilians from Bataan, Corregidor and other island points.

Most of the evacuees were airmen, indicating that while the Americans still have fighting planes in tre islands, as Royce said, they have a surfeit of men to fly them.

Royce said that the morale of the men left behind was excellent, especially now that they have plenty of food. The American fighter planes co-operated with the Australian-based bombers, shooting down two Japanese planes tha tried to attack the bomber squadron.

The hidden field served the 10 medium and three fortress bombers as a forward base on their 4,000-mile round trip attack. The fortress craft lost on the flight was grounded there, having an engine changed, when a Japanese bomb hit destroyed it in flames.

The advance base may figure prominently in future attacks, for the assaults of last Sunday and Monday were acclaimed here as only a sample of heavier blows still to be delivered in an effort to turn the tide of battle in the southwest Pacific.

Indeed, Australia's Prime Minister, John Curtin, declared to-day that the Royce exploit showed that the tide of the war was turning against Japan. He added that it was but the first drive into the heart of Japanese military positions and in time would be followed by the operations of vast air fleets.

Enough for Real Taste.

About 110 tons of bombs were dropped on the enemy in Davao, Mindanao and Luzon in the two days in which the bomber force dominated the skies in its theatres of operation. Topping the list of successes was the sinking of four transports and hits on four others, including one probably sunk.

The chief significance of the raid, however, lay not in the destruction achieved but in the mere fact that an opening blow had been struck despite the terrific odds of distance and Japanese air power in the islands.

In comparison with the still unfolding story of this raid, the con-

THE Vichy radio broadcast today that a fire had been burning for two days in Fontainebleau, the town famous for its palace and forest, and had burned 250 homes. Fontainebleau is two miles from the left bank of the Seine and 37 miles southeast of Paris.

The combined efforts of German army units and French fire fighters were said to have confined the fire within a restricted area, where, however, it was still burning.

More than 600 acres of the famous Fountainebleau forest was reported destroyed.

Proposals Via Stockholm All Rebuffed

Hitler Said Anxious To Close Coast Door Go All-Out On Reds

LONDON, April 16. — (CP).—Stockholm dispatches in the London morning newspapers said that Hitler again is sending out peace feelers to Britain.

These feelers are being rebuffed as thoroughly as those made last spring before the German attack on Russia, the papers added.

The peace bid was prompted, the Daily Mail reported, by German fears of an Allied landing on the continent and by misgivings for the success of the eastern front spring offensive unless the German rear is protected.

A Cologne banker who is a close friend of Franz Von Papen, the German ambassador to Turkey, was sent to Stockholm to get in touch wtih British envoys, the Mail dispatch said, adding that "he at last has given up the mission as useless."

"It appears that his main purpose was an old one—to persuade Britain that a secretly-admiring Hitler is only too anxious to make peace with her so that he can deal with the 'common enemy'—European Bolshevism.

"He also let it be known that the Germans were concerned at the scope of the Japanese successes and feared that if they were not checked world domination might be wrested from German hands by despised Asiatic people.

"With these appeals were coupled the usual boasts—'If you don't accept this last offer we shall wipe the British Empire off the face of the earth when we have finished with Stalin'."

Power Of Seizure

Washington, April 16 (AP)

SENATOR Sheridan Downey (Dem-Calif.) today introduced a bill that would give the President power to seize any and all privately-owned automobiles.

At the same time, the California Senator recommended that immediate steps be taken to "remove some 10,000,000 cars from the roads and place them in a vast pool to meet a serious transportation crisis we can expect within a year or so."

Ready To Cooperate

LONDON, April 16—(CP).—The Swiss radio reported today that the Japanese government has informed the International Red Cross at Geneva it is prepared to give, as far as possible, information concerning prisoners of war and civilian internees in Japanese hands.

Japan also agreed to apply the prisoners of war convention on a basis of reciprocity, the broadcast said. The Tokyo government also accepted the offer of the Red Cross to transmit news to and from Japanese war prisoners and civilian internees held by the United Nations, according to the radio.

No Crowd Cheers As Laval Chooses Cabinet

BERNE Switzerlanl, April 16 (CP)—Pierre Laval, advocate of French co-operation with Hitler, completed the formation of a new government in Vichy tonight in which he assumed the post of "Chief of the government."

Laval, in political resurgence, came back today from Paris and his first conference with the old marshal lasted nearly an hour.

(Reports reaching Berne indicated that the new Vichy cabinet line-up probably would not be made public until tomorrow.)

Laval, once heir-designate to Petain, and strong advocate of co-operation with Hitler, arrived shortly before noon after having spent his time since Tuesday in the German-occupied former capital, where he had conferred with several of his fellow collaborationists.

His large black limousine drew up before the Government Hotel mid a silent crowd of 2,000 Frenchmen who had gathered throughout the morning. Without pausing or turning his head, the short, swarthy Laval entered the building accompanied by Fernand de Brinon, Vichy's representative in Paris.

Both were closeted immediately with Petain. They left about an hour later.

TROUBLE IN FRANCE

BERNE, Switzerland.—Dispatches said today there had been numerous reports of mass arrests of persons in France demonstrating against Laval's collaboration and that 25 persons had been executed in Paris in the past few days. Disorders were also reported in German-occupied Belgium.

British, Indian Withdrawal On Irrawady Sector Threatening Chinese Flank

Empire Units Dig In Again Less Than 30 Miles From Major Oil Well Sector As Japs Attempt To Split Allied Arms

CHUNGKING, China, April 16—(AP).—The Japanese are reported pouring 5½ fresh divisions of 85,000 troops into the Burma campaign and two of these divisions already are landing at Rangoon, where 40 transports have been sighted by Royal Air Force fliers, a Chinese military spokesman said today.

(Earlier estimates have placed the strength of the Japanese forces already engaged in Burma at about three divisions. The reinforcements would make the total 8½ divisions, perhaps 150,000 men).

The spokesman announced that the position of the Chinese forces battling the Japanese south of Mandalay had been made still more difficult by the British retreat on the Irrawaddy River sector to the west, dangerously exposing the Chinese right flank.

Another new danger appeared yesterday on the Chinese left when it became evident, according to a Chinese communique, that a Japanese drive northwestward from Thailand into the Shan States of Northern Burma had assumed the proportions of an offensive.

This drive, apparently aimed at cutting the railway between Mandalay and Lashio, threatens the position of the main Chinese forces still holding their ground some 200 miles to the south, above Toungoo.

British Dig In Again.

(A New Delhi communique said British forces had withdrawn up the Irrawaddy from the Migyaunge area but dug in near Yenchaung, just north of Minhla, less than 30 miles from Yenangyaung in the West Burma oil fields.

(The British communique quoted reports from the Chinese headquarters that "steady enemy pressure continues on the Muohla Front," 35 miles up the road from Toungoo, "with their troops moving slowly back and fighting a stubborn delaying action."

(The British authorities declared that their own withdrawal from the Migyanunge area was made possible by covering action of the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry "who for days have fought a magnificent action.")

The Chinese spokesman said that Chinese troops still were holding on at Myohla, but that the flank and rear of their position were threatened seriously by the Japanese advance up the Irrawaddy.

One column was reported moving up the Salween River Valley toward Loikaw from the south-east. Another was said to have reached Yado, 40 miles north-east of Toungoo and approximately half way from Tonugoo to the Karenni capital.

3 Tots Smother, Mother Saves 4th, Jumps Blaze

ORILLIA, Ont., April 16— (CP).—Three young children of Mrs. R. C. Hamilton were asphyxiated in their single bedroom to-day when fire destroyed the upstairs of the home of Mrs. Hamilton's father, Joseph Sova.

Mrs. Hamilton 27, saved her five-year-old daughter Donita, by throwing her out a second-storey window from which she and her aunt, Mrs. C. England of Uxbridge, Ont., jumped to safety. Mrs. Fred Lamb, who was also sleeping in the house, made her way through the flames and got out by the front door.

A little spaniel dog asleep in the children's bedroom also died in the fire.

Mrs. Hamilton's husband, a sapper with the Royal Canadian Engineers, has been overseas since last July.

Bodies of the children were found in their beds by firemen.

Mrs. Hamilton was awakened by the crackling of the flames, believed to have started in the kitchen. Her father Joseph Sova, 65, discovered the fire, but the flames took hold of the downstairs quickly and he was unable to get upstairs to assist the family.

Firemen made several attempts to enter the burning house but were driven back by intense heat.

Mrs. Hamilton suffered injuries from the jump to safety and was removed to hospital.

MacArthur Still Not Sure On Job

U.S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 16—(AP). — A spokesman at Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said today that the General still had not received a directive from Washington formally defining the scope and powers of the supreme command in the southwest Pacific war zone.

(In Washington representatives of the United States, Australia and New Zealand said after a Pacific War Council meeting yesterday that there was absolutely no hitch to MacArthur's command, and reiterated President Roosevelt's statement that MacArthur was in supreme command).

Prime Minister John Curtin said last night that ever since Gen. MacArthur arrived in Australia the Commonwealth Government had

EXTRA!

LONDON— (CP). — The thunderous roar of hundreds of British fighter planes filled the English Channel sky to-day in what coast watchers believed to be the R.A.F.'s greatest daylight sweep of the war against German holdings in France. The roar of battle was even louder than that of 18 months ago when the German air force sent formations numbering as many as 500 planes against Britain in a single day.

Huns Call Von Runstedt From Russia To France

LONDON, pril 16—(CP).—The reported appointment of Field Marshal Gerd Von Runstedt to command German troops in Northern France was accepted by some qualified sources today as an indication that Hitler is doing his utmost to strenthen defences against a possible Allied descent on the coast.

The Daily Mail said he is "the best of the German generals," and is leaving the Russian front immediately for Paris.

An estimate that Nazi forces in Northern France total 20 divisions, is regarded by some authorities as too low. They say, however, the calibre of the troops is inferior.

A Zurich dispatch to Exchange Telegraph said Berlin military circles had mentioned Von Runstedt as a likely successor to Gen. Otto Steulpnagel, military administrator of occupied France.

The report, on the heels of Pierre Laval's return to the Vichy government, gave rise to the belief in some quarters that the Germans may be attaching prime importance to the defence of Vichy as well as to occupied France.

French Fleet Intended to Cut Sea Lanes?

Suspect Hun To Use Own Crews Fearing French May Shy Off Axis Battles

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 16.—(AP)—The increasing threat that Germany may gain control of the French fleet is regarded by naval United States authorities today as a grave menace to Britain's supply lines in the Mediterranean and thus a direct threat to the security of her armies in North Africa.

Beyond this immediate result, these experts said, an out-and-out Vichy-Berlin coalition eventually would jeopardize Anglo-America domination of the North Atlantic supply routes to Britain and Russia, and a general realignment of Allied naval strategy would have to be undertaken.

Some experts suggest the French might have no more stomach for fighting the Axis battle than the Italians seem to have shown to date.

However, despite the British victories at Taranto and Cape Matapan and in various other lesser engagements, the Italian forces in the Mediterranean remain considerable.

There is the possibility the French ships might be surrendered to the Germans, to be fought with German crews. A considerable training period would be necessary for the Germans to become familiar with the arms and working of the vessels.

A portion of the former French fleet now is in Alexandria, demilitarized under an agreement of July, 1940. Britain could seize these vessels if the Germans took the French fleet, but it would take months to put their armament back in place and restore them to fighting condition.

The battleship Lorraine and the cruisers Suffren, Duquesne, Tourville and Duguay-Trouin have been extensively demilitarized. The old battleships Courbet and Paris, also laid up in British ports, were to have been removed from the effective list by the French themselves on completion of the Jean Bart. Neither has done more than 16 knots and the Courbet served the French mainly as a gunnery training ship.

If Germany can bring overwhelming even though qualitatively-inferior forces into the Mediterranean this spring or summer, she can either force Britain out or compel her to bolster her own Mediterranean fleet at the expense of protecting her United States and Russian supply routes.

To force Britain out would mean moving all Allied supplies around Africa to the Red Sea while the Axis meanwhile would have free access across the Mediterranean, and it would also jeopardize the strongholds of Malta and Gibraltar.

Should they gain their ends in the Mediterranean the Axis admirals would then almost certainly try to force an opening through Gibraltar into the Atlantic to upset Allied naval domination there. Once out they might be able to operate in co-operation with the German home fleet, and its powerfully-armed heavy and pocket battleships to disrupt the movement of supplies from America.

Such action probably would have the secondary purpose of weakening the United States Pacific fleet either by forcing transfer of warships from the Pacific to the Atlantic or by preventing the reinforcement of that fleet with new ships.

Many Canadian Types of Ordnance Now In Service

OTTAWA, April 16 (CP).—Eleven Canadian plants have made their first shipment of larger guns, small arms or mountings since the beginning of the year, the Department of Munitions and Supply said today in a statement which also revealed that "several of these types of ordnance already are in service."

"There are now nine types of guns and 11 types of carriages or mountings produced in Canada," the Department said. "Among the more recent units going into production are a new type of four-inch naval gun, a 12-pounder naval gun, naval mountings, a six-pounder anti-tank gun, a 3.7-inch anti-aircraft gun and Boys anti-tank rifles, and Sten mountings, two-inch bomb throwers, machine carbines."

"Other types which have been rolling off the production line previously are: 25-pounder artillery gun and carriages, two types of tank and anti-tank guns and carriages, 40-millimetre anti-aircraft guns and mountings, and numerous types of small arms.

1,500 NAZI PLANES LOST ON RUSSIAN FRONT IN FIVE WEEKS

Boche Units Lose Heavily In Feeler Assaults On Whole Central Front

Spring Thaw Uncovers Bodies Of Slain Huns Victims Of Long Winter Battles; Two German Ships Sunk In Barents Sea

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 16 — (AP). — Major Nikolai Krainev, aviation authority of the government newspaper Izvestia, declared today that Russian forces had destroyed more than 1,000 German planes in March and another 500 in the first 10 days of April alone as the Nazi air force swarmed to the front in spring observations and attacks.

Krainev pointed to this increasing enemy air activity and declared that German air superiority is impossible with the Red air force downing hundreds of planes and the R.A.F. wrecking Nazi plants.

He lauded the R.A.F. bombing of German aviation factories and called on it to attack the heart of Germany.

Squeeze In On Bryansk.

By EDDY GILMORE

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 16—(AP).—Red army units which knifed through the first line of Nazi fortifications in the Bryansk sector southwest of Moscow have advanced and occupied a dozen settlements abandoned by the Germans, dispatches said today.

A central front report related that the Germans are increasing their troop reinforcements constantly for sparring attacks against the Red army.

It cited 18 minor counter attacks by the 263rd German Division. The 63rd Division was said to have tried 12, all failing, and six reserve battalions which recently joined the 63rd were said to have been badly mauled.

Thawing of snowbanks has uncovered the bodies of Germans killed in winter operations, adding to horrible aspects of the front, the dispatch said.

Red army forces have captured another fortified point on the central front.

The exact site of the battle was not identified.

"In the course of the day and night the Germans lost more than 50^ officers and men killed," the Soviet information bureau said.

Corregidor Guns Rake Jap Units

WASHINGTON, April 16—(AP)—The United States War Department reported today that Corregidor's guns scored hits on troop concentrations and truck columns on the Philippines' Bataan Peninsula, and that enemy ammunition dumps were hit and blown up.

Japanese casualties were believed to have been numerous, a communique said.

Fierce fighting continued on the Island of Cebu, more than 300 miles to the south, where the Japanese last week landed an invasion force estimated at 12,000, which was supported by dive bombers and tanks.

Corregidor was raided five times yesterday, but anti-aircraft artillery forced the Japanese planes to fly so high bombing was ineffective.

Lt.-Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, the Philippine commander, reported that in the week since April 9 the fortress island had been raided 65 times, but the War Department said that "despite the almost constant bombing, the damage to military installations has been relatively slight, and the morale of the troops is unimpaired."

The island also was shelled intermittently yesterday by enemy batteries on the north and south shores of Manila Bay.

WCTU Elocution Medals Go To Boy, 4 Girls

LAKEFIELD, April 16.—(ENS).—The winning of their third elocution medals by two girls and the judges' deadlock on placing of a boy medallist featured the annual W.C.T.U. Elocution Contest in the Sunday school auditorium of the United church Tuesday night.

Mary Milburn topped her class of seven contestants to take the gold-plated bronze award for Intermediates 13-15 years, and in the Senior Girls 15 and over Lillian Calberry stood out over three other entrants to win the sterling silver medal.

The Junior Boys' contest proved the sticker. Following the five boys' recitals the three judges debated 25 minutes while the audience sang hymns, watched temperance slides, and then sang more songs to finally have the judges return, and in announcing closing results, report they were baffled on the boys' winner.

They suggested the two boys, George Kelly and Victor Ward recite again and let the audience decide, but the officials, Mrs. W. W. Yale, county superintendent of medal contests, and Mrs. Gordon Mann, vice-president of the W.C.T.U. county organization, vetoed the idea and sent the judges back again, with the final ruling in favor of George Kelly for the bronze medal.

Two other bronze medals were awarded, one to Denise Doubt, placing first in her class of five for girls 9 and under, and to Norma Pue heading the Junior Girls 10-12 years.

Between classes while the judges were out, Mrs. G. S. Kelly conducted several fine temperance readings illustrated with lantern slides in charge of Arnold Jackman. Mrs. Yale made special mention of the fact five Calberry children, Margare, Douglas, Ross, Percy and Lillian had taken part in the contests.

Mrs. W. H. Kells of Belleville, with Mrs Mae Jory and Mrs. J. A. Porter of Lakefield, were judges, Mr. W. W. Yale was chairman, with Mrs Yale, medal contest superintendent, supervising.

Mrs. Gordon Mann presented the medals, having a word of praise for the excellent showing made by the contestants.

Children taking part, names in order of call: Juniors 9 years and under, Denise Doubt 'His Mistake,' Douglas Calberry 'The Old Town Pump,' Francis Erskine 'The Four Leaf Clover,' Margaret Calberry 'Once a Little Mousie,' Elsie Waldon 'Give It Tuh Me'; Junior Boys 10-12, Ross Calberry 'Temperance Birds', Arden Dracup 'Touch Not, Taste Not,' Victor Ward 'The Coveted Grapes,' Herbie Knox 'No Thank You Friend, George Kelly 'Father Hubbard Explains'; Junior Girls 10-12, Norman Pue 'The Coveted Grapes,' Joyce Hutt 'Poor Little Jim,' Leeanna Doubt 'Hoeing and Praying,' Marion Sloan 'The Spider and the Fly,' Winnifred Orr 'A Temperance Story'; Intermediates 131-5, Caroline Trotter 'A Knot of White Ribbon,' Mary Milburn 'Good-night Papa,' Doreen Kelly 'The Knot of White Ribbon,' Jean Spence Two Offerings,' Shirley Graham 'How a Little Girl Emptied the Jug,' Jean Graham 'Where the Cross Roads Meet,' Percy Calberry 'The Mouse Trap'; Seniors 15 and over, Roleen Fitzgerald 'How the Train Came for Lily,' Doreen Northey 'Unfurl the Temperance Flag,' Barbara Brown, 'Good-night Papa," Lillian Calberry 'The Brave Boy.'

Try Girls On C.P. Rewrite Desks

TORONTO, April 16.—(CP)—War may rob newspapermen of their last strictly stag stronghold—the rough, tough and carbon-covered desks of filing editors in The Canadian Press' seven bureaux across Canada.

Women journalists hold many a reporting job in Canada and handle copy on a few news desks. But no woman has ever tried to cut, edit and assemble news as it clicks from wires at 60 words a minute onto CP copy desks.

The speed approaches the terrific, the male company is likely to be more considerate of a bulletin than a blond and a hot and cold shower is the most satisfying wind-up to a day at the desk in a News Association office.

Despite all this, J. A. McNeil, general manager, told the annual meeting of The Canadian Press here Wednesday in a bit of a challenge to women journalists: "In bolstering our staff against eventualities, we plan to engage experimentally in each bureau in Canada a girl 're-write man.' The recruits will be trained in copy-handling and reporting in the hope they may eventually be able to handle wire-filing jobs."

$100,000 Libel Suit Lost By Toronto Star

By HAROLD FAIR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 16.—(CP)—The $100,000 libel action by the Toronto Star against the Globe Printing Co. over an editorial in the Globe and Mail has ended with a verdict in favor of the Globe Printing Co.

"We find the defendant company not guilty of libel," was the verdict the special jury returned late yesterday after deliberating for one hour and 20 minutes. There was no immediate indication of an appeal.

The decision, on the fourth day of a case without parallel in Toronto's newspaper history, ended an action which arose over an editorial the Globe and Mail published March 8, 1941, under the heading "From the Journalistic Gutter."

The defence contended this editorial was privileged because of an editorial in the Toronto Daily Star March 7, 1941, which was described in court as referring to the Globe and Mail as a "Rumor Factory." This editorial was not, however, read into the court record.

Mr. Justice Keiller MacKay, the trial judge, ruled Tuesday that the Globe and Mail editorial was published "on a privileged occasion."

The judge said, though, that he would postpone a ruling on a question of evidence of malice in that editorial until he had heard the verdict of the jury. The decision in tinued offensive blows of Allied airmen against Japanese bases closer to Australia—such as a pre-dawn attack to-day on Kupang in Timor, and a new assault yesterday at Rabaul, New Britain—lacked in appeal to popular fancy.

It was announced officially that one hit and a near miss were scored on an enemy ship at Rabaul, the centre of the enemy's preparations against Australia.

At Kupang, the Royal Australian Air Force dropped high explosives on an airdrome, but "other details of the attack have not yet been received," a communique said.

The Sunday and Monday operations in the Philippines cost the raiding force no casualties and no damage, except for loss of the B-17 fortress craft and many a hole in one of its two mates and one of the 10 B-25 medium bombers.

"One man, not a member of our party, was killed in action connected with our flight," Royce said. "A fellow named Burns jumped in a fighter when he heard the Japanese and started to take off. He got off the runway but the plane burned up. It was a take-of accident only. The Japanese had nothing to do with it."

Quiet Belanger On Racial Strife

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP). — Aurelien Belanger (Lib. Prescott) was the centre of a brief flare up in the Ontario Legislature yesterday on the issue of imperialism versus Canadianism—a flare up that was quelled only by prompt intervention of Conservative Leader George A. Drew, who was supported by Premier Hepburn.

During discussion of the education estimates, Mr. Belanger, queried W. J. Stewart (Con. Toronto Parkdale) on his assertion that school text books were deficient in articles relating to the Empire.

"We love the Empire but I do not like to have everything imperial," declared the Prescott member. "Let them teach more Canadian history. I like things Canadian."

"What's wrong with the Empire?" asked a Conservative member.

"Nothing, and I say we are doing more for the Empire than you have done," replied Mr. Belanger.

Col. Drew rose at this moment and said an expression had just been used which "implied there is a division among the people of this province as to the war effort." Such utterancese, he said, induced similar utterences in response and no good could result from the exchange.

Premier Hepburn said he quite agreed with the Leader of the Opposition that utterances of this kind were provocative.

"I ask the honorable member to refrain from them," he said in closing the incident.

Air Battles

The oft-raided area about Calais, a centre of German fortifications skirting the French shore, was battered again in the night after virtually - uninterrupted attacks throughout Wednesday against it, Boulogne, Cherbourg and a Nazi airdrome.

Heavy blasts thundered across the sea. Three fighters were listed as missing after those daylight sweeps and three German planes were declared definitely destroyed.

The German air force struck back with a night raid on a town in England which killed at least 12 persons. Heavy bombs scored direct hits on blocks of houses in three streets. The national fire service was called out to fight a number of blazes.

"A few bombs dropped elsewhere caused neither damage nor casualties," a communique said.

A total of 12 bodies had been recovered by morning from the north-east England town and many persons were taken to hospital.

House Urges Yes Ending Sitting Minus Division

TORONTO, April 16 (CP)—A session without a division. That was the unique record of the seventh session of the 20th Ontario Legislature which prorogued in the early hours today.

Maintaining its record of unanimity to the last, the Legislature at midnight last night passed a resolution urging the people of the province to vote "yes" in the forthcoming Federal plebiscite.

Introduced by Col. T. L. Kennedy, Conservative whip and member for Peel, it was seconded by Ian Strachan, Liberal whip and member for Toronto St. Patrick.

Immediately after it received the unanimous approval of the 39 Liberals and 20 Conservatives present, the lieutenant-governor, Hon. Albert Matthews was escorted into the chamber by Premier Hepburn to give royal assent to the 56 bills passed by the House.

There were many unusual aspects to the session just closed. It opened Feb. 11 but due to adjournments and recesses the members sat only 21 days.

Soldier Faces Theft Counts

Charged with two thefts committed in the house to which he had been billeted, Private Ronald Currie of the Prince of Wales Rangers pleaded guilty in police court this morning to stealing a wrist watch and $5 from Pte. Rogers and $5 from Mrs. Gordon Trennum.

Currie was arrested early this morning by Officers Archie Menzies and Gordon Trennum.

"It was all caused by drunkenness," Currie said to Magistrate Langley.

"I am asking for a remand for sentence in any event," said Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., when the court asked that some evidence should be supplied. "The police want to obtain his fingerprints and check on his record. There is some question of names."

Currie was remanded until Monday morning for sentence on the two charges.

A Pimple Covered Face Kills Many a Romance

The lives of many young people are made miserable by the breaking out of pimples, and you probably know of cases where a promising romance has been spoiled by those red, white, festering and pus filled sores on the face.

The trouble is not so much physical pain, but the mental suffering caused by the embarrassing disfigurement which very often makes the sufferer ashamed to go out in company.

The quickest way to get rid of pimples is to improve the general health by a thorough cleansing of the blood.

Persian Text Admonishes Sock Knitters

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16. — (ENS). — Special thanks to several of the most faithful workers in the Campbellford and Seymour Branch of the Red Cross was expressed by members in the weekly bulletin released following their regular meeting held on Tuesday afternoon. Three ladies whom the branch felt deserved special mention were Miss E. Buchanan, who has made many heavy quilts, and is the only member who makes the very large sea boot sock; Mrs. Len Carr, Seymour Township, who has pieced 28 quilt tops from scrap material; and Mrs. Outwater, 81, who has made what is characterized as a very fine quilt top. It was pointed out that the ladies of Ward 1 will hold a bingo in the Parish Hall on April 18 and this will be followed by similar affairs on succeeding Saturday evenings during the early spring as a means of augmenting the funds required by the local branch.

A rather novelmethod of directing attention to some of the faults which knitters are inclined to make was made by the secretary who apparently is under the impression that there is nothing new about these errors. She quotes as follows from the ancient book of the good women of Persia: 'Oh, my daughters, twice have I said unto thee and thrice have I said the same, that thou must cast off loosely such garments as turtle neck sweaters, body belts, and small boys' suits. And thou absolutely must cast off in ribbing or the garment will bite the neck and body of him that weareth it. Be diligent, oh my daughter, in casting on loosely such garments as socks, amputation covers, gloved mitts, etc., or verily the edges thereof will bind him that weareth the same, and this is no joke, but it is a bitter smoke in the eyes of him that weareth it or like salt in his tea. Accursed be she that knotteth her wool, but diligent women that splice the same shall be praised. Oh, my daughter, cause not thy brother to have ridges in the heels of his socks. Thou must slip the first stitch of each row in the making of the heel. Do not knit it as is the custom of many, else thy brother will limp into battle.

"Do thou, oh daughter, leave open one shoulder of little children's sweaters, closing the same with buttons and loops. Thy little brother hath a large head and yet a very small neck. So shall he go neatly clad. She that observeth all these precepts shall be admired of all men, and of all Unit Conveneers, and of all inspectors of garments, and verily she shall be blessed for her handiwork."

Spring Break-up Detours School Bus

HASTINGS, April 16—(ENS). — High School pupils in this area are experiencing a 50-mile round trip to Campbellford High School each day due to the heavy stretch of road between here and the Milltown.

This condition has necessitated the school bus, carrying approximately 20 pupils, to travel the much longer route via Havelock and Norwood.

Farmers report that fine weather is fast aiding adverse road conditions and A. J. Meyers of Campbellford, the owner expects the bus to be back on its regular route by Monday.

Orangemen Urge 'Yes' Vote At Convention

COBOURG, April 16.—(ENS)—Hearty endorsation of a "yes" vote in the forthcoming plebiscite was voiced at the session here of the Provincial Grand Lodge, Ontario East. Lt.-Col. Hon. T. Ashmore Kidd of Kingston, Grand Master and Sovereign of the Orange Lodge of British America read to the session Wednesday ihs letter to the Hon. Norman McLarty, Secretary of State of Canada. His letter had been written in acknowledgment of the request of the Secretary of State for an expression of opinion from the Orange Lodge on the plebiscite. The letter of Lt.-Col. Kidd, which was so heartily endorsed, read as follows:

"I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of April 9. At the 109th annual meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America held in the city of Winnipeg on June 22, 23 and 24 in 1939, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

'That the Orange Association, British in origin, British in ideals and democratic in its structure, holds with increasing tenacity the position as held since its inception, namely that it is our bounden duty to maintain at all cost the unity of the British Empire. The Association declares that Canada cannot be neutral when Britain is at war, and that we stand as ever for a united Empire and cannot conceive of a loose conglomeration of states and people that would dissolve into parts when danger threatens. Our ancient throne is one and indivisible. Therefore be it resolved that in the event of Great Britain being involved in war, the parliament of Canada should immediately be assembled and promptly assure the Mother country in her great efforts to preserve civilization, of the support of all the resources of the man power and wealth of this Dominion, and to this end the Orange Association urges conscription of wealth, industry and man power."

"This was duly submitted to the Right Honorable the Prime Minister under date of September 5, 1939.

"It is therefore a duty incumbent on all members of the Orange Association and its affiliated societies, to co-operate in every possible way in assuring an overwhelming affirmative vote in the forthcoming plebiscite, so that Parliament may be entirely free to enact any measure necessary to the prompt mobilization of all the resources of the Dominion, for the effective prosecutoin of the war and the more speedy destruction of the bestial tryanny which threatens our national existence.

"With renewed assurance of the fullest support in every effort essential to the discharge of the preeminent duty devolving upon all loyal citizens, I remain, yours very respectfully, Lt.-Col. Hon. T. Ashmore-Kidd, Grand Master and Sovoreign."

L.O.B.A. Meets

The opening meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge, L.O.B.A. was held in the Memorial Hall. Greetings were conveyed by delegations from the Cobourg Ministerial Association, the L.O.L., the Provincial Grand Black Chapter and the Provincial Lodge Orange Young Britons. A civil welcome was extended by Mayor Jack Burnet and members of the town council. The Grand Mistress, Mrs. A. Tysick of Perth was presented with a pearl necklace by the Cobourg L.O.B.A. Addresses were given by Most Worshipful Past Grand Mistress of British America, Sister Rowe of Toronto and Sister Dillon, also of Toronto.

I.P.G., F. T. Bradfield of Ottawa; Grand Master, C. Kilfoyle, Smith's Falls; D.G.M., P. Hackett, Ottawa; Jr. D.G.M., W. Chambers, Manotick; Chaplain, Harry Joynt, Algonquin; director of ceremonies, Howard Kilfoyle, Smith's Falls; secretary, D. Hill, Ottawa; senior orator, F. Stodley, Vernon; junior orator, G. Rixon, Vernon; deputy orator, D. McLeod, Dunvegan; deputy secretary, J. D. Graham, Ottawa; deputy treasurer, R. Paul, Russell; auditors, J. Robertson and E. W. Jones, of Ottawa.

The officers were installed by Most Wor. Bro. W. Montgomery, P.G.M. of British American, North Goer. Fraternal greetings were brought by representatives of the L.O.L., Royal Black Chapter and O.Y.B. and also by the Provincial Grand L.O.B.A.

Bride-to-Be Feted By Many Friends

PORT HOPE, April 15.—(ENS)—Mrs. Wes Friar entertained at a delightful miscellaneous shower on Tuesday night at her home, 19 Bramley street in honor of Miss Lillian Roche, whose marriage takes place the end of this week.

The two small nieces of Mrs. Friar, little Miss Shareen Highfield and Miss Carol Shepherd dressed as page boys made the presentation of many beautiful and useful gifts from pink and blue decorated baskets.

The evening was spent in playing court whist with Mrs. Shepherd winning high prize and Mrs. Rose second high while Mrs. Lowes was the recipient of the consolation.

Miss Roche thanked her many friends in a few well-chosen words after which dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. Charlie Young also entertained recently for Miss Roche at a miscellaneous shower after which the Rebecca Lodge, of which she is a member presented her with a lovely silver plate from the lodge.

Mrs. Bert Broadbent with her sister, Mrs. Fardella of Cobourg entertained at the home of Mrs. Broadbent in honor of Miss Roche, presenting a miscellaneous shower to the bride-elect. The evening was spent in games of bingo after which dainty refreshments were served.

Right Of Search

CHICAGO, April 16. — (AP) — Superior Judge Rudolph Desort ruled in a divorce trial that a woman has the right to search her husband's pants pockets. And, he added, the husband has the right to search his wife's purse, "but he shouldn't get caught."

25-Year Jewels Presented To Oddfellows

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16. — (ENS).—Thomas Wildey, the man who founded the first lodge in North America was honoured by members of the local I.O.O.F. here on Wednesday evening when a number of visiting guests assisted with a program of which the highlight was the presentation of 25 year jewels to two members. D.D.G. M. T. J. Craighead made the presentations to George J. Smith and Ernest Haig and to them Mr. Craighead expressed the hope that they would wear them for many years to come and at the same time recall many pleasant memories of the past twenty-five years He was saddened by the fact F. W. Wood to whom a 50 year jewel would have been presented, was unable to come.

Speaker of the evening was S. A. Maguire, himself a wearer of the 25 year jewel, he said, "I am a firm believer in Oddfellowship, and feel that a great deal of good has been accomplished by the efforts of the order." He spoke in honour of Thomas Wildey, who was a one time member of the Manchester (England) Unity Lodge. He landed in the United States approximately 130 years ago and while in the city of Baltimore, he by coincidence met several men who were formerly members of this same lodge in England. From this grew the Baltimore No. 1 lodge with five members. Later the order was established in Canada and subsequently spread over the entire globe, but, added the speaker, "unfortunately some of the lodges in Europe have been since closed by order of the dictators." In Ontario, he summarized there were 33,000 members in some 475 lodges and all of them have as their principal Friendship, Love and Truth.

Following a few introductory remarks by the chairman, Rev. G. N. Maxwell the Noble Grand, Morely Tanner, extended a hearty welcome to the gathering. Other items on the program included community singing led by G. W. Lucy and Arnold Bates; piano solo by G. W. Lucy; vocal solo, Kenneth McFarlane; dance, Miss Lois Thompson, accompanied by Mr. P. Monaghan; vocal solo, Miss Jean Tubbs, accompanied by Arnold Bates; violin solo, Mrs. Harry Fowlds, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Henson; vocal duet with guitar accompaniment by Miss Edith Cowell and Wesley Cowell; readings by Miss Rhea Patrick, C. W. Palliser, Rev. G. N. Maxwell; coronet solo, Lieut. Alex Turnbull. At the close light refreshments were served to the gathering by the lodge members.

Britain's Budget

The new British budget will take 50 per cent. of the national income through direct and indirect taxation. Upon the whole it provides few surprises. It was obvious that income tax could not be altered greatly, for as it stood it made the lot of the working man a hard one, and impoverished the formerly wealthy by leaving them 2½ cents out of every dollar of income. No one is growing fat in Britain at present; such taxation has never been dreamed of in history.

One interesting feature of the Budget is the provision that credits will be established, for use after the war, of 20 per cent. of excess profits tax paid now; thus industrialists who are feeling the pinch will be assured of a small nestegg to help in adjusting themselves to the inevitable slump of the early years of peace.

The so-called indirect taxes are the ones which will really hurt. Beer, which used to cost sixpence or fivepence a pint before the war, and which has risen to ninepence, will now cost elevenpence. Let no advocate of total abstinence rejoice in this; the British workingman depends heavily on beer as nutriment, recreation and a field for connoisseurship. His simple food gives him strength, but he relies on tea and beer for his high spirits and good temper. Though no soak, he regards total abstinence as one of Hitler's most repellent ideas, and beer at what amounts to a shilling a pot will be a real hardship to him.

The tax on tobacco has its ironical side, for this commodity, particularly in the form of cigarettes, is often very hard to come by in Britain now. Ten cigarettes, which used to cost sixpence, will now cost ninepence—when you can get them. Let the happy smokers in this country spare a commiserating groan for their afflicted brethren in Britain.

Amusement tax will be doubled, and it is estimated that this alone will bring in a revenue of £14,000,000. The British theatre has had a boom recently; indeed, more plays are running in London than are now to be seen in New York. Movies are similarly packed, and concerts and exhibitions of all kinds are doing well. Britain is in the position now where she simply must have relaxation and respite from the tedium and overstrain of war. The increased entertainment tax draws upon a source which is a luxury by custom only.

This is taxation with a vengeance, but it is necessary and it is popular. Although Britons may grouse at the high price of beer and cigarettes, and although a little extra pinching will be needed to pay a visit to the theatre, they think themselves lucky. Food is merely a nuisance in Britain; no one need go short, or eat an unhealthy diet. In Germany the problem of feeding the people is already a grave one and the cause of much discontent. The British are being bled white to win the war, but as long as they are left a few corpuscles to celebrate the peace they will bear it cheerfully.

Lease Lend Generosity

In his Budget speech Sir Kingsley Wood revealed that the U.S. is sending Lease Lend aid to Britain at the rate of £100,000,000 a month, and that the total of this aid up to the end of March was £600,000,000. This is a staggering sum and the Chancellor used no empty form of words when he described it as "a vital factor in our effort." From now on a larger proportion of this aid will be deflected to the dominions, presumably Australia and New Zealand.

On the stage and in novels the mere lending of money is not regarded as a great sign of friendship. "When did friendship take a breed of barren metal for this friend?" asks Antonio of Bassanio, after lending him the three thousand ducats. In life we cannot take this high line; when the U.S. opened its purse to Britain it did a great thing; indeed, it may have saved the day. True, there is a strong measure of self-interest in Lease Lend proceedings, but there is an even stronger measure of true friendship and well-wishing.

Canada's gift of a billion dollars was also acknowledged in the Budget speech. Before long it may be necessary for us to give more, so let us not pat ourselves too vigorously on the back. There was a time when a billion dollars looked like a lot of money but, like distances, sums of money have been shrinking of late years.

A Matter Of Conscience

The way of the conscientious objector is hard under any circumstances, and when he happens to be something of a popular hero its difficulties are increased tenfold. Because Lew Ayres, a film star in the employ of Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer, refuses to bear arms in defense of the United States he is being made the butt of a great deal of abuse and unfavorable publicity, though it appears that his objections are wholly sincere and are based upon religious belief.

Conscientious objection, if it can be proved, is regarded by the government of the United States as sufficient ground for excusing a man from military service; indeed, whole sects are exempted on this basis. It would be very difficult for a government if large numbers of conscientious objects appeared in wartime, but fortunately this has never been so. Ayres is suffering needless obloquy, and we feel that, if his government respects his convictions, the public might well do so too.

Quebec Is Awake

At present, when so many harsh things are being said about the attitude of the Province of Quebec toward the war, it is instructive to look at that province's War Loan figures. There were 336,000 subscribers in Quebec, and the total amount subscribed was $230,000,000. That is to say that about one person in ten subscribed to the Loan.

Quite obviously Quebec is not indifferent to the war, and is wide awake to the threat which war brings to this country. People who attempt to construe Quebec's objection to conscription as indifference toward the war are either distorting the facts or are woefully ignorant. The French-Canadians have a group-neurosis about conscription; the very mention of the word seems to move them to extreme and unreasonable excitement, and elements in this province which like to make trouble do all they can to augment that excitement and place unjust interpretations upon it. There are factions in every country who enjoy plaguing minorities and Quebec lays itself open to such treatment by its intransigent attitude on conscription.

It is always dangerous to argue from the particular to the general, and it is quite wrong to interpret Quebec's implacable attitude toward conscription as opposition to Canada's war-effort. Production of munitions and this magnificent showing in the Victory Loan prove that Quebec is quite as wide-awake about the war as most other parts of this Dominion.

The War On Venereal Disease

The war on venereal disease in this country progresses slowly but satisfactorily. A committee of the whole House of the Ontario Legislature has passed an amendment to the act governing treatment of these diseases which will permit the arrest of any sufferer who refuses to undergo the prescribed treatment; the man or woman so detained will be committed to an institution until cured. The amendment also provides that anyone falsely stating that a patient has undergone treatment and has been cured will be fined $200 or will go to jail for six months.

Presumably this means that anyone who is told by his physician that he is suffering from a venereal infection will have to choose between treatment for it and the risk that his physician will report him to the Medical Officer of Health, who will act according to the law. On the face of it, it seems unlikely that many people would refuse to undergo treatment, but people behave very strangely about venereal diseases, attaching to them a stigma of immorality which is often quite unjust. They are capable of being caught in many ways, some of them entirely innocent.

The provision against abuse of treatment also prohibits attempts at cure by unqualified healers. This is an excellent move, for there are still large numbers of frauds and quacks who guarantee cures by means which are entirely worthless, and who cheat many simple-minded people in this way. The restrictions placed upon the sale of patent medicines in recent years have done a good deal to curb this sort of trickery, but it goes on still to some extent.

We must combat venereal disease with every means in our power, and we must educate our people to recognize it as a threat like tuberculosis and infantile paralysis, to be guarded against by proper preventive means. We must cease to regard it as a secret, shameful plague, invariably associated with immoral conduct, and we must realize that it is curable if it is caught in a reasonably early stage. This latest amendment to the act is a move in the right direction.

Black Tuesday?

There is no broadcaster on the side of the United Nations who commands a bigger audience in occupied Europe than the mysterious Colonel V. Britton, who organized the V campaign which caused, and is still causing, so much annoyance to the Axis. The Colonel has a way of tipping Europeans off to what is about to happen; he gives no details, but he does give explicit warnings. It was he, for instance, who warned the French to keep indoors and away from heavy industry plants on the nights when the R.A.F. blasted the tank and motors works on the outskirts of Paris.

The Colonel has recently advised his hearers to keep out of the way, and particularly not to travel, on Tuesdays. "Don't go in a train, bus or tram on a Tuesday," he says; "travel as much as you can on other days."

Here, then, is something for us to watch. Does the Colonel really speak as one who knows of forthcoming trouble for the Axis, scheduled for Tuesdays? Or is this merely a dodge to rattle the occupation forces? He has never given an unnecessary warning before, and we see no reason why he should begin now. Look out for strange doings on Tuesdays.

New Speed Limit

After May 1 all motor traffic in the Dominion must travel at 40 miles an hour or less. Violation of this law means a fine of $15 to $50 for the first offence, $25 to $100 the second time, and $50 to $200 the third time, with a jail sentence if this is considered necessary, and the possible suspension of the driver's license. These fines are fairly heavy, and we hope that the new law will be strictly enforced.

As might be expected there are some exceptions to this general rule. Members of the armed forces, policemen and firemen, ambulance drivers and A. R. P. workers may go as fast as they like provided that they are able to prove that their speeding is necessary. Let us hope that they do not abuse the privilege. At present, for instance, there is no reason why an A. R. P. worker should go any faster than anyone else.

Motorists might do well to accustom themselves to the new speed before May 1. Forty miles an hour is not fast, as speeds go, and a few practice trips will save much irritation and surprise in the first week of May. Forty miles an hour as top speed on a longish trip means an average speed of about thirty miles an hour, so estimate your time of travel accordingly.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Mussolini is reported to be a nervous wreck; trying to outdo Adolf, who is merely a nervous wretch.

The Japanese have a bomb in which they use old razor blades. We could copy it if we didn't have to keep them for shaving.

Says Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, now in his 80th year: "The 40-hour week has no charm for me. I'm looking for a 40-hour day."

The Russians have captured several Nazis whom they found to be wearing newspapers as underwear. Pretty unsatisfactory at that, for it is well-known that the German press is just a tissue of lies.

And now Tim Buck, general secretary of the Communist Party in Canada, urges you to vote "Yes" on the plebiscite. If that doesn't clinch the matter, what will?

Stenographers are having a hard time of it these days. They simply can't decide whether to erase and save paper or take a clean sheet and save the eraser.

Indolent people, whatever taste they may have for society, seek eagerly for pleasure, and find nothing. They have an empty head and seared hearts.—Zimmerman.

NOSTALGIA

Tonight the skies are strangely dark, and wintry winds are crying,
Heavens once so bright with stars are dim, and my heart is sighing—
Sighing again for the blue lakelands, the lands of the summer morning,
Where the wild lark rises in joyousness
And sings to the crimson dawning.
And sings to a world of glorious day,
Heavens as deep as the bluest of seas,
Valleys as wide as the fields of the ocean
Scarlet with blossoms, and shimm'ring with trees.
These are the lands of the summer
 morning,
These are the lands where the blue lakes dwell,
Beauty that grows and flows on forever,
Under the peace of the deep day's spell.

Great Britain's Wartime Amusements

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

RECENTLY that eminently sensible statesman, President Roosevelt, had his secretary, Stephen Early, write to the Professional Golfers' Association assuring them that, in his opinion, the war effort will not be hindered but actually improved by "sensible participation in healthful pursuits." In fact, the President does not want his people to become gloomy about the war, and he knows that when they are not doing their jobs they are better off amusing themselves than they are poring over maps or moping about their houses. Britain has taken this attitude too, and the amusement advertisements of a representative British paper make interesting reading. Let us examine those from a recent copy of the London "Sunday Observer."

◆ ◆ ◆

There are plenty of art exhibitions, and at the head of the list we see that the National Gallery has a show of paintings by Sir William Nicholson and that highly original painter, Jack B. Yeats; there is an announcement too of a travelling exhibition of paintings by 18th and early 19th century painters, and of some Rembrandt etchings, which is going about the country under the auspices of the Fine Art Society. At the famous Leicester Galleries Jacob Epstein, perhaps the greatest of living sculptors, is showing some new bronzes and a larger work, "Jacob and the Angel"; at the Redfern Gallery some French impressionists are being shown, and some etchings by Salvador Dali. In addition to these the United Artists' Exhibition is on, and also that of the Royal Society of Painter-Etchers. Not bad for a country in the midst of war, is it?

◆ ◆ ◆

WHAT is going on at the films? Well, there are not as many cinemas open as usual, but there variety is very fair. Disney's "Dumbo" is showing, and so is "The Corsican Brothers"; "Hellzapoppin" has been running for some time. "Captains of the Clouds" which recently finished a long run in Toronto, is now showing Canada's scenic beauty and the antics of Jimmy Cagney to the British. A few French films are running, and a handful of less distinguished American ones, and the Ritz, which specializes in films which have already made a name and which people want to see again, is showing "Gone With The Wind."

◆ ◆ ◆

As for the plays, there are twenty-five of them running in London now as against sixteen in New York. On this side of the water we are apt to regard New York as the playgoer's Mecca, but in actual fact a far greater volume of theatrical business is done in London and the standard of work, in the opinion of the present writer, is higher. Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit" is running in both cities at present; readers may remember the account of it which appeared in this column last summer. It is a farce with spiritualism as its basis, and it is very funny. At the famous old Haymarket (one of London's few Theatres Royal) Vivien Leigh is playing in Bernard Shaw's "The Doctor's Dilemma." The classics are represented, oddly enough, by Ben Jonson and not by Shakespeare. Donald Wolfit, whom Canadian playgoers will remember as visiting this country with Sir Barry Jackson's company about ten years ago, has produced "Volpone," a very fine play which is seldom seen, though the title-rôle of the miserly, wicked, lecherous Volpone is a very attractive one for a fine actor.

◆ ◆ ◆

THE other theatre fare is varied and amusing. There are several revues, and some opera, including Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman" and the performances of a Russian opera company. Music seems to be in an equally flourishing state; single concerts and concert series are announced in great numbers; all the famous British orchestras seem to be in good health; all the famous conductors, are busily at work; all the famous soloists are playing their concertos much as usual. Anyone wanting to hear good music might do worse than take a trip to London, if he could get there.

◆ ◆ ◆

Are the people of Britain to be accused to frivolity because they have so many wartime entertainments? I hardly think so. They are taking the sensible course; people are making great sacrifices for the war effort, and are working as hard as they can to further it. But it is not possible to work for sixteen hours a day and sleep the other eight—at least, not for long, and people must do something in their spare time. Why then, should they not do what they like? That is what they are fighting for, isn't it?

◆ ◆ ◆

WHAT the President calls "sensible participation in healthful pursuits" is good business in wartime, and the British know it. They have their games, and they have the somewhat more complicated pleasures described here, and they contrive to put up with all their restrictions and privations the better for them. If an Englishman can't have all the butter he wants he can at least go and look at pictures he likes, or see a play that he likes, or a movie, or he can hear some music he likes; he can applaud as he likes, and, better still, he can show his displeasure if he likes. He may be in a tight spot, but he still retains the free man's right to amuse himself in any way he pleases, with nobody to tell him not to.

• Allies On Air Offensive

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, April 16. — Aerial attacks by United States forces on Japanese bases in the Philippines are a cheering sign, even if a tendency to regard them as a curtain raiser for a general United Nation offensive in the Pacific zone proves premature.

The day for that still is distant, as distant probably as the day when British or British-American forces can reasonably be expected to invade Europe. Nevertheless, Allied air power based on Britain and Australia now is on the offensive. It has definitely exchanged roles with the Axis foes, due primarily to expanding plane production in the United States.

Word of the blows delivered against Japanese nerve centres in the Philippines by Australia-based American bombers came just as some confusion over the exact powers of General Douglas MacArthur as United Nation commander in the Southwestern Pacific was indicated. That the results must serve to dissipate doubt either as to his functions or how he intends to use his powers goes without saying.

WILL FOR OFFENSIVE

His will to take the offensive, even in a defensive fight, was the characteristic that singled MacArthur out for his high post. It is again sharply demonstrated by the amazing exploit which brought Japanese air fields, ships, and troops under bomb fire all the way from the Manila area in the north, 2,000 air miles from Australia, to Davao on Southern Mindanao. Even Cebu, Japan's newly seized strategic base in the Central Philippines, was blasted.

Those raids are a symbol of MacArthur's strategy to his countrymen and their allies, they are as welcome on that account as for the actual damage they wrought. Yet there is another slant to them of perhaps no less importance.

They came just as Anglo-Chinese defenders of Burma were being so hard-pressed by the Japanese that destruction of the Irrawaddy oil wells to keep their output out of Japanese hands seemed imminent. They came, too, in the wake of serious naval losses in the Bay of Bengal.

THREAT TO JAP FLANK

With Australian - based bombers battering as bases 2,000 miles distant in the Philippines, Tokyo is on notice that she has stripped the air defenses there too closely. Japanese leaders must find air power to meet that threat to their vulnerable eastern flank. They can ill spare it from Burma or the Bay of Bengal without risking collapse of the attack there, which has rested wholly on local air superiority.

That makes the MacArthur move something of greater significance than an offensive defense of Australia. The air raids in the Philippines are a potential threat to the rear of the Japanese thrust into the Indian Ocean.

It is less than 2,000 miles from Western Australia to Singapore, or what is more important, to the Malacca Strait passage from the China Sea to the Indian Ocean. That and every other Japanese route into the Indian Ocean is within bombing range for MacArthur's air force.

• Things You Mustn't Mail

TRY mailing toy or police whistles to Guatemala or Nicaragua, and you will be hailed before the magistrate. And you will risk your reputation if you mail toy revolvers to British India, Burma or Eire.

What was in mind when legislators thought up these tricky rules isn't apparent, but they are incorporated in the Canadian Official Postal Guide.

Corks can't pass through the mails into Estonia, Latvia or Lithuania; daggers are banned from Bolivia, British Honduras, Cyprus, Dahomey, Dominican Republic, the Ivory Coast of Africa and Mauritius; and no cigarette lighters are admitted to Bolivia, Nicaragua or Rumania.

It's all right by the lawmakers if photographs are mailed to Argentina, but photographic enlargements must not be retouched with pencil. Peanuts are banned from Australia, and Bulgaria doesn't want any macaroni.

British Honduras doesn't want any soiled sheets, Ceylon abhors Russian rouble notes, Colombia dislikes substances for removing ink spots, British India and Burma won't admit photographs, or quinine that has been colored pink.

Iran must trust implicity in its public utilities, for candles are banned, and they must tell time by the sun and stars, for clocks and watches are on the taboo list. Iraq forbids rubber balls or balloons passing through the mails.

Yugoslavia won't admit Yugoslav money from foreign countries, and playing cards are frowned upon in Bulgaria, Spain, Tunisia, Russia, Latvia, Lithuania and New Caledonia.

Peach stones are barred from South Africa, and rat poison is not admitted to New Zealand.

Coming closer to home, pictorial representations of prize fights can't pass through the mails into the United States, and obscene or immoral books cannot be mailed in Canada.—The Canadian Postmaster.

A Bible Message For Today . . .

Then came Jesus forth, wearing the crown of thorns, and the purple robe. And Pilate saith unto them, Behold the man!....And he bearing his cross went forth into a place called the place of a skull, which is called in the Hebrew Golgotha: where they crucified him, and two others with him, on either side one, and Jesus in the midst....

And after this Joseph of Arimathaea, being a disciple of Jesus, but secretly for fear of the Jews, besought Pilate that he might take away the body of Jesus: and Pilate gave him leave. He came therefore, and took the body of Jesus....

Now in the place where he was crucified there was a garden; and in the garden a new sepulchre, wherein was never man yet laid. There laid they Jesus therefore because of the Jews' preparation day: for the sepulchre was nigh at hand.—John xix, 5, 17, 18, 38, 41, 42.

And when the sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, had bought sweet spices, that they might come and anoint him....And they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre? And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away; for it was very great.

And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted. And he saith unto them, Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: he is risen; he is not here: behold the place where they laid him. But go your way, tell his disciples and Peter that he goeth before you into Galilee: there shall ye see him, as he said unto you.—Mark xvi, 1, 3-7.

HE STICKS

The British sense of humor has not suffered as a result of the war. The Marquess of Donegall recounts a current Home Guard gag. "What are your duties, my man?" asks a Brass Hat to the H.G. guarding a bridge. "When the Army makes a strategic retreat sir," returns the H.G., "I stay here."—Brantford Expositor.

Hard To Believe How Time Flies

APRIL 16

1912 Peterborough people are stunned by the great loss of life in the sinking of the Titanic.

The warmest weather for many months was reported today with the thermometer climbing to 70 degrees.

Curlers honor Secretary J. H. Ferguson and Caretaker Angus McIntosh at the annual presentation of prizes.

Lieut. Allan B. Mann has been grented a commission in the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons.

A story from Norwood says that a canning factory may be established in that village.

1922 Steamer Geneva, Capt. Wilbert Harris, braves the high water in the river to make the first trip of the season from Rice Lake to Peterborough.

Nurse Hanna Dalby who helped to organize the Nicholls Hospital staff here many years ago dies in Elora and is buried under military auspices.

The Peterborough Poultry Association has launched a drive for 100 new members.

Mrs. F. E. Miller and Mrs. W. H. Bolton are representing the local Home and School circle at the annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations.

Eddie Dugan and Alex Armstrong will represent the P.A.A.A. at the Ontario boxing championships.

1932 Rev. J. H. Dudgeon of London, formerly of Peterborough is guest speaker at the men's banquet at St. James' Church.

E. Bruce Fowler is elected president of the West Peterborough Liberal Association.

Many girls from around the district are attending the Teen Age Girls' Work Conference here.

Demand for adult farm labor is small here. Farmers are looking for young boys.

IN WAR TIME

1917 Ptes. J. H. Jenkinson, Herbert Moore and G. McDonald of Peterborough are officially reported wounded.

Corp. Harry Leahy, Peterborough boys who has served nine months in the Mediterranean and a year in France with the C.A.M.C. has been invalided home.

Major J. C. Davidson, serving overseas as a chaplain has been awarded the Colonial Officers Long Service medal.

President Robert Harstone and other officers of the Peterborough branch of the Belgian Relief Fund are re-elected.

G. L. Galley is in charge of the movement to enlist Collegiate boys for farm work.

A Bit of Nonsense

Customer: "I don't want to buy you crackers. They tell me the mice are always running over them."

Grocer: "'Taint so. Why the cat sleeps in the barrel every night."

Doctor: "I can't quite diagnose your case. I think it must be drink."

WHAT'S IN A LETTER?

During his lecture on "Modern Women," the speaker expressed the opinion that it was the duty of wives to mother their husbands. Even he looked startled at the terrific outburst of cheering.

When things got quieter he expressed his pleasure that his remark about wives mothering husbands had been so heartily endorsed.

"'Mother'!" gasped one young lady in the front row. "We thought you said 'smother'!"

UNSTUMPED

A sailor on leave was being pressed for stories, and at last he told his listeners of an adventure in the icy north.

"It was that cold up there," he said, "that one day I saw some sea birds suspended in midair, frozen stiff and unable to fly or fall down."

Said one doubting Thomas, "but what about the law of gravity?"

"That was frozen stiff, too," said the sailor.

Dr. Moir Heads '42 Council Of Physicians

TORONTO April 16. — Permission to practice in Ontario for the duration of the war was extended yesterday by the Council of the College of Physicians and Surgeons to six medical officers of the Netherlands and Polish military missions, it was announced last night by Dr. Robert T. Noble, registrar-secretary, following the annual meeting.

The temporary registration which last year was granted to ten British medical officers, affects two medical officers at the Netherlands military training camp at Stratford, and four officers at the Owen Sound and Windsor military camps, where Polish troops are being trained.

It was reported to the meeting that 750, or approximately one out of every six physicians and surgeons registered in Ontario, were serving in the ranks of the Canadian Forces. This proportion will increase as a result of the speeding up of medical courses at the three Ontario universities. Classes are now graduating every six months, and most of the graduates are going directly into the forces.

Dr. A. Moir, Peterborough was elected president of the Council for 1942 at the annual elections, while Dr. C. S. Sanborn of Windsor was chosen vice-president.

The following were named to comprise the various committees:

Executive Commitee: Dr. A. Moir, Peterborough; Dr. C. S. Sanborn, Windsor; Dr. J. F. Argue, Ottawa; Dr. E. S. Ryerson, Toronto; Dr. R. P. Smith, Timimns; Dr. J. H. Geddes, London; and Dr. G. L. Macdougall, Whitby.

Education and Registration Committee — Dr. E. S. Ryerson, Toronto; Dr. G. A. Ramsay London; Dr. F. Etherington, Kingston; Dr. G. L. Macdougall, Whitby; and Dr. J. H. Geddes, London.

Finance, Printing and Property—Dr. J. R. Stewart, Toronto; Dr. W. F. Nicholson, Hamilton; Dr. R. W. Schnarr, Kitchener; Dr. E. S. Ryerson, Toronto; and Dr. M. H. V. Cameron, Toronto.

Discipline Committee — Dr. E. F. Etherington, Kingston; Dr. J. McQueen Galt; Dr. J. R. Stewart, Toronto; Dr. J. F. Argue, Ottawa; and Dr. M. H. V. Cameron, Toronto.

Legislation, Advisory, Rules and Regulations Committee — Dr. J. McQueen, Dr. R. P. Smith, Dr. M. H. V. Cameron, Dr. W. F. Nicholson, Dr. R. W. Schnarr, Dr. G. A. Ramsay, and Hon. Harold Kirby, K.C., Ontario Minister of Public Health.

Short On Gas

Chungking, China, April 16 (AP)

REGULAR passenger service on highways in southwest China was suspended today because of a shortage of gasoline, one of numerous results of the Japanese invasion of Burma and the cutting of the Burma Road over which supplies reached Chungking. Commercial and military trucks, however, will continue to operate and may carry a limited number of passengers.

Miss Lillian Roche Holds Trousseau Tea

PORT HOPE, April 16.—(ENS)—A lovely trousseau tea was held at the home of the bride-elect, 146 Walton street, on Wednesday afternoon, April 15, when Miss Lillian Roche received with her mother, Mrs. Melville Roche.

Miss Roche, whose wedding takes place on Saturday, April 18, to Mr. Sidney Earl Anderson of Toronto, in St Paul's Presbyterian Church, looked charming in a floor-length gown of turquoise blue net and wore a corsage of spring flowers. Mrs. Roche, the bride's mother was in navy sheer.

The tea room decorations were carried out in pink and white and at a prettily arrange tea table tea was poured by Mrs. C. Young and Miss Doris Roberts, while those serving were the Misses Adelaide Smith and Irene Baxter. Other assistants were Mrs. Bert Broadbent and Mrs. Morton.

Canadian Press Members Pick Ford New Head

TORONTO, April 16.—(CP)—A newspaperman schooled in his profession from police beat to editor-in-chief is the new president of The Canadian Press. He is Arthur Ford of the London Free Press, who started newspaper work on the Stratford Herald a few weeks after graduation in 1903 from Victoria College, University of Toronto. He has been close to news desks ever since.

Mr. Ford was elected president of the CP at the annual meeting of the Canadian Co-operative Newsgathering Association yesterday when member newspaper representatives concluded their three-day session.

At the final meeting announcement was made by J. A. McNeil, general manager, that the CP soon will produce a four-page weekly tabloid, "The Canadian Press News," for the Canada Armed Forces overseas. The newspaper will be printed in London and distributed free to all units.

The Dominion Government will pay cabling, editorial and printing costs. The CP will make no charge for its news, and preparation by CP of items used will be on a non-profit basis.

89 Dailies in Organization.

Mr. Ford, new head of the organization that stretches from coast to coast and includes 89 daily newspapers, was born at Point Edward, Ont. After a year with the Stratford Herald he went to New York and later to Winnipeg where he became railroad and legislative reporter on the Winnipeg Telegram and served as city editor.

Mr. Ford went to Ottawa as press gallery represenotative for the Winnipeg Telegram and became correspondent for the Toronto News and the London Times. He was secretary, and, later, president of the Press Gallery. During his years in Ottawa Mr. Ford found time to become an alderman on the Capital City's Council.

In 1920 he moved to London, Ont. where he has played an important part in civic development. He is a member of he Board of Governors of the University of Western Ontario and a trustee and member of the board of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium.

Mr. Ford was first elected a director of The Canadian Press in 1921. In 1925 he was again elected director and has been on the board of directors ever since.

Mr. McNeil, fully recovered from a three-month illness, told 53 newspapermen attending the meeitng of CP members that CP had completed plans for reporting the Dominion plebiscite vote on April 27. With the co-operaiton of the Canadian Pacific Communications and the Canadian National Telegraphs, The Canadian Press and its members will gather returns from Canada's 243 constituencies for rapid compilation at key centres.

He reported that the Government has approved a plan under which rural deputy returning officers are instructed to telegraph or telephone reports of their polls to returning officers at Government expense. The returning officers will make them available to CP correspondents who will route them to compiling centres. Mr. McNeil said the new arangement "will definitely speed up the publication of the returns."

New Officers

The officers of the news association were chosen by the board of directors, elected yesterday afternoon at the annual general meeting of its newspapers.

Members elected to the board were as follows:

British Columbia—M. E. Nichols, Vancouver Province, and K. C. Drury, Victoria Times.

Alberta—W. MacDonald, Edmonton Journal, and Senator W. A. Buchanan, Lethbridge Herald.

Saskatchewan—D. B. Rogers, Regina Leader-Post, and Thomas Miller, Moose Jaw Times.

Manitoba—W. McCurdy, Winnipeg Tribune, and G. V. Ferguson, Winnipeg Free Press.

Ontario—W. Rupert Davies, Kingston Whig-Standard; A. R. Ford, London Free Press; H. M. Hueston, Sarnia Canadian Observer; F. I. Ker, Hamilton Spectator; W. B. Preston, Brantford Expositor, and C. George McCullagh, Toronto Globe and Mail.

Quebec—Henri Gagnon, Quebec Le Soleil; Georges Pelletier, Montreal Le Devoir; G. H. Carpenter, Montreal Gazette, and A. J. West, Montreal Star.

Maritime—Senator W. H. Dennis, Halifax Herald; H. P. Duchemin, Sydney Post-Record, and H. P. Robinson, Saint John Times-Globe.

Hastings News

Mrs. R. W. Montgomery accompanied by Mrs. J. E. Oliver, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston, former Hastings residents, now living in Stouffville. Mrs. Johnston also entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Oliver, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Best Johnston and Mrs. C F. Johnston, Jackie and James of Hamilton. While in Stouffville Mrs. Oliver and Mrs. Montgomery visited Mr. and Mrs. Grant Sine, also former residents of Hastings.

Miss Ruth Ball spent the weekend with her mother in Toronto.

Mr. R. W. Montgomery spent Sunday with relatives in Toronto.

Arthur R. Ford Press News Head

TORONTO, Aprli 16.—(CP)—Arthur R. Ford of London, Ont., was yesterday elected president of Press News Limited, the company that lays down The Canadian Press news to radio broadcasting stations. Mr. Ford succeeds W. Rupert Davies, of Kingston.

Roy H. Thomson of Toronto was elected vice-president. The Board of Directors was re-elected. Its members are Emile Jean, Three Rivers, Que.; H. M. Hueston, Sarnia, Ont.; W. B. Preston, Brantford, Ont.; W. McCurdy, Winnipeg, and Mr. Thomson, Mr. Ford and Mr. Davies.

Sam G. Ross, manager, was appointed secretary of the company also.

The annual report showed the company is supplying CP news to 26 stations.

Grenfell Missions Described In Speech

PORT HOPE, April 16—(ENS).—The St. Paul's Presbyterian Women's Association met on Tuesday night with a good attendance. Miss Doris Roberts was in charge of the program which was most interesting. Mrs. Geo. Rowland, the president, was in the chair.

Delightful solos were very much enjoyed. The first solo was given by Miss Vivian Jennings "Spirit Divine" and Mrs. Bert Broadbent sang "Jesus Took My Burdens."

Mrs. Purvis was the guest speaker for the evening, taking as her subject, "A Trip Along the St. Lawrence." Her topic was centred around the Grenfell Missions and the wonderful work which they do in Newfoundland and Labrador in establishing of hospitals, schools and Mission station.

Miss Joan Warburton gave a delightful piano solo, after which refreshments were served, this part of the evening being in charge of Mrs. Friars' group.

Interchurch Area Conference To Be Held On Stewardship

Rev. Dr. J. E. Simpson of Oak Park, Illinois, will be the guest speaker at the Interchurch - Area Conference on Christian Stewardship which is to be held in the George Street United Church on Tuesday next with afternoon and evening sessions.

Dr. Simpson is one of the most outstanding leaders in the United Stewardship Council of the United States and Canada and no minister or church official or leader in any of the women's missionary organizations should miss hearing him. He is also scheduled to lead a discussion on "Personal Experiences in the Promotion of Stewardship." Outstanding leaders from the various church boards will also be in attendance.

Dr. Simpson went to a little frame church that had a mortgage of $7,000. It had no heating plant of any value. It had no credit, and owed $36 in water rates alone. He began to talk and preach stewardship. The first Sunday the offering was $9. When they dedicated their new church it was $3,600 in cash. The annual income rose from $2,700 to $26,000 in ten years. The offerings for Missions increased from $316 to $3,363 and the church undertook the support of a missionary family. Ninety-eight per cent of the membership was pledged and the per capita giving rose from $14 to $67, though only one family of the congregation had an income of as much as $5,000 a year. In fifteen years, the church received 1,003 new members.

REV. DR. J. E. SIMPSON

OBITUARIES

MRS. LILY J. JONES.

HASTINGS, April 16—(ENS). — Following a year's illness, Mrs. Lily Jane Jones of Hastings, widow of the late John F. Jones, who predeceased her two years ago, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Fanning of Percy, on Wednesday, April 15.

Born in Percy Township, daughter of the late Felix Convey and Joannah Geary, Mrs. Jones spent her entire life in the Hastings district. She was a member of the Altar Society of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Roman Catholic Church.

Surviving are five daughters and one son: Mrs. J. Fanning (Mary), Fenella; Mrs. W. D. Baker (Joanna) Mrs. M. H. Maier (Bernadette), and Raymond of Rochester, N.Y., Mrs. F. A. Green (Helen), Kent, Ohio, and Mrs. F. M. Barry (Hilda) of Percy.

Funeral services will take place on Saturday from the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. Fanning, Fenella, to Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church for Requiem Mass at 10:00 o'clock.

ROBERT B. RYCKMAN.

WARKWORTH, April 16—(ENS). --The death of Robert Barrett Ryckman occurred at his home in Codrington Monday night, following a brief illness. The late Mr. Ryckman was born March 8, 1862, and was a son of the late Alva Ryckman and Eliza Tackabury.

For many years Mr. Ryckman was a leading farmer of Brighton township and later operated the Orland grist mill. He was prominent in church affairs, and was a loyal supporter of Codrington Church.

He is survived by his wife.

The funeral service was from his late residence in Codrington Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, with service in charge of Rev. Delve, Wooler, assisted by Rev. Dr. J. R. R. Cooper, Warkworth. Interment was at Castleton Cemetery.

HENRY VINCENT DAVIDSON.

HAVELOCK, April 16—(ENS).—The death of Henry Vincent Davidson, an esteemed resident of Belmont, occurred on Monday.

He was 88 years old, and was born in the Burr neighborhood in Prince Edward county, son of the late Thomas Davidson and his wife, Mary Massey, who came to the Burr neighborhood in Hillier in 1832, both having their names engraved on the memorial tablet in the U.E.L. Cairn in Hillier.

He was married to Mary Martha Cornell, living first at Beaver Creek, and for the last 27 years in Belmont township. Besides his widow, he leaves to mourn, William E. of Midland, Winston G. of Port Arthur, Maurice W of Welland, Frank F. of the H.E.P.C. staff, Nellie M. of Toronto, and Luella E (Mrs. Charles Tucker) of Toronto.

The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon from his late residence, with service being conducted at 1:30 p.m. by Rev. C. Holmes of the Pentecostal Church. Pallbearers were Messrs. John Scott, Ernest Cornell, Charles Tucker, and William, Maurice and Frank Davidson.

Waiters Take Over

NEW YORK, April 16.—(AP)—Don't call that policeman on the corner a flatfoot. He probably isn't. With National Foot Health week taking the spotlight next week, Co-chairman Samuel G. Staff said today that policemen are no longer first in the flatfoot derby. Waiters have stepped to the front, with the bluecoats second and mailmen a blistering third. Hobbling along just behind are milkmen and nurses.

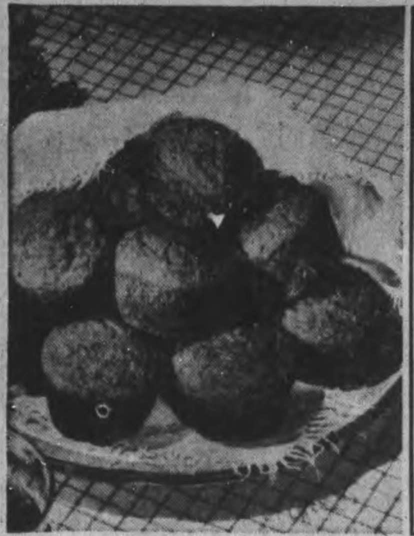
GOOD FOOD GUARDS THE NATION'S HEALTH

And ALL-BRAN Does a Double Job

Now . . . at a time when good food . . . good health . . . is more important than ever, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN fills a dual role. As a delicious breakfast food, it helps supply the proper nourishment to thousands of Canadians . . . helps keep them free of the common type of constipation caused by lack of proper "bulk" in the diet. Eat ALL-BRAN as a cereal or in tasty muffins every day . . . drink plenty of water . . . and discover this "better way" to keep regular without using harsh cathartics that only offer temporary relief. ALL-BRAN gets at the cause . . . and corrects it. But remember, ALL-BRAN doesn't work like a purgative. It takes time.

ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in London, Canada, and sold in 2 conveniently sized packages at all grocers' . . . in individual serving packages at restaurants. Eat it every day as a cereal or in muffins, and drink plenty of water.



ALL-BRAN MUFFINS

2 tablespoons shortening
¼ cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran
¾ cup milk
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
2½ teaspoons baking powder

Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat until creamy. Add All-Bran and milk; let soak until the moisture is taken up. Sift flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderate oven (400° F.) about 30 minutes.

Yield:—8 large muffins (3" in diameter) or 12 small (2¼" in diameter).

LONDON BOXER RETAINS CENTRAL ONTARIO 105-POUND CROWN

Norman Thurman Defeats Frankie Pucci

HAMILTON, April 16. — Norman Thurman, London, retained his 105-pound Central Ontario boxing crown here last night when he defeated Frankie Pucci, Toronto, in an extra round of milling in one of the feature events on the championship program which was staged at the Municipal Pool. Boxers from London, Toronto, Hamilton, Galt and Port Colborne vied for the awards, and so heavy was the entry that local promoters were forced to lay over several semi-final and final matches until next Wednesday night.

Only two titles were decided last evening, the one mentioned above and the 112-pound class, in which Red McCann, Hamilton, was awarded the verdict over Joe Ferrier, Central Y.M.C.A. Toronto, in three rounds. McCann reached the final by defeating Joe Hill, Burlington, while Ferrier advanced at the expense of Don Bell, London.

Results follow:

105-lb. Class.

Frankie Pucci, Bagnats A.C., Toronto, outpointed Larry Boyle, St. Anne's A.C., Hamilton, in three rounds.

Norman Thurman, London, scored a technical kayo over Tommy Tomblin, Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto, in 1:27 of first round.

112-lb. Class.

A Great Bowler And Curler Passes

So when his glorious task was done,
It was not of his fame we thought;
It was not of his battles won,
But of the pride with which he fought;
But of his zest, his ringing laugh,
His trenchant scorn of praise or blame;
And so we graved his epitaph,
"He played the game."

In the passing away of J. T. Braund not only has this city of Peterborough lost a worthy citizen, but the Peterborough Curling Club and the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club have also lost one of their most valuable members. Although he had been in poor health for some time he still maintained an active interest in the two sports that he so dearly loved.

The late Mr. Braund was gifted to an unusual degree with a congenial, kindly disposition, combined with sound business judgment. He was essentially a friendly man and took the keenest interest in those with whom he came in contact, which made him many friends.

From the time he joined the Bowling Club he put the same energy into it as he had put in his own business, and he was one of the men who organized and built the present Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club. He gave freely of his time, his money and of his experience. He was past president of the club and held the chairmanship of nearly every committee, and for a short time he acted also as treasurer. He was in no small way responsible for the lawn bowling organization now situated on McDonnel street west.

As in lawn bowling, the same can be said of the late Mr. Braund in curling circles. He was one of those curlers who took the run of the mill and did the best he could and in many cases he came out with a winning rink. He was past president of the curling club and had also served on many committees. He was a director of the rink company and he also was responsible, with others, for the improvements made to the rink last fall.

Not only will he be missed by the curlers and bowlers of the city, but also by the curlers and bowlers all over Ontario, particularly so in the central districts.

On behalf of the members of the Peterborough Curling Club and the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club we extend our deepest sympathy to his widow, to his sons and to his daughter.

International Hopes To Last Out Third War

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—The International League, baseball's oldest minor circuit, opens a wartime season today just as it has done in peaceful times.

Having come through two wars unscathed, the league plans to carry on as far as possible through the third in its usual way, and so far there have been few indications of changes.

We Can Do It Again—Hague

Newark's 1941 champions are looking for only about 10,000 first-day customers, in contrast to last year's 12,000, even though the city commission has proclaimed a half-holiday for municipal employees and service men will be admitted free. However, in near-by Jersey City, where many of the regular customers also are working on defense jobs, Mayor Frank Hague says: "We had 60,000 last year, and we can do it again."

Actually, 61,640 tickets—a minor league record—were sold for last year's Jersey City opener, although only about 34,000 fans were able to crowd into Roosevelt Stadium, which seats 26,000. About the same conditions probably will prevail tomorrow when the rebuilt Little Giants start off against Montreal Royals, 1941 playoff winners.

Only other warlike notes at present are the absence of a few players who have gone into the armed forces, the military touches planned for the opening-day ceremonies and the scheduling of an all-star game at Buffalo the night of July 8. Proceeds of this game will be given to the United States and Canadian Bat and Ball Funds.

Four New Managers

Buffalo at Newark—Probable attendance, 10,000; probable starting pitchers, Mike Roscoe vs. Al Gerheauser.

Montreal at Jersey City—60,000; Max Macon or Ed Albosta vs. Bobby Coombs or John Wittig.

Rochester at Baltimore—7,500; Ira Hutchinson vs. Ray Roche.

Toronto at Syracuse—8,000; Tom Drake vs. Charles Barrett.

Four of the clubs open the campaign under new managers and all of them are loaded with new players. In most cases, the first-day lineups aren't the ones that will be on the field in a couple of weeks, for major league parent clubs still are sending down players who have had spring trials.

Newark, as usual the favorite to lead the league through the campaign, is managed this season by Bill Meyer, who came from Kansas City in a trade of jobs engineered by the parent New York Yankees. Frank (Pancho) Snyder has taken over the reins at Jersey City, Jewel Ens at Syracuse and Burleigh Grimes at Toronto, where Lee MacPhail has been made business manager in an effort to raise the Maple Leafs from the cellar and to provide some competition for Montreal Royals, operated by his father, Larry MacPhail, as Brooklyn's No. 1 farm team.

Remember When—

Boston hockey fans were treated to their first Stanley Cup victory on home ice three years ago tonight when the Bruins defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1 in the fifth game of a best-of-seven series. Ten years previously the Bruins had won the cup but on New York ice.

Laprades Still Keeping Scouts Guessing

OTAWA, April 16—(CP).—Eastern hockey's amateur detectives have a chance tonight to do a little further sleuthing on one of sport's unsolved mysteries—the baffling case of Port Arthur's Laprade brothers.

The Laprade enigma first cropped up in 1938-39 when two of the brothers—Bert and Edgar—led Port Arthur Bearcats to a surprise Allan Cup championship over Montreal Royals. It has become more muddled each season. The starry French-Canadians stood aloof from outside contacts, wouldn't nibble when Montreal's National League Canadiens extended tempting professional bait last fall.

The riddle may be partially solved tonight when Bert and Edgar, accompanied by younger brother Raymond, lead another Bearcat team into the first game of the 1941-42 Allan Cup finals against Ottawa Royal Canadian Air Force Flyers. The audience will be just as critical, the opposition just as strong, as the lakehead representatives faced three years ago.

Then the critics rubbed their eyes. When it was over, they couldn't believe the wizardry of Bert and Edgar Laprade had beaten back the challenge of the haughty Royals. The brothers didn't travel east again, but the memory of the 1939 series is still vivid. The question—"Are the Laprades really that good?"—still stands.

Coach Bill Touhey's Flyers, undefeated in their last 18 starts, have Milt Schmidt and Woody Dumart of the Kraut Line to counter the Laprades.

A sell-out crowd which may exceed the season's record of 8,346 is expected to watch tonight's contest. The seriees reseumes in Toronto Saturday with the third game in Montreal Monday. Officials will be Curly Wheatley of Trail, B.C., and Bert McCaffrey of Toronto.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The fate of the Stanley Cup for this season is likely to be settled tonight at Detroit where the sixth game in the final round will be staged. Few fans gave Leafs even the remotest chance after Red Wings had taken the third game, making it three in a row but the situation is materially altered now and unless the Wings snap back into the effective style of hockey they dished out last week they are liable to find their ears pinned back and the series all squared at the end of tonight's game. And in that event the Leafs would be odds-on favorites to take the seventh and final game in Toronto Saturday. So far as morale is concerned the picture on the eve of this all-important tussle is vastly different. The Leafs have roared back into the series again and with their confidence and fight restored they are a much more potent threat than they were a week ago. On the other hand the Red Wings have been acting like an outfit that is spending their Stanley Cup money before they have earned it and the comeback of the Leafs must have the Detroiters beaucoup worried.

* * * * * *

Surely by this time, however, the Red Wings have learned the lesson that you can't win hockey games from the penalty box and that it is equally impossible to win arguments with officials. It was penalties in the first period that paved the way for the shellacking that Detroit took in the fifth game and unless Jack Adams' hirelings have realized that playing short-handed is no way to beat a powerful club like the revamped Leafs, it may be penalties that will toss the Wings for another loss tonight. The Detroiters need look for no favor from the officials. They have not earned any special consideration and there is little danger of them receiving any after the manner in which the Red Wing jockeys have been riding the whistle-blowers. So the Wings had better watch their step or they will be wafted out of the picture.

A Black Eye To Hockey

At least one Detroit sport writer has not been afraid to point out that the attack made by Manager Jack Adams on Referee Harwood last Sunday was a black eye to hockey. He is Bob Murphy, sports editor of the Detroit Times and his comment on the affair is interesting. "As much as I admire and respect Jack Adams, he had better rally the entire hockey crowd around him and have an understanding about the future of the game. No sport can survive unless there is proper respect for the officials in that sport. Referee, umpires, field judges, fight referees and even timekeepers—we could go on and on with the list. Well, it still goes that no sport can survive unless the men running that sport hold the respect of the public and, vastly more important, the respect of the men who make a living out of the sport. Jack Adams, a man who thrives on fight and who sells it to his men, uncorked an extra portion at the end of last night's game at Olympia and all but caused a riot that might have injured plenty of people. You can't censure Adams for wanting to back up two of his players—Wares and Grosso—but I can censure Adams and all the rest of the hockey clan for at least not being smart enough either to back up their officials or get a new bunch.

* * * * * *

"We still say that our friend brother Jack Adams had better either convince his hockey associates of the need for better officials or back up the ones they have," continues Murphy. "In four games Clancy, Lamport and Harwood have been under fire. Can it be that they are all bad? Or can it be that hockey isn't smart enough to hold on to the prestige that must go with showing respect for the men entrusted with the business of running the game. We would try scaling a burning building with Jack Adams, if need be. But we also believe he is big enough to admit when he is wrong and when the game he has backed so nobly for all these years is wrong. That affair at Olympia last night did no one any good."

The Clarkson Tech school paper pays the following tribute to Al and Grant Clark, the Peterborough boys who have been starring with the Clarkson team for a number of seasons: "Then there's Al and Grant Clark, the great twosome that has been winning games by dint of a will to win, backed up by the ability to do plenty about it. Grant, playing forward, has shown opponents just how a Canadian can skate and why. If you are at all observing you will probably have noticed the fine sportsmanship exhibited by Grant in many of the games. It was not uncommon to see him help an opponent up after an unavoidable collision or to see him apologize briefly for any misplay on his part. And when the going was the toughest, when the first line had to play up for a longer time than usual, when everyone was downhearted and skating was torture, then it was Grant who seemed to travel on grit alone. He could skate through the best defence in anybody's hockey rinks whether he was tired or not. In short, quiet, unassuming Grant Clark is one of the best players that has attended Clarkson Tech."

* * * * * *

"His brother Al, who played a rollicking defense position is also a headliner," continues the article. "It was a familiar sight to see Al take the puck, skate around back of the net in a super windup and then unleash a sizzling shot at the goalie from out beyond the goal line. Al is possessed of a hard shot and the telling accuracy of his aim is best proven by the number of goals he has scored for Clarkson in spite of playing his defense position. When the checks were dished out, it was usually Al who hit them the hardest and farthest. Yes, indeed, the Clark boys' absence from the lineup will be a problem indeed."

There are still three undefeated clubs in the American loop as the result of yesterday's games. The Yanks with Chandler pitching steady ball and Joe DiMaggio whaling out a homer with two on and two other hits to drive in five runs, smothered Washington Senators again 9 to 3. Boston Red Sox kept pace with the world champs by taking their second win in a row over the A's with Joe Dobson pitching six-hit ball to keep alive the winning streak of seven straight victories with which he ended last season. St. Louis Browns shut out until the ninth inning at Chicago uncorked a five-run splurge in the final frame to take the White Sox 6 to 5. The rookie Brown shortstop Stephens was the hero with a homer with two on. In the other American League game Detroit evened the series with Cleveland by beating the Indians 6 to 2, behind fine pitching by Dizzy Trout who held the Tribe to seven hits.

* * * * * *

Feature of the National League card was a homer with the bases full by a rookie Giant outfielder, Williard Marshall off pitcher Kirby Higbe of Brooklyn. That grand slam enabled the New Yorkers to take the bums 6 to 4 and square the series. The St. Louis Cards beaten in their first start against the Cubs came back to beat Chicago 4 to 2 yesterday with Harry Gumbert holding the Cardinals to four hits. Jim Tobin pitched great ball for Boston Braves against Hans Lobert's Phillies and also did some timely hitting with the result that Boston took their second straight. Meanwhile the Pittsburg Pirates were keeping pace with them by handing the Cincinnati Reds their second loss of the young season, driving Elmer Riddle out of there in the first frame and winning handily 6 to 2.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Canadian Writer

NEW YORK, April 16.—To say that Manager Bucky Harris of the Washington Nats was faced with a big problem when he came to camp at Orlando, Fla., Feb. 22, is putting it mildly. For, thanks to Adolf Hitler and his gang, Harris had to hand over a third of his squad to Uncle Sam and try to find enough ball players among the rest to get a team together.

No less than 13 Washingon players, rookies and regulars were called to the armed service. Since Manager Harris has received word that his No. 2 catcher, Al Evans, has been put in 1-A, despite the fact he is the sole support of his wife and his aged parents. Evans has been given a deferment, however. Harris has only two catchers on the roster, Jake Early and Evans. Loss of Evans would put the Nats in a real hole.

The Nats' biggest losses, of course, were Cecil Travis, .357-hitting shortstop, and Buddy Lewis, the stellar third-baseman and outfielder. First Baseman Jack Sanford and Outfielder Elmer Gedeon are other men who have been with the Washington team and now are in the armed services. The others lost to the service are rookies.

Good Pitchers

Despite the blows, the Nats have shown up well in the grapefruit circuit, as per usual. The team has been winning ball games with good hitting and some fine pitching.

The Washington pitching staff is extremely capable. In Dutch Leonard, who won 18 games last year; Sid Hudson, who won 15, and Steve Sundra, who won nine, the Nats have three first-rate starting hurlers. Other veterans around include Arnold Anderson, Alex Carrasquel, Walter Masterson and Bill Zuber. Early Wynn, who won 16 for Springfield in 1941, saw some action late last year.

Jack Wilson, received in a trade with Boston, won only four games against 13 losses for the Red Sox last year, but Wilson proved himself to be a top-flight hurler in his many years with the Red Sox, winning 54 games in the four years previous. Gone is Kendall Chase, who also had a bad year last season, but showed great flashes of brilliance for the Nats in the past.

Rookie pitching help may come from Hardin Cathey and Bill Kennedy, who won 21 games between them for Charlotte; Phil McCullough and Bill Zinser, who won 25 games between them for Greenville, S.C., and Richard Mulligan, from Trenton.

In the outfield, Johnny Welaj is gone and Sam West has been released. Bruce Campbell, ex-Detroit Tiger star, is expected to play right. George Case, the speedy base-runner, is in centre, and Stan Spence, acquired from Boston in the Chase trade, or Roberto Ortiz up from Charlotte, will get the third spot.

Infield Open

The infield still is open, although Manager Harris has been using Jim Vernon at first, Jim Pofahl at second, Rookie Stan Galle from Milwaukee and Robert Estallela at third and Bob Repass, rookie from Columbus, at short.

Vernon is a fixture at first, but Frank Croucher, who hit .254 for Detroit last year, may get the second base job, although he played short or the Tigers. Hitting and fielding of Repass, who batted .317 for Columbus last season, is one of the bright spots in the Nat camp at Orlando.

At third, Manager Harris is planning to use Estallela, who originally was a third-baseman before he was put in the outfield. The Cuban's big bat will be needed to add some punch to the infield. Galle, who hit. 288 for Milwaukee, is making a fight for the job, however.

NEW YORK, April 16.—(AP)—The way Larry Macphail figures it, the Giants' and Dodgers' contributions to army and navy relief may amount to as much as one third of the whole season's profits...they're giving the entire "take" of a game against the other, which ordinarily would be $20,000 to $25,000, and Larry figures a club that clears more than $75,000 above all expenses is rolling in dough...

NEW YORK GIANTS UNWRAP SENSATION IN OUTFIELDER MARSHALL

Smashes Homer Bases Loaded Nip Dodgers 6-4

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer

The rookie who has made probably the flashiest debut in the major leagues this year is Willard Marshall, an unheralded outfielder of the New York Giants, whose story is one of baseball's strange interludes.

When he bashed a terrific belt into the upper rightfield stands at the Polo Grounds for a home run with the bases loaded to beat Brooklyn Dodgers 6-4 yesterday, a lot of people began wondering who he was and where he had been. They didn't get any help from the Giants' Spring roster because he wasn't on it.

The big, rangy youngster has been in organized baseball only two years—both of them with Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association. As a kid fresh out of Wake Forest College he was something of a sensation his first season, getting 14 home runs and batting .314 in 1940.

Every major league club was interested in him and Earl Mann, the astute young president of the Crackers, placed a $50,000 price tag on his prize. Furthermore he wanted real money and not a collection of cast-off players with mythical values and as a result the bidding suddenly ceased. Marshall stayed at Atlanta in 1941.

His second time around Marshall's batting average dropped to .276 even though he stepped up his home runs to 21. Atlanta put him on the market again last winter but this time there was no eager waiting list. Brooklyn turned him down for $20,000. The reason that Marshall had become susceptible to the draft—turned 21 just three days before the registration in February.

Finally the Giants took him to camp on a basis of no down payment and $30,000 if they kept him. Mel Ott took a quick look at the recruit in Miami and made him a regular outfielder.

Di Mag Paces Yank Win

Another New York club collected a dividend on a big investment yesterday at Washington, where Joe DiMaggio led the Yankees to a 9-3 triumph over the Senators.

DiMaggio wangled a contract for $42,000 out of the world champions last month to become the highest salaried player in baseball. To show why he is worth it he hit his first home run of the year with two on in the fifth and added a double and a single to drive in a total of five runs. This assault spoiled the return of Washington's prodigal pitcher, Buck Newsom.

Another important home run of the day was delivered by a rookie trying to make good—shortstop Vernon (Junior) Stephens of St. Louis Browns, who connected with two aboard in the ninth inning at Chicago to whip the White Sox 6-5.

Rudy York homered with one on and Paul (Dizzy) Trout hurled seven-hit ball as Detroit crushed Cleveland 6-2 and Joe Dobson pitched Boston Red Sox to a 3-1 victory with a six-hit job on Philadelphia Athletics.

In the National League St. Louis Cardinals turned the tables on Chicago Cubs 4-2 as Harry Gumbert distinguished himself with a four-hit pitching performance. Pittsburgh Pirates solved Elmer Riddle with a five-run raid in the first inning and won 6-2 on six-hit pitching by Lloyd Dietz and Boston Braves punished Philadelphia Phils by the same score with Jim Tobin hurling a steady eight-hit game and hitting a two-run homer himself.

3 New Players Added To Leaf Roster

TORONTO, April 16 — Toronto's stock in the International League baseball derby which gets under way today, moved several points ahead with the announcement that Pitcher Jack Hallett, Infielder Al Rubeling and Outfielder John (Barney) Wyrostek had been added to the Maple Leafs' roster.

Hallett and Rubeling were purchased outright from Philadelphia Athletics, while Wyrostek comes on option from Pittsburgh Pirates. All three are expected to be in uniform when the Leafs tackle Syracuse Chiefs in the opening game at Syracuse.

Wyrostek, a 22-year-old left-handed swinger, is almost a certainty to grab a regular outfield berth. Standing two inches over the six-foot mark and weighing 180 pounds, Wyrostek batted at a .316 clip for New Orleans of the Southern Association last season, after starting out with Rochester.

The former St. Louis Cardinal farmhand is a veritable ball-hawk. In 1938 he was the only unanimous choice for the Coastal Plains League's all-star team. In 1940 he was two weeks late reporting for training with Houston. After the first week the club wired him, and received this message: "Just married. May report next week." He did, and finished up by leading the Houston batters for a pennant-winning season.

Hallett was obtained by Connie Mack last winter, along with Mike Kreevich in a trade for Wally Moses. The 28-year-old right hander, who towers six feet four inches, won five games and lost five for the White Sox last season, although his earned-run average of 6.00 wasn't overly impressive.

Rubeling will need no introduction to Toronto fans. A steady second sacker with Lena Blackburne's tail-enders in 1941, the Maryland slugger led the Leafs in runs-batted-in, and in home runs. He gave a steady infield performance over the full season, being the only Toronto player to perform in all of the team's games. Rubeling will likely line up at third base for the Leafs this season.

President Peter G. Campbell of the Toronto Club, who engineered the Hallett-Rubeling deal on a flying visit to El Paso, Texas, about ten days ago, left by plane last evening to be on hand for today's opening game at Syracuse.

Portage Terriers Are Surprise Of West

Fans Bet Oshawa Even Dough On Second Tilt

WINNIPEG, April 16.—(CP)—Coaches of Portage la Prairie Terriers and Oshawa Generals will depend on the same lineups for the second game of the O.H.A. Memorial Cup final here tonight with players on each club confident of victory.

Teriers, winners in the first game 5-1 because of deadly sniping at the goal-mouth, will use only 11 men against 12 for the Eastern Junior hockey champions. They will be without Joe Bell, point-making left-winger who is recovering from an infection of the bladder. Bell, however, will be on deck for the third game here Saturday, his physician, Dr. David Fawartz, said.

Winnipeg fans, blieving Charlie Conacher when he stated Generals were below par Monday night and will show considerable improvement since becoming accustomed to the climatic conditions of Manitoba, made Generals even betting for the second game.

Another full house—5,000 fans—will crowd into the arena for the struggle, expected to be a wide-open crowd-pleasing display.

Both teams were guests at a luncheon yesterday given by a large departmental store here. Terriers attended after a 45-minute scrimmage. Generals confined their pre-game concentration a 15-minute chalk talk by their coach, Conacher, former National League great from Toronto Maple Leafs.

Probable lineups for tonight's game:

Oshawa		Portage la Prairie
Waddell	goal	G. Bell
Mortimer	defence	Ritchie
Guidolin		Heindl
Nelson	centre	Bend
Davies	wings	Smith
Wilson		Love

Reviving Leafs Out To Square Series Tonight

DETROIT, April 16—(AP).—The bold Toronto Maple Leafs, producers of an astonishing comeback in the boisterous Stanley Cup hockey battle, will attempt tonight to square the best-of-seven series with Detroit Red Wings and carry the deciding game to their home ice Saturday.

Lead spectacularly by a brilliant forward line that Coach Hap Day patched up after dropping the first three games, Toronto has surged back with two victories, including Tuesday's record 9-3 triumph at Toronto. The credit for the Leaf upsurge goes largely to Sylvanus Apps, speedy centre, and the Metz brothers, Nick and Don.

Don Metz, an almost forgotten reserve, came into the picture as a substitute for the usual high-scoring Gordon Drillon, who was benched, and in the fifth game bagged three goals for hockey's highly-prided "hat trick."

Detroit now has decided to swap horses in midstream and Coach Ebbie Goodfellow, making the moves for the suspended Manager Jack Adams, is bringing up three rookies from Indianapolis of the American League.

In a desperate attempt to close out the series here, Detroit will have forwards Gus Giesebrecht and Joe Fisher and defenceman Doug McCaig in action tonight, replacing Eddie Bush, who scored five points in the third game, and Pat Mc Creavy and Adam Brown.

111 Minutes of Penalties

The rowdy Red Wings, whose strong-arm tactics in five games have brought 111 minutes in the penalty box, three times the total of their opponents, declared themselves ready, even though Adams will be missing from the bench because of a fistic attack Sunday on referee Mel Harwood.

"We are still in the driver's seat," said Goodfellow, "and it's up to the Leafs to show their hand."

Day, the Toronto boss, was reluctant to predict his team would make hockey history by coming back to tie and possibly win the series. There was an air of confidence in the Toronto camp, however.

Tonight's game will feature an interesting battle for individual scoring honors between Don Grosso of Detroit and Apps. Grosso has 14 points, one more than Apps, and has equalled the playoff scoring record established by Bill Cowley of Boston Bruins. Grosso's eight goals has tied another mark.

A sellout crowd of more than 13,000 will see the game. The five previous games have drawn a total of 70,406 spectators.

Leafs will arrive here this morning.

NEW YORK, April 16 — (AP).—Members of baseball's Advisory Council went into another huddle to-day amid enough gold braid to indicate that a game between a major league all-star team and the best players of the nation's armed forces might be added to the summer diamond menu.

The game would be played July 7 in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium, just 24 hours after the annual all-star game between the picked teams of the two major leagues in New York.

Both dates, as well as the sites, were selected yesterday when Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, president Will Harridge of the American League, and President Ford Frick of the National League, opened their two-day conference.

In addition, the Conucil decided that both games should be played at night in order to get as large crowds as possible. Both will start at 9 p.m. (EDT).

Although nothing more than the date and place was decided for the second game, representatives of both the Army and Navy were scheduled to sit in on to-day's discussion, indicating that the often-suggested contest involving a service team might be on the fire.

With Bob Feller pitching for his naval training station team almost as often as he would in the majors and Hank Greenberg and other ex-major leaguers playing several times a week, it has become apparent that the armed forces could field an all-star team in tip-top condition.

If the council decides against the service game, the Cleveland contest will be a repeat performance of the July 6 outing.

Montreal Oilers Expect To Repeat Win

HALIFAX, April 16.—(CP)—Montreal Oilers, with the first game of the Eastern Canada senior basketball finals against Dalhousie University Tigers safely tucked away by a 50-21 score, looked good to repeat their victory in the second game of the best-in-three series tonight.

The Ontario-Quebec titleholders showed better team play and more accurate shooting than the Maritime senior champions as they ran up a lead of 21-14 at half time.

Oilers' centre, Joe Richman, took the scoring honors with 15 points as he sank seven field baskets and one penalty shot. Dudley Bloomfield got 10 of the winners' total and Johnny Ferraro shot four field goals for eight points.

Ben Wilson, Tigers' defenceman, led the Collegians scorers with eight points, and playing coach Burnie Ralston got five.

DOLLARS FOR RUNS — By Jack Sords

Manufacturers Strengthen Appeal To C.N.R. To Retain Line From Port Hope To Peterborough

"We are not unmindful of the importance of the industries of Peterborough in the past, and of our relationships with the folks here. We hope that these relationships in the future will continue to deserve this splendid patronage."

That statement by F. P. Nelson, Toronto freight traffic manager, seemed to be an indication of the friendly spirit in which Canadian National Railway executives received the appeal of industrial and municipal representatives of Peterborough and th district at the City Hall on Wednesday afternoon in the presentation of their case for continuation of the operation of the Peterborough-Port Hope branch of the system.

The Dominion Board of Transport had issued an order last fall permitting the C.N.R. to abandon this line at the end of 1941, but this action was deferred by the company until the end of this month. Economic changes affecting transportation, especially shortage of rubber and gasoline, have become more acute since the Board of Transport issued its order, and a recent district meeting here resulted in a petition to the C.N.R. heads for reconsideraiton of probable effects of diminishing bus services on local transportation.

It was decided to send a deputation from the district to interview the C.N.R. heads in Toronto, but on their part they arranged to come to Peterborough yesterday to hear the new aspects of local traffic apprehensions.

The C.N.R. executive group included J. P. Johnson, Toronto, general superintendent of the Southern Ontario district; and the following traffic men of the Central region, all of Toronto: F. P. Nelson, freight traffic manager Charles W. Wells, general freight agent; L. L. Grabill, general baggage and mail agent; W. C. McGonegal, superintendent of express; R. C. Gadsby, district passenger agent; J. T. Whiteford, assistant district passenger agent; O. W. Duff, Belleville, superintendent of the Belleville division; John Stevenson, Lindsay, trainmaster; T. J. Ormrod, secretary to Mr. Johnston.

G. A. Macdonald, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was the chairman of yesterday's meeting, and among those present were also Mayor Hamilton, Alderman Bradburn, chairman of the Manufacturers Committee; Alderman Dutton, W. R. Breyfogle, general manager of the De Laval Company; John R. Marshall, general manager of the Nashua Paper Company; Vincent Eastwood Robert Abbott, general manager of the Canadian Raybestos Company; Gordon S. Matthews, general manager of Canada Packers Limited; Col. John A. Dewart, E. V. Morphet, traffic manager of the Quaker Oats Company; P. I. Bentley and H. D. Bigelow of Millbrook; C. P. Freeman, Port Hope; T. J. Carley, K.C., who submitted the general application for the district representatives; J. J. Dorris, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; W. F. Huycke, K.C., city solicitor; Reeve W. R. Prouse of Hope Township; W. J. Woodley, Deputy-Reeve; H. M. Foster and W. W. Lord of Hope and J. A. Waddell of Campbellcroft.

City Sympathetic.

Some touches of sentiment were mixed with brass tacks of industry and transportation by the speakers whom G. A. Macdonald called upon after everybody was introduced. One of the points incidentally mentioned by Mayor Hamilton, and Alderman Dutton and Bradburn was the fact that Peterborough did not continue to press the Board of Transport for the retention of the line to Port Hope after the C.N.R. had showed an operating loss in 1940 of $13,000. Alderman Dutton recalled that the Council last fall had concluded that it had no further evidence to overcome the financial shortcoming in recent years from diversions of freight and passenger traffic by buses and trucks.

Since last December, however, the Council members emphasized, the entire nation was confronted with the vastly changed state of affairs from the loss of most of the source of rubber supply, with drastic governmental restrictions, together with the rationing of gasoline. Because this was a serious situation potentially cutting deep into rubber-tired services, the City Council on behalf of its industries did not hesitate, at its meeting a week ago, to send to the C.N.R. executives in Toronto a resolution urging the continuation of the Port Hope line in the emergency which has been deepening during the last few months with the prospect that it might become a great deal worse.

Rails for War Needs.

Mr. Johnston mentioned the fact that the 16.9 miles of rails between Millbrook and Port Hope would be lifted with cancellation of operations and would be used immediately for some war purpose.

Commenting on that point Mr. Breyfogle said the Province of New Brunswick had 27 miles of railways which it was advertising for sale and would tear.

"Don't sell Peterborough down the river for 16 miles of rails," Mr. Breyfogle pleaded. "Peterborough has a potential population right now of 32,000 people, most of them living within the city's precincts. You can't throw a commuity of that size into the sticks. The C.N.R. has long been part of this community. We need the C.N.R. and it needs Peterborough. We ask you to give consideration to the folks down the line so thay can go on living as they should without undue restrictions. You can help to keep them all with their heads up."

Railways Essential

Mr. Abbott said he was selfishly interested in Peterborough. "When I came here 22 years ago our company was greatly influenced by the transportation facilities of Peterborough. We went up and down the line from Windsor to Sherbrooke. We were impressed by the passenger and freight facilities here. In recent years some of those facilities have been set aside. Many people are now driving to Port Hope when they want to go to Ottawa and Montreal."

Mr. Abbott also referred to his company's business with General Motors at Oshawa and also with Bowmanville, and of the difficulties today in getting rubber supplies.

"I'd hate to see this railway connection cut off without giving present business a chance to improve. The situation is becoming more serious every day. Time is an important factor, and if this transportation service was stopped I don't know what we would do if we could not get goods and deliver them on time."

A Packing Centre

Mr. Matthews discussed the district business of Canada Packers and said there were evidences that before many months trucking service might be greatly curtailed. He spoke of the delivery of hogs and cattle, the outgoing of the finished products, and also said that Packers were considering a new loading station probably at Port Hope for tomatoes grown in that district for the manning department of Packers.

Reeve Prouse told of the expansion of the new tobacco industry in Hope, Durham Plantation Limited, of which he is president. The second crop last year produced 100 tons, but it was sent by truck to Delhi and Tillsonburg for processing.

News this week indicated that the government was planning to reduce long freight hauls and especially duplication of trucking where rail transport was available.

"Besides, trucking rates are so much higher that rail deliveries will soon be cheaper," Mr. Prouse said. "We realize that C.N.R. has not been paying on this line, but indications today seem to be pointing to a substantial change."

"We are learning quite a bit here this afternoon," Mr. Johnston remarked.

District Grain Business

Grain and seed business at Campbellcroft were reviewed by Col. Dewart and Mr. Waddell. A new feature they pointed out, had developed from the government's policy of subsidizing western grain brought into Ontario for livestock feed. Col. Dewart said that farmers of this district grew considerable quantities of fall wheat which they would continue to sell out of the area because it afforded a spread of about 35c a bushel on the quality of western grain that is being fed cattle and other livestock.

Mr. Morphet cited several experiences of the Quaker Oats Company in their deliveries which reached seaboard because of the service afforded by the line to Port Hope.

Alderman Bradburn acknowledged that Peterborough council "has certainly changed its mind about this line in the last four months. We ask you to keep in mind that Peterborough is an industrial centre, and we have to look after the interests of our industries.

Peterborough's Future

If we could not provide them with transportation facilities, our industries would likely be curtailed. After the war there is likely to be an influx of new industries into this country. There is also the proposal of the St. Lawrence deep waterway. When that is developed Port Hope and Cobourg are likely to become more important lake ports, and we feel that it would be greatly to our advantage to have the C.N.R. connection between this city and Port Hope. The C.N.R. would probably lose considerable of the shipping of bulk goods, but it would then be important to the railway to have feeder lines like this one from Peterborough."

Commenting on a remark by Mr. Marshall relating to the loss of business by the railways to truck service, Mr. Nelson said, "We certainly are not going to think back to that feature in reviewing this present situation. To me this has been an exceptionally friendly exchange of views and a desire to work out this problem in a friendly way. What we have heard today will be of assistance to us."

Mr. Freeman, Port Hope banker, said he was representing the town council. "We in Port Hope are interested in this district. I know Hope township well. Truckers are coming to me nearly every day wondering where they can get means of transportation, used trucks, second hand tires and so on."

Mr. Johnston remarked that he was specially interested in the information obtained from Col. Dewart and Mr. Waddell about the incoming of western wheat, the extent of that business, and the fact that district farmers were unlikely to feed their wheat when they had a better price for it as compared with the western feed grain.

Mr. Bentley presented the claims of Millbrook, mainly a review of facts mentioned at previous hearings.

"Millbrook does not seem to be interested in becoming a terminal point," Mr. Johnston jokingly observed. He suggested that the meeting break up into an informal discussion individually and to promote that final stage of the conference the two groups adjourned to the Peterborough Club.

favor of the Globe and Mail was interpreted as making this ruling unnecessary

Special Jury Costs.

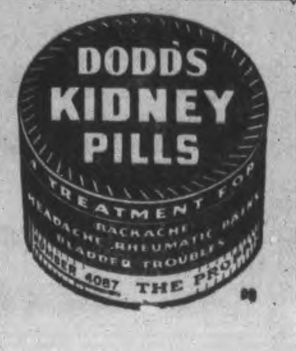
Immediately the jury returned its decision and Mr. Justice MacKay discharged the jurymen, the Glove and Mail counsel, W. N. Tilley, asked the Judge to rule that the case was a proper one to be tried by a special jury. The Judge acceded to the request which was made in order that the special jury costs would be included in the Globe Printing Co. costs assessed against the Toronto Star, Limited.

Only one witness was called in the case, which opened April 8. Following examination of this witness, Joseph E. Atkinson, publisher of the Daily Star, there was a long argument over withdrawing the case from the jury and over the question of privilege. Mr. Justice MacKay postponed a ruling when the case adjourned Thursday until Tuesday when he ruled only on the privilege question.

The verdict was known as a "general verdict" and came after the Judge and opposing counsel suggested the jury adopt this course of giving a definite guilty or not guilty decision rather than answer a list of questions which had been submitted to them.

"Pitfalls are many in this type of action and why make more complicated an already complicated action?" Mr. Justice MacKay asked.

The Judge, in his charge which lasted nearly 2½ hours dealt lengthily with the privilege question, explaining "By our law there are occasions on which a person may make defamatory statements about another which are untrue without incurring any legal liability for the statements." Such assertions were protected for reasons of public interests but the protection was not absolute. It depended on the purpose for which the statements were made.



MORE ABOUT— House Urges Yes

Ordinarily it would have been the present Liberal administration's last session but with the unanimous consent of the House a bill was passed prolonging the life of the legislature for another year.

May Extend It Again

This step was taken to avoid a war-time election. If the war is still being fought next year and provincial politics continue along their even course without a doubt the government will add another year to its life. The Hepburn administration was first elected in 1934 and re-elected for a five-year term in 1937.

Another feature of the session was the rapidity in which certain measures were enacted. Three bills —one validating the agreement between the Dominion Government and province regarding the transfer of taxing privileges and two respecting the Abitibi Power and Paper Company — passed through successive stages of legislation in three days, March 24 to 26 inclusive, and received royal assent on the latter date.

The climax was reached yesterday however when a bill, purpose of which was to root out alleged organized gambling in the Toronto suburbs, was given first, second and third readings in the course of little more than two hours and became law with the receipt of royal assent early today.

The One Live Spot.

It was the gambling issue which added a flourishing touch to an otherwise dull session. Introduced first by Conservative Leader George A. Drew last Monday it provoked a discussion that extended over three days and ended with the Attorney-General, Hon. Gordon Conant, introducing the Bill which authorized the padlocking of gambling premises.

As an anti-climax to the matter, Col. Drew during his discussion of the Conant measure revealed he had been threatened by interests associated with Manny Feder, named by the Conservative Leader as the head of a racketeering gang that controlled vice in the areas adjacent to Toronto.

Another matter that ordinarily would not have attracted the attention of hte House was the relief situation in Toronto. This issue was injected into the Legislature's deliberations when Controller Lewis Duncan charged that persons on relief in this city had died of malnutrition due to inefficiencies of the relief schedules.

Welfare Minister Farquhar Oliver denied the accusation and upshot of the ensuing discussion was the appointment of Dr. Smirle Lawson, chief coroner of the province as Royal Commissioner to investigate the charges. The inquiry still has to be concluded.

Oils Are Reviewed.

The prorogation speech early today, which closed three final hectic days of afternoon and night sessions, reviewed the various legislation enacted.

The speech referred to the Act which enables members of the armed forces, regardless of age or where stationed, to vote in the next provincial elections—by proxy if necessary.

Regarding legislation giving the Dominion exclusive taxing rights on corporations and incomes for the duration, the speech termed it the "most important ever to come before this Legislature."

It said the continuance of the cheese and hog subsidies showed the government appreciated the difficulties the farmer was laboring under in endeavoring to maintain production of food for Britain.

Bills passed extending the Moratorium Act of the Abitibi Company until June 30, 1943, and giving that company power to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada against an order for immediate sale will for the time being protect the equity of the shareholders. The company has been in receivership for some years.

"In your debates it has been evident that uppermost in your minds has been the clear vision that victory is one thing that matters and other considerations have receded into the background," the speech concluded. "We face days of great and sore trial. Let us resolve to meet them with faith in our cause and in ourselves and under Divine Providence we shall in the end see the bright dawn of victory and of better days."

St. Andrew's Head Joins Navy

AURORA, April 16—The Board of Governors of St. Andrew's College announced yesterday that Kenneth Ketchum, headmaster of the college, has been granted leave of absence to accept an active service appointment in the Royal Canadian Navy with the object of filling the position of director of studies at the new Canadian Naval College which is to be opened in September.

"Reluctant as the board is to deprive the college of Mr. Ketchum's services for a period of time, it feels that a call to such important war work is imperative," said Dr. B. Macdonald, board chairman. "Also, they appreciate that it is a great honor to Mr Ketchum, as well as honor to the college, that the headmaster should be selected for so vital a position."

The board announces that J. C. Garrett will be acting-headmaster during Mr. Ketchum's absence.

Guerillas Doing Good Job.

Front-line dispatches said guerillas hampered the movement of the Nazi reinforcements to the Bryansk sector, where Germany's divisions reputedly are directed by Field-Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch. Before Hitler assumed supreme command last December 19 Von Brauchitsch was the Nazi Commander-in-Chief.

The Russian irregulars were reported to be wrecking trains, sniping at motor transport outfits and attacking airdromes.

Red Navy units in Arctic waters, who reported the destruction of one German transport on Monday in their efforts to cut Axis supply lines, were said to have disposed of two more.

"In the Barents Sea," the Information Bureau said, "our ships sank one enemy transport of 9,000 tons and another of 8,000 tons."

Ottawa Shelves The Pamphlet

OTTAWA, April 16 —(CP)— The proposed issue to every householder of an "informative pamphlet" on the manpower plebiscite will be abandoned in view of the difficulty of completing full distribution before voting day, April 27, it was learned today.

The government is seeking a "yes" reply to the plebiscite.

Officials said that copies of speech by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and other members of the cabinet, dealing with the plebiscite and the reasons for it, are going forward to local committees interested in obtaining a "yes" vote. These committees have been organized in many electoral districts by members of the House of Commons.

STILL GOING OUT

There seems to be no end to the stream of applications for bicycle licenses. When the licensing system was adopted here it was thought that about 1,500 markers would be issued. However, the total number of licenses up to today is 2,374 and bicycle owners are still turning up in numbers every day. In this connection the police department again warns cyclists that the markers must be carried in the proper place on the rear mud guard.

NEW SAFETY SIGNS

New Department of Highway signs advising motorists that there is a school in the neighborhood and asking them to drive slowly have been placed on Water street, one in the block south of Murray street and the other in the block above that street. Residents in the neighborhood point out that these signs as placed now do not give full protection to the children attending Central School as scores of children have to cross Water street at McDonnel street and others at Brock street.

FIRST IN.

Pat Glasford and Connie Reed of Lock Street opened the swimming season at the Belmont near Rye's yesterday—and the water was cold.

ATTENDED CONFERENCE.

David E. Bell, C.N.R. agent in this city, attended the conference of company and municipal representatives here Wednesday afternoon.

SERGEANTS MEETING

A joint meeting of the Prince of Wales Rangers first and second battalion warrant officers and sergeants will be held on Thursday evening at eight o'clock. All W.O.'s and sergeants are requested to attend this meeting in the sergeants' mess.

LICENSE PLATE LOST.

An "S" license plate for a passenger car is stuck in a post on highway 28, a few miles south of Bewdley. The plate is on the east side of the road, on a curve, and the owner can pick it up readily enough on his next trip.

CREATING A DISTURBANCE

Two young men who were arrested last night following an argument in a restaurant that wound up in the street outside were charged in police court this morning witth creating a disturbance. The cases were adjourned until Monday when both men entered pleas of not guilty and the police were not ready to proceed.

POLICE WARNING

Peterborough citizens are once more warned by Chief Constable Newhall to be on their guard against any person, other than a police officer with the proper credentials, who represents himself as being a collector for the Canadian Police Spitfire Fund. Chief Newhall says that in a number of cities unauthorized persons have been trying to cash in on the Spitfire drive and it is just possible some of the offenders may try it in Peterborough. If you are approached by any stranger who says he is collecting for the Spitfire fund please communicate with the police department at once is the request that the Chief Constable makes of Peterborough citizens.

Youth Leaving Farms Serious Problem

The average age of farmers in this country is 52 years, V. S. Milburn said at a meeting of the Northumberland Federation of Agriculture at Coldsprings in Hamilton township last night.

The attendance of 250 men and women was a substantial index of the growth of the Federation south of Rice Lake.

Mr. Milburn discussed the purpose of the Federation and its service and usefulness to farmers since it had reached the stage of maintaining a permanent office in Ottawa. The recent agricultural survey had the average age of farmers today is disclosed the disquieting fact that far too high. A man at 52 years can look forward to only another thirteen bringing him to sixty-five years.

Agriculture was losing its youth and not only should the industry itself be deeply concerned about this disturbing development, but also the country as a whole, Mr. Milburn said.

Farm youth should be encouraged to find in their own industry and its associations such as the Federation an outlet for self-expression.

Mr. Milburn spoke of the wartime trend of regimentation as democracy stood up to its enemies. "Why can't we do more of our own regimenting, if it has to be, so we can advise ourselves, determine our needs and the way we are going."

HUMANE SOCIETY TO ENFORCE BY-LAW

Enforcement of the City's By-low requiring the licensing of all dogs and for controlling the running at large of dogs will be the responsibility commencing April 15th of an official of the local Humane Society.

Formerly the City Council appointed an official to perform this work, but by arrangement the Humane Society is assuming the responsibility for it.

Citizens generally and dog owners in particular will, it is expected, co-operate with the Humane Society official in order that the By-law may be observed without hardship to owners or their pets.

John T. Braund Citizen Merchant Passes

Lingering and progressive illness of John T. Braund ended in his death Wednesday evening at his residence 730 George street north. For a week or more his friends had been advised that Mr. Braund's remaining days would not bear him far into the greenness of this spring, and from those clouded intimations little or no hope was held for his recovery. The weakness which overtook him ten months ago finally took its toll.

In less than half a century Mr. Braund had acquired and built a large estate in Peterborough on the basis of the grocery store which he had carried on for years at Park Hill Road and George street. He was born in Whitby township, son of Joseph Braund and his wife Charlotte Bond, and was in his sixty-fifth year.

Came Here 46 Years Ago

He was only nineteen when he came to Peterborough forty-six years ago following his enterprising brother, Ralph C. Braund. Sound business and personal ideals and work in a growing community accounted largely for the success of the brothers Braund.

John opened a grocery and meat store in the north end; in fact it was something of a general store with flour and feed section, and other departments. Ralph located at the corner of Park and Albert streets. Aggressive buying and selling methods, sound merchandizing, brought them increase from the beginning. They joined their buying power for the advantage of closer prices for quantity purchases, and Robert and Nelson Routly probably were linked in the same unity when they entered the wholesale and manufacturing circles for the goods they needed.

John T. Braund had a substantial advantage in the energetic methods and also the long vision of his brother Ralph. Enterprise they both revealed in their business relations with the public, and from the earnings of their stores and general investments they gradually acquired considerable real estate, entrusting their money to the town in which they had gathered it. Ten years ago Mr. Braund retired from the field of merchandizing, giving more attention to his properties. His son, Ernest Braund, has taken his father's place in the business life of this city, a place which was founded on personal integrity, the vital touch in business ways, and which left to the Braund name a stirling reputation.

Curler and Bowler

In his later years Mr. Braund realized that he was missing something in his leisure, that he had more time for diversion, and he joined the curling and bowling clubs, and eventually was skipping rinks, going to bonspiels, and apart entirely from that recreational advantage, the bowlers pay tribute to him as one of those who contributed largely to the upbuilding of their fine property on McDonnel Street. He was a member of the board of directors of the Toronto General Insurance Company.

Such were some of the uses John T. Braund made of those forty-six years in Peterborough, from the time he arrived here at nineteen. His friends attest his fine reputation. He is survived by his widow, and three sons, Ernest C. Braund, Dr. Stanley Braund, Peterborough, and Dr. J. E. Braund, Toronto, and one daughter, Miss C. Phyllis Braund of this city, also by his brother Ralph, and one sister Mrs. Thomas Stacey, Oshawa.

Mr. Braund was a past president of both the curling and bowling clubs. He was a member of the Salvation Army from boyhood, and the funeral Friday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock will be held from the Simcoe Street Temple, conducted by Adjutant Norman Buckley.

C.P. President

Arthur R. Ford, managing editor of The London Free Press, who was elected Wednesday as president of The Canadian Press, Canada's national news-gathering organization. A newspaperman in east and west for almost 40 years, Mr. Ford succeeds W. Rupert Davies, president of the Peterborough Examiner, who was president of C.P. for three years.

W. Rupert Davies Re-elected Chief Of E.P.U.

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP). — Members of the Empire Press Union (Canadian section) at their annual meeting last night heard reports on the work of the council of the union in London in facilitating transmission of news to the overseas press. A special committee of the council has removed obstacle to rapid and efficient dispatch of news.

Principal function of E.P.U. as a whole is to facilitate the flow of news from one part of the Empire to another.

The meeting re-elected as its chairman W. Rupert Davies of the Kingston Whig-Standard, and named J. W. Dafoe, of the Winnipeg Free Press, to succeed the late Honorary Lt.-Col. J. H. Woods, of the Calgary Herald, as honorary chairman

The following were elected members of the executive committee: Representing the daily press, G. W. Ferguson, Winnipeg Free Press, Henri Gagnon, Quebec Le Soleil, and Howard P. Robinson, Saint John Telegraph-Journal; represening the weekly press, E. Roy Sales, Renfrew Mercury; representing the periodical press, H. T. Hunter, MacLean Publishing Company, Toronto.

W. A. Craick of Toronto was re-elected honorary secretary-treasurer and T. F. Dummie, Saint John Telegraph-Journal, auditor.

Call for 100 Membership

The following members were named to represent the Canadian section of the council of the E.P.U.: M. E. Nichols, Vancouver Province; Senator W. A. Buchanan, Lethbridge Herald; P. D. Ross, Ottawa Journal; Eugene Larmarche, Montreal La Presse; Senator W. H. Dennis, Halifax Herald; J. A. McNeil, The Canadian Press; C. F. Crandall, British United Press.

Mr. Davies urged a campaign to increase the membership of the E.P.U. in Canada to 100.

He paid tribute to the late Col. Woods, chairman of the Canadian section for 18 years and inaugurator of the annual meetings, as "a man who devoted heart and soul for the objects for which the E.P.U. stands."

In a separate memoranda Davies said that from the Empire standpoint and from the standpoint of every Canadian newspaper, the greatest single achievement of the E.P.U. in recent years was the realization of the Empire Press cable rate of two cents a word between points within the Empire.

Seventeen Men Enlist In Navy

There is not another city in the province of Ontario that can match Peterborough in the matter of recruits for the Royal Canadian Navy. To illustrate the statement, between April 10 and April 14, seventeen young men from Peterborough city were accepted as recruits in the Navy, and to match this the city of Toronto which is 32 times as large as Peterborough would have to produce 544 men for the Navy, which they have not done.

Peterborough according to Navy men is fast becoming the leading city among all except metropolitan centres in providing men for the Navy, and the type of young men who is applying is a matter of satisfaction to the recruiting officers. Several husky youngsters, many of them of Irish extraction whose names are well known in local softball, hockey and baseball leagues have already donned the blue uniform of the sailor, and are in training for the big job that lies ahead.

The seventeen men who were accepted during the four days mentioned above are: R. Selby, V. J. Neary, J. R. Sutton, J. A. Hamilton, J. Locke, J. Guerin, W. Brooks, D. Board, J. Berardi, W. Wheeler, A. Eggleston, J. Mortimer, John Knox, Alfred Johnson, 44 Monaghan Road, Milton E. Whymark, 515 Bolivar street, and F. H. Craig, 563 George street.

A recruiting officer and two ordinary seamen will be in the city to accept applications on Friday from 11 in the morning until 8 at night, with offices in the committee room of the City Building.

Bowling Clubs Raise $43.80 For War Victims

For a number of years past, the bowling clubs of three of the city's industrial plants have joined together to form a league under the title of Raybestos, Nashua and Sealright Bowling League. Last Saturday night to wind up the season, they held the annual banquet for the members, at the Champlain Hotel, and it was noted that Senator J. J. Duffus was among the guests present. The president of the league, Vic Hamilton, was in the chair, and the presentation was made of the cup to the winners of the league, besides the distribution of the individual prizes to those who had qualified for them.

During the course of the evening it was suggested that a collection be taken up on behalf of the sufferers from air raids in England, through the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, and Robert Abbott, general manager of the Canadian Raybestos Company Ltd. joined with J. R. Marshall, the head of the Canadian Nashua Paper Company and S. Whitehouse, the general manager of Canadian Sealright Company Ltd., in an offer to double whatever should be the amount of collection thus taken. The cup was passed, and in all a total of $21.80 was collected, and this added to $22.00 given by the three heads of the various concerns in redeeming their pledge, makes a total credit of $43.80 which appears in the list of contributions for to-day, adding a real strike for the good of others.

One personal donation from a regular contributor E.M.F. is also listed.

Lakefield Reports.

From J. McKerchar, fund representative iin Lakefield there is noted two items, both of which have appeared previously in acknowledgments for the Fund. Mrs. Lillian S. Abbott of R.R., Lakefield, has on previous occasions given the dividend cheque amounting to $7.50 from a Government bond to the Fund, and to the same source is credited a donation from her in to-day's ilst.

The fund is drawing ever closer to the 40,000 dollar mark, less than $200 now being required to put it over the top for that objective.

Plaintiff Given $150 Damages

In the action of Mrs. Rachael Booth against Robert Shearer, under the Fatal Accidents Act for negligence causing the death of her husband, on Water street, when Robert Shearer of Buckhorn was driving an automobile to Peterborough, and Mr. Henry Booth was working in garbage collection for the City, the Hon. Mr. Justice Hogg, at the High Court Sittings on Tuesday, allowed the plaintiff $150.00 damages without costs.

The plaintiff had claimed $10,000 damages in this action, and the judge found that the late Mr. Booth was 50 per cent negligent, by reason of his position on the side of the road, and Mr. Shearer was 50 per cent negligent, and he awarded $300, which was cut in two by the contributory negligence of the deceased man, and $150 was awarded, without costs.

W. J. Arthur Fair appeared for the plaintiff, Mrs. Rachael Booth, and G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for Robert Shearer, and Harry Shearer, the owner of the car.

PANTRY PLUNDERED

Housewives better nail down the aluminum kitchenware, for youngsters are becoming salvage minded and when you go to boil the potatoes the potato pot may be on its way to carry bombs to Hitler's doorstep. Some ambitious boy purloined a new aluminum pie plate last Saturday in order to get into the Centre Theatre, on the Neill's Safety Show, but the pie plate was rescued by Clare Collins of Neill's and he is keeping it for a few days in case an irate mother comes barging in seeking the missing kitchen item. A truck piled high with salvage was the result of the drive to aid the war effort.

313 Men Applied To Enlist In The Rangers

Fifteen applications for enlistment with the Prince of Wales Rangers were received at the recruiting office Wednesday while five men were added to the strength of the unit whose applications had been previously received. The tempo of interest in the local unit, now in the process of mobilization, has been maintained at a fair pace and the number of applications received each week has varied but little, Major R. Honey, area recruiting officer, said to-day. As an indication of the number who have applied for enlistment since the unit was ordered to mobilize, the figure stood at 313 up to Wednesday night. This means to say that 313 men of Peterborough have presented themselves for that purpose since March 11, a little over a month ago. However, for various reasons in their medical tests, many of these men were not successful in reaching the attestation room, the last act in the process of getting into the army.

And now, in a lighter vein, it appears there's something more to being a soldier than the name implies. At least that is the impression one in the army gets while on a route march. Yesterday was no exception. Headed by the P.C.V.S. Cadet bugle band, a parade of members of hte Rangers headed north on George street and eventually wound up at Nicholls Oval.

A number of little tots, some of them hardly able to walk, followed the parade for several blocks each way until it reached a stage that R.S.M. Andy Jackson took steps to stop them. "I'll bet half of them will not be able to find their way home again," he remarked. Still they came, by the dozens, on tricycles, bicycles, but mostly on foot.

Free Use of Pool.

The morning P.T. exercises among officers and the daily dip in the pool, both held at the Y.M.C.A. during morning periods, are, needless to say, much appreciated by the regiment. Free towels, the use of the gym and pool are kindly offered by the management of the Y at no cost whatever to the officers and men. Captain H. A. Craig, acting adjutant of the regiment, has again expressed his appreciation on behalf of the regiment for the use of he Y facilities.

In the absence of R.S.M. Andy Jackson each morning during P.T. period for the men, the exercises are being conducted by acting sergeant H. W. Kennedy, a former Havelock, Ont., boy. The sergeant was ably assisted this morning by that well known Keene bus driver, Ivan Fletcher The general concensus of opinion in his regard is that the R.S.M. hasn't gone through a P.T. exercise until he has been under the command of Sergeant Kennedy. Everything from stretching out full length on the drill floor to pacing like mad is included in the exercises. It hasn't reached the stage yet but some of the heavier men of the Rangers may start complaining any day now. (Note—Corporal Carravaggie).

District Streams Get Trout Fingerling

Charles Kingan, president of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association reported Thursday that quite a supply of trout fingerlings had been placed in the streams of the Peterborough district. These fish are about three inches long, and should mature rapidly, thus building up the supply of speckled beauties for the fly fisherman.

Fifty-six hundred were placed in the Cavan stream and an equal number n the Big Ouse river between Peterborough and Norwood. 2800 went into each of the following trout waters, Mount Pleasant, Little Ouse, Buchanans, Plato, Scotts and Eel's creek.

No change has been made so far in the trout season for this district, which means that the fishermen and women will have their first whirl on May 1, which falls on a Friday and with decent weather and the possibility that streams will have dropped from flood levels, the fishing should be tops.

Mayor Hamilton Honored By Colleagues

Members of the City Council last night assumed the role of hosts to Mayor Hamilton at a dinner at the Peterborough Club as a complimentary surprise on his birthday.

The social gathering seems to have been inspired by Alderman Sands and was immediately encouraged by the other members. All of them were present excepting Aldermen Gordon and Cotton, with City Clerk Outram, Dr. Avison, M.O.H., City Treasurer Shaver, W. J. Henry, assessor, and A. S. Couper, tax collector; Fire Chief Jimblett and G. S. Matthews, chairman of the Utilities Commission.

Appreciation of Mayor Hamilton's courtesy is leadership was expressed by Aldermen Bradburn, Glover, and Sullivan.

His Worship disclaimed credit for any success in the administration of the city. He said he had tried to represent the ratepayers as well as he could, "but anything I have been able to do has been chiefly from the fact that I have had the cooperation of the members of the council and a competent civic staff."

Mayor Hamilton said he enjoyed the association of the members of the council to whom he referred as "good fellows," who were seriously concerned in the welfare of Peterborough.

See Canada With War Drama Peace Comforts

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP) — Canadians in Canada have been "enjoying the drama of war and the comforts of peace," Capt. David A. Croll, K.C., M.P.P., of the Oxford Rifles, told the Ontario Legislature Tuesday.

"Now that can't go on," he admonished. "It must come to an end and must come quickly."

There was no sacrifice in the yielding of a lump of sugar, a pat of butter, cuffs for trousers. People who gave up only those could not talk of sacrifice.

"Before this war is over, there will be sacrifices that will be real and that will be terrible in blood and in treasure, in effort and in comfort."

The Legislature member from Windsor-Walkerville last appeared in the House in the 1940 session. Then he was in the uniform of a private of the Essex Scottish. Since that time he has been in Great Britain where he rose from the ranks and on his return to Canada, he has been promoted to captain to assist in the training of the Oxford Rifles, recently mobilized unit at Woodstock.

Capt. Croll appealed for Ontario to give a lead to all Canada in an emphatic "yes" vote in the plebiscite on April 27 for the release of the Federal government from committments regarding raising of manpower.

Capt. Croll said, too, that the Canadian army in England is in urgent need of reinforcements, "it needs trained reinforcements badly." They were needed to maintain morale which is splendid, and to increase the striking power of Canada's shock troops.

"I think I speak the mind of our army generally when I say they look to Canada and to Ontario particularly to indicate on the plebiscite by an avalanche of 'Yes' votes where she stands," said Capt. Croll.

"When I reached Canada I hadn't read a newspaper for five or six weeks. When I did I was rather confused by the advice of men in high places. I found the Minister of Municipal Affairs in one province advising a 'No' vote and a Minister in another advising a 'Yes' vote.

"I worked it out for myself. I said to myself, If Hitler had a right to vote, how would he vote, and I came directly to the conclusion he'd vote 'No' and I realized what's good for him is bad for me and I should vote 'Yes'."

Trent River W.I. Elects Officers

TRENT RIVER, April 16 —(ENS) —The annual meeting of the Trent River Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Brown with a large attendance on hand.

The War Workers report was presented by Mrs. Harry Mann showing receipts of $102.69 and expenses of $13.72. Letters were read from the Navy League requesting maple sugar, and re conference for young girls in Kemptville. No action was taken.

It was decided to take "left-over dish" to demonstrate on Summary Day by Mrs. F. Rutton and Mrs. E. Little. The Institute expressed thanks to William Barrie who donated a large tree for wood for the War Workers rooms, also to H. Mann and R. Pollock who cut the wood for them.

The meetings for 1942-43 year were allotted at homes as follows: May, Mrs. W. Glenn; June, Mrs. Joseph Tedford; July Mrs. William G. McLaughlin; August, Mrs. F. Ruttan; September, Mrs. W. Inkster; October, Mrs. T. Wight; November, Mrs. E. Greenly; December, Mrs. H. Mann; January, Mrs. R. Carnrite; February, Mrs. E. Little; March, Mrs. George Brooks; April, Mrs. Thomas Brown.

For the May meeting at Mrs. Glenn's the hostesses will be Mrs. H. Dunsford and Mrs. R. Carnrite program convener Mrs. W. Glenn, and roll call will be exchange of slips. It was decided to hold a meeting at War Workers' rooms on April 17 to make out programs for the year. In the absence of Miss B. French, Mrs. W. McLaughlin and Mrs. T. Brown will audit the books.

The election of officers for the year took place as follows: President Mrs. Ward Glenn; vice-president, Mrs. F. Rutton; secretary, Mrs. M. Wight; treasurer, Mrs. Earl Greenly; treasurer for War Work, Mrs. H. Mann; district director, Mrs. T. Brown; board of directors, Mrs. H. Mann, Mrs. E. Little Mrs. M. Obituary

GWYNETH LORAINE MOORE.

The sympathy of a wide circle of friends and neighbors became evident to-day when it was learned that Gwyneth Loraine Moore, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Moore, 7 Bennett Street, had died, following a brief illness. Death came on Tuesday afternoon and she was an only child.

She attended Queen Elizabeth School and was a bright and popular student. She was a member of the Primary Class of George Street United Church Sunday School.

The funeral took place this afternoon at four o'clock from the residence of the child's aunt, Mrs. Morley Powell 370 London Street. Rev. H. L. Roberts of George Street United Church conducted the funeral services and interment was in Little Lake Cemetery.

SUGARS THE SAME

There is no chemical difference between beet and cane sugars; both are pure sucrose.

First The Jeep And The Peep

The "Jeep" and "Peep" have become famous in Uncle Sam's mechanized army, but have you seen the latest in the series—the "Beep?" Elaine Gunderson, a secretary at Gowen Field, Boise, Idaho, delivers a package to Technical-Sergeant James Ladd from her carrying box in the "Beep." Officially the vehicle is known as an auto-glide scooter. It is the army's answer to rubber and gasoline problems, saving tires and gas. They have a top speed of 25 miles per hour and can travel 40 miles on a gallon of gas.

Keeping Folks Back Home Posted

Canada's sailors are prolific letter writers as the ship's officers who censor them know well. At almost any hour of the day or night, when there's no fighting to be done, someone is devoting his leisure time to telling the folks at home how well he feels. The officers take their turn at censorship.

Norwood Fixes Tax Rate At 50 Mills

NORWOOD, April 16—(ENS). — The Municipal Council of the village of Norwood met in the council chamber for its regular monthly meeting with Reeve R. S. Ferguson in the chair. The following accounts were presented:

R. A. Dean, salary $50, expenses $8.50—$58.50; W. B. Parcels, salary, $50; J. M. Hope, P.L. and P.D. insurance premium, $110; H. Beavis, sawing wood, $2; John McConnell, soda for fire engine, $9; Alex. Innes, snowploughing, 4 months, $37.50; J. D. Adams, repairs for grader, $9.78; Bickle-Seagrave, acid for fire engine, $14.26; R. McNeely, 8 hours on streets, $2.80; Mrs. Williamson, grant re Foley Estate, $14; relief accounts, fuel only, $21.50.

Moved by Lochhead and Bitten that the offer of A. McNeil of $225 for the Wellington Street property be accepted.

Moved by Lochhead and Pakenham that Council go to the Rock Quarry at Havelock in a body and investigate the different classes of rock offered for road surfacing, cost of it and the advisability of using a quantity on the streets during 1942.

Moved by Rogers and Lochhead that the Reeve interview the Road Engineer with a view to securing the county grader to do some scarifying and grading on the village streets.

Moved by Bitten and Pakenham, that the Street Commissioner be authorized to act as building inspector.

Moved by Pakenham and Lochhead that the following tax rates be adopted for 1942 and that the by-laws be prepared to confirm same:

High school rate 4.9 mills, public school rate 13.4 mills, county rate 12 mills, relief 1 mill and general village rate 18.7 mills, making a total of 50 mills on the dollar.

Women's Auxiliary.

The April meeting of Christ Church (Anglican) Women's Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. W. B. Tucker, Mrs. Jackson acting as hostess for the afternoon.

Arrangements and suggestions were made for the bale which is to be sent to the northern missions shortly. It was agreed that each member would bring an article for the hospital supplies which are urgently needed. An interesting item was given from the monthly W.A. bulletin regarding the co-operation of the Diocesan W.A. and the Toronto Municipal Chapter I.O.D.E. Each month a shower is given for the British bombed victims at W.A. house and the goods shipped by Toronto Municipal Chapter I.O.D.E.

A Chapter from the study book "Conflict, China, Japan and Christ," entitled The Chinese church carries on, was much enjoyed by the members. A quilt top was put together. Tea was served, and a social time spent.

Women's Institute.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Orange Hall on Friday afternoon, Mrs. Alex. Innes in the chair. Seven new quilts had been given to the I.O.D.E. for shipment through their headquarters, and two successful euchres had been held during the month

A short program was provided by Mrs. William Golloher with a reading, and Mrs. Simpson a vocal solo. Refreshments were served and the meeting brought to a close with the singing of the King.

Mission Society.

The regular monthly meeting of the United Church Women's Missionary Society was held in the Sunday School room, and in the absence of the president, Mrs. R. G. Lawlor, Mrs. W. G. Barrie, vice-president, was in charge. Mrs. S. S. Breckon and her group were in charge of the program. The Easter reading was given by Mrs. Bert Scott and Miss Comstock led the prayer. Mrs. W. B. Tucker gave an interesting paper from the study book topic, and Mrs. R. K. Tedford contributed a solo, "We shall not pass this way again."

I.O.D.E. Chapter.

Both the local I.O.D.E. Chapter and Red Cross branch have received communications from their respective headquarters regarding the situation between themselves and the Government War Services Department Owing to the very nature of their work it is impossible for either one to accept a subsidy from the Government for their war work. Contributions therefore to these two very worthy organizations will have to continue to be voluntary, and must be raised by our own efforts and sacrifice.

Rough Days Are Ahead

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16. — (ENS).—With no lack of confidence in final victory but an easy acceptance of the probability that the Empire was still in for some "rough travelling," J. W. Downs, a Yorkshire industrialist, who for the past fourteen years has lived in Canada, addressed members of the Campbellford Rotary Club at their noon-day luncheon held at the Woodlawn Inn on Monday. A member of the Downs-Coulter firm of textile makers in Trenton, the speaker was introduced to the club by a past president of the Trenton Rotary, Norman Bower.

He delivered an address which dealt with the war, but from the particular angle of how it is effecting the average Englishman. Recalling that Hitler had intended to invade England with the fall of France in September 1940, but had given up the idea 'temporarily' when the bombing failed to break down the morale of the British people. Mr. Downs was sure that Hitler would again make a try at invasion and suggested that if by any chance she fell it was a straight run from there to Canada. Canada, he described as a beautiful land with a wealth of natural resources and with room for an additional fifty million people, but her part in turning out munitions and other instruments of war had been very creditable.

Turning to England the speaker pointed to the important part being played in the defence of Britain by the air raid wardens, auxiliary fire fighters and the home guard. Every man in England from 18 to 65 and every woman from 18 to 60 is registered and must go to do what ever work they are assigned regardless of what part of the country it may be, provided they are suited for the work. Everything is rationed and practically no common foodstuffs can be purchased without a coupon. Each person is allowed but a shilling's worth of meat each week. However, one type of meat which isn't rationed is pheasant. But this is only available to those in the upper income bracket since a single bird retails at around 20 shillings. A man is allowed but fifty coupons with which to buy clothes for the entire year and this allows him but one suit of clothes that costs him from 55 to 60 shillings ($13 to $14). "These are made up very cheaply with the manufacturer being limited strictly to certain profits."

Torpedoed 8 Times

Katherine Lacey, stewardess, has been torpedoed three times and Leslie Pilbeam of Portsmouth, England, has been torpedoed five times. They are pictured at Charleston, S.C., where they were brought by a U.S. vessel, after the British passenger ship upon which they were riding was torpedoed by an Axis submarine off the Atlantic coast.

Lakefield News

Among the week-end visitors in the village were Miss Betty Peterson of Bridgenorth, with Miss Leona Murphy; Walter Spence of Oshawa, with his father, Percy Spence; Dr. T. J. Morin, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Morin; and Robert Spence of Tweed with his parents, Mr and Mrs. George Spence.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Crapp on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. MacFarlane and daughter of Toronto, Allen Gill and Miss Ethel Blakely.

Miss Margaret Tanner of Wilberforce spent the vacation with her parents, Reeve Charles S. and Mrs. Tanner.

Miss Jean Millar spent several days the guest of her uncle James Millar, Peterborough, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Harpottle of Lowville, were guests of the Rev. George and Mrs. Kelly recently, Mrs. Kelly and Miss Joan returning with them to Lowville for a few days.

Miss Corina Foster has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bullock, Selwyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Holloway, who were married in Toronto on Saturday, April 11, are honeymooning at Cedar Lodge. They will reside at 642 Stormant Avenue, Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Waldon and Elsie, Mrs. Harry Penberthy and Mrs. Waldon Sr., spent Monday in Toronto.

The Junior Institute held their May meeting in the Town Hall on Monday, April 13. The president, Miss Hazel Northey, was in charge. The roll call was answered with a "Tip for good grooming." It was decided to send Miss Minnie Charlton and Miss Ferne Mullen as the Lakefield representatives to the Girls' Conference to be held at Kemptville College from April 21 to April 24. In the absence of the regular secretary, Miss Minnie Charlton took the minutes.

War News Finds C.P. Up To Job Says W.R. Davies

TORONTO, April 1..—(CP).—In a nation at war Canadian newspapers and The Canadian Press "must do a job vastly increased in actual hard work and responsibility over their peacetime task." W. Rupert Davies, CP President, told the annual meeting of the National News-Gathering Co-operative here yesterday.

Newspapers, working with staffs depleted by wartime manpower demands, must do this greater job well, because any let-down by an individual newspaper in providing news of its district to CP was reflected in the speed and quality of the Canadian news report, on which the organization was built.

Mr. Davies, publisher of the Kingston Whig-Standard, spoke of the shortage of personnel caused by enlistments from the CP staff and lauded executives who had kept the report at a high standard under difficulties.

Calling member co-operation "the reason for CP's existence," Mr. Davies, who has completed his third year as CP president, praised the close liaison between member-newspapers and CP staffs and urged its continuance as the keystone of the organization's success.

"Regional news in Canada today is rarely regional news only," Mr. Davies said. "A local story in Kingston, for instance, is likely to illustrate the working of a new legislative policy originating at Ottawa, and as such is of interest not only to Brockville but to Nanaimo."

Real National Picture

This interrelation was growing and, whereas individual stories at one time stood by themselves, they must now be tied into an intelligible picture. CP's job, once to condense and really news provided by its members, now had to include, in addition, rounding up of individual stories into a national picture.

Canadian Press members, as newspaper publishers, had a great responsibility in wartime, not only to guide public opinion but to bring newspaper readers a true picture of the war's progress

He felt "proud of the service being provided by CP from the war theatres" and paid tribute to the war report of its ally, the Associated Press, mentioning particularly "the dispatches of Larry Allen, who almost lost his life reporting British naval engagements in the Mediterranean, Clark Lee, who reported the stand of MacArthur's forces in Bataan and Yates McDaniel, the last American reporter to leave Singapore."

Mentioning as an evidence of its widespread activities that CP now collects and spends $800,000 yearly, Mr. Davies told of the problem of "buttressing key points in the news service without weakening others." London Bureau which has an eight-man Canadian staff, "has been made strong and will be kept strong because it is from that base that CP men will operate if invasion strikes and when the Canadian army goes into action."

Meanwhile CP's London men were providing an unmatched service, "gathering every scrap of news obtainable of our Canadian troops in Britain, Canadian fliers in European skies and of Canadian seamen." The day would come when London Bureau would go into action as a base for gathering and sending to Canadian newspapers "the greater story of a Canadian army in attack."

Lost One Shoe As Ship Torpedoed

There were many women and children among the 290 passengers and crewmen aboard a large British passenger ship when it was torpedoed and sunk off the Atlantic coast. One small survivor, who lost a shoe in the excitement, is being fed an orange at Charleston, S.C., where the ship survivors were taken aboard an unnamed U.S. vessel.

Marine Engines Divided Into Two Groups

Under the gasoline rationing plan marine engines are divided into two groups, non-commercial such as outboard motors and ordinary inboard pleasure craft, all of which are to use graded gasoline, the same as in cars, and commercial marine engines which are to use marked gasoline. Separate application forms are provided for each group, and the forms are available on request from the office of the Oil Controller, 15 King Street West, Toronto.

The non-commercial group is comprised of three sub-groups which are placed in two rationing categories as follows: Category A covers pleasure boating and includes outboard motors in one grouping and inboard motors in another grouping. The third grouping is Category B which provides for essential transportation for seasonal residents where no alternative form of transportation exists. All applications for inclusion in the non-commercial division are to be sent together with one dollar registration fee to the office of the Oil Controller.

A Separate Group.

Commercial marine engines constitute a separate group. With the exception of engines in commercial fishing or guiding craft, all applications are to be sent to the nearest regional office of the Oil Controller of Canada. Where fishing or guiding is a means of livelihood, fisheries nispectors will take care of the applicaitons and issue licences. The marker for gasoline used in commercial marine engines shall be purple in color except in the Province of Saskatchewan where the color will be green to avoid confusion with purple marked tractor oil.

In Category A. pleasure boating all allowances cover the period from April 1, 1942, to December 31, 1942, and are designed to give approximately the same number of hours running time to engines of different horse-power in each grouping. The standard basis unit is five gallons, but this may be varied should conditions warrant it. The quantity of gasoline authorized by the coupons is the maximum amount permitted.

Here are the limits:

Outboard Motors.

Under 2 horse-power .... 1¼ units
Over 2 H.P., not over 5.9...2 units
Over 5.9 H.P., not over 10..2½ units
Over 10 horse-power ......3 units

Inboard Motors.

Prove Resuirements.

Under the B Category, gasoline is allowed up to proved necessary resuirements—minimum transportation only and no cruising.

The form of application has spaces for maker's name, model number, serial number, number of cylinders, S.A.E. rated horse-power, and description of engine. It also requires the specifications of the boat to be used.

Briefly these regulations indicate that a resort owner who has several outboard motors can obtain a ration book for each motor, but must pay one dollar for each book, and in the matter of guides and commercial fishermen, they get their ration books from the game overseers, and it is not just known what quantities they are allowed, but it is a liberal allowance according to reliable sources.

The unfair part of it, according to one prominent resort owner, is that he is penalized ten cents for each gallon of gasoline when he pays a dollar for the ration book on a motor which gets two units or ten gallons. Of course, late in the fall he gets a rebate on the tax but he received that in other years anyway.

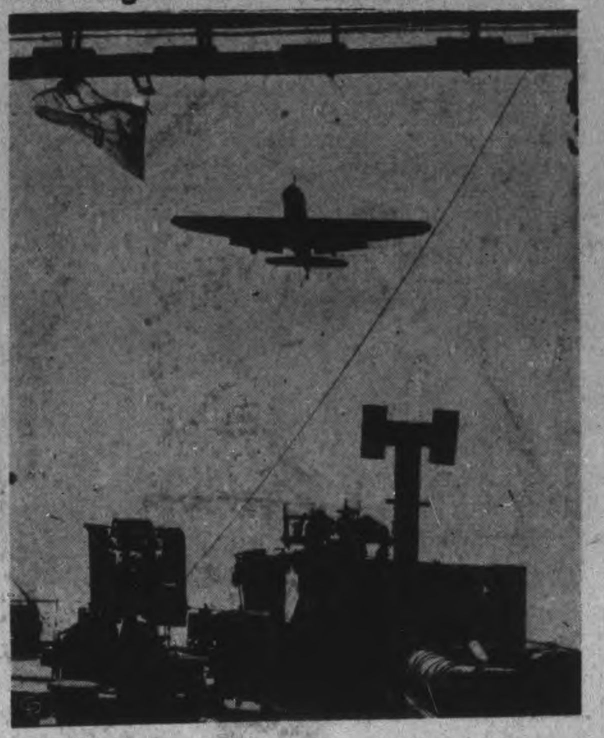
Japs For Peat Bogs?

Port Colborne, Ont., April 16 (CP)

A NUMBER of Japanese nationals evacuated from the west coast of Canada may soon be employed at Erie Peat Ltd., stripping peat in the Wainfleet Marsh west of here. Erie Peat Ltd. has applied to the department of labor for allotment of Japanese workmen to work the peat beds where peat moss has been produced in large quantities since the supply from Europe was cut off by the war.

A company official said no stated number of workmen was sought as the department of labor would set the number should the application be approved.

Returning From Sea Search



Somewhere on the seas is this British aircraft carrier waiting for the plane, which is a Fairey Fulmer, to land on its deck. The Fulmer has just returned from making a routine flight to check and see if there were any hostile craft in the vicinity.

TOO MUCH MOTHER-IN-LAW DANGEROUS IN ANY HOME

However, a Wife Needs to Weigh Carefully All Angles Before Taking Drastic Action

Dear Dorothy Dix.—I am making plans to leave my husband because his mother insists on living with us. She has her own money and home, but will not stay any place but our house, and I am tired of looking at her. Besides, I want my own home and family to myself. My husband is not willing for my mother to even visit me, but he thinks I ought to make his mother welcome, and I am not going to stand such unfair treatment any longer. My husband and I are devoted to each other and I can never love anyone else. Also, we have a two-year-old child, but I am willing to make any sacrifice for my own happiness and will do ANYTHING to get away from my mother-in-law. She has gotten on my nerves until it is destroying my health. Please advise me what to do. — Mrs. G. A.

Answer.—Well, I advise you to sit down and try calmly and quietly to figure out the situation and see if you think it is worthwhile to throw away a husband you say you love, your child, a good home and financial security in order to get rid of your mother-in-law. Looks like a losing trade to me.

Right to Own Home

I grant you that you are not unreasonable in wanting your own house and family to yourself. That is every wife's inalienable right, and why mothers do not recognize this natural human desire and respect it and stay in their own homes, instead of wishing themselves off on their children, is a mystery past solving.

Particularly is this hard to understand when every woman has been through it herself and knows how, when she was a young wife and mother, she hated to have her mother-in-law camp down on her, or even her own mother for that matter, with her endless advice and suggestions and telling how she did this and din't do that. And, anyway she just wonted to be alone with her husband and baby.

But be that as it may, it is a condition and not a theory with which you have to deal. Apparently whether you want her or not your mother-in-law is a fixture, and your question is whether you will be happier with her in your home, or having no home yourself, no husband, no baby, no money except what you earn yourself.

Facing Uncertain Future

Believe me, you will find it pretty hard to get back your old job after you have been out of it two or three years and to have to live in a furnished room, that you will probably have to share with another girl, after you have had your own lovely home. You will get mighty lonesome when you don't have the baby's babble to listen to, and a husband is a very comfortable thing to have around the house when the bills come in, even if he has a mother complex.

So think it all over and make up your mind to make the best of your bargain, and be happy in spite of having mother-in-law always under foot.

MARRY FOR LOVE ONLY

Dear Dorothy Dix.—I am a girl of 18 going with a boy of 23. I have promised that I would marry him, but I find that I cannot do it because there is another boy whom I love with all my heart. I have loved him ever since we were children and went to school together. But this second boy has no money, while the other boy has, and my mother insists that I marry the boy with the money. The boy I love has a job, but it does not pay enough for us to marry. What shall I do?—BROKEN-HEARTED GIRL.

Answer.—Don't let your mother force or persuade you into marrying a boy you don't love. It takes a lot of love to make any woman endure all the hardships she has to undergo in marriage, and be happy and glad she did it. Without love she is always unhappy and dissatisfied and finds marriage a purgatory, instead of the Heaven on earth it should be.

And the unloving wife is always a bad wife because she vents her own misery on her unfortunate husband and doesn't think it worthwhile to try to make him happy, or even to make him a comfortable home.

You and your boy friend are both too young to marry, anyway, so you will have plenty of tiem to wait until he gets a better job and is making enough to support you. But tell the other boy that you are not going to marry him. It is unfair to keep him dangling on the string.

IGNORANCE NOT INNOCENCE

Dear Miss Dix.—I am 20 years old and hold a responsible position, but not long ago I happened to mention to my parents that I was reading a book on sex. They are very angry at me about it, and act as if I had disgraced myself. Tell me that it is unnecessary for me to know anything about sex or birth until after I am married. Have I done wrong?—BROWN EYES.

Answer.—Certainly not. Many a girl's lack of knowledge about sex has brought about her downfall. Ignorance is not innocence.

Making Winter Vegetables Appreciated By Family

By MARY MOORE

. . . a Birthtday Party it was and I have strict instructions from one of the guests to "put this menu in the paper exactly as it is."

It wasn't so unusual as to warrant so much attention but there were just enough "different" little angles to it to help you when vegetables are such a monotonous problem.

There are ways of dressing up our local winter vegetables to make them company-worthy without going to the expense of paying 50 cents for enough broccoli or peas to go round. Besides there's a war on and it's our duty and pride to "make do" on what we have at hand.

(As I write that I am reminded of a letter one of our readers sent me. Maybe the above paragraph is what she meant when she said, "I wish to tell you how very helpful your articles are to me, and how much I look forward to them. Also I enjoy the way you put in the little items about your own family and their reactions to your new creations. I am on a quite limited budget, but I don't find an of your recipes too extravagant, and shall continue to look forward to your suggestions.")

I couldn't be otherwise because I'm just another one of you—a housewife eager to please and nourish my family on what income we have.

But to get on with this meal I tioned:

One of our guests was a Roman Catholic, two were Anglicans, and the day was Good Friday.

DINNER PARTY MENU (for eight)

Cream of Tomato Soup with Curry Croutons
(passed in living room)
Broiled Lake Trout
(a la Mrs. Spencer)
Rice Creole
Casserole of Sliced Beets
Hors d'eouvres Platter:
Wedges of fresh Tomato
Watercress
Radishes
Spring Onions
Cucumber Pickles
Celery Hearts
Rosy Baked Rhubarb, Birthday Cake
(a 5-egg white cake)

The soup and the trout and the rice were the mildly sensational items.

Emem's Cream of Tomato Soup

One No. 2 can of tomatoes, 1 cup top milk, ½ cup evaporated milk, ½ cup water, 1 cup whole milk, 3 tablespoons flour, 6 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon, soda ½ teaspoon curry power, ⅛ teaspoon cloves, 2 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon white pepper. Bring the tomatoes to boiling point, mix the soda with 1 tablespoon of the butter and add these to the tomatoes, stirring until they stop foaming. In the meantime melt the remaining 5 tablespoon butter, andd the flour, stir until blended, then add all the milks and water (which if preheated will thicken much faster) and stir until thick. Add all the seasonings and stir well, then add the tomato and soda mixture without straining and reheat if necessary and serve as soon as possible—only don't worry about it curdling because it won't if you've done it in the order we've told you.

Boiled Lake Trout

(a la Mrs. Spencer)

If you buy your trout dressed you should have nearly one-half pound per person to be served for it shrinks a little in cooking.

Wipe the dressed trout with a damp cloth and dip it in a mixture of 1 cup skim milk and 1 tablespoon salt. Then place it skin side down on the greased broiling rack, and sprinkle it with cracker crumbs that are fine enough that you can sift them, use up about 1 cup sifted crumbs on 3½ lbs. fish. Sprinkle the crumbs with cooking oil, not very much, and sprinkle again with paprika and a little white pepper. Have broiling oven very hot—about 550—for the heat must come from below too, to cook the skin side of the fish for it isn't going to be turned—and put in the fish about 1½ inches from flame or element. Let cook at this high heat until when you test the fish at the thickest part is "set" and opaque. Have a trustworthy helper assist you in sliding it all onto a hot platter. Garnish generously with parsley and wedges of lemon.

P.D.'s Rice Creole

Wash 1¼ cups rice and boil in 2 quarts boiling water and 1 tablespoon salt until tender, uncovered. Drain well—the liquid is a nice addition to the soup pot. To it add half an onion which has been chopped small and sauteed in 2 tablespoons butter until transparent but not brown. Add 4 tablespoons chopped pimento, ⅛ teaspoon curry powder and 1 cup milk. Pour into large casserole and reheat in oven to dry it a little and blend the flavors. Some of you may want to add more salt and some white pepper.

I have given you the things you might not be able to devise yourself—the rest of the meal is easy sailing.

For the remainder of my space I want to give you a few vegetable recipes I have assembled—I have at least a dozen I'd like to give you. If you want more than these I'll write a special vegetable article for April Vegetable-Possibilities — but you must write and let me know you want it.

Southern Stewed Tomatoes

Two quarts canned tomatoes, 1 clove garlic, mineed, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 onion chopped finely, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon sugar, salt, pepper, 1 tablespoon bacon fat. Fry the vegetables except the tomatoes in the bacon fat for 15 minutes slowly, and do not brown. Add remaining ingredients and cook in heavy frying pan, slowly for 1½ hours. Stir to prevent burning. Most of the liquid should evaporate in the cooking, and the mixture when ready, is heavy and will not "run."

Savory Beans

(It is worth while to deliberately buy an extra half pound of sausages to have leftover to make this for a meal that is otherwise meatless.) Five sausages, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1½ cups corn (fresh or the canned kernel variety), 3 cups or 1 2½ tin baked beans. Mince the sausages and saute with the onion until crisp and brown. Pour off some of the fat. Add the corn and beans, stir until well heated, season and serve. (Revolutionizes the old familiar can o' beans.)

Mushrooms and Lima Beans

You may use either dried, canned or fresh limas. If dried soak overnight and in morning, boil until tender. If fresh shell and boil in very little salted water until tender. If canned drain when heated. Slice 2 cups mushrooms which have been well washed, and saute in 4 tablespoons butter until tender, very slowly. Stir in 2 tablespoons flour, simmer for 2 minutes, and add 2-3 cup scalded cream, and stir until thick. Then add the limas, season with salt, pepper and paprika and serve.

I'll wait to hear from you before I print more of these intriguing combinations.

New Under The Sun

By PRUNELLA WOOD

HATS, at least, are something new under the sun when Old Sol gets into his late spring stride. Almost too late to worry about April showers now . . . and with your fur scarf or your little fur jacket, you'll be warm enough in your new suit, or your new frock.

If it's a huge hat you prefer, black is excellent this spring; bright red, bright green, corn shuck yellow are favorites in all sizes.

At the top is a demure straw hat of egg yellow shade, to be worn straight across your head. Navy felt lines the rim, and the chiffon scarf trim is striped red and yellow. The large and luscious black hat below is woven of hair. Brim is edged with a ruff of rose-pleated mousseline de soie tipped with thread braid.

PRETTY AND PRACTICAL

PRETTY and Practical
By ALICE ALDEN

THE HANDBAG of today no matter how dressy is always functional. Evans, who designed the one that is pictured above, believes that every bag should be completely fitted and useful. This one is dressy yet entirely practical. It is made of black patent leather in a long, narrow silhouette. The frame of black duco enamel allows for an expansive opening to reveal a bright satin lining piped in gold. Within are matching fittings consisting of compact, lipstick and comb of black duco enamel.

Ever-Awake Bible Class

The Ever-Awake Bible Class of St. James' United Church held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. Roy Pully, 221 Princess Street, on Wednesday evening. The meeting opened with the hymn, "Low in the Grave He Lay," followed by a Scripture reading by Mrs. E. Montgomery, and prayer by Mrs. F Bevis. A reading, "Blue Otonabee," was given by Mrs. C. Heal, and another, "Not Growing Old," by Mrs. E. Bevis.

Plans were discussed for a tea to be held to display the layettes for overseas which the class has made. The money will be used to buy wool to continue war work. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Bevis, 535 Romaine Street.

Knox Y.P.U.

Betty Allen, culture convener of Knox Young Peoples Union, was in charge of the meeting on Tuesday evening. A very interesting study of the picture of "Despair" was made. Kenn Kidd then led the group in a sing-song.

On Sunday evening a fire side service is being held at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Mahoney.

George Street W.M.S.

Group "F" of the Women's Missionary Society of George Street United Church met at the home of Mrs. W. H. Morton, Water street. Mrs. V. H. Boorman, leader of the group, presided. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. J. C. Boulter and Mrs. J. Fanning. Mrs. Coleman Elliott gave a very splendid talk on the Kingdom of God movement and Miss E. Might gave a very interesting and comprehensive review of a chapter of the Study Book.

Mrs. Stewart James and Master Keith Boorman played two piano duets which were much enjoyed.

At the close of the meeting refreshments weare served by the ohstess.

Neglect, Eviction Make Problem For Children's Aid

A variety of factors are combining to create a serious problem in care and accommodation for the Children's Aid Society. The number of cases of children being left alone by mothers in their own homes is increasing rapidly and soldiers' wives and families are being evicted from houses. These two conditions have made it necessary to admit as many as twelve children to the Shelter in a single evening.

Many of the children are found to be filthy dirty, with very little clothing, and most of them have bad colds.

Mrs. Gerald McMillan, who is in charge of the Shelter, is ill at the present time, but even if she were not, the staff of the Shelter would have a hard time coping with the added duties. Attempts have been made to find foster homes for the children but so far they have not been very successful. The gas and tire shortage must be considered, in travelling any distance to inspect foster homes and the added difficulties and duties of the staff leave little time to look for foster homes. At present the office staff of the Society are spending their nights at the Shelter helping to care for the children.

Modernaires At Brock Opening

The re-opening of the Brock Street Summer Gardens for the summer dancing season brings to town "The Modernaires," top-ranking Toronto dance band, for one evening only, Saturday, April 18.

The members of this great little band have been playing together for some years now, and have known all the ups and downs possible to a band that has played over a goodly piece of this great Dominion. In those years they developed the distinctly individual style which has packed them in at the "Sea-Breeze", popular Sunnyside, Toronto, dancefloor, for the past two summers, and has made them one of the most "in demand" bands in Toronto during the past winter.

They bring with them, too, that winsome little swingstress, lovely little Mary Bates, who does that tuneful vocalizing that you have probably heard on the occasions when the band has been broadcast.

Cottesloe

Following the Easter story of last week, Mae Webster gave a most interesting topic on "The Cross and the Life of To-day" at the Y.P.S. meeting on Tuesday evening held at the Webster home.

The Red Cross members met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Webster and quilted another quilt. More help is needed.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ditchman and family, and Miss Jessie Ditchman have moved to their new home at Beatty, Ont.

Wed Fifty Years

Mr. and Mrs. A. Hartshorn, McDonnel Street, who will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Saturday. April 18, at a family reunion which it is hoped all their children and grandchildren will attend. Mr. and Mrs. Hartshorn were married on April 18, 1892, in St. Nicholas Church, Great Yarmouth, England, and came to Peterborough where they have lived ever since, in 1922. (The Roy Studio Photo.)

Plan Big Family Reunion For Couple Wed 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. A. Hartshorn, 377 McDonnel Street, will celebrated 50 years of marital happiness at the family reunion to be held on Saturday, to mark the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Hartshorn were married in Old St. Nicholas Church, Great Yarmouth, England, in 1892, and in 1922, 30 years ago, they came to Peterborough with their family, and have lived here ever since. They have friends in many parts of the province.

It is hoped that the four living children and the three grandchildren will be able to attend the reunion on Saturday. T daughters, Mrs. S. Taylor and Mrs. G. Hartshorn, live in the city. Wilfred, a pilot officer with the R.C.A.F., is stationed in Montreal, and Olive, Reg. N., lives in Kingston. Norman, the eldest son, was killed at Amiens in August, 1918. Two grandsons, Ralph and Eric Hartshorn, are the children of Mrs. G. Hartshorn, and live in the city. Olive Wilberta Hartshorn, the only grand-daughter, is the daughter of P.O. Wilfred Hartshorn and lives in Toronto.

200 Women Have Registered Under Peterborough CWVS

Britain has on record the names of 11,000,000 women, approximately 60% of the nation's adult population, registered under a government order. Over 1,000,000 of these had registered voluntarily in the British Women's Voluntary Services. Viewing the needs of the country as a whole has made wise planning possible, and the working together of so many women has brought about a fine unity of spirit and action.

Peterborough has over 200 women registered already for voluntary service in the city. They have registered with the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Women's Voluntary Services.

One aim of this unit is to corelate the work of all women's war service organizations by advising women who volunteer for full, or part-time service, where their help is most needed from time to time. This is made possible only through a central registration, kept up-to-date, and available hourly.

For instance, at present there is a great need for more help with the salvage work. There is another for rooms for girls coming into the factories to work. Some women have registered this willingness to meet both these needs, with the C.W.V.S. But there will be more salvage, and there will be more girls coming who must have homes.

A second aim of the Peterborough C.W.V.S. is to fit every woman, regardless of age, race, or creed, into her proper war-time work, either full or part-time. Experience has taught British women that to be ready before emergencies arise is to be able to meet them calmly when they arise.

One has already arisen in Peterborough. When the Prince of Wales Rangers mobilized and no military typists were available for the recruiting campaign, a call for help came to the C.W.V.S. It took eleven women a day, fifty volunteers in all, each working part time, to fill the breach.

Some were girls who came in the evening after their regular work, with no thought of remuneration. Others, largely housewives with previous office experience, filled in the day-time shifts. Many of these are already busy at work with other war-service organization. Some have, in addition, war guests, as well as families in their homes. Yet each wants to grasp the opportunity to use her training, fully and freely, to further the war effort.

It is not necessary to belong to any other organization to register with the C.W.V.S. If you do belong to one, however, that is no bar. Now, or later, there is likely to be a job for each woman not already fully employed, perhaps a desperate need for her training and experience. It costs nothing to register willingness. This can be done any day from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. at the Peterborough C.W.V.S. office in the Bank of Toronto building, corner of Hunter and George streets

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, April 17

Fairly fortunate and favorable auguries are noted in this day's astral configuration. There may be definite openings for success and fulfilments in many directions, with the benefit of co-operation from influential presons. And while this may give assurance to the credits or financial standing and promote the personal, social or public prestige and popularity, yet there are loopholes for illicit schemes, traps or pitfalls arising from some designing or intriguing sources. With prudence, thrift and integrity all should flourish.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a moderately progressive and prosperous year, with opportunity for gratifying growth and expansion although to no sensational degree. Influential persons and friends assist to a security of the credit, business as well as social standing and prestige, although there are confusing, peculiar or sinister angles and intrigues to manipulate with prudence, integrity and sound judgment rather than hunches or gullibility. Be alert to impostors or tricksters.

A child born on this day should be clever, shrewd, ambitious although susceptible to imposition, intrigue or other deep currents of treachery.

Lady Bowlers Close Season With Banquet

Knox Church Lady Bowlers passed a pleasant evening on Tuesday when they brought their bowling season to a close with a sumptuous banquet, served in the Primary room by members of the Women's Association. There were 65 present.

Rev. Mr. Mahoney presided and presented the prizes to the following teams: 1st prize, Mrs. Dawe's team, Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. A. S. Worboy, Mrs. English, Mrs. Dobbin; 2nd prize, Mrs. H Wilson, skip, and Mrs. J. Mongraw, Mrs. McLean, Mrs. J. Wilson and Mrs. Balfour; 3rd prize, Mrs. L. H. Deyman, skip, and Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. T. Sproat, Mrs. Lee and Mrs. A. M. Wedlock. Consolation prize, Mrs Haynes, skip, and Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. H. A. Trotter; attendance prize, Mrs. Baird, skip, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Melvin, Mrs. Forbes and Mrs. W. G. Atchison.

Mrs. Beatty presented Mrs. Davis, the president, with a gift from the club in appreciation of her work. Mrs. Todd rendered two fine solos and also led in community singing. At the close of the meeting the club enjoyed bowling in the lecture hall with the Men's Bowling Club.

Home and School Association News

QUEEN ELIZABETH SCHOOL

Dr. M. C. MacLean of Gilmour Memorial Church addressed the April meeting of the Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association on Wednesday evening. His subject was "Religious Teaching In the School and In the Home." Dr. MacLean stressed the importance of supervision of children's pleasures, pointing out that parents should know in what books, radio programs and pictures their children are interested and should spare no effort which will be of material value in the building of character and good citizenship in our children, who are the men and women of tomorrow.

Mrs. E. Chambers, president of the Home and School Council brought an interesting report of the Easter convention to the meeting and in closing said "We sometimes have Associations who feel that we are not accomplishing very much, but it is at this yearly convention that we can see the results of concerted effort toward the very best in education."

Marjory Brown and Beverly Frise played a delightful piano duet, "Amaryllis," and Ruth Turbill gave a concertina solo, "The Old Rugged Cross." Both these numbers were very much enjoyed. Mrs. O. Deyell, president, was in the chair for the short business meeting.

A VERSATILE BLOUSE

By ALICE ALDEN

IT'S NICE to be able to treat a suit to a whole wardrobe of blouses. But if circumstances or the budget dictate otherwise, then care and discretion team up to select blouses that will look well and right whatever the occasion. A good choice would be this handsome Yolande design, a beautiful blouse to wear from morning until night for luncheon, teas or informal dinners. It is a hand-made model in silk crepe and is made with a high-tied neckline and flattering full sleeves. There are tucks bordered by fagoting down the front and around the cuffs.

BABY'S TEETHING UPSETS QUICKLY CHECKED

YOUR BABY must "get a tooth". But he need not get a fever with it—if baby's mother is wise he won't.

Here is what one wise mother, Mrs. Archie Begbie, of Consecon, has to say: "We have not lost one night's rest through teething as I always use my old standby, Baby's Own Tablets. They are worth their weight in gold."

And Mrs. B. A. Sebine, of Galt, Ont., says: "I have given Baby's Own Tablets to my baby girl since she was three weeks old and, although she cut her teeth rapidly (all four molars at once) she has never yet wakened us at night. I would not be without these tablets."

Give these safe, sweet-tasting tablets at the first sign of teething fever. Easy to take, prompt in action, yet safe. Analyst's certificate in every package.

Also effective in Constipation, Simple Fever, Diarrhoea, Upset Stomach, Colic, Simple Croup and Fretfulness. Get a box today. Sickness so often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Money back if you are not satisfied.

FRANTIC WEEKEND

By EDMUND FANCOTT

CHAPTER I

Myra Mack had spent two days on the lake shore near Montreal. It was not a pleasant thought to be facing the city, hot and humid, the office, stuffy and bristling with Monday problems, after a cool, indolent week-end.

She waited on the open wooden platform of the railway station in the freshness of the morning and examined the faces of communters about her. All of them seemed to share her mood! none seemed to be overly pleased with the thought of the new week ahead of them.

There was not a cloud in the calm, distant blueness of the sky above and the day already promised heat. Some of the men dressed for the conventions of office work were beginning to show signs of discomfort—an askew tie, a wilted collar, creases in summer suits already failing. There were several glances of envy at the one girl who looked particularly julep-cool and comfortable.

The girl was not Myra Mack. Men she did not know were not in the habit of looking twice at Myra Mack, and she did nothing to attract them with gay or ultra-chic clothes. She dressed always with the impersonal neatness and simplicity that men would not notice either unfavorably or with a flicker of interest. It was bad enough to have to look at her own face in the mirror, she would say with a wry grin, without sending up flares that attracted the attention of strangers to it. And while her modesty and Irish humor lent exaggeration to the statement, it was true her bright Irish face had no single lien on beauty.

That did not apply to the other girl on the platform.

She had obviously been born for such wilting summer days as this, just to refresh the jaded eyes of Monday morning commuters. Nor was she unconscious of her mission in life. A neat and impudent fluff of straw hat and veiling sat upon the bronzed waves of her hair as though it had been created with supreme art for that very moment of a sunny morning. Her flowered silk dress, floating like many-colored mists from her slim waist and about her long legs, conspired with the breeze to draw the eyes of sober train-waiters, reminding them that the week of work ahead was a mockery when there was so much concentrated loveliness in the world to feast the eyes upon.

◇ ◇ ◇

Myra Mack's critical gaze checked each flawless detail of the other girl's appearance with the cool calculation of any shrewd woman appraising another. The pattern, the casual pose, were perfect.

With no consciousness of expressing her thoughts aloud she spoke her admiration.

"That," said Myra, "is something!"

Then she turned sharply to meet the echo just behind her left ear.

"You've said it!" There was such fervor in the male voice that Myra reached for the same intensity in the soldier's eyes, and found it there.

He was in battle dress, but on his shoulders were the pips of a lieutenant.

"Look at the eyes," he said in a low voice.

"I am looking," said Myra. "She uses mascara. Too much for a face like that."

'Look at those lips," said the soldier as though he had known Myra all his life.

"I am looking," said Myra. "She's crazy. She hasn't any sense. They look as if they had been put on with a rubber stamp." She sighed. "No, she shouldn't do that. It's too much."

The soldier nodded in agreement. "But she still looks like Spring Song and the Wedding March to me."

Myra shook her head. "That's the worst of men. They fall flat at the first imitation of a magazine cover they see."

At that moment the train clattered into the station with clouds of gray smoke soiling the summer morning, and a flood of noise drowning out voices.

It subsided to a stop and there was a general movement channeling the waiting passengers to the doors of carriages.

Forgetting the girl and the strange soldier Myra climbed up between a middle - aged stock broker and a blump salesman and found a window seat in the smoker. To her surprise the officer dropped into the seat by her side.

"You are wrong," he said. "Have a cigarette?"

Thanks," said Myra. But I don't smoke until after breakfast."

If Myra Mack lacked any pretensions to formal beauty she had ceased to regret it. She had found that it had some advantages. The pleasanter kind of men could speak to her without formality and without any fear of being suspected of ulterior motives. There was something about her that inspired confidence and nothing that would make them speak to her with other than the easy respect they reserved for favorite aunts. That was her misfortune, felt Myra, but one that had compensations.

◇ ◇ ◇

She accepted the presence of the officer by her side with resignation. She glanced at his face and decided that she was glad that he looked more interesting than obviously handsome.

"You are wrong," he repeateo. "I have not fallen for her."

"But you could," said Myra.

"Not because she is mascaraed or has a blood-red scar hiding the most fetching pair of lips. . ."

"Cut it," said Myra, with an abruptness that surprised him. "It's Monday morning."

"That's just it," the officer said. "Where do you suppose she has been hiding all week-end?"

Myra laughed with a touch of cynicism in her laughter. 'On a raft on Lake St. Louis, surrounded by men."

"In a dream of a swim suit," echoed the officer.

"Say," said Myra, "you sound as if you had been buried away from the lighter things of life."

"Petawawa," replied the officer. "And I suppose I'll stay buried as far as this one is concerned."

Myra relented. "She is beautiful."

"Mmmmmm." Then he was silent for a few moments, lost in thought. And not of Petawawa, Myra decided.

The soldier looked at her again and broke his reverie.

"By the way, I've seen you somewhere before."

"And I've heard that everywhere before," said Myra. "Stock statement."

"Why?"

'Well," said Myra, 'it happens that I could double in everything including spades for a film star whose face is as familiar as a fresh salesman. Now don't laugh—it's true. She's not one of the beautiful ones. She's one they throw in for contrast—you know the kind. Face that has everything, all in the wrong places."

The soldier laughed and looked at her frankly. No one could call her pretty, but no one could deny her face had plenty of animation and character.

"Get it?" said Myra. "Patsy Kelly."

He shook his head. "That's not it. I've seen you somewhere else."

"That's possible. It's not the kind of face you could forget if you saw it up against that one under the blue straw."

The soldier sighed. "Miss Spring Song and Wedding March hasn't seen the last of him," Myra said to herself.

This Week's Wartime Recipe

By Mary Moore's Readers.

ESCALLOPED LIVER

(Contributed by Mabe of Windsor).

Pork or beef liver- six nice big slices. Scald and drain six slices of liver and roll in flour, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Brown quickly in a little butter or bacon fat. Remove from pan and cut into inch squares.

Peel and slice 6 potatoes. Put a layer of potatoes into a casserole, sprinkle with salt and pepper, then add a layer of liver. Continue until all it used. Into the pan in which the liver was cooked put 2 cups milk, add a pinch of baking soda, bring to a boil and pour over the liver and potatoes. If not enough to cover, add more milk or water. Bake until potatoes are done. Remove cover 10 minutes before taking from oven.

APPLE ROLL

(Contributed by Mabe of Windsor).

Two cups flour, 4 tablespoons sugar, 3 tablespoons shortening, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup sweet milk. Sift dry ingredients, then cut in the shortening, add the milk, stirring all together. Roll dough on board about ½ inch thick, keeping it oblong. Spread with melted butter, then a generous layer of finely chopped apples and sugar. Sprinkle cinnamon over this and roll tightly into a long roll. Cut slices about 2 inches thick and place in greased pan close together. On top of each slice place 1-3 apple. Bake in moderate oven until apples on top are brown. (Serve hot with spice sauce below).

SPICE SAUCE FOR APPLE ROLL.

Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups water, 6 tablespoons brown sugar, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon allspice, ginger size of a pea, 1½ teaspoons vanilla. Put sugar and butter in pan, brown slightly, add water, mix spices and flour, and add to sugar mixture and stir until thickened then add vanilla.

Thanks again Mabe of Windsor for your generous contribution of tested recipes; we will print more of them next week.

How about keeping up the good work these enterprising readers of ours are carrying on, Examiner readers?

Resting at the family residence until 11 a.m. Friday, thence to Salvattion Army Temple, where casket will remain open until commencement of service at 2.30. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

ILLINGWORTH.—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Harry Illingworth, who God called home four years ago April 16, 1938.

You're not forgotten, mother dear,
Nor ever shall you be;
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember you.
—Ever remembered by the Family.

OBITUARY

J. E. BLODGETT.

A very large crowd of friends and relatives gathered at the J. J. Duffus Funeral Parlors on Wednesday morning last, to proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral and assist at the holy sacrifice of the mass which was offered for the repose of the soul of the late John Edward Blodgett. The mass was sung by Rev. James Greenan.

The late Mr. Blodgett was sadly missed by his fellow-workers of the Quaker Oats Company, and during the time his remains rested at the parlors, many came to offer their sympathy to his bereaved wife, Mrs. Mary Alice Blodgett; his daughter, Mrs. Charles Griffin, and two sons, Thomas and Harold.

A great number of spiritual offerings and floral tributes were gratefully received.

Friends who attended from out of town were Mrs. William Ashbury, his niece, of Oshawa, and Provis. Corporal Allan Rogers of Ottawa.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Joseph Galvin, Patrick Curran, Norman Powers, Angus Ferguson, Roland Nolan and Leo Healey.

Interment was conducted in St. Peter's Cemetery by Rev. Gregory Wolff.

WASHINGTON, April 16—(AP)—Twenty-one nations observed the 52nd anniversary of the Pan American Union today, almost unanimous in opposition to the Axis. All but two, Argentina and Chile, have either joined the United States in war on the Axis powers or have severed diplomatic relations with them. Celebrations are being held in each of the American nations.

In the action of Mrs. Ellen Calvert against her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Elmere Calvert, both formerly living near Reaboro, in connection with the estates of their respective husbands, this was settled on the suggestion of the Hon. Mr. Jutice Hogg, at the High Court Sittings this week. A division was made of the property and the solicitors for the respective parties recommended the settlement by the division of the two estates between the two parties.

T. J. Carley, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff, Mrs. Ellen Calvert, and G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for the daughter-in-law, Mrs. Elmere Calvert.

Employers Urged Cooperate Returning Books

Bill Mellis, manager of the Unemployment Insurance Commission in Peterborough reported today that he had received an urgent appeal from Allon Peebles, executive director at Ottawa to have all employers of labor return the unemployment insurance books for 1941-42 to the local office immediately.

The fiscal year ended on March 31 and it is the duty of every employer to get these books in at once, and no new books can be issued to each employers until the returns are complete from his particular industry. It appears that the new national registration cards have been returned promptly enough but apparently all insurance books must be returned also, so that the Government can ascertain if one checks against the other.

It is known that the unemployment insurance books for the year 1942-43 are all ready to got out to the employers of labor, and the only hold-up is the failure of employers to get the first books in. This is a matter of vital importance to everyone, employees and employers alike, and it is the responsibility of the employer to take action at once, to see that this request is dealt with.

All unemployment books, stamped up to date should be turned in to the office of W. H. Mellis in the Barrie Building this week. Until new insurance books are secured, contributions cannot be recorded and the employer is rendered liable for the employees' contributions. National registration is an essential part of the national war effort, and prompt action is imperative.

Do Your Manners Pass These Tests?

She Lets HIM Say "Excuse Me!"

Crude manners can creep up on you unawares!

Like germs they can be catching —little habits like leading the way through a movie crowd instead of letting your beau do the leading; murmuring "Excuse me!" to people you pass, when only he should say it.

These things are painfully embarrassing to most men. They want their girls perfectly, beautifully poised.

But, our booklet on etiquette makes it easy to correct crude habits. You don't have to agonize. "Did he notice my faux pas?"

In the movie you let your escort step out of the row of seats first, then you precede him up the aisle. Getting out of buses and cars, he alights first to give you a hand.

You, of course, never say "Thank you" for such courtesies, or for dances either. It is taken for granted that YOU are conferring the favor!

Our 32-page booklet has etiquette tips both girls and men need to know. Tells how to behave on dancing, dining, theatre, motoring and the other dates; how to handle introductions.

DO YOUR MANNERS PASS DATE TESTS?

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps for your copy of "Etiquette for Young Moderns" to The Examiner Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

SHOWING HIGH CARDS

BIDDING exactly one more than necessary to overcall the preceding bid is invariably, with fine players, a means of showing high card strength rather than length of suit. You have no basis for treating a bid of that kind by your partner as telling you that three cards would be satisfactory support for his holding. He may have only a four-card suit, and some other declaration may be better.

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Dbl
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥

By his utterly incorrect call of 4-Hearts, South gave his pair bottom score on this deal in the eastern championships. The defenders got tricks with the heart A, 10 and 9, holding the declarer to exactly game.

At every other table 6-No Trumps got bid and made, although in most of these cases, East opened with 1-Spade.

Where the bidding started as given above, South should have realized that North had made the strongest possible bid under the circumstances. Instead of a minimum 2-Hearts over South's double, he had bid one more than necessary when he called 3-Hearts. This should have told South that North had about as near to an opening bid as he could possibly hold, in view of his original pass, so far as high cards were concerned.

South's best bid after that, if natural bidding was employed, would have been 6-No Trumps, which could have been made without any difficulty. If the side was using any sort of slam convention to locate aces and kings, then South could easily have found out that North held two kings, and consequently must have had for his bid something else as between the two missing jacks and the two missing queens. With East's opening bid obviously shaded, South could be sure that his own tenaces were well placed over whatever intermediate honors East might hold.

Urge General Verdict

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP). — Mr. Justice J. K. MacKay, opening his charge to jury yesterday in the $100,000 libel action by the Toronto Star Ltd. against the Globe Printing Co. over an editorial in the Toronto Globe and Mail, suggested the "desirability" of a general verdict "saying whether there is a libel or no libel."

This was permissable under Ontario laws, the Judge added in his charge which was interrupted then by lunch adjournment.

Two Pails Save Torpedo Victims In Boat

OIL SPRINGS, Ont., April 16—(CP). — The "prettiest little ship" Mrs. W. H. Harvey ever saw, she said yesterday, was the United States coastguard cutter which rescued the Harvey family after they spent 42 hours in a lifeboat following the torpedoing of their ship in the Atlantic.

Mrs. Harvey, daughter of A. M. Dewar of this Sarnia district town, is recuperating here from the ordeal. Her husband, a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., was employed for 18 months on a mining project in Northern Rhodesia.

A torpedo struck their ship one day at lunch, she related, and Mrs. Harvey rushed to the cabin to join her husband and 11-year-old son Viggo. They were ready in three minutes and ran to their lifeboat station.

"It seemed hopeless in that sea, more so as we found our lifeboat full of water," Mrs. Harvey said. "It was awash from the torpedoes. There were four women, myself and two boys. The rest were men. All the men jumped in, including some members of the crew, and started to bail out.

"Just as we were ready to lower the boat, someone found two pails and tossed them in. If it hadn't been for that we wouldn't be alive to-day for the huge combers poured tons of water in the boat for the next day and a half."

Everybody Soaked.

When the lifeboat hit the water, both Mrs. Harvey and her husband were thrown into the water, but managed to get back. By then everyone in the boat was soaked.

"The women and children were huddled together under the canvas," Mrs. Harvey continued. "We managed to doze a bit that night, but only for minutes at a time, so rough was the sea. Most of the time from then on we chatted about nothing in particular, everyone trying to avoid any mention of our danger."

The rescue occurred exactly 42 hours after the sinking. Somebody said he saw a light, Mrs. Harvey said, but no one said a word. Magnesium flares and a flashlight attracted attention. The survivors had to jump to the cutter, a difficult feat because the two boats were together only for seconds.

Mrs. Harvey suffered a painful leg injury in making the jump. Because of that and the general condition of her health after a long illness, she remained in hospital in an Eastern United States port before coming to Oil Springs.

Smoke Screen Strategy

Laying a smoke screen is one item of strategy in sea warfare that everyone understands, more or less. The seagoing defenders of Canada could tell you how and why and when it is gone, and they probably will if you ask them . . . after the war is won when they have more time to spare.

Gen. H. Johnson "Ironpants" Of 1st War, Dies

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson—the hard-driving, angry-tongued "ironpants" of the First Great War, and more recently a caustic newspaper columnist — died of pneumonia today, 12 hours after writing a last column against his doctor's orders for rest.

Death came to the 59-year-old former soldier in a Washington hotel. He had been weakened by several months of ill health.

Although he rose from captain to a brigadier general with a Distinguished Service Medal in the last war, Johnson died technically a private. President Roosevelt last April 30 refused his reappointment as a United States Army Reserve Officer.

Gen. Johnson came to national fame in 1933, when he stormed across the United States organizing the National Recovery Administration—the recovery period system of codes of practice for business and industry to keep prices and wages from being deflated.

He assailed as "chiselers," "tories," and "traitors" all those who refused to co-operate with him. When his N.R.A. was in full swing he estimated it had made 3,000,000 jobs and increased the country's purchasing power by $3,000,000,000 a year.

In May, 1935, the Supreme Court declared the N.R.A. setup unconstitutional and Johnson resigned, explaning that his blue eagle now was a "sick chicken."

Squabbled With New Deal

Impatient of restrain, the General had quarrelled frequently with fellow New Deal officials. He often criticized the "brain trust" of presidential advisers and finally, in October of 1935, he denounced the New Deal for "amazing blunders and failures" and called it "rule by radicals."

He once publicly told Harry Hopkins to "go to hell."

But when the 1936 election campaign began, Johnson was still in President Rosevelt's corner. He declared in campaign addresses that the Republican candidate Alf M. Landon has "swallowed the old guard doctrine whole" and called for reelction of the President.

Four years later, however, Johnson was in the Republican camp. In November of 1939, when Wendell Willkie was a comparative political unknown, Johnson was suggesting him as a "very strong" business man candidate.

He was a bitter critic of the President's foreign policy. When Mr. Roosevelt refused to renew his reserve commission it was announced that personalities had not entered into the decision. Johnson however, termed the action "neither very wise nor very consistent with what at least used to be a very close and precious friendship.

No Car. Joyriding Oil Chief Tells Owners Of Boats

OTTAWA, April 16—(CP)—"Ration books were not made available for the owners of passenger cars so that they could waste gasoline in joyriding," Oil Controller G. R. Cottrelle said last night.

Mr. Cottrelle said the tatement was issued in answer to complaints of motor boat owners that their ration is too small in comparison of that of a vehicle owner.

"It is time people woke up to the fact that most of the gasoline brought to this country comes here in the form of crude oil carried in tankers," said Mr. Cottrelle. "Courageous sailors are risking their lives every day in manning these tankers. Equally courageous navy men and airmen are in constant danger to guard them on their hazardous journeys.

"Is it good sportsmanship to ask these men to run the gauntlet of enemy submarines and surface raiders so that thoughtless people in Canada can joyride?"

Mr. Cotrelle said every automobile in Canada must be regarded as a war vehicle and conserved as such. "The only object in allowing gasoline for the so-called pleasure car it to relieve the already overburdened public transportation systems from any extra pressure," he said.

The Controller said when the ration system was being planned motorboat manufacturers said the average season for power craft is ten weeks. With that as a basis, it was determined that because a 90 horsepower passenger car in category "A' would be allowed approximately fourteen units in ten weeks, a 90 horsepower non-commercial marine engine should get the same ration. With fourteen units, on the existing basis of five gallons to the unit, the average 90 horsepower craft would operate for approximately ten hours.

There has been no discrimination against the owners of water craft," said Mr. Cottrelle. "In fact . . . there are many citizens who believe that we have been much too generous to motorboat owners"

$2,500,000 Blaze

KEWANEE, Ill., April 16 —(AP)—Loss as high as $2,500,000 was feared to-day following fire that swept through the heart of this town's business district yesterday, destroying two square blocks, including 20 buildings and 50 offices and apartments. Firemen from nine nearby towns helped fight the conflagration. No one was injured.

Had Weak, Nervous Stomach, Limbs, Back Pained Badly

Was In Poor Health and Badly Rundown For Three Years Says This Lady; Tells of Grand Relief By Taking Syntona.

To persons who suffer from stomach disorders, constipation, nervousness, backache, or aches and pains throughout the body this message is one that tells them how many people have found relief.

Mrs. Emma Haywood, a highly esteemed resident of 99 Glenwood Avenue, London, Ontario, said: "I have suffered from a badly disordered stomach and rundown condition for the past three years. Food that I ate caused such distress in my stomach, I would bloat up with gas and belch up hot, sour liquids. I was badly constipated, often had sick, dizzy feelings and dark spots would come before my eyes. This made me so nervous and upset I'd get a sick headache and couldn't sleep at night. I was seldom free from backache and aching sore joints and muscles. My complexion was sallow and my skin rough and pimply.

"Syntona was praised by so many people I bought some and this medicine has given me the most wonderful results I ever had. My digestion has improved so nicely that I can eat full meals and have no trouble with gas, sourness or acid risings. My bowels are regular and I am free from dizziness, headaches, and those torturing aches and pains for the first time in many months. My nerves have relaxed so that I enjoy restful sleep and even my complexion has cleared up. It is wonderful to feel well again and I am glad to add my praise for a medicine like Syntona, that does so much good."

MRS. EMMA HAYWOOD

If you, who read this, suffer as Mrs. Haywood did, come to Elliott's Drug Store, Peterborough, and get yourself a treatment of Syntona today. See how it will help you, too.—(Advt.)

Mrs. William Thompson has returned to Mount Julian after spending a few weeks visiting relatives.

Gotham Is Ready For Spring Threat

This year more than flowers are likely to herald the coming of the vernal season. Clear weather over the North Atlantic makes conditions more advantageous for Axis air operations, and it is not impossible that an attempt might be made to terrorize New York with a bomb or two. But no chances are being taken. There are plenty of anti-aircraft posts like this set up in various parts of the metropolitan area ready to extend a warm welcome to would-be blitzers.

Trent River Bride Given Shower

TRENT RIVER, April 16 (ENS)—More than 100 friends and neighbors crowded the Polmont Orange Hall on Friday evening last to honor Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Baptie (nee Phyllis Brown) with a miscellaneous shower of lovely, useful gifts. Cards and dancing to the music of Fife's orchestra of Norwood were enjoyed by the crowd, and following a substantial lunch served by the ladies at midnight, Mr. Knowlton Waters read an address on behalf of the crowd wishing the young couple happiness and prosperity. Mr. Baptie replied fittingly and they were serenaded to the tune of "They are jolly good fellows" by all present.

While making the rounds on his trap line last week Mr. George Wannamaker found a large black duck caught by the foot in one of his traps. There was a band on its leg inscribed "Notify Biological Survey, Washington, D.C., 13616-653." The duck was turned loose and took off apparently none the worse for its short captivity. Mr. Wannamaker plans to notify the address.

The roads have broken up badly the past week and are not in as good shape as they were a week ago. Highway workers have been busy trying to keep this stretch of No. 30 open from Havelock to Campbellford and have succeeded, but despite a great deal of gravel and grading some spots keep breaking up and slow speed is necessary. In many cases the side roads are impassable to cars and the mailmen are using horses to make their rounds.

Pte. A. Brown, R.C.O.C., of Ottawa was a week-end visitor with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown.

Pte. Foy Wright of Kingston was renewing acquaintances in the village over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Alley of Peterborough were Sunday visitors with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Alley.

MASSENA, N.Y., April 16—The United States Engineer Corps' survey for the proposed St. Lawrence seaway and power development is nearly completed. Lt.-Col. Doswell Gulatit announced yesterday the St. Lawrence River district of the Corps will be discontinued as a separate area on May 1, but will continue to operate with reduced personnel as a subsidiary of New York City district headquarters.

Assure Farmers Of Seed Grains For Their Needs

OTTAWA, April 16—(CP)—Canadian farmers, mapping their 1942 crop programs yesterday were given assurance that supplies of seed for coarse grains crops—most urgently required in the United States' cause—are sufficient for their needs.

Agriculture Department officials said barley and oats seed is sufficient for whatever acreage extension may be undertaken to provide additional livestock feed, in line with the advice given by Federal authorities.

And with a threefold increase in flaxseed production looked for in 1942, to raise the crop as near 20,000,000 bushels as possible, officials said there appears to be sufficient seed available to meet this objective, although there is not likely to be any surplus.

Extensive flaxseed cleaning operations are expected to make available as large a proportion as possible of present stocks for seed purposes.

In the quest for new sources of vegetable oils, plantings of sunflowers at Dominion experimental farms are anticipated this year. These will provide substantial stocks of seed for 1943.

Says Allenru Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatic Aches--Pains

For many years James H. Allen of Rochester, N.Y., suffered from Rheumatic Aches and Pains. Many times these intense, insistent pains left him almost helpless and unable to work. He consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded this splendid remedy which he called ALLENRU. He freely gave his discovery to others who took it with remarkable success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery thru the newspapers.

So don't feel dispirited any longer; don't give up hopeof getting real relief. Allenru acts and acts fast and in three distinct ways: 1) to relieve the pain; 2) as a diuretic for the kidneys to flush out excess acids and 3) to arouse the bowels to normal action.

McDermid & Jury and all good druggists have been instructed to dispense ALLENRU with the understanding that if the first bottle does not give you the relief you want and have a right to expect, he will gladly refund your money without comment.
